WIRKANDU
You have the right to remain silent.
Anything you say can and will be used against you in a court of law.
• You have the right to talk to a lawyer for advice before we ask you any questions and to have him with you during questioning.
• If you cannot afford a lawyer, one will be appointed for you before any questioning if you wish.
• You can decide at any time to stop answering questions and will not be punished for not answering questions.
