

WE ALL PLAY A PART ... TO STAY CYBER SMART

With children and adults spending so much time online, the Ohio Attorney General's Office offers these tips:

S

For parents — when it comes to your children being online, think SMART:

M

Stop unnecessary sharing: Don't allow your child to give out personal information — such as name, address, phone number, photos or school name — to strangers.

A

Monitor your child's online activity: This is key, especially when it comes to social media where your child could be sharing personal information with others.

R

Assess privacy: Understand what information is being collected about your child by reading privacy policies.

T

Research apps: Know what your child is downloading and all of the features of that app. Consider controlling the password required to download apps so that you can control what your child accesses.

Teach: Emphasize to your children the importance of not downloading unknown files, not signing up for free products, not believing everything on the internet and not meeting up with strangers.

For adults:

- When shopping online, look for “https” — the “s” means secure.
- Never disclose personal information — passwords and credit card numbers included — when using a public WiFi connection.
- Keep your software up to date and have appropriate anti-malware installed.
- Never respond to unexpected requests for your personal information. Scammers may pretend to be your bank, credit card company or a government agency.
- Do not click on links, open attachments or download anything from a suspicious message, even if it appears to be from a friend or trusted source.
