

has been placed by the courts in the hands of a receiver, such receiver having obtained the permission of the court appointing him, may receive the incidental benefits of Amended Senate Bill No. 200 of the regular session of the 90th General Assembly as amended by Substitute Senate Bill No. 53 of the first special session of the 90th General Assembly, provided all the other conditions as set forth in the law have been complied with.

I come now to your second question. It is obvious that when real property has been sold by the court by foreclosure order and is acquired by a person, company, bank, or building and loan company, such person, company, bank, or building and loan company is the "owner" thereof and is in the same category as any other owner of real property and hence is necessarily within the purview of the so-called "Housing Relief Act" (Amended Senate Bill No. 200 of the 90th General Assembly as amended by Substitute Senate Bill No. 53 of the first special session of the 90th General Assembly), and assuming all the conditions of the law have been complied with, with respect to the housing of an indigent family, such person, company, bank, or building and loan company is eligible to the incidental benefits of said Act.

Respectfully,

JOHN W. BRICKER,

Attorney General.

THE OHIO STATE ARCHAEOLOGICAL AND HISTORICAL SOCIETY
CERTAIN PARCELS OF CANAL LANDS IN LAWRENCE TOWNSHIP, TUSCARAWAS COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, November 3, 1934.

HON. T. S. BRINDLE, Superintendent of Public Works, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—You have submitted for my examination and approval a certain indenture in triplicate in and by which, subject to the exceptions and conditions therein provided for, you have transferred to the Ohio State Archaeological and Historical Society certain parcels of canal lands, pursuant to the authority conferred upon you for this purpose by House Bill No. 278 enacted by the 90th General Assembly under date of April 13, 1933, 115 O. L. 208.

The parcels of abandoned canal lands here referred to are in Lawrence
