SA Chung observed a suspected ballistic event (BE) on the rear license plate, near the 'G' and 'X'. The hole, labeled BE 1.0, was misshaped with the license plate material pushed inward. The projectile perforated the trunk door and exited into the trunk area. A hole, labeled BE 1.1, was located above the release button/handle on the interior side of the trunk. Due to the manufacturer's backing, the shape of the defect was not obvious. There was no projectile recovered from BE 1.1.

SA Chung located no items of evidentiary value and concluded her examination of the vehicle at 1027 hours.
