

Compatibility Opinions Index

Among the questions presented to the Attorney General for resolution by way of formal opinion are those that concern the compatibility of public offices or positions. An issue of compatibility is presented whenever one person wishes to hold simultaneously two or more positions of public service. 1979 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 79-111 sets forth the following seven-question format for analyzing and determining whether particular public offices or positions are compatible:

1. Is either of the positions a classified employment within the terms of R.C. 124.57?
2. Do the empowering statutes of either position limit employment in another public position or the holding of another public office?
3. Is one office subordinate to, or in any way a check upon, the other?
4. Is it physically impossible for one person to discharge the duties of both positions?
5. Is there a conflict of interest between the two positions?
6. Are there local charter provisions, resolutions or ordinances that are controlling?
7. Is there a federal, state, or local departmental regulation applicable?

When an individual wishes to hold a private position and a public position, however, it is generally sufficient to limit the examination to those matters addressed by questions one, two, five, six, and seven. See 1995 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 95-044.

The following index, Compatibility of Public Offices or Positions, serves as an index to the many Attorney General opinions that have addressed the compatibility of particular public offices or positions. Opinions issued prior to 1965 are indexed by year of issuance and page number; opinions issued in 1965 and the years thereafter are indexed by year of issuance and opinion number.

This index lists specific public positions or offices that are either compatible or incompatible, and enumerates the various Attorney General opinions that have made those determinations. It is strongly recommended that the opinions listed under particular positions or offices be consulted whenever one questions the propriety of serving simultaneously in those positions or offices. An opinion of the Attorney General may find two positions compatible so long as certain important qualifiers or limiting conditions have been satisfied. See, e.g., 2000 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 2000-025; 1999 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 99-045. Thus, the listed opinions themselves should be reviewed to ascertain the presence or absence of such qualifiers or restrictions.

In other instances, whether certain positions are compatible may hinge upon the question of whether a person will be subject to an impermissible conflict of interest while serving in those positions. In prior opinions, resolution of that question may have depended upon facts or circumstances unique to the situation in which the dual positions were held, which either eliminated the conflict or confirmed its existence. Accordingly, the prior opinions should be reviewed carefully to identify the facts or circumstances that were germane to the conflict of interest issue and its resolution, and to further determine whether those facts or circumstances are duplicated in the more immediate situation.

Finally, current versions of statutes, administrative regulations, or local rules or ordinances that establish or govern a specific office or position should always be examined to determine whether subsequent amendments have added or removed restrictions upon holding other offices or positions.

The following paragraphs provide a more detailed discussion of each of the seven questions of compatibility.

1. Is either of the positions a classified employment within the terms of R.C. 124.57?

R.C. 124.57 prohibits a classified officer or employee of the state, a county, a city, a city school district, or a civil service township from being an officer in any political organization or taking part in politics, other than to vote as he pleases and to express freely his political opinions. R.C. 124.57 has been construed to mean that the designated classified officers or employees may not hold partisan elective offices. In order to determine what the term “classified” encompasses, it is useful to look at R.C. 124.11, which sets forth the positions that comprise the classified and unclassified service. R.C. 124.57 prohibits only partisan political activity, and does not, therefore, prevent any officer or employee, classified or unclassified, from taking part in nonpartisan political activity. Heidtman v. City of Shaker Heights, 163 Ohio St. 109, 126 N.E.2d 138 (1955). See also Gray v. City of Toledo, 323 F. Supp. 1281 (N.D. Ohio 1971). For examples of how R.C. 124.57 affects compatibility, see 1989 Op. Att’y Gen. No. 89-022, 1984 Op. Att’y Gen. No. 84-041, and 1983 Op. Att’y Gen. No. 83-095.

2. Do the empowering statutes of either position limit employment in another public position or the holding of another public office?

Most public offices and positions in state and local government are created or regulated by provisions of the Revised Code. In some instances, these statutory provisions specify certain positions that may not be held concurrently by one person. For example, in the case of a technical college trustee, R.C. 3357.05 provides that, “[n]o new trustee may be appointed who is a member of any board of education or educational service center governing board.”

Statutes such as R.C. 3357.05 cause positions to be incompatible, regardless of whether holding two positions would be permissible under the common law test of compatibility.

3. Is one office subordinate to, or in any way a check upon, the other?

Question three is derived from the common law test of compatibility as expressed in State ex rel. Attorney General v. Gebert, 12 Ohio C.C. (n.s.) 274 (Cir. Ct. Franklin County 1909). The section from Gebert most frequently quoted appears at 275 and reads: “Offices are considered incompatible when one is subordinate to, or in any way a check upon, the other; or when it is physically impossible for one person to discharge the duties of both.”

The determination whether one position is subordinate to or a check upon another requires careful scrutiny of both positions and the functions inherent in each. Close attention must be given to all statutes pertaining to the positions in question. In many instances a position that appears to be fully described in one statute may also be addressed in other sections of the Revised Code. The additional duties or powers that these “secondary” provisions create may affect the conclusion about compatibility. For example, the powers and duties of a county prosecuting attorney are described in R.C. 309.08. In addition, R.C. 5705.27 requires that the prosecuting attorney serve as a member of the county budget commission. Under the rule set forth in State ex rel. Attorney General v. Gebert, a county prosecuting attorney could not properly serve in any position that would require him to appear before, or submit a budget to, the budget commission. This restriction is not, however, apparent on the face of R.C. 309.08.

4. Is it physically impossible for one person to discharge the duties of both positions?

Question four, like question three, is derived from the above-quoted segment of State ex rel. Attorney General v. Gebert. Any answer to this question must take into account the demands for time that each position will make upon an individual. It is, therefore, a factual matter that can best be resolved by the interested parties, as they will be the most familiar with daily demands of each office or position. The facts that should be taken into consideration include: whether each position is considered part-time or full-time employment; whether one office would require the individual to be on 24-hour call; and when and where meetings would be held.

5. Is there a conflict of interest between the two positions?

The compatibility analysis is not limited to an examination of whether one position directly or indirectly controls the other. The common law rule, designed in part to avoid divided loyalties, also requires an examination of whether a person serving in two different public capacities is or may be subject to a conflict of interest while holding those two positions. It is contrary to public policy for a public officer or employee to be in a position that subjects him to divided loyalties or conflicting duties, or that exposes him to the temptation of acting other than in the best interest of the agency or office he serves.

At one time, positions were found to be incompatible if any possible conflict of interest could be found, no matter how rare the circumstances in which such a conflict might actually occur. More recent Attorney General opinions, however, have stated that no hard and fast rule should be laid down with respect to the question of whether a potential conflict will render positions incompatible; rather, each compatibility question should be decided upon its particular facts. The factors to be considered with respect to questions of potential conflict are: the degree of remoteness of a potential conflict; the ability or inability of an individual to remove himself from the conflict; whether the individual exercise decision-making authority in either position; whether the potential conflict involves the primary functions of either position; and whether the potential conflict may involve budgetary controls. Not all potential conflicts will render positions incompatible. See 1979 Op. Att’y Gen. No. 79-111.

Pursuant to R.C. Chapter 102, R.C. 2921.42, and R.C. 2921.43, the resolution of certain conflict of interest questions in the responsibility of the Ohio Ethics Commission. The Ethics Commission issues advisory opinions with regard to those conflict of interest questions. See R.C. 102.08.

6. Are there local charter provisions, resolutions or ordinances that are controlling?

In some instances, two positions that are otherwise compatible may be made incompatible because a local charter provision, resolution or ordinance forbids one person from holding both positions. When such a provision, resolution, or ordinance exists, it is controlling, even though no incompatibility would result under the common law test or relevant Revised Code provisions.

7. Is there a federal, state or local departmental regulation applicable?

Occasionally, a federal, state or local departmental regulation may prevent an individual from holding two particular positions. As with local charter provisions, resolutions and ordinances, such regulation may impose an absolute prohibition against holding two positions, even though the two positions would otherwise be compatible.

Finally, current versions of statutes, administrative regulations, or local rules or ordinances that establish or govern a specific office or position always should be examined to determine whether subsequent amendments have added or removed restrictions upon holding other offices or positions.
