Good afternoon,

I just wanted to thank you again for your assistance during your detail to the Gymnasium Unit. Your time here was an absolute success. I received very good feedback regarding your performance during in-service training. That is usually a tough crowd who can be very critical. Your professionalism, expertise, and positive attitude allowed you to deliver important training that will help keep officers safe. I was impressed by your performance as were others. Your positive attitude and outstanding work ethic had an impact on others and improved the level of training. This is the second time that you have stepped outside of your comfort zone and helped with projects that improved members of the Division understanding and safety.

I know that you love the street but you are pretty good at facilitating training, just something to think about moving forward in your career. CDP always needs quality officers to step up and pass on their knowledge to others. P.O. Cox is a great example of an outstanding officer who has made this Division better as a whole through his willingness to share and teach others. It was a pleasure having you down here, be safe.
