

The lease here in question, which in a measure is subject to certain rights in the survey of said land now owned and held by one Frank W. Arnold, and which provides for certain rentals on a royalty basis, is executed under the authority of section 3209-1, General Code. Although many of the provisions of this section of the General Code relating to leases of this kind and defining the rights of lessees under such leases with respect to those of persons holding surface rights in the lands leased have not been set out as conditions or other provisions in this lease, such statutory provisions are to be read into the lease and become a part thereof. It is sufficient to note in this connection that this lease and its provisions are not inconsistent with any of the provisions of this section of the General Code above noted nor with those of any other section of the General Code relating to leases of this kind.

The lease has been properly executed and acknowledged by you and by the lessee above named. And inasmuch as I find, as above noted, that the provisions of this lease are in conformity with statutory provisions, the same is herewith approved by me as to legality and form as is evidenced by my approval endorsed upon the lease and upon the duplicate copy thereof, which are herewith returned.

Respectfully,

JOHN W. BRICKER,

Attorney General.

Article 1, Section 19 (b). On and after the 31st day of December, 1933, public highways of this state, outside of municipalities, are and shall be reserved exclusively for the purposes of public travel; and no person shall erect or maintain, within the limits of such public highways, any poles, towers or other structures for the carrying of transmission lines, or otherwise."

The summary of the proposed constitutional amendment contained in the petition reads:

"The following is a summary of the proposed constitutional amendment:
