While authorities may be cited in support of the proposition that when a separate district is created out of a rural school district, by operation of law, or by the creation of a village, under the above provison of the statute, the board of education of said separate district shall take the title to the school property within its limits which was designed for its use, I find no authorities which would warrant me in holding that the title to the school property in question, established by the board of education of the rural school district, under authority of the statutes now in force for the accommodation of pupils residing in said rural school district, and assigned to said school by said board of education, will vest in the board of education of the village school district upon the incorporation of said village and the proper organization of said board of education. On the contrary, the general rule seems to be that, upon the creation of a special or separate district out of a part of a rural district, the title to the school property within the limits of said special or separate district will remain in the board of education of the rural school district, unless said school property was designed solely for the use and accommodation of the pupils residing in the territory comprising the district so created. This rule was recognized by the court in the case of Board of Education v. Board of Education, supra.

I am of the opinion, in answer to your question that, in the absence of a prvision of the statute vesting the title to the school property in question in the board of education of the village school district upon the creation of said village and upon the proper organization of said board, or of a provision of the statute authorizing the board of education of said rural school district and said village school district to enter into an agreement transferring said title upon a valuable consideration, said title remains in the board of education of said township rural school district.

Inasmuch as it appears from your statement of facts, that upon the creation of the village of Wickliffe, and upon the proper organization of the board of education of the village school district, the necessary steps will be taken by said board, under the above provision of section 4682-1, G. C., to dissolve said school district and join it to the Willoughby township rural school district, it follows that, even if I were to hold that the school property in question vests in the board of education of said village school district upon the creation of said village, upon the dissolution of said village school district the title to said property would pass to,and become vested in the board of education of said rural school district by virtue of the provision of section 4683, G. C., as above quoted.

Section 4696, G. C. (106 O. L. 397), relates to the transfer of a part or all of a school district within a county school district to an adjoining exempted village school district or city school district, or to an adjoining county school district upon the petition of the qualified electors residing in such territory, and in the manner provided in said section. The provision for the distribution of funds and indebtedness as found in the latter part of said section applies only to transfers of territory made under authority of and in compliance with the requirements of said section, and in my opinion said provision of said statute is not applicable to the question submitted by you.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1462.

OFFICES COMPATIBLE—SEXTON OF TOWNSHIP CEMETERY—TOWNSHIP TREASURER.

A person who is employed as a sexton of a township cemetery by the directors thereof is not by reason of such employment disqualified to hold at the same time the office of township treasurer.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 7, 1916.

HON. MEEKER TERWILLIGER, Prosecuting Attorney, Circleville, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Yours under date of March 27, 1916, is as follows:

> "I herewith submit a statement of facts and respectfully ask your opinion regarding same. The facts are as follows:
>
> "Walnut township of this county, has a township cemetery, which is, under section 3464 of the General Code, in charge of three directors; said three cemetery directors have charge of said township cemetery, which is known as 'Reber Hill Cemetery,' and employ all laborers, including a cemetery sexton, who lives in the dwelling on the cemetery grounds. Said sexton cares for the cemetery grounds, digs the graves, mows the lawns, and does other work incident to caring for said cemetery; his wages are fixed by the cemetery directors. All bills for the cemetery, including the sexton's wages, and wages of other employes, are first approved by the cemetery directors, then filed with the township trustees for payment, and after being allowed by the township trustees, are paid by orders on the township treasurer, drawn by the township clerk.

"The man, who for several years has been, and is now, employed as said cemetery sexton, was last November elected treasurer of said Walnut township, and qualified and has since January 1, 1916, and is now acting treasurer of said Walnut township, and draws salary as such township treasurer.

"I am writing you, at the request of this person, to inquire if he can be cemetery sexton as above outlined, and township treasurer at the same time, and draw wages as cemetery sexton and salary as township treasurer, both, from the township treasury, during the same period of time."

There is no constitutional or statutory inhibition against a sexton of a township cemetery, who is in the employ of the director thereof, at the same time holding the office of township treasurer. Your inquiry, then, resolves itself into whether the duties, powers and functions of the office of township treasurer and sexton of a township cemetery are such as to render them incompatible.

It has been held that offices are incompatible, and may not be held simultaneously by the same person when one is subordinate to or a check upon the other, or when the duties are such as to render it physically impossible for one person to properly discharge those of both offices at the same time.

A concise, and perhaps as accurate a statement of the rule of incompatibility of offices as will be found, is set forth in section 34 of Throop on Public Offices, as follows:

"The force of the word (incompatibility) in its application to this matter, is that, from the nature and relations to each other of the two places, they ought not to be held by the same person, from the contrariety and antagonism which would result in the attempt by one person to faithfully and impartially discharge the duties of one, toward the incumbent of the other.

It remains, therefore, to examine the nature and character of the duties of the two places and their relation to each other, with a view to determining whether a faithful and impartial discharge of the duties and functions of the one would be in any way antagonistic or contrary to a like performance of those of the other.

It is sufficient to say, in regard to the duties of the sexton of the cemetery, as pointed out in your inquiry, that it is not believed that they are of such character or nature as would ordinarily be in any manner antagonistic or contrary to a proper performance of the duties of the township treasurer by such sexton.

The duties and functions of a township treasurer consist principally of his being primarily the custodian of the funds belonging to the township, charged with their safe-keeping and paying the same out in the manner prescribed by law, and at all times keeping an accurate account of the receipts, disbursements and balances thereof. As a part of such duties the township treasurer is required to pay to persons employed as sextons of township cemeteries their lawful salary, wages or compensation.

It is provided, however, with reference to his paying out the funds of the township, by section 3316, G. C., as follows:

"No money belonging to the township shall be paid out by the treasurer, except upon an order signed personally by at least two of the township trustees and countersigned personally by the township clerk."

All bills are first audited and approved by the trustees and the only duty and authority of the treasurer, in respect thereto, is to pay the same upon proper order, out of the township funds and to keep an accurate account thereof. It can hardly be maintained that there is antagonism and contrariety of duties or functions in these two places upon the sole ground that the treasurer would, in such case, of necessity pay to himself, as sexton, money from the township treasury, as his wages or salary as such sexton. No officer or person, other than the township treasurer, being authorized to pay funds out of the township treasury, it would therefore follow that the adoption of a rule which would prevent a township treasurer from paying township funds to himself, would operate as an inhibition against his receiving the compensation for the discharge of his official duties prescribed by section 3318, G. C. That is to say, the fact that a person holding both places at the same time would, of necessity, have imposed upon him the duty of paying, as township treasurer, to himself the funds of the township for services rendered in another capacity, is not of itself sufficient to render the two places incompatible under the rule above laid down. The township treasurer has no other duty or authority in relation to the sexton of a township cemetery than to pay to such sexton his wages or salary upon the order of the township trustees, countersigned by the township clerk.

I am therefore of opinion, in answer to your inquiry, that a person who is employed as sexton of a township cemetery by the directors thereof is not by reason thereof disqualified to hold, at the same time, the office of township treasurer.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1463.

COMMISSIONERS OF ROAD DISTRICT ORGANIZED UNDER OLD SECTION 7095, G. C.—WHEN AUTHORIZED TO SELL ROAD BUILDING MACHINERY UNDER CASS HIGHWAY LAW.

A road district organized under old section 7095, G. C., et seq., and which is the owner of road building machinery, may sell such machinery provided the indebtedness of such district is greater than its assets, and the proceeds of such sale should be covered into the county treasury to the credit of the road district and applied towards the payment of the interest on the outstanding bonds of the district and towards the redemption of such bond at maturity.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 8, 1916.

HON. ARCHER L. PHELPS, Prosecuting Attorney, Warren, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—On March 7, 1916, you addressed to me the following inquiry:

"We have in Trumbull county two road districts organized under sections 7095 et seq., known as good roads district number one, comprising Warren, Howland, Champion and Bazetta townships; good road district number two, comprising Weathersfield and Lordstown townships; also ten or twelve township road districts organized under section 7033, et seq.

"Good roads district numbers one and two, now possess road making machinery of considerable value; some of the township road districts also possess road making machinery. Good road district number one has offered to sell to the county commissioners, its road making machinery for a certain specific consideration; the county commissioners are in need of road making machinery, and desire to purchase this machinery at a price which they consider advantageous.

"Section 303 of the Cass highway law among other matters, provides as follows:

" 'When all obligations existing at the time of the taking effect of this act have been fully met and complied with, such organization or organizations shall cease to exist, and all property or funds of such organization or organizations shall be and become a part of the road fund of the county in which such organization or organizations exist.'

"Under the language above quoted, the legislature has attempted to transfer the title to all funds and property of these road districts to the county, 'when all obligations existing at the time of the taking effect of this act have been fully met and complied with.' Inasmuch as these road districts have outstanding bonded indebtedness which will run for fifteen or twenty years, it would seem that the road districts are not, at this time, obliged to turn over their machinery and property; however, if this language is to be construed so as to require of the road district, as a present duty, the turning over of this machinery, it would follow that the county commissioners have no right to purchase the same. On the other hand, if the road district is not required to turn over this machinery for fifteen or twenty years to come, I can see no reason why the county commissioners cannot now legally purchase this machinery from the road district.

"Some doubt as to the constitutionality of the provisions of section 303 above quoted would seem to be raised by the reasoning of the supreme court in the case of The State ex rel. Grant v. Sayre, auditor of Franklin county, 89 O. S., page 351, at pages 363 and 364.

"In my opinion, that part of section 303 above quoted, does not take effect until all of the bonded indebtedness of the road district has been paid, which in the present case will take fifteen or twenty years.

"I am further of the opinion that the attempt of the legislature to transfer the property of the road district to the county is unconstitutional, for the reasons stated in the case of State ex rel. Grant v. Sayre. I have therefore concluded that the county commissioners have the right to expend county money in the purchase of this road making machinery."

Under date of April 1, 1916, in response to my request for additional information, you advised me as follows:

"I find that good roads district number one, organized under section 7095, et seq., of the General Code, has outstanding bonds in the aggregate sum of $287,000.00. This road district owns two steam road rollers, two tank wagons and one road machine, all valued at about $1,500.00, and has on hand to the credit of the road repair fund about $18,000.00; the road construction fund is practically exhausted.

"Good roads district number two, organized under section 7095, et seq., of the General Code, has outstanding bonded indebtedness in the aggregate sum of $181,000.00. This road district owns one road roller and one wagon, valued at about $1,500.00. There stands to the credit of the repair fund of this district the sum of about $9,000.00. I understand that the construction fund is practically exhausted."

You refer in your communication of March 7th to township road districts organized under old section 7033, G. C., et seq., but you limit your question to road districts organized under old section 7095, G. C., et seq., and the opinion herein expressed is, therefore, to be taken as applying only to road districts of the latter class.

Under the facts set forth in your communications, the question upon which my opinion is desired may be stated as follows:

"May a road district, organized under old section 7095, G. C., et seq., and which is the owner of road building machinery, sell such machinery to the county commissioners, provided the bonded indebtedness of such road district is greater than all its assets, including construction and repair funds on hand or levied and in process of collection, and the value of the road building machinery owned by it."

A question bearing upon the one submitted by you was considered by this department in opinion No. 1439, rendered to Hon. Aldrich B. Underwood, prosecuting attorney of Medina county, on the 30th day of March, 1916, in which opinion it was held that a road district, organized under the old section 7095, G. C., et seq., was not authorized, after the going into effect of the Cass highway law, to contract any new obligation or obligations for the construction or repair of additional roads, or the maintenance or repair of roads already improved, but that the provision of section 303 of the Cass highway law referred to by you in your communication of March 7, 1916, to the effect that the funds of an organization of this character shall be and become a part of the road fund of the county in which the road district existed, is not by its terms effective until all obligations existing at the time of the taking effect of the Cass highway law have been fully met and complied with, and that where the outstanding indebtedness exceeds in amount the funds of the district, such funds should be left in the custody of the county treasurer, and applied toward the payment of the interest on the outstanding bonds of a district and toward the redemption of such bonds at maturity. No question can arise as to the right of county commissioners to purchase road building machinery, since this power is expressly conferred upon them by section 7200, G. C., while road commissioners appointed under old section 7095, G. C., et seq., were not expressly authorized by the sections in question to sell equipment belonging to the district, yet in view of the fact that the purchase of road building machinery by such road commissioners was expressly authorized by the former law, and inasmuch as such road commissioners are now stripped of the authority to incur the obligations that would be necessarily incurred in the use of such machinery I am of the opinion that where the debts of a road district of this character exceed the amount of its funds, plus the value of its equipment, such road commissioners are not only authorized to sell any road building machinery belonging to the district, but also that it is the duty of the road commissioners to take such action, and that the proceeds of such sale should be covered into the county treasury to the credit of the road district, and applied toward the payment of the interest on the outstanding bonds of the district and toward the redemption of such bonds at maturity.

I, therefore, concur in the view expressed by you that under the facts stated the commissioners of the road district in question are authorized to sell the road building machinery of the district to the county commissioners of Trumbull county. The facts presented by you, like those presented by Mr. Underwood, do not require any consideration of the validity of the provision to the effect that when all the obligations of a road district of this character, existing at the time of the taking effect of the Cass highway law, have been fully met and complied with, the property and funds of such road district shall be and become a part of the road fund of the county in which such district exists, for the reason that such provision can have no application under the particular facts set forth by you.

I am enclosing for your information a copy of the opinion rendered to Mr. Underwood and referred to herein.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1464.

TOWNSHIP TRUSTEES—DIVISION OF TOWNSHIP INTO CERTAIN NUMBER OF ROAD DISTRICTS—DISTRICTS MAY BE CHANGED BY PRESENT OR SUCCEEDING BOARD—REDISTRICTING SHOULD BE MADE BEFORE SUPERINTENDENTS ENTER INTO ROAD DRAGGING CONTRACTS FOR CURRENT YEAR.

The action of a board of township trustees in dividing a township into a certain number of road districts, and in fixing the boundaries of such districts is not binding upon a succeeding board of trustees, or, indeed, upon the board taking such action, so as to prevent a subsequent redistricting of the township, which redistricting may or may not include a change in the number of districts. A board of township trustees desiring to redistrict a township for road purposes should act before the township highway superintendent or superintendents, as the case may be, have entered into road dragging contracts for the current year, and, failing to act before that time, would not have authority in redistricting the township to divide a road dragging district in which a contract for dragging had been made for the current year but in establishing new road districts would, under such circumstances, be required to fix the lines of the new road districts along the lines of established dragging districts.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 11, 1916.

HON. HUGH F. NEUHART, Prosecuting Attorney, Caldwell, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of March 7, 1916, which reads as follows:

> "After the township trustees, prior to January 1, 1916, have made one district of the township, and appointed a highway superintendent therefor under section 75 of the Cass highway law, may the new trustees who took office January 1, 1916, redistrict the township, making two districts, and give one district to the old superintendent, and appoint a superintendent for the other district?
>
> "After the township trustees, prior to January 1, 1916, have made four districts in a township, and appointed a highway superintendent for each district under section 75 of the Cass highway law, may the new trustees who took office January 1, 1916, redistrict said township, making two districts and appoint new superintendents for the new districts?"

Section 75 of the Cass highway law, referred to by you, being section 3370, G. C., provides that for the purpose of the Cass highway law, there shall be in each township, not less than one nor more than four road districts, as the township trustees may determine, which districts must include all the territory in the township. The section in question does not contain any express provision to the effect that the trustees may, at any time, redistrict a township and increase or decrease the number of districts. On the other hand, the section does not contain any language indicating an intent upon the part of the legislature to deny to boards of township trustees the power and authority to redistrict a township or to increase or diminish the number of districts. To my mind, the reasonable and sensible construction, and the one which must be adopted, is that the action of the board of trustees of a township, in dividing the township into a certain number of road districts, and in fixing the boundaries of such districts, is not binding upon a succeeding board of trustees or, indeed, upon the board taking such action so as to prevent a subsequent redistricting of a township, which redistricting may or may not include a change in the number of districts. The above statement is subject to one qualification that will be later explained.

In opinion No. 1448, rendered to you on April 4, 1916, I advised you that a board of township trustees may, at any time, terminate the tenure in office of a township highway superintendent by appointing a successor and that such action will be effective and will terminate the authority of the former appointee as soon as his successor, so appointed, has qualified. The situation presented by your present inquiry s somewhat analogous to that covered by the opinion above referred to, and in conformity with the holding of that opinion I advise you that where a board of township trustees has taken action constituting the entire township a road district and has appointed a township highway superintendent for such district, said board of township trustees, or a succeeding board, may thereafter redistrict the township and divide the same into two road districts, appointing a township highway superintendent for each district. One of the township highway superintendents so appointed may or may not be the former superintendent, as may be determined by the trustees. Where a board of township trustees has divided a township into four districts and appointed a township highway superintendent for each district, such board of trustees, or a succeeding board, may thereafter redistrict the township and reduce the number of road districts thereof from four to two and appoint new township highway superintendents for the districts so created, which action will terminate the tenure in office of the former superintendents. Both of the above statements are subject to a qualification hereinbefore referred to and which grows out of the provisions of section 3375 and 3377, G. C., to the effect that the township highway superintendent shall divide the graveled and unimproved public roads of his district into road dragging districts and shall, on or before the fifteenth day of February in each year, contract with a person to drag the roads of each district for that year. A board of township trustees desiring to redistrict a township for road purposes, should act before the township highway superintendent or superintendents, as the case may be, have entered into road dragging contracts for the current year, and failing to act before that time, would not have authority in redistricting the township to divide a road dragging district in which a contract for dragging had been made for the current year, but in establishing new road districts would, under such circumstances, be required to fix the lines of the new road districts along the lines of established dragging districts. In other words, after road dragging contracts have been made for a year, it would not be permissible for a board of township trustees to interfere with the carrying out of such contracts by dividing a road dragging district and placing part thereof in one road district and part in another.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1465.

PUBLIC LIBRARY—TOWNSHIP TRUSTEES ARE NOT AUTHORIZED TO PURCHASE REAL ESTATE UPON WHICH TO ERECT A BUILDING FOR A LIBRARY—SEE SECTIONS 3403 AND 3404, G. C.

Township trustees are not authorized under the provisions of sections 3403 and 3404, G. C., to purchase real estate upon which to erect a building for a public library.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 11, 1916.

HON. ROGER D. HAY, Prosecuting Attorney, Defiance, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your letter of February 23, 1916, submitting the following inquiries:

> "1. Have the township trustees the right to purchase a lot upon which will be built a public library?
>
> "If so, have they the right to levy a tax as provided by sections 3403 and 3404 of the General Code, for the purpose of purchasing this lot?
>
> "2. If the above questions should be answered in the affirmative, have the township trustees the right to issue bonds in anticipation of the collection of the tax as above mentioned?
>
> "At the regular election held on November 2, 1915, a large majority of the electors voted in favor of the establishment of a public library to be located in Hicksville township.
>
> "I have looked into the proposition vary carefully and find only one case which is in any wise applicable to this case. I refer you to the cause found in 14 O. D. (N. P.) 239, William M. Douglass v. Washington T. Porter, et al."

Sections 3403 and 3404 of the General Code, to which you refer in your foregoing inquiry, provide for a submission of the question of establishing a library in any township to the voters thereof. The concluding provisions of section 3404 aforesaid, which are pertinent to your inquiry, are as follows:

> "If a majority of the electors voting at such election vote in favor thereof, the trustees may, annually, levy upon all the taxable property of such township a tax not exceeding one mill on the dollar valuation thereof, to be applied to the establishment and maintenance of a library, and the procuring of a suitable room or rooms therefor."

It is further provided in the succeeding section 3405, G. C., that the township trustees shall appoint three trustees of such library, and confer upon said trustees such authority as may be necessary to render a library so established of public utility. The library shall be conducted and cared for under such rules and regulations as the library trustees prescribe. In the remaining sections of the chapter in which the foregoing sections are found there appears to be no further statutory provisions in any manner controlling or directing either the trustees of the township or the library trustees in the matters specified in your inquiry. The provisions of section 3404 aforesaid clearly authorize the township trustees to levy a tax upon all the taxable property of the township not exceeding one mill on the dollar valuation thereof to be applied in the establishment and maintenance of a library and the procuring of a suitable room or rooms therefor.

It is well settled that township trustees may exercise only those powers expressly conferred by statute or such as are necessarily to be implied from those granted in order to enable them to perform the duties imposed upon them.

Trustees v. Miner, 26 O. S., 452-456.
Marion Township v. Columbus, 12 O. D., 557.

The power expressly delegated to township trustees under the sections aforesaid is to establish and maintain a library, to provide a suitable room or rooms therefor and to levy a tax of one mill on the dollar valuation of all taxable property in such township. It would seem, therefore, to be the purpose of the legislature as evidenced by said laws to make the establishment of a library a matter of gradual accomplishment and it is clear that their duty in this respect is a continuing one. There is, however, no provision for the creation of any fund with which such trustees may purchase real estate and erect a library building thereon. If such action by the trustees was intended by the legislature it is a necessary conclusion that such provision would have been made. Manifestly the term "room" or "rooms" may not be extended so as to include a lot or real estate. A room is a space or apartment enclosed by walls. While real estate may include a room, a room does not include real estate. There is then no express grant of power in the foregoing section to purchase a lot or real estate upon which a library building may be erected.

If the power to purchase a lot could be said to be implied from the power to procure a room, it would necessarily follow that the grant of a greater power must be implied from the grant of a lesser one. It is a familiar rule of statutory construction that an express grant may not be enlarged by implication and that when the means for the exercise of a granted power are specified, all other means must be excluded. In the statute under consideration the primary purpose to be accomplished is the establishment of a library. This is the main object and purpose of the law under consideration. As a means whereby to accomplish this purpose the trustees are further authorized to procure a room and to levy a tax of a certain amount. In so far as the activities of the trustees may go in respect to the matters covered by these provisions, such provisions must be held to be exclusive.

In view of these considerations I am of the opinion that trustees are not authorized under the sections named in your inquiry to purchase a lot for the purpose of erecting thereon a public library. This necessarily disposes of your second inquiry, but in that connection the fact that no express provision is made for the issuing of bonds whereby to create a fund for the purchase of a lot and the erection of a building must also be considered in connection with the determination of the right to purchase real estate in the first instance.

Inasmuch as you state in your letter that the establishment of said library was approved by the voters of the township in question at the November election in 1915 the foregoing observations and conclusions are made without reference to section 3295 G. C., as amended, 106 O. L., 536, Under the provisions of this section bonds may be issued by township trustees for any of the purposes "authorized by law for the sale of bonds by townships or by municipal corporations for specific purposes and for the purpose of providing funds to pay the township's share of the cost of any improvement made under an agreement with the county commissioners when not less than two of said trustees by an affirmative vote and by resolution deem it necessary, and the provisions of law applicable to municipal corporations with reference to the limitations upon the amount of bonds to be issued and for the submission of the question of their issuance to the voters, shall extend and apply to the trustees of townships. The specific purposes for which municipal corporations may issue bonds, and to which reference is made in said section, are found in section 3939, G. C., as amended, 106 O. L., 537. Among the purposes named in said section 3939 are those of the purchase of real estate with a building or buildings thereon to be used for public purposes and the establishment of public libraries.

It has been held by this department in several opinions, however, that township trustees do not acquire, under the provisions of section 3295, G. C., the power to issue bonds for all the purposes for which a municipal council may issue bonds under favor of said section 3939, G. C., but that such power exists only as to such purposes which independent of section 3939, G. C., constitute township purposes. In other words, section 3939 of itself does not authorize township trustees to undertake one of the activities for which bonds may be issued as therein provided, but authority must be found in some statute other than section 3939 to pursue and undertake the given purpose, and the intention of section 3939 is merely to confer the power under certain limitations to borrow money for the purposes authorized by other sections. As the legislature has not expressly conferred upon township trustees the authority to purchase real estate for township libraries and has not given the trustees by any general grant of power authority to purchase or condemn real estate for the erection of public buildings, I am of the opinion that said section 3295 does not furnish any authority to the trustees to purchase a lot or real estate for the erection of a township library.

It is my opinion, therefore, that there is no statutory authority in township trustees to purchase a lot upon which to build a public library.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1466.

APPROVAL, RESOLUTION FOR ROAD IMPROVEMENT, WILLIAMS COUNTY.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 11, 1916.

HON. CLINTON COWEN, State Highway Commissioner, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of April 10, 1916, transmitting to me for examination final resolution relating to the West Unity-Montpelier road, petition No. 3091, I. C. H. No. 303, in Williams County.

I find this resolution to be in regular form and am returning the same with my approval endorsed thereon.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1467.

INSURANCE—ADJUSTMENT OF FOREIGN INSURANCE COMPANY'S TAX—WORD "PREMIUM" DOES NOT INCLUDE ASSESSMENT RECEIPTS—INTERPRETATION OF SECTIONS 5432 AND 5433, G. C.

The word "premiums" as used in sections 5432 and 5433, G. C., does not include assessment receipts.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 11, 1916.

HON. A. V. DONAHEY, Auditor of State, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Under date of December 21, 1915, you certified to this department The Bankers Life Company, of Des Moines, Iowa, as being delinquent for the tax for the year 1914, under the provisions of section 5433 of the General Code, in the sum of $15,264.16, which amount represents two and one-half per cent. of $610,566.46. Upon receipt of such certification I duly notified The Bankers Life Company of the fact that it was charged as delinquent in the above sum of $15,264.16.

Prior to that time The Bankers Life Company had sent to the treasurer of state a check for $7,852.31, being two and one-half per cent. of $314,092.58, and being the amount for which they claimed they were legally liable, and accompanying said check was a letter to the following effect:

"DES MOINES, IOWA, December 16, 1915.

"RUDOLPH W. ARCHER, Treasurer of State, Columbus, Ohio.

"DEAR SIR:—I enclose license tax statement from the insurance department of your state for the license tax of 2½ per cent. on premiums received by this company in such state during the year 1914, under 5433, G. C.

"This company, prior to October 1911, was a Mutual Assessment Life or Mutual Protection Life Insurance Company, operating in your state as such up to that time, and then amended its charter so as to write only level premium insurance thereafter, but clothed by our statute and amendment with the duty of carrying out the original assessment or mutual protection contracts, and each year since such change this company has returned upon the blank furnished for the annual report for your state, after No. 27, on page 7:

" '1st. The amount of level premium insurance received, less the deductions stated.

" '2nd. By interlineation, immediately thereafter, the amount of its assessment receipts for such previous year (as the law of several states require that the amount of assessment receipts be also reported, although not subject to the license tax).'

"In the blanks furnished by the department for the business of the year 1913 and theretofore (on page 7), interrogatory No. 27 appears before and above the heading:

'EXHIBIT OF PREMIUMS FOR TAXATION PURPOSES.'

but in the printed form for the report for 1914 it appears after such heading. The accountant, without noticing this wrote immediately after No. 27 as he had in former years:

" '1st. The amount received as premiums.

" '2nd. The amount received as collections from the assessment contracts' but by reason of the change in the location of the heading with reference to No. 27 both statements now came under that heading, and naturally enough the accountant at the insurance department added the two as the basis for computing the 2½ per cent. license tax without noticing that a part of the amount consisted of collections on the old assessment contracts, thereby computing a 2½ per cent. license tax on the whole amount of $610,-566.46, being the aggregate receipts from premiums and the collections from assessment contracts, instead of upon the $314,092.58, the amount received as premiums.

"The correct license tax should have been 2½ per cent. upon the pre-premiums, or $7,852.31.

"I enclose you herewith a photograph of that portion of the 1913 and 1914 reports so that you can see readily how the error occurred because of the change of position of the heading with reference to the inquiry No. 27, and from which I admit the inadvertence was mainly on our part by our not noticing the change, and placing the assessment collections under No. 27 under the heading:

'EXHIBIT OF PREMIUMS FOR TAXATION PURPOSES.'

which naturally led the department to certify up the tax on the whole amount without noticing that a portion of it was not taxable.

"We had a conference with the superintendent of insurance and assistant attorney-general as to how to correct the error; their idea was that the statute was new and had not yet received either judicial or departmental construction, but the superintendent read me the opinion of the attorney-general, from which it seemed that in his view, after the tax is certified to your office, that you have no discretion to correct errors, but only to certify the tax over to the attorney-general as certified to you. If, however, after further discussion a different view should obtain, we of course would be very glad to have you make the correction.

"At the suggestion of both the superintendent of insurance and attorney-general we are mailing you herewith our check for the correct amount, that is for 2½ per cent. upon the premiums, being $7,852.31, so as to show our desire to pay the correct amount within the specified time. Of course I do not know that you will feel that you can retain this, but I am anxious to show our good faith and to avoid any penalties or interest.

"I am sending copy of this letter to the superintendent of insurance and one to the attorney-general's office, as I suppose between us at the proper time there will be no difficulty in making this correction.

"We are willing and anxious to do anything we can to correct the error, and will greatly appreciate any aid you can give.

"Yours very truly,

"BANKERS LIFE COMPANY.

"By I. M. EARLE,

"Vice President and General Counsel."

The blank form for the report of the company during the year 1913 and the form for said report during the year 1914 were different, in this, to wit: That item No. 27 included in the blank form of report in 1913 was entirely omitted from the form of said report in 1914, and item No. 28 as set forth in the form for 1913 was numbered "27" in the form of report for 1914.

In the blanks furnished by the department for the report of business during the year 1913 item 27 was as follows:

"27. Premiums collected or secured in cash and notes, or credits without any deduction for losses, dividends, commissions or other expenses.....$200,023.56."

and inserted in ink directly under that item was the following:

"Assessments received.....$330,248.64."

Under the general heading "Exhibit of Premiums for Taxation Purposes" item 28 appeared as follows:

"28. Gross premiums collected or secured in cash and notes, or credits without any deductions for losses, dividends, surrender values, return premiums, commissions or other expenses, or considerations paid or received for reinsurance.....$200,023.56."

and that was the amount upon which the company paid the two and one-half per cent that year.

As before stated, item 27, which was under the general heading "Business in Ohio During 1913," was omitted from the form the following year, and under "Exhibit of Premiums for Taxation Purposes" what was item 28 in the report for the previous year became item 27. In that report appeared the following:

"27. Gross premiums collected or secured in cash and notes, or credits without any deductions for losses, dividends, surrender values, return premiums, commissions or other expenses, or considerations paid or received for reinsurance.....$314,092.58."

and there was inserted in ink the following:

'Assessments received on assessment certificates..... $296,473.88."

and the tax assessed for the year 1914 was computed on the sum of the above two items whereas the year before it was computed solely on the amount received less assesments received on assessment certificates.

I am clearly of the opinion, that it is manifest upon the face of the reports, that the computations for the years 1913 and 1914 are different, and that it was merely a clerical error so far as the company is concerned.

There is, however, the question of whether or not the computation made for the year 1914, or the computation made for the year 1913, is the correct one. In other words, whether under sections 5432 and 5433, G. C., the company should have been assessed not only upon the premiums received from level premium policies, but also on the amounts received by way of assessment from those policies which the company had issued prior to the amendment of its charter changing it from an assessment company to a level premium company.

Section 5432, G. C., provides in part as follows:

"Every insurance company incorporated by the authority of another state or government, in its annual statement to the superintendent of insurance, shall set forth the gross amount of premiums received by it from policies covering risks within this state during the preceding calendar year, without deductions for commissions, return premiums, considerations paid for reinsurance or any deductions whatever. * * *"

Section 5433, G. C. (106 O. L. 502), provides as follows:

"If the superintendent of insurance finds such report to be correct, prior to the month of November, in each year, he shall compute an amount of two and one-half per cent. of the balance of such gross amount after deducting such return premiums and considerations received for reinsurances as shown by the next preceding annual statement and charge them to such company as a tax upon the business done by it in this state for the period shown by such annual statement, which amount shall be paid by each company to the treasurer of state in the month of November next succeeding. All taxes so collected shall be credited to the general revenue fund of the state."

Insofar as the question here involved is concerned, section 5433, G. C., contains practically the same language that it did prior to amendment. The question arises then as to what is meant by the term "gross amount of premiums;" or, in other words, what is meant by the term "premium." Is "premium" to be considered as the amount received not only from level premium policies but by way of assessment as well? An examinaion of the statutes, I believe, will disclose in what manner the term is used.

Sections 5432 and 5433 were, prior to the codification of 1910, included in one section and known as section 2745 of the Revised Statutes. I shall not endeavor to trace the statute from its earliest form, but will begin with the statute as it is found enacted in 86 Ohio Laws, page 274. Said statute reads in part as follows:

"Sec. 2745. Every agency of an insurance company incorporated by the authority of any other state or government shall return to the auditor of each county in which such company does business, or from which it collects premiums, on or before the first day of May, annually, the amount of the gross premium receipts of such agency for the previous calendar year, in such counties, etc."

This act was passed April 12, 1889.

Said section 2745 was amended on April 19, 1893, and reads as follows (90 Ohio Law, page 201):

"Sec. 2745. Every agency of an insurance company, and every agency of any company or association transacting business in this state, under the provisions of section 3630c, of the Revised Statutes, incorporated by the authority of any other state or government, shall return to the auditor of each county in which such company or association does business, or from which it collects premiums or assessments, on or before the first day of May, annually, the amount of the gross premium and assessment receipts of such agency for the previous calendar year in such counties, etc."

Section 3630c, of the Revised Statutes, referred to above, was the section authorizing foreign insurance companies doing an assessment business to do business in this state.

Said section 2745 was again amended on March 27, 1894, as follows (91 Ohio Laws, page 91):

"Sec. 2745. Every agency of an insurance company incorporated by the authority of any other state or government shall return to the auditor of each county in which such company does business, or from which it collects premiums, on or before the first day of May, annually, the amount of the gross premium receipts of such agency for the previous calendar year in such counties, etc."

It appears, therefore, that the legislature of this state did not regard the word "premiums" as including amounts received by way of assessment.

In 1898 the supreme court of Ohio had before it the case of State ex rel. National Life Association (of Hartford, Conn.) v. Matthews, superintendent of insurance, 58 O. S., page 1. The said case was a suit in mandamus. The action was brought against the superintendent of insurance to compel him to issue to two companies, respectively a certificate authorzing each of them to transact the business of life insurance within this state under section 3630e, Revised Statutes, said section being the one which prescribed the conditions upon which life insurance companies organized under the laws of other states were permitted to transact the business of life insurance on the assessment plan within this state. The superintendent of insurance declined to issue the certificate, on the ground that the method of insurance pursued by the companies, respectively, was not according to the assessment plan as set down in the statutes.

On page 3 of the opinion, the court, Bradbury, J., states as follows:

> "In respect of the National Life Association of Hartford, Conn., the refusal to grant a certificate rests on the additional ground that it had refused to pay the taxes, which the superintendent of insurance claimed were assessable against it by virtue of section 2745, Revised Statutes."

And on page 4, the court states the following:

> "However, as the taxes claimed to be due from the relator rests on the assumption that it is not engaged in the business of insurance on the assessment plan, the right to revoke its license must stand or fall upon the determination of that question. If it is transacting business on the assessment plan, then the taxes in controversy were not legally assessable against it, and its refusal to pay them would not justify a revocation of, or refusal to renew, its license."

It seems, therefore, that the supreme court has likewise given an interpretation to the word "premiums" in accord with what appears to have been the legislative intent as disclosed by the legislative history hereinbefore set forth.

In view of the legislative history of the act, and the interpretation placed upon it by the supreme court, I am of the opinion that The Bankers Life Company is not required to pay the two and one-half per cent. on the amount received by it by way of assessment on policies written by it prior to the time that it changed from an assessment company to a level premium company, and that, therefore, the said company is chargeable only on the sum of $314,092.58, which would amount to $7,852.31, and I would therefore suggest that your duplicate charge against the company should be changed to read in the above amount.

I have written the company requesting it to send me a check for the sum of $7,852.31 to cover the charge against it.

Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1468.

THE SUPERIOR BUILDING AND LOAN COMPANY—COMPLAINT OF JAMES A. DEVINE, INSPECTOR OF BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATIONS.

a. The facts stated in the communication of the inspector of building and loan associations fails to show that The Superior Building and Loan Company is in an unsound condition; therefore, suit to secure its dissolution and wind up its business cannot be maintained under section 687 of the General Code.

b. Although the facts stated in the communication of the inspector of building and loan associations and admitted by the president of The Superior Building and Loan Company show said company has conducted its business contrary to law, suit is not authorized under section 686, G. C., because the inspector of building and loan associations failed to give the written notice to the board of directors of said company as provided in said section.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 11, 1916.

MR. JAMES A. DEVINE, Inspector of Building and Loan Associations, Columbus, Ohio

DEAR SIR:—Referring to your letter of June 28, 1915, relative to the affairs of The Superior Building and Loan Company, of Cleveland, Ohio, and certain practices followed by it in the conduct of its business; also your subsequent letters of November 17, 1915, and January 24, 1916, containing supplemental information gathered from examinations and investigations made by your department on November 5, 1915, and on January 5, 1916, respectively; also the several conferences which you have had with myself and Mr. Jones, of my office, I beg leave to advise you as follows:

The object of your several letters is to induce me as attorney-general of Ohio to bring suit in a proper court under the provisions of sections 686 and 687 of the General Code to secure a revocation of the charter of The Superior Building and Loan Company and its dissolution and the winding up of its business.

The building and loan business, like banking, is founded largely upon credit, and the confidence of the public in the stability and integrity of any building and loan association is an asset without which it cannot successfully operate. Therefore, the mere bringing of a suit, such as you request me to institute against The Superior Building and Loan Company, would in all probability accomplish the destruction of the company even though the judgment of the court might be in its favor.

I have, therefore, considered it my duty, as I informed you in our conference at my office a few weeks ago, to make further investigation of the charges made in your letters, and before bringing suit to give the officers of the company an opportunity to be heard in explanation of the charges, especially in view of statements and assurances made to me and to yourself also, as I am informed, by Honorable Cyrus Locher prosecuting attorney of Cuyahoga county, and one of the directors of said company.

To this end, Mr. Jones, special counsel in my office, on March 30th, visited the offices of the company in Cleveland and carefully questioned its officers relative to the method in which its business was being conducted. The questions asked by him were freely answered and all information requested was fully and immediately furnished.

The material information gained by this investigation, as well as the general attitude of The Superior Building and Loan Company to your department, is clearly set forth in a communication which I yesterday received from Mr. Max Greenhut, its president, which I here quote in full, together with the exhibits attached.

> "We are writing you pursuant to conversation with your Mr. Jones on the 31st ult.

"At the outset we wish to state that the department of building and loan associations has made an examination of the Superior Building and Loan Company at various stated periods. The department at no time suggested any changes or notified either the board of directors or any of its officers regarding any irregularity or indicating, in any manner, that the Superior Building and Loan Company was not operated in the full satisfaction of the department. A short time ago, however, it came to the attention of a few of the officers that the department had been criticizing the Superior Building and Loan Company and that it had referred the matter to the attorney-general's office and requested the attorney-general to institute court proceedings. This information first came to members of our board of directors through members of the board of directors of other loan associations in this city. Immediately, thereupon, we called upon the department of building and loan associations and requested to know concerning the complaints, and offered to comply with any suggestions made or any directions given by the department, but wished to be informed of any irregularity. Upon being informed that the department had sent a report to the attorney-general's office, we immediately called on your Mr. Jones and expressed to him that the Superior Building and Loan Company was willing and ready at all times to follow any suggestions or directions given either by the building and loan department or by the attorney-general's office; that it was the wish of the board of directors to do business strictly according to law and that we had a right to know in what respect the Superior Building and Loan Company was not operated to the satisfaction of either department.

"We further indicated to your Mr. Jones that we felt keenly in the matter that any such information should come to the Superior Building and Loan Company through outside sources; in fact, through the board of directors of the other loan associations.

"We further wish to repeat that at no time have any of the officers of the board of directors of the Superior Building and Loan Company received any notice whatsoever in compliance with section 686 of the General Code.

"Your Mr. Jones has handed to us a letter addressed to yourself by Mr. Devine, dated January 24, 1916. We will answer criticisms in the order in which they are set forth in said letter:

" 'First. The financial statement, "Exhibit A," shows, under liabilities, capital stock subscriptions amounting to $938,900.00, which is expressly forbidden by section 8727 of the General Code, which provides that "no such corporation shall advertise a larger amount of capital stock than has actually been subscribed and paid in.'

"We fully agree with the department as to the correctness of this statement and are glad to have the department call such matters to our attention. This is clearly the function of the department. This circular designated by the department 'Exhibit A' was issued by the president of the company soon after December 15, 1915.

"In December, 1915, the board of directors requested the officers of the Superior Building and Loan Company to engage Nau, Rusk and Sweringen, public accountants, to audit the books of the company. Said books were audited and report made by said public accountants at the close of business December 15, 1915. In the report, said accountants set forth capital stock subscriptions $938,900.00 as liabilities. We do not wish to criticize the public accountants, but merely offer an explanation as to how the president came to issue said statement. The officers of the company assure your department that this mistake will not be made again. We attach herewith exhibit for your inspection.

" 'Second. The item of "surplus" in liabilities amounting to $1,758.67 was the entire earnings of the company up to this date, including $371.52 due and uncollected interest, which under section 8725 should not be included in the earnings. The statement of liabilities showing net surplus of $611.23 would then be in excess of that amount by $371.52, and in addition to this, section 9671, requires that 5% of the net earnings shall be set aside each year to the reserve fund, which would further decrease this socalled surplus.'

"We admit that the item of 'surplus' should not include any amount of due and uncollected interest. Mr. Arighi, an examiner for the building and loan association department, on February 29, 1916, found that a much smaller amount than $371.52 of due and uncollected interest was included in the item of 'surplus' and no doubt has so reported to his department. By mistake, the following items of due and uncollected interest were included in said items of 'surplus' in the liabilities, and said items have since been paid:

"Loan No. 1 ..... $ 7.69, paid March 27, 1916;
"Loan No. 7 ..... 20.00, paid December 27, 1915;
"Loan No. 9 ..... 4.66, paid January 15, 1916;

at any rate, all of the $371.52 has been collected and paid into the treasury. Any part of that that was not paid in at the time the report was made, was an error, and we are glad that the department called our attention to it, and the company assures your department that the same error shall not happen again.

"At the suggestion of Mr. Arighi, examiner, the entire amount of $611.23 was all placed in the reserve fund, and is there now, and all of the $371.52 has been paid into the treasury as noted above. If this does not meet with the approval of the department, please advise at once or have the department advise us with directions, and we will follow directions explicitly.

" 'Third. Under resources, the item "due from borrowers," amounting to $440.42, consists of due and uncollected interest amounting to $371.52 and over paid amounts to borrowers of $69.80. This due and uncollected interest should have no place in the resources or assets.'

"Mr. Arighi, examiner, suggested that the item $371.52, or so much of said item as had not been paid, should be entered as due from borrowers for uncollected interest in the column of 'assets,' and that items like the $69.80 over-paid to borrowers should be entered in the same column. All these items, however, have been paid as above noted, including the $69.80.

"We respectfully request for our information, how due and collected interest and over-paid amounts to borrowers should be entered in the future. We wish to follow the directions explicitly.

" 'Fourth. Under the title "Our growth," is shown the amount of deposits beginning with the February and ending with December 29, to the total amount of $78,451.10, while on the opposite page, under liabilities, their deposits are shown as $2,339.00. The term "deposits," as used by the building and loan associations, means savings accounts, either certificate of deposit or pass-book deposits. In this instance, without any explanation, it would seem that this is intended to convey to the public that they are receiving money upon deposits, and in this way the growth of the association is shown under the title of "deposits." '

"The department is entirely right that the term 'deposits,' as used by the building and loan association, means either certificates of deposits or pass-book deposits; of course, in advertising, a distinction should be made between money paid on stock and on deposits proper. This was not done for the purpose of deceiving anyone, but because the officers did not make the legal distinction. This matter has been taken care of and will not happen again.

" 'Fifth. The letter, "Exhibit B" has a note under the signature of "The Superior Building & Loan Company," which reads: "Superior Building & Loan Company stock shall be 105. Your directors passed on this December 5th. Only a limited number of shares are left at 103." '

"A resolution passed by the board of directors, December 6, 1915, reads: 'Moved by Mr. Lingenfelter, seconded by Mr. Devay, that the premium on the stock in the Superior Building & Loan Company be raised from $3.00 to $5.00 per share when $1,500,000 in stock has been subscribed. Carried.'

"We had understood that the law provides, and your predecessor, Mr. Hogan, in various opinions had approved, that building and loan associations had the legal right to provide for a premium or membership fees. To our personal knowledge, every loan association in this city sells its stock at a premium.

"If any change is to be made in this respect, please send instructions and directions and the board of directors will gladly comply with the same.

" 'Sixth. Exhibit C, advertisement in the Cleveland Plain Dealer of December 30, 1915, advertises an earning greater than has been earned and is for the purpose of making the sale of stock.'

"The expenses of the company during the year 1915, while the company was in its promotion period, were largely paid from the fund which is in the hands of a trustee, and the expenses of transacting the business of the company itself, exclusive of the promotion charges, of course, were very light. We assure your department that this was not done for the purpose of deceiving the public, but we know of no way in which a building and loan company can start unless it has a fund to pay the initial expense. The salary of the president, the secretary and the stenographer, and other expenses, were paid out of said fund because the larger part of its time and services were devoted to selling stock and in advertising the company. The president of the company, for instance, is drawing a salary of $4,800.00 per year, but receives no extra compensation such as commissions for selling stock. To our personal knowledge, one of the building and loan associations of this city provides for a premium of two, and later on, of three dollars, per share, and paid the sales agency selling the stock $1.25 per share commission on the part that was sold at $2.00 premium and $1.75 on the part that was sold at a premium of $3.00 per share. This sales agency, as the department knows, drew upwards of $20,000.00 in a single year. The board of directors of the Superior Building and Loan Company considered it better business to pay the president of the company a salary rather than commission, and had the president of the Superior Building and Loan Company been paid at the same rate as the parties mentioned above, instead of having drawn at the rate of $4,800.00 per year, he would have made upwards of $10,000.00. We had understood that the operations of this company that we refer to above, has been approved by the department, but we wish to assure that we are ready and willing to comply with the directions of the department, but, of course, do not expect to be discriminated against.

"The board of directors of the building and loan company think that the company is on such a basis that we can well afford to pay all the operating expenses out of the earnings. The board of directors did not take any definite action, but we are willing to do so as soon as we secure the approval of your department; in fact, the board is anxious to strictly comply with your directions.

"At the directors' meeting of the Superior Building and Loan Company, on January 10, 1916, Mr. Greenhut was re-elected president for the ensuing year; Sam Bernsteen was elected treasurer for the ensuing year and L. E. Weitz was elected secretary for the ensuing year. At the same meeting it was moved and seconded that the salary of the officers be continued the same as before. We attach exhibit 'No. 2,' which has the approval of the board of directors, if satisfactory to your department. The board of directors, after going over the matter very carefully, concluded that the fair amounts to be paid out of the earnings for operating expenses of the Superior Building & Loan Company are as follows:

"Salary of the president	$75.00 per month;
"Rent	51.50 per month;
"Telephone bill	3.00 per month;
"Incidentals	15.00 per month;
"Stenographers-bookkeeper	30.00 per month;
"Treasurer	4.17 per month;

making a total of $178.67 per month to be paid out of the earnings of the company. We are of the opinion that the balance of the expenses in connection with the said company should be paid out of the other funds available, because the work is in the nature of building up and promoting the company. We should be very glad to have you indicate whether such an arrangement is satisfactory to your department, and if it is, the board of directors will immediately pass the said resolution herewith attached.

"Because of the criticism of advertising that has been done by this company, resolution marked 'Exhibit 3,' hereto attached, will be passed by the board of directors as per your suggestion.

"Assuring you that this company is ready, willing and anxious to have the co-operation and the help of the state department, and to explicitly comply with all your directions, we remain,"

"EXHIBIT 1.

"STATE OF CONDITION OF

"THE SUPERIOR BUILDING AND LOAN COMPANY,

"CLEVELAND, OHIO.

"At the close of business, December 15, 1915.

"RESOURCES.

"Mortgage loans	$85,121.00
"Due on stock subscriptions	880,905.01
"Dues from borrowers	440.42
"Cash	7,736.67
"Total	$974,203.10

"LIABILITIES.

"Capital stock subscriptions		$938,900.00
"Deposits		2,339.00
"Due to borrowers—building account		27,352.87
"Borrowed money		5,000.00
"Surplus	$1,758.67
"Less—interest and dividends paid	1,147.44
		611.23
"Total		$974,203.10

"CERTIFICATE.

"We have examined the books of account and records of THE SUPERIOR BUILDING & LOAN COMPANY from the commencement of business to December 15, 1915, and we hereby certify that the attached statement of condition correctly reflects the financial condition of The Superior Building & Loan Company at December 15, 1915, as shown by the books.

"Respectfully submitted,

"(Signed) NAU, RUSK & SWERINGEN,

"Certified Public Accountants.

"EXHIBIT 2.

"RESOLUTION.

"Moved by Mr. ....., seconded by Mr. ....., that the following items representing the operating expenses of The Superior Building & Loan Company be paid out of the earnings of the company:

"Salary of the president	$ 75.00 per month
"Rent	51.50 per month
"Telephone bill	3.00 per month
"Incidentals	15.00 per month
"Stenographer-bookkeeper	30.00 per month
"Treasurer	4.17 per month
	"$178.67 per month making a total of $178.67.

"EXHIBIT 3.

"RESOLUTION.

"Moved by Mr. ....., seconded by Mr. ....., that no money shall be expended by The Superior Building & Loan Company for the purpose of advertising until the subject matter of said advertising shall have had the approval of either the board of directors or of a committee of three having been appointed by the said board of directors.

"THE STATE OF OHIO,
CUYAHOGA COUNTY. } ss.

"Max Greenhut, being first duly sworn, upon his oath, deposes and says:

"That he is the duly elected, qualified and acting president of The Superior Buildng and Loan Company, organized and doing business under and by virtue of the laws of the state of Ohio; that he has been the president of said company since April, 1915; that the state department of building and loan associations, from time to time, has had its inspectors examine the affairs of the said company, and that at no time had the said department indicated or suggested that The Superior Building and Loan Company was not conducted in a regular way, and in accordance with the laws of the state; that the first information that came to the president of the company, or to any of its officers or directors that the business of said company was not conducted to the satisfaction of the state department, came through certain directors of other building and loan associations of this city, and that neither its officers nor the board of directors have at any time been notified, and are now so notified, as provided for in section 686 of the General Code of Ohio; that The Superior Building and Loan Company, its officers and directors, have at all times been ready, willing and anxious to strictly comply with the laws of the state providing for the regulation of building and loan associations and with the rules of the department.

"(Signed) MAX GREENHUT.

"Sworn to and subscribed in my presence by the said Max Greenhut, as president of The Superior Building and Loan Company, this 4th day of April, A. D., 1916.

"(Signed) JOHN J. BABKA,
"Notary Public."

The charges which you make in your letters against The Superior Building and Loan Company may be grouped into two classes or heads, viz.:

a. That the affairs of the company are in an unsound condition, and that the interests of the public demand its dissolution and the winding up of its business.

b. That the company is conducting its business contrary to law, or that it is failing to comply with the law.

With reference to the first class of charges, section 687 of the General Code provides as follows:

> "If, upon examination, the inspector of building and loan associations finds that the affairs of a domestic building and loan association are in an unsound condition, and that the interests of the public demand its dissolution and the winding up of its business, he shall so report to the attorney general, who shall institute the proper proceedings for that purpose."

The financial statement of The Superior Building and Loan Company at the close of business on January 5, 1916, secured by your examiners, and set forth in your letter of January 24, 1916, does not disclose that the company is insolvent, or that it is in an unsound condition. The funds received from the sale of its stock (at par value) are unimpaired, and a small surplus is reported. It cannot, therefore, be maintained that the affairs of the company are in an unsound condition, which is essential to justify the bringing of suit under section 687 of the General Code.

Your charge that the company is in an unsound condition, as I understand it is based upon the fact that it has advertised and paid dividends not warranted by the amount of its earnings. This payment of dividend was made possible by the practice followed by the company of paying all its operating expenses from a fund created by the sale of its stock at a premium of $3.00 per share, which $3.00 premium was specifically authorized by all the stockholders in the subscription contract to be used in "the payment of any and all obligations incurred in the furtherance of organization and operation of said company, and the sale of said stock, etc."

Although the use of this $3,00 premium to pay promotion and stock-selling expenses is probably permissible and lawful, because such expenses are clearly distinct and separable from the usual and proper operating expenses of a building and loan company, yet the practice of paying all operating expenses from such premium fund thereby enabling the company to pay what might be termed a false dividend, is unlawful and should not be tolerated, especially in view of sections 9672, 8724, 8726 and 8727 of the General Code, which are as follows:

"Section 9672. All expenses of such association shall be paid out of the earnings only, and so much of the earnings as may be necessary must be set aside each year for such purpose. But charges incident to a loan, if paid by the borrower, shall not be deemed a part of the current expenses.

"Section 8724. Directors of a corporation organized under the laws of this state shall not make dividends except from surplus profits arising from its business.

"Section 8726. In order to ascertain the surplus profits from which a dividend may be made, in the account of profit and loss there shall be charged and deducted from the actual profits—

"1. All ordinary and extraordinary expenses, paid or incurred, in managing the affairs and transacting the business of the corporation.

"2. Interest paid, or then due or accrued, on debts it owes.

"3. All losses of the corporation. In computing its losses, debts owing to it which have been due without prosecution, or interest paid thereon, for more than one year, or upon which judgment was recovered, but has been more than two years unsatisfied, and on which also for that period, no interest was paid, shall be included.

"Section 8727. No such corporation shall advertise a larger amount of capital stock than actually has been subscribed and paid in, nor advertise a greater dividend than actually has been earned and credited or paid to its stockholders or members."

This practice is designed and operates to work a fraud on the public in inducing the public to purchase stock. Although I am clearly of the opinion that it is gross violation of the law, it does not necessarily follow that it produces an unsound financial condition in The Superior Building and Loan Company within the meaning of said section 687.

I therefore advise you that a suit under section 687 of the General Code, above quoted, could not successfully be maintained upon the facts furnished by you or which I have since secured from my own investigations.

As to the second class of charges, viz.:

"That the company is conducting its business contrary to law, or that it is failing to comply with the law."

Section 686 of the General Code, provides as follows:

> "If, upon examination, the inspector of building and loan associations finds any domestic association conducting its business in whole or part contrary to law, or failing to comply therewith, he shall notify the board of directors of such association of such fact in writing. If, after thirty days, such illegal practices or failure continues, he shall communicate the facts to the attorney-general, who shall cause proceedings to be instituted in the proper court to revoke the charter of such association."

It is freely admitted by the written communication from Mr. Greenhut, president of The Superior Building and Loan Company, herein quoted, that the company has followed certain of the practices charged in your letters, especially that of paying its operating expenses from the premium described above, thereby enabling it to declare a dividend when no lawful dividend had in fact been earned.

It is further stated, under oath, however, that although examinations have been made from time to time during the past year by your department, of the affairs of The Superior Building and Loan Company, that no notice was given, or even suggestion made to the company or to any of its officers, by your department, that "it was not conducted in a regular way and in accordance with the laws of the state." This statement is not controverted in the several letters which I have received from you and I have since been orally advised by you that it is correct.

Under section 686 of the General Code, above quoted, you are required to give written notice to the board of directors of a building and loan company found engaging in "such illegal practices or failure" and a period of thirty days of grace is given such company within which to discontinue its unlawful act before you are authorized to communicate the fact to the attorney-general.

The fact that such written notice has been given, and the thirty days' time has expired, and that the illegal practices or failure continue, are jurisdictional to the bringing of a suit under said section and must be alleged in a petition filed by me under its provisions. It would therefore be useless for me to bring such a suit until you have fully conformed to the requirements of the section.

I therefore advise you that under said section 686 of the General Code, no cause of action exists against The Superior Building and Loan Company, and that I cannot comply with your request to bring suit.

I suggest that you indicate to The Superior Building and Loan Company, whether or not the corrections proposed by it in the communication from its president, herein quoted, will be satisfactory to your department. If they are not satisfactory, or in event that you hereafter find the company violating the law you should comply with the provisions of section 686 of the General Code, relating to giving written notice, and then at the expiration of thirty days, if the practices complained of are not discontinued, you should communicate the fact to the attorney-general, as provided in said section.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1469.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF REFUNDING BOND ISSUE, HENRY COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 12, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Refunding bonds of Henry county, Ohio, in the amount of $20,000.00, viz.:

"1. $10,000.00 to refund bonds issued for road improvement Nos. 78 and 79, in Flat Rock township, being ten bonds of $1,000.00 each.

"2. $10,000.00 to refund bonds of road improvement Nos. 72 and 77 of Harrison township, being ten bonds of $1,000.00 each.

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the county commissioners and other officers of Henry county, relative to the issuance of the above refunding bonds, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the proceedings and forms regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds, drawn in accordance with the form submitted, when executed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of Henry county and of said townships.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1470.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF BOND ISSUE FOR VILLAGE OF LINDEN HEIGHTS, FRANKLIN COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 12, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of the village of Linden Heights, Franklin county, Ohio, in the amount of $10,000.00, being twenty bonds of $500.00 each, issued for the purpose of paying the village's portion of the cost of improving certain streets."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the council and other officers of the village of Linden Heights, relative to the issuance of the above bonds, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find that the same are regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds, drawn in accordance with the form submitted and executed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of the village of Linden Heights.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1471.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS—EXPENSES INCURRED IN ARREST AND RETURN OF PERSON CHARGED WITH FELONY WHO HAS FLED FROM STATE—STATE LIABLE FOR EXPENSES ONLY WHEN REQUISITION HAS BEEN PROPERLY MADE FOR SUCH PRISONER.

The amount allowed by the county commissioners for expenses incurred in the arrest and return of a person charged with felony who has fled from the state, can only be included in the cost bill and paid by the state when such arrest and return is made on the requisition of the governor or on the request of the governor to the president of the United States. Sections 2491, 13722 and 13726, G. C., construed.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 13, 1916.

HON. C. H. CURTISS, Prosecuting Attorney, Ravenna, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Your letter of April 6, 1916, requesting my opinion, received and is as follows:

> "Last term in our court of common pleas Colonel Smith of this county was indicted for burglary and larceny. He was afterwards located by the writer in the army at Toronto, Canada. Arrangement was made through the army officials and constable at that place that he should be returned to this country by the warrant which was in the hands of our sheriff. Accordingly the deputy sheriff of this county went to Toronto and carried out the arrangement returning with the prisoner without extradition papers. Mr. Smith entered a plea of guilty and is now confined in the penitentiary at Columbus.
>
> "As usual in these cases the clerk certified the entire cost for payment by the state. However, Mr. Donahey, auditor of state, has refused to pay the mileage of the sheriff to and from Toronto, for the reason as he states in a letter to our sheriff under date of March 16th, 'Owing to the fact that this prisoner was arrested outside of the state without first obtaining the requisition papers as required in such cases.' "

Section 13722, G. C., provides as follows:

> "Upon sentence of a person for a felony, the officers, claiming costs made in the prosecution, shall deliver to the clerk itemized bills thereof, who shall make and certify, under his hand and the seal of the court, a complete bill of the costs made in such prosecution, including the sum paid by the county commissioners for the arrest and return of the convict on the requisition of the governor, or on the request of the governor to the president of the United States. Such bill of costs shall be presented by such clerk to the prosecuting attorney, who shall examine each item therein charged, and certify to it if correct and legal."

Section 13723, G. C., provides for execution against the property of the defendant for the costs of prosecution and section 13724, G. C., provides that if the defendant is sentenced to imprisonment in the penitentiary or to death and no property has been levied upon the sheriff shall deliver "such certified cost bill" with the convict to the warden of the penitentiary. These sections undoubtedly refer back to the cost bill made up and provided in section 13722, G. C., supra.

Section 13726, G. C., provides as follows:

> "When the clerk certifies on the cost bill that execution was issued according to the provisions of this chapter, and returned by the sheriff 'no goods, chattels, lands or tenements, found whereon to levy,' the warden of the penitentiary shall allow so much of the cost bill and charges for transportation as is correct, and certify such allowance, which shall be paid by the state."

The cost bill here referred to is likewise undoubtedly the cost bill made up under the provisions of section 13722, G. C., and it is to that section that we must look to determine what costs are to be paid from the state treasury. An examination of said section 13722, G. C., shows that it is only "the sum paid by the county commissioners for the arrest and return of the convict on the requisition of the governor or on the request of the governor to the president of the United States," which may be included in the cost bill, and it necessarily follows that the cost of the arrest and return of the convict from another state or county without such requisition or request cannot be included in the cost bill which is presented to the warden of the penitentiary and allowed by him for payment out of the state treasury.

That this is the proper interpretation of said section 13722, G. C., is shown by an examination of the history of this legislation. This particular provision originated in an act of the general assembly passed April 26, 1871 (68 O. L., 75), which provides as follows:

> "An act to authorize county commissioners to pay expenses to persons authorized to pursue after fugitives from justice charged with crime, upon the requisition of the governor.
>
> "Section 1. Be it enacted by the general assembly of Ohio, that the county commissioners of any county in this state are hereby authorized, when any person or persons charged with a felony, and shall have fled to any other state, and the governor shall have issued his requisition for such person or persons so charged with such offense, to pay to the officer or other person designated in such requisition by the governor to execute the same, all necessary expenses in the pursuit and returning of said person or persons so charged with crime as aforesaid, out of the county treasury, as to them may seem just.
>
> "Section 2. That in case of the arrest, return and conviction of such fugitive or fugitives, the expenses incurred in the pursuit and return of such fugitive or fugitives, shall be charged by the clerk of the court in the cost bill, and paid out of the state treasury as in other criminal cases."

Section 1 of this act became section 920 of the Revised Statutes of 1880 and appears therein substantially the same form.

Section 2 of said act became a part of section 7332 of the Revised Statutes of 1880, making said section read as follows:

> "Upon the sentence of any person for felony, the officers claiming costs made in the prosecution shall deliver to the clerk itemized bills thereof, who shall make and certify, under his hand and the seal of the court, a complete bill of the costs made in the prosecution, including any sum paid by the county commissioners for the arrest and return of the convict on the requisition of the governor, which, if correct, the judge of the court shall allow and certify."

By an act passed April 17, 1882 (79 O. L., 100), the general assembly amended said two sections by an act entitled "an act to amend sections 920 and 7332 of the Revised Statutes of Ohio," and by this act said sections assumed substantially the form in which they now appear as sections 2491 and 13722, G. C.

So that it is clear that the "sum paid by the county commissioners for the arrest and return of the convict on the requisition of the governor, or on the request of the governor to the president of the United States," as set out in section 13722, G. C., is the allowance provided for in section 2491, G. C., which section provides as follows:

> "When any person charged with a felony has fled to any other state, territory or country, and the governor has issued a requisition for such person, or has requested the president of the United States to issue extradition papers, the commissioners may pay from the county treasury to the agent designated in such requisition or request to execute them, all necessary expenses of pursuing and returning such person so charged or so much thereof as to them seems just."

I am therefore of the opinion that there is no authority to include in the cost bill prepared under section 13722, G. C., and presented to the warden with the prisoner and allowed by him under section 13726, G. C., any sum paid by the county commissioners for the arrest and return of a person charged with felony where said arrest and return is not made "on the requisition of the governor or on the request of the governor to the president of the United States."

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER.
Attorney-General.

1472.

HEALTH OFFICER IN VILLAGES—HOLDS OFFICE UNTIL SUCCESSOR IS APPOINTED AND QUALIFIED.

A health officer appointed by council under section 4404, G. C., holds his office until his successor is appointed and qualified, in the absence of affirmative action by council.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 13, 1916.

State Board of Health, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—Your letter of February 24, 1916, asking my opinion, received and is as follows:

> "We have in times past, many inquiries in regard to whether or not a health officer, appointed to serve in place of a board of health in a village, shall serve until his successor has been legally appointed and qualified. Our opinion has been that the office of health officer is of such nature that it is continuing in character, and that the law does not contemplate that the office shall become vacant in the event that an appointment or reappointment is not made on or before the expiration of the term of office of the original appointee. I shall be glad to have an opinion from you that will answer this question for us."

The appointment of health officers in villages is provided for by secti n 4404 G. C., as follows:

"The council of each municipality shall establish a board of health, composed of five members, to be appointed by the mayor and confirmed by council, who shall serve without compensation, and a majority of whom shall be a quorum. The mayor shall be president by virtue of his office. But in villages, the council, if it deems advisable, may appoint a health officer, to be approved by the state board of health, who shall act instead of a board of health, and fix his salary and term of office. Such appointee shall have the powers and perform the duties granted to or imposed upon boards of health, except that rules, regulations or orders of a general character, and required to be published, made by such health officer, shall be approved by the state board of health."

The duty imposed upon council to provide for a board of health or a health officer was held to be mandatory in the case of State ex rel. Miller v. Council of Massillon, 2 O. C. C. (N. S.), 167. That the legislature intended that there should be a board of health or a health officer in every municipality in the state is indicated not only by the wording of section 4404, G. C., supra, that "the council of each municipali y shall establish" the same, but by the further provisions of section 4405, G. C., which provides as follows:

"If a municipality fails or refuses to establish a board of health or appoint a health officer, the state board of health may appoint a health officer therefor and fix his salary and term of office. Such health officer shall have the same powers and duties as health officers appointed in villages in place of a board of health, and his salary as fixed by the state board of health, and all necessary expenses incurred by him in performing the duties of a board of health shall be paid by and be a valid claim against such municipality."

That a health officer appointed under the provisions of section 4404, G. C., supra is an officer, is established by many authorities. Mechem, in his work on Public Offices and Officers, section 1, defines a public office as:

"The right, authority and duty, created and conferred by law, by which for a given period, either fixed by law or endured at the pleasure of the creating power, an individual is invested with some portion of the sovereign functions of the government, to be exercised by him for the benefit of the public."

The above definition has been quoted with approval by the courts of Ohio in a number of cases. In the case of State ex rel. v. Wilson, 29 O. S., 347, in holding that the position of medical superintendent of a hospital for the insane was an office within the meaning of section 4 of article XV of the constitution, the court, after observing that it is impossible to give a definition of an office that will be applicable to all offices, indicated that a public officer is one who has a duty concerning the public, and that he is not the less a public officer because his authority is confined within limits.

See also State ex rel. v. Anderson, 45 O. S., 196.

In the case of State ex rel. v. Brennan, 49 O. S., 33, the court made the following observation:

"It is not important to define with exactness all the characteristics of a public office, but it is safely within bounds to say that where by virtue of law a person is clothed, not as an incidental or transient authority but for such time as denotes duration and continuance with independent power to control the property of the public, or with public functions to be exercised in the supposed interest of the people, the service to be compensated by a stated yearly salary and the occupant having a designation or title, the position so created is a public office."

See also,

State ex rel. v. Jennings, 57 O. S., 415;
State ex rel. v. Hunt, 84 O. S., 143, 23 Am. & Eng. Encyc. of Law, 2nd Edition, 322.

Section 4413, G. C., provides:

"The board of health of a municipality may make such orders and regulations as it deems necessary for its own government, for the public health, the prevention or restriction of disease, and the prevention, abatement or suppression of nuisances. Orders and regulations not for the government of the board, but intended for the general public, shall be adopted, advertised, recorded and certified as are ordinances of municipalities, and the record thereof shall be given, in all courts of the state, the same force and effect as is given such ordinances," all of which powers are conferred upon health officers appointed thereunder by section 4404, G. C., supra.

Council having acted under section 4404, G. C., and determined to have a health officer rather than a board of health, the office of health officer is a continuing office and could only be discontinued by some action of council either by the appointment of a board of health or an affirmative declaration of their intention to discontinue the office, and a person appointed to said office is within the terms of section 8 G. C., which provides as follows:

"A person holding an office of public trust shall continue therein until his successor is elected or appointed and qualified, unless otherwise provided in the constitution or laws."

I am therefore of the opinion that the office of health officer, having once been created by council, under authority of section 4404, G. C., and filled by appointment, does not become vacant in the event that an appointment or reappointment is not made on or before the expiration of the term of office of the original appointee, but that such an appointee holds his office until his successor is appointed and qualified or until some affirmative action is taken by council as above outlined.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1473.

BOARD OF EDUCATION—THE WORD "TAXATION" AS USED IN SECTION 4759, G. C., DOES NOT INCLUDE THE TERM "ASSESSMENT"—STREET IMPROVED ON WHICH SCHOOL PROPERTY ABUTS—NOT ASSESSABLE—BOARD WITHOUT AUTHORITY TO PAY FOR SUCH IMPROVEMENT OUT OF ITS CONTINGENT FUND OR LEVY TAX FOR SUCH PURPOSE.

The term "taxation" as used in the first part of section 4759, G. C., does not include the term "assessment," the latter term being confined to local impositions upon property for the payment of the cost of public improvements in its immediate vicinity, and levied with reference to special benefits to the property assessed. Lima v. Cemetery Association, 42 O. S., 128.

No part of the cost of the improvement of a street on which school property, used exclusively for public school purposes, abuts can be assessed against such property, and the board of education of the school district in which such property is located is neither required nor authorized to pay any part of the cost of said improvement out of its contingent fund, or to levy a tax for said purpose.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 13, 1916.

HON. CHARLES T. STAHL, Prosecuting Attorney, Wauseon, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Permit me to acknowledge receipt of your letter in which you state that property in the village of Wauseon, owned by the board of education of the village school district, and used exclusively for public school purposes, has been assessed for the improvement of a street on which said property abuts. The question having been raised as to the authority of the village to assess said property the same as other property abutting on said street, for its proportionate part of the cost of said improvement, you ask to be advised as to whether the word "taxation," as used in section 4759, G. C., includes the word "assessment." Section 4759, G. C., provides as follows:

> "Real or personal property vested in any board of education shall be exempt from taxation and from sale on execution or other writ or order in the nature of an execution."

Section 2 of article XII of the constitution provides:

> "Laws shall be passed taxing by uniform rule all moneys, credits, investments in bonds, stocks, joint stock companies or otherwise, and also all real and personal property according to its true value in money, * * *. But burying grounds, public school houses, houses used exclusively for public worship, institutions used exclusively for charitable purposes, public property used exclusively for any public purpose, * * *, may, by general laws, be exempted from taxation * * *."

The legislature in the exercise of the authority conferred upon it by the foregoing provision of the constitution enacted the above provision of section 4759, G. C., exempting school property from taxation. In pursuance of this same authority the provisions of sections 5347 to 5365-1, both inclusive, of the General Code, were enacted.

By provision of section 5349, G. C., public school houses and the grounds attached to such buildings necessary for the proper occupancy, use and enjoyment thereof and not leased or otherwise used with a view to profit, are exempted from taxation. By provision of section 5350, G. C., lands used exclusively as graveyards, or grounds for burying the dead, except such as are held by a person, company or corporation with a view to profit, or for the purpose of speculating in the sale thereof, are exempt from taxation.

In the case of Lima v. Cemetery Association, 42 O. S., 128, which was an action to enforce an assessment against certain property owned by said cemetery association, and used exclusively as a graveyard and ground for burying the dead, said assessment being for a proportionate part of improving an alley on which said real estate abuts, the statement of facts showed that said Lima cemetery association was a corporation not for profit. Under the provision of section 5350, G. C., the above described property was clearly exempt from taxation, yet the court held that said property was not exempt from the special assessment above referred to, the first and third branches of the syllabus reading as follows:

> "1. In a general sense, a tax is an assessment, and an assessment is a tax; but there is a well recognized distinction between them, as assessment being confined to local impositions upon property for the payment of the cost of public improvements in its immediate vicinity, and levied with reference to special benefits to the property assessed.
>
> "3. An incorporated cemetery association is not relieved from an assessment for a street improvement by a statutory provision exempting its lands from taxation, such exemption being regarded as confined to taxes as distinguished from local assessments."

Other cases might be cited in which the courts have made this same distinction between the term "taxation" as used in the above provisions of the constitution and statutes, and the term "assessment" as applied to a local imposition upon property for the payment of the cost of a public improvement in the immediate vicinity of said property, and levied with reference to the special benefits to said property.

I am of the opinion, therefore, in answer to your question, that the term "taxation" as used in the above provision of section 4759, G. C., does not include the term "assessment" as above defined and as applied in the case of the improvement referred to in your inquiry.

In view of this conclusion the question still remains as to whether the aforesaid property, owned by the board of education of Wauseon village school district, and used exclusively for public school purposes, may be subject to an assessment for the aforesaid improvement, or whether the board of education of said village school district can be required to pay any part of the cost of said improvement out of its contingent fund, or to levy a tax for said purpose.

You will observe that under provision of said section 4759, G. C., real or personal property vested in any board of education is exempt from sale on execution or other writ or order in the nature of an execution. In this connection I again call your attention to the case of Lima v. Cemetery Association, supra. Under provision of section 3571, R. S., as in force at the time said case was before the court, a company or association, incorporated for cemetery purposes, had the right to purchase, appropriate or take by gift, or devise and hold not exceeding one hundred acres of land, which, by the further provision of said statute, was exempted "from execution, from taxation, and from being appropriated to any other public purpose if used exclusively for burial purposes, and in no wise with a view to profit." The court, recognizing said provision of said statute, held in the fourth branch of the syllabus that:

> "While the lands of an incorporated cemetery association, so far as exempted, cannot be sold to pay an assessment for the improvement of a street, the municipal corporation may enforce the assessment by such remedies as the statute and courts of equity afford."

In the case of City of Toledo v. Board of Education, 48 O. S., 83, the court evidently had in mind its interpretation of the above provision of section 3571, R. S., in the case of Lima v. Cemetery Association, supra, and, in holding that school property is not liable to assessment for a street improvement, it is manifest that the court based its decision on the above provision of section 4759, G. C., that "real or personal property vested in any board of education shall be exempt * * * from sale on execution or other writ or order in the nature of an execution," applying said provision of said statute the same as it applied the similar provision of section 3571, R. S.

It was further held by the court, however, that a judgment could not be rendered against the board of education for the payment of said assessment out of its contingent fund to be raised under provision of section 3598 of the Revised Statutes as then in force, and that the amount of said assessment should be paid out of the general fund of the city.

The authority of the council of a municipal corporation to levy a tax for this purpose is found in section 3837, G. C., which provides:

> "When the whole or any portion of an improvement authorized by this title passes by or through a public wharf, market space, park, cemetery, structure for the fire department, water works, school building, * * * the council may authorize the proper proportion of the estimated costs and expenses of the improvement to be certified by the auditor or clerk of the corporation to the county auditor, and entered upon the tax list of all taxable real and personal property in the corporation, and they shall be collected as other taxes."

In the case of Board of Education v. Bowland, 15 O. D., 334, decided January 4, 1905, the court held that school property was not subject to assessment for street assessments prior to the passage of what was then known as the new school code being the act of the general assembly as found in 97 O. L., 334. The court did not pass on the question as to whether the division of the contingent fund into separate funds by said act of the general assembly will render valid such assessments levied since the passage of said act.

In the case of Board v. Volk, 72 O. S., 469, decided by the supreme court May 23, 1905, the court in commenting on the authority of a board of education to levy taxes, in its opinion at page 479 quoted the above provision of section 4759, G. C. (3973 R. S.), and said:

> "Legislative control and limitation is further shown in section 3958, Revised Statutes, which provides that 'each board of education shall annually, at a regular or special meeting to be held between the third Monday in April and the first day of June, determine by estimate, as nearly as practicable, the entire amount of money necessary to be levied as a contingent fund for the continuance of the school or schools of the district, after the state funds are exhausted, to purchase sites for school houses, to erect, purchase, lease, repair and furnish school houses, and build additions thereto, and for other school expenses.' "

Section 3958, R. S., was amended in 98 O. L., 9, and as now found in section 7586 G. C., provides as follows.

> "Each board of education, annually, at a regular or special meeting held between the third Monday in April and the first Monday in June, shall fix the rate of taxation necessary to be levied for all school purposes, after the state funds are exhausted."

I do not think that the levy of a tax by the board of education of the village district referred to in your inquiry for the payment of a proportionate part of the cost of the improvement in question can be said to be a levy "for school purposes" within the meaning of the above provision of section 7586, G. C., and I find no provision in the statute charging said board of education with the duty of paying said part of the cost of said improvement out of its contingent fund or authorizing said board to make a tax levy for said purpose.

In view of the foregoing provisions of the statutes and the authorities cited I am of the opinion that no part of the cost of the improvement in question can be assessed against the school property referred to in your inquiry and that the board of education of Wauseon village school district is neither required nor authorized to pay any part of the cost of said improvement out of its contingent fund or to levy a tax for said purpose.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1474.

BANKS AND BANKING—DEPOSITS IN FORM OF CHECKS—WHEN MADE BY COUNTY TREASURER IN COUNTY DEPOSITORY—HOW INTEREST IS TO BE COMPUTED—"DAILY BALANCES."

When deposits in the form of checks are made by the county treasurer in a depository duly designated by the county commissioners under authority of section 2715 et seq., G. C., and in compliance with the requirements of said sections, and the account of said county treasurer is credited by said depository with such deposits, the same go to make up daily balances on the respective days on which said deposits are made and the average of such daily balances, as shown by the statement which the depository bank is required to furnish the county treasurer on the first day of each month, by provision of section 2737, G. C., determines the basis for the computation of interest provided for in said section.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 13, 1916.

HON. WILLIAM H. VODREY, Prosecuting Attorney, Lisbon, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your letter of March 24th which is as follows:

"The county treasurer of this county has requested an opinion with reference to the construction of section 2737, General Code, providing for the computation of depository interest and we therefore request an opinion from your department.

"The treasurer has had some dispute with the county depository in regard to the manner of computing interest on the county deposits. We maintain that this should be figured on the daily average balance as shown by the statement which the bank furnishes the treasurer on the first day of each month.

"The depository insists that the county should be credited with interest on checks only after the checks deposited have been collected. The depository allows no interest on checks deposited until two days after said checks are deposited with the bank, they making this arbitrary rule which if they saw fit could be extended to five or even ten days. If their point is well taken the county treasurer would have no accurate check upon depository interest.

"The difference in the manner of figuring between the county treasurer and the depository causes a discrepancy in the depository interest account of about $25.00 per month.

"The writer believes that this question is of sufficient general interest to have your opinion in the matter."

I am in receipt of a letter under date of March 21st, from R. W. Firestone, president of the Firestone bank, located at Lisbon, which has been designated by your county commissioners as the active depository for the funds of said county. Mr. Firestone's letter is as follows:

"Our bank is the depository of the active funds of Columbiana county, Ohio, and our relations with the county treasurer are very amicable. There is a difference of opinion however regarding the computation of interest upon these funds which has led us both to seek your official opinion, and I have been asked to put the matter before you.

"The difference hinges upon the meaning of the words 'daily balances' as contained in the statute. The treasurer maintains that the deposits made by him each day are a part of the balance of that day; the bank, on the other hand, claims that all items other than cash are received for collection and are not to be regarded as a part of the treasurer's balance until collection is made (two days later). It is an undeniable fact that it takes two days to collect a check drawn upon a bank in another town whether this be done by direct mailing or through the clearing house functions of a city correspondent bank. Wherefore, it is the custom of all such banks to postpone credit for two days in figuring the interest upon the accounts of other banks. Some banks charge all customers a fee for collecting checks in compensation for the expense involved and the use of the money; and the practice is just. A more equitable plan, however, with no profit or loss to either, is to withhold the payment of interest until the checks are collected and can be made to earn interest.

"The rule the treasurer would follow leads to collection of double interest, as seen in the transfer of funds by check from an inactive to the active depository. The check can not be collected through the usual banking channels until the second day after it is deposited; wherefore for two days the proceeds would be earning interest in both depositories. This is manifestly inequitable and shows the absurdity of the rule.

The following is a summary of our bank's position:

"(1) The phrase 'daily balances' in the statute (2737) signifies cash balances rather than items received by the bank for collection;

"(2) The Firestone bank receives the county treasurer's checks on other banks for collection;

"(3) These checks become a part of the treasurer's cash balance the second day after their deposit;

"(4) To withhold interest upon checks until they are collected and can earn interest is equitable to both parties.

"Will you kindly let us have your opinion in the above matter?"

Section 2737, G. C., one of the statutes governing the deposit of county funds relates to interest on daily balances in depositories of said funds and the apportionment of such interest, and provides as follows:

"All money deposited with any depository shall bear interest at the rate specified in the proposal on which the award thereof was made, com- puted on daily balances, and on the first day of each calendar month or at any time such account is closed, such interest shall be placed to the credit of the county, and the depository shall notify the auditor and treasurer, each separately, in writing, of the amount thereof before noon of the next business day. All such interest realized on the money belonging to the undivided tax funds shall be apportioned by the county auditor to the state, cities, city school district and county taxing or assessing districts in the proportion that the amounts collected for the respective political divisions or districts bear to the entire amount collected by the county treasurer for such undivided tax funds and deposited as herein provided, due allowance being made for sums transferred in advance of settlements. All interest apportioned as the county's share, together with all interest arising from the deposit of funds belonging specifically to the county shall be credited to the general fund of the county by the county treasurer. The county auditor shall inform the treasurer in writing of the amount apportioned by him to each fund, district or account."

Under the above provision of the statute it will be observed that all money deposited with any depository, active or inactive, shall bear interest at the rate specified in the proposal on which the award was made, and that such interest must be computed on daily balances.

It seems clear to my mind that when the county treasurer, acting in pursuance of the authority conferred upon him by statute, and in conformity with the terms of the contract between the county commissioners and the duly designated depository of county funds, makes a deposit with such depository, either of cash or of checks, payable to his order as treasurer of such county, and said depository bank credits his account with the amount of such deposit, the same goes to make up the balance for the day on which said deposit is made, and the average of such daily balances for the month is the basis for the computation of interest.

I appreciate the force of Mr. Firestone's argument in so far as the collection of money on checks deposited by the county treasurer is affected by the operation of the foregoing provisions of section 2737, G. C., but I am unable to agree with him to the extent of holding that the phrase "daily balances," as used in said statute, means cash balances rather than credits in the form of checks which the bank undertakes to collect.

It must be conceded, however, that a lawfully designated depository of county funds is not charged by any provision of the statute with the duty of making such collections, and could not be required to accept checks from the county treasurer and credit his account with a sum equal to their aggregate amount in the absence of a provision to that effect in the contract between the county commissioners and the depository. In other words, in the absence of such a provision in the contract, the depository might insist on the county treasurer making cash deposits rather than deposits in the form of checks, and this would place the burden of collecting the same on the county treasurer, and would deprive the county of the interest on the sum represented by said checks during the time the same are being collected.

It has been the practice, however, in so far as county depositories are concerned, for the depository bank to make such collections and credit the county treasurer with the amount represented by checks deposited, on the day on which such deposits are made. It seems to me, in view of this practice, that the bank in question should have taken this situation into consideration at the time of bidding for the county funds and should have governed its bid accordingly. In this way any embarrassment on account of loss to the bank in the respect above mentioned would be avoided.

The plan suggested by Mr. Firestone, i. e., to withhold crediting the county treasurer with a deposit of checks until the same are collected, is unauthorized, and the danger of the abuse of such an arrangement can readily be seen.

I am of the opinion, therefore, in answer to your question, that when deposits in the form of checks are made by the county treasurer with a depository duly designated by the county commissioners, under authority of section 2715, et seq., of the General Code, and in compliance with the requirements of said sections, and the account of said county treasurer is credited by said depository with such deposits, the same go to make up daily balances on the respective days on which said deposits are made, and the average of such daily balances, as shown by the statement which the depository bank is required to furnish the county treasurer on the first day of each month, by the above provision of section 2737, G. C., determines the basis for the computation of interest.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1475.

DAYTON STATE HOSPITAL—APPROVAL OF CERTAIN QUIT CLAIM DEEDS AUTHORIZED BY SENATE BILL No. 292, 106 O. L., 427.

Approval of quit claim deeds from Lizzie M. Davis et al., to State, and from State to Lizzie M. Davis et al., under Senate Bill No. 292, 106 O. L., 427.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 13, 1916.

HON. FRANK B. WILLIS, Governor of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—You have submitted to me two deeds, one a quit claim deed from Lizzie M. Davis (unmarried), Jennie F. Davis (unmarried), Annie D. Davis (unmarried), William B. Davis and Ida E. Davis, his wife, George A. Davis and Hattie M. Davis, his wife, and Robert H. Davis and Mary Kay Davis, his wife, to the state of Ohio for the premises therein described, duly executed; and the other a quit claim deed from the state of Ohio to Lizzie M. Davis, Jennie F. Davis, Annie D. Davis, William B. Davis, George A. Davis and Robert H. Davis, for the premises therein described, which deed has not been executed, and you request me to inform you whether or not such last named deed should be executed by you in its present form.

The act under which the state of Ohio is to receive the quit claim deed from the aforesaid persons, and in return is to give a quit claim deed to such persons, is found in 106 O. L., 427. In said act the governor is authorized and directed to execute and deliver to said persons, being the devisees of John S. Wead, deceased, and their assigns, a proper deed in the name of the state for the release of all right, title and interest of the state in and to certain lands therein described, being lands formerly owned by the said John S. Wead, but before the delivery of such deed the said named persons shall deliver to the state of Ohio a good and sufficient quit claim deed conveying to the state all their right, title and interest in and to certain property owned by the state and specifically described in the act.

I have examined the deed from Lizzie M. Davis, et al., to the state of Ohio, and find the same to be in proper form, and likewise the deed from the state of Ohio to said Lizzie M. Davis, et al., and find said latter deed to be in proper form.

It is proper, therefore, for you to accept the first deed and to execute the second deed, and deliver the same to the said Lizzie M. Davis, et al.

Section 8523 of the General Code provides as follows:

"All conveyances of real estate, or any interest therein, sold on behalf of the state in pursuance of law, shall be drafted by the auditor of state, executed in the name of the state, signed by the governor, countersigned by the secretary of state, and sealed with the great seal of the state. The auditor thereupon must record such conveyances in books to be kept by him for that purpose, deliver them to the persons entitled thereto, and keep a record of such delivery, showing to whom delivered, and the date thereof."

The quit claim deed from the state of Ohio to Lizzie M. Davis, et al., relinquishes certain interests which the state of Ohio has in property of the said Lizzie M. Davis, et al., and I, therefore, suggest that, in pursuance of the provisions of section 8523 supra, after the deed has been executed by you and the secretary of state, it should be delivered, together with the deed to the state of Ohio, to the auditor of state, in order that he may perform the duties required of him under said section before delivery of the deed to the persons entitled thereto.

I am returning herewith the deeds submitted.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1476.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, CITY OF PORTSMOUTH, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 15, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of the city of Portsmouth, Ohio, in the sum of $40,000.00, being eighty bonds of $500.00 each, issued to secure funds for the purpose of constructing and extending the waterworks system of said city."

I have examined the transcript of proceedings of the council and other officers of the city of Portsmouth, Ohio, relative to the above bonds, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the form submitted, and executed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of the city of Portsmouth.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1477.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS—DUTY TO PROVIDE TEMPORARY OFFICES FOR COUNTY OFFICIALS DURING ERECTION OF NEW COURT HOUSE —LIABILITY IN CASE RECORDS ARE STOLEN OR DESTROYED.

When temporary offices must be used by county officials during the erection of a new court house it is the duty of the county commissioners to provide the same and to furnish them with reasonable equipment for the protection of records to be kept therein during said occupancy. A probate judge under such circumstances may not control the action of said commissioners in selecting an office but must occupy the one provided by them. If during his occupancy of said office his records are stolen or destroyed by fire by reason of the inadequate equipment of said office for the protection of said records, no liabilty thereby attaches to said judge if he used reasonable care to safely keep such records with the means and equipment furnished him.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 17, 1916.

HON. ARTHUR D. DAVIS, Probate Judge, Eaton, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your letter of April 4, 1916, in which you state that the commissioners of your county are about to erect a new court house upon the site of the present one and that in consequence thereof it will be necessary for all of the officers to move out of the old court house into new quarters. You further state that the commissioners have rented for the purpose of temporary offices a certain building which has no fire protection whatever. You complain that in your case the office to be furnished is without a fire-proof vault or safe and without any fire protection of any kind. After calling attention to the necessity of this protection you further state that there is a certain building, once used for a bank, in which there is a steel vault and which building you claim is almost fire proof, and for that reason and the further reason that said building will furnish offices on the ground floor which would be easily accessible to old people, you desire to move there. You then submit the following inquiries:

> "1. Can the commissioners compel me to move the people's records into an old fire trap without any protection in the way of a safe or vault?
>
> "2. Can I compel them to let me move into this other building above mentioned?
>
> "3. Years ago the commissioners of this county saw fit to expend enough of the public money to build steel vaults for the protection of the records in the recorder's office and the probate court, and now, just because we are going to erect a new building, can the commissioners place these same records in jeopardy for two years, with no protection whatever, or can I demand that they furnish me with a vault as we now have and have had for years and years?"

There are no specific provisions of statutory law covering such situations as now obtain in your county. It may be said, however, in a general way, that the duty rests upon your board of county commissioners to provide offices for the various county officials during the erection of your new court house and that such duty requires said commissioners to use ordinary care to provide offices reasonably convenient and comfortable and adequate for the transaction of public business and reasonably safe for the protection of public records and documents to be kept therein during such occupancy. The only statutory law reflecting upon the matter under consideration is found in section 2419, G. C., as amended 106 O. L., 423, as follows:

> "A court house, jail, public comfort station, offices for county officers, and an infirmary, shall be provided by the commissioners when, in their judgment, they, or any of them, are needed. Such buildings and offices shall be of such style, dimensions, and expense, as the commissioners determine. They shall provide all rooms, fire and burglar proof vaults and safes, and other means of security in the office of the county treasury, necessary for the protection of public moneys and property therein."

The foregoing section before the codification in 1910 was section 859, R. S., and then provided as follows:

> "Section 859. A court house, jail, offices for the county officers and an infirmary shall be provided by the commissioners when in their judgment the same or any of them are needed, and they shall be of such style, dimensions and expense as the commissioners determine; and they are required to provide all such rooms and fire and burglar-proof vaults and safes and other means of security in the office of the county treasury as are necessary for the perfect protection of the public moneys and property therein."

In the codification of this section the conjunctive "and" between the words "rooms" and "fire" was omitted. In the amendment of said statute aforesaid the abbreviated form was again adopted. When we consider this statute in its present form in connection with its original form and expression it does not in my opinion warrant such interpretation and construction as by its terms it should be held to make it the mandatory duty of county commissioners to furnish any office, other than the county treasurer's office, with fire and burglar proof vaults and safes.

This conclusion is further strengthened by the amendment made to section 2436, G. C., as found in 101 O. L., 135, which amendment provides:

> "And hereafter the county commissioners in the construction of all court houses and offices for county officials shall provide fire-proof vaults therein in which shall be kept all the valuable records and documents belonging to the county."

If section 2419 aforesaid imposed the duty upon county commissioners to so furnish their offices in the first instance, the enactment of the foregoing amendment was wholly unnecessary. This said amendment, however, applies to the construction of court houses and offices, and is to be considered under the facts here only as evidence of the intention and purpose of the legislature to have county records properly protected.

I am therefore of the opinion that your county commissioners must use reasonable care in selecting offices and in furnishing them with reasonably safe equipment to protect all records kept therein during their occupancy by your various county officials. This must not be taken to mean that they must provide fire and burglar proof vaults and safes, neither does it mean that they are not to provide any fire protection whatever. They must exercise their discretion in this respect in a reasonably prudent manner and if fire and burglar proof vaults are available it would certainly be the part of wisdom to procure them. If, however, they are not available, then other fire proof devices should be provided and furnished by your commissioners, such as fire proof steel filing cases or cabinets.

With these general observations and in answer to your inquiries aforesaid I must advise that you cannot control the action of the commissioners in these matters and that you will be required to occupy the offices furnished by them and to use such means for the protection of your records as they see fit to procure and furnish for your offices.

In a subsequent communication just received you direct attention to the provisions of sections 1583 and 1584, G. C., and inquire if you may not be held liable upon your official bond if you move your records by order of the county commissioners into offices provided by them which are not sufficiently equipped against fire and said records should be stolen or destroyed.

Said section 1583, to which you refer, provides as follows:

> "Section 1583. A probate court is established in each county, which shall be held at the county seat. Such court shall be held in an office furnished by the county commissioners, in which the books, records and papers pertaining to the court shall be deposited and safely kept by the judge thereof. The commissioners shall provide suitable cases for the safe keeping and preservation of the books and papers of the court, and furnish such blank books, blanks and stationery as the probate judge requires in the discharge of official duties."

and that part of section 1584 pertinent to your inquiry provides:

> "Each probate judge shall have the care and custody of the files, papers, books and records belonging to the probate office."

I am of the opinion that the provisions aforesaid of said sections only undertake to fix the degree of care which a probate judge shall use in protecting records in his office, and they do not involve him in any responsibility whatever for any loss due to the defective equipment of said office for the protection of said records. He must use the means provided by the county commissioners for the safe keeping and protection of his records. If by reason of inadequate equipment and furnishings the records are stolen or destroyed, such result is by no fault of the probate judge, and he cannot be held liable. If, however, said records should be stolen or destroyed by reason of his negligence in not using reasonable care with the means and equipment provided for their protection, in that event he would be responsible.

Permit me to suggest that a conference between you and your county commissioners might result in some arrangement satisfactory to you.

Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1478.

TAXES AND TAXATION—ASSIGNEES, RECEIVERS. SHERIFFS AND MASTER COMMISSIONERS REQUIRED TO LIST FOR TAXATION MONEYS, CREDITS, INVESTMENTS IN SECURITIES OR OTHER PERSONAL PROPERTY IN THEIR POSSESSION—PROPERTY SHALL BE ENTERED ON TAX LIST ON ACCOUNT OF PERSON, FIRM OR COMPANY FOR WHOM IT IS HELD.

Under provision of section 5372-1, G. C., 106 O. L., 247, assignees, receivers, sheriffs and master commissioners are required to list for taxation all personal property, including moneys, credits, investments in bonds, stocks, joint stock companies, or otherwise, in their possession or control on the day preceding the second Monday of April in any year, on account of any person or persons, company, firm, partnership, association or corporation and such property shall be entered on the tax lists and duplicate in the manner provided in said section.

If on or after said listing day in any year any such property becomes subject to the possession or control of an assignee, receiver, sheriff or master commissioner on account of any other person who was the owner thereof on said listing day, and such property has not been listed for taxation, then under provision of section 5372-2, G. C., 106 O. L., 248 said property must be listed by such assignee, receiver, sheriff or master commissioner in the manner provided in said section 5372-1, G. C.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 17, 1916.

Tax Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—In your letter of March 28th you request my opinion as follows:

> "In the case of McNeill v. Hagerty, 51st O. S., 255, the court held that assignees were not required to list for taxation the moneys and other property in their possession to be distributed to the creditors of the assignors. One of the reasons given by the court was that the statute did not require assignees to list the property for taxation. Since the enactment of section 6 of the Parrett-Whittemore law, designated section 5372-1, General Code, are assignees, receivers, sheriffs and master commissioners required to list the property in their hands as trustees for the benefit of creditors or litigants.
>
> "The case of French v. Bobe, 64th O. S., 323, also has a bearing upon this question."

Section 6 of the Parrett-Whittemore law (section 5372-1, G. C., 106 O. L., 247) provides:

> "Personal property, moneys, credits, investments in bonds, stocks, joint stock companies, or otherwise, in the possession or control of a person as parent, guardian, trustee, executor, administrator, assignee, receiver, official custodian, factor, agent, attorney, or otherwise, on the day preceding the second Monday of April in any year, on account of any person or persons, company, firm, partnership, association or corporation, shall be listed by the person having the possession or control thereof, and be entered upon the tax lists and duplicate in the name of such parent, guardian, trustee, executor, administrator, assignee, receiver, official custodian, factor, agent, attorney or other person, adding to such name words briefly indicating the capacity in which such person has possession of or otherwise controls said property, and the name of the person, estate, firm, company, partnership, association or corporation to whom it belongs; but the failure to indicate the capacity of the person in whose name such property is listed, or the name of the person, estate, firm, company, partnership, association or corporation to whom it belongs, shall not affect the validity of any assessment thereof."

Section 7 of said law (section 5372-2, G. C., 106 O. L., 248 provides:

"If, on or after the day preceding the second Monday of April in any year, any personal property, moneys, credits, investments in bonds, stocks, joint stock companies or otherwise, become subject to the possession or control of a person as parent, guardian, trustee, executor, administrator, assignee, receiver, official custodian, factor, agent, attorney or otherwise, on account of any other person who was the owner thereof on said date, and such personal property has not been listed for taxation, such property shall be listed by such parent, guardian, trustee, executor, administrator, assignee, receiver, official custodian, factor, agent, attorney, or other representative as provided in the next preceding section."

Under the plain terms of section 5372-1, G. C., as above quoted, all personal property, including moneys, credits, investments in bonds, stocks, joint stock companies or otherwise, in the possession or control of a person as assignee, receiver or official custodian on the day preceding the second Monday of April in any year, on account of any person or persons, company, firm, partnership, association or corporation, shall be listed by, and shall be entered upon the tax lists and duplicate in the name of such person as such assignee, receiver or official custodian, and under provision of section 5372-2, G. C., if on or after the day above referred to any such property becomes subject to the possession and control of such person as assignee, receiver or official custodian on account of any other person who was the owner on said listing day, and such personal property has not been listed for taxation, the same shall be listed by such assignee, receiver or official custodian in the manner provided in said section 5372-1, G. C.

It was clearly the intention of the legislature in enacting the foregoing provisions of the statutes to provide for the return for taxation of all personal property held at any time in any year in trust capacity or fiduciary relationship.

It will be observed that said provisions of said statutes are general in their terms in so far as the particular purpose for which the property therein referred to is held so that I do not think it can be said, that where property is held by an assignee, the same distinction may now be made as was made by the supreme court, between the case of McNeill, assignee, v. Hagerty, auditor, 51 O. S. 255, in which it was held that "Personal property, whether in the form of moneys, bills receivable, bonds, certificates of stock, or otherwise, held by an assignee of an insolvent debtor, whose estate is being settled in the probate court, is not subject to taxation, and it is not the duty of such assignee to make return of the assets to make return of the assets of such estate to the county auditor for taxation," and the case of French, treasurer, v. Bobe, assignee, 64 O. S., 323, in which it was held that:

"Personal property in the possession of an assignee for the benefit of creditors of a manufacturing corporation, which is not being reduced to money for distribution among the creditors of the corporation, but is being held and operated, under the orders of the insolvency court, and at the joint request of the creditors of the assignee, in the conduct of a going business, such business being conducted as it had been theretofore by the corporation itself, is subject to taxation, and it is the duty of the assignee to list such property for taxation."

One of the principal grounds upon which the court based its decision in the case of McNeill, assignee, v. Hagerty, auditor, supra, was that at the time said decision was rendered, neither by the constitution nor by the statute, when consideration was given to all the sections as then in force and bearing on the subject, was it made the duty of an assignee of an insolvent debtor, whose estate was being settled in the probate court, to list the property so held by him, for taxation. The court, in its opinion said:

"Nowhere is it in terms provided that the assignee shall list the property for taxation, nor is provision made for the payment of any taxes save those existing against the assignor. This omission seems to us significant when contrasted with the duty enjoined by other sections of the statute upon other trustees. By section 2734, returns must be made of the property of every ward by his guardian, 'of every estate of a deceased person, by his executor or administrator; of corporations whose assets are in the hands of receivers, by such receivers.' It is made the duty of every executor or administrator 'to apply the assets to the payment of debts in the following order: * * * Fourth, public rates and taxes, and sums due the state for duties on sales at auction.' For such payments of taxes the administrator or executor is allowed in the settlement of his accounts. The provision relating to the payment of taxes by assignees is that 'all taxes of every description assessed against the assignor upon any personal property held by him before his assignment, shall be paid by the assignee,' etc., and if we apply the familiar rule expressio unius exclusio alterius, it would seem that those are the only taxes, payment of which may properly be included in his accounts. * * *

"To hold that property in possession of an assignee, as in these cases, must be listed and taxes paid on it is, in effect, to hold that the creditors must be taxed twice on the same value. While the legal title to the property is in the assignee, it is so only for the purpose of facilitating the settlement of the trust. Equitably, the property is vested in the creditors. * * * It is not necessary to hold that the legislature might not include assignees in the class of trustees who are required to list property in their hands, even though duplicate taxation results; it is enough, for the disposition of the present cases, if the purpose to do so has not been expressed.

"The assignee is, in every essential particular, an officer of the court. The fund is in his hands as such, and he is bound to do with it just what the court directs. The fund, therefore, is really in the custody of the court, and, as before stated, the beneficial interest is in the creditors."

In the case of French, treasurer, v. Bobe, assignee, supra, the court, in its opinion, said:

"From a consideration of section 2, of article XII, of the constitution, respecting taxation, and of sections 2731, 2732 and 2734, Revised Statutes, relating to the same subjects, it is manifest that property thus in possession of the assignee is subject to taxation, and that it is his duty to list it for taxation, unless the same is exempt by direct provisions of law or by fair inference, from all the legislation bearing on the subject. It was the opinion of the insolvency court and of the circuit court, and is urged in argument by counsel for defendant in error, that it should be held to be exempt, and that the case is ruled in favor of the assignee by the case of McNeill, assignee, v. Hagerty, auditor, 51 O. S., 255. We are of opinion that the property is not exempt, and that the case at bar is so clearly distinguishable from the case cited, that its decision is not controlled by that case. That action was an application for an injunction to prevent the auditor from enforcing against the assignee a claim for taxes, based upon a return made by the assignee, under threat to take legal steps against him for failing to make return, and looking to an attempt at distraint in case the taxes were not paid. It appeared that the entire assets in the hands of the assignee were collectible notes for property sold by him, and cash on hand, amounting in all to $25,910.90; that the debts of the assignor aggregated $65,000.00; that there could be paid creditors a dividend of between thirty and thirty-five per cent. only, and that the assets awaited an order of distribution to creditors. The assignee's claim was that the assets were in his hands as an officer of the probate court, subject to an order of distribution so soon as the same could be made, and that the beneficial interest in the property thus held was in the creditors, and that to the extent of the value of the claims of the creditors against the assignor such claims were, under the law, required to be returned for taxation by the creditors, and not by the assignee, and hence an injunction should be allowed against the auditor. This claim was sustained by the trial court and by this court. That the condition in the present case is an essentially different one, recurrence to the facts heretofore recited will abundantly show. There the indebtedness largely exceeded the value of assets, and the assignee was proceeding strictly under section 6346, Revised Statutes, and following, to reduce the assigned property to money and close out the state by a distribution of the proceeds among the creditors. He had sold all the property and held only its avails; he was neither holding the property of the assignor, or any of it, nor operating the business. Here the appraised value of the property exceeds the indebtedness. The assignee is not selling, and has not attempted to sell, any of the assigned property, but is proceeding under section 6350h, to operate the plant. That section gives authority to the court, upon the written application of three-fourths in number and amount of the creditors and upon being satisfied that it will be for the advantage of the creditors, to order the assignee to continue to carry on the business of the assignor, and, with the approval of all concerned, he has been, under the court's order, thus conducting a beer manufacturing plant for six years and over. It has been a sort of partnership affair. The corporation having ceased to do business because insolvent, and the property thus being held in trust for the benefit of creditors, they—the cestius que trustent—have, in effect, invested the property in a scheme to continue the business, and the assignee has advanced his own personal funds in the venture. * * *

"In substance, and in all essential particulars, the proposition of the assignee in this case is much like that of a receiver. He is clothed with the legal title to the property of which he has possession (which cannot be said as to a receiver), but in no other particular is there any real difference. He has held, and is holding, the property, not for the purpose of sale and distribution, but for the purpose of operating the same for profit. Indeed the very order which directs him to operate in effect forbids him to sell. It may be conceded that in form, and from the strict legal standpoint, the estate is in the court of insolvency for settlement, but in reality it is not being settled, but, on the other hand, the arrangement amounts to an investment of the creditors' money in the management of a going concern."

In contrast with the provisions of the statutes as in force at the time the foregoing decisions were rendered and governing the return of personal property for taxation, which statutes by their terms did not require an assignee as such to return personal property in his possession or control on the day preceding the second Monday of April in any year, for taxation, the above provision of section 5372-1, G. C., (106 O. L., 247), expressly requires the return for taxation of all personal property, referred to in said section, in the possession or control of a person as an assignee on the day preceding the second Monday of April in any year.

A custodian is defined in 12 Cyc. 1024 as "an officer of the court."

In view of the various capacities or relationships enumerated in the provisions of said sections 5372-1 and 5372-2 of the General Code as above set forth it is evident that the only trust capacity or fiduciary relationship to which the term "official custodian" can refer is that of clerk of the courts, sheriff or master commissioner.

As stated in 37 Cyc., 797:

> "At common law property in the custody of the law or of a court or judicial officer is not subject to taxation. But in some states statutes have been passed authorizing the taxation of clerks of court, masters in chancery, municipal treasurers and other such officers for money paid into court and deposited with them by the court's order, or held by them under similar orders pending litigation as to its ownership; and similar provisions have been made in some states as to real estate held by the courts and mortgages made to judicial officers in their official capacity."

As has already been stated the provisions of the statutes formerly in force and governing the return of personal property for taxation, did not by their terms require assignees, clerks of court, sheriffs and master commissioners to return for taxation personal property in their possession or control on the day preceding the second Monday of April in any year. The result was that in most cases such property was not entered on the tax lists and duplicate for such year and thus escaped taxation. The manifest purpose of the legislature in enacting the above provisions of sections 5372-1 and 5372-2 of the General Code was to secure the return of such property in just such cases.

I am therefore compelled to conclude in answer to your question that, under said provisions of said statutes, assignees, receivers, sheriffs and master commissioners are required to list for taxation all personal property, including moneys, credits, investments in bonds, stocks, joint stock companies, or otherwise, in their possession or control on the day preceding the second Monday of April in any year, on account of any person or persons, company, firm, partnership, association or corporation, and that such property shall be entered on the tax lists and duplicate in the manner provided in said section. If on or after said listing day in any year any such property becomes subject to the possession or control of an assignee, receiver, sheriff or master commissioner on account of any other person who was the owner thereof on said listing day and such property has not been listed for taxation, then I am of the opinion that under provision of said section 5372-2, G. C., as above quoted, said property must be listed by such assignee, receiver, sheriff or master commissioner, in the manner provided in said section 5372-1, G. C.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1479.

DISAPPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, CLINTON TOWNSHIP, SENECA COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 17, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of Clinton township, Seneca county, to the amount of $25,000.00 for road improvement purposes."

I have examined the transcript of the township trustees and other officers submitted to me relative to the above bonds, and I am unable to approve the same for the following reasons:

1. The transcript discloses that a township road district was created which composed all that part of Clinton township lying outside of the municipal corporation of Tiffin. All subsequent proceedings therefore under the provisions of the General Code were applicable to and affected only that portion of the township composing said road district.

2. The notice of election, at which was submitted the question of issuing the bonds of said road district to the amount of $100,000.00, was defective in that:

a. It recited that the bonds of the township were to be issued instead of bonds of the road district.

b. Because it failed to designate the boundaries of said road district as required in section 7040 of the General Code, which was in effect at that date.

c. The resolution to issue bonds is defective in that the bonds are designated as the "Bonds of Clinton Township" whereas they should have been designated as "Bonds of Clinton Township Road District."

d. There is a further reason why I deem it inadvisable to approve the bonds. The transcript and correspondence disclose that the prosecuting attorney of Seneca county, Ohio, who is the legal adviser of the township trustees of Clinton township and of the officers of said road district, has refused to certify to the validity of the bonds. Although I am unable to agree with the reasons assigned by the prosecuting attorney for his refusal to certify to the validity of the bonds, yet the mere fact that there is a disagreement between the road district officials and the legal adviser relative to their authority now to issue the bonds in question is to my mind sufficient reason for your commission to decline to accept them.

The transcript is not complete in other particulars than those above mentioned, but as these imperfections are probably due to omissions which can be corrected I deem it unnecessary to specifically refer to them now.

For the foregoing reasons I advise the commission to reject the bonds. I herewith return the transcript and letter of Hon. Russell M. Knepper, prosecuting attorney of Seneca county.

Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,

Attorney-General.

1480.

HEALTH OFFICER—WOMAN NOT ELIGIBLE TO HOLD SUCH POSITION.

The office of health officer may not be filled by a woman, section 4 of article XV of the constitution, as amended, November 4, 1913, applies only to the appointment of women to membership on boards or to positions in those departments and institutions established by the state or any political subdivision thereof peculiarly involving the interests or care of women or children or both.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 17, 1916.

State Board of Health, E. F. McCampbell, Secretary, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Your request for an opinion as to whether a woman is eligible to hold the office of health officer in a township is as follows:

> "In Brown township, Delaware county, Ohio, the trustees of the township, in their capacity as a board of health, duly organized under the provisions of section 3391 of the General Code, have appointed a woman as health officer for the township. Please inform me if a woman may be legally appointed, under the provisions of section 3391 of the General Code, to serve as a health officer for a township, or appointed, under the provisions of section 4408 of the General Code, to serve as a health officer in a municipality."

Section 3391 of the General Code, under which it is stated a woman was appointed health officer in Brown township, Delaware county, is as follows:

> "In each township the trustees thereof shall constitute a board of health, which shall be for the township outside the limits of any municipality. Each year they shall elect one of their number president and the township clerk shall be clerk of the board of health. They shall appoint a health officer and may appoint as many sanitary officers as they deem necessary to carry out the provisions of this chapter and they shall define the duties and fix the compensation of such appointees who shall meet annually and at such other times as it deems necessary."

Section 4408 of the General Code, which relates to the appointment of a health officer in a municipality, is as follows:

> "The board of health shall appoint a health officer, who shall be the executive officer. He shall furnish his name, address and other information required by the state board of health. The board may appoint a clerk, and, with the consent of council, as many ward or district physicians, or one ward physician for each ward in the city, as it deems necessary."

Under the provisions of the amendment to the constitution adopted November 4, 1913, women were made eligible to serve as members of certain boards, or positions in departments and institutions of the state when there existed special reasons for such service. The amendment referred to, which is section 4 of article 15 of the constitution, is as follows:

> "No person shall be elected or appointed to any office in this state unless possessed of the qualifications of an elector; provided that women who are citizens may be appointed as members of boards of, or to positions in, those departments and institutions established by the state, or any political subdivision thereof, involving the interests or care of women or children, or both."

The amendment just quoted was adopted in answer to a demand which was made for the appointment of women to certain positions in the state, the nature of which particularly requires or makes fitting the supervision of women rather than men.

Under date of January 15, 1914, my predecessor rendered opinion No. 683 to Hon. James Nye, member of the house of representatives, which opinion is to be found on page 22, Vol. I of the Attorney-General's Reports for 1914, in which he construed the constitutional amendment referred to above in connection with house bill No. 105, which was a bill to provide for the examination and registration of trained nurses in Ohio, the particular question before him being whether or not that board was such as would involve the interest and care of women or children or both.

There can be no question but that the duty of a health officer would necessarily involve the interest and care of women and children, but as held in the opinion referred to the interest was only incidental and not special, and for that reason it was held in the opinion that it was not such as to make women eligible for a position on the board.

I concur in that opinion, and for another and more important reason must conclude that a woman is not eligible to hold the position of health officer, as under the provisions of the constitution above referred to "no person shall be elected or appointed to any office in the state unless possessed of the qualifications of an elector."

The amendment to the constitution in question was proposed specifically to meet conditions at the girl's industrial school, which required, or seemed to require, that the supervisory authority over that home should be exclusively in the hands of a woman. The enabling clause which permits women to be appointed applies only to membership on boards or to positions in departments and institutions established by the state, or any political subdivision thereof, peculiarly involving only the interests or care of women or children or both, and the position of health officer is not such as would come within the latter class.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1481.

INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION—HAS NO DISCRETION IN PAYMENT OF ATTORNEYS' FEES FOR CLAIMANT WHEN SUCH FEE IS FIXED BY TRIAL JUDGE.

The Industrial Commission of Ohio has no discretion in the payment of attorneys' fees for a claimant's attorneys when the fee is fixed by the trial judge, section 43 of the workmen's compensation law, or section 1465-90, G. C., 103 O. L., 72, so long as the order of the court fixing said fee has not been modified.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 17, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—I am in receipt of your letters under date of April 7th and April 10th, which are, respectively, as follows:

"Herewith find enclosed copy of a letter and journal entry received by this commission from Mr. Charles W. Toland, attorney-at-law, Cleveland, and copy of my reply thereto.

"Kindly advise us as to whether we have any discretion in the matter of paying or rejecting the claim for attorneys' fees in this case."

April 10th:

"Following my letter of the 7th inst., relative to the attorneys' fees allowed by Judge Powell in the case of Sam Police v. The Industrial Commission of Ohio, I am enclosing herewith a further letter from Attorney Charles W. Toland."

To your letters are attached copies of letters from Mr. Toland, and copies of letters addressed to Mr. Toland are also attached. There is also attached a journal entry in the case of Sam Police v. The Industrial Commission of Ohio. The entry of the judge of the common pleas court of Cuyahoga county shows that at the January term, 1916, a fee was fixed in the sum of $1,000.00 as payment for the services rendered by attorneys for Sam Police on the trial of this case.

This case was first tried in the court of common pleas of Cuyahoga county, and the court on its own motion dismissed the plaintiff's petition upon the theory that the court of common pleas had no jurisdiction of the subject of the action. Error was prosecuted to the court of appeals, and the court of appeals reversed the judgment of the court of common pleas. The case was retried in the common pleas court, verdict returned and judgment for the plaintiff. Error was prosecuted by the defendant to the court of appeals and that court affirmed the judgment of the court of common pleas. A motion was made in the supreme court of this state to require the court of appeals to certify up its record. This motion was overruled.

The above are facts which relate to the conduct of this case through the various courts. The question submitted in your communication is as to whether or not your commission has any discretion in the matter of paying or rejecting the amount as fixed by the judge of the court of common pleas for attorney fees in the trial of this case.

I call your attention to the latter part of section 43 of the workmen's compensation law, section 1465-90 of the General Code (103 O. L., 72), which is as follows:

"Any final judgment so obtained shall be paid by the state liability board of awards out of the state insurance fund in the same manner as such awards are paid by such board. The cost of such proceedings, including a reasonable attorney fee to claimant's attorney, to be fixed by the trial judge, shall be taxed against the unsuccessful party. Either party shall have the right to prosecute error as in ordinary civil cases."

It appears from this provision of section 43 that the duty of fixing the attorney fees rests with the trial judge. The judge in this case has fixed the amount of attorney fees at $1,000.00, which is taxed under the provisions of the statute against your commission. The amount of this fee is fixed by the order of the court, and in my opinion your commission has no discretion as to whether or not you shall pay the amount. So long as the order fixing the amount of compensation remains unchanged it would be the duty of your commission to pay the same, and the only way whereby this amount might be changed would be to take exceptions and prosecute the proceedings in the court of appeals for a modification of the order of the court of common pleas in fixing the amount.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1482.

APPROVAL, LEASE OF PORTION OF OHIO CANAL IN MUSKINGUM COUNTY TO THE COLUMBUS OIL AND FUEL COMPANY.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 18, 1916.

HON. FRANK R. FAUVER, Superintendent of Public Works, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I acknowledge receipt of yours under date of April 13, 1916, with which you transmit to me for my approval a lease executed in triplicate to The Columbus Oil and Fuel Company, of Columbus, Ohio, for a certain portion of the abandoned Ohio canal in Muskingum county therein described, for the production of gas and oil.

I have examined said lease and find the same to be regular in form and am returning the same herewith with my approval endorsed thereon.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1483.

BOARD OF EDUCATION—DEPOSITORY BANK FOR SCHOOL FUNDS—WHEN CLOSED AND RECEIVER APPOINTED—WHETHER OR NOT BOARD CAN BORROW MONEY TO PAY OBLIGATIONS PREVIOUSLY INCURRED UNTIL THEY REALIZE ON DEPOSITORY BOND.

Where the board of education of a school district, at the time of letting a contract for the construction and equipment of a school building for the use and accommodation of the pupils residing in said district, has sufficient funds available for such purpose as evidenced by the certificate filed with said board by its clerk in compliance with the requirement of section 5660, G. C., but subsequent to the time said obligations are incurred the bank, located in said district duly designated by said board of education as the depository for the school funds, is closed and a receiver appointed, so that said board of education is unable to draw on the funds deposited in said bank to pay said obligations as the same become due, said board of education, by complying with the requirement of section 5658, G. C., i. e., by first determining by formal resolution that the amounts due according to the terms of the aforesaid contract are existing, valid and binding obligations of said school district, may borrow money for said purpose under authority of section 5656, G. C.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 18, 1916.

HON. ELI H. SPEIDEL, Prosecuting Attorney, Batavia, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—In your letter under date of April 1st you request my opinion as follows:

> "About two years ago, the electors of the New Richmond village school district, this county, voted on the question of issuing fifty thousand dollars in bonds for the purchasing of a site and the erection of a new school building and fixtures in said school district, which proposition was carried and the bonds duly issued and sold.
>
> "At that time and up until about four months ago, the First National Bank of New Richmond, Ohio, was the legally selected depository for the funds of said school district, but about four months ago said First National Bank of

New Richmond, Ohio, was closed for business and a receiver appointed by the comptroller of currency, and at the time the said board of education had on deposit with said bank in the bond and interest fund, approximately fifty-four hundred ($5,400.00) dollars, and in the general fund approximately twelve hundred ($1,200.00) dollars.

"The board of education has a personal bond given by the bank as such depository, but as the bond was given by some of the officers and stockholders in the bank, it is uncertain at this time, whether or not the sureties on said bond are responsible, and it is also entirely uncertain as to what per cent. will be paid to the depositors in said bank, when its affairs are finally liquidated by the federal authorities.

"The board of education, by a proper contract, in the erection and completion of said building, incurred certain obligations prior to the failure of said bank and one suit has already been filed against said board of education in the common pleas court of this county. The board of education is very anxious to take care of these obligations and they can borrow the money from the New Richmond National Bank, another bank in said town, providing they have the legal authority to do so, and issue their notes until such time as it can be ascertained what per cent. will be paid by said First National Bank to the said board of education on its deposits, and until it is ascertained if the balance of said deposit can be collected by judgment from the sureties on said depository bond.

"I would appreciate very much having an early opinion from your office on the question as to whether or not, under the circumstances, the board of education can borrow the money until these questions are determined and issue its notes therefor."

From your statement of facts it appears that at the time the board of education of the village school district referred to in your inquiry entered into a contract for the erection and completion of the school building mentioned in said inquiry, and thus incurred the obligations in question, said board had in its depository funds available for this purpose and I assume that the clerk of said board of education certified that said funds were in said depository and available for said purpose in compliance with the requirement of section 5660, G. C.

However, subsequent to the time of the incurring of said obligations it appears that the bank, which had been duly designated as the depository of the funds of said village school district and in which the funds in question were deposited, was closed and a receiver was appointed for said bank by the comptroller of the currency.

It further appears that according to the terms of the aforesaid contract certain sums are past due and that because of its inability at this time to draw on its funds in said depository bank said board of education is unable to pay said sums which, under the facts stated by you, are existing, valid and binding obligations of said village school district.

It is unnecessary, for the purpose of answering your question, to consider the question as to when the funds in said depository bank will be available, or whether the personal bond, given by said depository bank to said board of education for the security, safe-keeping and payment over of said funds, will secure said board of education against any loss. It is only necessary to observe that said funds are not available at this time and if, after availing itself of all the remedies afforded to it, said board of education in the future finds that a part or all of said funds now held by said depository bank, is in the treasury of said board of education to the credit of the fund arising from the sale of bonds referred to in your inquiry, and that the balance to the credit of said fund cannot be used or is no longer needed for the purpose for which said bonds were issued, it will be the duty of said board of education, upon such finding being made, to immediately transfer such balance to the sinking fund of said village school district to be used for the payment of the interest and the retirement of said bonds at their maturity in compliance with the requirement of section 5654, G. C. (103 O. L., 521.)

Inasmuch as said funds are not available at this time with which to pay the aforesaid valid and binding obligations of said village school district, it seems clear to my mind that the provisions of section 5656, G. C., are applicable to the situation presented by you, and that said board of education may, for the purpose of extending the time of payment of said indebtedness, borrow money under authority of said section and within the limits therein provided.

Section 5656, G. C., provides:

> "The trustees of a township, the board of education of a school district, and the commissioners of a county, for the purpose of extending the time of payment of any indebtedness, which from its limits of taxation, such township, district or county is unable to pay at maturity, may borrow money or issue the bonds thereof, so as to change, but not increase the indebtedness in the amounts, for the length of time and at the rate of interest that said trustees, board or commissioners deem proper, not to exceed the rate of six per cent. per annum, payable annually or semi-annually."

Section 5658, G. C., provides in part:

> "No indebtedness of a * * * school district * * * shall be funded, refunded or extended unless such indebtedness is first determined to be an existing, valid and binding obligation of such * * * school district * * * by a formal resolution of the * * * board of education * * * thereof. * * *"

The proceeds of a tax levy made by the board of education of said village school district at this time would of course not be available for the immediate payment of the obligations in question.

I am of the opinion, therefore, in answer to your question, that said board of education may, by complying with the requirements of the provision of section 5658, G. C., as above set forth, borrow money for said purpose under authority of section 5656, G. C.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1484.

APPROVAL, TWENTY-ONE LEASES OF CANAL LANDS.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 18, 1916.

HON. FRANK R. FAUVER, Superintendent of Public Works, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Under date of April 4, 1916, you transmitted to me for my approval, leases of canal lands as follows:

"The Williams Foundry & Machine Co., Akron, Ohio..... $1,666.66⅔
"Fred Reinstettle, Logan, Ohio..... 133.33⅓

"Millard Nethers, Frazeysburg, Ohio	500.00
"Max Maggied, Hunter street, Logan, Ohio	400.00
"Frank L. Rowles, Akron, Ohio	1,000.00
"Charles Saar, St. Marys, Ohio	600.00
"Andrew A. Quilling, Troy, Ohio	800.00
"W. J. Frasch, Logan, Ohio	250.00
"Katharine Jackson, Logan, Ohio	100.00
"Mrs. Culver Smith, Logan, Ohio	145.00
"H. L. Schuler, Cleveland, Ohio	4,500.00
"John Walters, Napoleon, Ohio	200.00
"Peter Rudolph, St. Marys, Ohio	1,200.00
"Lon Fisher, Buckeye Lake, Ohio	1,333.33⅓
"J. W. Weakley, Newark, Ohio	1,000.00
"The Village of Baltimore, Baltimore, Ohio	200.00
"Mary C. Thompson, Logan, Ohio	100.00
"Margaret Hamilton, Frazeysburg, Ohio	200.00
"Dr. C. S. Matthews, Upper Sandusky, Ohio	1,000.00
"R. G. Oldham, Newark, Ohio	1,666.66⅔
"Homer Stiers, Haydenville, Ohio	175.00"

I have examined each of the above leases and find them to be regular in form, and am returning the same with my approval endorsed thereon.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1485.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, TIPPECANOE VILLAGE SCHOOL DISTRICT.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 18, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"Re:—Bonds of Tippecanoe village school district, in the sum of $80,000.00, being twenty bonds of $500.00 each; forty bonds of $1,000.00 each; twenty bonds of $1,500.00 each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the board of education and other officers of Tippecanoe village school district; also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds, drawn in accordance with the form submitted, and executed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of Tippecanoe village school district of Miami county, Ohio.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1486.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, CITY OF LAKEWOOD, CUYAHOGA COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 18, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of the city of Lakewood, Cuyahoga county, Ohio, in the sum of $10,095.00 issued in anticipation of the collection of special assessments to pay the cost and expense of improving Emerson avenue between Donald avenue and Johnson avenue by paving, grading, draining and curbing same, being one bond of $1,095.00 and nine bonds of $1,000.00 each.

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the council and other officers of the city of Lakewood relative to the above bond issue, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the form submitted and executed by the proper officers will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of the said city of Lakewood, Cuyahoga county, Ohio.

Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,

Attorney-General.

1487.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, CITY OF LAKEWOOD, CUYAHOGA COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 18, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of the city of Lakewood, Cuyahoga county, Ohio, in the amount of $10,400.00 issued in anticipation of the collection of special assessments for the improvement of Brown road between Madison avenue and Fisher road, by constructing sewer therein, being five bonds of $2,080.00 each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of council and other officers of the city of Lakewood relative to the above bond issue, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the form submitted and executed by the proper officers will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of the said city of Lakewood, Cuyahoga county, Ohio.

Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,

Attorney-General.

1488.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, CITY OF LAKEWOOD, CUYAHOGA COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 18, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of the city of Lakewood, Cuyahoga county, Ohio, in the amount of $2,280.00, issued in anticipation of the collection of special assessments for the improvement of Detroit street, between Belle avenue and Cook avenue, by constructing sewer therein, being five bonds of $456.00 each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of council and other officers of the city of Lakewood relative to the above bond issue, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the form submitted and executed by the proper officers will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of said city of Lakewood, Cuyahoga county, Ohio.

Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,

Attorney-General.

1489.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, CITY OF LAKEWOOD, CUYAHOGA COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 18, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of the city of Lakewood, Cuyahoga county, Ohio, in the sum of $9,730.00, issued in anticipation of the collection of special assessments for the improvement of McKinley avenue from West Madison avenue to Hilliard road, by paving, grading, draining and curbing, being ten bonds of $973.00 each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of council and other officers of the city of Lakewood relative to the above bond issue, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the form submitted and executed by the proper officers will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of said city of Lakewood, Cuyahoga county, Ohio.

Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,

Attorney-General.

1490.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, CITY OF LAKEWOOD, CUYAHOGA COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 18, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:

"RE:—Bonds of the city of Lakewood, Cuyahoga county, Ohio, in the sum of $3,500.00, issued in anticipation of the collection of special assessments for the improvement of Brown road between West Madison avenue and Fisher road, by constructing water main, being five bonds of $700.00 each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of council and other officers of the city of Lakewood relative to the above bond issue, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the form submitted, and executed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of said city of Lakewood, Cuyahoga county, Ohio.

Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,

Attorney-General.

1491.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, CITY OF LAKEWOOD, CUYAHOGA COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 18, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of the city of Lakewood, Cuyahoga county, Ohio, in the sum of $21,400.00, in anticipation of the collection of special assessments for the improvement of Lakewood avenue from Detroit street to Clifton boulevard by paving, draining and curbing same, being ten bonds of $2,140.00 each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of council and other officers of the city of Lakewood relative to the above bond issue, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the form submitted, and executed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of said city of Lakewood, Cuyahoga county, Ohio.

Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,

Attorney-General.

1492.

APPROVAL OF RESOLUTION FOR IMPROVEMENT OF CERTAIN ROADS IN GREENE AND PORTAGE COUNTIES, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 19, 1916.

HON. CLINTON COWEN, State Highway Commissioner, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of April 12, 1916, submitting to me for examination final resolutions relating to the following roads:

"Greene County—Sec. 'S,' Dayton-Chillicothe road, Pet. No. 2389, I. C. H. No. 29.

"Portage County—Sec. 'U,' Cleveland-East Liverpool road, Pet. No. 2823, I. C. H. No. 12 (also duplicate).

"Portage County—Sec. 'U,' Cleveland-East Liverpool road, Pet. No. 2833, I. C. H. No. 12 (also duplicate)."

I find these resolutions to be in regular form, and am, therefore, returning the same with my approval endorsed thereon.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1493.

DISAPPROVAL, LEASES OF CANAL LANDS TO COMMISSIONERS OF LUCAS COUNTY AND MRS. LOUISE C. HARTMAN, LOGAN, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 19, 1916.

HON. FRANK R. FAUVER, Superintendent of Public Works, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Under date of April 4th you transmitted to me for my approval the following leases of canal lands:

"Commissioners of Lucas county, Toledo, Ohio.....$250.00
"Mrs. Louisa C. Hartman, Logan, Ohio..... 400.00"

I am returning the lease to the commissioners of Lucas county without my approval, for the reason that there does not accompany the same a certificate of the county auditor that the money required for the payment of the rental of the lands therein described is in the treasury to the credit of the fund from which it is to be drawn, or has been levied or placed on the duplicate and in process of collection and not appropriated for any other purpose, as required by the provisions of section 5660 of the General Code.

I am also returning the lease to Mrs. Louisa C. Hartman, Logan, Ohio, without my approval, for the reason following:

This lease purports to be executed by the lessee in the form following:

Her
"Mrs. Louisa (X) C. Hartman, Mark
"By Emma C. Hartman."

This form of signature renders it uncertain whether the lessee made her mark in the usual way of signing by mark. It at least gives rise to the inference that the entire signature, including the mark, may have been written by Emma C. Hartman even in the absence of the lessee. If that be the fact, there appears no authority in said Emma C. Hartman to so sign the name of the lessee.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1494.

ROADS AND HIGHWAYS—TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMPANIES —AUTHORITY TO REQUIRE SUCH COMPANIES TO LOCATE OR RELOCATE THEIR POLES PLACED UPON INTER-COUNTY HIGHWAYS AND MAIN MARKET ROADS.

Where a telephone or telegraph company proposes to erect a pole line upon an inter-county highway or main market road, it is the duty of the company to request the state highway department to establish the location of such pole line, and upon receipt of such request the chief highway engineer at the direction of the state highway commissioner, is required to establish such location within thirty days. The same rule also applies where a company desires to change the location of an existing pole line.

Where the state highway department is proposing to improve an inter-county highway or main market road, and a pole line thereon situated constitutes an obstruction to the public highway or interferes with the proposed improvement of the same, the state highway commissioner may require the company owning such pole line to relocate the same on some other line within the limits of the highway in question.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 19, 1916.

HON. CLINTON COWAN, State Highway Commissioner, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of March 13, 1916, which communi cation reads as follows:

"Requests have been made upon this office from time to time by telephone and telegraph companies through their agents, for permission to erect poles within a specified distance from the paving on state roads and also on inter-county highways and main market roads.

"The question has also arisen frequently as to the authority of this department to require these companies to move their poles when already placed upon inter-county highways and main market roads which the state has agreed to improve.

"A comprehensive opinion from your office, therefore, is respectfully requested upon the following:

"What is the authority of the state highway department in the matter of regulating the erection of poles by telephone and telegraph companies in the following instances:

"1st. When the right of way has been acquired by the county commissioners upon an inter-county highway or main market road and there is either no improvement within the right of way or an improvement has been made and maintained by the county authorities?

"2nd. When the right of way has been acquired by the county commissioners and the road is properly termed a 'state' road?

"3rd. When the right of way has been acquired by the county commissioners and the state is improving, either by construction or repair, a strip of road within that right of way?

"4th. When the right of way has been acquired by the state highway department and the state is improving or has improved a strip of road within that right of way?"

I note that while you refer in your communication to the question of the authority of your department to require telephone and telegraph companies to move their poles when already placed upon inter-county highways and main market roads, which the state has agreed to improve, yet you inquire only as to your authority in the matter of regulating the erection of poles by telephone and telegraph companies. I will, however, refer to both the questions suggested by you.

Considering first the question upon which you submit a specific inquiry, I note that the four situations described by you all relate to inter-county highways or main market roads. In this connection permit me to call your attention to section 220 of the Cass highway law, section 1227, G. C., which section reads as follows:

"If a franchise is or has been granted on an inter-county highway or main market road, no construction thereon or obstruction thereof shall be permitted, nor any alteration or change made therein, until the location and grade of such construction has been established by the chief highway engineer. Such location and grade shall be established within thirty days after he is notified to do so by the state highway commissioner."

This section refers to the establishing of a location and grade, and the reference to a grade might be taken as indicating that the section was intended to apply to electric and interurban railways and other similar works requiring the construction of a grade. I am of the opinion, however, that a broader interpretation is to be placed upon this section and that its force and effect are such that where a telephone or telegraph company proposes to erect a pole line upon an inter-county highway or main market road, it is the duty of the company to request the state highway department to establish the location of such pole line and that upon receipt of such request it is the duty of the state highway commissioner to notify the chief highway engineer to establish such location, and the chief highway engineer must act in the premises within thirty days after the receipt of such notice. Since the provision above quoted is applicable to all inter-county highways or main market roads, the answer above given is applicable under all the circumstances set forth in your inquiry, and without reference to how the right of way for the road was acquired or the nature of the proposed improvement, or the authority planning to carry out the same. This is also true where a pole line has been constructed by a telephone or telegraph company upon an inter-county highway or main market road, and the company is desirous of changing the location of such pole line. Under such circumstances the company should submit the new location of its pole line to the state highway department and the same should be approved by the chief highway engineer before the change is made.

Referring now to the matter alluded to in your inquiry and which relates to the authority of your department to require telephone and telegraph companies to move their poles when already placed upon inter-county highways and main market roads, I desire to call your attention to section 161 of the Cass highway law, being section 7204, G. C., which section reads as follows:

"It shall be the duty of the owners or occupants of lands situated along the highways to remove all obstructions within the bounds of the highways which have been placed there either by themselves or their agents, or with their consent. It shall be the duty of all telephone, telegraph, steam or electric railway, or other electrical companies, oil, gas, water or public service companies of any kind, to remove their poles and wires, connected therewith, or any tracks, switches, spurs, or oil, gas or water pipes, mains, conduits or other object when the same, in the opinion of the county highway superintendent, constitute obstructions in the highway or interfere with the construction, improvement, maintenance or repair of the highway or use thereof, by the traveling public, subject, however, to the rights of any such company to be or remain in such highway, by virtue of any grant or franchise to said company. If, in the opinion of the county highway superintendent, such companies have obstructed said highway, said highway superintendent shall forthwith notify the county commissioners, who shall cause notice to be served on said owner, occupant or company, directing the removal of said obstructions, and if said owner, occupant or company shall not within five days proceed to remove said obstruction and complete the same within a reasonable time, the county highway superintendent, upon order of the county commissioners, may remove said obstructions. The expense thereby incurred shall be paid in the first instance out of money levied and collected and available for highway purposes, and the amount thereof shall be certified to the proper officials, to be placed upon the tax duplicate against the property of such owner, occupant or company, as provided by law, to be collected as other taxes, and the proper fund shall be reimbursed out of the money so collected, or the cost of removing such obstructions may be collected from the owner, occupant or company by civil action by the county commissioners or township trustees.

"All such persons, firms or corporations shall be required to reconstruct or relocate their properties or any part thereof upon such public highway, upon the order of the proper authorities if in the opinion of such authorities the same constitute an obstruction in such public highway."

This section was discussed at some length in opinion No. 855 of this department, rendered to you on the 22nd day of September, 1915, to which opinion you are referred. The opinion in question related to the tracks of an interurban railway company, but the same rule is clearly applicable in the case of pole lines belonging to telephone and telegraph companies.

In accordance with the conclusion expressed in that opinion, I advise you that where your department is proposing to improve an inter-county highway or main market road, either with or without the co-operation of local authorities and in your opinion a pole line thereon situated constitutes an obstruction to the public highway or interferes with the proposed improvement of the same, you may, by virtue of the provisions of the above quoted section, require the company owning such pole line to relocate the same on some other line within the limits of the highway in question. Where the improvement in question is being carried forward by county commissioners or township trustees, without the co-operation of your department, other than the approval of the plans, then. of course, any action designed to secure the relocation of poll lines is to be taken by the local authorities.

Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,

Attorney-General.

1495.

BOARDS OF DEPUTY STATE SUPERVISORS OF ELECTIONS—COMPENSATION OF MEMBERS AND CLERKS OF SUCH BOARDS FOR PRIMARY ELECTIONS.

Section 4990, G. C., provides an annual compensation for members of boards of deputy state supervisors and deputy state supervisors and inspectors of elections, and the clerks of such boards, which is required to be paid quarterly under the provisions of section 4822, G. C., in the same manner as the compensation for services in conducting other elections is paid.

The compensation authorized for services in conducting primary elections is not dependent upon or affected by the number of primary elections held within the official year.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 19, 1916.

HON. CHARLES Q. HILDEBRANT, Secretary of State, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Yours under date of March 16, 1916, is as follows:

"1. Under section 4990 of the General Code of Ohio are members and clerks of boards of deputy state supervisors of elections and deputy state supervisors and inspectors of elections entitled to compensation for each primary election or are they only entitled to one compensation during the official year for holding primary elections during said official year?

"2. Are members and clerks of boards of deputy state supervisors of elections and deputy state supervisors and inspectors of elections entitled to draw the compensation as a whole after the completion of their work of holding a primary, or shall they draw the compensation quarterly as provided in section 4822 of the General Code of Ohio?"

Your second inquiry is answered by opinion No. 694 of this department, under date of August 5, 1915, to be found at page 1430 of the report of the attorney-general for the year 1915, a copy of which opinion is herewith enclosed. In the opinion referred to it is held that the compensation of deputy state supervisors of elections for conducting primary elections is payable quarterly in the same manner as the payment of the compensation for holding general elections under the provisions of section 4822, G. C.

Your first inquiry involves a consideration of the following statutory provisions:

"Section 4990, G. C. For their services in conducting primary elections, members of boards of deputy state supervisors shall each receive for his services the sum of two dollars for each election precinct in his respective county, and the clerk shall receive for his services the sum of three dollars for each election precinct in his county, and judges and clerks of election shall receive the same compensation as is provided by law for such officers at general elections.

"Section 4991, G. C. (103 O. L., 510). All expenses of primary elections, including cost of supplies for election precinct and compensation of the members and clerks of boards of deputy state supervisors, and judges and clerks of election, shall be paid in the manner provided by law for the payment of similar expenses for general elections * * *."

"Section 4822, G. C. Each deputy state supervisor shall receive for his services the sum of three dollars for each election precinct in his respective county, and the clerk shall receive for his services the sum of four dollars for each election precinct in his respective county. The compensation so allowed such officers during any year shall be determined by the number of precincts in such county at the November election of the next preceding year. The compensation paid to each of such deputy state supervisors under this section shall in no case be less than one hundred dollars each year and the compensation paid to the clerk shall in no case be less than one hundred and twenty-five dollars each year. Such compensation shall be paid quarterly from the general revenue fund of the county upon vouchers of the board, made and certified by the chief deputy and the clerk thereof. Upon presentation of any such vouchers, the county auditor shall issue his warrant upon the county treasurer for the amount thereof, and the treasurer shall pay it."

If the provisions of section 4990, G. C., might be taken as standing alone, it could be argued with some force that it provides the method of computing the fee of deputy state supervisors for conducting primary elections, the basis of which fee is the particular service performed in each case. That is to say, it provides the means or machinery for determining the compensation of the officers for the performance of a particular separate and distinct service, and upon this theory the conclusion might be reached that these officers are entitled to the compensation so determined for all and every primary election required by law to be conducted by them.

An examination of the statutes above quoted will readily lead to the conclusion, as stated at the outset, that they must, of necessity, be read together. By the provisions of section 4991, G. C., supra, it is required that all expenses of primary elections, including compensation of the members and clerks of boards of deputy state supervisors of elections, shall be paid in the manner provided by law for the payment of similar expenses for general elections, provision for which is found in section 4822, G. C., supra.

Section 4822, G. C., requires that such compensation for general elections shall be paid quarterly from the general revenue fund of the county upon voucher of the board, made and certified by the chief deputy and clerk thereof.

If it had been the legislative intent that the compensation determined by the method prescribed by section 4990, G. C., should be paid to the members of the board of deputy state supervisors of elections and the clerks thereof, for their services in conducting each primary election authorized and required to be held, it would be difficult to assign a substantial reason for the requirement that such compensation shall be paid quarterly under the provisions of section 4822, G. C., supra.

At the time of the enactment of section 4990, G. C., one primary was authorized to be held in each year. In view of this fact, and the requirement that the compensation must be paid quarterly, I am inclined to the view that the purpose of section 4990, G. C., supra, was to prescribe an annual compensation for the services of members and clerks of the boards of deputy state supervisors of elections, rendered in conducting all primary elections authorized to be held within the year. That is to say, the effect of the provision of section 4991, G. C., supra, that the compensation here under consideration shall be paid in the same manner as similar expenses for general elections, is that all the compensation for conducting primary elections for the entire official year shall be paid in four equal quarterly installments. The payment of such compensation in this manner would be impracticable if the total amount thereof was subject to contingent variations during the official year. In addition to the quadrennial primary election provided for in sections 4954 and 4955, G. C., 106 O. L., 545, there is now further provision for special primary elections to be held in anticipation of special elections made under section 4964, G. C., 106 O. L., 544.

The primaries authorized to be held under the provisions of the statutes last above referred to can not be anticipated for the purpose of determining the annual compensation of deputy state supervisors of elections if it were contemplated in the enactment of section 4990, G. C., to provide an annual compensation for such officers for conducting all the primary elections authorized to be held in one year, to be paid in equal quarterly installments pursuant to section 4822, G. C.

It is well established that additional duties may be imposed upon public officers without providing additional salary or compensation for the performance of the same. If then section 4990, G. C.,in its original enactment, contemplated an annual salary to be paid for the only primary then authorized to be held, the requirement to conduct additional primaries would not have the effect to change the construction to be given the provisions of said section.

While it is held in the case of State ex rel. v. Hogg, 19, C. C. (n. s.) 55, that the compensation provided in section 4990, G. C., is required to be computed from the whole number of precincts in the county, the question here under consideration could not then have been before the court, as I am informed by the clerk of the board of elections of Mahoning county that but one primary election was held in that county within the official year 1913-1914.

I am, therefore, of opinion, in answer to your first inquiry, that deputy state supervisors of elections and deputy state supervisors and inspectors of elections are entitled to receive as compensation for their services in conducting all primary elections held within the year, only the sum of two dollars for each precinct in their respective counties, which shall be paid quarterly from the general revenue fund.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1496.

COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION—HOW MEMBERS ARE TO BE ELECTED—WHAT CONSTITUTES "A VOTE OF MAJORITY MEMBERS PRESENT"—MEMBER SERVES UNTIL SUCCESSOR ELECTED AND QUALIFIED—WHEN COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT REFUSES TO CALL MEETING, MAJORITY OF SEVERAL PRESIDENTS OF VARIOUS VILLAGE AND RURAL SCHOOL DISTRICTS MAY CALL MEETING.

Where a majority of the presidents of the various village and rural school districts of a county school district were present at a meeting called by the county superintendent under authority of section 4730, G. C., 104 O. L., 136, and held on the 14*th day of January*, 1916, for the purpose of electing a successor to the member of the county board of education, whose term, by provision of section 4729, G. C., 104 O. L., 136, expired on said date, and there was a failure to elect such successor, owing to the fact that no candidate received the vote of a majority of the members present, which under provision of said section 4730 G. C., is necessary to elect said successor, said presidents may be called together at any time subsequent to said date for the purpose of electing such successor to the member of the county board of education whose term of office expired on said date.

If the county superintendent refuses to issue the call for said meeting, the same may be held by a majority of the several presidents issuing a call for such meeting, providing the notice in writing, served upon each of the presidents of the various village and rural school districts above referred to, sets forth the time when, the place where, and the purpose for which said meeting is to be held.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 19, 1916.

HON. JOHN M. MARKLEY, Prosecuting Attorney, Georgetown, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—In your letter of April 13th you enclose the following statement of facts:

"On the 14th day of January, 1916, in response to a call issued by the county superintendent of schools, the several presidents of the various boards of education of the county met for the purpose of electing a member of the county board of education, as authorized by sections 4729 and 4730, General Code.

"The number of presidents in attendance were more than half of the number in the county, hence a quorum was present.

"The body organized by electing a chairman and secretary, and roll call was had which showed s;xteen presidents in attendance.

"Two persons were duly and legally nominated for the office of member of the county board, and a vote was had by ballot (written ballot), and the votes or ballots were collected by the two tellers, who had been appointed by the chairman, and were read and announced by the secretary of the meeting, and were tallied by the two tellers. The result showed eight votes for one candidate and seven votes for the other. Thereupon the candidate receiving the eight votes was declared elected by the chairman, a certificate of his election was made out and signed by the chairman and secretary, and he was administered the oath of office. A short time after all this had been done, it was observed by some one that the supposed newly elected member of the county board had not received a majority of all the votes present, and hence he was not elected. At that time the meeting had dispersed, and no attempt was made to call them together and take another ballot. The chairman of the meeting refused to certify the election of the candidate to the county auditor, and the old member of the county board, whose term expired, is holding over."

Referring to the statement of facts, as above set forth, you request my opinion on the following grounds:

"1st. Inasmuch as no election was had as required by the statutes, can this board, composed of the several presidents, be called together again and an election held at this time?

"2nd. If this can be done, and the county superintendent of schools refuses to call such meeting, can a majority of the several presidents issue a call for such meeting, notifying the remainder of such meeting in writing?"

The provisions of the statutes material to your inquiry are found in sections 4729 4730 and 4731, of the General Code (104 O. L., 136, 137), and are as follows:

"Sec. 4729. On the second Saturday in June, 1914, the presidents of the boards of education of the various village and rural school districts in each county school district shall meet and elect the five members of the county board of education, one for one year, one for two years, one for three years, one for four years and one for five years, and until their successors are elected and qualified. The terms of office of such members shall begin on the fifteenth of July, 1914, and each year thereafter on the third Saturday of January. Each year thereafter, one member of the county board of education shall be elected in the same manner for a term of five years. The presidents of the various boards of education, within the county school district, shall be paid their necessary and actual expenses incurred while meeting for the purpose of electing members of the county board of education. Such expenses shall be allowed by the county auditor and paid out of the county treasury upon the order of the chairman and clerk of the meeting.

"Sec. 4730. The county auditor of each county shall issue the call for the first meeting, giving at least ten days' notice of the place where such meeting will be held. The call for all future meetings shall be issued by the county superintendent. The meeting shall organize by electing a chairman and a clerk. The vote of a majority of the members present shall be necessary to elect each member of the county board. The members of the county board so elected, may or may not be members or officers of any village or rural board of education. The result of the election of members of the county board of education shall be certified to the county auditor by the chairman and clerk of the meeting.

"Sec. 4731. Each member of the county board of education shall within ten days after receiving notice of his election, take an oath that he will perform faithfully the duties of his office. Such oath may be taken before any one authorized by law to administer oaths. If any person so elected shall fail to take such oath within the time prescribed, the office to which he was elected shall be considered vacant. Any vacancy on the board shall be filled in the same manner as is provided in section 4748 of the General Code."

The facts submitted by you are the same as those submitted by Hon. E. A. Scott, prosecuting attorney of Adams county, and in connection with said statement of facts, certain questions were asked which were answered in opinion No. 1266, of this department, rendered to Mr. Scott, under date of February 14, 1916.

In that opinion, it was held, that under provision of section 4729, G. C. (104 O. L., 136), the member of the board of education elected on the second Saturday in June, 1914, for the one year term, should hold over until the third Saturday in January, 1916, and until his successor is elected and qualified; that the meeting of the presidents of the various village and rural school districts of the county school district, on January 14, 1916, for the purpose of electing a successor to said member was properly called by the county superintendent, under the above provision of section 4730, G. C., and that if said presidents of said boards of education had elected said successor in compliance with the provisions of said statute, the person so elected, upon qualifying for the office of member of the county board of education, would have held said office for the term of five years, commencing on January 15, 1916.

It having appeared that only sixteen of said presidents were present at said meeting, and that eight votes were cast for one candidate and seven for another, in view of the provision of section 4730, G. C. (104 O. L., 137), that:

"The vote of a majority of the members present shall be necessary to elect each member of the county board of education," it was held that there was a failure to elect. It was further held, however, that inasmuch as the member of the county board of education elected on the second Saturday in June, 1914, for a term of one year, holds over until his successor is elected and qualified, no vacancy existed in said county board within the meaning of the latter part of section 4731, G. C. (104 O. L. 137), which provides that:

"Any vacancy on the board shall be filled in the same manner as provided in section 4748 of the General Code."

The facts submitted by you being identical with those submitted by Mr. Scott, and considered in the aforesaid opinion, I have deemed it necessary to briefly set forth the holding of said opinion preliminary to the consideration of the questions submitted by you.

You first inquire whether the presidents of the boards of education of the various village and rural school districts of your county school district may meet at this time for the purpose of electing a member of the county board of education to succeed the member whose term expired January 14, 1916, but who is holding over because of the failure of said presidents to elect a successor at their meeting on said date.

While section 4729, G. C., as above quoted, required that the first meeting of the presidents of the boards of education above referred to should be held on the second Saturday in June, 1914, for the purpose of electing the members of the county board of education as therein provided, section 4730, G. C., required the county auditor to issue the call for said meeting, as in said section provided, it will be observed that as to all subsequent meetings of said presidents for the purpose of electing a successor to the member whose term, by the above provision of section 4729, G. C., expires on the third Saturday in January, of any year, no time is fixed for said meeting, and the only provision of the statute relating thereto is the provision of section 4730, G. C., that:

> "The call for all future meetings shall be issued by the county superintendent."

Section 4745, G. C. (103 O. L., 275), provided that:

> "The term of office of members of each board of education shall begin on the first Monday in January after their election, and each such officer shall hold his office for four years, except as may be specifically provided in chapter 2 of this title (relating to city school districts), and until his successor is elected and qualified."

Where, under the provision of the latter part of section 4745, G. C., as above quoted, a member of the board of education of a school district holds over because of the failure of the qualified electors of said district, at the regular election for said purpose, to elect a successor to said member, no vacancy exists within the meaning of section 4748, G. C., and said member holds over until the electors of said district at a subsequent regular election for said purpose, elect a successor to said member and until said successor qualifies in the manner provided by law. If said successor should fail to qualify within the time prescribed in section 4748, G. C., then a vacancy would be created which could be filled in the manner provided in said section.

As has already been stated, it was held in the opinion heretofore referred to that the member of the county board of education whose term expired on January 14, 1916, holds over because of the failure of the presidents of the boards of education of the village and rural school districts, above referred to, to elect a successor, and no vacancy exists within the meaning of the provision of the latter part of section 4731, G. C., which could be filled in the manner provided in said section 4748, G. C.

In view of what has been said as to the holding over of the member of the board of education by virtue of the provision of the latter part of section 4745, G. C., as above quoted, until the election of his successor at a subsequent regular election for that purpose and until said successor is duly qualified, it may be argued that a meeting of the presidents of the boards of education above referred to may not be called at this time for the purpose of electing a successor to the member of the county board of education in question, and that said member is entitled to hold over for another year, in view of the fact that said presidents are required to meet at the call of the county superintendent for the purpose of electing a successor to the member of your county board whose term will expire on the day preceding the third Saturday in January, 1917, or it may even be argued that in view of the fact that if a successor to the member in question had been elected at the meeting held on January 14, 1916, and had qualified in the manner provided by law, said successor would have held office for a term of five years from January 15, 1916, and until the election and qualification of his successor, said member is entitled to hold over for the full term of five years and until his successor is elected and qualified. It seems clear to my mind, however, that inasmuch as no time is fixed for holding said meeting in any year, there is no practical difference in the operation of the statute between the calling of a meeting of said officials for the purpose of electing a successor to said member, and the calling of a meeting of the members of the county board of education under authority of the latter part of section 4731, G. C., as above quoted to fill a vacancy in said board in the manner provided in section 4748, G. C. In fact, there is nothing in the statutes above set forth to prevent said presidents from holding a meeting at this time for the purpose of electing such successor and for the further purpose of electing a successor to the member whose term will expire on the day preceding the third Saturday in January, 1917. I am of the opinion, therefore, that your first question must be answered in the affirmative.

While, as before noted, the county superintendent is charged with the duty of issuing the call for said meeting by the above provision of section 4730, G. C., I do not think it can be said that this authority vested in said official is exclusive and that upon his refusal to perform this duty said meeting may not be held at this or any other time during the year, with any more reason than it could be said that upon the refusal of said county superintendent to issue a call for a meeting of said presidents for the purpose of electing a successor to the member whose term will expire on the day preceding the third Saturday in January, 1917, said meeting could not be held for said purpose. Such a holding would defeat the manifest purpose of section 4729, G. C., which provides the opportunity to effect a gradual change in the personnel of the county board of education in the manner therein prescribed.

I am of the opinion therefore, in answer to your second question, that if the county superintendent refuses to call said meeting, the same may be called in the manner suggested in your inquiry, provided the written notice served upon each of the several presidents above referred to sets forth the time when, the place where, and the purpose for which said meeting is to be held.

Permit me to add further that I have just been informed that the questions presented by the prosecuting attorney of Adams county, in answer to which the aforesaid opinion was rendered, were presented to the court of common pleas of said county and the holding in said opinion was sustained by that court. A copy of said opinion is enclosed.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1497.

STATE AND MUNICIPAL CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSIONS—AUTHORITY TO PROCURE ATTENDANCE OF WITNESSES IS CONFERRED ON COMMISSIONS—HOW SUCH WITNESSES ARE TO BE PAID—FEES NOT PAYABLE IN ADVANCE.

1. The authority to procure the attendance of witnesses and to issue processes therefor, as provided in section 486-7, G. C., as amended, 106 O. L., 403, is conferred only upon the state and municipal civil service commission.

2. Witnesses summoned by the state civil service commission may be paid from the state treasury, and witnesses summoned by the municipal civil service commission may be paid from the county treasury upon the certificate of said commission when duly audited and allowance of said claims by the county commissioners is not required. Witnesses summoned by said commissions may not demand their fees in advance and no costs including witness fees in any hearing before said commissions may be adjudged against any party involved in any of the matters submitted.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 19, 1916.

The State Civil Service Commission, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—I have your letter of April 7, 1916, as follows:

"Paragraph five, section 486-7, provides for fees to be paid persons who are summoned as witnesses in hearings and investigations before the civil service commission. The provision reads:

" 'Fees shall be allowed to witnesses, and on their certificate, duly audited, shall be paid by the state treasurer, or in the case of municipal commissions by the county treasurer, for attendance and traveling, as is provided in section 3012, of the General Code, for witnesses in courts of record.

"Section 3012, referred to provides:

" 'Each witness in civil causes shall receive the following fees: For each day's attendance at a court of record, to be paid on demand by the party at whose instance he is summoned, and taxed in the bill of costs, one dollar, and five cents for each mile from his place of residence to the place of holding such court, and return; for testifying before an officer authorized to take depositions, under a subpoena, seventy-five cents, and five cents for each mile from his place of residence to the place of taking depositions, to be paid on demand by the party at whose instance he is summoned; * * *. No mileage shall be allowed if the distance from the place of residence of the witness to the place where called to testify is less than one mile.'

"The question that arises is this:

"In case of hearings before a municipal civil service commission does section 3012 mean that fees paid to witnesses shall be paid on demand by the party at whose instance such witnesses are summoned? Does the person who makes an appeal to the civil service commission have to pay for his own witnesses, or do fees paid witnesses come from the party losing the action?"

Your foregoing inquiries involve not only a consideration of that part of section 486-7, G. C., as amended 106 O. L., 403, which you quote in your letter, but also other provisions of said section, which for convenient reference I will quote as follows:

"Fourth: Make investigations, either sitting in banc or through a single commissioner or the chief examiner, concerning all matters touching the enforcement and effect of the provisions of this act and the administrative rules of the commission prescribed thereunder. In the course of such investigations each commissioner and the chief examiner shall have the power to administer oaths and affirmations, and to take testimony relative to any matter which the commission has authority to investigate.

"Fifth: Have the power to subpoena and require the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production thereby of books, papers, public records and other documentary evidence pertinent to the investigations, inquiries, or hearings on appeal from the actions or decision of an appointing officer as is herein authorized, and to examine them as it may require in relation to any matter which it has authority to investigate, inquire into or hear. Fees shall be allowed to witnesses, and on their certificate, duly audited, shall be paid by the state treasurer, or in the case of municipal commissions by the county treasurer, for attendance and traveling, as is provided in section 3012 of the General Code for witnesses in courts of record. All officers in the civil service of the state, or any of the political subdivisions thereof, and their deputies, clerks, subordinates and employes, shall attend and testify when summoned so to do by the commission. Depositions of witnesses may be taken by the commission in the manner prescribed by law for like depositions in civil actions in the courts of common pleas."

When all of the foregoing provisions of this section are considered together I think it is manifest that its provisions refer to and apply only to witnesses who are summoned by the state or municipal civil service commission, and that a discretion is vested in said commissions as to what witnesses and the number thereof who shall be summoned to testify in any matter before them. In other words, while a party to any hearing may suggest to the commission the persons whom he desires for witnesses, no mandatory duty rests upon such commission to summon said witnesses, as would be the case in a civil action in a court of justice. It follows, therefore, that the processes for summoning witnesses as provided in this section are subject wholly to the control of the commission, and are not available to any party to a hearing at his instance and upon his motion. This does not mean that a party to a hearing is precluded from offering any evidence or the testimony of witnesses, but it does mean that the purpose of this law is to furnish the commission and not the parties to a hearing the means, at the expense of the public, to procure the testimony of witnesses and other evidence to enable them to hear and determine justly the matters in controversy.

This being so, when the commission with due regard for the rights of all parties determines what witnesses are necessary, it is empowered to procure their testimony, either in person or by deposition. Should any party feel aggrieved by the action of the commission in this respect, he may, as before observed, at his own expense, procure other witnesses, and the commission may hear their testimony. This, however, would be entirely voluntary on the part of the party submitting such testimony, and would involve no expense to the commission or to the public. When witnesses are summoned by the commission as aforesaid, they shall be paid as provided in that part of said section quoted by you, which slightly elaborated, so as to express fully its complete meaning, may be said to provide as follows:

"Fees shall be allowed to witnesses, and on their certificate, duly audited, shall be paid by the state treasurer, or in the case of municipal commissions (on their certificate, duly audited, shall be paid) by the county treasurer, for attendance and traveling, as is provided in section 3012 of the General Cod e for witnesses in courts of record."

The effect of the foregoing provision is to make the fees of witnesses summoned by a municipal commission, as hereinbefore explained, payable from the county treasury upon the certificate of such commission when duly audited. It is not provided in said section, nor is it contemplated, that the fees of such witnesses before payment shall require the action of any other authority or of the county commissioners. The provisions of section 3012, G. C., fixing the compensation of witnesses, are adopted and made a part of this law. Under the rule of compensation as fixed by said section 3012, G. C., nothing remains to be done except to determine and certify the amount due each witness, which is done by the commission. In other words, this law authorizes the amounts to be paid witnesses to be fixed by the commission, and, therefore, constitutes one of the exceptions coming within the provisions of section 2460, G. C. When witnesses are summoned by any municipal commission under the foregoing provisions of the law, the county stands responsible for the payment of their fees, and the further provisions of section 3012, G. C., in respect to the right of a witness to demand his fees when summoned, or before he is sworn, can have no application in the case of a witness summoned by the commission to appear before it.

In view of these considerations no witness summoned as aforesaid may demand his fees in advance, nor may any party to any hearing before the commission be held responsible for the fees of any witnesses summoned by said commission.

In answer to your inquiries, therefore, I must advise:

(1.) That as no witnesses are summoned at the instance of any party other than the commission no witness fees may be demanded in advance, and;

(2.) That all witnesses summoned by the commission must be paid as aforesaid, and that no costs including witness fees may be adjudged against any party to a hearing before the commission.

It must be observed in conclusion that the fees of witnesses certified by the state civil service commission may be paid only from a fund in the state treasury appropriated for that specific purpose. This question was considered fully in an opinion to you under date of October 29, 1915, and reported in Vol. III, page 2139, of the Attorney-General's Opinions for the year 1915. Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1498.

HOME RULE COMMISSION—ADOPTION OF CHARTER SUBMITTED BY SUCH COMMISSION—HOW EXPENSES OF ELECTIONS FOR ABOVE PURPOSES ARE TO BE PAID—FROM COUNTY TREASURY.

Expenses of a special election by a city for the purpose of voting upon the proposition of a home rule charter commission, as well as the expenses of a special election held upon the adoption of a charter submitted by such a commission, are to be paid by the county, and the same are not to be charged back by the county against the municipality to be retained from the funds due said municipality at the next semi-annual distribution of taxes.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 19, 1916.

Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—We are in receipt of your letter of March 3d as follows:

"We would respectfully request your opinion upon the following questions:

"(1) Are the expenses of a special election by a city, for the purpose of voting upon the proposition of a home rule charter commission for said city, under Art. 18 of the constitution of Ohio, legal expenses against the city funds to be paid direct by the warrant of the city auditor, or must such expense be certified by the deputy state supervisors of elections to the county auditor and be paid by the county?

"(2) If it is held that the latter course is the proper procedure, is it the duty of the county auditor to retain from the funds due to said city at the next distribution of taxes, the expenses of such an election?

"(3) Like inquiry is made as to the payment of the expense of a special election held upon adoption of a charter submitted by a commission, selected under the home rule provisions of the constitution."

Section 8 of the municipal home rule amendment to the constitution provides as follows:

"The legislative authority of any city or village may by a two-thirds vote of its members, and upon petition of ten per centum of the electors shall forthwith, provide by ordinance for the submission to the electors, of the question, 'Shall a commission be chosen to frame a charter?' The ordinance providing for the submission of such question shall require that it be submitted to the electors at the next regular municipal election if one shall occur not less than sixty nor more than one hundred and twenty days after its passage; otherwise it shall provide for the submission of the question at a special election to be called and held within the time aforesaid. * * * Any charter so framed shall be submitted to the electors of the municipality at an election to be held at a time fixed by the charter commission and within one year from the date of its election, provision for which shall be made by the legislative authority of the municipality in so far as not prescribed by general law. * * *"

There is no provision in the above constitutional amendment for the payment of the expenses of such elections.

We are therefore relegated to the general statutes in order to ascertain how the expenses of said election shall be paid.

Section 5052 of the General Code provides as follows:

"All expenses of printing and distributing ballots, cards of explanation to officers of the election and voters, blanks, and other proper and necessary expenses of any general or special election, including compensation of precinct election officers, shall be paid from the county treasury, as other county expenses."

There is no doubt that the two elections referred to in your inquiry are "special elections," and unless we can find some authority whereby the expenses thereof shall be charged against the municipality, the county will have to pay the same.

Section 5053, G. C., provides that in November election held in odd numbered years, the compensation and expenses shall be a charge against the township, city or village in which the election was held, and the amount so paid by the county shall be retained by the county auditor at the time of making the semi-annual distribution of taxes. This, however, can in no way refer to the special elections indicated in your letter.

In opinion No. 82, rendered on February 12, 1915, to Hon. John M. Markley, prosecuting attorney, Georgetown, Ohio, I held that the expenses of a special municipal election held in a municipality, to determine whether or not the sale of intoxicating liquor as a beverage should be prohibited in such municipality, must be paid out of the county treasury and may not be charged back against the municipality.

The same rule would apply to the special elections referred to in your inquiry.

Without undertaking to give a complete history of the statute, which was designated as section 2966-27, of the Revised Statutes, but which has since been codified into sections 5052 and 5053 of the General Code, I will, however, refer to the act as found in 91 O. L., page 243, passed May 15, 1894. This was an act to amend section 14 of the act found in 90 O. L., page 263, and provided in part as follows:

> "Section 14. All expenses arising from printing and distributing ballots, cards of explanation to officers of election and voters, blanks, and all other proper and necessary expenses of any general or special elections, including compensation of precinct election officers, shall be paid out of the county treasury as other county expenses; but, except in the case of November elections, shall be a charge against the township, city, village or political division in which such election was held, and the amount so paid by the county, as above provided, shall be retained by the county auditor from the funds due to such township, city, village or political division, at the time of making the semi-annual distribution of taxes; * * *"

At the time of the passage of the above act municipalities held elections for their officers in April, and not in November.

On October 2, 1902, the Municipal Code was enacted (See 90 O. L., 20). Section 222 of said act provided for the first election under the act to be held on the first Monday in April, 1903, and for an election every year thereafter, on the first Monday in April.

On March 17, 1904, the legislature amended section 222 of the Municipal Code (97 O. L. 39), and provided that, beginning with the year 1904, the regular municipal election should be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November. It was therefore in the year 1904, that the time for the holding of municipal elections was changed from April to November.

In 1905, article XVII of the constitution, was adopted. Section 1 of said article provides that the elections for state and county officers shall be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, in the even numbered years, and all elections for all other elective officers on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November in the odd numbered years.

Section 2966-27, R. S., as found in 91 O. L., 243, was not then amended; but on April 9, 1908, the legislature amended section 14, of the act passed May 15, 1894 (99 O. L., 84), so as to contain practically the same language as is now found in sections 5052 and 5053 of the General Code. Therefore, the change made from the provisions of the act found in 91 O. L., 243, was not made by the codifying commission, but was made by the general assembly as indicated. The language of the act passed in 99 O. L., 84, is clear and explicit, and, as I see it, admits of no interpretation other than that which I have heretofore expressed.

Section 5052, G. C., requiring that the county shall pay all the expenses of elections, and there being no statutory authority under section 5053, G. C., to charge the same back to the municipality, the conclusion is inevitable that no such charge can be made.

In passing on this question, I have not considered whether or not said sections 5052 and 5053, as found in the General Code, are constitutional. I have simply passed on the question of the meaning of the provisions of said sections as found in the General Code. Nor have I passed in any way upon such expenses as are to be paid under section 4946, G. C.

Specifically answering your question, therefore, I am of the opinion that the expenses of a special election by a city, for the purpose of voting upon the proposition of a home rule charter commission, are to be paid by the county, and that the same should not be charged back against the municipality to be retained from the funds due said municipality at the next distribution of taxes; and further, that the expenses of a special election, held upon adoption of a charter submitted by a commission, are to be paid by the county and not charged back.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1499.

APPROVAL, RESOLUTIONS FOR IMPROVEMENT OF ROADS IN TEN COUNTIES.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 19, 1916.

HON. CLINTON COWEN, State Highway Commissioner, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communications of April 17 and April 18, 1916, transmitting to me for examination, resolutions relating to the following roads:

"Champaign county—Sec. 'O' of Urbana-West Jefferson road, Pet. No. 2146, I. C. H. No. 188.

"Clark county—Sec. 'I,' Springfield-Urbana road, Pet. No. 2158, I. C. H. No. 187.

Clark county—Sec. 'I,' Springfield-Urbana road, Pet. No. 2158, I. C. H. No. 187.

"Erie county—Sec. 'O,' Sandusky-Norwalk road, Pet. No. 1480, I. C. H. No. 294.

"Mercer county—Celina-Greenville road, Pet. No. 2681, I. C. H. No. 211, Sec. 'E.'

"Monroe county—Sec. 'J,' Woodsfield-Marietta road, Pet. No. 2718, I. C. H. No. 389.

"Ross county—Sec. 'M,' Chillicothe-Lancaster road, Pet. No. 2880, I. C. H. No. 361.

"Tuscarawas county—Sec. 'O,' New Philadelphia-Uhrichsville road, Pet. No. 3000, I. C. H. No. 412.

"Jefferson county—Steubenville-Cambridge road, Sec. 'H,' I. C. H. No. 26, Pet. No. 2538.

"Knox county—Sec. 'J' of the Mt. Vernon-Coshocton road, Pet. No. 2552, I. C. H. No. 339. (Also copy.)

"Knox county—Sec. 'I' of the Columbus-Millersburg road, Pet. No. 2553, I. C. H. No. 23.

"Knox county—Sec. 'I' of the Columbus-Millersburg road, Pet. No. 2553, I. C. H. No. 23.

"Union county—Sec. 'F' of the Urbana-Marysville road, Pet. No. 3013, I. C. H. No. 191."

I find these resolutions to be in regular form, and am therefore returning the same with my approval endorsed thereon.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1500.

TOWNSHIP TRUSTEES—WITHOUT AUTHORITY AT PRESENT TIME TO SUBMIT TO ELECTORS OF TOWNSHIP BOND ISSUE FOR ROAD PURPOSES—WHEN SUCH QUESTION MAY BE SUBMITTED UNDER PROVISIONS OF CASS HIGHWAY LAW—PURPOSE DEFINED—COUNTY COMMISSIONERS MAY ISSUE BONDS FOR ROAD REPAIR PURPOSES.

Township trustees are without authority at the present time to submit to the electors of a township a bond issue for road purposes. Such question may not be submitted until the budget commission has made its report and it is known how much will be realized from the levy already made, and how much of the cost of the projected work will have to be met by a bond issue. Such bonds can only be issued for construction or reconstruction work. County commissioners, may, however, issue bonds at the present time for road repair purposes and the proceeds of such bonds may be used by the county commissioners in the repair of township roads.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 20, 1916.

HON. OTHO W. KENNEDY, Prosecuting Attorney, Bucyrus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your inquiry under date of March 20, 1916, which reads as follows:

> "In Crawford county there are a number of townships that have improved roads that are in great need of repair. These townships have practically no money with which to make such repairs. That is, the sum in the treasury that might be used for that purpose is wholly inadequate to meet the expenses that will be necessarily incurred in making needed repairs. Some of these roads are in very bad condition, and if not repaired during the present year, I am informed that they will be almost, if not altogether, ruined.
>
> "The question is: How can these townships get the money with which to make these needed repairs during the present year? There is no question but that arrangements can be made by way of a levy for future years, but it is a question of the present. In your opinion, can they borrow money, either with or without a vote of the people for this purpose?"

The right of township trustees to borrow money for road purposes has been discussed and passed upon in several opinions of this department heretofore rendered. The matter was first under consideration in opinion No. 849, rendered to the bureau of inspection and supervision of public offices on September 21, 1915. In that opinion it was pointed out that as the Cass highway law did not go into effect until September 6, 1915, and that as no levy might be made in 1915 under section 60 of that act, section 3298-1, G. C., no election to determine the question of issuing bonds might be held until after the time in the year 1916, when the township had made its levy under section 3298-1, G. C., and it had been determined that said levy did not furnish sufficient funds for the construction and repair of the designated roads.

It was also pointed out in the opinion in question that, under authority of the several sections of chapter III of the Cass highway law, township trustees might issue bonds only for the construction or reconstruction of roads and not for the repair thereof. In opinion No. 1264, rendered to Hon. Hugh F. Neuhart, prosecuting attorney of Noble county, on February 14, 1916, it was held that township trustees must make the levy provided for in section 60 of the Cass highway law, section 3298-1, G. C., and it must be determined that said levy does not furnish sufficient funds before the trustees may even submit the question of a bond issue to the qualified electors of the township, and that this is true, even if the township trustees are aware that a levy which may be hereafter made, will be sufficient for the purpose of improving the roads designated by them.

In opinion No. 1407, rendered to Dean E. Stanley, prosecuting attorney of Warren county, on March 22, 1916, it was further pointed out that the amount produced by a levy, under section 3298-1, G. C., cannot be known until the budget commission has completed its work, which must be not later than the third Monday in August, unless the time be extended by the state tax commission. The further conclusion was expressed that the question of a bond issue may not be submitted by the township trustees until the budget commission has made its report and it is known how much will be realized from the levy and how much of the cost of the projected work will have to be met by a bond issue.

I am enclosing for your information, copies of opinions Nos. 1264 and 1407, referred to above, and am mailing you under separate cover a copy of a pamphlet containing opinion No. 849. The conclusions expressed in the opinions in question, render apparent the answer to your inquiry, which is that township trustees are not at the present time authorized to even submit to the voters the question of issuing bonds for road purposes, and even when the proper time has arrived for submitting such question, can only submit the question of issuing bonds for the construction or reconstruction of certain designated roads, and will not be authorized to submit the question of issuing bonds for repair purposes.

Complete relief for the situation referred to in your letter may be had, however, through the action of the county commissioners. I am enclosing for your information, a copy of opinion No. 1095 of this department, rendered to Hon. Donald F. Melhorn, prosecuting attorney, Hardin county, on December 13, 1915, in which the procedure of county commissioners, in the issuing of bonds for road repair purposes, is fully outlined. Such bonds may be issued by county commissioners at the present time, and in view of the provisions of paragraph (c) of section 241 of the Cass highway law, section 7464, G. C., to the effect that the county commissioners shall have full power and authority to assist the township trustees in maintaining township roads, the proceeds of such bond issue may be used by the county commissioners in the repair of either county or township roads. It will be noted that bonds issued under authority of section 108 of the Cass highway law, section 6929, G. C., in so far as they are to be issued in anticipation of taxes, are to be issued in anticipation, not only of taxes levied on the entire county, but also of taxes levied upon all township or townships in which the road or roads to be improved or repaired may be in whole or in part situated.

The provisions of section 98 of the Cass highway law, section 6919, G. C., as to the methods of division of the cost and expense, and the provision of section 100 of the Cass highway law, section 6921, G. C., relating to a division by agreement of the cost and expense of road work between the county commissioners and the trustees of the interested township or townships, are sufficiently broad to permit of any desired arrangement between the county commissioners and the township trustees of any particular township relating to the share of the cost and expense to be borne by the county and township or townships, respectively.

The language of section 6921, G. C., to the effect that the county commissioners may enter into an agreement with the trustees of the interested township or townships, whereby said county and township, or one or more of them, may pay such proportion of the cost and expenses as may be agreed upon between them, is sufficiently broad to warrant any division that may be mutually agreed upon, even should such division involve the payment of the entire cost and expense by the interested township or townships.

Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,

Attorney-General.

1501.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, CITY OF CLEVELAND, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 21, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of the city of Cleveland, Ohio, in the amount of $153,000.00, issued in anticipation of the collection of special assessments for the improvement of various streets of the city under ordinance No. 39226, being 153 bonds of one thousand dollars each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the council and other officers of the city of Cleveland, Ohio, relative to the issuance of the above bonds, also the bonds now in the hands of the treasurer of state, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code of Ohio and of the provisions of the charter of said city.

I am of the opinion that said bonds are valid and binding obligations of the city of Cleveland.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1502.

DISAPPROVAL, LEASE TO GLEN BROWN OF CERTAIN CANAL LANDS IN CITY OF AKRON, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 22, 1916.

HON. FRANK R. FAUVER, Superintendent of Public Works, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of March 11, 1916, transmitting to me for examination a lease to Glen Brown of certain canal lands in the city of Akron, Ohio. I have examined the lease in question and find that it covers certain portions of the towing path embankment of the canal, and does not provide for the construction of any new towing path by the lessee, either upon the opposite or berme embankment, or in any other location. I am of the opinion from an examination of the statutes that you are unauthorized to lease the towing path embankment of a canal for railway purposes, even where the lease covers less than two miles, as I am informed in the case of this particular instance, unless, indeed, provision is made in the lease for the construction of a new towing path, which construction should be required of the lessee at his expense. It has been suggested informally that the lessee in the proposed lease might be willing to enter into a lease containing a stipulation covering the above matter, and if that be true I am of the opinion that a lease might properly be made covering the canal lands in question. If it should be desired to enter into such a lease, and submit the same for approval, I suggest the use of the following language:

"The party of the second part, for himself, his heirs, executors, administrators and assigns, hereby agree that if at any time the party of the first part herein named requires the use of a towing path along that part of the canal where this lease covers any part of the present towing path embankment, he will construct, at his own expense, a connected towing path embankment upon the present berme embankment on the opposite side of said Ohio canal, including all necessary change bridges or cross-overs, and said towing path embankment and change bridges or cross-overs to be constructed by the party of the second part as soon as he is notified so to do by the superintendent of public works of Ohio, and to be constructed in conformity with plans and specifications to be approved by said superintendent of public works; and if at any time a temporary towing path is required or desired by the party of the first part before a new towing path is constructed, then and in that event the said party of the first part shall have the right to enter upon and use for towing path purposes, and without compensation to said second party, the road bed of the railway located upon parts of the present towing path embankment of said Ohio canal under the terms of this lease."

I also suggest that in the event of the preparation of a new lease the description of the leased premises be modified to read as follows:

"Beginning at a point in the berme embankment of the Ohio canal in the city of Akron, Summit county, Ohio, opposite station 1803 of G. F. Silliman's survey of said canal, made under the direction of the state board of public works in the summer of 1912, and extending thence southerly over and along said berme embankment, including the full width thereof, a distance of 1037 feet, more or less, to the southerly line of Cherry street in said city; thence along the outer slope of the present towing path embankment of said canal 163 feet to a point opposite station 1816 of Silliman's survey; thence southerly and easterly by a twenty-four degree curve to the left across a portion of the present widewater of said canal between locks 6 and 7 of the Ohio canal, north of Portage Summit level, to station 1821 of Silliman's survey; thence southeasterly over and along the outer slope of the present towing path embankment to station 1833; thence continuing in a southerly direction on and along the present towing path embankment to a point opposite station 1833, plus 65.8 of Silliman's survey of said canal; thence southwesterly crossing over lock No. 3 of said Ohio canal north of Portage Summit level to a point at or near station 1835 of Silliman's survey of said canal; thence in a southwesterly direction over and along the outer slope of the present towing path embankment to a point opposite station 1845 of said Silliman's survey; thence southerly over and along the inner slope of the present towing path embankment, and including a strip of ground about 8 feet in width along the easterly side of the present canal channel to station 1849 of said Silliman's survey; thence southerly over and along the present outer slope of said towing path embankment to the northerly line of Bartges street in said city of Akron, at station 1881 of Silliman's survey of said canal, and containing 168,950 square feet, more or less, excepting therefrom so much of said canal land as has heretofore been leased by the state of Ohio to the following parties."

The right of the state to operate lock No. 3, and to pass boats through the same, should be protected by the insertion of a clause in the lease, and the following language is suggested for use in this connection:

"At the point where the party of the second part constructs a line of railway over lock No. 3 of said Ohio canal, said party of the second part shall construct a good and sufficient drawbridge, according to plans and specifications approved by the superintendent of public works, and shall provide for the operation of the same at his expense, so that the party of the first part may at all times during the continuance of this lease operate said lock and its appurtenances, and freely pass boats through the same, and said party of the second part shall not be entitled under this lease to construct any railway tracks or other works that will in any way interfere with the free use and operation of said lock and its appurtenances and the passage of boats through said lock and canal."

In order that the rights of prior lessees may be fully protected I also suggest that if the lease be redrawn the following paragraph be inserted:

"The party of the second part shall fully respect all the rights of the other lessees of the state of Ohio, hereinbefore referred to, and shall not interfere in any way with their rights under their respective leases, and shall be liable to said lessees for any interference with or infringement upon their rights."

For the reasons above stated I am returning, without my approval, the lease as submitted, but if a new lease is drawn and executed in accordance with the suggestions herein contained, I will approve the same.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1503.

ANTITOXIN—WHEN COUNTY COMMISSIONERS MAY PAY FOR ANTITOXIN PROCURED BY PHYSICIAN FOR INDIGENT PERSON.

Antitoxin procured by a physician for person in indigent circumstances under section 2500, G. C., may be paid for on proper certificate under the provisions of section 2501, G. C.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 22, 1916.

HON. F. C. GOODRICH, Prosecuting Attorney, Troy, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your letter of April 13, 1916, which is as follows:

"The statutes provide that arrangements shall be made for the furnishing of diphtheria antitoxin free to physicians. John W. Fulkerson, a druggist of this city, has furnished some of this antitoxin to certain physicians upon the order of the health officer of the city of Troy, and has presented his bill to the commissioners of Miami county. Have the commissioners any authority to pay this bill, or should the bill be sent to the state board of health?

"The civil service commission for the city of Troy held some investigations in reference to the suspension of the chief of police and chief of the fire department of Troy. They were suspended, and the costs of the hearing have been certified to the county auditor. Have the commissioners any authority to pay these costs when no money has been set apart for this purpose?"

Sections 2500 and 2501 of the General Code are as follows:

"Sec. 2500. When a physician, regularly authorized to practice medicine under the laws of this state, is called upon to treat a person suffering from diphtheria who is in indigent circumstances, or a child suffering from diphtheria whose parents are in indigent circumstances, and he is of the opinion that antitoxin should be administered to such person or child or to others who may have been exposed to the contagion of such disease, he may make application to any health officer within the county therefor."

"Sec. 2501. When satisfied of the indigent circumstances of the persons to be treated, such health officer shall certify the fact to the county commissioners and immediately authorize the attending physician or any druggist to furnish such antitoxin for the persons so to be treated. The antitoxin so furnished shall be paid for upon the allowance of the county commissioners from the general fund of the county."

Under the provisions of the sections quoted there is ample authority lodged in the commissioners to make payment of the bill referred to in your letter specific provision for such a course being found in the concluding sentence of section 2501 of the General Code, supra.

I am not unmindful of the provisions of the act "to authorize the state board of health to produce antitoxin for distribution for the sure and prevention of diphtheria" passed at the last session of the general assembly and to be found at page 23 of 106 O. L.

The very nature of a case demanding the administering of antitoxin emphasizes the necessity for prompt action on the part of a physician which in the great majority of cases could not be safeguarded if resort had to be made to the authority granted by the latter act and the benefits of the former law, sections 2500 and 2501 of the General Code, supra, could not be invoked.

Sections 2500 and 2501 of the General Code, supra, afford the authority necessary to reach the question under consideration, and it is therefore my opinion that the commissioners may and should pay the bill in question, which, of course, is assumed to be correct and reasonable.

The matter involved in the second branch of your inquiry involves some questions now under consideration by the department and as soon as a determination has been reached you will be advised with reference to it.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1504.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, LORDSTOWN TOWNSHIP RURAL SCHOOL DISTRICT, TRUMBULL COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 22, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of Lordstown township rural school district, Trumbull county, Ohio, amounting to $25,000.00 for the purpose of purchasing a site and the erection and equipment of a school building for the accomodation of the centralized schools of said school district, being fifty bonds of $500.00 each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the board of education and other officers of Lordstown township rural school district relative to the issuance of the above bonds, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds, drawn in accordance with the form submitted and executed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of said rural school district.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1505.

OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY—SUPPLEMENTAL CONTRACT FOR CONSTRUCTION OF SHOP BUILDING APPROVED.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 24, 1916.

HON. CARL E. STEEB, Sec'y Board of Trustees, Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I am in receipt of a supplemental contract submitted on behalf of the Ohio State University entered into by said university with The Dawson Construction Company, which said company has the contract for the construction of a shop building on the campus of the Ohio State University. The supplemental contract is for the purpose of amending the plans and specifications, and it appears that the amendments thereto were duly approved by the governor, secretary of state and auditor of state under the provisions of section 2320, G. C., the amount involved in such change being in excess of one thousand dollars ($1,000.00).

I have carefully examined the contract in question and find that the amount called for therein is not in excess of the architect's estimate, and that the amount called for in the supplemental contract and the amount called for in the original contract do not together exceed the amount appropriated for the purpose.

I have therefore this day approved of said contract and filed the same in the office of the auditor of state.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1506.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS—WITHOUT AUTHORITY TO EXTEND AID TO CHILDREN IN THEIR OWN HOMES RATHER THAN IN COUNTY CHILDREN'S HOMES.

County commissioners are without authority to extend aid to children in their own homes rather than in children's homes established by counties. The proper place to care for children who may require such aid is in children's homes, the only exception being in the case of the awarding of relief under the Mother's Pension Act, sections 1683-2 to 1683-9, G. C.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 24, 1916.

HON. CHARLES L. BERMONT, Prosecuting Attorney, and HON. PHILIP L. WILKINS, Probate Judge, Knox County, Mt. Vernon, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—Your joint request for an opinion as to the care and support of children in their own homes as distinguished from the care and support of children's home is as follows:

"The officials of Knox county who have to do with the care and maintenance of dependent children are interested in the following proposition and kindly request your opinion in the matter:

"Question: In a county which has already been provided with a children's home, are county commissioners authorized to provide for the care and support of children in their own home or that of another family, when it is deemed best for the interest of such child, and when such child is eligible to the children's home?

"In explanation of the above question we have this condition: Prior to April 1st this year this county had no children's home and Richland county was caring for a number of our children on contract. The board of county commissioners were also providing for the care and support of certain other children in private homes by granting to the parent or relative, who might have the child in charge, a weekly allowance. In other words, a small allowance paid such parents and relatives would enable them to keep the family together and save the breaking up of the home and the committing of the children to an institution where it would cost more than under the other arrangement and not so good for the child because family ties are then broken and no institutional home can make up for the loss.

"I ask the foregoing because of the reading of section 3092, General Code, which reads in part as follows:

" 'Except such as are imbeciles, idiots or insane, no child or children entitled to admission into a children's home shall be kept or maintained in any county infirmary in this state. In any county where such home has not already been provided, the board of county commissioners shall make temporary provisions for such children by transferring them to the nearest children's home where they can be received and kept at the expense of the county, * * * but the commissioners may provide for the care and support of such children within their respective counties, in the manner deemed best for the interest of such children, and they shall levy an additional tax, which shall be used for that purpose only.'

"Now under present conditions as they exist in Knox county must the commissioners discontinue the help given children in their homes and homes of other relatives? In other words, must all children eligible to the home be committed to said institution when support and care become necessary?

"The prosecuting attorney, Mr. Charles L. Bermont, joins me in this request for an opinion and we thank you in advance for your direction in the matter.'

Recognizing the fact that under ordinary circumstances institutional life does not afford the best means to promote the interest of children when compared with proper home life surroundings, I am strongly inclined to view with favor any plan which may be proposed to continue the home life surroundings and influences which may be provided by the laws which control such matters and to that end I have given thoughtful consideration to the plan proposed by you.

In your letter you refer to and quote a portion of section 3092 of the General Code. This section which has been amended is to be found in its present form on page 891 of 103 O. L., as follows:

"In any county where such home has not already been provided, the board of commissioners shall make temporary provisions for destitute children by transferring them to the nearest children's home where they can be received and kept at the expense of the county, or by leasing suitable premises for that purpose, which shall be furnished, provided and managed in all respects as provided by law for the support and management of children's homes, but if such child be not abandoned or surrendered by its parents, a complaint must first be filed with the juvenile court setting forth the facts as to such children, and if such court commits such children to an institution or agency for the care of children, then said commissioners may pay reasonable board for such child, whether placed in an institution or with a private family. But the commissioners may provide for the care and support of such children within their respective counties, in the manner deemed best for the interest of such children, which may include the payment of board for such children in a private home, when placed therein by an institution or society certified by the board of state charities as provided by section 1352-1 of the General Code, and they shall levy an additional tax, which shall be used for that purpose only."

From a reading of the entire section it will at once be observed that, while there is a provision therein to the effect that the commissioners may provide for the care and support of the children in the manner deemed best for the interest of the children, the part of the section clearly indicates that their action in that direction is to follow the consideration of the matter by one of the institutions provided for in section 1352-1 of the General Code.

Children's homes are erected and maintained in the various counties of the state for a definite and specific purpose, which purpose has been set out in section 3089 of the General Code, as amended, 103 O. L., page 890, as follows:

"The home shall be an asylum for children under the age of eighteen years, of sound mind and not morally vicious and free from infectious or contagious diseases, who have resided in the county not less than one year, and for such other children under such age from other counties in the state where there is no home, as the trustees of such home and the persons of authority having the custody and control of such children, by contract agree upon, who are, in the opinion of the trustees, suitable children for admission by reason of orphanage, abandonment or neglect by parents, or inability of parents to provide for them. In no event shall a delinquent or incorrigible child, be committed to or be accepted by such home. If an inmate of such home is found to be incorrigible, he or she shall be brought before the juvenile court for further disposition. Parents or guardians of such children shall, in all cases where able to do so, pay reasonable board for their children received in such children's home."

Full and complete machinery is provided in the various related statutes for the care of children in children's homes and the intention of the general assembly with reference to the exceptions to be made with reference to any other relief is expressed in the Mothers' Pension Act, which in its original form is to be found on pages 877 and 878 of 103 O. L., with the amendment thereto to be found in 106 O. L., at page 436.

This law which is embraced in sections 1683-2 to 1683-9 inclusive, of the General Code has been made part of the juvenile court act which is to receive a liberal construction to the end that proper guardianship may be provided for the child, etc.

In view of the provisions of law for the care of eligible children in children's homes and the relief afforded through the Mothers' Pension Law, it is my opinion that the county commissioners are not authorized to extend relief in the manner proposed by you, there being no provision of law which allows such a course to be pursued.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1507.

COUNTY TUBERCULOSIS HOSPITAL—MAINTENANCE FUND FOR SAME CANNOT BE USED FOR ANY OTHER PURPOSE—SECTION 2434, G. C, MAY BE INVOKED FOR ENLARGING SUCH HOSPITAL.

The maintenance fund provided for a county tuberculosis hospital cannot be used for any other purpose than maintenance.

The authority contained in section 2434, G. C., to enlarge "other necessary buildings" may be invoked for the purpose of enlarging a county tuberculosis hospital.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 24, 1916.

State Board of Health, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—I have your request for an opinion with special reference to the enlargement of the Lucas county tuberculosis hospital, which request is as follows:

"In 1908 the general assembly passed an act (O. L. 99, Vol. 62, 121) 'to provide for county hospitals for the care and treatment of inmates of county infirmaries and other residents of the county suffering from tuberculosis,' and to correct an error in section 3 of said act.

"You will note that this act gives to each county in the state the authority to erect and maintain a county hospital for the treatment of such inmates of the county infirmary as may be suffering from pulmonary tuberculosis, and for the care and treatment of such other residents of the county as may be afflicted with this disease.

"Under the authority of this act, county hospitals for tuberculosis were established in Franklin, Lucas and Butler counties. In the following year, the legislature passed an act (O. L. 100, Vol. 86) 'to provide for county hospitals for the care and treatment of inmates of county infirmaries and other residents of the county suffering from tuberculosis,' passed April 2, 1908, and to supplement said act by adding thereto sections 6, 7, 8, 9 and 10 to provide for district hospitals.

"As the state board of health was responsible for this legislation, I would inform you of the reasons for supplementing the original act by providing for district hospitals. It was found, after investigation, that there were few counties in the state that could afford to establish a separate institution for the care of a limited number of tuberculosis patients who would be transferred from the infirmary, or who would apply for admission to the hospital. In order to provide every facility possible for the restriction of this disease, it was found to be advisable to secure such legislation as would authorize a number of contiguous counties (not to exceed five) to enter into an agreement to construct and maintain an institution for the treatment of pulmonary tuberculosis, and to provide for the construction and maintenance of a jointly owned and controlled hospital.

"In 1913 (O. L. 103, Vol. 492) the law was again amended so as to rescind the authority of a county to construct a county hospital for tuberculosis, but provision was made (see section 3141) for the continuance of county hospitals for tuberculosis that had been erected.

"In Lucas County, it has been found that the county hospital for tuberculosis is too small to properly care for those who have been committed to the infirmary and who are suffering from pulmonary tuberculosis, and to care for the other residents of the county who have this disease and who wish admission to the hospital. The county commissioners are anxious to enlarge the institution so that it will have sufficient capacity to care for those who should now be receiving such care and treatment in such an institution, with reasonable forethought as to the immediate future.

"This matter was submitted, as I understand, to the prosecuting attorney of the county, and a doubt has been raised as to the authority of the county commissioners to enlarge the present institution as well as to provide for the maintenance of the institution. The matter came to this department from the prosecuting attorney's office for information as to what had been done in other counties under similar conditions, and for our interpretation of the provisions of the law and the intention of the legislature with respect to tuberculosis patients, and as the matter is of more than local application, I shall be glad to have your opinion on the following questions:

"1. Can a county that, under sanction of the law, has erected a county tuberculosis hospital enlarge such institution, using for that purpose the maintenance fund raised by annual levy?

"2. Can a county sell bonds for the purpose of enlarging its tuberculosis hospital in anticipation of a levy made for maintenance purposes?

"3. Will the provisions of the statutes, affecting the erection and enlargement of district tuberculosis hospitals, apply to county tuberculosis hospitals, or will the county commissioners in raising funds for the enlargement of such institution proceed to raise funds as they would in the event that it is proposed to enlarge or improve any county building?

"For a discussion of the subject of tuberculosis hospitals, although not having a direct bearing on this enquiry, I would refer you to an opinion of your department, annual report of the attorney-general, 1914, Vol. I, page 984, and an opinion given by yourself under date of February 3, 1915, also the decision of the supreme court in the case of Brissell v. State ex rel., 87 O. S., 154."

The authority for the erection of a county tuberculosis hospital was brought to an end through the enactment of house bill No. 265, passed in 1913. In this bill is to be found an amendment to section 3140 of the General Code, under which the erection of such county tuberculosis hospitals was authorized, so that at the present time there is absolutely no authority of law for the erection of such hospitals, the work of caring for tubercular patients being taken up under the district hospital system, which has been inaugurated, and only such counties as had erected county tuberculosis hospitals before the repeal of the section granting the authority of caring for patients in their own hospitals. Section 3141 of the General Code, as amended, 103 O. L., 492, is as follows:

> "In any county where a county hospital for tuberculosis has been erected, such county hospital for tuberculosis may be maintained by the county commissioners, and for the purpose of maintaining such hospital the county commissioners shall annually levy a tax and set aside the sum necessary for such maintenance. Such sum shall not be used for any other purpose."

The first two questions propounded by you are answered by the provisions of section 3141 of the General Code, supra, particularly in view of the provisions of the last sentence of the section quoted.

It is my opinion in view of the provisions of section 3141 of the General Code, as amended, supra, that the maintenance fund may not be used for enlarging a tuberculosis hospital, nor may a county sell bonds for that purpose in anticipation of a levy made for maintenance purposes.

This same question was considered in the case of Warren hospital for the insane, reported in 15 Pa., county court reports, at page 83, and in that case it was held that "money specifically appropriated by the legislature for the maintenance of patients in an insane hospital cannot properly be applied either to the purchase of additional land, the erection of additional buildings, or the furnishing or equipment thereof."

Coming to your third question, which is as to whether or not the provisions of the statute affecting the erection and enlargement of a district tuberculosis hospital, or those providing for the enlargement of county buildings, will apply, I have to say that there is absolutely no provision of law which specifically deals with the question of enlarging or extension of county tuberculosis hospitals. In enacting the legislation for the erection of county tuberculosis hospitals, the subsequent amendment thereto, providing for the maintenance of hospitals erected prior to the amendment of the law, no provision is made for the enlargement of county hospitals. That these buildings were necessary for the care of unfortunate persons who were afflicted with tuberculosis, and who require care in a public institution, goes without saying.

The care and treatment of this disease has made rapid strides in a comparatively short time, and while the method of caring for tubercular patients in county hospitals or in district hospitals was probably unheard of at the time the original of section 2434 of the General Code was enacted, it is fair to assume that in the absence of any special provision being made by the general assembly in the laws passed for the purpose of authorizing the erection of county hospitals, that it must have had in mind the fact that the provisions of section 2434 would be sufficient to care for the natural extension of the buildings therein provided for. Section 2434 of the General Code is to be read in connection with section 2433 of the General Code, which sections are, in part, as follows:

> "Section 2433. When, in their opinion, it is necessary, the commissioners may purchase a site for a court house, or jail, or land for an infirmary or a detention home, or additional land for an infirmary or county children's home at such price and upon such terms of payment, as are agreed upon between them and the owner or owners of property. The title to such real estate shall be conveyed in fee simple to the county.
>
> "Section 2434. For the execution of the objects stated in the preceding section, or for the purpose of erecting or acquiring a building in memory of Ohio soldiers, or for a court house, county offices, jail, county infirmary, detention home, or additional land for an infirmary or county children's home or other necessary buildings or bridges, or for the purpose of enlarging, repairing, improving, or rebuilding thereof, or for the relief or support of the poor, the commissioners may borrow such sum or sums of money as they deem necessary, at the rate of interest not to exceed six per cent. per annum, and issue the bonds of the county to secure the payment of the principal and interest thereof. * * *"

In section 2434 of the General Code, supra, provision is made for the enlargement of various county buildings as referred to in section 2433 of the General Code and "other necessary buildings." In view of the fact, therefore, that it cannot be disputed that county tuberculosis hospitals where erected are "necessary buildings," and of the further fact that in the passing of the law authorizing their erection, the General assembly did not make provision for the natural growth of such institutions by the specific enactment, it is my opinion that the necessity of the occasion demands that the authority contained in section 2434, for the enlargement of county buildings be invoked under the head of "other necessary buildings" for the enlargement of a county tuberculosis hospital, as the laws relating to district hospitals have no application to the same.

Answering your question specifically, I would say that the maintenance fund cannot be used for the purpose of enlarging a county tuberculosis hospital, or for any purpose other than the maintenance thereof, and that the only authority for the enlargement of a county tuberculosis hospital is to be found in the provisions of section 2434 of the General Code, supra. Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1508.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, CITY OF IRONTON, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 24, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of the city of Ironton, in the sum of $13,500.00, being one bond of $500.00, and thirteen bonds of $1000.00, issued to secure funds to pay the city's portion of the cost of improving Sixth street, from Walnut street to Vine street."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the council and other officers of the city of Ironton, in connection with the issuance of the above bonds, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds, drawn in accordance with the form submitted, and executed by the proper officers of the city, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of said city. Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1509.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS, BOND ISSUE, CITY OF NORWALK, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 24, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of the city of Norwalk, Ohio, in the sum of $6,500.00 to secure funds to pay the city's portion of the cost and expense of improving certain streets, being thirteen bonds of $500.00 each."

I have examined the transcript of proceedings of council and other officers of the city of Norwalk, Ohio, in connection with the issuance of the above bonds, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds, drawn in accordance with the form submitted, when executed by the proper officers, will upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of the city of Norwalk.

Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1510.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, CITY OF NORWALK, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 24, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—City of Norwalk bonds in the sum of $11,000.00, as follows:

"(a) $3,500.00 in anticipation of the collection of special assessments upon abutting property for the improvement of West street between Main street and the Wheeling and Lake Erie Railroad, being seven bonds of five hundred dollars each.

"(b) $7,500.00 in anticipation of the collection of special assessments upon abutting property for the improvement of Hester street from Monroe street to Clifton street, being fifteen bonds of five hundred dollars each."

I have examined the transcript of proceedings of the council and other officers of the city of Norwalk in connection with the issuance of the above bonds, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the form submitted, when executed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of the city of Norwalk.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1511.

APPROVAL, ORDER OF STATE BOARD OF HEALTH WITH REFERENCE TO SEWAGE IN CITY OF AKRON.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 25, 1916.

HON. FRANK B. WILLIS, Governor of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

MY DEAR GOVERNOR:—Enclosed herewith you will find an order of the state board of health to the city of Akron with reference to the installation of a new sewage treatment plant or sewers or equipment for conveying or pumping sewage to the general sewerage system of the city, to correct the pollution of the county infirmary lateral ditch, being the order concerning which Hon. W. J. Laub, Mayor, and Hon. Scott D. Kenfield, city solicitor of said city, appeared before the governor and attorney-general and expressed themselves as satisfied with the order.

I have examined said order, which is issued under section 1251 of the General Code. I find the same to be regular and it is my opinion that it should be approved. Having myself approved the same under the provisions of section 1251, G. C., I am transmitting the same to you for your approval.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1512.

APPEAL FROM ORDER OF STATE BOARD OF HEALTH BY CITY OF GREENVILLE — REFEREE ENGINEERS — THEIR POWERS — PAST, PRESENT AND FUTURE PHYSICAL CONDITION TO BE CONSIDERED BY SAID ENGINEERS.

1. In deciding questions submitted to them, engineers appointed as referees under sections 1257 and 1258, G. C., should consider conditions existing at the time of their decision, and the possibilities of the future, as well as conditions which existed at the time the order of the state board of health submitted to them was made.

2. Such decision of the referees embraces:

(a) The necessity of the order, i. e., whether the conditions found by the state board of health do exist, and require action on the part of the city to correct the same.

(b) The method to be adopted for the correction of such conditions, i. e., whether by means of a sewage treatment plant or otherwise; the question of the kind, size and capacity of the plant and the degree of treatment necessary to correct the conditions not having been passed upon by the state board of health, and not being properly before them at the time the order was made, is not before the referee engineers, those being matters which the city is to determine, subject to approval by the board under section 1240, G. C., and

(c) The time within which the city shall be required to comply with the order.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 25, 1916.

MESSERS. A. ELLIOTT KIMBERLY and PAUL HANSEN, Referee Engineers, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIRS:—Your letter of March 13, 1916, requesting my opinion, received. Your letter is quite lengthy and, without setting the same out in full herein, the facts upon which your inquiries are based as gleaned from your letter and from the records of the state board of health may be stated as follows:

"On November 3, 1895, the following communication was sent to the mayor and council of the city of Greenville by the state board of health:

" 'COLUMBUS, OHIO, November 3, 1895.

" 'To the Mayor and Council, Greenville, Ohio.

" 'SIRS:—The state board of health considered your application to approve plans for a sewerage system and sewage purification works for Greenville, as prepared by Mr. John P. Force, consulting engineer, and you are hereby notified that the plans have been approved.

" 'Respectfully,

" '(Signed) C. O. PROBST,

" 'Secretary.'

" 'By order of the Board.'

"On January 19, 1897, the following communication was received by the state board of health from the consulting engineer of the city of Greenville, and action was taken thereon by the state board of health as follows:

" 'FOSTORIA, OHIO, January 19, 1897.

" 'To the Honorable State Board of Health, Columbus, Ohio.

" 'GENTLEMEN:—I am directed by the city council of Greenville to ask your honorable body to allow a modification in the plans for the disposal of the sewage of said city, approved by you October 30, 1895. The modification to consist in the construction of the works in part for the present, leaving out all parts of the works as shown on plans with the exception of the screen chamber and filter beds. The area to be used in filter beds is about 10 acres of gravel overlaid by loam. As it is not likely that for several years at least over 40 per cent. of the present population of 5000 will avail themselves of the advantages of sewerage, this will place the population contributing sewage at about 200 per acre. It is believed that with this low rate per acre the separation of the sludge will not be necessary before applying the sewage to the soil. The citizens of Greenville will vote on the question of sewerage at the April election and it is likely that the reduced cost of the works will induce many to vote favorably, thus increasing the chances of introducing sewerage, badly needed at present in the city of Greenville.

" 'Respectfully submitted,

" '(Signed) JOHN P. FORCE,

" 'Consulting Engineer.'

"At a meeting of the state board of health held in Columbus, Ohio, January 20, 1897, the above named modification in the plans for sewage disposal for the city of Greenville were approved.

"(Signed C. O. PROBST,

"Secretary.

"By Order of the Board."

"Further action of the state board of health with reference to this matter is shown by the following communications sent to the city of Greenville, Ohio, by said board:

" 'COLUMBUS, OHIO, February 14, 1900.

" 'To the City Council, Greenville, Ohio.

" 'SIRS:—The state board of health has considered your proposal to construct a system of sewerage and discharge the same into Greenville Creek at a point indicated on map accompanying said proposal.

" 'You are hereby notified that said plans have been approved subject to the condition that within a period not to exceed five years arrangements be made for the purification of the sewage in a manner which will be satisfactory to the state board of health.

" 'Yours truly,

" '(Signed) C. O. PROBST,

" 'By order of the board.' " " 'Secretary.

" 'COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 29, 1907.

" 'To the Mayor and Council, Greenville, Ohio.

" 'DEAR SIRS:—At a meeting of the state board of health, held April 24, 1907, the secretary was instructed to notify you that the board will expect you to make provision for installing the sewage disposal plant without further delay; and to suggest that, in as much as it has been seven years since the plans for the sewage disposal plant were prepared, it might be advisable to have them submitted to some competent sanitary engineer, to determine whether improvements could be made in said plans; and further, that before plans are finally adopted for a disposal plant, they should be resubmitted to the state board of health at its meeting to be held in June, 1907, for approval.

" 'Yours truly,

" '(Signed) C. O. PROBST,

" 'By order of the board.' " " 'Secretary.

" 'COLUMBUS, OHIO, January 4, 1909.

" 'To the Mayor and Council, and Board of Public Service, Greenville, Ohio.

" 'DEAR SIRS:—I enclose herewith an order of the state board of health, duly approved by the governor and attorney-general, requiring the city of Greenville to purify its sewage in a manner satisfactory to said board, on or before October 1, 1909.

" 'Yours very truly,

" '(Signed) C. O. PROBST,

" 'Secretary.

" 'By order of the board." '

The order of the state board of health referred to in the communication last above set out was as follows:

"WHEREAS, The state board of health of the state of Ohio, having under consideration the conditions existing in and adjacent to the city of Greenville, Darke county, Ohio, as set forth in the complaint, in writing, made to said state board of health by the trustees of Greenville township, Darke county, as required by section 1 of an act of the general assembly of Ohio, entitled, 'An act to authorize the state board of health to require the purification of sewage and public water supplies, and to protect streams against pollution,' passed April 8, 1908 (99 O. L., p. 74), did, in accordance with the duties imposed upon said board by said act, pursue all and singular the requirements and duties to be performed by said state board of health, and having inquired into and investigated the conditions complained of in said complaint; and

"WHEREAS, The state board of health, after investigating the conditions complained of, found that the said city of Greenville, Darke county, Ohio, is discharging and permitting to be discharged, sewage and other wastes into the Greenville Creek, and by reason thereof has so corrupted said creek as to give rise to foul and noxious odors, thereby creating conditions that are detrimental to the comfort of the citizens of Greenville township, Darke county, who reside in the vicinity of said creek, and

"WHEREAS, Acting pursuant to the requirements of the act aforesaid, said state board of health thereupon, on the 16th day of September, 1908, notified such city so causing the contamination or pollution of such stream, of its said findings, and gave said city an opportunity to be heard before said board on the 23d day of September, 1908, and

"WHEREAS, On the 23d day of September, 1908, no representatives from said city of Greenville having appeared, a letter was presented from the city clerk of said city of Greenville, acknowledging the receipt of said notice to appear.

"Thereupon, after discussion and due consideration of said complaint, the state board of health does find and determine that the following improvements or changes in said conditions aforesaid are necessary, and should be made, to wit: That the city of Greenville should be required to purify its sewage in a manner satisfactory to the state board of health, on or before October 1st, 1909.

"Thereupon, on motion duly seconded, the report and findings of said state board of health are hereby ordered transmitted to the governor and attorney general for their action thereon.

"I hereby certify that the foregoing report and findings were duly made by said state board of health of the state of Ohio, and that the proceedings above set forth were duly had before said board, as shown by the minutes thereof.

"(Signed) C. O. PROBST,
"Secretary of the State Board of Health of the State of Ohio.

"COLUMBUS, OHIO, December 31, 1908.

"The foregoing report and findings having been examined by us, respectively, the governor of the state of Ohio, and the attorney-general of the state of Ohio, the same are in all respects approved this 4th day of January, 1909.

"U. G. DENMAN,
"Attorney-General.

"A. L. HARRIS,
"Governor of Ohio."

The foregoing order was made pursuant to sections 1249, 1250 and 1251 of the General Code, which provide as follows:

"Sec. 1249. Whenever the council or board of health of a city or village, the commissioners of a county, or the trustees of a township, set forth in writing, to the state board of health, that a city, village, corporation or person is permitting to be discharged sewage or other waste into a stream, water course, lake or pond, and is thereby creating a public nuisance detrimental to health or comfort, * * * the state board of health shall forthwith inquire into and investigate the conditions complained of.

"Sec. 1250. If the state board of health finds * * * that such sewage or other wastes have so corrupted a stream, water course, lake or pond as to give rise to foul and noxious odors, or to conditions detrimental to the health or comfort of those residing in the vicinity thereof, it shall notify such city, village, corporation or person causing such contamination or pollution of its findings and give an opportunity to be heard.

"Sec. 1251. After such hearing, if the state board of health determines that improvements or changes are necessary and should be made, it shall report its findings to the governor and attorney-general, and, upon their approval, the board shall notify such city, village, corporation or person to install works or means, satisfactory to the board, for purifying or otherwise disposing of such sewage or other wastes, or to change or enlarge existing works in a manner satisfactory to the board. Such works or means must be completed and put into operation within a time fixed by the board, which time shall be subject to the approval of the governor and attorney general. * * *"

The order of the state board of health cannot require more than is authorized by the statutes under which it is made, and, consequently, the order, in the absence of specific language to the contrary, must be construed in the light of such statutes.

In matters respecting disposition of sewage or other wastes, and the pollution of streams thereby, the board can act only upon complaint duly filed with it, and manifestly the result to be accomplished by the board is the correction of the conditions complained of, and that only. With this in mind it is clear that the word "purifying" as used in section 1251, G. C., supra, does not imply absolute purity, but is a relative term, and means merely that the sewage or wastes in question must be so treated as to correct the conditions complained of, or, as stated in the statutes above quoted, so that they will no longer "give rise to foul and noxious odors, or to conditions detrimental to the health or comfort of those residing in the vicinity thereof."

Said order when construed in the light of the history of the entire transaction, as shown by the foregoing communications, and with due regard to the provisions of the sections above quoted, and to section 1240, G. C., which provides that before any city or village shall provide or install for public use "purification works for * * * sewage, plans therefore must be submitted to and approved by the state board of health, may be paraphrased as follows:

> "That the city of Greenville shall be required to install, on or before October 1, 1909, a sewage treatment plant for the treatment of the sewage of said city so that it will no longer give rise to foul and noxious odors, or to conditions detrimental to the health and comfort of those residing in the vicinity of Greenville Creek, in Greenville Township, Darke County, Ohio, and that plans, therefor, shall be submitted to the state board of health for its approval."

By said order, when so construed, the state board of health has fully complied with the statutes above quoted, in that it has made its findings as to the physical conditions, has fixed the time within which such conditions must be corrected, and has indicated the nature and extent of the action which must be taken by the city. In view of the provisions of section 1240, G. C., above mentioned, it was clearly not contemplated by the general assembly that such an order should contain full details of the improvement, for the preparation of plans to carry out the order is a matter which is left, in the first instance, to the city, subject to the approval of the board.

Further action on said order was suspended pending the final determination of a suit which was commenced by the city of Greenville in the court of common pleas of Darke County, in which an injunction was sought to restrain the state board of health from enforcing its order. The final decision being adverse to the city (see State Board of Health et al., v. city of Greenville et al., 86 O. S., 1), said city then took advantage of the provisions of sections 1257 and 1258 of the General Code, which at the time the proceeding under consideration was commenced were embraced in section 4 of an act found in 99 O. L., page 76, as follows:

> "Section 4. If in any case any order of the state board of health, when approved by the governor and attorney-general, and made in pursuance to the provisions of this act, is not acceptable to any city, village, corporation or owner affected thereby, such city, village, corporation or owner shall have the right of appeal as follows, to wit: The necessity for and reasonableness of such order may be submitted to two reputable and experienced sanitary engineers, one to be chosen by the city, village, corporation or owner to which such order of the state board of health applies, and the other chosen by the state board of health, who shall not be regularly employed by said board, and who shall act as referee engineers. If the engineers so chosen are unable to agree then they shall choose a third engineer of like standing, and the vote of the majority shall be final and binding. The referee engineers herein provided for, shall have power to affirm, modify, or reject the order of the state board of health submitted to them, and their decision, as reported in writing to the governor and attorney-general, which shall be rendered within a reasonable time, shall be accepted by the state board of health, and shall be enforced by said board in the manner provided for in this act. The fees and expenses of said referee engineers shall be equally divided between the city, village, corporation or owner requesting such reference and the state board of health."

At a meeting of the state board of health held on July 23, 1913, the board was notified by the city of Greenville that A. Elliott Kimberly, sanitary engineer, Columbus, Ohio, had been appointed referee engineer to act on behalf of the city of Greenville, and on April 16, 1914, after further negotiations with said city, Paul Hansen, sanitary engineer, of Urbana, Illinois, was appointed referee engineer by the state board of health to serve with the said A. Elliott Kimberly, of Columbus, Ohio.

You now inquire:

> "1. As of what date shall conclusions be drawn as to the findings and the order of the state board of health of January 4, 1909? That is, shall stream conditions as of today be taken into consideration, or conditions as of the date of the petition of the trustees of Greenville Township, Darke County, namely, June 6, 1908, or as of the date the controversy was judicially determined?"

The portion of section 4 of the act, above quoted, which is now section 1257, G. C., designates the submission of the question to referee engineers as an "appeal", and prescribes the precise question to be decided by them, to wit, "the necessity and reasonableness of such order."

The referee engineers in considering the questions submitted to them under their appointment must, of necessity, deal not only with conditions as they existed at the time of the issuance of the order but with present and future conditions.

While the proceeding of the referee engineers is perhaps technically an appeal from the decision of the state board of health, it is in reality a reference to a substitute board in the person of the referee engineers, and as it was assumed that the state board of health in issuing the original order intended to provide for the future, from the facts presented at the time the matter was considered, it is equally true that the functions of the referee engineers would be to take into consideration the future, basing their calculations on conditions as they exist at the present, and with no necessity for reference to the conditions as they existed at the time the original order was issued. It is possible that upon consideration of the matter in controversy the referee engineers might find conditions in substantially the same shape as they were at the time the order was issued, in which case it would only be necessary for them to determine whether the original order was necessary and reasonable and then modify it insofar as the method prescribed, and the fixing of the time allowed for the compliance of the city with the order.

Your second question is as follows:

> "2. Would the authority given to said referee engineers to 'affirm, modify or reject the order of the state board of health submitted to them' (section 1258 of the General Code), allow them to define and declare a degree of treatment to which the sewage of the city of Greenville shall be subjected if said referees shall conclude that the said order of the state board of health should not be affirmed unconditionally, yet should not be rejected? It is understood by said referees that such definition and declaration shall constitute a modification of the original order to the extent that the state board of health shall not have authority to require any further or greater degree of treatment than is declared by said referees to be necessary and advisable, and that said degrees of treatment, as defined by said referees, the city of Greenville must accept as the standard of treatment that must be provided by said city."

The portion of section 4 of the above act, which is now section 1258, G. C., prescribes the powers of the referee engineers, to wit, to "affirm, modify or reject the orders of the state board of health submitted to them."

The order of the state board of health, as hereinbefore construed, presents to the referee engineers three questions:

> "1. The necessity of an order, i. e., whether the conditions complained of and found by the state board of health do actually exist, and require some action on the part of the city.
>
> "2. The method to be pursued in correcting such conditions so existing; and
>
> "3. The time within which the city is to comply with the terms of the order."

Taking up these matters in the order stated, it is clear that the referee engineers have the right to reject the order entirely on the ground that no such conditions exist, and there was, therefore, no necessity for the order.

Assuming, as indicated by your letter, that the conditions do exist, and that you have found in favor of the board on the question of the necessity for an order, we pass to the second consideration, to wit, the method to be pursued. An examination of the order as herein construed shows that the board has directed the city of Greenville to construct a sewage treatment plant. The question of the reasonableness of this feature of the order is before you, and if it is your opinion that the conditions complained of and found to exist can be corrected more effectively, or at less cost by some other means, such as the emptying of the sewage into some other stream of sufficient flow to take care of it without causing unsatisfactory conditions, it is within your power to so find and determine, and such determination would be final and binding upon the state board of health and the city of Greenville. On the other hand, if you find that the order is reasonable in its requirement that a sewage treatment plant be constructed, the details thereof, such as the kind of plant, its size and capacity, and the character of the effluent which such plant will discharge into Greenville creek, are not before you, for the reason that no such details are or should be contained in the order of the state board of health, as these are matters which the legislature has seen fit to leave to the city in the first instance, subject to the approval of the state board of health, under section 1240, G. C., which is a part of the act creating the state board of health, and separate and distinct from the Bense act, under which the particular order in question was issued.

Section 1240, G. C., is in part as follows:

> "No city, village, public institution, corporation or person shall provide or install for public use a * * * sewerage system, or purification works for * * * sewage, * * * until the plans therefor have been submitted to and approved by the state board of health. * * *"

In other words, the only questions which have been properly before the board and covered by its order are that the conditions complained of exist and that a plant must be installed to correct the conditions within a specified time. The questions of the kind and size of the plant, the character of the effluent which will be discharged into the stream from such plant, and whether the stream will take care of such effluent without creating unsatisfactory conditions, have not yet been before the board, but are matters to be considered by them when plans are submitted to them under section 1240, G. C., supra. Not being covered by the order, and not being properly before the board at the time the order was made, it follows that such questions are not before the referee engineers, and a finding by such engineers thereon would not be binding either on the city or the board.

Assuming that the referee engineers have found that the conditions complained of and found by the board do exist, and that the sewage treatment plant is the proper method of correcting such conditions (bearing in mind that the engineers have the power to prescribe some other means as above suggested), there remains the question of the time within which the city is required to comply with the order. The reasonableness of this feature of the order is before you, and you have the power to affirm or modify the same, and if a modification is desired you should prescribe the time, and your determination thereof will be binding upon both the state board of health and the city of Greenville.

Summing up, it is my opinion that the referee engineers in taking up the consideration of the questions growing out of the issuance of the order of the state board of health must at this time look to the provisions for the future, and in so doing must take into consideration conditions of the present, if they are found to be different from those existing at the time the original order was made, and that their conclusion as to the necessity and reasonableness of the order should be based upon present conditions; that their determination should cover

> "1. The necessity of the order, i. e., whether the conditions complained of and found by the state board of health exist and require action on the part of the city to correct the same;
>
> "2. The method to be adopted for the correction of such conditions, i. e., whether by means of a sewage treatment plant or otherwise;"

the question of the kind, size and capacity of the plant and the degree of treatment necessary to correct the conditions complained of not having been passed upon by the state board of health, and not being properly before them at the time the order was made, is not before the referee engineers, and their recommendations as to the same would not be binding upon either party to the reference; and

> "3. The time within which the city shall be required to comply with the order."

While as stated above, recommendations of the referee engineers as to the kind, size and capacity of the plant, the degree of treatment necessary, and the character of effluent from such plant which could be discharged into said stream without creating the conditions complained of and covered by said order, would not be binding upon the parties to said reference, yet it should be stated that if the investigations made by you have enabled you to reach conclusions on any or all of said subjects, it would be entirely proper for you to include same in your report, and give the city and the board the benefit thereof.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1513.

MUNICIPAL CORPORATION—MEMBER OF COUNCIL—HOW MEMBER MAY BE EXCUSED FOR FAILURE TO ATTEND PREVIOUS SESSIONS OF COUNCIL.

Members of council, two-thirds agreeing thereto, may excuse a member for his failure to attend a previous session.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 26, 1916.

Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—I am in receipt of your letter of April 17th, to the following effect:

> "The council of a certain city at their regular meeting on April 10th, passed resolutions excusing two members from attendance at sessions of March 27th, preceding, and the city auditor desires to know whether or not such action should be recognized by him in making full payment of salary to said excused councilmen under provisions of section 4209, General Code, as amended 106 O. L., 114."

The statute to which you refer provides for the compensation of members of council, which compensation is to be paid semi-monthly, and then follows the provision which bears upon the question asked by you, and which is as follows:

> "A proportionate reduction in his salary shall be made for the non-attendance of any member upon any regular or special meeting of council; provided, however, that two-thirds of the members elected to council may excuse any member from attendance at any regular or special meeting, and when so excused no reduction in his salary shall be made for such non-attendance."

Your inquiry involves the question as to whether or not the excusing of a member from attendance must take place before or can take place after the meeting which the said member did not attend, and the particular provision that bears upon this question is "that two-thirds of the members elected to council may excuse any member from attendance."

The word "excuse" is defined by the New Standard dictionary as follows:

> "1. To absolve or free from imputation of fault;
> "2. To pardon and overlook, as a fault."

Either of these two meanings given to the word "excuse" would incline one to the view that the members of council were entitled to act after the meeting which the member did not attend, pardoning and overlooking the fact that he did not attend.

Another meaning given to the word "excuse" by the same authority is as follows:

> "To relieve from an obligation of service; as, he begged to be excused from attendance."

This meaning given to the word "excuse" would apparently make it the duty of council to act before the meeting and excuse the member from attending at such subsequent meeting.

It would appear, therefore, that the phrase "that two-thirds of the members elected to council may excuse any member from attendance" is susceptible of either of the two meanings foregoing mentioned, and I know of no reason why the same should not receive either of the two meanings.

I hold, therefore, that two-thirds of the members of council have the right to excuse a member from attendance at a former session.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1514.

APPROVAL, LEASE OF CERTAIN CANAL LANDS IN AKRON TO GLEN BROWN.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 26, 1916.

HON. FRANK R. FAUVER, Superintendent of Public Works, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of April 25, 1916, transmitting to me for examination a lease to Glen Brown of Akron, Ohio, covering certain canal lands located in that city.

I have examined the lease and find it to be in regular form, and am therefore returning the same with my approval endorsed thereon.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1515.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS—REQUIRED TO CONSTRUCT AND KEEP IN REPAIR ALL NECESSARY BRIDGES ON ALL STATE AND COUNTY ROADS, WHETHER SUCH BRIDGES ARE LOCATED WITHIN OR WITHOUT A MUNICIPAL CORPORATION—MUNICIPAL CORPORATION MAY CONSTRUCT SAME.

County commissioners are required to construct and keep in repair all necessary bridges over streams and public canals on all state and county roads, free turnpikes, improved roads, transferred and abandoned turnpikes and plank roads in common public use or which are of general and public utility, without regard to whether such bridges are located within or without municipal corporations.

A municipality has the power to construct a bridge upon any street or highway within the corporation, even though such highway be one in reference to which the duties of county commissioners, with respect to bridges, attach under sections 2421 and 7557, G. C.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 26, 1916.

HON. HAROLD W. HOUSTON, Prosecuting Attorney, Urbana, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I acknowledge receipt of a communication signed by you and Mr. Benj. E. Seibert, city solicitor of Urbana, under date of February 2, 1916, in which communication my opinion is requested upon three questions set forth therein. I am indebted to Mr. Seibert for additional information furnished under date of February 25, 1916, bearing upon the question submitted. Two of the three questions may be stated as follows:

"(1) Are the county commissioners required to construct or repair bridges situated wholly within a city, in any case?

"(2) If the above question is answered in the affirmative, has a municipality the power to construct a bridge upon any street or highway within the corporation which, under sections 7557 or 2421, G. C., the county commissioners are to construct and keep in repair?"

Section 2421, G. C., reads as follows:

"The commissioners shall construct and keep in repair necessary bridges over streams and public canals on state and county roads, free turnpikes, improved roads, abandoned turnpikes and plank roads in common public use, except only such bridges as are wholly in cities and villages having by law the right to demand, and do demand and receive part of the bridge fund levied upon property therein. If they do not demand and receive a portion of the bridge tax, the commissioners shall construct and keep in repair all bridges in such cities and villages. The granting of the demand, made by any city or village for its portion of the bridge tax, shall be optional with the board of commissioners."

Section 7557, G. C., reads as follows:

"The county commissioners shall cause to be constructed and kept in repair, as provided by law, all necessary bridges in villages and cities not having the right to demand and receive a portion of the bridge fund levied upon property within such corporation, on all state and county roads, free turnpikes, improved roads, transferred and abandoned turnpikes and plank-roads, which are of general and public utility, running into or through such village or city."

In an opinion rendered by this department to Ortha O. Barr, prosecuting attorney of Allen county, under date of March 8, 1916, the effect of these two sections was fully considered and it was held that the sections in question are of general application, and require the county commissioners to construct and keep in repair all necessary bridges over streams and public canals on all state and county roads, free turnpikes, improved roads, transferred and abandoned turnpikes and plank roads in common public use or which are of general and public utility, without regard to whether the bridges are located within or without municipal corporations.

The above constitutes a complete answer to the first question submitted, and I am enclosing for your further information a copy of the opinion rendered to Mr. Barr.

The nature of the duty imposed upon county commissioners by section 7557, G. C., was considered by the court in the case of State ex rel. v. Commissioners, 49 O. S., 301, the syllabus being as follows:

"The expediency of the construction or repair of a bridge, under section 4938, Revised Statutes (section 7557, G. C.), rests in the administrative discretion of the county commissioners, and such discretion cannot be controlled by mandamus."

A careful study of this case discloses the fact that it cannot be regarded as authority for the proposition that there are no circumstances under which county commissioners could be compelled by mandamus to perform the duty enjoined upon them by section 7557, G. C. The case establishes the proposition, however, that in view of the considerations of time, means and the number of other bridges required by public convenience at other places in the county, there may be and undoubtedly are many situations where a court would not compel county commissioners by mandamus to build a particular bridge on a state or county road within a municipal corporation. It therefore becomes important to consider the general powers of municipal corporations with respect to bridges.

Section 3616, G. C., reads as follows:

> "All municipal corporations shall have the general powers mentioned in this chapter, and council may provide by ordinance or resolution for the exercise and enforcement of them."

Section 3629, G. C., reads as follows:

> "To lay off, establish, plat, grade, open, widen, narrow, straighten, extend, improve, keep in order and repair, light, clean and sprinkle, streets, alleys, public grounds, places and buildings, wharves, landings, docks, bridges, viaducts, and market places, within the corporation, including any portion of any turnpike or plank road therein, surrendered to or condemned by the corporation."

In view of the fact that the duty of county commissioners with respect to bridges within municipalities is one that cannot, under all circumstances, be enforced by mandamus, and in view of the fact that municipal corporations are in express terms given general powers with reference to bridges within their corporate limits, I am of the opinion, in answer to the second question above stated, that a municipality has the power to construct a bridge upon any street or highway within the corporation, even though such highway be one in reference to which the duties of county commissioners, with respect to bridges, attach under sections 2421 and 7557, G. C. Any other conclusion would deprive municipal authorities of the power to construct a bridge within the corporation and on a road of the character referred to in section 2421 and 7557, G. C., which bridge the county commissioners, in the proper exercise of their discretion, might refuse to build on account of the superior demands of another locality, but which in the judgment of the municipal authorities and as a matter of fact might be essential to the convenience of the citizens of the municipality.

No opinion is herein expressed as to whether a bridge built by a municipality on a road of the character referred to in sections 2421 and 7557, G. C., is to be maintained by the municipality or by the county, or as to whether the municipality or the county would be liable for injuries to travelers resulting from defects in the same. Indeed, in view of the fact that the question passed upon is a close one, and of the further fact that the same does not appear to have been decided by any court, it is suggested that it might be advisable for the proper officers of a municipality, before making an expenditure of this character, to raise the question in an appropriate action and secure a judicial determination of the same.

The third question submitted in the communication referred to above relates solely to the respective duties of the city of Urbana and certain railroad companies, in regard to the construction of a new overhead crossing or bridge across the tracks of the railroad companies within the city, the bridge being required to replace an old structure, built over thirty years ago, under a special act of the legislature. The duties of this department in the furnishing of opinions and advice are limited by statute to state officers, boards and commissions, and to the prosecuting attorneys of the several counties respecting their duties in complaints, suits and controversies in which the state is or may be a party. It is not the present practice of the department to so far enlarge its activites beyond statutory requirements as to advise city solicitors, and in view of the provisions of the law in this respect, and of the amount of work now before the department, I regret to state that I will be unable to advise you on this matter, especially as the preparation of an opinion would involve an extensive examination of the records of the city of Urbana and Champaign county.

I am forwarding a copy of this opinion to Mr. Seibert.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1516.

CLERK OF COURTS—WHO SHALL PROCURE SUPPLIES AND PAY BILLS FOR SUCH OFFICES—INTERPRETATION OF SECTION 2872, G. C.

Section 2872, G. C., authorizes clerks to procure necessary supplies for their offices, but county commissioners must allow and pay all bills for said supplies so procured.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 26, 1916.

HON. A. M. HENDERSON, Prosecuting Attorney, Youngstown, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your letter of April 11, 1916, as follows:

> "I have been requested by the clerk of courts of this county to secure from your department an opinion on the question of the right of the clerk of a county to purchase supplies needed by him in the performance of his official duties, where the commissioners are insisting upon the exercise of their right to purchase the supplies upon requisition made by the clerk to the commisssioners rather than to the person from whom the supplies are bought. I am, therefore, inclosing you letter from J. Arthur Ferris, clerk of courts of Mahoning county, dated April 5, 1916, requesting that your department render such an opinion, together with a copy of an opinion that I rendered to the board of county commissioners of this county, under date of October 8, 1915, the latter of which I should be glad to have you return after it has answered your purpose."

It appears from the correspondence of the clerk, attached to your letter, that your county commissioners are refusing to allow and pay any bills for supplies procured by the clerk for his office, upon the theory that he is without authority to purchase the same. In view of this contention, I fully concur in the conclusion stated in your opinion, to which you refer in your letter, and from which I quote as follows:

> "In my opinion, therefore, the intention of the law is that, while the clerk is expressly authorized by virtue of section 2872, G. C., to purchase the supplies and things necessary for the proper administration of the affairs of his office, yet, the person or persons with whom he deals in connection with the purchases so made by him, are bound to have notice of the fact that any price or prices agreed upon by the clerk to be paid for such supplies are not binding obligations upon the county until such time as the clerk shall have certified these accounts to the board of county commissioners, and such board shall have approved the prices agreed to be paid therefor."

This conclusion, from your opinion, I think states the matter clearly, and is in harmony with the cases of State ex rel. Flanagan v. McConnell, auditor, 28 O. S., 589, and Lyle Printing Co. v. Commissioners, 10 O. D., 89, and makes unnecessary any further discussion.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER
Attorney-General.

1517.

MORROW COUNTY COMMISSIONERS—TWO PETITIONS PRESENTED AT DIFFERENT TIMES FOR SAME ROAD IMPROVEMENT—NOT AUTHORIZED TO PROCEED UNDER FACTS SUBMITTED.

Under the facts as submitted, the county commissioners of Morrow county are not now authorized to proceed with the improvement of a certain road in that county upon petitions heretofore filed.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 26, 1916.

HON. BENJ. OLDS, Prosecuting Attorney, Mt. Gilead, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of March 25, 1916, which communication reads as follows:

"A petition for the improvement of public highway known as 'Pompey Road,' under the provisions of sections 6926 to 6956, G. C., was filed with the commissioners of this, Morrow county, on March 6, 1911. On March 16, 1911, the commissioners viewed the road. On March 20, 1911, the commissioners granted the road and ordered the surveyor to go upon the road, make the plat and profile of said improvement, together with the plans and specifications of the work and file the same, together with an estimate of the entire cost of said improvement. Under said order the surveyor expended $188.02. No further proceedings were had under this petition.

"On January 6, 1913, a petition for the improvement of the same road, under sections 6956-1 to 6956-16 inclusive, G. C., was filed with the commissioners. On January 7, 1913, bond filed. On December 6, 1913, petition referred to surveyor to count to determine whether or not a majority have signed said petition. January 6, 1914, surveyor reported a majority of 17 for said improvement. No further proceedings were had under this petition.

"Can the commissioners now proceed under either of these petitions and construct the improvement?

"I have advised the commissioners: That sections 6956-1 to 6956-16 inclusive, G. C., by implication, repeal sections 6926 to 6956 inclusive, G. C. See case of Goff et al. v. Gates et al. 87 O. S., 142; that not having taken advantage of the Curative act passed after the decision of the supreme court in the case of Goff et al. v. Gates et al. Vol. 103 Ohio Laws, 132, March 5, 1913, and the original sections 6926 to 6956 having been re-enacted, Vol. 103 O. L., 198, and the Cass road law Vols. 104 and 105 O. L., 574 to 667, repealing all existing road laws, having been enacted; they were without jurisdiction to construct the improvement under sections 6926 to 6956, G. C., and in as much as the improvement on the petition under sections 6956-1 to 6956-16, G. C., had never been granted, the Curative provisions of the Cass law, being section 300 of the Cass law, would not apply, and that they were without jurisdiction to construct the improvement under sections 6956-1 to 6956-16, G. C."

It is very clear that the county commissioners are without authority to proceed under the petition filed on January 6, 1913, and praying for the improvement of the road in question under the provisions of sections 6956-1 to 6956-16, G. C., inclusive. The sections in question were repealed by the Cass highway law, 106 O. L., 574, and the saving provisions of that act applicable to this situation and found in section 303 of the act, are not sufficiently broad to preserve a proceeding in which no finding in favor of the improvement has been made by the county commissioners. This matter was passed upon by me in opinion No. 1098, rendered to Hon. S. W. Ennis, Prosecuting attorney of Paulding county, on December 14, 1915, in which opinion it was held that the county commissioners were without authority to proceed under the old law where they did not, prior to the going into effect of the Cass highway law on September 6, 1915, go upon the line of the road covered by the petition and determine that the public utility and convenience required that the road in question should be laid out, constructed, repaired, improved, altered, straightened or widened, as petitioned for, and did not determine the route and termini of such road and did not determine the kind and extent of the improvement or repair and the alterations in the lines and changes of grades, if any.

The question of whether or not the commissioners are now authorized to proceed under the petition filed on March 6, 1911, is not so easy of determination. In the case of Goff v. Gates, referred to by you, decided by the supreme court on November 26, 1912, and reported in 87 O. S., 142, which case originated in your county, it was held that sections 6926 to 6956, G. C., inclusive, were repealed by implication by the act of the general assembly of May 10, 1910, 101 O. L., 247. The force and effect of this decision is such that on the 6th day of March, 1911, when the petition in question was filed, the sections of the General Code under which the improvement in question was asked for were not in existence. On March 5, 1913, after the decision of the supreme court in the case of Goff et al. v. Gates et al. supra, the General Assembly passed an act, found in 103 O. L., 132, seeking to validate all petitions filed or granted or all proceedings had or contemplated under such petitions, all contracts made or to be made, bonds issued or to be issued, taxes and assessments levied or to be levied under the provisions of sections 6926 to 6956, G. C., inclusive. The preamble of the act in question recites the passage of the act found in 101 O. L., 247, the fact that such act did not repeal sections 6926 to 6956, G. C., unless by implication, the action of the county commissioners of many counties since the passage of the act found in 101 O. L., 247, in receiving or granting petitions and taking other action under sections 6926 to 6956, G. C., inclusive, the doubt as to the validity of such acts and the demands of public welfare that such petitions filed or granted and all action taken thereunder be validated.

Section 1 of the act in question reads as follows:

"That proceedings for the construction, improvement or repair of stone and gravel roads in this state under the provisions of section 6926 to 6956, inclusive, of the General Code since May 10th, 1910, and all petitions filed or granted, bonds issued or to be issued, taxes and assessments levied or to be levied on account of such roads, and all contracts made or to be made under the provisions of said sections, and any and all steps taken thereunder are hereby declared and held to be valid, and boards of county commissioners or other officers shall have full power and authority to proceed with the construction and completion of all roads in process of construction under said sections or contemplated by any petition heretofore filed or granted under said sections, and shall also have full power and authority to levy taxes and assessments and to sell bonds to pay for the construction and improvement of any such roads, and to do any and all things contemplated by such petitions under said sections."

It will be noted that the legislature in this act endeavored to give full force and validity to all proceedings had under sections 6926 to 6956, G. C., inclusive, between May 10, 1910, and the date of the passage of the act under consideration, March 5, 1913, and to confer the right to thereafter complete such proceedings. It is provided that boards of county commissioners shall have full power and authority to proceed in the premises, but the statute does not in terms enjoin upon commissioners the duty of proceeding under the old act, which act had been declared by the supreme court to be repealed by implication. It appears from your communication that no action under the petition filed on March 6, 1911, has been taken by the county commissioners since March 20, 1911, and on December 6, 1913, some nine months after the passage of the validating act, the county commissioners took action on another petition for the improvement of the same road, under a different act of the legislature, referring such petition to the county surveyor to count the names of the petitioners for the purpose of determining whether or not a majority had signed said petition.

In view of the facts that no action whatever has been taken by the county commissioners under the original petition for over five years, that in the meantime land owners have signed and filed a petition praying for the improvement of the same road under a different law, that the county commissioners have acted upon said second petition to the extent of referring the same to the surveyor for the purpose of determining whether or not it was signed by the requisite number of land owners, that the act under which the original petition was filed has been declared by the supreme court to be repealed by implication and under the decision in question was not in force on the day on which the petition was filed and that the validating act found in 103 O. L., 132, does not in terms enjoin upon the county commissioners the duty of proceeding under the invalid petition but only goes so far as to confer upon them power and authority to proceed, it is my opinion that your conclusion in the premises is correct and that the proceeding under the original petition must be regarded as abandoned or discontinued and that the county commissioners are now without authority to act under said petition.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1518.

BOILER INSPECTION—INSURANCE COMPANIES CANNOT BE COMPELLED TO COLLECT FEE FOR CERTIFICATE PROVIDED FOR IN SECTION 1058-21, G. C.—GENERAL OR SPECIAL INSPECTORS MAY COLLECT SAID FEES AT TIME OF INSPECTION.

The Department of Boiler Inspection cannot compel insurance companies, when writing insurance on boilers, to charge and collect $1.00 additional per annum to cover the fee for certificate provided for in section 1058-21, G. C. (103 O. L., 649).

Said fees could properly be collected by the inspectors, whether general or special, at the time the inspection is made.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 26, 1916.

The Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—Your letter of April 19, 1916, requesting my opinion, received and is as follows:

"The industrial commission of Ohio respectfully requests that you render an opinion as to whether or not the department of boiler inspection under this commission could legally compel insurance companies, when writing insurance on a boiler, to charge and collect $1.00 additional per annum, to cover the legal certificate issued by the boiler inspection department, and remit the same to said department, thereby relieving it of correspondence and clerical work necessary to make these collections."

The following provisions of the General Code are pertinent to your inquiry:

Section 1058-16, G. C., provides for the examination of applicants for the position of boiler inspector and provides:

"Upon a favorable report * * * of the result of an examination, to the chief inspector of steam boilers, he shall immediately issue to the successful applicant a certificate to that effect."

Section 1058-17, G. C., provides:

"The chief inspector of steam boilers may, with the consent of the governor, appoint from the holders of certificates provided for in section 11 (section 1058-16, G. C.) not to exceed ten general inspectors."

The general assembly, recognizing the existence of the business of boiler insurance and the consequent periodical inspection of boilers by insurance companies, deemed it unnecessary to duplicate the work of the inspectors of the insurance companies and therefore provided in section 1058-17, G. C., as follows:

"Any company authorized to insure boilers against explosion in this state may designate from holders of such certificates persons to inspect the boilers covered by such company's policies, and the chief inspector of steam boilers shall issue to such persons commissions authorizing them to act as special inspectors. Such special inspectors shall be compensated by the company designating them, and the fee provided for in section 20 shall not be collected by such special inspectors.

"The chief inspector of steam boilers shall issue to each of such appointees, a commission to the effect that the holder thereof is authorized to inspect steam boilers for the state of Ohio."

The result of the foregoing provision of law is that when an insurance company employs as its inspector a man who possesses a certificate of qualification provided for in section 1058-16, G. C., and the chief inspector of boilers appoints the same man as a special inspector, as above provided, such an inspector acts in a dual capacity, to wit, as a representative of the insurance company and as a representative of the state. The powers and duties of such special inspector, so far as the state is concerned, are the same as those of a general inspector appointed by the state, except that such special inspector does not collect the inspection fee provided for in section 1058-25 of the General Code (103 O. L., 649).

However, whether the inspection be made by a general inspector or by a special inspector, the provisions of sections 1058-20 (103 O. L., 649) and 1058-21 (103 O. L., 649) apply. Said sections are as follows:

Sec. 1058-20 (103 O. L., 649).

"If, upon making the internal and external inspection, the inspector finds the boiler to be in safe working order, with the fittings necessary to safety, and properly set up, upon his report to the chief inspector of steam boilers, the chief inspector shall issue to the owner or user thereof, a certificate of inspection stating the maximum pressure at which the boiler may be operated, as ascertained by the rules established by the board of boiler rules, and thereupon such owner or user may operate the boiler mentioned in the certificate for one year from the date of inspection, unless such certificate shall be sooner withdrawn."

Sec. 1058-21 (103 O. L., 649).

"The owner or user of a steam boiler herein required to be inspected shall pay to the chief inspector of steam boilers the sum of one dollar for each certificate issued."

In opinion No. 756, rendered by this department to the bureau of inspection and supervision of public offices, under date of August 24, 1915, and found at page 1588 of the opinions of the attorney-general for the year 1915, it was held that the inspection fee and certificate fee should be paid before the certificate is issued.

Section 1058-25, G. C., 103 O. L., 649, recognizes the authority of the industrial commission to have the inspection fee collected and the receipt given therefor by the general inspector who makes the inspection. There is no such provision with reference to the $1.00 certificate fee, but I can see no reason why the chief inspector of boilers, whose duty it is to collect the $1.00 certificate fee, should not, if he desired, authorize the inspector to collect said fee and give a receipt therefor at the time the inspection is made, and such a rule could be made to apply to both general and special inspectors. The result of this would be that when the inspection is made by a general inspector, he would collect the inspection fee and the $1.00 certificate fee, give a receipt therefor and turn the money over to the chief inspector with his report. The special inspector would collect merely the $1.00 certificate fee, give a receipt therefor and turn the money over to the chief inspector.

The above plan is possible because of the fact that the special inspector is a duly authorized representative of the state, appointed and commissioned by the chief inspector of boilers to represent the state, and the authority of such inspector to collect the money and give a receipt therefor is entirely independent of his connection with the insurance company. In other words, the chief inspector has no connection with the acts of a special inspector in so far as he is representing the insurance company, but only in so far as he is representing the state. Neither your commission nor the chief inspector of boilers has any control or authority over the insurance companies or their representatives, as such, and your specific question must be answered in the negative, to wit: you have no authority to compel the insurance companies, or their representatives, as such, to collect the $1.00 inspection fee at the same time they collect their insurance premiums, or at any other time, but such collection, if made by a special inspector, would be a transaction between your commission and the owner of the boiler, entirely separate and distinct from any transaction between the insurance company and such owner.

I am therefore of opinion that the department of boiler inspection, under the industrial commission, could not legally compel insurance companies, when writing insurance on a boiler, to charge and collect $1.00 additional per annum to cover the legal certificate issued by the boiler inspection department and remit the same to said department, but that the department might authorize the inspectors, both general and special, to collect said $1.00 fee at the time the inspection is made.

Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,

Attorney-General.

1519.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, KINSMAN TOWNSHIP, IMPROVED ROADS DISTRICT, TRUMBULL COUNTY, O.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 27, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of Kinsman township improved roads district of Trumbull county, Ohio, to the amount of $50,000.00 for the improvement of the roads of said road district, being one hundred bonds of $500.00 each."

I have examined the transcript of proceedings of the trustees and other officers of Kinsman township improved roads district of Trumbull county, Ohio, relative to the issuance of the above bonds; also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in comformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the form submitted and executed by the proper officers will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of Kinsman township improved roads district.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1520.

DISAPPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, NORWICH TOWNSHIP, HURON COUNTY, OHIO—ROAD BONDS NOT ISSUED UNDER PROVISION OF CASS HIGHWAY LAW.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 27, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of Norwich township, Huron county, Ohio, in the sum of $17,000.00, being thirty-four bonds of $500.00 each issued to provide means with which to improve the highways of Norwich township."

The resolution of the township trustees authorizing the issuance of said bonds, which is set forth in the transcript, recites that said bonds are issued under authority of sections 3295, 3939 and 3940 of the General Code.

The Cass road law (106 O. L., 574), which was enacted by the general assembly

"To provide a system of highway laws for the state of Ohio, and to repeal all sections of the General Code and acts inconsistent herewith."

became operative September 6, 1915, and expressly repealed all township road improvement laws. Since that date, therefore, township trustees have had, and can now exercise only such power in constructing, improving and repairing roads within their respective townships as is conferred upon them by the provisions of said act.

Sections 60 et seq. of the Cass road law, being sections 3298-1 et seq. of the General Code (106 O. L., 589), provides comprehensive and complete machinery for the construction improvement and repair of roads by township trustees including provision for securing necessary funds by taxation, assessment and bond issues.

I believe that it was clearly the legislative intent to limit the authority of township trustees in borrowing money for road improvements to the methods prescribed in sections 3298-8, 3298-9 et seq. of the General Code (106 O. L., 591). By section 3295 of the General Code (106 O. L., 536), which is general in its terms, authority is conferred upon the township trustees to issue and sell bonds for numerous purposes, one of which is for road improvements. The provisions of the Cass road law, on the other hand, are special in character, dealing only with roads. If, therefore, there is any inconsistency between the general powers conferred by section 3295 and the special provisions of sections 3298-1 of the General Code, the provisions of the special act must control.

From a careful examination of the provisions of the Cass law, just referred to, it is apparent that the method of issuing bonds by the township trustees for road improvement purposes therein conferred was intended to be exclusive, and that if section 3295 of the General Code be construed as conferring additional power upon the township trustees to issue bonds for the same purpose without a vote of the electors, then the plan and system provided by the Cass law, so far as it affects the improvement of roads by township trustees, cannot be carried into execution, and the clear intent of the legislature will be defeated.

I am therefore of the opinion that the township trustees of Norwich township, Huron county, have no authority to issue the bonds under consideration, and I advise your commission to decline to accept the same.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1521.

WHEN FOREIGN CORPORATION PURCHASES PROPERTY IN OHIO AND CONVEYS SAME TO TRUSTEE—WHETHER VALUE OF SUCH PROPERTY IS TO BE CONSIDERED AS CAPITAL OF FOREIGN CORPORATION WHEN IT IS QUALIFIED TO DO BUSINESS IN OHIO.

A foreign corporation which purchases property in Ohio and conveys the same to a trustee, must, if it enjoys the entire benefits or use of such property, report the same as "property owned and used" by it in this state for the purpose of fixing the basis of the fee to be paid by it in complying with sections 183 et seq., G. C.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 27, 1916.

HON. C. Q. HILDEBRANT, Secretary of State, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I acknowledge receipt of your letter of April 12th, submitting for my opinion the following question:

> "A foreign corporation purchases property in Ohio and conveys same to a trustee. The trustee pays the taxes on the property, so that in effect the foreign corporation is not the owner of real estate in Ohio. Under such circumstances, must a foreign corporation, when it is qualified to do business in Ohio, consider the value of that real estate as capital of a foreign corporation, invested in Ohio?"

The group of sections which is involved in your inquiry, viz.: Sections 183 et seq., of the General Code, appear upon examination to be strangely inconsistent among themselves in the use of language material to the solution of your question. Thus, section 183, the first of them, provides that

> "Before doing business in this state, a foreign corporation organized for profit and owning or using a part or all of its capital or plant in this state, shall make and file with the secretary of state, * * * a statement under oath * * *."

It will be observed that in this part of the section the corporations subject to compliance are those which are doing business in this state, and owning or using a part or all of their capital or plants in this state.

However, the same section in setting forth the facts which are to be contained in the statement under oath provides as follows:

> "3. The value of the property owned and used by the corporation in Ohio, * * *.
>
> "4. The proportion of the capital stock of the corporation represented by property owned and used and by business transacted in Ohio."

Section 184, G. C., provides in part as follows:

> "From the facts thus reported, and any other facts coming to his knowledge, the secretary of state shall determine the proportion of the capital stock of the corporation represented by its property and business in this state, and shall charge and collect from such corporation for the privilege of exercising its franchise in this state, one-tenth of one per cent. upon the proportion of its authorized capital stock represented by property owned and used and business transacted in this state. * * *"

Section 185, G. C., which provides for the filing of supplemental statements in the event of a change in proportion, etc., provides in part as follows:

> "A corporation which has filed its statement, * * * and which thereafter shall increase the proportion of its capital stock, represented by property used and business done in this state, shall file, etc. * * *"

If the strict language of the statutes is of determining importance, it will be observed that the phrase is "owned or used" in one place, "owned and used" in another place, and "used" in a third place.

It is probably true that for many purposes, and indeed prima facie, the trustee is the "owner" of the trust property. The reference in your letter is to but one of the situations in which the obligations of ownership and the rights and burdens incident thereto attach to the trustee and not to the beneficiary.

But nothing is better established than that it is competent for the legislature to treat the beneficiary as the owner, at least provided the trustee has himself no beneficial interest.

Of course, if the trustee has no beneficial interest the beneficiary is the one who is entitled to the "use" of the property. The trustee administers and manages the property for the use of the beneficiary. So, the beneficiary would be the one "using" the property, whether he would be regarded as the "owner" thereof or not, unless the trustee's interests were such as to entitle him also to a substantial use.

You do not state the facts which you have in mind fully, but I am assuming that the trustee is managing the property for the use of the corporation and in furtherance of its corporate objects. If that is the case, then it is clear that the corporation is exercising its corporate powers and franchises by means of the confidence reposed in the trustee, and with respect to the property in his mere legal custody and control. It will, of course, be assumed that the corporation has the power so to conduct its business under its charter or articles of incorporation. That being the case, it is, therefore, also clear that the corporation is exercising its corporate franchises with respect to the beneficial use and enjoyment of the property to an extent different in degree only, and not in substance, from that to which it would exercise its franchises if it actually owned the legal title to the property.

In my opinion, the corporation, upon the assumptions above made, is to be regarded as "owning and using" property in Ohio within the meaning of the Ohio statutes.

Looking through the form of these statutes to their substance, I am satisfied that the intention thereof is to measure the initial fee or tax by the extent to which the corporate franchise is exerted in Ohio in a proprietary way.

The statute is aimed at two kinds of franchises or privileges which are granted by the state, viz.: the privilege of "having" and the privilege of "doing." I think every possible corporate franchise that could be exercised in this state was intended to be comprehended within these two groups.

The question then is as to whether the actual interest of a beneficiary, under the circumstances named, is to be regarded as proprietary, in the nature of the exercise of the property interest, or as the "doing of business." As previously intimated, I think that a beneficiary's interest and its exercise as to Ohio property is to be regarded, for the purposes of the statutes under consideration, as a property interest.

This interpretation does no violence to the phraseology of the statute, for, as has been pointed out, while the term "owner" is usually more appropriately applied to the trustee than to the beneficiary, yet it is competent for the legislature to treat the latter as the owner, and the ultimate solution of any such question is always a matter of ascertaining the legislative intention.

For the foregoing reasons, then, I am of the opinion that when the corporation which you describe qualifies to do business in Ohio, it must report the property in which it has the beneficial interest and the legal title, to which is vested in a trustee, as property "owned" by it in Ohio.

The same result might be reached by holding that property "used" is required by the statutes to be reported and employed pro tanto as the basis of the computation of the fee, whether owned or not. I am not entirely satisfied, however, that this is the true interpretation of the statute, and I prefer to rest my conclusion upon the principle above outlined, to the effect that the corporation is to be regarded as the "owner" of the property for the purpose of the statute.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1522.

ROADS AND HIGHWAYS—IMPROVEMENT EXTENDED INTO OR THROUGH A VILLAGE—HOW COST TO BE APPORTIONED—AN UNEXPENDED BALANCE OF A BOND ISSUE UNDER SECTION 7004, G. C., NOW REPEALED, NOT AVAILABLE TO PAY TOWNSHIP'S SHARE OF IMPROVEMENT CARRIED FORWARD BY STATE HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT.

When a road improvement is made by the state highway department on the application of county commissioners or township trustees and is on their application extended into or through a village, the village may assume and agree to pay some portion of the cost and expense of that part of the improvement within its corporate limits. The agreement of the village should be made with the board on whose application the improvement is being made.

An unexpended balance of the proceeds of a bond issue, under section 7004, G. C., now repealed, may not be used to pay a township's share of the cost and expense of an improvement carried forward by the state highway department.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 27, 1916.

HON. THOMAS H. MOORE, Prosecuting Attorney, Ashland, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of March 18, 1916, which communication reads as follows:

> "Will you please give me your opinion upon the following question?
>
> "Where a state aid road has been extended through a village in accordance with section 1231-3 of the General Code, and there is an agreement between the county, state and village as to the division of the cost of construction, can the township trustees of the township in which the village is located assume a part of the village's share?
>
> "And if they are allowed to assume a part of the village's share as above, will it be legal to use an unexpended balance in a fund raised by the sale of bonds under section 7004 of the Code?
>
> "I will appreciate an early reply to the above question."

Section 1231-3, G. C., referred to by you, being section 229 of the Cass highway law, reads as follows:

> "The state highway commissioner may extend a proposed road improvement into or through a village when the consent of the council of said village has been first obtained, and such consent shall be evidenced by the proper legislation of the council of said village duly entered upon its records, and said council may assume and pay such proportion of the cost and expense of that part of the proposed improvement within said village as may be agreed upon between said state highway commissioner and said council. The state highway commissioner may also enter into an agreement with the council of said village to improve any part of the road within said village to a greater width than is contemplated by the proceedings for said improvement, and the state highway commissioner and the council of said village shall be governed as to all matters in connection with said improvement within said village by the statutes relating to road improvements through municipalities, by boards of county commissioners."

It is apparent from a consideration of the above quoted section that the same was intended by the legislature to apply primarily only in those cases where the state highway commissioner is proceeding without the co-operation of county commissioners or township trustees and the only co-operation falling fully within the terms of the section is that which may be had between the state highway commissioner and the authorities of a village. Under the section in question if the state highway commissioner has available for expenditure in any given county, inter-county or main market road funds, and the county commissioners of the county in question or the trustees of the several townships thereof do not apply for state aid and co-operate with the state highway department, then the state highway commissioner may expend such funds upon a road or street within a village when the consent of the council of such village has been first obtained, provided the road or street in question is an extension of the inter-county highway or main market road, as the case maybe. This expenditure may be made even if the village does not co-operate in the making of the improvement and meet a share of the expense thereof. The village may, however, co-operate and may pay such part of the cost of the work within the village as may be agreed upon between the state highway commissioner and the council.

While the section is not primarily applicable where a road improvement, made on the application of county commissioners or township trustees, is extended into or through a village, yet the section indicates that it was the intention of the legislature to authorize villages to contribute toward the expense of improvements carried on within their limits by the state highway commissioner. It is also worthy of note that the section contains a provision that the state highway commissioner and the council shall be governed by the statutes relating to road improvements through municipalities by boards of county commissioners.

The only reference in the statutes to the extension of inter-county highway and main market road improvements into or through villages, when such improvements are made on the application of county commissioners or township trustees, is found in section 186 of the Cass highway law, section 1193, G. C., which section provides, among other things, that each application for state aid in the construction, improvement, maintenance or repair of inter-county or main market roads, shall be accompanied by a properly certified resolution of the county commissioners or township trustees, stating that the public interest demands the improvement of the inter-county or main market roads therein described, which may include any portion of a highway in the limits of any village, when the same is a continuation of the proposed improvement and the consent of the village has been first obtained. The statute is silent as to the subsequent procedure where the proposed improvement is wholly or partly within a village and this department has therefore held in opinion No. 1317, rendered to Hon. Clinton Cowen, state highway commissioner, on March 4, 1916, and in opinion No. 1387, rendered to Hon. George Thornburg, prosecuting attorney of Belmont county, on March 16, 1916, that where the application relates to any portion of a highway within the limits of any village and the application is made by county commissioners or township trustees, all steps subsequent to the application are to be taken in the same manner as though the projected improvement were situated outside a village.

To the above may be added the observation that the statutes are also silent as to the division of the cost of the work under such circumstances, and waiving for the present the question of the right of the village to make a contribution toward the cost of the improvement and assuming that no such agreement has been made or attempted to be made by the village, it must be concluded that the division of the cost and expense of the inter-county highway or main market road improvement, made on the application of county commissioners or township trustees, is the same without regard to whether or not the improvement is situated in whole or in part within the limits of the incorporated village. In other words, under any of the circumstances above enumerated, ten per cent. of the cost of the improvement, excepting therefrom the cost of bridges and culverts, must be assessed against the land abutting thereon, according to benefits, and fifteen per cent., excepting therefrom the cost and expense of bridges and culverts, is to be paid by the township or townships in which the improvement is situated, assuming that the improvement is made on the application of the county commissioners. The remainder of the cost of the work is to be paid by the county and state, where the application is made by county commissioners, with the qualification that the state, in the case of an inter-county highway improvement, cannot pay more than one-half of the total cost and expense.

The above statement is subject to the further qualification expressed in section 210 of the act, section 1217, G. C., to the effect that the commissioners may assume on behalf of the county all or any part of the township's share, and that the trustees may assume on behalf of the township all or any part of the county's share. In other words, where an inter-county highway or main market road improvement is made on the application of county commissioners, the cost, in the absence of an agreement to the contrary, is to be divided between the state, county, township and owners of abutting land, and there is no provision for casting upon the village, as such, any part of the cost and expense of the improvement, in the absence of an agreement on the part of the village. Where the improvement is made on the application of township trustees, the cost is to be divided in the manner pointed out in the statute, and the village, in the absence of an agreement on its part, cannot be required to meet any part of the cost. Of course the village is, for the purpose of the present discussion, to be regarded as a part of the township, and will be called upon to meet its proportionate share of that part of the cost and expense borne by the township. It remains to consider the question of whether or not, when an improvement of this character is made on the application of county commissioners or township trustees, and is on their application extended into or through a village, the village may assume and agree to pay some portion of the cost and expense of that part of the improvement within the village, and, if so, to determine with whom the agreement is to be made. A discussion of this question is properly introduced by the statement deduced from an examination of the several provisions of the Cass highway law that where the state highway department undertakes an improvement on the application of the county commissioners, all the subsequent dealings of that department are to be had with the county commissioners, and likewise where the state highway department undertakes an improvement upon the application of township trustees, all the subsequent dealings of the state highway department are to be had with the trustees. I think it may, therefore, safely be assumed that if, under the circumstances above set forth, a village is authorized to assume and agree to pay some portion of the cost and expense, the agreement in question should be made with the county commissioners or township trustees applying for the improvement, as the case may be, and not with the state highway commissioner.

There seems to be no direct authority for an agreement of this character, but I am of the opinion that a consideration of the several provisions of the act warrants the conclusion that such agreement is authorized. As previously pointed out, section 1231-3, G. C., authorizes the village to assume and pay a part of the cost and expense where the improvement is made on the initiative of the state highway commissioner and without the co-operation of county commissioners and township trustees. This section also provides that under such circumstances the state highway commissioner and the council are to be governed by the statutes relating to road improvements through municipalities by boards of county commissioners, those statutes, being sections 6949 to 6954, G. C., inclusive, providing that county commissioners may extend road improvements into or through municipalities, and that the council may assume and pay such proportion of the cost of that part of the improvement within the municipality as may be agreed upon between the commissioners and the council.

Section 7467, G. C., provides that the state, county or township, or any two or more of them, may, by agreement, expend any funds available for road construction, improvement or repair upon roads inside a village. I think, therefore, the several sections of the General Code herein cited support the conclusion that where an inter-county highway or main market road improvement is, upon the application of county commissioners or township trustees, extended into or through a village, the village council may assume such portion of the cost and expense of that part of the improvement located within the village as may be agreed upon between the council of the village and the commissioners or trustees, as the case may be. This agreement should be made with the board upon whose application the improvement is being made.

It is impossible to properly answer the express question submitted by you in reference to this matter, for the reason that the section referred to by you is not primarily applicable to the state of facts disclosed by your inquiry. If the question, as submitted, were to be answered directly, the answer would necessarily be in the negative, but such an answer might be misleading, for the reason that, in the view I take of the law, a division of cost between the state, county, township and village may be accomplished by mutual agreement. I have, therefore, endeavored to answer your question by a general discussion of the rule that is to govern in these matters, and under the same you will, I think, be able to work out the desired division of the cost and expense of the contemplated improvement in your county. The conclusion herein expressed will enable the county to make any desired agreement with the township trustees and the council of the village in question.

Coming now to consider your second inquiry, section 7004, G. C., now repealed, was a part of the scheme of legislation designed for the improvement of the public roads within a township, and including a road running into or through a village or city. There is no provision of law to the effect that funds of this character may be used to meet the township's share of the cost and expense of improving inter-county highways or main market roads, and inasmuch as the Cass highway law provides a special method of raising funds for such purposes, I am of the opinion that an unexpended balance in a fund raised by the sale of bonds, under section 7004, G. C., may not be used to pay the township's share of the cost and expense of an improvement carried forward by the state highway department. This conclusion is strengthened by the provision of section 2296, G. C., to the effect that township trustees may transfer public funds, except the proceeds or balances of special levies, loans or bond issues, and the provision of section 5654, G. C., to the effect that the proceeds of a special tax, loan or bond issue shall not be used for any other purpose than that for which the same was levied, issued, or made, except as therein provided, and that when there is in the treasury of any state, village, county, township or school district a surplus of the proceeds of a special tax or of the proceeds of a loan or bond issue, which cannot be used or which is not needed for the purpose for which the tax was levied, or the loan made or the bonds issued, all of such surplus shall be transferred immediately by the officer, board or council having charge thereof to the sinking fund, and shall thereafter be subject to the uses of such sinking fund.

While the proceeds of bonds issued under section 7004, G. C., are to be used for improving roads, yet the bonds were issued for the improvement of certain designated roads, which roads were not necessarily, and probably never would be, identical with the inter-county highways and main market roads within the township, and I cannot, therefore, conclude that the improvement of the inter-county highways and main market roads within a township is the same purpose for which the bonds were issued.

I think the above will constitute a substantial answer to the second question submitted by you in your inquiry.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1523.

INFIRMARY BUILDING COMMISSION—RESTRICTIONS UNDER SECTION 2358, G. C., IN MAKING CONTRACTS FOR ERECTION OF BUILDING—CONTRACT MUST NOT EXCEED ESTIMATE OF COST OF ENTIRE BUILDING NOR ON THE PART OR ITEMS OF CONTRACT—NO CHANGE IN BIDS AFTER THEY HAVE BEEN OPENED.

A building commission constituted under the provisions of section 2333, G. C., is restrained by the provisions of section 2358, G. C., from making a contract for the erection of a public building at a price in excess of the estimates thereof, nor may it contract for the construction of any part of said building at a price in excess of the estimate on the part or items covered by said contract. When said commission invites sealed bids for the construction of said building, no change or amendment of said bids may be made after they are opened except to correct a mistake apparent upon their face.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 28, 1916.

HON. DEAN E. STANLEY, Prosecuting Attorney, Lebanon, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your letter of April 24, 1916, containing the following statements and inquiries:

> "The infirmary building commission of Warren county advertised for bids upon the several branches entering into the erecting of a new infirmary building, the architects having made estimates of the cost of each branch of work. Bids were received for all branches except for an elevator (for which none were asked) the lowest bid being that of a contractor who bid on all save two of the branches on which bids were asked. His bid was a lump bid and, taken together with the lowest on the other two branches of work, was some $800.00 in excess of the estimates for all said branches of work bid on. The contractor offers to reduce his bid by an amount which, taken together with the bids on the other two branches of work above referred to, will bring the total within the aggregate estimates on all the work bid on. At the same time, however, the bid of the contractor above referred to will be in excess of the aggregate estimates on the work on which he bids (this condition arises by reason of the fact that the two separate bids above mentioned are each below the estimates on those two kinds of work). In view of the provisions of sections 2338, 2343 and 2358 of the General Code of Ohio, I desire to inquire:
>
> "First, may the building commission let the contract in excess of the estimate?
>
> "Second, may the low bidder, when his bid exceeds the estimate, reduce his bid and legally make the contract with such commission?
>
> "Third, when the general contractor's bid is in excess of the aggregate estimates of the work on which he bids, but when his bid, taken together with bids on other branches of work, is below the aggregate estimate on all of the branches of work, may a valid contract be made?"

In addition to the facts stated in your foregoing letter I have learned through interviews with yourself and your building commission that it is the unanimous wish of said commission to let the contract for the erection of said infirmary building to the contractor named in your letter, if such contract may legally be made with him. It appears that his bid, while in excess of the estimate of the engineer, was several thousand dollars below the next lowest bid, and it seems to be the impression of your commission that a re-advertisement for bids will not result in relieving the situation because of the rapidly advancing prices of material, especially iron and steel, to be used in the construction of said building. It is apparent, therefore, from all the circumstances of the case as presented by the commission, that it would result in the saving of considerable money to the taxpayers if the commission could legally make a contract with the party named in your letter.

It must be observed in discussing the questions presented that by the concluding clause of section 2338, G. C., the commission must be governed by the provisions of the chapter of which said section is a part, relating to the erection of public buildings of the county. In other words, the building commission in the letting of this contract must observe the general provisions of law relating to contracts by county commissioners for the erection of public buildings.

Referring now to your first inquiry, I must advise that section 2358, G. C., expressly prohibits the making of any contract for the erection of any public building at a price in excess of the estimates thereof made by the engineer. This section provides as follows:

> "No contract shall be made for a public building, bridge or bridge substructure, or for any addition to, change, improvement or repair thereof, or for the labor and materials herein provided for, at a price in excess of the estimates required to be made by the preceding sections."

It is apparent, therefore, from the provisions of the foregoing section that your building commission is absolutely without any authority to let the contract in question in excess of the estimate.

Your second inquiry is based upon the proposal of the contractor named in your letter to amend his sealed bid and bring it, in connection with the bids on other branches of the work not covered by his bid, within the estimate. You desire to know whether he may now be permitted to make such changes in his bid. It has been repeatedly held by the courts of this state that whenever public authorities are required by law to invite sealed bids and to let the contract to the lowest bidder, no alteration, change or amendment of a sealed bid may be made after it is opened, except to correct a mistake apparent on the face of the proposal.

Beaver & Butt v. Trustees, 19 O. S., 97.
McGreevy v. Board of Education, 20 C. C., 114.
McAlexander v. Haviland School District, 7 N. P. (n. s.) 590.

In the case first cited Judge Brinkerhoff, commenting upon the purpose and effect of the law requiring sealed bids, says:

> "The proposals are to be in writing and sealed; and the action of the trustees is to be taken on the basis of what those proposals are found to be when opened, and not on what they may have been intended to be, but are not. To hold otherwise would be to nullify or reverse the evident policy of the statute, and to render possible and easy the exercise of such favoritism by the trustees towards particular parties as it is the obvious policy and intention of the statute to render impossible. 'The contract or contracts shall be awarded to and made with the person or persons who shall offer to perform the labor and furnish the materials at the lowest price. How offer to perform and furnish? Through the medium of written, sealed proposals, filed within the time limited in the advertisement. The statute knows no other proposals or offers but these. The trustees are invested with no discretion in the matter; but, on the contrary, we are satisfied it is the intent and policy of the statute to withhold it, and thereby shut the door against all favoritism on the part of the trustees on the one hand, and, on the other, to prevent such an excited, intriguing, and perhaps ruinous scramble among builders, as would be not unlikely to ensue if the proceeding were assimilated to an open auction sale of contracts. By the provisions of this statute, the state has declared her policy to be to rely, for procuring the labor and materials for her public buildings at a reasonable price, upon the secret, sober, and unexcited estimates, inquiries, and calculations of individual builders, made with full knowledge that others are likely to be similarly engaged, and upon the provisions made in the seventh section of the act, to the effect that no contract for labor or materials shall be made at a price in excess of the detailed estimates previously made by the official engineer."

The construction thus placed by the supreme court upon a statute exactly similar in its terms and requirements to that which controls the commission in the present case is, in my judgment, decisive of the question you submit. Adopting the reasoning of the court in this case, it may be said that the law requires the contractor in question to submit his offer through the medium of a written, sealed proposal,and the statute recognizes no other bid but the one made in this manner. The building commission is invested with no discretion. It must act upon the proposal as it is found to be when opened, and any contract made upon any amendment or change of said proposal would, in my judgment, be invalid, and the performance of which would be subject to injunction at any time.

While this construction of the law may result in additional expense to the taxpayers of your county, I can approve no method of letting a contract for the erection of said building except as provided by law. Your second inquiry, therefore, must be answered in the negative.

The conclusion reached as to your second inquiry of course finally disposes of the whole matter and renders unnecessary any extended discussion of the matter submitted in your third inquiry. However, I will say in answer to this inquiry that if the contractor's bid is in excess of the aggregate estimate on the different branches of the work upon which he bids, I am of the opinion that the provisions of section 2358 supra, preclude any consideration of said bid. The provisions of this section apply to any contract that may cover the whole or a part of the labor and materials necessary in the construction of any public building. If a contract is made for the entire construction of the building, such contract must not exceed the estimate of the cost of the entire building, but if two or more contracts are made for the erection of the same building the consideration named in each contract must not be in excess of the estimate of that part or branch of the construction which said contract covers. I therefore conclude that your third inquiry must also be answered in the negative.

Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,

Attorney-General.

1524.

ROADS AND HIGHWAYS—COUNTY HIGHWAY SUPERINTENDENT—APPOINTMENT OF ASSISTANTS, SUPERINTENDENTS AND INSPECTORS FOR STATE WORK—EMPLOYED BY COUNTY HIGHWAY SUPERINTENDENT WITH APPROVAL OF CHIEF HIGHWAY ENGINEER—WHEN STATE HIGHWAY COMMISSIONER APPOINTS UNDER SECTION 1182, G. C.—ROAD OILING MACHINES.

In those counties in which the county highway superintendent is designated to have charge of state work, the assistants, superintendents and inspectors required on any specific work being carried forward by the state highway department are to be employed by the county highway superintendent with the approval of the chief highway engineer, and the compensation of such employes is to be fixed by the chief highway engineer. This is true not only where counties or townships are co-operating with the state highway department, but also in those counties in which the local authorities are not co-operating. However, if it should become necessary or advisable, in the opinion of the state highway commissioner, to have persons employed whose work is not local in character, but is general throughout the state, their services being required in any one county only for brief periods and for some special work, such employes should be appointed by the state highway commissioner.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 28, 1916.

HON. CLINTON COWEN, State Highway Commissioner, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of March 13, 1916, which communication reads as follows:

> "Kindly refer to your opinion No. 907, under date of October 9, 1915, in which you state that the county highway superintendent, duly appointed in charge of state work, was to be regarded as the appointing officer of superintendents and inspectors required on state work in that county.
>
> "The question has arisen as to whether or not your opinion was intended to apply in those counties where the county is not co-operating with this department in the financing of either a construction or repair operation in the county.
>
> "I therefore, respectfully request an opinion from your office as to who is to be regarded as the appointing officer of inspectors or superintendents in a county where this department is improving, either by construction or repair, a portion of an inter-county highway or main market road without financial assistance from that county."

In the opinion referred to by you, I was called upon to construe certain apparently conflicting provisions of sections 105 and 212 of the Cass highway law, being sections 1182 and 1219, G. C. Section 1182, G. C., provides, among other things, that the state highway commissioner may appoint such superintendents, inspectors and other employes within the limits of appropriations as he may consider necessary to carry out the provisions of the chapter relating to the construction, improvement, maintenance and repair of roads and bridges by the state highway department. Section 1219, G. C., provides, among other things, that the county highway superintendent, with the approval of the chief highway engineer, may employ such assistants as are necessary in the preparation of plans and surveys, and such superintendents and inspectors as may be necessary in the construction of an improvement.

It was pointed out in the opinion in question that a consideration of certain other provisions of the Cass highway law discloses that any conflict between the provisions referred to above is only apparent and that the provisions may be reconciled and effect given to both. It was held that in those counties in which the county highway superintendent has been designated to have charge of all highways, bridges and culverts within his county under control of the state, such county highway superintendent has the authority to appoint such superintendents and inspectors as are needed on state work, his action in the premises being subject to the approval of the chief highway engineer; and that in those counties in which some engineer other than the county highway superintendent is designated to have charge of the construction, improvement, maintenance and repair of roads under control of the state, the state highway commissioner has the authority to appoint the superintendents and inspectors needed on state work.

Your inquiry now is as to whether the rule announced in the opinion in question is to be taken as applicable in all cases without regard to whether the local authorities, either county or township, are co-operating in the improvement, or whether the rule is to be taken as applicable only in those cases in which the improvement is being carried forward with the co-operation of the local authorities.

Section 1219, G. C., is a part of the chapter relating to the construction, improvement, maintenance and repair of roads and bridges by the state highway department. While the section in question is a part of the scheme designed for the co-operative improvement of highways, it is equally a part of the scheme designed for the improvement of highways without co-operation. An examination of the entire chapter in question, being chapter VIII of the Cass highway law, discloses that certain of its provisions are applicable without regard to whether or not there is co-operation, other provisions are applicable only where there is co-operation, and still other provisions are applicable only where the state highway commissioner is proceeding without the co-operation of the local authorities. These several provisions are mingled, and provisions of a different class are often found in the same section. Under a provision found in the preceding chapter, the county highway superintendent, if so designated by the state highway commissioner, has charge of all highways, bridges and culverts within the county under control of the state. See section 139 of the Cass highway law, section 7182, G. C. This provision is applicable without regard to whether the county or townships co-operate with the state. In other words, the state highway commissioner may designate the county highway superintendent to have charge of all highways, bridges and culverts within his county under control of the state, without reference to whether the particular county or any of its townships co-operate with the state, and in such cases the one-fifth part of the salary of the county highway superintendent will be paid by the state. Co-operation by the local authorities is not essential to the authority of the state highway commissioner to designate the county highway superintendent to have charge of state highways, and the duty of the state to pay the one-fifth part of the county highway superintendent's salary, in case he is so designated, does not depend in any way upon whether or not there is local co-operation in the improvement of the inter-county highways and main market roads of the county in question.

Coming now to consider section 1219, G. C., the first sentence of the section provides that the chief highway engineer may direct the county highway superintendent to make the necessary surveys and plans for the proposed highway improvement. It is apparent that this sentence applies with equal force to co-operative improvements and to improvements carried forward by the state highway commissioner without the co-operation of the county commissioners or township trustees. In either event, if the county highway superintendent has been designated to have charge of state work, a fifth part of his salary will be paid by the state, and it will be his duty to perform the services referred to in the sentence in question, and it will be the duty of the state highway commissioner to direct him to perform the services in question. The state highway commissioner would, under such circumstances, be without any authority to designate any other subordinate to do this work. It is equally apparent that the second sentence of the section in question is applicable only where there is co-operation with the local authorities. This sentence provides that the expense of the surveys and plans shall be equally divided between the state and county, except in cases where the improvement is being made on application of the township trustees, in which case the expense of such plans and surveys shall be equally divided between the state and township. I see no reason for holding that the third sentence of the section is not applicable under all conditions, and am of the opinion that it is to be given the same construction as the first sentence of the section. It seems to have been the intention of the legislature to lodge the appointing power in a local official familiar with the local conditions and having direct supervision over the work of the appointees. The same conclusion is to be reached as to the two succeeding sentences, while as to the last sentence in the section, which provides that the expenses of supervision and inspection shall be apportioned on the same basis as the cost of construction, it is apparent that the application is to be limited to those cases in which the improvement is being constructed with the co-operation of county or township authorities.

Referring to the provision, the proper construction of which is especially involved in your inquiry, it may be observed that the state highway department is given a check upon the action of the county highway superintendent in the premises in that the employment of assistants, superintendents and inspectors is subject to the approval of the chief highway engineer, and their compensation is to be fixed by that official.

In harmony with the above interpretation of section 1219, G. C., I advise you, in answer to your specific inquiry, that the rule announced in opinion 907, referred to by you, is applicable not only where counties or townships are co-operating with the state highway department, but also in those counties where the local authorities are not co-operating with your department, and that in either event, if the county highway superintendent is designated to have charge of state work, the assistants, superintendents and inspectors required on any specific work being carried forward by your department are to be employed by the county highway superintendent, with the approval of the chief highway engineer, and the compensation of such employes is to be fixed by the chief highway engineer.

It should be pointed out, however, that while it was the intention of the legislature to lodge the general appointing power in the county highway superintendent, he being a local officer familiar with local conditions, and having direct supervision over the work of the appointees, yet the fact remains that some appointing power has been lodged in the state highway commissioner, and if it should become necessary or advisable, in the opinion of the state highway commissioner, to have persons employed whose work is not local in character, but is general throughout the state, their services being required in any one county only for brief periods and for some special work, such employes should be appointed by the state highway commissioner. For example, I understand that you have found it desirable to purchase machines for oiling roads, such machines to be sent to the various counties throughout the state from time to time, when needed. The reasons for the appointment by the county highway superintendent of employes, would not apply to the crews of such machines, and it would be proper for the state highway commissioner to exercise the appointing power vested in him by section 1182, G. C., 106 O. L., 624, in the selection of men to operate such machines.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1525.

APPROVAL, RESOLUTION AND CERTIFICATES FOR EXPENDITURE ON INTER-COUNTY HIGHWAYS OF HARDIN COUNTY—PROPER APPLICATION UNDER SECTION 1203, G. C.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 28, 1916.

HON. CLINTON COWAN, State Highway Commissioner, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of April 5, 1916, which communication reads as follows:

> "I am submitting herewith certificate of the county highway superintendent of Hardin county, together with resolution of the board of county commissioners of Hardin county, requesting that this office order the sum of $18,500.00, which sum will be available for expenditure on the inter-county highways of Hardin county this year, paid into the treasury of Hardin county, in accordance with section 1203, G. C.
>
> "A certificate is also attached signed by the auditor of Hardin county, to the effect that $26,500.00, as set forth in the resolution of the county commissioners, is in the county treasury of Hardin county, and has not been otherwise appropriated.
>
> "I respectfully request an opinion from your office as to whether or not these papers constitute a proper application under section 1203 which would authorize my issuing vouchers at the proper times upon the auditor of state for the total sum of $18,500.00, payable to the county of Hardin."

I have examined the resolution and attached certificates referred to in your communication and find that the same are in every respect regular, being drawn in substantial compliance with the form suggested in opinion No. 998 of this department, rendered to you on November 6, 1915.

I therefore advise you that the resolution and attached certificates constitute a proper application under section 1203, G. C., and are such as to authorize and require the issuing, at the proper time, of vouchers upon the auditor of state for the total sum of $18,500.00, if that be the sum apportioned to Hardin county.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1526.

COUNTY CHILDREN'S HOME—WHEN COMMISSIONERS MAY SELL REAL ESTATE—TRACT MAY BE SUBDIVIDED INTO LOTS BY COMMISSIONERS BEFORE SALE—CITY OF PORTSMOUTH.

Section 2447, G. C., as amended, and section 2444-1, supplemental thereto (106 O. L., 399), provide that real estate owned by the county and not needed for public use may be sold at public sale when the interests of the county require. If, in the opinion of the county, it is deemed expedient to subdivide the property into lots to dispose of it to the best advantage, such a course may be pursued.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 29, 1916.

Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—Your request for an opinion as to the sale by county commissioners of certain real estate now used for the Scioto county children's home is as follows:

> "At the request of the county commissioners and the trustees of the children's home of Scioto county the following statement of facts and questions relating thereto are submitted and we would respectfully ask your written opinion in regard to same.
>
> "The buildings of the Scioto county children's home have been condemned by a state inspector of public buildings, thereby making it necessary for the county commissioners to provide means for the repair of the present buildings or the construction of new ones to meet with the requirements of law and the directions of that department.
>
> "The children's home fund is completely exhausted, making it necessary for the commissioners to either borrow money to meet the expenses of the necessary improvement or to sell the real estate now occupied by the children's home and use the proceeds for this purpose. The buildings now in use are located upon a valuable tract of land of about eight acres, in the city of Portsmouth, estimated to be worth about one hundred thousand dollars.
>
> "In consideration of the high value of this property, it has been suggested by the trustees of the children's home that the commissioners dispose of the same and with the proceeds of sale thereof purchase a less expensive site and construct the necessary modern buildings. The commissioners fully agree that this procedure is for the best interests of the county, but are uncertain as to the best manner of disposing of the property. This property being located in a residence section of the city both the commissioners and the trustees believe that by subdividing the tract into lots and offering such lots at public sale a greater sum can be realized for the county than by offering the tract as a whole.
>
> "The sole question at issue is as to the right of the commissioners to subdivide this tract, and if so divided, to sell at public sale."

Section 2447 of the General Code, as amended, and the supplemental section, 2447-1, 106 O. L., 399, are as follows:

> "If, in their opinion, the interests of the county so require, the commissioners may sell any real estate belonging to the county, and not needed for public use; and, in case of the sale of such real estate not used for county purposes, the proceeds of such sale or such parts thereof as the board of commissioners may designate may be placed by the commissioners in a separate fund to be used only for the construction, equipment, maintenance or repair of other county buildings, and the provisions of section 5638 of the General Code shall not apply to appropriations or expenditures of said fund.

"Sec. 2447-1. No sale of such real estate shall be made unless authorized by a resolution adopted by a majority of such commissioners. When such sale is so authorized a deed therefor shall be made by such board of county commissioners and only to the highest responsible bidder, after advertisement once a week for five consecutive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation within such county. Such board of county commissioners may reject any or all bids and readvertise until all such estate is sold."

Under the provisions of the sections above quoted, which control in the matter under consideration, the commissioners of the county may sell real estate belonging to the county under the two conditions, namely: "when the interests of the county so require," and when the same is "not needed for public use." Before making such sale a resolution authorizing it must be adopted by a majority of the commissioners, which resolution should set out wherein the interests of the county require a sale of the property and the reasons why such property is not needed for public use.

The question presented by you must be viewed from the angle of practicability, one of the most important features of which is the fact that in addition to the value of the property now used as a children's home, by reason of its being located in the city of Portsmouth, is the fact that the nature of its uses would readily lead to the conclusion that if the home were located outside of the city in a desirable place in the country, not only would it be more economical, and, therefore, for the interest of the county, but the surroundings would be more conducive to the welfare of the inmates of the home.

Under the provisions of section 2447 of the General Code, as amended, supra, the board of county commissioners has the right to make a sale of property, and that point being determined, the question of the most expedient manner of disposing of the property is one which should engage the attention of the commissioners.

It is my opinion, therefore, that the commissioners, under a proper showing made pursuant to the provisions of sections 2447 and 2447-1 of the General Code, as amended, supra, have the right to dispose of the property, and the manner of its disposal is one for their discretion. No definite plan of sale, other than that it be public, as set out by the statutes, is prescribed, and if the interests of the county will best be subserved by selling the property in lots or parcels, it is my opinion that the letter or the spirit of the law will not be violated by the subdividing of the real estate into lots and selling same at public sale if that course shall be determined to be the most expedient to pursue in the matter.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1527.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE OF TRUMBULL COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 29, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of Trumbull County, Ohio, in the sum of $13,000.00, for the purpose of creating a fund to pay the cost and expense of constructing certain bridges, being twenty-six bonds of $500.00 each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the county commissioners and other officers of Trumbull County relative to the issuance of the above bonds, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the form submitted, and executed by the proper officers will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of Trumbull County, Ohio.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1528.

ROADS AND HIGHWAYS—CONSTRUCTION OF RETAINING WALL FOR PURPOSE OF PROTECTING ROADWAY—HOW COST CAN BE PAID—SEE SECTIONS 6926, 6927 AND 6929, G. C.

The construction of a retaining wall for the purpose of protecting a roadway from the encroachment of a stream may properly be regarded as an improvement or repair of a road.

Taxes for the purpose of constructing such a wall may be levied under sections 6926 and 6927, G. C., and if in the judgment of the county commissioners it is necessary to sell the bonds of the county for the purpose of paying the cost and expense of such a wall, said bonds may be sold under authority of section 6929, G. C.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, April 29, 1916.

HON. GEORGE C. VON BESELER, Prosecuting Attorney, Painesville, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I acknowledge the receipt of your communication of March 24, 1916, which communication reads as follows:

"The county commissioners, in co-operation with the trustees of Painesville township, are about to improve East Main street in the city of Painesville, running into Madison avenue without the corporation. Grand river approaches Madison avenue, and is parallel with it for a distance of perhaps a thousand feet, making a bend. The waters as they approach Madison avenue have been cutting away the bank so that the road is in imminent danger of sliding into the river. The abutting property on the other side is very valuable, and it would be an exceedingly expensive arrangement to purchase real estate for a relocation of the highway. Even if that were done it would be only a temporary expedient. The county engineer has submitted an estimate of $40,000.00 as the probable cost of a retaining wall.

"After having gone through the statutes again and again, I am unable to ascertain under what section, if any, the commissioners would have authority to issue and sell these bonds. It may be that the larger experience of your office would be able to cite me to some provision of law under which this emergency could be met. If so, both the county commissioners and I, and as well other county officials, will be exceedingly grateful to you."

Prior to the passage of the Cass highway law, 106 O. L., 574, it was provided by section 7483, G. C., that "When a principal public road in a county, except a turnpike road over which tolls are collected, is subject to overflow or inundation so as to render it, at any time, unfit for public travel, or hinder free and necessary transportation, the commissioners of such county may repair or reconstruct such road by changing the beds of small streams to avoid crossing, changing roads to avoid bridges when the public travel would be better accommodated, or building an embankment or levee sufficiently elevated above all such overflows or inundation."

It was further provided in the section in question that the expense of such embankment, changes or levee should be paid out of the money in the county treasury raised by taxation for road or bridge purposes. The section in question was, however, repealed by the Cass highway law, and no relief for the situation presented by you may therefore be had thereunder, even if it might be determined that the provisions of the section in question were sufficiently broad.

I desire, however, to direct your attention to section 85 of the Cass highway law, section 6906, G. C., which reads in part as follows:

"The board of commissioners of any county shall have power, as hereinafter provided, to construct a public road by laying out and building a new public road, or by improving, reconstructing or repairing any existing public road or part thereof by grading, paving, draining, dragging, graveling, macadamizing, resurfacing or apply dust preventives, or by otherwise improving the same."

It will be noted that the language of this section is very broad, and I am of the opinion that under the terms of the same the construction of a retaining wall for the purpose of protecting a road way from the encroachment of a stream may properly be regarded as an improvement or repair of a road. That being true the tax for the purpose of producing the amount needed for such a retaining wall, in case the same is to be built entirely at the expense of the county, may be levied under section 105 of the Cass highway law, section 6926, G. C. In case any part of the cost is to be paid by the interested township or townships, the tax levied for the purpose of raising the share of the township or townships in question may be levied under section 106 of the Cass highway law, section 6927, G. C. If in the judgment of the county commissioners it is necessary to sell bonds of the county for the purpose of paying the cost and expense of the retaining wall, the authority therefor is to be found in section 108 of the Cass highway law, section 6929, G. C.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1529.

CORPORATION—REDEEMED PREFERRED STOCK HELD TO BE MERELY WITHDRAWN AND MAY BE REISSUED—THE GOODYEAR TIRE AND RUBBER COMPANY OF AKRON, OHIO.

The authorized capital stock of a corporation is not automatically reduced by the redemption of preferred stock under power reserved in the certificate issued therefor. Such preferred stock upon redemption assumes the status of authorized but unissued preferred stock and may be re-issued with such redemption clause in the certificate therefor as the corporation through proper action of its stockholders may provide.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 3, 1916.

HON. CHARLES Q. HILDEBRANT, Secretary of State, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your letter of April 28, 1916, enclosing a communication to you from Messrs. Slabaugh, Seiberling and Huber, attorneys of Akron, Ohio, and requesting my opinion upon the question therein submitted to you.

The facts recited in the letter of Messrs. Slabaugh, Seiberling and Huber are, in substance, as follows:

The Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, of Akron, has an authorized preferred capital stock of $7,000,000.00. Its charter provides that the corporation shall each year redeem $350,000.00 of said preferred stock at 120% of par and accrued dividends; and also provides that it shall have the right at its option to redeem all or any part of said preferred stock at 120% of par and accrued dividends on any dividend-paying date on or after July 1, 1915. The corporation has redeemed and cancelled $700,000.00 of this preferred stock and now has a few shares in the treasury which have been redeemed but not yet cancelled. There is still outstanding of its authorized preferred stock 62,313 shares of $6,231,300.00 par value. The corporation desires to increase its preferred stock to $25,000,000.00.

Upon the facts stated Messrs. Slabaugh, Seiberling and Huber inquire whether the redemption of its preferred stock by The Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company automatically reduces its authorized capital stock to the extent of the stock redeemed or does the authorized preferred stock of the corporation remain in the original amount of $7,000,000.00.

Section 8669 of the General Code provides as follows:

> "A corporation issuing both common and preferred stock may create designations, preferences, and voting powers, or restrictions or qualifications thereof, in the certificate of incorporation, and if desired, preferred stock may be made subject to redemption at not less than par, at a fixed time and price to be expressed in the stock certificates thereof."

It will be observed that the "designations, preferences and voting powers, or restrictions or qualifications thereof" are not made applicable to preferred stock only, but may attach to either class of stock—common or preferred. If created, however, they must be set forth in the certificate of incorporation.

On the other hand, the authority to make stock redeemable at not less than par at a fixed time and price attaches only to preferred stock, and if exercised must be expressed in the stock certificates issued therefor, but it is not required to be set forth in the certificate of incorporation, and is therefore not a necessary part of the corporate charter.

The conclusion naturally follows that the question of whether or not the preferred stock of a corporation should be made redeemable was intended by the general assembly to be determined by the corporate by-laws or by subsequent action of its stockholders.

There is no provision of the General Code which requires a corporation by certificate, publication or otherwise to inform the secretary of state or the public whether it has or has not elected to make its preferred stock redeemable at a fixed time and price other than in the stock certificates which are issued to the purchasers of such preferred stock; neither is there any requirement that the secretary of state or the public be informed when a corporation redeems any of its preferred stock.

The word "redemption" is defined in "WORDS AND PHRASES," Vol. 7, pages 6022 and 6023, and the authorities there cited, as meaning to "purchase back; to regain, as mortgaged property, by paying what is due; to receive back by paying the obligation."

In Mannington v. Hocking Valley Railway Company, 183 Fed. 135, "The word 'redeem' as used in statutory provisions authorizing a party to redeem means 'repurchase.' "

It is the established policy of this state, evidenced by numerous provisions of the General Code, that a complete record of the authorized capital stock of all Ohio corporations shall be kept in the office of the secretary of state. The authorized capital stock of a corporation can neither be increased nor decreased, except in the manner provided in the General Code, and when either power is exercised a certificate thereof must be filed in the office of the secretary of state.

In view of the general policy of the law and the specific provisions referred to, a reduction in the capital stock of a corporation cannot be effected by inference unless necessary to make effective other provisions of the General Code. Therefore, when preferred stock is redeemed under power reserved in the certificates of stock it regains its original status of unissued authorized preferred stock and may be re-issued with such conditions relative to future redemption as may be fixed by the corporation.

Answering the question submitted, I am of the opinion that the redemption of preferred capital stock of The Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company has not, and will not to that extent, automatically reduce the company's authorized capital stock, but that such redeemed preferred stock takes the status of authorized but unissued preferred capital stock, and may be reissued by the corporation.

Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,

Attorney-General.

1530.

TOWNSHIP TREASURER—CUSTODIAN OF FUNDS RAISED UNDER SECTION 7033 TO 7052, G. C. (NOW REPEALED)—NOT ENTITLED TO FEES FOR DISBURSING SUCH FUNDS—RECOVERY MAY BE HAD AGAINST HIM.

1. The township treasurer is the legal custodian of funds raised under the provisions of sections 7033 to 7052, G. C. (since repealed.)

2. Following the decision in the case of Forney v. Nolt, Medina county common pleas court, the township treasurer is not entitled to any fees for disbursing such funds.

3. Following such decision, if the treasurer has received compensation for disbursing such funds, recovery may be had against him.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 3, 1916.

Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—Under date of April 17th, you submitted for my opinion the following inquiries:

> "(1) Is the township treasurer the legal custodian of the proceeds of bonds sold for the construction of road improvements under the provisions of section 7035, G. C. (Old section)?
>
> "(2) If it is held that the treasurer is the custodian of such moneys, what, if any, would be his legal fees for disbursing same?
>
> "(3) In the event that an examination discloses that a township treasurer has assumed the custody of such moneys and disburses same upon warrants or orders signed by the township clerk and by at least two trustees, and had received for such services two per cent. upon amount disbursed, would a finding for recovery against him and his bondsmen for such fees be enforcible in the event you held that he was not the legal custodian of such moneys?
>
> "(4) Are township treasurers entitled to two per cent. upon disbursements made by them in payment of such bonds (and interest thereon) issued under the authority of section 7035, G. C., and redeemed by tax levy as provided in section 7051, G. C. (Old section)?"

The sections referred to by you are all found in a scheme of road improvement, incorporated in the General Code, within sections 7033 to 7052, both inclusive, as the same appeared prior to the enactment of amended senate bill No. 125 (106 O. L. 574), known as the "Cass highway law." In said law the said sections 7033 to 7052, were repealed.

The question as to whether or not a township treasurer is entitled to any fees for handling the funds provided for under sections 7033 to 7052, G. C., was passed upon by my predecessor, Mr. Hogan, in two opinions.

In an opinion rendered to Hon. Irving Carpenter, prosecuting attorney of Huron county, under date of July 24, 1913, Mr. Hogan held that as no compensation is provided by sections 7033 to 7052, G. C., for the services of the township treasurer in disbursing funds raised thereunder, he is entitled to the compensation prescribed by section 3318, G. C., for all of such moneys actually paid out by him on the order of the township trustees.

On June 17, 1914, Mr. Hogan rendered an opinion to Hon. Archer L. Phelps, prosecuting attorney of Trumbull county, wherein he reviewed the same question, but held that since the moneys raised under the scheme of legislation as found in sections 7033 to 7052, G. C., were not moneys belonging to the township treasury, the township treasurer was not entitled to compensation under section 3318, G. C., and further, that the statutes—sections 7033 to 7052—were likewise silent with reference to the payment of any compensation to a township treasurer for his services in handling the funds of a road district, and concluded that since the money raised under sections 7033 et seq. belongs to the road district and not to the township treasury, he was of the opinion that the township treasurer was not entitled to any compensation for handling the same.

The question as to whether or not the township treasurer would be entitled to any fees for receiving and disbursing funds under the provisions of sections 7033 to 7052, G. C., was litigated in the common pleas court of Medina county, in the case of S. E. Forney, plaintiff, v. Jacob Nolt, et al., as the board of trustees of Homer township, Medina county, Ohio, defendants, and was decided by said court on October 9, 1915. In the opinion in said case the court states:

> "Counsel upon both sides agree that there is no express statutory authority imposing a duty upon the township treasurer to receive said funds. But the question is not as to the proper custody of the fund but as to whether compensation can be allowed for the service. And even though there were an express provision of the statute, designating the township treasurer as the custodian of the funds of the township road district, in the absence of any provision, other than section 3318, G. C., fixing his compensation for the service, the court would still be constrained to hold under the authority of cases herein cited, that the treasurer would not be entitled to receive compensation for receiving and distributing said road funds."

The court concludes, therefore, that there being no express statutory authority for the payment of fees to the township treasurer for services rendered under sections 7033 to 7052, G. C., the treasurer is not entitled to any compensation for such services.

Upon inquiry of the prosecuting attorney of Medina county, as to the further disposition of said case, I am informed that no action has been taken to review the decision of the common pleas court.

We therefore not only have the final opinion of my predecessor, that the township treasurer is not entitled to any compensation under said sections, but likewise a judicial determination of said question to the same effect.

Your first question is whether the township treasurer is the legal custodian of the proceeds of bonds sold for the construction of road improvements under the provisions of section 7035, G. C.

A careful reading of the law, both in its original form as enacted in 94 O. L., page 129, and the same act as codified in sections 7033 to 7052, will disclose that this scheme of road improvement was placed entirely under the jurisdiction of the trustees of the township, and that the township clerk was required to perform certain duties in respect thereto. The said statutes are absolutely silent as to who should be the proper custodian of the funds in question, but since the entire matter was placed in the hands of the township trustees and the township clerk was required to perform certain duties in regard to such improvement, I am of the opinion that although the statutes are silent as to the custody of the money when raised under the provisions of said sections, there is a strong implication that the legislature intended that the township treasurer should have the custody thereof, and I so hold.

Your second question is as to what fees, if any, the township treasurer would be entitled, if it be held that he is the proper custodian of such moneys.

As pointed out in the decision of the court of common pleas, hereinbefore referred to, the statutes containing this scheme of road improvement are silent as to any compensation to be paid to the township treasurer, although there is statutory legislation in regard to the compensation to be paid to the township clerk, and since the moneys raised under this scheme of legislation could not be considered as moneys belonging to the township treasury, as the road district may or may not comprise the whole township, I am of the opinion that the township treasurer would not be entitled to any fees for disbursing such moneys.

Your third question is as follows:

> "In the event that an examination discloses that a township treasurer has assumed the custody of such moneys and disburses same upon warrants or orders signed by the township clerk and by at least two trustees, and had received for such services two per cent. upon amount disbursed would a finding for recovery against him and his bondsmen for such fees be enforcible in the event you held that he was not the legal custodian of such moneys?"

Following the decision of the court in the case of Forney v. Nolt et al., hereinbefore referred to, which case holds that the township treasurer is not entitled to compensation for disbursing the moneys received under sections 7033 to 7052, G. C., it would appear that if he was not entitled to retain fees out of moneys received by him under the provisions of section 7033 to 7052, G. C., as compensation, the retention of such fees by him would be illegal and, therefore, the said treasurer would have received moneys to which he was not entitled. Such being the case, a finding for recovery can properly be made against him.

The answers heretofore given dispose of your fourth question.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1531.

DISAPPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, RIDGEFIELD TOWNSHIP, HURON COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 3, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

> "RE:—Bonds of Ridgefield Township, Huron county, Ohio, in the sum of $15,000.00 issued for the purpose of providing funds to improve highways of said township, being thirty bonds of $500.00 each."

I have examined the transcript of proceedings of the township trustees and other officers of Ridgefield township relative the above bond issue, and I am of the opinion that the trustees of said township are without authority to issue bonds for road improvement purposes under sections 3295, 3939 and 3940 of the General Code.

Under date of April 27, 1916, in opinion No. 1520 to your commission, I advised you that the township trustees of Norwich township, Huron county, Ohio, were not authorized to issue road improvement bonds under the sections of the General Code above referred to and there stated in detail my reasons for the conclusion reached, which are equally applicable in connection with the bond issue under consideration.

I therefore advise your commission to refuse to accept the bonds above referred to.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1532.

STATE HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT—DISAPPROVAL OF BONDS OF CERTAIN EMPLOYEES—POWER OF ATTORNEY AND FINANCIAL STATEMENT OF COMPANIES NOT ATTACHED.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 4, 1916.

HON. CLINTON COWEN, State Highway Commissioner, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of April 5, 1916, transmitting to me for examination bonds of the following employes of your department:

"W. G. Smith	Div. Engr.	$4,000 00
"E. W. Davis	Div. Engr.	4,000 00
"D. W. Seitz	Div. Engr.	4,000 00
"T. T. Richards	Div. Engr.	4,000 00
"A. S. Rea	Test Engr.	2,000 00
"R. E. Lowther	Bookkeeper	1,000 00
"F. E. Withgott	Engineer	3,000 00
"J. W. Graham	Engineer	3,000 00
"G. R. Logue	Engineer	2,000 00

The bonds of F. E. Withgott and G. R. Logue are executed by the Maryland Casualty Company, as surety, and the other seven bonds are executed by the Fidelity and Deposit Company of Maryland, as surety.

The bonds executed by the Fidelity and Deposit Company of Maryland, as surety, have been executed on behalf of the company by John Doyle, as attorney in fact but no power of attorney is attached. All of the bonds are in regular form, but before approving the same a power of attorney authorizing Mr. Doyle to execute the bonds signed by the Fidelity and Deposit Company of Maryland, should be attached to each bond.

I note that financial statements of the companies are not attached to any of the bonds and suggest that such statements should be attached before the bonds are finally approved.

When the bonds are returned to me with financial statements attached to the two bonds executed by the Maryland Casualty Company and with powers of attorney and financial statements attached to the seven bonds executed by the Fidelity and Deposit Company of Maryland, I will be glad to approve the same.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1533.

APPROVAL, RESOLUTIONS FOR IMPROVEMENT OF CERTAIN ROADS IN FRANKLIN AND CRAWFORD COUNTIES.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 4, 1916.

HON. CLINTON COWEN, State Highway Commissioner, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of April 28, 1916, transmitting to me for examination, final resolutions relating to the following roads:

"Franklin county—Sec. 'M,' Columbus-Sandusky Rd., Pet. No. 2339, I. C. H. No. 4.

"Crawford county—Sec. 'K,' Galion-Bucyrus Rd., Pet. No. 2232, I. C. H. No. 201.

"Crawford county—Sec. 'L,' Marion-Bucyrus Rd., Pet. No. 2226, I. C. H. No. 110.

"Crawford county—Sec. 'L,' Marion-Bucyrus Rd., Pet. No. 2226, I. C. H. No. 110.

"Crawford county—Sec. 'I,' 2 Columbus-Sandusky Rd., Pet. No. 2227, I. C. H. No. 4."

I find these resolutions to be in regular form and am therefore returning the same with my approval endorsed thereon.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1534.

APPROVAL, TWO RESOLUTIONS FOR ROAD IMPROVEMENT IN MORROW COUNTY.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 4, 1916.

HON. CLINTON COWAN, State Highway Commissioner, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of May 1, 1916, transmitting to me for examination, final resolutions relating to the following roads:

"Morrow county—Sec. 'F,' Mt. Gilead-Mt. Vernon Rd., Pet. No. 2747 (1188) I. C. H. No. 333.

"Morrow county—Sec. 'G,' Marion-Galion Rd., Pet. No. 2744 (1185), I. C. H. No. 114."

I find these resolutions to be in regular form and am therefore returning the same with my approval endorsed thereon.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1535.

TOWNSHIP TREASURER—FOR MONEYS DISBURSED UNDER SECTIONS 6976 TO 7018, G. C. (SINCE REPEALED), HE IS ENTITLED TO COMPENSATION FIXED IN SECTION 7015, G. C.

For all moneys disbursed by the township treasurer under the provisions of sections 6976 to 7018, G. C. (since repealed), he is entitled to the compensation fixed in section 7015, G. C.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 4, 1916.

Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—Under date of April 17th, you submitted for my opinion the following question:

> "What are the legal fees of a township treasurer for disbursing moneys raised by taxation for redemption of bonds (and interest thereon), said bonds having been issued under authority of section 7004, General Code (old section), and such levy for debt purposes having been made under authority of section 7006, General Code (old section)?"

The act passed April 22, 1904 (97 O. L. 550), contained the provisions authorizing the improvement of public roads of townships, including streets of cities or villages therein, and repealed a former act, passed April 16, 1900 (94 O. L. 284). The act found in 97 Ohio Law, has been both amended and supplemented, and the same was incorporated in the General Code within sections 6976 to 7018, inclusive. Said sections include sections 7004 and 7006, G. C., referred to in your inquiry.

Section 7015, G. C., provided as follows:

> "The treasurer of such township shall receive and disburse all money arising from the provisions of this subdivision of this chapter. He shall receive as compensation therefor one-half of one per cent. of the first ten thousand dollars, or less, distributed in any one year, and one-fourth of one per cent. of any amount in excess of ten thousand dollars, to be paid out of the township funds, and he shall not receive other compensation for services rendered under such subdivision."

There is no restriction in said section that the treasurer shall only be entitled to compensation on money disbursed under contract, but he is, under the provisions thereof, to receive and disburse all moneys arising from the provisions of said sections and, therefore, is to receive and disburse the moneys raised by taxation for the redemption of bonds issued under the provisions of said sections, as well as the moneys which are received from the sale of said bonds.

The provisions of section 7015, G. C., are clear that as compensation he is to receive the amount stipulated therein for the receiving and disbursing of all moneys. Consequently, I am of the opinion that the fees stipulated therein govern in regard to the disbursing of moneys raised by taxation for the redemption of bonds issued under section 7004, G. C., and interest thereon.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1536.

TAXES AND TAXATION—LAND PURCHASED AT FORFEITED LAND SALE—NOT IN EXISTENCE—PURCHASER ENTITLED TO REFUND UNDER SECTION 2589, G. C.

Where, due to an error in the return of property for taxation, the county auditor's duplicate shows an entry of a certain parcel of land which in fact was not in existence at the time said return was made, and this entry finally appears on the list of forfeited lands, and in consideration of the payment of the taxes charged against said entry by a purchaser at the forfeited land sale, the auditor issues his certificate to such purchaser under authority of section 5672, G. C., such attempted sale is without legal effect and void; and the purchaser is entitled to a refund of the money paid by him into the county treasury, which may be made under authority and in the manner provided in section 2589, G. C.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 4, 1916.

HON. LEVI B. MOORE, Prosecuting Attorney, Waverly, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—In your letter under date of April 24th you request my opinion as follows:

> "In the year of 1900 one of the land appraisers reported for taxation 42 acres of land, together with the name of the owner. The land was placed upon the tax duplicate of the county but no taxes were paid on it, and it became delinquent and then forfeited, and was sold at forfeited land sale in 1911. It now appears upon an investigation of the records that no such land exists, and the purchaser at forfeited tax sale demands his money back. Is he entitled to a refund or does the rule of caveat emptor apply?"

While it is well settled in this state that the rule of caveat emptor applies to purchasers at tax sales, in so far as the validity of the sale is concerned (see Younglove v. Hackman, 43 O. S., 69), nevertheless the right of a purchaser at a tax sale to have his money refunded in case such sale in proven to be invalid, or in case the owner of the property so sold chooses to redeem the same in the manner provided by law, is recognized by the legislature in various provisions of the statutes as found in the chapter of the General Code relating to forfeited lands. For example, section 5764, G. C., provides:

> "The sale of any tract or lot of land under the provisions of this chapter, on which the taxes have been regularly paid previous to such sale, is void, and the purchaser, his heirs, or assigns, on producing the certificate of sale to the auditor of state, shall have his money refunded to him from the state treasury. The state auditor shall pay it out of the money appropriated for refunding taxes twice or improperly paid."

Section 5766, G. C., provides:

> "The purchaser of such lands, his heirs, or assigns, from the day of such purchase, shall be held in all courts as the assignee of the state of Ohio. The amount of taxes and penalties charged on the land at the time it was sold, with all legal taxes afterward paid thereon by such purchaser, his heirs or assigns, shall be a lien on it, and may be enforced as any other lien."

Section 5767, G. C., provides:

> "When the claimant of any lands sold, for the non-payment of taxes, under any law of the state, or his heirs or assigns, recover the land sold, as aforesaid, such claimant, his heirs, or assigns, shall refund to the purchaser, his heirs, or assigns, the amount of taxes and penalties due to the state on the land when sold, with all other taxes paid thereon by such purchaser, his heirs, or assigns, to the time of such recovery, with interest. Such sum shall be paid to such purchaser, entitled thereto, before he shall be evicted or turned out of possession by any claimant so recovering such land."

While the courts have required a strict compliance with all provisions of the statutes governing the sale of land for taxes in determining the validity of such sale, they have invariably protected the rights of the purchaser as defined by the foregoing or similar provisions of the statutes.

I find no provision of the statute determining the answer to the question submitted by you. To my mind, however, it would be unreasonable to hold that the purchaser referred to in your inquiry is not entitled to a refund of the money paid by him into the county treasury upon the issuance to him by the county auditor of the certificate required by the provision of section 5762, G. C., in view of the fact that no such land as that mentioned in your inquiry, and referred to in said certificate, was in existence at the time of the making of the sale and the issuance of said certificate. The claim for the taxes in question was without foundation, the county auditor had nothing to sell, no consideration passed to the purchaser and the sale was void.

I am of the opinion, therefore, in answer to your question that the purchaser, mentioned in said inquiry, is entitled to a refund of the money so paid by him into the county treasury, and that the same may be made under authority and in the manner provided in the latter part of section 2589, G. C., which provides that:

"If at any time the auditor discovers that erroneous taxes or assessments have been charged and collected in previous years, he shall call the attention of the county commissioners thereto at a regular or special session of the board. If the commissioners find that taxes or assessments have been so erroneously charged and collected, they shall order the auditor to draw his warrant on the county treasurer in favor of the person paying them for the full amount of the taxes or assessments so erroneously charged and collected. The county treasurer shall pay such warrant from any surplus or unexpended funds in the county treasury."

Section 2590, G. C., provides that:

"At the next semiannual settlement with the auditor of state after the refunding of such taxes, the county auditor shall deduct from the amount of taxes due the state at such settlement the amount of such taxes that have been paid into the state treasury."

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1537.

DISAPPROVAL, TWO RESOLUTIONS FOR ROAD IMPROVEMENTS IN GEAUGA COUNTY.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 4, 1916.

HON. CLINTON COWEN, State Highway Commissioner, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of April 29, 1916, transmitting to me for examination final resolutions relating to the following roads:

"Geauga County—Sec. 'J' Chagrin Falls-Greenville road, Pet. No. 2377, I. C. H. No. 35.

"Geauga County—Sec. 'J' Chagrin Falls-Greenville road, Pet. No. 2377, I. C. H. 35."

It appears from the certificate of the chief clerk of the highway department attached to these resolutions that main market road funds are to be used in the payment of the state's portion of the cost and expense, but it does not appear either on the face of the resolutions or from any attached certificates that inter-county highway No. 35 has been designated as a main market road. For this reason I am returning the resolutions in question without my approval.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1538.

APPROVAL, RESOLUTION FOR IMPROVEMENT OF COLUMBUS-SANDUSKY ROAD, FRANKLIN COUNTY.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 4, 1916.

HON. CLINTON COWEN, State Highway Commissioner, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of May 3, 1916, transmitting to me for examination final resolution relating to Sec. "O" of the Columbus-Sandusky road, Pet. No. 2339, I. C. H. No. 4, in Franklin county.

I find this resolution to be in regular form and am therefore returning the same with my approval endorsed thereon.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1539.

TOWNSHIP TRUSTEES—AUTHORIZED TO PURCHASE PIPE FOR BRIDGES AND CULVERTS ON TOWNSHIP ROADS—WHAT COUNTY HIGHWAY SUPERINTENDENT MUST APPROVE—DEPUTY COUNTY SURVEYOR OR AN EMPLOYE IN COUNTY SURVEYOR'S OFFICE MAY LAWFULLY PERFORM SERVICES FOR A MUNICIPALITY—LIMITATIONS FOR SUCH WORK.

Township trustees are authorized to purchase pipe for culverts and bridges on township roads and there is no requirement to the effect that such purchase must be authorized by the County surveyor. The amount that may be so expended is not limited by statute, and competitive bidding, while to be recommended, is not required. Before payment is made for culvert pipe purchased by trustees, the expenditure is to be approved by the county highway superintendent. His approval does not go to the advisability of the purchase, but before approving the bill he should ascertain that a contract of purchase was made and that the pipe has been delivered and is of the quantity and quality ordered.

A deputy county surveyor or an employe in the county surveyor's office may lawfully perform services for a municipality or for a private individual and be compensated therefor, provided all the work for such municipality or private individual is performed outside of business hours, and with the further qualification that the amount of time devoted to such outside work must not be so large as to interfere in any way with the performance of public duties or impair in any measure the efficiency of the deputy or employe.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 4, 1916.

HON. T. B. JARVIS, Prosecuting Attorney, Mansfield, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of March 30, 1916, in which you submit the following inquiry with reference to the purchase of culvert pipe by township trustees:

> "I have been frequently consulted with reference to the authority of township trustees to purchase culvert pipe for township roads, and while I have advised our county surveyor that the township trustees under the Cass law may purchase pipe for bridges where needed, but the order for the same must be confirmed by the surveyor before the same can be paid, our surveyor has advised me that some counties in this state have been advised that only the county surveyor is authorized to purchase pipe for bridge purposes or for culverts, while others have been advised by their prosecuting attorney that the township trustees alone are authorized to purchase said material without any advice or confirmation of the county surveyor. I would be pleased to have your opinion on this question.
>
> "1st. Whether the township trustees may purchase pipe for culverts and bridges for township roads without authority or confirmation of county surveyor, and if so, to what amount may they expend township funds for this purpose, and should the contract be advertised? If the county commissioners and the county surveyor have authority to purchase pipe, must it be done upon advertisement or could it be done by direct application to the factory where such material may be obtained? Section 7199 provides how and the amount of work that shall be advertised. Does this govern the purchase of material by county commissioners and township trustees?"

It was held in opinion No. 1382 of this department, rendered to Hon. T. M. Potter, prosecuting attorney of Perry county, on March 15, 1916, that township trustees are authorized to purchase iron pipe or other materials suitable for culvert work and to use the same in their repair work on township roads carried forward through the township highway superintendent.

It was held in opinion No. 1403, rendered to the bureau of inspection and supervision of public offices, on March 21, 1916, that there is no statutory provision which requires township trustees, in purchasing culvert pipe, to let the contracts for the same at competitive bidding. It was pointed out in the opinion in question that while there is no legal requirement as to the letting of such contracts by competitive bidding, yet the interests of the public will be best served under ordinary circumstances by inviting bids and awarding such contracts to the lowest responsible bidder.

It was held in opinion No. 847, rendered to the bureau of inspection and supervision of public offices, on September 21, 1915, that the county highway superintendent is required, generally, to approve all expenditures made from county or township funds for the construction, improvement, maintenance and repair of township and county roads and bridges, whether done by contract or force account, with the exception of claims for dragging, which are to be allowed upon the approval of the township highway superintendent.

In conformity with the above opinions, I advise you, in answer to your specific question, that township trustees are authorized to purchase pipe for culverts and bridges on township roads, and that there is no requirement of law to the effect that such purchase must be authorized by the county surveyor. There is no statutory limit as to the amount which may be expended for such purpose, and no requirement that township trustees must invite bids before letting a contract for culvert pipe, although the practice of letting such contracts at competitive bidding is to be recommended. Before payment can be made for culvert pipe out of the township treasury, the expenditure must be approved by the county highway superintendent. In determining whether or not he will approve a bill of this character, the county highway superintendent is not, however, to look to the advisability of the purchase. It is his duty, before approving the bill, to ascertain that a contract has been made by the township trustees for the purchase of the culvert pipe and that the pipe has been delivered, and is of the quantity and quality ordered by the trustees. If the seller has complied with his contract, and delivered the pipe in accordance with the terms of his agreement with the township trustees, it is the duty of the county highway superintendent to approve the bill. It should be noted, however, that under the provisions of section 155 of the Cass highway law, section 7198, G. C., township trustees, instead of purchasing culvert pipe themselves, may, if they so desire, authorize the county highway superintendent to make the purchase. The observations herein made, as to the powers and duties of the township trustees in this respect, are applicable with equal force to the county commissioners.

You also submit the following inquiry:

> "I am further confronted with this situation on which I would like to have an opinion. Can a deputy county surveyor, or an employee, while in the employ of a county surveyor, make a contract for any municipality or private engineering services, while at the same time being an employee of the county? I have advised that such cannot be done with impunity. Would be pleased, therefore, to have your opinion on this matter as soon as possible, in order to stop this contracting if this is your judgment."

It is provided by section 138 of the Cass highway law, section 7181, G. C., that the county surveyor shall give his entire time and attention to the duties of his office, but there is no such statutory provision as to assistants appointed under authority of said section 7181, G. C., or as to assistants, deputies, draughtsmen, inspectors, clerks or employes appointed under authority of section 2788, G. C.

The courts have generally recognized the right of a public officer, in the absence of a statutory inhibition, to contract with other persons for the performance of services not within the scope of the officer's duties, and which his office does not require him to perform, so long as such services do not interfere with the performance of his official duties. It may be questioned whether even a deputy county surveyor is to be regarded as a public officer, and it is extremely doubtful whether assistants, draftsmen, inspectors, clerks and other employes are to be so regarded. As to assistants, draftsmen, inspectors or clerks, it seems reasonably clear that they are to be regarded as employes rather than public officers. I am of the opinion, however, that the answer to your inquiry must be the same whether the particular persons involved are deputies or whether they are mere employes. It would have been within the power of the legislature to provide that all deputies and assistants of the county surveyor should give their entire time and attention to the duties of their offices, but there is no such provision in the statute. I am fully aware that a situation under which the deputies and assistants may accept private employment, is subject to grave abuse, and would prefer to reach the conclusion that outside employment may not be accepted under any circumstances, if I were able so to do. Even assuming that all of the deputies and employes of the county surveyor's office are to be regarded as employes, rather than public officers, it is clear, from a consideration of the authorities, that within certain narrow limits they may accept outside employment and receive compensation for the same.

The following is quoted from 26 Cyc., 1020:

> "It has been said, independent of any particuler provision in the contract therefor, that the master is entitled to the servant's exclusive services during the period of employment. This statement, it is submitted, is too broad. For instance, if the work does not require the whole time of the employe, there is no breach of contract, where the employe devotes the balance of his time to a business not injurious to the interest of his employer, and not impairing the value of his services to the employer. Even where there is an agreement to devote one's whole time to the services, such agreement must be reasonably construed. While an employe must be loyal and faithful to the interest of his employer and cannot serve or acquire any private interest of his own in opposition thereto, yet a contract to devote his whole time to the business of his employer does not prevent him from performing work for himself or others, of a different kind, and not conflicting with the work for his employer, outside of business hours."

It is my opinion, in answer to your specific question, that a deputy county surveyor or an employe in the county surveyor's office may lawfully perform services for a municipality or for a private individual and be compensated therefor, provided all the work for such municipality or private individual is performed outside of business hours, and with the further qualification that the amount of time devoted to such outside work must not be so large as to interfere in any way with the performance of public duties or impair in any measure the efficiency of the deputy or employe. Each particular case must be determined with reference to the surrounding facts, and it must be clear from the above discussion that deputies and assistants in the county surveyor's office will be unable to bring themselves within the rule above announced if they undertake any substantial amount of work for municipalities or private individuals. It should also be observed, that it is within the power of the county surveyor to prevent abuses along this line, and it is the duty of that official to see that his deputies and assistants do not perform work for third persons during business hours or devote to such work an amount of time such as to interfere with the performance of public duties or impair the efficiency of the service due the county.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1540.

STATE HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT—APPROVAL, BOND OF CLIFFORD W. OZIAS, DIVISION ENGINEER.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 4, 1916.

HON. CLINTON COWEN, State Highway Commissioner, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I acknowledge the receipt of your communication of May 3, 1916, transmitting to me for approval the bond of Clifford W .Ozias, recently appointed division engineer in your department.

I find this bond to be properly drawn, and am, therefore, returning the same with my approval as to f orm endorsed thereon. Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1541.

JOINT HIGH SCHOOL—RURAL SCHOOL DISTRICT CONTRIBUTES AN AVERAGE OF SEVENTY DOLLARS PER MONTH TOWARD SALARIES OF TEACHERS—VILLAGE SCHOOL DISTRICT AN AVERAGE OF TEN DOLLARS PER MONTH—RURAL DISTRICT FOR SUCH REASON NOT DEBARRED FROM STATE AID—POWERS AND DUTIES OF JOINT HIGH SCHOOL COMMITTEE—SEE SECTION 7670, G. C.

Where a rural school district is united with an adjoining village school district for high school purposes, under provision of section 7669 (104 O. L., 229) et seq., G. C., and contributes an average of $70.00 per month toward the salaries of the teachers in the joint high school established and maintained under said statutes, the village school district contributing an average of $10.00 a month toward said salaries, said rural school district is not, on this account, debarred from receiving state aid, providing its board of education has, in all other respects, complied with the requirements of section 7595 (106 O. L., 430) et seq. of the General Code governing the administration of the state aid fund.

With the exception of the power reserved by provision of section 7672, G. C., to the board of education of each of the school districts comprising the union for high school purposes, to levy a tax and set aside the proceeds of such levy as a separate fund for the maintenance of said high school, the joint high school committee when properly elected under authority and in compliance with the requirement of section 7670, G. C., exercises the same powers and performs the same duties in connection with said high school as are exercised and performed by the board of education of a school district which maintains its own high school.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 5, 1916.

HON. WILLIAM C. HUDSON, Prosecuting Attorney, McArthur, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—In your letter of April 24th you request my opinion as follows:

"Wilkesville township school district and Wilkesville village school district maintain a joint high school under the provisions of section 7669,

G. C., which has been in operation since 1914. A joint high school committee was chosen by the boards of education of the respective districts according to section 7670, G. C., to manage the high school. The respective boards of education in 1915 duly certified to the county auditor an estimate of the amount necessary for the maintenance of the said high school according to section 7672, and county auditor made distribution accordingly.

"The high school committee of said joint districts employed three high school teachers at a salary in total of $240 per month. This amount was divided between the two districts forming the joint high school district according to that provision in section 7671, G. C., providing that 'funds * * * shall be provided * * * in proportion to the total valuation of property in the respective districts.' By this division the township paid for its share of the teachers' salaries $210 per month, and the village district paid $30 per month, making the $240 per month. $1,680 of the township school district funds being set aside as above stated for high school purposes, and the tax duplicate being comparatively low, the Wilkesville township school district has not sufficient funds in the tuition fund with which to pay its elementary teachers and has asked for state aid.

"Under the above conditions we ask opinion on the following questions:

"1. Is Wilkesville township school district entitled to state aid for the purpose of paying its elementary teachers under the provisions of section 7595-1?

"2. What power or control do the boards of education of the districts composing the joint high school district have over the acts or actions of the joint high school committee under section 7670 and 7671, G. C.?"

Section 7669, G. C. (104 O. L., 229), provides in part as follows:

"The boards of education of two or more adjoining rural school districts, or of a rural and village school district, by a majority vote of the full membership of each board, may unite such districts for high school purposes."

From your statement of facts it appears that in 1914 the boards of education of Wilkesville township rural school district and Wilkesville village school district, acting under authority of and in compliance with the requirement of the above provision of the statute, united said districts for high school purposes, and that the high school established by said boards of education is under the management of a joint high school committee consisting of two members of each of said boards of education, elected by said boards under authority of section 7670, G. C., which provides:

"Any high school so established shall be under the management of a high school committee, consisting of two members of each of the boards creating such joint district, elected by a majority vote of such boards. Their membership of such committee shall be for the same term as their terms on the boards which they respectively represent. Such high school shall be free to all youth of school age within each district, subject to the rules and regulations adopted by the high school committee in regard to the qualifications in scholarship requisite for admission, such rules and regulations to be of uniform operation throughout each district."

Section 7671, G. C., provides:

"The funds for the maintenance and support of such high school shall be provided by appropriations from the tuition or contingent funds, or both, of each district, in proportion to the total valuation of property in the respective districts, which must be placed in a separate fund in the treasury of the board of education of the district in which the school house is located, and paid out by action of the high school committee for the maintenance of the school."

You will observe, however, that the above provision of section 7671, G. C., that the funds for the maintenance and support of the high school shall be provided by appropriations from the tuition or contingent funds, or both, of each district in the manner prescribed by said statute, is modified by the provisions of section 7672, G. C. (104 O. L., 230), which are as follows:

"Boards of education exercising control for the purpose of taxation over territory within a rural or joint rural high school district, shall determine by estimate the amount necessary for the maintenance of any rural or joint rural high school to which such territory belongs, and shall certify such amount to the county auditor in the annual budget as provided in section 5649-3a. All funds derived from levies so made shall be kept separate, and be paid out for the maintenance of the school for which they were made."

Under the above provision of section 7672, G. C., each of the boards of education referred to in your inquiry is required to estimate the amount of money necessary to pay its proportionate part of the cost of maintaining such high school, and certify said amount in its annual budget, thus making separate levies for said purpose, subject to the action of the county budget commission under section 5649-3c, G. C., and the fund derived from said levies must be kept separate, the same as the fund formerly appropriated from the contingent and tuition funds of the district, and set apart as a separate fund under provision of section 7671, G. C.

You will further observe, however, that each board of education makes its own levy and maintains its own separate fund; that the two school districts in question are separate and distinct taxing districts, and that while the joint high school committee has the management of the high school under authority of section 7670, G. C., and administers the funds derived from the levies made by said boards of education for the maintenance and support of the high school, and kept separate and apart for said purpose in the respective treasuries of said school districts, under authority of the provisions of section 7671, taken in connection with the provisions of section 7672, G. C., said committee has no tax levying authority, and has nothing whatever to do with the elementary schools of said districts.

It seems clear to my mind that in determining the answer to your first question it is only necessary to ascertain whether the board of education of the Wilkesville township rural school district, in maintaining its elementary schools and employing teachers for said schools, and in contributing its proportionate part of the salaries of the teachers in the joint high school, has complied with all the requirements of the statutes governing state aid.

Section 7595, G. C. (106 O. L., 430), provides:

"No person shall be employed to teach in any public school in Ohio for less than forty dollars a month. When a school district has not sufficient money to pay its teachers such salaries as are provided in section 7595-1 of the General Code, for eight months of the year, after the board of education of such district has made the maximum legal school levy, at least two-thirds of which shall be for the tuition fund, then such school district may receive from the state treasurer sufficient money to make up the deficit."

Section 7595-1, G. C. (106 O. L., 430), provides:

"Only such school districts which pay salaries as follows shall be eligible to receive state aid: Elementary teachers without previous teaching experience in the state, forty dollars a month; elementary teachers having at least one year's professional training, forty-five dollars a month; elementary teachers who have completed the full two years' course in any normal school, teachers' college or university, approved by the superintendent of public instruction, fifty-five dollars per month; high school teachers not to exceed an average of seventy dollars per month in each high school."

Section 7597, G. C. (104 O. L., 165), provides:

"No district shall be entitled to state aid as provided in sections 7595, 7595-1 and 7596 unless the number of persons of school age in such district is at least twenty times the number of teachers employed therein, and the schools in such district are maintained at least eight months of the year."

Assuming that the board of education of said rural school district made the maximum legal levy for school purposes, at least two-thirds of which was for the tuition fund, including the levy for the joint high school tuition fund, as required by provision of section 7595, G. C.; that the number of persons of school age is such district is at least twenty times the number of teachers employed therein, and the the schools in said district are maintained at least eight months of the year as required by provision of section 7597, G. C., and that in so far as the elementary teachers of the district are concerned said board of education is complying with the requirements of section 7595-1, G. C., it only remains to be determined whether said school district in contributing its proportionate part of the salaries of the teachers in the joint high school has complied with the provision of the latter part of said section 7595-1, G. C., i. e., has paid to said high school teachers "not to exceed an average of seventy dollars per month."

From your statement of facts it appears that the amount contributed by the board of education of the Wilkesville township rural school district towards the salaries of the three teachers employed in said joint high school is $210.00 per month. It is evident that the average amount contributed by said board of education toward the salaries of said teachers does not exceed seventy dollars per month.

As I view it, it was clearly the intention of the legislature in enacting the above provisions of section 7669 et seq. of the General Code to afford to two or more school districts a legal procedure for the establishment and maintenance of a joint high school, and in this way give to the pupils residing in said district, and eligible to attend high school, the advantages of a first grade school of this class which could not be established and maintained by each of said districts acting separately.

In view of the liberal policy of the state in furnishing assistance to weak school districts which comply with the statutes governing state aid, as above set forth, I do not think a fair interpretation of said statutes would warrant me in holding that the Wilkesville township school district is debarred from receiving state aid solely on account of the fact that the salaries of the high school teachers in question, as paid from the aggregate of the tuition funds set apart for said purpose by the boards of education of said Wilkesville township rural school district and the Wilkesville village school district, exceeds an average of seventy dollars per month.

I am of the opinion, therefore, in answer to your first question, that said rural school district is not, on this account, debarred from receiving state aid, providing the board of education of said rural school district has in all other respects complied with the requirements of section 7695 et seq. of the General Code.

Your second question has been partially answered in determining the answer to your first question. In addition to what has already been said, it will be observed that under provision of section 7670, G. C., the joint high school committee is authorized to prescribe all rules and regulations governing the joint high school, such rules and regulations to be of uniform operation throughout each district, and under provision of the latter part of section 7671 taken in connection with the provision of the latter part of section 7672, G. C., said committee is charged with the proper expenditure of the funds established and maintained for joint high school purposes by the boards of education of the districts maintaining such high school.

I am of the opinion, therefore, in answer to your second question, that with the exception of the power reserved by provision of section 7672, G. C., to the board of education of each of the school districts comprising the union for high school purposes, to levy a tax and set aside the proceeds of such levy as a separate fund for the maintenance of said high school, the joint high school committee when properly elected under authority and in compliance with the requirement of section 7670, G. C., exercises the same powers and performs the same duties in connection with said high school as are exercised and performed by the board of education of a school district which maintains its own high school.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1542.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, CITY OF PORTSMOUTH, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 5, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of the city of Portsmouth, in the sum of $40,000.00 for the construction of levee and embankment, consisting of eighty bonds of $500.00 each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the council and other officers of the city of Portsmouth, relative to the above bond issue, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds, drawn in accordance with the form submitted, and executed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of the city of Portsmouth, Ohio.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1543.

BOARD OF STATE CHARITIES—WHEN ILLEGITIMATE CHILD IS "DEPENDENT CHILD" UNDER SECTION 1645, G. C.—JUVENILE COURT OF COUNTY IN WHICH CHILD IS FOUND HAS JURISDICTION IN SUCH CASE.

An illegitimate child which is homeless and destitute and cared for by strangers in the county in which it was born, the name or residence of the father being undisclosed, while the mother is confined in a state institution, is a "dependent child" under the provisions of section 1645, G. C., as amended, 106 O. L., 459; and as such, is subject to the jurisdiction of the juvenile court of the county in which it is found, and on complaint, may be committed by such court.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 5, 1916.

Board of State Charities, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—Your request for an opinion is as follows:

"Mary Doe, now nineteen years of age, was about ten years ago committed from A_____county to the Girls' Industrial School. She has been paroled several times, one of which was in November, 1914, at which time she was paroled to a family in B_____county. A few months afterwards she was returned to the Girls' Industrial School for immoral conduct. In June, 1915, she was sent to a maternity hospital in C_____ county, where a child was born in August. Since leaving the hospital she has been residing in the same county. Finding that she has been unable to secure employment and at the same time care for her child, she has applied to the juvenile court of C_____county for the purpose of having some disposition made of her child.

"The authorities of the Girls' Industrial School insist that they are not legally bound to care for the baby. Mary Doe is still a ward of that institution and could be returned at any time, but the custom of that institution prevents her bringing the child with her.

"The question has arisen as to whether the juvenile court in C_____ county has jurisdiction to determine the disposition of the baby. Inasmuch as some of the authorities having the case under observation contend that the infant should become a ward of the board of state charities, but as there seems to be no provision for the child's becoming a legal ward of the state board without commitment by some juvenile court, we ask your advice as to which county has the right to take action to that end.

"1. A_____county, from whence Mary Doe was committed and is still responsible to the juvenile court thereof.

"2. B_____county, in which the reputed father is supposed to reside.

"3. C_____county, in which the infant was born and where the mother and infant now reside.

"4. D_____county, wherein the Girls' Industrial School is located."

As you state you have been unable in your investigation to procure any definite information as to the whereabouts of the father of the child, and that its mother has been returned to the Girls' Industrial School, the question of disposition of the child which is being cared for in a hospital of another county must be determined independent of the residence of either parent.

The child being cared for by strangers, while the mother is confined in a state institution, can only come within one classification, namely, that of a "dependent" as described in section 1645 of the General Code, as amended, 106 O. L. 459. The section, in defining a dependent child, among other things, provides that for the purposes of the chapter, which is a part of the juvenile court law,

> " 'Dependent child' shall mean any child under eighteen years of age who is dependent on the public for support or who is destitute, homeless or abandoned, or who has not proper parental care or guardianship * * * or whose environment is such as to warrant the state in the interest of the child in assuming its guardianship."

The child in question, in the first place, is "homeless," "destitute," and without "proper parental care or guardianship," and in fact is entirely among strangers and dependent upon them for support, hence there can be no question but that it is a "dependent child," and as such, is subject to the jurisdiction of the juvenile court, under the provisions of section 1642 of the General Code, as amended, page 868, 103 O. L., and which in part is as follows:

> "Such courts * * * shall have jurisdiction over and with respect to delinquent, neglected and dependent minors under the age of eighteen years."

Under the provisions of section 1647 of the General Code, as amended (103 O. L., 870), the plan of procedure for bringing a dependent child before the juvenile court is in language as follows:

> "Any person having knowledge of a minor under the age of eighteen years who appears to be either a delinquent, neglected or dependent child, may file with such juvenile court a complaint sworn to, which may be upon information and belief, and for that purpose such complaint shall be sufficiently definite by using the word delinquent or dependent, as the facts may be."

Section 1653 of the General Code, as amended (103 O. L. 872), is specific in its terms as to the power of the court to dispose of any minor under the age of eighteen years or a ward of the court. Under its provisions the court may, among other things, "commit such child to the board of state charities or to some suitable state or county institution."

Nowhere in the juvenile court law is there to be found any provision which limits the court in the exercise of its power to extend the benefits of the law to a delinquent, neglected or dependent child. On the contrary, the juvenile court law is to be liberally construed to the end that proper guardianship may be provided for the child.

"Dependency" is a status, and when found to exist, is sufficient in itself to vest jurisdiction in the court wherever such dependency may occur. The residence of the parent does not operate to deprive a juvenile court of jurisdiction over a child because such residence may perchance be in a county different from the one in which the act causing delinquency, or dependency may have occurred. The parent would be subject to prosecution in the county in which the act was committed and no other.

In the case under consideration, it appearing that the child in question is being cared for in C----------county, where it was born, while the mother is confined in a state institution and therefore unable to support or care for the child, and there being no known person who can be charged with its support, it is my opinion that it is the duty of the juvenile court of the county in which the child is found to take jurisdiction if a complaint is filed under the provisions of section 1647 of the General Code, supra.

If the father of the child can be located, vigorous steps should be taken to prosecute him for failing to support the child.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1544.

ROADS AND HIGHWAYS—COUNTY COMMISSIONER'S DUTY TO ACQUIRE RIGHT-OF-WAY FOR TEMPORARY HIGHWAY—STATE HIGHWAY COMMISSIONER MUST PROCURE RIGHT-OF-WAY FOR PERMANENT IMPROVEMENT WHEN HE IS PROCEEDING WITHOUT CO-OPERATION OF LOCAL AUTHORITIES—FORMS OF DEED AND STATEMENT TO PROBATE JUDGE IN SUCH CASES.

The duty of acquiring right-of-way for a temporary highway, and constructing such temporary highway, rests with county commissioners, even where the state highway commissioner is improving an inter-county highway or main market road without the co-operation of the local authorities. Where the state highway commissioner is proceeding without the co-operation of the local authorities, and right-of-way is needed for the actual improvement, the state highway commissioner must procure the same. This opinion prescribes form of deed and also form of statement to the probate judge in such cases.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 5, 1916.

HON. CLINTON COWEN, State Highway Commissioner, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I acknowledge the receipt of your inquiry of April 24, 1916, which inquiry reads as follows:

> "I beg to advise you that this department has entered into a contract with P. H. Dieffenbacker & Sons, of Canton, Ohio, for the improvement of section 'F' of inter-county highway No. 75 in Carroll County.
>
> "The county in this instance was unable to provide funds for co-operating with the state in the construction of this section, and the entire cost was assumed by the state, to be paid from the inter-county highway funds to the credit of Carroll County.
>
> "A slightly changed alignment of the road makes it necessary to procure additional right-of-way, and in your opinion of March 8th you advised this department that such right-of-way must be procured and paid for by the state highway department.
>
> "I am attaching hereto right-of-way maps, showing on a small scale the location of the old and new alignments through the properties of
>
> Joseph Blazer's heirs,
> S. H. McCausland,
> Arvilla Davis,
> A. H. Howey,
> John T. Cogsil,
> Harry W. Maple.
>
> The dotted lines on the enclosed maps indicate the old alignment and the straight lines the new.

"I am also attaching hereto a statement by Division Engineer T. T. Richards, in which he states the amount of compensation he believes reasonably due the property owners. He also indicates which of the property owners will accept the amount offered.

"I am also attaching hereto copies of statements made by Mr. V. G. Stoody, auditor of Carroll County, showing the amount of compensation and damage deemed reasonable by the board of county commissioners.

"The addresses of the parties interested are given in Division Engineer Richard's letter.

"Permit me to request your office to take such action as is proper in securing the required right-of-way, or if further action is necessary on the part of this department, please instruct us as to the necessary procedure."

The statement of Division Engineer T. T. Richards, attached to your communication, reads as follows:

"Complying with your request of March 22, 1916, relative to the procuring of additional right-of-way for the improvement of section 'F' on the I. C. H. No. 75, Carroll County, I submit the following:

"On March 28th I went over the entire line, accompanied by Mr. R. H. Lee, county highway superintendent, and we looked over and considered carefully the new location as regard to damage to adjoining properties. We interviewed those of the owners who reside along the road.

"On the lands of Arvilla Davis, in the southeast quarter of section 24, town 13, range 5, we will be required to purchase .186 acres, also a right-of-way for a detour during construction, for which Arvilla Davis asks $50.00, which I consider reasonable, and suggest she be paid that much.

"On the property of J. A. Blazer heirs (J. C. Blazer, administrator), in southeast quarter of section 24, 1.56 acres; in northeast quarter of section 23, .02 acres, and in northeast quarter of section 17 a very small tract, probably .01 of an acre, making in all about 1.8 acres actually used as a right-of-way, but in northeast quarter of section 24 the new location cuts off 2.27 acres which is greatly damaged, and his agreement to accept $350.00, including an easement for detour during construction, is, in my opinion, reasonable.

"On the lands of S. H. McCausland, in the northwest quarter of section 17, we need about .2 of an acre in order to take out an angle, which does not in any way damage the remaining land, and an offer of $25.00 was made him which was refused, his claim being $100.00.

"On land of R. H. Howey (Thos. R. Lee, agent), in northwest quarter of section 17, requires about 2.5 acres of land, which does not interfere with buildings or water. As this property is on both sides of the old road, the old road when abandoned will revert back, an offer of $150.00 was made the agent, but I suggest that this offer be increased to $200.00. He asks $800.00.

"On Harry Maple's land, in the southeast quarter of section 17, requires a little less than 2 acres. An offer of $200.00 was made him, which, in my opinion, is fair and reasonable, and which he refused to accept.

"The addresses of the parties interested are:

Arvilla Davis, Carrollton, Ohio.
J. C. Blazer, Carrollton, Ohio,
Thos. R. Lee, Agent, Harlem Springs, Ohio,
S. H. McCausland, Carrollton, Ohio, R. F. D. No. 2, Henry Maple, Carrollton, Ohio.

"Right-of-way maps are attached, showing as well as possible on a small scale the location of new and old alignment."

In answering your inquiry it will be necessary, in the first instance, to distinguish between right-of-way needed for the actual construction of the new improvement and right-of-way needed for a detour during construction. As indicated in your communication I have heretofore advised you that under the provisions of section 1202, G. C., it is the duty of the state highway commissioner to procure and pay for additional right-of-way needed in the construction of an inter-county highway or main market road, where the work is being done without the co-operation of the county commissioners or township trustees. The section in question and the opinion construing the same are applicable, however, only to right-of-way needed for construction work and have no application where it is desired to procure right-of-way for a detour during construction. The acquisition and construction of temporary highways to be used by the traveling public in lieu of closed highways is governed by the provisions of section 1225, G. C., 106 O. L., 642, which section reads as follows:

> "The state highway commissioner shall, if he deems it advisable, close a highway or a section thereof which is being constructed, improved or repaired under this act, in order to permit a proper completion of such work. The state highway commissioner or chief highway engineer shall first execute a certificate and file the same in the office of the county commissioners of the county in which such highway is situated, which certificate shall describe the portion thereof to be closed, and not more than one mile of a highway shall be closed at a time. The contractor or other person acting under authority of said highway commissioner or engineer, shall thereupon close the same to the public by erecting suitable obstructions, and posting conspicuous notices to the effect that the highway is closed. The county commissioners shall, if practicable, construct a temporary highway to be used by the traveling public in lieu of the closed highway, and may erect temporary bridges. When necessary for the purpose of locating, constructing and erecting such highways or bridges, the county commissioners may enter upon the land required for such temporary highway. If they are unable to agree with the owners of such land as to the amount of damages sustained, the amount shall be ascertained, determined and paid as hereinafter provided in cases where lands are entered upon for the purpose of making surveys for a proposed improvement. When a road is so closed the state highway commissioner or chief highway engineer shall cause to be erected suitable signs or barricades warning the public that the highway or a part thereof is closed to traffic, and the temporary routes to be used shall be conspicuously marked by proper signs at all proper road crossings and forks. The state highway commissioner shall have full power and authority to open to traffic at any time any portion of the highway closed as heretofore provided."

It will be noted that this section casts upon the county commissioners the duty of constructing, if practicable, a temporary highway to be used by the traveling public in lieu of the closed highway and I am of the opinion that this provision is exclusive and that the duty of acquiring right-of-way for a temporary highway and constructing such temporary highway, if performed at all, must be performed by the county commissioners even in those cases in which the state highway commissioner is proceeding to improve an inter-county highway or main market road without the co-operation of the local authorities. Your department will not, therefore, be concerned with the matter of acquiring a right-of-way for a temporary highway and this duty is to be performed by the county commissioners in the manner pointed out in section 1225, G. C.

Coming now to consider the acquisition of right-of-way for the new improvement rendered necessary by the fact that the line of the proposed improvement deviates from the existing highway, the pertinent sections of the General Code are sections 1201 and 1202, being sections 194 and 195 of the Cass highway law.

Section 1201, G. C., reads as follows:

"If the line of the proposed improvement deviates from the existing highway, or if it is proposed to change the channel of any stream in the vicinity of such improvement. the county commissioners or township trustees making application for such improvement must provide the requisite right of way. If the board of county commissioners or township trustees are unable to agree with the owner or owners of such land or property as may be necessary for such change or alteration, or if additional right-of-way is required for the same, and the county commissioners or township trustees are unable to agree with the owner or owners of the land or property in question then the board of county commissioners or township trustees, as the case may be, may by resolution declare it necessary to condemn and appropriate for public use such land or property, and shall proceed to fix what they deem to be the value of such land or property sought to be condemned or appropriated, and deposit the value thereof with the probate court of the county for the use and benefit of such owner or owners, and thereupon the board of county commissioners or township trustees, shall be authorized to take immediate possession of and enter upon said lands for the purpose aforesaid. The probate judge shall forthwith notify such owner or owners of the amount of money deposited with him on account of the land or property sought to be condemned or appropriated and upon application of such owner or owners he shall turn over to them the amount of moneys so deposited with him on account of the land or property sought to be taken. The probate judge may cause notice of such action to be served upon such owner or owners by the sheriff or any other person that he may direct. Proof of service shall be made by affidavit of the person making such service. In case the owner or owners are non-residents the probate judge shall give notice of the deposit of such money by publication for one week in some newspaper of general circulation in said county. A copy of such newspaper shall be forthwith mailed to such non-resident owner or owners, if their address is known to the probate court. If the address of such non-resident owner or owners is known the date of mailing shall be considered the date of service, and if the address of such non-resident owner or owners is unknown, the date of publication shall be considered the date of service for the purpose of fixing the time for appeal. If the owner or owners of such land or property are not satisfied with the amount fixed by such county commissioners or township trustees, they shall, within ten days after the service of such notice of the allowance aforesaid, appeal to the probate court of the county in which such land or property, or some part thereof is located, and the probate court upon the filing of such appeal shall fix the appeal bond which shall be furnished within five days after the same is fixed by the court, and thereupon a jury trial shall be had in the manner provided for appeals in road cases."

Section 1202, G. C., reads as follows:

"If the state highway commissioner proposes to improve and intercounty or main market road without the co-operation of the county commissioners or township trustees, and it is necessary as a part of the proposed improvement of the said highway, bridge or culvert, to acquire or appropriate lands or property, and the state highway commissioner is unable to agree with the owner or owners of such land or property as to the value thereof, the said highway commissioner may proceed to condemn such land or property in the manner hereinbefore fixed for county commissioners and township trustees. The state highway commissioner may condemn materials for road purposes in like manner."

Your first duty in the premises will be to make an effort to agree with the owner or owners of the land in question as to the compensation to be paid therefor. At this point it is proper to observe that if the owner of land, or if one or more of several joint or common owners of a tract of land, are not of legal age or are under other disability, then of course a situation exists where you are unable to agree with such owners for the reason that such owners are not capable of contracting unless indeed such owners be represented by properly appointed and qualified guardians. If, however, the owner or owners of any given tract of land are of full age and otherwise competent to contract and you are able to agree with such owners as to the compensation to be paid for the right-of-way which you desire to obtain and which is necessary for the proposed improvement, then upon being satisfied that such owners have a fee simple title to the land in question and that the same is unincumbered, you may, upon receipt of a properly executed deed, pay to such owner or owners the compensation agreed upon. The deed should be placed on record in the office of the county auditor of the county in which the land is situated. The statute refers to "right-of-way" and it therefore seems clear that you are authorized to acquire an easement for the purposes of a public highway rather than to acquire the fee. In order that the necessary deeds may be prepared in your office. I suggest the following form:

"DEED.

"KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS: That

"WHEREAS, it is proposed by the State of Ohio, acting by and through Clinton Cowen, State Highway Commissioner of said state, to improve {inter-county highway / main market road} No._____in_____ Township, _____County, State of Ohio, and

"WHEREAS, said proposed improvement is to be constructed without the co-operation of the county commissioners of said county or the township trustees of said township, and

"WHEREAS, the line of said proposed improvement deviates from the existing highway,

NOW, THEREFORE, _____, the grantor, in consideration of_____Dollars ($_____), to him paid by the State of Ohio, acting by and through Clinton Cowen, State Highway Commissioner of said state, the grantee, the receipt of which is hereby acknowledged, does hereby grant and release unto said the State of Ohio, grantee, its successors and assigns forever, a right-of-way for said proposed highway improvement on and over a certain piece of land owned by_____, said grantor, the right-of-way herein granted, being situated in the township of_____, county of_____, State of Ohio, and being described as follows:

"_____

"(Here insert description of right-of-way.)

"_____

"_____

The State of Ohio, grantee, to have and to hold said right-of-way unto itself, and successors and assigns forever, and to have the right to construct and forever maintain thereon a public highway.

"And the said grantor, for himself and his heirs, executors and administrators, hereby covenants with the said grantee, its successors and assigns, that said grantor is the true and lawful owner of said premises, and is well seized of the same in fee simple, and has good right and full power to bargain, sell and convey the same in manner aforesaid, and that the same are clear and free from all incumbrances, and further, that said grantor will warrant and defend the same against all claims of all persons whatsoever.

"IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the said_____, grantor, has hereunto set his hand this_____day of_____, A. D., 191____.

"_____

"Signed and acknowledged in presence of

"_____

"_____"

If the grantor is married, the husband or wife, as the case may be, should release his or her right of dower in the premises and the last paragraph of the deed should be drawn in the following form:

"IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the said_____, grantor, and_____{wife / husband} of said grantor, who hereby releases all {her / his} right of dower in said premises, have hereunto set their hands this_____day of_____, A. D., 191____.

"_____

"Signed and acknowledged in presence of: "_____

"_____

"_____"

The deed should, of course, be acknowledged, and the acknowledgment may be in the following form:

"STATE OF OHIO, }
} ss:
_____County, }

"Before me, a_____, in and for said county, personally appeared the above named_____, who acknowledged that he (she or they) did sign the foregoing instrument and that the same is his (her or their) free act and deed, for the uses and purposes therein named.

"IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto subscribed my name and affixed my_____seal, at_____, this _____day of_____A. D., 191____.

"_____

"_____"

Coming now to consider the proper procedure where you are unable to agree with the owner or owners as to the compensation to be paid, it is provided in section 1201, G. C., that county commissioners or township trustees, when unable to agree with the owners, shall by resolution, declare it necessary to condemn and appropriate the land in question and shall proceed to fix what they deem to be the value of such land. There is no statute requiring the state highway commissioner to keep a journal of his proceedings or to act by a formal resolution, and I am of the opinion that a mere declaration on your part, that you are unable to agree with the owner or owners of the land in question and that it is necessary to condemn and appropriate the same for public use, is sufficient, and that such declaration may be properly made a part of the statement necessarily filed by you with the probate judge of the county in which the land is situated.

This statement may properly be in the following form:

"TO THE PROBATE JUDGE OF_____COUNTY, OHIO:

"WHEREAS, the State of Ohio, acting by and through the undersigned, is proposing to improve { main market road / inter-county highway } No... _____, in_____Township, _____County, Ohio, and

"WHEREAS, the undersigned proposes to improve said { main market road / inter-county highway } without the co-operation of the county commissioners of said county and without the co-operation of the township trustees of said township, and

"WHEREAS, it is necessary, as a part of the proposed improvement of said highway to acquire certain lands hereinafter described, and

"WHEREAS, the undersigned is unable to agree with the owner of such land as to the value thereof,

"NOW, THEREFORE, I, Clinton Cowen, State Highway Commissioner of the State of Ohio, hereby declare it necessary to condemn and appropriate for public use and for the uses and purposes of a right-of-way for said proposed highway improvement the following described land belonging to_____, and located in said township of _____, county of_____, State of Ohio, and described as follows:

"_____

"(Here describe the land desired for a right-of-way.)

"_____

"I deem the value of such land, which I seek to condemn and appropriate to be_____Dollars ($_____) and I herewith deliver to and deposit with you said sum of_____Dollars ($_____) in lawful money of the United States of America, which sum is for the use and benefit of said owner. I hereby request you to notify _____, said owner, of said amount of money so deposited with you on account of the land hereby sought to be condemned and appropriated and to take the action provided by sections 1201 and 1202, G. C., 106 O. L., 631 and 632, and all other and further action that may be proper in the premises.

"_____

State Highway Commissioner of the State of Ohio."

The above declaration and statement should be signed by you and filed with the probate judge of the county in question, and, as therein indicated, you should at the time of filing, deposit with the probate judge the value of the land in money as fixed by you. You may obtain the money by voucher or requisition on the auditor of state to issue his warrant on the treasurer of state, payable to you. This warrant should be cashed by you and the actual money delivered to the probate judge. As soon as this action has been taken by you, you will be authorized to take immedate possession of and enter upon the right-of-way in question for the purpose of constructing the proposed highway improvement. If the owner does not accept the compensation fixed by you and takes an appeal in the manner provided by section 1201, G. C., the question of compensation will be submitted to and determined by a jury in the probate court, in the manner provided by chapter II of the Cass highway law, relating to appeals in road cases, and you should be represented by counsel at the hearing. If this situation should develop, I will be very glad to send a representative of this department to the county in question for the purpose of representing you and protecting the interests of the state.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1545.

APPROVAL, ABSTRACT OF TITLE FOR REAL ESTATE SITUATED IN DECATUR TOWNSHIP, LAWRENCE COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 6, 1916.

HON. CHARLES E. THORNE, Director, Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, Wooster, O.

DEAR SIR:—I beg to acknowledge receipt of abstract of title for the following described real estate situated in Decatur Township, Lawrence County, Ohio, to wit:

"The whole of section number twenty-six (26), township number three (3), range number eighteen (18), excepting therefrom certain real estate conveyed by this grantor to James T. Patton by deed dated November 28, 1912, and recorded in Lawrence County record of deeds No. 94, at page 637, being twenty acres more or less; also excepting therefrom certain real estate conveyed by this grantor to James T. Patton by deed dated May 9, 1913, and recorded in Lawrence County record of deeds No. 97, at page 1, being twenty acres more or less; also excepting therefrom certain real estate conveyed by this grantor to Sophia Dinnen by deed dated May 12, 1913, and recorded in Lawrence County record of deeds No. 97, at page 18, being twenty acres more or less; also excepting therefrom certain real estate conveyed by this grantor to Edward C. Walters by deed dated May 9, 1913, and recorded in Lawrence County record of deeds No. 97, at page 19, being forty acres more or less; also excepting therefrom the real estate conveyed by the grantor herein to the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton Railway Company by deed dated August 11, 1902, and recorded in the Lawrence County record of deeds number 73, at page 468, containing seven and fifty one-hundredths (7.50) acres more or less; for a more particular description of said excepted parcels of real estate reference is here made to the records where said deeds are recorded as above set forth; the tract conveyed containing five hundred and thirty-two and fifty one-hundredths (532.50) acres more or less.

"Also the whole of section number thirty-five (35), township number three (3), range number eighteen (18), excepting therefrom certain real estate conveyed by this grantor to Nannie Emma Bass by deed dated November 21, 1914, and recorded in Lawrence County record of deeds number 98, at page 383, containing forty and five-tenths (40.5) acres more or less, also excepting therefrom the real estate conveyed by the grantor herein to the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton Railway Company by deed dated August 11, 1902, above mentioned, containing one-half acre more or less; for a more particular description of said real estate reference is here made of the record where said deeds are recorded as above set forth; the tract hereby conveyed containing five hundred and ninety-nine (599) acres more or less.

"Also the southeast quarter and the southeast quarter of the northeast quarter (lying south of a tract of land sold by this grantor to Charles L. Hutchinson by deed dated April 1, 1913, and recorded in Lawrence County record of deeds number 100, at page 152, to which reference is here made), of section number thirty-four, township number three, range number eighteen, excepting therefrom the real estate conveyed by the grantor herein to the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton Railway Company by deed dated August 11, 1902, above mentioned, containing six (6) acres more or less; the tract hereby conveyed containing two hundred (200) acres more or less.

"Also the southeast quarter of section number twenty-seven (27), township number three (3), range number eighteen (18), containing one hundred and sixty-eight and fifty one-hundredths (168.50) acres more or less, reference being made to J. R. C. Brown's survey of August 28, 1886, and recorded in vol. A, at page 100, of the surveyor's records of Lawrence County; said real estate hereby conveyed aggregating fifteen hundred (1500) acres more or less."

I have carefully examined said abstract and find no defects in the title to said real estate as disclosed thereby, which lapse of time has not cured. There are no liens or incumbrances against said real estate excepting the taxes for the last half of the year 1915 and the year 1916, the amount of which is not stated in the abstract.

Subject only to the payment of said taxes I am of the opinion that the abstract discloses a good and sufficient title in fee simple in The Vernon Iron Company, a corporation incorporated under the laws of the state of Ohio.

I an returning the abstract under separate cover.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney General.

1546.

BOARD OF EDUCATION—TRANSFER OF TERRITORY—REMONSTRANCE FILED—WHETHER OR NOT SAME WAS FILED WITHIN THIRTY DAY LIMITATION PROVIDED BY SECTION 4692, G. C., 106 O. L., 397.

A remonstrance filed on May 3, 1916, is within the thirty day limitation of section 4692, G. C., 106 O. L., 397, when the map therein referred to was filed on April 3, 1916.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 6, 1916.

HON. R. W. CAHILL, Prosecuting Attorney, Napoleon, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—In yours under date of May 4, 1916, you request my opinion upon the following question:

"The Henry county board of education filed on April 3, 1916, as required by law, a map of the proposed territory to be added to the Malinta village school district.

"On May 3, 1916, a remonstrance was filed against adding the proposed additional territory.

"Was this remonstrance filed in time? That is, within the 30 day limit, as required by the provisions of section 4692, General Code of Ohio?"

Section 4692, G. C., 106 O. L., 396, to which you refer, in so far as pertinent to your inquiry, provides as follows:

"The county board of education may transfer a part or all of a school district of the county school district to an adjoining district or districts of the county school district. Such transfer shall not take effect until a map is filed with the auditor of the county in which the transferred territory is situated, showing the boundaries of the territory transferred, and a notice of such proposed transfer has been posted in three conspicuous places in the district or districts proposed to be transferred or printed in a paper of general circulation in said county, for ten days; nor shall such transfer take effect if a majority of the qualified electors residing in the territory to be transferred, shall, within thirty days after the filing of such map, file with the county board of education a written remonstrance against such proposed transfer. * * *"

It will be noted that it is here provided that if a written remonstrance shall be filed within 30 days from the filing of the map required by this section, the proposed transfer shall not become effective and your question is whether or not the filing of the remonstrance on the third day of May, 1916, after the filing of the map on the third day of April, 1916, was within such thirty-day limitation.

Section 10217, G. C., provides as to the computation of time in part as follows:

"When an act is to take effect or become operative, from and after a day named, no part of that day shall be included. * * *"

If we calculate the time from April 3, 1916, the day of filing the map, to May 3, 1916, the day on which the remonstrance was filed, according to the above statutory rule, the first day of the computation would be April 4. Beginning, then, with April 4th, as the first day in the computation, we find that the 3rd day of May, 1916, was the 30th day after the 3rd day of April, on which the map in question was filed, and by reason of the above stated rule, and the necessary result of its application in the present case, I am of the opinion that the remonstrance filed on May 3, 1916, against the proposed transfer of territory, was within the statutory limitation.

Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,

Attorney-General.

1547.

BOARD OF EDUCATION—TEACHERS' PENSION FUND—NOT RETROACTIVE.

The term "teacher" as found in the chapter relating to teachers' pensions and as defined by section 7881, G. C., does not include a person who, prior to the time of the establishment of a teachers' pension fund by the board of education as a teacher in the schools of said district, but whose employment was terminated before any steps were taken by said board to establish said fund.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 6, 1916.

Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—I am in receipt of a letter from Hon. John C. Hover, secretary of the board of trustees of the teachers' pension fund for the city school district of Bellefontaine, Ohio, under date of April 25th, requesting my opinion on a certain question therein stated and inasmuch as the question is of general interest to the school districts of the state I deem it advisable to address my opinion on said question to you. Judge Hover's letter is as follows:

> "On the fourteenth day of January, 1916, Prof. S. L. Smith filed his application for teacher's pension, the application stating that he has served as a school teacher for thirty-four years and retired from the service in June, 1913.
>
> "The question that is bothering the board is this: In the spring of 1913, the teachers, or a majority of them, of the Bellefontaine school district, were desirous of creating a teachers' pension fund under section 7875 and following, and a petition to the board of education was prepared and filed. The applicant, S. L. Smith, was one of the petitioners. On the eighth day of August, 1913, the board of education passed the enabling resolution creating a teachers' pension fund within and for Bellefontaine district. Due notice was given of the action of the board as required by statute. On the third day of June, 1913, the board elected teachers. Mr. Smith was not an applicant at that time, by reason of failing health, not being able to teach the coming year.
>
> "It will be noticed that Mr. Smith was teaching and was willing and anxious to create a teachers' pension fund, and assisted in such action after the enactment of the teachers' pension law, but before the board of education had passed the resolution and before the law had been complied with, creating a board of trustees of the teachers' pension fund, Mr. Smith had retired from the service as above explained by reason of his ill health.
>
> "Briefly, the facts are these: First, Mr. Smith has complied with the law as to time and place of service; second, that he was teaching and in employment as a regular teacher after the law was enacted; third, that he did what he could with the other teachers to cause the fund to be created; fourth, before the fund was created, by reason of his failing health, he retired from the service.
>
> "The question is: Is Mr. Smith eligible for pension under our teachers' pension statute?
>
> "Your opinion on this question will be very much appreciated and will be of great value to the board of trustees. We are desirous of complying with the law. Not meaning to argue the case, but Mr. Smith has served the time required by law and more than the time, and was serving when the law was enacted, and by no fault of his the fund was not created while he was teaching."

In an opinion rendered to your bureau under date of June 28, 1915, in answer to a question submitted by Judge Hover, consideration was given to those statutes as found in the chapter relating to teachers' pensions, governing the establishment of the teachers' pension fund and determining in a general way the limitations placed on the board of trustees of that fund, chosen under provision of section 7875, G. C., in the administration of said fund. A copy of said opinion was sent to Judge Hover.

I do not deem it necessary, therefore, for the purpose of answering the question under consideration, to again comment on said provisions of said statutes further than to observe that with reference to the time of the establishment of the teachers' pension fund said statutes are prospective in operation. In other words, no provision of said statutes by its terms makes it possible for a person to become a beneficiary of the teachers' pension fund, who prior to the time of the establishment of such fund by the board of education of a school district, was employed by said board of education as a teacher in the schools of said district, but whose employment was terminated before any steps were taken by said board to establish said fund.

Section 7880, G. C., relates to the retirement of a teacher by action of the board of education of a school district which has established a teachers' pension fund and provides:

> "Such board of education of such school district, and a union, or other separate board, if any, having the control and management of the high schools of such district, may each by a majority vote of all the members composing the board, on account of physical or mental disability, retire any teacher under such board who has taught for a period aggregating twenty years. One-half of such period of service must have been rendered by such beneficiary in the public schools or high schools of such district, or in the public schools or high schools of the county in which they are located, and the remaining one-half in the public schools of this state or elsewhere."

Section 7882, G. C., relates to the voluntary retirement of a teacher in a school of such district and provides:

> "Any teacher may retire and become a beneficiary under this chapter who has taught for a period aggregating thirty years. But one-half of such term of service must have been rendered in the public schools or in the high schools of such school district, or in the public schools or high schools of the county in which the district is located, and the remaining one-half in the public schools of this state or elsewhere."

The meaning of the term "teacher" as found in the chapter relating to teachers' pensions is defined in section 7881, G. C., as follows:

> "The term 'teacher,' in this chapter shall include all teachers regularly employed by either of such boards in the day schools, including the superintendent of schools, all superintendents of instruction, principals, and special teachers, but in estimating years of service, only service in public day schools or day high schools, supported in whole or in part by public taxation, shall be considered."

In view of the foregoing provisions of the statutes taken in connection with the provisions of the statutes governing the establishment and maintenance of the teachers' pension fund, it seems clear to my mind that inasmuch as the employment of the applicant mentioned in your inquiry as a teacher in the schools of the Bellefontaine city school district was terminated before any steps were taken by the board of education of such district to establish a school teachers' pension fund, said applicant was not a "teacher" within the meaning of the above provision of section 7881, G. C.

I am compelled to conclude, in answer to the question submitted by Judge Hover, that the applicant referred to in said inquiry is not entitled to a pension under any provision of the statutes governing the administration of the teachers' pension fund, and that said application must therefore be rejected.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney General.

1548.

FORMS OF DOCUMENTS TO BE USED IN EXTRADITION FROM OTHER STATES OF PERSONS CHARGED WITH CRIME IN THIS STATE.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 6, 1916.

HONORABLE FRANK B. WILLIS, Governor of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

MY DEAR GOVERNOR:—You have asked me to prescribe a form of application to be used in the extradition from other states of persons charged with crime in this state.

The material provisions of the General Code relative to this matter are found in sections 109 to 111, both inclusive. Section 111, G. C., after specifying certain things which must be done, provides:

"and such further evidence in support thereof as the governor may require."

The following provisions and forms, therefore, embraces not only those things which are required by the sections above mentioned, but certain other steps which are believed to be proper requirements for the guidance of the governor in the performance of the duty thus placed upon him. Analyzed and placed in logical order, the application and other papers presented to the governor should be as follows:

First. An application signed by the prosecuting attorney of the county in which the crime was committed for which the following form is suggested:

"_____County, Ohio.

"OFFICE OF THE PROSECUTING ATTORNEY

"_____191___.

"TO HIS EXCELLENCY, THE GOVERNOR:

"SIR:—I have the honor to request that you issue a requisition upon the governor of the state of_____, for the apprehension and rendition of_____ who stands charged by *_____ with the crime of_____
_____
committed in this County, on the_____day of_____ 191__, and who, to avoid prosecution, fled from the jurisdiction of this state, and, as I am informed is now within the jurisdiction of the said state of _____.

"I HEREBY CERTIFY, That in my opinion the ends of public justice require that the alleged criminal be brought to this state for trial; that I have, as I verily believe, sufficient evidence to secure h__ conviction; that there has not been. so far as I am aware, any former application for a requisition for the same person, for the same offense which is the basis of this application_____

_____
_____

"I FURTHER CERTIFY, That this application is not made for the purpose of enforcing the collection of a debt, or for any other private purpose whatever, and that if the requisition applied for be granted, the criminal proceedings shall not be used for any of said objects.

"AND I FURTHER CERTIFY, That the offense with which the said alleged fugitive is charged is a felony / misdemeanor and is defined by section_____ of the General Code of Ohio.

"AND I FURTHER CERTIFY, That the reputation of the person asking the requisition is good.

"The delay in presenting this application was unavoidable, for the reason that_____
_____

"I present herewith a copy of said *_____, duly authenticated; affidavit as to the purpose for which the extradition of the fugitive is desired; and affidavit__ to the facts constituting the offense, by _____person_____having actual knowledge thereof.

"Said alleged fugitive is now, as I verily believe under either civil or criminal arrest in the city of_____in said State of_____.

"I designate_____as the proper person to be appointed agent of this state, and certify that he has no personal interest in the arrest and return of said fugitive other than proper compensation for his services.

"Very respectfully,

"_____

"Prosecuting Attorney.

"*Here insert 'indictment' or 'affidavit' as the case may be.

THE STATE OF OHIO, }
_____County, } ss:

"I, _____, having been duly sworn, depose and say that I am the prosecuting attorney of said county; that the person charged by_____ (a duly authenticated copy of which is attached hereto) with the crime of _____is a fugitive from justice; and that the foregoing application to the governor of Ohio for a requisition for h__ rendition is made in good faith, with the sole intent to prosecute h___ for said offense, and not to secure h___ return to said county to afford opportunity to serve h___ with civil process, nor for any other private purpose.

"_____

"Sworn to before me, and subscribed in my presence, the_____ day of_____, 191__.

"(SEAL)

"_____

"Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas

"_____County, Ohio.

"Second. Accompanying the foregoing application there should be:

"(a) When based upon an indictment by a grand jury:

"1. A copy of the indictment duly certified by the clerk of the common pleas court of the county.

"2. A copy of the capias issued thereon with the return of the proper officer endorsed thereon duly certified by the clerk of the common pleas court of the county.

"3. There should be if possible included with the application an affidavit of at least one person that the accused was present in the county at the time the crime was committed and that efforts had been made to locate him within the state of Ohio without avail.

"4. In all cases of forgery, embezzlement, fraud and false pretenses an affidavit of the complaining witness should accompany the application which should be sworn to before the clerk of the common pleas court and for which the following form is suggested:

"AFFIDAVIT BY COMPLAINING WITNESS

(To be made in all cases of forgery, embezzlement, fraud, and false pretenses.)

"THE STATE OF OHIO, }
} ss.
_____County, }

"_____being duly sworn, deposes that he is the complaining witness in the case of the state of Ohio against_____ the person named in the following application; that the said_____ _____is a fugitive from justice, and is now, as he believes, in the state of_____; that he desires h___ return for the sole purpose of punishing the accused, and that he does not desire or expect to use the prosecution for the purpose of collecting a debt or for any other private purpose, and will not directly, or indirectly, use the same for any of said purposes.
_____

"_____
"_____

"Sworn to before me, and subscribed in my presence this_____ day of_____, 191__.

"(SEAL.)

"_____
"Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas,
"_____County, Ohio."

The signature of the clerk of the common pleas court to the foregoing copies should be authenticated by the certificate of a judge of the common pleas court of the county, and the signature of the judge should be authenticated by the certificate of the clerk of the common pleas court. The following form is suggested for the certificates above mentioned:

"CERTIFICATE TO COPIES.

"THE STATE OF OHIO, }
} ss: "COMMON PLEAS COURT
_____County, }

"I,_____clerk of the common pleas court, within and for said county, having the custody of the files, journals and records of said court, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of

---

---

as the same appear___ upon the records of said court, and I further certify, that I have carefully compared the foregoing copy with the original record, and that the same is a full and correct transcript thereof.

"IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of said court, at_____, Ohio.

"This_____day of_____, A. D., 191__.

"_____

"(SEAL.) Clerk of said Court.

"THE STATE OF OHIO, }
_____County, } ss:

"I,_____, one of the judges of the court of common pleas of_____County, State of Ohio, do hereby certify that said_____was, at the date of the above certificate, and now is clerk of said court of common pleas, within and for said county of_____and State of Ohio, and that said clerk is the officer in whose custody said original record___ is / are required by the laws of the State of Ohio, to be kept, and is authorized by the laws of said state to certify as aforesaid, and that said attestation and certificate are in due form of law.

"Signed by me and dated at_____County, Ohio, this _____day of_____A. D., 191__.

"_____

"Judge as aforesaid.

"THE STATE OF OHIO, }
_____County, } ss:

"I,_____, clerk of the court of common pleas, within and for the county and state aforesaid, hereby vertify that _____is one of the judges of the court of common pleas of_____County, State of Ohio, duly commissioned and qualified, and now acting as such.

"WITNESS my hand and the seal of said court, at_____, this_____day of_____, A. D., 191__.

"_____

"(SEAL.) "Clerk."

The certificate of the clerk should be made by him personally and not by a deputy.

(b.) When based upon an affidavit or complaint filed with a magistrate:

1. A copy of the affidavit or complaint duly certified by the magistrate.

2. A copy of the warrant with the return of the officer endorsed thereon duly certified by the magistrate.

3. Affidavits from persons having knowledge of the facts substantiating the material allegations of the affidavit or complaint, which affidavits should be sworn to before the magistrate. Said affidavits should contain, if possible, allegations of the presence of the accused in the county at the time the crime was committed and his subsequent absence from the state as suggested above.

4. In all cases of forgery, embezzlement, fraud and false pretenses, an affidavit of the complaining witness should accompany the application which should be sworn to before the clerk of the common pleas court. The form for this affidavit has been hereinbefore suggested.

The signature of the magistrate to the foregoing copies and affidavits should be authenticated by the certificate of the clerk of the common pleas court. The certificate of the magistrate to the copies and the certificate of the clerk of the common pleas court should be in substantially the following form:

"THE STATE OF OHIO, } "IN THE COURT OF_____, } ss: "JUSTICE OF THE PEACE.
_____County,}

"I,_____, a justice of the peace, within and for said county, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of an affidavit filed in my office and of a warrant issued in pursuance thereof, with the return of the officer thereon as the same appear on the records of my office, and I further certify that I have carefully compared the foregoing copies with the original record, and that the same are full and correct copies thereof.

"IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand at_____ _____this_____day of_____, A. D., 191__.

"_____
"Justice of the Peace."

"THE STATE OF OHIO, }
} ss:
_____County,}

"I,_____, clerk of the court of common pleas, which is a court of record of said county and state aforesaid, do hereby certify that_____, whose signature, as justice of the peace is attached to the within writing was, at the date thereof, a duly commissioned and qualified justice of the peace in and for said county; that I am acquainted with his handwriting, and believe that the signature to the within writing is genuine.

"IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of said court at_____, this_____day of_____, A. D., 191__.

"(SEAL.) _____Clerk."

If the affidavit or complaint be filed in a municipal court which has jurisdiction, and having a clerk, the above mentioned copies may be certified to by such clerk, and in such case the signature of the clerk should be authenticated by the certificate of a judge of such court, and the signature of the judge should be authenticated by the certificate of the clerk of such court in the same manner as above outlined for the clerk and judge of the common pleas court, proper changes therein being made to conform with the facts.

I have not attempted to prescribe herein forms for all of the writings, affidavits, etc., for the reason that some of them would be materially different in each case, and it is impracticable to attempt to prescribe a form, but I believe if the forms herein prescribed are furnished to prosecuting attorneys with the suggestions herein contained as to additional papers which must be filed therewith, that substantial uniformity can be secured.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1549.

BOARD OF EDUCATION—ADOPTION OF TEXT BOOKS—NOT MANDATORY TO READOPT AFTER FIVE YEARS HAVE ELAPSED SINCE BOOKS FIRST ADOPTED.

It does not become the mandatory duty of a board of education under the provisions of section 7713, G. C., to determine or redetermine what text books shall be used in the schools under its control, solely by reason of the fact that five years have elapsed since such book or books were first adopted.

No other officer or authority may determine what text books shall be used in the schools of any district except in case of failure of the board of education to make available to all the youth of school age of the district lawful text books as required by sections 7714 and 7715, G. C.

After a text book or text books are lawfully adopted, so long as the same are made available to all the youth of school age of the district according to the provisions of sections 7714 and 7715, G. C., they continue to be the lawful text books to be used in the schools of such district.

When five years or more have elapsed since the last preceding adoption of a text book, the board of education of the district may, at a regular meeting held between the first Monday of February and the first Monday of August of any year, by a majority vote of the members elected thereto, adopt another text book on the same subject to be used in the schools of the district.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 8, 1916.

HON. FRANK B. PEARSON, Superintendent of Public Instruction, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Yours under date of May 1, 1916, requesting my opinion, is as follows:

> "The department of public instruction respectfully requests your answer to the following questions in regard to the adoption of text books.
>
> "1. When five years have elapsed since the adoption of text books, is the immediate adoption of a text in each branch of study a mandatory duty of the board of education?
>
> "2. If the first question is answered in the affirmative, then an answer to the following is requested:
>
> "May any other authority make an adoption of texts in case of the failure of the board of education to act? Is there no penalty prescribed for neglecting this duty?
>
> "3. If for any reason the board of education should fail to adopt texts in certain subjects, would the present texts be the legally adopted texts in such subjects until a new adoption or readoption was made?
>
> "4. When a text has been in use for more than five years since its last adoption, may the board of education adopt another text any year for a term of five years by a majority vote of the elected membership of the board of education?"

Your inquiry involves first a consideration of section 7713, G. C., which provides as follows:

> "At a regular meeting held between the first Monday in February and the first Monday in August each board of education shall determine by a majority vote of all the members elected the studies to be pursued and which of such text books so filed shall be used in the schools under its control. But no text books now in use or hereafter adopted shall be changed, nor any part thereof altered or revised, nor any other text book be substituted therefor for five years after the date of the selection and adoption thereof, as shown by the official records of such boards, except by the consent at a regular meeting of five-sixths of all members elected thereto. Books so substituted shall be adopted for the full term of five years."

Sections 7709, 7710 and 7711, G. C., provides for the filing with the superintendent of public instruction of all school books proposed to be sold for use in the public schools of the state by the publisher or publishers thereof, and that no such book not so filed may be legally adopted and purchased by any school board, and it is to the books so filed, pursuant to the provisions of said sections, that the phrase "such text books" as found in section 7713, G. C., supra, has reference.

It will be observed that it is by the first sentence of said section 7713, G. C., supra, that the general power is conferred or duties imposed, as the case may be, upon each board of education of determining which of the text books filed with the superintendent of public instruction, as theretofore provided, shall be used in the schools under its control. While this general grant of authority, or imposition of duty, is subject to certain limitations hereinafter to be noted, it will not be overlooked that this general provision is not limited or restricted in its operative force to any prescribed period of time, that is to say, there is found no limitation upon the continuation of the use of a text book once adopted in accordance with this general provision, and it is only by reason of the limitation thereafter placed upon the power of the boards to change from a text book once adopted that confusion arises. If, therefore, it is borne in mind that the subsequent provisions of said section 7713, G. C., are solely restrictive of the power to change or modify actions taken pursuant to the general provisions of the first sentence thereof, and in no sense enabling or impose any positive duty, it would at least tend to obviate the difficulty of determining the legislative intent. No provision with reference to the five year period has any direct application to the performance of the duty imposed by the first sentence of the section in question in the first instance, or, stated in another way, it is only after the duty imposed by the first sentence has been performed that any provision as to the five year period becomes operative. After the board has made an original determination of the text books to be used, as required by the first sentence, the subsequent provisions of this section operate to restrain the board from making any change therein within the period of five years, except upon the vote of five-sixths of the members electd thereto at a regular meeting.

Since, therefore, there is in the provision requiring the original adoption of text books no reference to the five year period, and the subsequent provisions are purely negative in character, imposing no positive duty, I am clearly of the opinion that under the statutes it does not become the mandatory duty of the board of education to determine or re-determine what text books shall be used in schools under their control, solely by reason of the fact that five years have elapsed since such book or books were first adopted. That is to say, so far as the provisions of said section with reference to the five year period have any operative force the action of the board pursuant to the provisions of the first sentence will continue in operation.

An examination of the history of section 7713, G. C., will disclose that it was originally enacted as a part of section 5 of an act in 92 O. L., 282, which began as follows:

> "Each board of education on receiving the statements above mentioned from said commissioner, shall, on the third Monday of August thereafter meet, etc."

From the provisions of section 3 of that act, it appears that the commissioner was required to furnish to each board of education the "statements" so referred to in section 5 thereof, within the first half of June each year.

Reading the above provision of section 5 of the act in the light of these provisions, it may be asserted that in the original enactment of section 7713, G. C., each board of education was, by clear implication at least, required to determine by a majority vote, at the time prescribed, the text books to be used each year. This, of course, was subject to the specific limitation of the power to change an original adoption within a five-year period, except by a three-fourths (now five-sixths) vote of the members elected.

Section 5 of said act in 92 O. L., 282, was amended in 99 O. L., 460, and there given substantially the form in which a part thereof was carried into the General Code as section 7713. It will be noted that it was provided by section 7713, G. C., supra, that:

> "At a regular meeting, held between the first Monday in February and the first Monday in August, each board of education shall determine, by a majority vote, etc."

In the absence of other provisions as to the frequency with which this action is required to be taken, the above language is susceptible of an interpretation which, in effect, would constitute a direction, at least, that such action be taken each year. If such interpretation be adopted, it would, of course, be subject, as above pointed out, to the provision that no change of an adopted text book may be made within five years of its adoption, except by a five-sixths vote of the elected members, so that after the adoption of a text book by a majority vote the power of the board to change the same between the first Monday in February and the first Monday in August, though action be required to be taken thereon each year, within five years, would not be different from the authority of the board in this respect at any regular meeting thereof. That is to say, would require a five-sixth vote.

In reference to your second inquiry, attention is called to the provision of section 7610, G. C., as follows:

> "If the board of education in a district fails in any year to estimate and certify the levy for a contingent fund as required by this chapter, or if the amount so certified is deemed insufficient for school purposes, or if it fails to provide sufficient school privileges for all the youth of school age in the district or to provide for the continuance of any school in the district for at least thirty-two weeks in the year, or to provide for each school an equitable share of school advantages as required by this title, * * * the commissioners of the county to which such district belongs, upon being advised and satisfied thereof, shall perform any or all of such duties and acts, in the same manner as the board of education by this title is authorized to perform them. * * *"

If, then, there has been no adoption of text-books whatever, so that as a result there is no provision made for supplying lawful books for the schools under the control of the board, that would, in my opinion, constitute a failure to provide sufficient schoo privileges for all the youth of school age in the district and hence confer upon the county commissioners power to provide a proper supply of text books, pursuant to the provisions of sections 7713 and 7714, G. C. The provisions of said section 7714, G. C. to which reference is here made, are in part as follows:

> "Each board of education shall cause it to be ascertained, and at a regular meeting determine which, and the number of each of such books the schools under its charge require, and cause an order to be drawn for the amount in favor of the clerk of the board of education, payable out of the contingent fund."

In view of the purpose, importance and necessity of this provision, I am inclined to the view that it imposes upon the board a mandatory duty to be performed each year, that there may be available at all times to the youth of school age a proper supply of text books to be used in the school. If no further action were to be taken by the board than that required by the above provision, it seems that in itself would constitute a substantial determination of the text books to be used, as required by the provisions of section 7713, G. C., supra, and that therefore the books determined, pursuant to section 7714, to be required for the schools by the board, would constitute the lawful text books of the school under the control of the board of education until some change or substitution therefor is effected, pursuant to the provision of section 7713, G. C., and that if a supply of such books is made available, as is required by section 7714, G. C., there is then no authority in any other officer to take action in respect thereto.

If a board of education wholly fails to make available proper text books, as required by the provisions of section 7714, thus failing to provide sufficient school privileges for all the youth of school age in the school district, under the provisions of section 7610, G. C., I am of the opinion that the members of such board responsible for such failure would be subject to the provisions of section 7611, G. C., as follows:

> "The members of a board who cause such failure shall be each severally liable, in a penalty not to exceed fifty dollars nor less than twenty-five dollars, to be recovered in a civil action in the name of the state upon complaint of any elector of the district, which sum must be collected by the prosecuting attorney of the county and when collected, be paid into the treasury of the county, for the benefit of the school or schools of the district."

In view of the foregoing, it is only necessary to say, in reference to your third inquiry, that in my opinion, after text books are once lawfully adopted and a proper supply thereof made available at all times, in accordance with the requirements of sections 7714 and 7715, G. C., to all the youth of school age in the district, such text books will continue to be the lawful text books of the schools of such district until changed pursuant to the provision of section 7713, G. C., by a five-sixth vote, if within five years of the last preceding adoption thereof, or by a majority vote of the members elected if subsequent to five years from the last preceding adoption of such text books.

I am further of opinion, in answer to your fourth question, that, after the expiration of a period of five years from the adoption of a text book, a board of education may then, by a majority vote of the members elected thereto, at a regular meeting held between the first Monday of February and the first Monday of August, of any year, adopt another text book on that subject, to be used in the schools of the district.

Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,

Attorney-General.

1550.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, SPENCER TOWNSHIP, RURAL SCHOOL DISTRICT, MEDINA COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 8, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of Spencer township rural school district of Medina county, Ohio, in the sum of $16,000.00 issued to secure funds for the purpose of erecting, equipping and furnishing a school building, being 32 bonds, $500 each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the board of education and other officers of Spencer township rural school district relative to the above bond issue, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the requirements of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds, drawn in accordance with the form submitted and executed by the proper officers will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of Spencer township rural school district.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1551.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, LEESBURG VILLAGE SCHOOL DISTRICT.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 8, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of Leesburg village school district, in the sum of $45,000.00 for the erection and equipment of a new grade and high school building, being ninety bonds of five hundred dollars each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the board of education of Leesburg village school district in connection with the issuance of the above bonds, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the requirements of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the form submitted, signed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of Leesburg village school district.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1552.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, VILLAGE OF MARBLE CLIFF, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 8, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of the village of Marble Cliff, Ohio, in the sum of $1,600.00 in anticipation of the collection of special assessments for the improvement of Cambridge Place, being eight bonds of two hundred dollars each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the council and other officers of Marble Cliff, relative to the above bond issue; also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the requirements of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the form submitted and executed by the proper officers will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of the village of Marble Cliff, Ohio.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1553.

"RESTAURANT" INCLUDES DINING ROOM OF HOTEL CONDUCTED ON EUROPEAN PLAN—SECTION 1008, G. C., LIMITS EMPLOYMENT OF FEMALES FOR SUCH WORK TO TEN HOURS IN ANY ONE DAY AND FIFTY-FOUR HOURS IN ANY ONE WEEK.

The dining room of a hotel, conducted on the European plan is a restaurant within the meaning of section 1008, G. C., 103 O. L., 555, and it is unlawful for females to be employed therein more than ten hours in any one day or more than fifty-four hours in any one week.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 9, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—Your letter of March 1, 1916, requesting my opinion, received. Your question is as follows:

"Section 1008 of the General Code reads in part as follows:

" 'Females over 18 years of age shall not be employed, permitted or suffered to work in or in connection with any factory, workshop, telephone or telegraph office, millinery, or dress-making establishment, restaurant or in the distribution or transmission of messages, or in any mercantile establishment located in any city, more than ten hours in any one day, or more than fifty-four hours in any one week, but meal times shall not be included as a part of the work hours of the week or day, provided, however, that no restrictions as to the hours of labor shall apply to canneries or establishments engaged in preparing for use, perishable goods.'

"The question arises: Are the female employes working in the dining room and kitchen of a hotel operating under the European plan, where meals are served a la carte, subject to the provisions of this law?

"In other words, can we legally order the management of such hotels to provide a working schedule for such female employes of not more than ten hours in any one day or fifty-four hours in any one week?"

Section 1008, G. C. (103 O. L., 555), quoted in your letter, specifies the establishments which are subject to its provisions and includes restaurants, but does not include hotels. As was said by the court in the case of Lewis v. Hitchcock, et al., 10 Fed., 6:

"The word 'restaurant' has no fixed and certain legal meaning, and a place known by that name may or may not be an inn, i. e., to provide lodgings as well as food for guests."

Webster defines a restaurant as:

"An eating house."

and a hotel as:

"A house for the entertainment of strangers or travelers, an inn or public house."

One of the definitions of "restaurant" given in the Standard Dictionary is:

"The dining room of a hotel conducted on the European plan."

"But the keeper of a mere restaurant is not an innkeeper if he only furnishes meals to his guests."

Carpenter v. Taylor, 1 Hilt (N. Y. 193).

In Schouler's Bailments & Carriers, 3d Ed., section 280, it is said:

"One who keeps a public house may not inconsistently carry on a restaurant * * * and as to strangers who avail themselves of such extraneous service, he is no innkeeper at all."

As a matter of fact, a restaurant is an eating place, and it can make no difference whether the eating place is conducted under the auspices of a hotel or otherwise. The statute makes no reference in distinct terms to a hotel except in so far as it may be applied to such hotels as conduct eating places for their patrons. Your question is limited to female employes working in the dining room and kitchen of a hotel operating under the European plan, which, for the purpose of this discussion, would differ from a hotel conducted on the American plan, principally in that the latter, as a general rule, has fixed and stated hours for the serving of meals, whereas the former, in most cases, affords continuous service. The purpose of the law is to prevent the working of females over ten hours in any one day in the lines of work enumerated, regardless of the place or by whom conducted.

It is my opinion therefore, that the term "restaurant," being used in a broad and general sense, is intended to include any eating place where females are employed, and that section 1008, G. C., as amended 103 O. L. 555, applies and controls in the employment of females in the dining room and kitchen of a hotel operating under the European plan.

Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,

Attorney-General.

1554.

CIVIL SERVICE—SECTION 486-31 G. C., 106 O. L., 418, WHEREBY CERTAIN PERSONS ARE RETAINED IN THE PUBLIC SERVICE BY REASON OF CONTINUOUS SERVICE FOR SEVEN YEARS IS CONSTITUTIONAL.

The provisions of section 486-31 G. C., as amended, 106 O. L., 418, whereby certain persons are retained as appointees under the civil service law by reason of continuous service for seven or more years, and the provisions of said section authorizing, without examination, the certification as eligible of certain persons holding public positions or employments, do not contravene the constitutional requirements of section 10 of article XV of the constitution.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 9, 1916.

The State Civil Service Commission, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—I have your letter of March 29, 1916, to which you attach certain correspondence addressed to you which attacks the constitutionality of section 486-31 G. C., as amended 106 O. L., 418. This correspondence suggests to your commission the advisability of ignoring the provisions of said section and of requiring competitive examinations in every case as a requisite for holding any position in the classified service or of receiving any appointment thereto. You also state in your letter that in certain cities of the state the provisions of said section are not being recognized, and you request my opinion upon the constitutional question involved and also as to the proper procedure to be taken by you to bring about a uniform enforcement of the law. The correspondence submitted seems to be inspired by a recent decision of the common pleas court of Ross county, Ohio, in which it was determined that the provisions of said section were unconstitutional whereby persons who had served the state or some political subdivision thereof continuously and satisfactorily for seven years prior to January 1, 1915, should be deemed appointees within the meaning of the civil service law. It may also be said in this connection that there seems to be a popular idea that civil service and competitive examinations are synonymous terms and mean one and the same thing, and that there may be no civil service without competitive examinations. While entertaining the greatest respect for the ability and learning of the court aforesaid, I am unable to concur in said decision, which I am compelled to conclude was reached without a full opportunity to examine the authorities of other states and particularly those of the state of New York from whose constitutional and statutory law our constitutional and statutory provisions with reference to civil service have been largely drawn.

The provisions of said section 486-31, supra, attacked in this correspondence are commonly known as the "experience and non-competitive exemptions," and provide as follows:

> "All officers, employes and subordinates in the classified service of the state, the several counties, cities and city school districts thereof, holding their positions under existing civil service laws, and who are holding such positions by virtue of having taken a regular competitive examination as provided by law, shall, when this act takes effect, be deemed appointees within the provisions of this act; but no person holding a position in the classified service by virtue of having taken a non-competitive examination shall be deemed to have been appointed or to be an appointee in conformity with the provisions of this act; provided, however, that all persons who have served the state or any political subdivision thereof continuously and satisfactorily for a period of not less than seven years next preceding January 1, 1915, shall be deemed appointees within the provisions of this act."

It is further provided in said section that all persons holding positions in the classified service at the time said law takes effect, who have not passed a regular competitive examination and who have not been in the service seven years, shall be reported by the appointing authority to the civil service commission within ten days after said act takes effect. Any person so reported to the commission shall be certified back to the appointing authority in addition to three candidates who have passed a competitive examination for permanent appointment to the position he holds. If such person is thereupon reappointed he shall be deemed to have been appointed under the provisions of said act. If no eligible list exists for the position at the time he is reported to the commission he may be retained as a provisional employee until an eligible list may be procured.

The contention now made to your commission is that the provisions aforesaid violate the requirements of section 10 of article XV of the constitution. This section provides as follows:

> "Appointments and promotions in the civil service of the state, the several counties and cities, shall be made according to merit and fitness; to be ascertained, as far as practicable, by competitive examinations. Laws shall be passed providing for the enforcement of this provision."

It seems to be the conclusion of those attacking the constitutionality of the statute aforesaid, that the provisions of said section of the constitution permit of only one method and manner of ascertaining the merit and fitness of candidates under any civil service law, and that one method must be by competitive examination. In other words, if any test is to be made it must be by competitive examination. If a competitive examination is not found to be practicable, no test may be required at all. Such interpretation of said constitutional provisions aforesaid is wholly foreign to their real intent and purpose, and is as repugnant to said provisions as the making of an appointment in the classified service without any test whatever. The fundamental purpose or object of all civil service laws is the procurement of competent, trustworthy and efficient public servants, who may serve the public free from any and all influences that might affect either their efficiency or the good of the public service. To accomplish this purpose the people of this state have ordained, through the constitutional provisions aforesaid, that merit and fitness shall constitute the basis of appointments in their service. So far as the provisions of said constitutional section may be said to be mandatory, they apply only to this one single requirement that all appointments and promotions shall be based upon merit and fitness.

It is material to determine in the outset of this discussion what is meant by the terms merit and fitness as employed in the constitutional provision aforesaid. The courts of New York recognized under similar constitutional provisions long prior to its adoption here that these terms are not synonymous. This conclusion may be due to some extent to a statutory law which at one time required a dual competitive examination in that state, one for merit and one for fitness. But regardless of the causes which impelled this conclusion, these terms may be said to have an adjudicated meaning in that state, which, under well settled rules of construction, may not be ignored, in interpreting the later and similar constitutional provisions in this state.

In the case of Tobin v. Knauber, 27 N. Y. Misc. Reports, 253, judge Wright, in referring to the terms merit and fitness, as used in the constitution and civil service laws of the state of New York, says:

> "Merit means the quality of deserving the office because of excellence and worth. This obviously comprises competency, intelligence and education with special reference to an understanding and knowledge of the duties of the office.

"Fitness means the quality of being suitable and adapted to the performance of those duties. This, in some cases, obviously includes habits, industry, energy, ambition, tact, disposition, knowledge of human nature, discretion, shrewdness, suitable physical presence, etc., matters which require an examination of a very different character from that which may test the competency, excellence and worth of a candidate."

While the conclusion reached by the court in the foregoing case as to some points was overruled in the case of Drake v. Knauber, 43 N. Y. App. Div. 342-346, yet the distinction between merit and fitness was clearly recognized by the court in the later opinion in the following language:

"In saying this, it is not necessary to assert that the terms merit and fitness are synonymous. Indeed, it is by no means impossible to conceive of cases where they would not, and could not be so considered. For instance, the relator, by reason of his faithful service in the army, and his good citizenship since his discharge therefrom, can very properly be said to merit any appointment in the civil service for which he is fitted, but if he were blind or deaf or dumb, he doubtless would in a certain sense be unfit for the particular position he seeks."

It is manifest that an examination which seeks to test the merit of an applicant must of necessity be very different from an examination which tests his fitness. It is equally apparent that the ordinary competitive examination, in so far as it attempts to test the "fitness" of a candidate, is of necessity greatly limited in results. This has been the common experience of all jurisdictions in the administration of civil service laws long prior to the adoption of the constitutional provisions here considered. These facts, doubtless, were well known to the framers of said section and unquestionably furnish the only reason for the qualification written into said constitutional provision that said qualities are "to be ascertained as far as practicable by competitive examination." It follows, therefore, that instead of the provision "to be ascertained as far as practicable by competitive examination" being mandatory and wholly controlling, it is a qualification only, whose purpose is to provide a method not to be exclusive in any case, but to be applied whenever it may be considered practicable. It is a matter of common knowledge that a person may possess the requisite educational qualifications and intellectual ability to pass the most rigid competitive examination as to merit with the highest honors, and yet by reason of some infirmity of disposition from a lack of some other quality which enters into the element of fitness he is wholly unfit to hold a public position. These facts were recognized so early in the administration of civil service laws that long prior to the adoption of the present civil service provisions in the constitution of New York, which provisions will be hereinafter noted, it was found necessary in that state to adopt a rule whereby no permanent appointment could be made in the classified service until the appointee should serve a probationary term and subject himself to the test of conduct, capacity and fitness for the position before his appointment was made permanent. Similar provisions have been written into section 486-13, G. C., 106 O. L., 409, in which it is provided:

"All original and promotional appointments shall be for a probationary period of not to exceed three months, to be fixed by the rules of the commission, and no appointment or promotion shall be deemed finally made until the appointee has satisfactorily served his probationary period. At the end of the probationary period the appointing officer shall transmit to the commission a record of the employe's service, and if such service is unsatisfactory, the employe may, with the approval of the commission, be removed or reduced without restriction."

Doubtless, those who are contending that the competitive examination provision of the constitution is exclusive, and that when it applies it is mandatory and must be followed, would also contend that the additional test provided by the section just quoted is also in contravention of said constitutional provision. The constitutionality, however, of such requirement had been fully sustained by the courts of New York under their constitution, which provides:

"Article V, section 9. Appointments and promotions in the civil service of the state and of all the civil divisions thereof, including cities and villages, shall be made according to merit and fitness, to be ascertained as far as practicable by examination, which so far as practicable shall be competitive. * * *"

As before observed, the probationary term provided by the laws of said state was in force prior to the adoption of the aforesaid constitutional provisions, and after the adoption of said constitutional provisions it was claimed that the probationary requirement was repealed because inconsistent with that provision of said constitution, which requires that merit and fitness shall be ascertained so far as practicable by examination.

In the case of Sweet v. Lyman, 157 N. Y., 368, this proposition was before the court and commented upon as follows:

"The declaration of the constitution is that appointments and promotions shall be made according to merit and fitness. The obvious purpose of this provision was to declare the principle upon which promotions and appointments in the public service should be made, to recognize in that instrument the principle of the existing statutes upon the subject and to establish merit and fitness as the basis of such appointments and promotions in place of their being made upon partisan or political grounds. * * * It then declares that merit and fitness shall be ascertained by examinations, and also the extent to which they shall be thus determined. The extent to which examinations are to control is declared to be only so far as practicable. This language clearly implies that it is not entirely practicable to fully determine them in that way. It was the purpose of its framers to declare those two principles and leave their application to the direction of the legislature. As was said by the chairman of the committee to which this amendment was referred, 'it seemed best to the committee, after very careful and repeated consideration, to leave the application of the principle of merit and fitness to the good sense of the legislature.' Thus it is apparent, not only upon the face of the provision itself, but from the debates in the constitutional convention, that the framers of this amendment did not intend to absolutely determine how the merit and fitness of appointees were to be ascertained and determined. * * *

"Assuming then, that the framers of the constitution contemplated that other methods might also be employed, surely it cannot be properly said that the trial of an applicant for a probationary period is not an appropriate method of testing, and thus correctly ascertaining, his merit and fitness; besides, it is a reasonable method. Indeed, it is the usual one. What good business man would employ an assistant, a clerk or even a laborer, for a period which he could not limit or control, without adopting that method of ascertaining his qualifications for the place? There can be but one answer therefore, that the method provided by the statute and the rules of the civil service commission is appropriate and well calculated to materially aid an officer or department in determining the merit and fitness of an employe, cannot be successfully denied."

It must be understood that it is not contended here that appointments may be made in the classified service and comply with the constitutional provisions under consideration without being made after some test of the applicant that may be said to fairly determine his merit and fitness. As before observed these qualities have been established as the basis of all appointments, but when we undertake to say that in any case in which they are required to be established we have but one method of determining them and that is by competitive examination, we are ignoring not only the controlling principles of civil service, but the construction by the courts of similar constitutional provisions in other states.

Coming now to consider the statutory provisions in question, it would seem apparent without argument that seven or more years of acceptable and satisfactory service to the state, county, city or city school district, furnishes the best and most conclusive evidence of the merit and fitness of any person holding a public position or employment in any of said subdivisions. By no other means or method can the qualities of merit and fitness be more accurately determined than by actual service for that length of time. What purpose, therefore, would a competitive examination serve in such cases, either as a means of determining the merit and fitness of the candidate or of improving the public service? The legislature in the enactment of this section has said in effect that it is not practicable by competitive examination to determine the merit and fitness of one who has served the public efficiently and successfully for seven years. The question of the practicability of a competitive examination where the facts are admitted is a question of law (Chamberlain v. Knox, 45 App. Div., N. Y., 518), which must be determined largely with regard to the question as to whether it would prove an advantage or disadvantage to the service. (Chittenden v. Wurster, 14 App. Div., N. Y., 483). (Reversed on another point.)

In view of the foregoing considerations I am of the opinion that the legislature in the enactment of the experience clause aforesaid transcended no constitutional limitation on its power, and what is said of said provision applies with equal force to the noncompetitive clause of said section. By the latter clause the incumbent receives only the benefit of a certification for appointment with three other persons. He is thus subjected to the test of competition. It is not to be presumed that his appointment in the first instance was made without full inquiry, and in most instances at least he has been subjected to the test of a noncompetitive examination, which by law was required to conform to the character of a competitive examination. His conduct, habits, industry and capacity have been under the observation of his superiors during his occupancy of the position or employment involved, which, as before observed, furnishes the most dependable method of ascertaining his merit and fitness. Under this test his name is presented for appointment, and his availability, therefore is not a matter either of conjecture or experiment. If he has proven his worth he may be permanently appointed. If he has been found wanting another may be selected in his stead.

I am, therefore, of the opinion that in both provisions of said section there has been a test fully and fairly meeting the requirements of the constitution, and that said section 486-31, G. C., does not violate any constitutional requirement and should be enforced by your commission in accordance with its terms and provisions.

You state that in certain cities its provisions are being ignored. It may be that the cities to which you refer are operating under home rule charters which provide for a system of civil service, in which event, as has been stated to you in a former opinion, the state civil service law is discontinued. As to other municipalities without a statement of the specific facts in each case it would be impossible to advise you under what particular provisions of the civil service law you should proceed. However, it may be stated in a general way that in all municipalities the municipal civil service commission is primarily responsible for the enforcement in its municipality of the civil service law. In the event of a wilful failure upon the part of such municipal civil service commissions to enforce the law, you have authority under the provisions of said section 486-19, G. C., 106 O. L., 414, upon proof to make a report thereof in writing to the chief executive authority of said city, who is empowered to remove any municipal civil service commissioner for inefficiency, neglect of duty, or malfeasance in office.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1555.

ROADS AND HIGHWAYS—BIDS RECEIVED BY STATE HIGHWAY COMMISSIONER FOR ROAD IMPROVEMENT—NO CONTRACT AWARDED—WHERE DESIRED TO IMPROVE SHORTER SECTION OF HIGHWAY THAN THAT COVERED BY BIDS—MUST REJECT ALL BIDS—MAKE NEW ESTIMATE AND READVERTISE—ELECTRIC RAILWAY COMPANY MAY BE COMPELLED TO MOVE TRACKS FROM CENTER TO SIDE OF ROAD—HOW INTERURBAN COMPANY CAN BE COMPELLED TO PAY FOR PAVING BETWEEN RAILS—OHIO ELECTRIC RAILWAY COMPANY.

Where bids have been received by the state highway commissioner for a road improvement, but no contract has as yet been awarded, and it is desired to omit a part of the work and improve a shorter section of highway than that covered by the bids, the state highway commissioner should reject all bids, make a new estimate covering that part of the highway which it is desired to improve, and readvertise the same.

Where the conditions prescribed in section 7204 G. C., obtain, an electric railway company may be compelled to move its tracks from the center to the side of the road.

Where the track of an electric railway company is located within the roadbed of an inter-county highway or main market road, the state highway commissioner, in co-operation with the county commissioners of the county, may, after giving to the electric railway company notice, and a reasonable opportunity to improve that portion of the highway lying between the ends of its ties, and upon a failure of such company to make such improvement in accordance with the plans and specifications of the state highway commissioner, proceed to improve the same in accordance with such plans and specifications, and the cost of such improvement may be assessed against the property of the company and collected in the manner provided in section 1231-4 G. C.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 10, 1916.

HON. C. C. CRABBE, Prosecuting Attorney, London, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I acknowledge the receipt of your request for an opinion under date of April 22, 1916, which request reads as follows:

> "I desire your opinion concerning a condition that has arisen in the Urbana-London road improvement, being inter-county highway No. 194, in Madison County.
>
> "In December the county commissioners made application to the state highway department for state aid in said improvement, and the application was granted, surveys, profiles, etc., were made by the state highway commissioner and approved by the county commissioners.

"The proposed improvement is 3.20 miles in length, extending from London to Somerford, and passing the farm recently purchased for the new state prison.

"The tracks of the Ohio Electric Railway Company extend down the center of this road for a distance of 1135 feet, commencing at the corporation line of the village of London, and at this point the property owners petitioned the county commissioners to widen this portion of the road to a width of 36 feet, which has been granted, and approved by the state highway department.

"During the progress of the proceedings, the engineer of the Ohio Electric Railway Company appeared before the county commissioners and expressed a willingness for the county and state to pave that portion of the road between the rails and ends of the ties, issue bonds for the same and assess the cost against the company. Working under this theory, a resolution was passed to issue bonds to cover the county, township, abutting property owners and Ohio Electric Railroad's share of the improvement. The highway commissioner advertised for bids, the same have been opened and the lowest responsible bidder has been determined, although the contract has not yet been awarded for the reason that the O. E. Company now refuses to pay its share of the improvement.

"Under the plans and specifications the 1135 feet was to be paved with brick the full width of 36 feet, and the remainder of the road which would be a little over three miles is to be of concrete construction. The franchise of the O. E. Company granted in 1901 for 25 years does not provide that the company shall pave.

"Rather than to delay the entire improvement while we are working the matter out with the railroad company, we are very anxious to let the contract under the bid already received, and therefore desire to know:

"First. Can the highway department let the contract for the entire improvement, and then by a supplemental agreement withhold the 1135 feet to be paved with brick until the matter can be adjusted with the O. E. Company?

"Second. Can the highway department let the contract for the entire improvement exclusive of that portion between the rails and ends of the ties, the contractor to make a proper allowance for the work omitted?

"Third. Can we compel this company to move its tracks to the side of the road?

"Fourth. Can an Interurban Railroad Company under above conditions be compelled to pay for paving between the rails and ends of the ties?

"I have gone over this matter carefully with Mr. Cowen, the highway commissioner, and if either the first or second inquiry is in the affirmative, we can proceed without re-advertising."

Your first and second questions may be considered together. It should first be observed that the bids for this work are in such form that it is impossible to tell what portion of the amount bid by each contractor represents the work to be done on the 1135 feet of highway occupied by the tracks of the Ohio Electric Railway Company, and what portion of the amount bid represents the work on the remaining portion of the road proposed to be improved. The legislature has made adequate provision for the letting of a contract for extra work resulting from unforeseen contingencies not included in the original contract. This matter is covered by section 1210, G. C., 106 O. L., 635, which section reads as follows:

"The foregoing provision relating to advertising for bids shall apply to the letting of a contract for extra work, resulting from unforeseen contingencies, not included in the original contract, provided the estimate of the cost and expense of such work amount to one thousand dollars or more. If the estimate is less than one thousand dollars, and more than two hundred dollars, fifteen days' notice of the letting of the work shall be given by posting it on a bulletin board, or writing it on a black-board in a conspicuous place in the office of the county highway superintendent and the county commissioners of the county where the proposed work is located, stating the nature of the work, and when and where proposals in writing will be received. Plans and specifications for such extra work shall be kept on file at the office of the county highway superintendent during the fifteen days for which the same is being advertised and be open to public inspection. If the estimated cost and expense of the extra work does not exceed two hundred dollars, it may be let by the state highway commissioner at private contract without publication or notice thereof. If the state highway commissioner decides and the county commissioners by resolution adopted by majority vote and entered upon their journal, declare that an emergency exists, which in their judgment will not permit of the delay necessary to advertise said extra work either by posting or newspaper publication, and the chief highway engineer shall in writing declare that an emergency exists, such a declaration shall be entered on the journal of the department, and such contract for extra work may then be let without any advertising whatever, but such contract so let shall be absolutely void unless the provisions hereof shall be strictly followed."

It will be noted, however, that under the provisions of this and the related sections, plans, specifications and estimates for extra work must be made and the benefits of competitive bidding are preserved to the public in all cases of extra work where the estimate of the cost of such work is more than $200.00, unless the state highway commissioner decides, and the county commissioners, by resolution adopted by majority vote and entered upon their journal, declare, that an emergency exists which will not permit of the delay necessary to advertise the extra work, and unless the chief highway engineer also declares in writing that an emergency exists. In other words, where it is necessary to let a contract for extra work resulting from unforeseen contingencies and not included in the original contract, the state highway commissioner is required to let such contract at competitive bidding, unless the amount thereof is not more than $200.00, or unless an emergency exists.

The situation presented by your first and second questions is not one where it is proposed to let a contract for extra work, however. These questions present a situation where it is proposed, on account of doubt as to the law, to reduce substantially the amount of work to be required of the contractor, and I find no provision of law authorizing such a procedure. It is worthy of substantial note that no contract for this improvement has as yet been awarded, and under the provisions of section 1208, G. C., the state highway commissioner is authorized to reject all bids. If he were to enter into a contract for the entire work and then attempt to make a supplemental contract excusing the contractor from building the 1135 feet of roadway occupied by the tracks of the railway company, there would be no way of determining from the bid of the contractor the amount of reduction that should be made in his compensation, and this matter would be subject to arrangement between the state highway commissioner and the contractor, in which arrangement the public would be deprived of the benefits of competitive bidding. The same situation would exist if the state highway department should attempt to enter into a contract for the improvement of that part of the highway not occupied by the tracks of the Ohio Electric Railway Company.

I am not herein passing upon the rights of the state highway commissioner in the premises, if, as a matter of fact, the contract had already been awarded and entered into. In this particular case no contract has been made, as yet, and in view of the extremely doubtful authority on the part of the state highway commissioner to modify a contract after it has been made by agreeing with the contractor for a reduction in the amount of work and a reduction in the amount of compensation, I am of the opinion that if, in this particular case, it is desired to change the plans and specifications for the 1135 feet of roadway occupied by the tracks of the electric railway company, and proceed immediately to improve only that part of the highway in question not occupied by the company, the only safe course for the state highway commissioner to pursue is to reject all bids under authority of section 1208, G. C., make a new estimate covering that part of the highway not occupied by the tracks of the Ohio Electric Railway Company and which it is desired to at once improve, and readvertise the work. I therefore advise you, in answer to your first and second questions, that in view of the fact that no contract has as yet been let, and in view of the further fact that there is no method by which competitive bidding may be preserved in the reduction of the amount of work, the state highway commissioner should not proceed to let a contract for the entire improvement and then make a supplemental agreement to the effect that the contractor shall not pave a portion of the roadway until and unless a certain condition arises, the contractor to suffer an agreed reduction in his compensation, and, further, the state highway commissioner should not proceed to let a contract for a part of the work at a price below the amount bid and to be agreed upon between him and the bidder.

Your third question is answered by opinion No. 855, of this department, to Hon. Clinton Cowen, state highway commissioner, on September 22, 1915, and found at page 1822 of the attorney-general's report for that year. It appears from a reference to the franchise of the Ohio Electric Railway Company, a copy of which franchise you forwarded to this office under date of April 27, 1916, that in so far as the terms of such franchise are concerned, the tracks of the railway company are now located as provided in the franchise. The opinion rendered to the state highway commissioner and referred to above related to the right of the state highway department to force the Columbus, Delaware & Marion Railway Company to move its tracks from the side to the center line of a road, but the same principles would apply where it is desired to require a railway company to move its tracks from the center to the side of the road.

The following is quoted from opinion 855:

> "It appears from the correspondence above quoted that the tracks of said company are now located as provided by the terms of its franchise. Referring to your first question, you inquire if you can force said company to move its tracks under any existing law, it being your desire to have said tracks located on the center line of said new road, as appears from your correspondence. The law applying to such cases is now found in section 161 of amended senate bill No. 125, 106 O. L., 619, section 7204, G. C., as follows:
>
> " 'It shall be the duty of the owners or occupants of lands situated along the highways to remove all obstructions within the bounds of the highways which have been placed there either by themselves or their agents, or with their consent. It shall be the duty of all telephone, telegraph, steam or electrical railway, or other electrical companies, oil, gas, water or public service companies of any kind, to remove their poles and wires, connected therewith or any tracks, switches, spurs, or oil, gas or water pipes, mains, conduits or other objects when the same, in the opinion of the county highway superintendent, constitute obstructions in the highway or interfere with the construction, improvement, maintenance or repair of the highway or use thereof, by the traveling public, subject however, to the rights of any such company to be or remain in such highway, by virtue of any grant or franchise to said company. If, in the opinion of the county highway superintendent, such companies have obstructed said highway, said highway superintendent shall forthwith notify the county commissioners, who shall cause notice to be served on said owner, occupant or company, directing the removal of said obstructions, and if said owner, occupant or company shall not within five days proceed to remove said obstruction and complete the same within a reasonable time, the county highway superintendent, upon order of the county commissioners, may remove said obstructions. The expense thereby incurred shall be paid in the first instance out of money levied and collected and available for highway purposes, and the amount thereof shall be certified to the proper officials to be placed upon the tax duplicate against the property of such owner, occupant or company, as provided by law, to be collected as other taxes, and the proper fund shall be reimbursed out of the money so collected, or the cost of removing such obstructions may be collected from the owner, occupant or company by civil action by the county commissioners or township trustees.

" 'All such persons, firms or corporations shall be required to reconstruct or relocate their properties or any part thereof upon such public highway, upon the order of the proper authorities if in the opinion of such authorities the same constitute an obstruction in such public highway.'

"The above section defines the policy of the state which now controls its relation to railway companies occupying public roads with tracks which may constitute an obstruction to any improvement of said roads, and said section places the entire cost of removing and relocating said tracks upon the companies which own the same.

"It may be, and doubtless will be contended, however, by the company in question, that the enforcement of the provisions of the section just quoted is that it would be an unconstitutional application thereof, in that it would contravene the provisions of section 28, article II, of the constitution, providing against the enactment of any laws impairing the obligations of contracts. A franchise such as the one under which this company is now located upon this highway and operating its railroad thereon, is frequently denominated and termed a contract, and is commonly so regarded, but in a strictly legal sense it is only a right or privilege, granted in this instance by the state, through its duly constituted agents, the board of county commissioners of Franklin county, upon such terms and conditions as were fixed by said commissioners, and it is a right which can only be exercised by reason of the grant thus made. Sections 9101 and 9113, G. C.

"The terms and conditions, however, of this franchise, as fixed by said county commissioners, are subject to the limitation that said commissioners could not in any manner or degree surrender or alienate that governmental power of the state which is required to exist for the welfare of the public, which welfare and right to use said public road is the paramount right in this case. This power so reserved and which said commissioners could not alienate, is known as the police power of the state. Referring to this reserved governmental power, Elliott on Streets and Roads, section 939, says:

" 'The general rule is well settled that no contract can be made which assumes to surrender or alienate a strictly governmental power which is required to exist for the welfare of the public. To what extent it prevails as against chartered rights which are protected as rights flowing from a contract it is not possible to say with certainty and precision, but we believe that it may be fully affirmed that the power extends so far as to require the private corporation to yield to the public welfare in the matter of the reasonable regulation of roads and streets.'

"The rights and privileges granted as aforesaid, under said franchise, are subject to still further limitations, which are reserved to the state by section 2, of the bill of rights, and section 2, of article XIII, of the constitution. By the provisions of the first section noted, no special privileges or immunities shall ever be granted that may not be altered, revoked or repealed by the general assembly. Under the last quoted section it is provided that corporations may be formed under general laws, but all such laws may from time to time be altered or repealed.

"Without attempting to cite the many decisions of both federal and state courts in which the scope and effect of the foregoing constitutional provisions are considered and applied to the franchise rights of corporations, in many of which cases said rights have been set aside or additional burdens have been imposed on the owners thereof, it is sufficient to say that in my judgment they amply sustain the right of the state through its legislature to impose the provisions of said section 161, supra, upon railway and other companies occupying public roads when said conditions exist as therein prescribed.

"It further must be observed, that these constitutional reservations above noted, are as much a part of the franchises granted by the agents of the state as they would be if actually made a part thereof and written therein. Railroad Company v. Defiance, 52 O. S., 314. However, as before observed, regardless of the application of these constitutional provisions, the police power of the state cannot be alienated, and the existence of this power must be preserved for the well being of organized society, and when exercised in a reasonable manner by the state cannot be said to impair the obligation of contracts.

"While your letter does not state fully all the facts connected with the proposed improvement of the road in question, it appears from the correspondence attached thereto that this improvement is to be made by paving to a width of fifty feet, a public road, which is a continuation of High street, in the city of Columbus, and that said improvement is to begin at the corporation line of said city and extend thence north 3810 feet. It is a matter of common knowledge that said High street is the main traffic thoroughfare of a great and growing city of more than 200,000 people, upon which street it is necessary to enforce, under police supervision, strict rules of traffic to protect the lives and the property of those who must go upon it. One of the rules of traffic so in force requires of travelers to use and keep upon the right-hand side of said street. Any other method of travel, if permitted thereon, would result in interminable confusion and danger. The improvement you contemplate requires the railway company to move its tracks to the center of said highway to permit the sides thereof to be open for travel in the same manner immediately outside of the city limits as within. This requirement undoubtedly is one of urgent and imperative public necessity, and as necessary and essential to the safety of the public generally as a system which provides it with pure water or sanitary sewerage.

"To require a relocation of the tracks of the company in question in view of the great necessity of this improvement and the increased travel on said public highway, is not in my opinion an arbitrary or unreasonable exercise of the police power of the state as effected through the provisions of section 161, supra. That is to say, in view of the imperative necessity of this improvement, if the tracks of said company in their present location constitute an obstruction to travel in such public highway, or interfere with the improvement you contemplate, said company may be required by you to relocate the same as provided under said section 161, and such limitation upon said company's rights under its franchise would not be unreasonable.

"I am, therefore, of the opinion that under the provisions of said section 161, supra, if the conditions therein prescribed obtain in the case of this company, it may be compelled by you to relocate its tracks and move them to the center of the highway."

It was further held in the opinion in question that state or county funds could not be used in paying any part of the cost of moving the tracks, and that the entire cost must be paid by the railway company. In conformity with the opinion expressed to the state highway commissioner, I advise you, in answer to your third question, that if the conditions prescribed in section 7204, G. C., obtain, the Ohio Electric Railway Company may be compelled to move its tracks from the center to the side of the road and to pay the cost thereof.

Your fourth question depends upon the proper construction to be given section 6956, G. C., 106 O. L., 611, and section 1231-4, G. C., 103 O. L., 461.

Section 6956, G. C., reads as follows:

"Any person, firm or corporation operating a railway for the transportation of passengers, freight or express crossing any street or road, shall improve, maintain and repair that portion of the highway at such crossing and lying between the outside ends of the ties, and also that portion lying between the tracks in the case of two or more tracks, and the cost and expense of this improvement, maintenance and repair shall be borne by said individual, firm or corporation. Such improvement, maintenance or repair shall be made whenever in the opinion of the authorities having charge of such road the public necessity requires, and shall be made in accordance with plans and specifications approved by the county surveyor.

"In case the said person, firm or corporation operating said railway, fails to improve, maintain or repair the same as required by the proper authorities, as provided in this section, then such authorities shall proceed to improve, maintain and repair the same, and the cost thereof shall be charged against said property and collected in the manner hereinafter provided. Whenever a road or street is improved where a street or interurban or other railroad or railway lies within the improved portion of the roadway, such railroad or railway grade shall in all respects be changed to meet the approval of the county surveyor, unless otherwise provided for in the grant or franchise, by virtue of which such railway operates on or occupies said highway, and costs of such change of grade be paid by such company under the law or by the terms of its franchise or grant, shall be a lien upon the property of such company, and the proper authorities may provide for the payment of the amount chargeable against said company under the law or by the terms of its franchise or grant, in installments, as in the case of other property owners, and such installments as shall bear interest as in other cases, and the board of county commissioners or other authorities may issue bonds in anticipation of the collection of said installments."

It will be noted that this section, in so far as it relates to improvement, maintenance or repair of highways, applies where railway tracks cross any street or road. There is no doubt that under the terms of this section the proper authorities, in case a railway company fails to make the improvement, maintenance or repair referred to in the section, may proceed to do such work themselves, and assess against and collect from the company the cost of such improvement. The case presented by your inquiry is not one, however, where the tracks cross a road. It is a case where the tracks are located within and along the road, and reference must, therefore, be had to section 1231-4 G. C. This section was a part of amended senate bill No. 31, 103 O. L., 449, which act amended a number of the sections of the General Code relating to the state highway department, and is one of the few sections of the General Code relating to highways not repealed by the Cass highway law, amended senate bill No. 125, 106 O. L., 574.

The section in question reads as follows:

> "Wherever one or more tracks of an individual, firm or corporation, used for the purpose of transporting freight, express or passengers, are or may be located, in whole or in part, within the roadbed of an improved intercounty highway or main market road, or one which it is proposed to be improved, it shall be the duty of the said individual, firm or corporation to improve, maintain and repair that portion of the highway lying between the ends of the ties and also that portion lying between tracks in case of two or more tracks, and the cost and expense of this improvement, maintenance and repair shall be borne by the said individual, firm or corporation. Such improvement, maintenance or repair shall be made whenever, in the opinion of the highway commissioner, the public needs require, and shall be made in accordance with plans and specifications approved by them.
>
> "The township trustees shall certify the assessment to the county auditor who shall place it upon the tax duplicate against the property of such individual, firm or corporation. The county treasurer shall collect such assessments in the manner as other taxes are collected, and in such payments as may be approved by the county auditor."

There is no doubt that under this section it is the duty of the Ohio Electric Railway Company to improve, in accordance with the plans and specifications of the state highway commissioner, that portion of the highway referred to by you and lying between the ends of the ties. There is not found in this section, however, a provision such as is found in section 6956, G. C., supra, to the effect that in case the railway company fails to improve the portion of highway occupied by it, as required by the proper authorities, then such authorities may proceed to improve the same and charge against said property the cost of the improvement and collect the same from the company. Such, however, must have been the intention of the legislature, and I think the right of the authorities to make the improvement and assess the same against the property of the company and collect the same is sufficiently established by the last paragraph of section 1231-4, G. C., to the effect that the township trustees shall certify the assessment to the county auditor, who shall place it upon the tax duplicate against the property of such individual, firm or corporation, and that the county treasurer shall collect such assessments in the manner as other taxes are collected, and in such payments as may be approved by the county auditor.

In view of the foregoing, it is my opinion that the state highway commissioner, in co-operation with the county commissioners of Madison County, may, after giving to the Ohio Electric Railway Company notice, and a reasonable opportunity to improve that portion of the highway lying between the ends of its ties, and upon a failure of such company to make such improvement in accordance with the plans and specifications of the state highway commissioner, proceed to improve the same in accordance with such plans and specifications, and that the cost of such improvement may be assessed against the property of the company and collected in the manner provided in the section in question. In view, however, of the omission from section 1231-4, G. C., of the provision found in section 6956, G. C., and referred to above, the question is not entirely free from doubt, and inasmuch as the loss would fall upon the county in case an attempted assessment should be enjoined by the courts, I suggest the advisability of proceeding as to a small section of roadway in the first instance, to the end that in the event of an unfavorable court decision the loss to the county by way of uncollected assessments may be minimized.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General

1556.

COUNTY CHILDREN'S HOME—SCHOOL OF SUCH INSTITUTION NOT UNDER SUPERVISION OF COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION UNLESS REQUESTED BY BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF ORPHANS' ASYLUM, OTHERWISE CONTROL OF SCHOOL IS IN BOARD OF TRUSTEES—PUBLIC SCHOOL.

Where the board of trustees of an orphans' asylum, established and maintained by a county, have not requested the board of education of the school district in which such asylum is located, in the exercise of the authority conferred by sections 7676 and 7677, G. C., 103 O. L., 896, to take charge of the school located at said asylum, established by the county and maintained for the education of the inmates of said institution, and to manage and control said school in the manner provided by section 7677, G. C., said school remains under the management and control of said board of trustees and is subject to the provisions of sections 3085 and 3088, G. C. Said school as managed and controlled by said board of trustees ir not a "public school" within the meaning of the statutes relating to public schools and governing the administration of the same and is not therefore under the supervision of the county board of education.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 10, 1916.

HON. GEORGE W. PORTER, Prosecuting Attorney, Greenville, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—In your letter under date of April 28th, you request my opinion as follows:

> "We have in this county an orphan asylum maintained by the county.
>
> "This orphan asylum has maintained for a number of years, separate and independent from any township or county supervision, a school for the education of the inmates of said asylum; and they have in no way been under county or township supervision, and have not, as provided by section 7676 of the General Code, requested that the board of education establish any school for them.
>
> "The question now arises as to whether or not the board of trustees of said asylum have the control and management of said school, and the right to employ teachers for said school, or whether the employment of teachers, control and management of said school should be under the board of education of said township.
>
> "Does this school come under the supervision of the county board of education?"

Sections 7676 and 7677 of the General Code (103 O. L., 896), provides as follows:

"Sec. 7676. The board of education in any district in which a children's home or orphan's asylum is established by law, when requested by the board of trustees of such children's home or orphans' asylum when no public school is situated reasonably near such home or asylum, shall establish a separate school in such home or asylum, so as to afford to the children therein, as far as practicable, the advantages and privileges of a common school education. Such schools must be continued in operation for such period as is provided by law for public schools. If the distributive share of school funds to which the school at such home or asylum is entitled by the enumeration of children in the institution is not sufficient to continue the schools for that length of time, the deficiency shall be paid out of the funds of the institution or by the county commissioners.

"Section 7677. All schools so established in any such home or asylum shall be under the control and management of the respective boards of education of the school districts in which such homes and institutions are located, and courses of study, length of school term, and all other school matters shall be uniform in the respective school districts. Teachers employed in such homes or institutions must have a teacher's elementary school certificate as provided by section seven thousand eight hundred and twenty-nine of the General Code."

You will observe that only such schools as are established in the manner provided by section 7676, G. C., in any such home or asylum designated in said section, shall be under the control and management of the boards of education of the respective school districts in which said homes or asylums are located, as provided in section 7677 G. C.

It seems clear, therefore, in view of your statement of facts with reference to the establishment and maintenance of the school mentioned in your inquiry that said school is not under the control and management of the board of education of the township rural school district in which the orphans' asylum in question is located unless there is some other provision of the statute authorizing said board of education to take charge of said school.

It might be argued that section 7690 G. C., provides this authority. The first part of said section reads as follows:

"Each board of education shall have the management and control of all of the public schools of whatever name or character in the district. It may appoint a superintendent of the public schools, truant officers and janitors, and fix their salaries."

It will be noted, however, that the above provision of section 7690 G. C., applies only to public schools, and it cannot be said that the school in question is a public school within the meaning of said provision of the statute for the reason that said school, as established and maintained by your county, is for the exclusive use of the children living in said orphans' asylum and is not open to the public generally. Nor can it be said that said school is a school of the district in which the orphans' asylum is located within the meaning of that part of section 7681 G. C., which provides that:

"The schools of each district shall be free to all youth between six and twenty-one years of age, who are children, wards or apprentices of actual residents of the district, * * *"

Section 3085 G. C. (103 O. L., 889), as found in the chapter of the General Code relating to orphans' asylums and children's homes, provides as follows:

"Subject to such rules and regulations as the trustees prescribe, the superintendent shall have entire charge and control of such home and the inmates therein. Upon the recommendation of the superintendent, the trustees may appoint a matron, assistant matron, teacher or teachers whose duties shall be the care of the inmates of the home, and to direct their employment, giving suitable physical, mental and moral training to them. Under the direction of the superintendent, the matron shall have the control, general management and supervision of the household duties of the home, and the matron, assistant matron, teacher or teachers, shall perform such other duties, and receive for their services such compensation as the trustees may by by-laws from time to time direct. They may be removed by the superintendent or at the pleasure of the trustees, or a majority of them. A licensed physician may be employed, who shall at least quarterly make a physical and mental examination of all the inmates of such home, and a record of such examination shall be kept. When necessary, experts may be employed to give the proper treatment, or a child may be sent to a suitable institution for treatment at the expense of the county."

Section 3088 G. C. (103 O. L., 889), as found in said chapter provides:

"During the two weeks ending on the fourth Saturday in July, the clerk of the board of trustees shall take and return to the county auditor the names and ages of all youth of school age in such home. The state common school fund, not otherwise appropriated by law, shall be apportioned in proportion to the enumeration of youth, to such home and other districts, subdistricts and joint subdistricts within the county. The amount of money due such home under such apportionment shall be set apart by the auditor of the county, and shall become a party of the children's home fund and used to maintain a common school in such home, and shall be paid out on certificate of the trustees, stating in the certificate, the amount and the purposes thereof. Thereupon the county auditor shall issue his warrant on the treasurer for the amount so certified. This section shall not apply to children's homes in counties where such children attend the public schools. When in their judgment advisable, the trustees may employ a teacher to teach the school in any such home, as provided by law, but such teacher must have a 'teacher's elementary school certificate' as provided for by section seven thousand eight hundred and twenty-nine of the General Code."

The above provisions of sections 3085 and 3088 G. C., vest the control of a school located at a county children's home or orphans' asylum, in the board of trustees of such home or asylum, and such board of trustees has the management and control of said school until such time as said school comes within the control of the board of education of the school district in which such home or asylum is located, in the manner as provided in sections 7676 and 7677 G. C., as above quoted.

I am of the opinion therefore, in answer to your first question that, inasmuch as the board of trustees of the orphans' asylum referred to in your inquiry has not requested the board of education of the school district in which said asylum is located, to assume control of the school located at said asylum, as provided in said sections 7676 and 7677 G. C., said school is still under the management and control of said board of trustees, and is subject to the above provisions of section 3085, G. C.

In view of the foregoing provisions of the statutes and the conclusions reached in answer to your first question, and in the absence of any provision of the statutes, relating to the powers and duties of the county board of education bringing said school under the supervision and control of said board of education, I am of the opinion that your second question must be answered in the negative.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1557.

BANKS AND BANKING—DEPOSITORIES OF PUBLIC FUNDS—HYPOTHECATED SECURITIES IN LIEU OF BOND—DEFAULT OF DEPOSITORY—TO WHAT EXTENT SAID SECURITIES MAY BE SOLD BY POLITICAL SUBDIVISION.

Banks and other institutions authorized by the laws of this state to become depositaries of public money may not prefer creditors, but when securities are hypothecated by a depositary to secure public funds in lieu of a bond, upon default of such depositary, said securities may be sold by the subdivision with which they are hypothecated to the extent of covering all its claims against said depositary, regardless of the financial condition of the latter and the claims of its other creditors.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 10, 1916.

Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—I have your letter of May 5, 1916, submitting the following inquiries:

> "(1) Do the respective laws of their incorporation authorize Ohio state banks, savings banks, and trust companies to constitute a preferred-creditor class of patrons?
>
> "(2) Under present laws, does a depositary contract (secured by bond) between a political subdivision of Ohio, and a banking institution doing business in this state, constitute that political subdivision a preferred creditor of that institution?
>
> "(3) Does the securing of a depositary contract by a surety bond, the premium of which has been paid, or by a deposit of bonds that are owned, by the depositary institution, create a creditor-debtor relation that is different from the relation created when personal security has been given?
>
> "(4) In the points above mentioned as to 'Preferred creditor' and 'Security,' do the powers of national banks differ from the powers of Ohio state banks, savings banks, and trust companies? If so, in what respect?"

My answer to your first and second inquiries is no.

The same answer is also made to your third inquiry with this qualification: that when securities are hypothecated in lieu of a bond upon default of the depositary bank, such securities may be sold by the subdivision with which they are hypothecated, to the extent of covering all its claims against said depositary bank regardless of the financial condition of said bank and the claims of its other creditors.

Your fourth inquiry is also answered in the negative.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1558.

APPROVAL CONTRACTS AND BONDS FOR CONSTRUCTION OF FIVE DORMITORY BUILDINGS—INSTITUTION FOR FEEBLE MINDED—COLUMBUS STATE HOSPITAL—OHIO HOSPITAL FOR EPILEPTICS, GALLIPOLIS, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 10, 1916.

Ohio Board of Administration, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—You have submitted to me five separate contracts and bonds calling, respectively, for the construction of dormitory buildings, which you have designated as design B-2a, B-2b, B-2c, B-2d and B-2e.

> "Dormitory building design B-2a to be located at the Institution for Feeble Minded;
> "Dormitory building design B-2b to be located at the Institution for Feeble Minded at the custodial farm;
> "Dormitory building design B-2c to be located at the Columbus State Hospital;
> "Dormitory building design B-2d to be located at the Ohio Hospital for Epileptics, Gallipolis, Ohio, and > "Dormitory building design B-2e to be located at the Ohio Hospital for Epileptics, Gallipolis, Ohio."

I have before me the minutes of your board, wherein it appears that your architects have reported that one Bert F. Smith, of Columbus, Ohio, was the lowest bidder for dormitory buildings B-2a, B-2b and B-2c, his bid for

> "Dormitory building B-2a, with the addition of alternate No. 27, and exclusive of face or common brick, excavation, concrete footings and foundation, amounting to the sum of $62,338.00;
> "Dormitory building B-2b, with the addition of alternate No. 27, and exclusive of face or common brick, excavation, concrete footings and foundation, amounting to the sum of $63,400.00; and > "Dormitory building B-2c, with the addition of alternate No. 27, and exclusive of face or common brick, excavation, concrete footings and foundation, amounting to the sum of $62,338.00;"

and that the partnership of S. Q. Henke & Sons, of Lancaster, Ohio, was the lowest bidder for dormitory buildings B-2d and B-2e, the bid of said partnership for

> "Dormitory building B-2d, with the addition of alternate No. 27, and exclusive of face or common brick, being in the sum of $62,856.00; and
> "Dormitory building B-2e, with the addition of alternate No. 27, and exclusive of face or common brick, being in the sum of $62,856.00."

It appears that your board has let the contracts to the above named parties, at their respective bids.

I have examined the advertisement calling for bids in this matter, and find that the same has been in all respects in accordance with law.

I have examined the contracts made and entered into by your board with Bert F. Smith, of Columbus, Ohio, for dormitory buildings B-2a, B-2b and B-2c and the bonds accompanying said contracts, and find the same to be in all respects in accordance with law; and have likewise examined the contracts between your board and the partnership of S. Q. Henke & Sons for dormitory buildings B-2d and B-2e and the bonds accompanying said contracts, and find the same to be in all respects in accordance with law.

In regard to the bonds accompanying the contracts with S. Q. Henke & Sons, I note that said bonds are personal bonds, and since under section 2318 G. C., it is provided that no proposal shall be considered unless accompanied by a bond of the bidder with sufficient sureties, and you have not only considered the proposal of S. Q. Henke & Sons but have also awarded the contract to them, I assume that your board is satisfied that the sureties on the bonds accompanying the two contracts are sufficient.

I have the certificate of the auditor of state that there are sufficient funds in each of the various appropriations to cover the amounts to be paid under the contract, and have this day filed with the auditor of state the five several contracts and bonds, and have returned to your architects the papers, other than those filed with the auditor of state, which were submitted to me.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1559.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, MERCER COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 10, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of Mercer County, Ohio, in the sum of $4,600.00 for Rutschilling road improvement in Granville Township, being eight bonds of $500.00 each and one bond of $600.00."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the county commissioners of Mercer County, Ohio, in connection with the above bond issue; also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the form submitted, and executed by the proper officers will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of Mercer County, Ohio.

Respectfully.
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1560.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS, BOND ISSUE, MERCER COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 10, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of Mercer county, Ohio, in the sum of $10,500.00, for Sloan road improvement in Washington township, being twenty-one bonds of five hundred dollars each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the county commissioners of Mercer county, Ohio, in connection with the above bond issue; also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds, drawn in accordance with the form submitted, and executed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of Mercer county, Ohio.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1561.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE MERCER COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 10, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of Mercer county, Ohio, in the sum of $2,500.00 for Cummins road improvement in Washington township, being five bonds of five hundred dollars each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the county commissioners of Mercer county, Ohio, in connection with the above bond issue; also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the form submitted, and executed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of Mercer county, Ohio.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1562.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS, BOND ISSUE, MERCER COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 10, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of Mercer county, Ohio, in the sum of $20,500.00 for Addy No. 2 road improvement, Dublin township, being forty-one bonds of five hundred dollars each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the county commissioners of Mercer county, Ohio, in connection with the above bond issue; also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds, drawn in accordance with the form submitted, and executed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of Mercer county, Ohio.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1563.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, MERCER COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 10, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of Mercer county, Ohio, in the sum of $3,600.00 for Weitzel road improvement, being five bonds of $720.00 each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the county commissioners of Mercer county, Ohio, in connection with the above bond issue; also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds, drawn in accordance with the form submitted and executed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of Mercer county, Ohio.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1564.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, MERCER COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 10, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of Mercer county, Ohio, as follows: (a) Romel joint road improvement, east, $2,000.00, being five bonds of four hundred dollars each. (b) Romel joint road improvement, west, $2,400.00, being five bonds of four hundred and eighty dollars each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the county commissioners of Mercer and Darke counties, relative to the issuance of the above bonds, and also the bond and coupon forms attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds, drawn in accordance with the form submitted and executed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of Mercer county, Ohio. Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1565.

ATTORNEY'S FEES ALLOWED BY COURT UNDER PROVISIONS OF SECTION 2923 G. C., 106 O. L., 105, FINAL—WHEN PROPERLY CERTIFIED AUDITOR MAY ISSUE WARRANT—ALLOWANCE NOT REQUIRED BY COUNTY COMMISSIONERS.

The allowance by a court of reasonable compensation to a taxpayer's attorney, under the provisions of section 2923 G. C., as amended 106 O. L., 105, is final and conclusive, and requires no further allowance by the board of county commissioners. When the amount so allowed by a court is properly certified to the auditor he may issue a warrant therefor.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 10, 1916.

Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—I have your letter of May 8, 1916, submitting the following inquiry:

"Is it necessary for the county commissioners to make an allowance before payment by the auditor of an allowance made by the court for attorney fees under section 2923 General Code, as amended 106 O. L., page 105?"

Section 2923 G. C., as amended 106 O. L., 105, under which your foregoing inquiry arises, provides as follows:

"Section 2923. If the court hearing such case is satisfied that such taxpayer is entitled to the relief prayed for in his petition, and judgment is ordered in his favor, he shall be allowed his costs, including a reasonable compensation to his attorney."

By virtue of the provisions of this section when a taxpayer is successful in his action it is provided that he shal e allowed his costs including a reasonable compensation to his attorney. That is to say, when the court renders a judgment in favor of the taxpayer it is required by the provisions of the foregoing section to also allow said taxpayer his costs, including a reasonable compensation to his attorney. When this is done you inquire if such compensation so allowed by the court must also have the allowance of the county commissioners before a warrant is issued for its payment. Undoubtedly such action by the county commissioners is necessary, unless, as provided in section 2460, G. C., it is within the exceptions named in said section and may be considered to be an amount "fixed" by the court, in which event it may be paid upon the proper certificate to the auditor without allowance by the county commissioners.

The determination of the question involved, therefore, depends upon what construction shall be given the term "allowed" as employed in said section 2923, G. C. I am of the opinion that said word as employed in this section is intended to be interpreted in the sense of "fixed," and that the court is authorized by said section to finally determine the amount to be paid counsel for a taxpayer without the intervention of any other authority. This conclusion is based to some extent upon the significance of the term "allow" as recognized in the case of Long v. Commissioners, 75 O. S., 539. This was an action in which the court construed the provisions of section 7246, R. S., now section 13618, G. C., which provides in substance that attorneys appointed by the court to defend indigent prisoners shall receive such compensation as the court approves. Commenting upon the meaning of the term "approves" as used in said section the court in this case said:

> "The talismanic words, 'examined' and 'allowed' are absent. The word 'approves' is not the equivalent of 'allowed' or of the word 'fixed,' which is sometimes used to express a similar sense. The word 'approve' seems to relate for its object to something made, done or said by another. If the legislature intended by this section, so worded, to invest the trial court with exclusive power to determine what compensation should be paid by the county in such cases, it has been unfortunate in the use of our common language. It rather appears to us that the trial court is authorized to suggest the amount which should be paid—to approve of a certain sum that should be paid, relying on the commissioners to respect and give proper weight to the opinion of the court."

The court by inference plainly indicates in this case that if the word "allowed" had been used instead of the word "approves" in the section then under consideration a different effect might be given the statute. In the present case, if the word "allowed" as used in said section 2923 G. C., is not taken in the sense of concluding the amounts to be paid, then it is given no more effect in said statute than would be given said provisions had the word "approves" been used in its stead. This interpretation would be in direct conflict with the distinction made by the court in the case above cited in the meaning of the two words.

But there are other very patent reasons why the legislature intended the court's action to be final under said section. In very many, perhaps the majority, of cases in which suit may be brought by a taxpayer, as provided in sections 2921 and 2922 G. C., the board of county commissioners are involved either directly or indirectly. It would be manifestly improper and unfair that the payment of counsel fees for plaintiff in cases in which county commissioners were interested as defendants should depend upon the latter's allowance.

Independent of the foregoing considerations it may be further urged with great reason that the allowance of said compensation is a judgment rendered by the court for the amount so fixed. This certainly is the effect of an allowance of costs to the plaintiff and I assume that it would not be contended that the amount allowed for costs was not a judgment and could not be collected as such. The statute requires that the court shall allow costs including compensation. No distinction may therefore be made in the character of the court's action as applied to costs and as applied to compensation. If the allowance of costs is a judgment it is also a judgment as to compensation and may only be changed or modified by a court of higher jurisdiction.

I am, therefore, of the opinion that the action of the court under section 2923 G. C., as amended 106 O. L., 105, in allowing reasonable compensation to a taxpayer's attorney, is final and conclusive and that the amount so allowed by the court does not require the allowance of the county commissioners and upon the proper certificate the county auditor may issue his warrant therefor.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1566.

APPROVAL, RESOLUTIONS FOR ROAD IMPROVEMENTS IN ROSS AND LAKE COUNTIES.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 10, 1916.

HON. CLINTON COWEN, State Highway Commissioner, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of May 4 and May 5, 1916, transmitting to me for examination final resolutions relating to the following roads:

"Ross County—Cincinnati-Chillicothe road, Sec. 'A,' Pet. No. 1669, I. C. H. No. 8.

"Lake County—Painesville-Warren road, Pet. No. 2559, Sec. No. 'G,' I. C. H. No. 153."

I find these resolutions to be in regular form, and am, therefore, returning the same with my approval endorsed thereon.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1567.

STATE HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT—APPROVAL OF BONDS OF CERTAIN EMPLOYES.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 10, 1916.

HON. CLINTON COWEN, State Highway Commissioner, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of May 6, 1916, transmitting to me for approval bonds of the following employes of the State highway department:

W. H. Smith, Division-Engineer	$4,000 00
E. W. Davis, Division-Engineer	4,000 00
D. W. Seitz, Division-Engineer	4,000 00
T. T. Richards, Division-Engineer	4,000 00

A. S. Rea, Test-Engineer	2,000 00
R. E. Lowther, Bookkeeper	1,000 00
F. E. Withgott, Engineer	3,000 00
J. W. Graham, Engineer	3,000 00
G. R. Logue, Engineer	2,000 00

I find these bonds to be properly drawn and executed, and am therefore returning the same with my approval as to form endorsed thereon.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1568.

BOARD OF HEALTH—TRANSPORTATION AND MAINTENANCE OF LEPER —CITY OF NORWALK IS AUTHORIZED TO PROVIDE NECESSARY FUNDS.

Pursuant to an order of the board of health relative to the transportation of a leper to a leprosorium in the Philippine Islands and his maintenance therein, the city of Norwalk is authorized and empowered to provide the funds necessary to carry such order into effect.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 11, 1916.

HON. IRVING CARPENTER, Prosecuting Attorney, Norwalk, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Your letter of April 29, 1916, asking my opinion received and is as follows:

> "Have just been informed that through your efforts the case of Edward Newsbaumer, leper, was finally determined yesterday, with an arrangement for Mr. Newsbaumer to go to the Philippine Islands for treatment there, and not to come to Norwalk.
>
> "It will certainly be a great help to Mr. Newsbaumer and very much in his interest to go there, rather than to come here and be isolated, as he would have to have been.
>
> "Our city board of health and Mr. Wickham, the solicitor, and I, have not been able to determine by whom the expense of transporting and maintaining Mr. Newsbaumer should be paid, whether by the county, township or city, any one of which is willing to pay it, but we want the payments to meet the approval of the bureau of inspection. Mr. Wickham and I have agreed to submit the question to you and follow your advice in the matter. If you will tell us how you think this should be done, we will appreciate it very much."

No power to regulate public health matters as such is vested in the county commissioners, and in order for them to have any part in the matter under consideration it would necessarily have to be done upon the theory of poor relief, i. e., caring for those who are unable to support themselves. No facts appear here to justify relief on this theory, and even if such facts existed the method of administering such relief is fully set out in the statute, and the provisions of law pertaining thereto lead to but one result, namely, the support and maintenance of the recipient thereof within the county and do not contemplate nor authorize the incurring of expenditures such as those involved in your inquiry, and no general powers are conferred upon the county commissioners under which such action as is desired in this case could be justified.

The same is true of the township trustees as such, and the powers of the township trustees when acting as a board of health under sections 3391 to 3394 G. C., both inclusive, are limited to cases which arise outside of a municipality. So that authority for the contemplated action must be found if at all in some provision of law relative to municipalities.

Section 3646 G. C., found in the chapter of the General Code containing the enumeration of powers of municipalities, provides as follows:

> "To provide for the public health, to secure the inhabitants of the corporation from the evils of contagious, malignant and infectious diseases. * * *"

Chapter II of subdivision II, division V, title XII of the General Code vests in the municipal board of health or health officer the power to regulate matters pertaining to public health in the municipality, and section 4413 of the General Code provides:

> "The board of health of a municipality may make such orders and regulations as it deems necessary * * * for the public health, the prevention or restriction of disease * * *"

I see no reason why under the provisions of this section the board of health of the city of Norwalk should not make an order that a person afflicted with leprosy should at the expense of the municipality be transported to and maintained in any leprosorium to which he can be admitted.

I am therefore of the opinion that neither the county nor the township is authorized to pay the expense of transporting the person in question to the Philippine Islands, but that the city of Norwalk is authorized to pay the expense of the transportation to and the maintenance of such person in a leprosorium in the Philippine Islands pursuant to an order of the board of health of such municipality.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1569.

MUNICIPAL CORPORATION—NOT ENTITLED TO PART OF COUNTY BRIDGE FUND—COUNTY COMMISSIONERS—NOT AUTHORIZED TO EXPEND COUNTY FUNDS UPON BRIDGES WITHIN MUNICIPALITIES UNLESS SUCH BRIDGES ARE ON STATE OR COUNTY ROADS.

No city or village now has a right to demand and receive from the county any part of the bridge fund produced by a levy upon property within the municipality.

County commissioners are not authorized to expend county funds upon bridges within municipalities unless such bridges are on state or county roads, or roads of the classes referred to in sections 2421 and 7551 G. C.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 11, 1916.

HON. GEORGE THORNBURG, Prosecuting Attorney, St. Clairsville, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I acknowledge the receipt of your communication of March 28, 1916, which communication reads as follows:

> "In 1903 a bridge was built from the south end of West street, in the village of Bridgeport, Belmont county, Ohio, across Wheeling creek and the valley through which the creek flows, a distance of about eight hundred feet, connecting with Howard street on the south.

"This bridge is a steel structure, constructed at a cost of $25,000; $12,000 was contributed by the village of Bridgeport, $10,000 by the county commissioners of Belmont county, and $3,000 by some of the citizens of Bridgeport. At the time the bridge was erected the village of Bridgeport agreed to keep it in repair.

"The bridge is now in a very bad state of repair, and has been closed from public travel for a little more than a year. Responsible architects have estimated the cost of necessary repairs to place it in a safe condition for public travel at about $9,000.

"The village of Bridgeport has some money, but not near enough to make this improvement. They want the county commissioners to assist them by giving them at least the portion of the bridge fund that is levied upon the village of Bridgeport, or to the extent of such other amount as the commissioners are authorized to do.

"Prior to the time this bridge was erected there was no street or road across the creek and valley at the place where the bridge was erected.

"Section 2421 G. C., is not clear as to whether a village or city has a right to demand and receive its portion of the bridge fund. We have some decisions that prevent commissioners from expending money on bridges in municipalities that are not on state or county roads.

"The county really has an investment of $10,000 in this bridge, yet we are not clear as to the right of the county commissioners to contribute towards the repair of the bridge.

"The village of Bridgeport has its tax rate at the present time as high as it can be made under the law.

"This bridge is of great public importance, as it connects two populous districts in which there is no other bridge within about a mile.

"Your predecessor, in opinion 1007 in vol. I, 1914 Reports, at page 864, decided under section 2421, villages did not have a right to demand and receive a part of the bridge fund.

"The question we desire specifically answered is: Can the county commissioners assist in the repair of this bridge? If so, under what authority of law are they given that right?

"Since the village of Bridgeport is now levying fifteen mills, what can it do to raise more money for the bridge?"

Referring first to the question of the right of the village of Bridgeport to demand and receive any part of the bridge fund levied by the county commissioners upon the property within the village, I beg to state that this question was first passed upon by my predecessor, Hon. U. G. Denman, in an opinion rendered to Hon. E. E. Sayles, prosecuting attorney of Sandusky county, on October 28, 1910, and found at page 781 of the attorney-general's report for 1910-1911, in which opinion it was held in effect that no city or village now has a right to demand and receive any part of the bridge fund levied upon property therein. As stated by you, the same conclusion was expressed by my predecessor, Hon. Timothy S. Hogan, in an opinion rendered to Hon. H. B. Emerson, city solicitor of Bellefontaine, on June 26, 1914, and found at page 864 of the attorney-general's report for that year.

I fully concur in the views expressed in the two opinions referred to above, and have expressed a similar conclusion in opinion No. 1331, rendered to Hon. Ortha O. Barr, prosecuting attorney of Allen county, on March 8, 1916. I therefore advise you that the village of Bridgeport is not entitled, under the statutes, to demand and receive any part of the bridge tax levied by the county commissioners upon the property within the village.

As suggested by you, the decisions of the courts indicate that county commissioners are not authorized to expend county funds upon bridges within municipalities unless such bridges are on state or county roads, or roads of the several classes referred to in sections 2421 and 7557 G. C.

The following is quoted from the opinion of the court in the case of city of New ark v. Jones, 16 O. C. C., 563; 9 O. C. D., 196:

> "There is no direct authority anywhere that county commissioners have the right to build a bridge on a street, as such. If it is a state or county road, or any of those denominated in those statutes, passing through a city, then they have that right under the statute; but not because it is a street, as such, that they have the right to construct these bridges."

To the same effect see the following cases:

> City of Newark v. McDowell, 16 O. C. C., 556; 9 O. C. D., 260.
> Jones v. Commissioners, 2 O. C. C. (n. s.) 14; 15 O. C. D., 510.

In view of the foregoing, and since it appears that the bridge in question is not situated upon a state or county road, or any road falling within the classifications named in sections 2421 and 7557 G. C., I advise you that the county commissioners are not authorized to assist in repairing the bridge in question. The duty of repairing the bridge rests upon the village of Bridgeport, and the authority and duty of the village is exclusive.

I understand the last paragraph of your letter to mean that the present aggregate tax rate in the village of Bridgeport is 15 mills, and if all the items going to make up this rate fall within the provision of section 5649-5b, G. C., then it follows that an increased rate of taxes cannot be levied in the village for the purpose of repairing the bridge in question, since there is no statute under which the repair of this bridge may be regarded as an emergency, in view of the circumstances set forth in your communication. The only relief that I am able to suggest is to be obtained by a reduction of expenditures by the village for other purposes, in order to produce a surplus which might be applied to the repair of the bridge.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1570.

OFFICES INCOMPATIBLE—TOWNSHIP OR RURAL ASSESSOR—MEMBER OF BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF OHIO SOLDIERS' AND SAILORS' ORPHANS' HOME AT XENIA, OHIO.

An assessor of a township or ward is not eligible to act as a member of the board of trustees of the Ohio Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans' Home at Xenia during his term of office as assessor.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 11, 1916.

HON. FRANK B. WILLIS, Governor of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

MY DEAR GOVERNOR:—Your request for an opinion is as follows:

> "Can a citizen of Ohio, otherwise qualified, act as a member of the board of trustees of the Ohio Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans' Home at Xenia, Ohio, and at the same time act as assessor for the township or ward in which he resides?"

Section 5590 of the General Code, which is section 95 of the Parrett-Whittemore bill, so-called (106 O. L., 270), is as follows:

> "An assessor, member of a county board of revision or an assistant, * * * or other employe of a county board of revision, shall not, during the term of office, or period of public service, * * * hold any other public office of trust or profit, except offices in the state militia or the office of notary public."

In view of the express provisions contained in the section quoted above, it is my opinion that an assessor for the township or ward in which he resides may not act as a member of the board of trustees of the Ohio Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans' Home at Xenia, Ohio.

In this connection permit me to invite your attention to opinion No. 1415, rendered your office under date of March 24, 1916, which relates to the same subject matter, and deals with the question of a member of the board of revision holding office as a member of the board of trustees of the Ohio Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans' Home at Xenia, Ohio.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1571.

CHATTEL MORTGAGE OR LOAN BROKERS—ANY SUCH BROKER WHO OBTAINS STATE LICENSE IS NOT REQUIRED TO PAY ANY ADDITIONAL LICENSE FEE TO A MUNICIPALITY:

Any "chattel mortgage or loan broker" who is required under the provisions of section 6346-1, G. C., et seq., known as the Lloyd act, to obtain a state license, may not be required by a municipality to pay any further or additional license fee.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 12, 1916.

HON. HARRY T. HALL, Superintendent of Banks, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your letter of April 17th as follows:

> "Some of the municipalities of the state are passing ordinances requiring persons engaged in business under the Lloyd act to take out a municipal license in addition to that required by the statute.
>
> "I doubt very much whether a municipality has the power in the face of the Lloyd act to legislate upon the subject of chattel loans or to exact from licensees of the state an additional fee to do business.
>
> "Will you please hand us your opinion upon this subject so that it may be promulgated before considerable legislation is had by the municipalities upon this subject?"

Before considering the direct question submitted in your foregoing inquiry, it must be determined first, independent of the provisions of the Lloyd act, to what extent the authority of a municipality goes in the matter of licensing the various persons, firms, partnerships, associations and corporations named in section 6346-1 G. C., as amended 106 O. L., 281, which is one of the sections of said act. The only authority that may be exercised by a municipality in this respect is conferred by the provisions of section 3670 G. C., which provides as follows:

> "Section 3670. To regulate and license manufacturers and dealers in explosives, pawnbrokers, chattel mortgage and salary loan brokers, * * *. In the granting of any license a municipal corporation may exact and receive such sums of money as the council shall deem proper and expedient."

It was held in the case of French v. City of Toledo, 81 O. S., 160, that this section authorizing municipal corporations to license and regulate chattel mortgage and salary loan brokers, does not authorize the exaction of a license from persons engaged, otherwise than as brokers, in the business of loaning money upon loans secured by mortgages on personal property.

Commenting upon the scope of the authority conferred in this section, Summers, J., said in this case:

> "The affidavit charges that he engaged in the business of loaning money upon loans secured by a mortgage on personal property without first having obtained a license. The statute does not authorize municipalities to require a license to transact such business, or to regulate it. No general authority is referred to, under which, in the absence of the specific provision, the ordinance may be upheld. And if there was a general welfare clause this special provision would be construed to contain all the power in that respect granted, and to exclude any such power under the general grant."

In view of the interpretation of this section by the court in the foregoing case, it is clear that the power of a municipality to license in the matters involved here is very limited and confined to the specific persons named in said section and may not be extended by implication. In other words, in so far as that authority may be involved in this inquiry, it may be said to extend to and include only "chattel mortgage and salary loan brokers."

The provisions of the Lloyd act, as found in section 6346-1, supra, are much more comprehensive. This section provides:

> "Section 6346-1. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, partnership, association or corporation, to engage, or continue, in the business of making loans, on plain, endorsed, or guaranteed notes, or due bills, or otherwise, or upon the mortgage or pledge of chattels or personal property of any kind, or of purchasing or making loans on salaries or wage earnings, or of furnishing guarantee or security in connection with any loan or purchase, as aforesaid, at a charge or rate of interest in excess of eight per centum per annum, including all charges, without first having obtained a license so to do from the superintendent of banks and otherwise complying with the provisions of this act."

It is further provided in section 6346-5 G. C., also a part of said act, that:

> "Nothing in this act shall apply to pawn brokers who obtain a municipal license as provided in sections 6337 to 6346, inclusive, of the General Code or to national banks or to state banks or any person, partnership, association or corporation whose business now comes under the supervision of the superintendent of banks."

The state, therefore, in the enactment of this law has included within its provisions a much greater diversity of persons, companies and corporations than is included in its delegation of power to a municipality as expressed in section 3670, supra, and further the state has based its classification upon entirely different grounds from those named in said section. The thing which determines whether a license is required by the state is the rate of interest charged. In the case of a municipality, under section 3670, supra, it is the business only which fixes the status of the parties. A municipality may require a license in the cases specified in said section regardless of the rate of interest charged in the operation of said business. In other words, it may require a license upon the sole ground that the person involved is a chattel mortgage and salary loan broker. While it is very probable that all "chattel mortgage and salary loan brokers" by reason of the rate of interest charged may be brought within the provisions of the state law aforesaid, such is not necessarily the case and it therefore follows that such persons may not be within the operation of said Lloyd act, in which event no question could be raised as to the right of a municipality to require a license and to charge therefor.

I have referred to these matters because in case such persons are required to obtain a state license the Lloyd act expressly prohibits any further demands against them either by the state or a municipality, and I am therefore unable to understand how any question may be raised as to any rights of a municipality to exact any additional license fee from any person within the operation of said state law. It is provided in section 6346-2 G. C., as amended 106 O. L., 282, among other things that:

> "No other or further license fee shall be required from any such licensee by the state or any municipality."

This provision aforesaid furnishes a complete answer to your inquiry as applied to licensees under said state law. As to such persons a municipality is wholly without power to require additional license fees. The effect of said provision is to expressly repeal all delegation of power under section 3670, supra, "to exact and receive such sums of money as the council shall deem proper and expedient" for licenses to chattel mortgage and loan brokers who by the terms of the state law aforesaid are required to obtain a state license. This conclusion is further strengthened by the provisions of the repealing clause of said Lloyd act, being section 3 of section 6346-10, G. C., as amended 106 O. L., 285, which provides as follows:

> "That original sections 6346-1, 6346-2, 6346-3, 6346-4, 6346-5, 6346-6 and 6346-7 of the General Code, inclusive, and all other acts or parts of acts inconsistent with this act be, and the same are hereby repealed."

Some question may be made as to the applicability of this conclusion to municipalities which are operating under home rule charters. As to such municipalities, section 3 of article XVIII of the constitution only delegates such powers to enforce regulations in police, sanitary and other similar matters as are not in conflict with general laws. The license required by the state under said Lloyd act being a police regulation, such municipalities are therefore within the inhibitions of said section 6346-2, quoted above, and under its provisions no distinction may be made in their favor.

I must advise, therefore, in answer to your inquiry, which I understand from you is confined to the question of the right to demand and exact additional fees, that municipalities may not require an additional license fee from any "chattel mortgage or loan broker" who is required under said section 6346-1, G. C., et seq., to obtain a state license.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1572.

COUNTY AND DISTRICT SUPERINTENDENTS OF SCHOOLS—WHO ARE ELIGIBLE UNDER SECTIONS 4744-4, G. C., and 4744-5, G. C., TO SERVE AS SUCH SUPERINTENDENTS.

Section 4744-4, G. C., subdivisions (1), (2) and (3) and section 4744-5, G. C., subdivision (1), 104 O. L., 143, require that county and district superintendents shall have been engaged or employed for the prescribed length of time in the management, control, supervision and superintendence of schools and teachers and their conduct of the same in a similar manner and to a like degree to that required of them in the performance of the duties imposed upon them as such superintendents by law.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 12, 1916.

HON. F. B. PEARSON, Superintendent of Public Instruction, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Yours under date of May 1, 1916, is as follows:

> "According to section 4744-4, only such persons are eligible to serve as county superintendents who may qualify according to one of the five clauses of said section.

"According to section 4744-5, only such persons are eligible to serve as district superintendent who may qualify according to one of the three clauses of section 4744-5.

"In (1) and (3) of section 4744-4, the phrase 'experience as superintendent' is used; in (2) section 4744-4 and (2) section 4744-5 'experience in supervision' and in (1) section 4744-5 the phrase 'experience in school supervision' is used.

"The department of public instruction requests your official opinion as to the definition of the above mentioned phrase, which is intended to apply in the interpretation of the clauses in which they respectively occur."

Section 4744 G. C., 104 O. L., 142, provides for the election of a county superintendent of schools by the county board of education of each county.

Section 4738 G. C., 104 O. L., 140, requires the division of the county into supervision districts by the county board of education and by section 4739, G. C., 104 O. L., 140, it is provided in part that each supervision district shall be under the direction of a district superintendent, to be elected by the presidents of the village and rural boards of education within such district, with certain exceptions not material to the present consideration.

Section 4744-4 and section 4744-5 G. C., 104 O. L., 143, defining the classes of persons eligible to the positions of county superintendents and district superintendents, respectively, read in part as follows:

"Sec. 4744-4 G. C. Only such persons shall be eligible as county superintendents who shall have:

"(1) Five years' experience as superintendent and a high school life certificate; or

"(2) Six years' experience in teaching, two years' additional experience in supervision, and at least a three-year county high school certificate; or

"(3) Five years' experience as superintendent and a county high school certificate, and also be a graduate from a recognized institution of college or university rank; or * * *

"Sec. 4744-5, G. C. Only such persons shall be eligible as district superintendents who shall have:

"(1) Three years' experience in school supervision, and at least a county high school certificate; or * * *"

Your inquiry involves a determination of the meaning of three words of every day use in the ordinary affairs of men, viz., experience, superintend and supervise.

"Experience" is defined as:

"The state or fact of having made trial or proof, or of having acquired knowledge, wisdom, skill, etc., by actual trial or observation." Century dictionary.

"Practical acquaintance with any matter by personal observation or trial of it, or by feeling its effects, by living through it, or the like. Webster's dictionary."

That is to say, to have had experience in the sense in which the term "experience" is used in the statutes above quoted in a certain matter or class of work, activity or profession, means that the person in question has been actually engaged in such matter, work, activity or profession. One gains experience in teaching by being engaged in the work, profession or occupation of teaching, or, in other words, by being a teacher.

"Superintend" is defined:

"I. To have charge and direction of, especially of some work or movement regulate the conduct and progress of; be responsible for; manage; supervise;
"II. To have charge; exercise supervision. Standard dictionary."

From the same authority I quote the following:

"Supervise: To have general oversight of; especially as an officer vested with authority; superintend; inspect."

It will thus be seen that the terms "superintend" and "supervise" are, in their general sense, synonymous, and it will be seen from an examination of the act in which the provisions under consideration are found, that these terms are used as synonymous and interchangeably throughout the same, as shown by the provisions thereof, as follows:

"Sec. 7706 G. C., 104 O. L. 144: A district superintendent shall visit the schools under his charge, direct and assist teachers in the performance of their duties, classify and control the promotion of pupils, and shall spend not less than three-fourths of his working time in actual class room supervision. He shall report to the county superintendent annually, and oftener if required, as to all matters under his supervision. * * *

"Sec. 7706-3 G. C., 104 O. L. 144: The county superintendent shall hold monthly meetings with the district superintendents and advise with them on matters of school efficiency. He shall visit and inspect the schools under his supervision as often as possible, and with the advice of the district superintendent shall outline a schedule of school visitation for teachers of the county school district.

"Sec. 7706-4 G. C., 104 O. L. 144: The county superintendent shall have direct supervision over the training of teachers in any training courses which may be given in any county school district and shall personally teach not less than one hundred nor more than two hundred periods in any one year.

"Sec. 4728 G. C. 104 O. L., 133: Each county district shall be under the supervision and control of a county board of education. * * *

"Sec 4738 G. C., 106 O. L., 396: The county board of education shall divide the county school district * * * into supervision districts. * * * The territory of such supervision district shall be contiguous and compact. If in the formation of the supervision districts consideration shall be given to the number of teachers employed, etc. * * * The county board of education may at their discretion require the county superintendent to personally supervise not to exceed forty teachers. * * * This shall supersede the necessity of district supervision.

"Sec. 4739 G. C., 104 O. L., 133: Each supervision district shall be under the direction of a district superintendent. Such district superintendent shall be elected, etc."

Section 4740 G. C., 106 O. L., 439, provides for the continuance of a village or rural school district, which maintains a first grade school and employs a superintendent, as a separate district "under the direct supervision of the county superintendent. Such district shall continue to be under the direct supervision of the county superintendent."

In section 4742 G. C., 104 O. L., 133, there is reference to supervision districts in connection with the election of district superintendent.

In section 4743 G. C., 104 O. L., 133, the compensation of district superintendent is made payable by the state and by the supervision district.

From the above it clearly appears that the duty of both the county and district superintendent, at least in part, consists of the supervision and direction of teachers,— that is to say, their superintendence consists of the supervision of teachers and their conduct of the schools in which such teachers are employed,— and, as used in the statutes under consideration, "experience as superintendent" and "experience in supervision" may be taken to mean substantially one and the same thing.

From the foregoing it follows that for a person to have had "experience as superintendent," "experience in supervision" or "experience in school supervision," required by section 4744-4 and section 4744-5 G. C., supra, it is necessary that such person shall have been engaged in the work, business or profession of superintending managing, directing and controlling teachers in the conduct of the schools in which such teachers are employed.

It is manifestly the purpose of the provisions under consideration to require that both the county and district superintendents shall have been, prior to their election or appointment, as such, engaged in that class of work necessary to the proper performance of the duties imposed upon them by statute, as such superintendents, in the control, direction, managenent and supervision of teachers in their conduct of the schools under their charge, for the prescribed length of time. That is to say, it was intended to require that all those persons who shall be chosen to the positions of county and district superintendents shall have been actually engaged for the prescribed period of time in the management, control, supervision and superintendence of schools and teachers and their conduct of the same in a similar manner and to a like degree to that required in the performance of their duties as such superintendents. This, in my opinion, is what was contemplated in the use of the phrases referred to in your inquiry. The test in every case is the class of work in which, rather than the name under which, the person in question has theretofore been employed.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1573.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, VILLAGE OF LOGAN, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 12, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

> "RE:—Bonds of the village of Logan in the sum of $3,500.00 for the purpose of purchasing a motor fire apparatus, being seven bonds of five hundred dollars each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of council and other officers of the village of Logan, Ohio, in connection with the above bond issue, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the form submitted and signed by the proper officers will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of the village of Logan, Ohio.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1574.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, VILLAGE OF LOGAN, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 12, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of the village of Logan, Ohio, in the sum of $13,000.00 in anticipation of the collection of special assessments for the improvement of Zanesville Avenue, from the north line of Hunter Street to the corporation line, being twenty bonds of six hundred and fifty dollars each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of council and other officers of the village of Logan, in connection with the above bond issue, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the form submitted, and signed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of the village of Logan, Ohio. Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1575.

CASS HIGHWAY LAW—INTERPRETATION OF SECTION 7199 G. C., AS TO GIVING OF NOTICE FOR LETTING OF CONTRACT FOR IMPROVING AND MAINTENANCE OF ROADS OR LETTING OF BRIDGE CONTRACTS—SECTIONS OF GENERAL CODE REPEALED BY IMPLICATION BY REASON OF ENACTMENT OF ABOVE SECTION—IN ADVERTISING SALE OF COUNTY ROAD BONDS, SECTION 6929, G. C., 106 O. L., 603, GOVERNS—SECTIONS 2343, 2344 AND 2345 G. C., ARE NOT REPEALED BY CASS HIGHWAY LAW.

Where county commissioners determine to construct, improve, maintain or repair a road or bridge by contract, the manner of giving notice of the letting of such contract is governed by the provisions of section 7199 G. C., 106 O. L., 616. Sections 2352 and 2353 G. C., in so far as they relate to the letting of bridge contracts, and sections 6252 and 6253 G. C., in so far as they relate to the letting of road and bridge contracts, are repealed by implication by section 7199 G. C., to the extent that they are inconsistent therewith.

A sale of county road bonds under section 6929 G. C., is to be advertised in the manner specially provided in that section, and the provisions of section 2294 G. C., do not apply to the giving of notice of such sale.

The provisions of sections 2343, 2344 and 2345 G. C., providing for bridge bids on plans proposed by the bidder, are not repealed by the Cass highway law. Where, however, a bridge bid is submitted on a plan proposed by the bidder, the plan must be approved by the county highway superintendent, and where the entire cost of the bridge exceeds $10,000.00 the plan must be approved by the state highway commissioner. Such approval should be obtained before a contract is awarded.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 15, 1916.

Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—I have your communication of March 28, 1916, which communication reads as follows:

"We would respectfully request your written opinion upon the following questions:

"Section 7199, G. C. (Cass act 105-106, O. L., page 616), provides that where the estimated cost exceeds $200.00 and is less than $500.00, publication shall be made upon posters for ten days prior to letting; if estimated cost exceeds $500.00 same may be let after advertising once, not later than two weeks prior to letting, in one newspaper.

"Section 2353 G. C., provides that where estimated cost does not exceed $1,000.00, notice shall be given for fifteen days on a bulletin board. Section 2352 G. C., provides that notice shall be given by publication in two of the principal newspapers of the county for four weeks, etc.

"Section 6252 G. C., provides that notices to contractors shall be published in two newspapers of opposite politics, and section 6253, G. C., provides for a German paper.

"Question 1. What section governs in work to be let under said section 7199 (105-106 O. L., page 616)?

"Question 2. In advertising road bonds, which section governs, section 6929 (105-106 O. L., page 603), or section 2294 (105-106 O. L., page 492)?

"Question 3. Do the provisions of the Cass highway act repeal by implication sections 2343, 2344 and 2345, General Code?"

Section 7199 G. C., reads in part as follows:

"If, in the opinion of the county commissioners it is advisable to provide for the improvement, maintenance and repair of any portion of the highways of the county by contract, such contract, if the cost and expense of the improvement, maintenance or repair of any section of highways, or of any bridge or culvert, exceeds two hundred dollars, shall be let by competitive bidding. All such contracts shall be awarded by the county commissioners or township trustees on estimates, plans and specifications to be furnished by the county highway superintendent, to the lowest and best bidder. If the estimated cost of such work is less than five hundred dollars, and more than two hundred dollars, the same may be let at competitive bidding after advertising the same by posters in at least three public places in the county, for ten days prior to the letting, and if the estimated cost of such work is more than five hundred dollars the same shall be let by competitive bidding, after advertisement once not later than two weeks prior to the letting of contracts, in some newspaper published and of general circulation within the county, if there be any such newspapers published in said county, but if there be no such newspapers published in said county then in a newspaper having general circulation in said county. * * *"

This section which is a part of the Cass highway law, 106 O. L., 574, 616, is by direct language therein contained made applicable to the improvement, maintenance or repairs of bridges and culverts, and I am of the opinion that the word "improvement," as used in this sense, is broad enough to include the construction of a new bridge or culvert.

As pointed out by you the section in question allows contracts to be let without competitive bidding where the estimated cost is not more than $200.00. If the estimated cost is more than $200.00 and less than $500.00, the letting must be advertised by posters in at least three public places in the county for ten days prior to such letting. If the estimated cost of the work is more than $500.00, advertisement must be made once, not less than two weeks prior to the letting, in some newspaper published and of general circulation within the county, if there be any such newspaper published in said county, but if there be no such newspaper published in said county, then in a newspaper having general circulation therein.

Section 2352, G. C., an older statute and which at least prior to the going into effect of the Cass Highway law related to bridges, provides that after the plans, etc., have been approved the county commissioners shall give public notice in two of the principal papers in the county having the largest circulation therein, of the time when, and the place where sealed proposals will be received for performing the labor and furnishing the material necessary to the erection of a bridge or bridge substructure, and that notice shall be published weekly for four consecutive weeks next preceding the day named for making the contract. Under the terms of this section it is permissible to publish the notice in only one paper, if there be only one paper published in the county. This section is modified by the two succeeding sections, being sections 2353 and 2354 of the General Code, which provide that when the estimated cost does not exceed $1,000.00, notice of the letting need be given for only fifteen days by posting on a bulletin board or by writing on a blackboard in a conspicuous place in the county commissioners' or auditor's office, showing the nature of the letting and when and where proposals in writing will be received; and that when the estimated cost does not exceed $200.00, the work may be let at private contract without publication or notice.

Section 6252 G. C., provides among other things that notice to contractors shall be published in two newspapers of opposite politics at the county seat, if there be such newspapers published thereat; and that in counties having cities of eight thousand inhabitants or more, not the county seat of such counties, additional publication of such notice shall be made in two newspapers of opposite politics in such cities.

Section 6253 G. C., provides that in addition to the publications provided in section 6252 G. C., the classes of notices referred to in that section, including notices to contractors, shall be published in a newspaper printed in the German language, if such newspaper be printed and of general circulation among the inhabitants speaking that language in the county within which such advertisements are intended to be made.

Sections 2352, 2353, 2354, 6252 and 6253 of the General Code were all in force at the time of the passage of the Cass highway law. The provisions of said sections, in so far as they relate to the number of publications, the time of publication and the number of newspapers in which publication must be made, are all inconsistent with the provision of section 7199 G. C., to the effect that advertisement shall be made once not less than two weeks prior to the letting of contracts in some newspaper published and of general circulation within the county, if there be any such newspaper published in said county, but if there be no such newspaper published in said county then in a newspaper having general circulation therein.

Repeals by implication are not favored and every effort must be made to make all acts stand, and a later act will not operate as a repeal of an earlier one if the two may by any reasonable construction be reconciled. In the case now under consideration, however, the provisions, in so far as they relate to the time of publication of notice, the number of publications and the number of newspapers in which publication must be made, are in my judgment wholly irreconcilable; and this is also true as to the provision of section 7199 G. C., requiring newspaper publication where the estimated cost is more than $500.00, when compared with the provision of section 2353, G. C., excusing newspaper publication where the estimated cost does not exceed $1,000.00.

It is also worthy of consideration that the repealing section of the Cass highway law, being section 305 thereof, contains the following provision:

> "This act shall supersede all acts and parts of acts not herein expressly repealed, which are inconsistent herewith * * *."

In view of the fact that Section 7199 G. C. is a later enactment than the other sections referred to by you, being Sections 2352, 2353, 6252 and 6253 G. C.; that the act in which section 7199 G. C. is found contains an express provision that such act shall supersede all acts and parts of acts not therein expressly repealed, which are inconsistent therewith, and that certain of the provisions of Section 7199 G. C. as to the publication of notices of the letting of contracts for road and bridge work are inconsistent with certain of the provisions of sections 2352, 2353, 6252 and 6253, G. C., and that this repugnancy is irreconcilable and follows necessarily from the language used in the later section, I am of the opinion that the provisions of the earlier sections, in so far as they are inconsistent with the provisions of section 7199 G. C., must be held to be repealed by implication, and that the law relating to the publication of notice of the letting of contracts for road and bridge work is now to be found in section 7199 G. C. This conclusion is further supported by the fact that section 7199 G. C., is a special statute relating to the letting of contracts for road and bridge work while sections 2352 and 2353 G. C., are general statutes found in the part of the General Code relating to county buildings and bridges, and embracing within their original scope not only bridges, but all classes of county buildings, such as court houses, jails, infirmaries and children's homes, and sections 6252 and 6253, G. C., are also general statutes relating to the publication of numerous classes of notices.

Answering your first question specifically, I advise you that where county commissioners determine to construct, improve, maintain or repair a road or bridge by contract, the manner of giving notice of the letting of such contract is governed by the provisions of section 7199, G. C.

Coming now to consider your second question, section 6929 G. C., referred to by you, and being section 108 of the Cass highway law, relating to the issuance and sale of bonds by county commissioners for road construction and improvement carried forward by the commissioners, contains the following provision:

> "The sale of such bonds shall be advertised once not later than two weeks prior to the date fixed for such sale, in a newspaper published and of general circulation within such county, if there be any such paper published in said county, but if there be no such paper published in said county, then in a newspaper having general circulation in said county."

Section 2294 G. C., 106 O. L., 492, reads as follows:

> "All bonds issued by boards of county commissioners, boards of education, township trustees, or commissioners of free turnpikes, shall be sold to the highest bidder, after being advertised once a week for three consecutive weeks, and on the same day of the week, in a newspaper having general circulation in the county where the bonds are issued, and, if the amount of bonds to be sold exceeds twenty thousand dollars, like publications shall be made in an additional newspaper having general circulation in the state. The advertisement shall state the total amount and denomination of bonds to be sold, how long they are to run, the rate of interest to be paid thereon, whether annually or semi-annually, the law or section of law authorizing the issue, the day, hour and place in the county where they are to be sold."

Amended senate bill No. 125, 106 O. L. 574, in which act section 6929, G. C., is found, was passed May 17, 1915, approved June 2, 1915, and filed in the office of the secretary of state June 5, 1915.

House Bill No. 453, 106 O. L 492, in which act, section 2294, G. C., is found, was passed May 27, 1915, approved June 3, 1915, and filed in the office of the secretary of state June 4, 1915.

It therefore appears that the act containing section 2294, G. C., was passed after the act containing section 6929, G. C., was passed, and the later act was first approved by the governor, but the former act was first filed in the office of the secretary of state. If it were necessary to answer your question by an application of the doctrine of implied repeal, the situation would indeed be most difficult of solution.

In the recent case of State of Ohio v. James H. Lathrop, 93 O. S., page 79, decided November 16, 1915, and reported in the Ohio Law Reporter of the date of May 8, 1916, volume XIV, No. 6, the court was called upon to consider certain conflicting provisions of the agricultural commission act, 103 O. L., 304, 340, and the so-called Duffy narcotic act, 103 O. L., 505. The agricultural commission act and the Duffy narcotic act both assumed to amend section 12672, G. C. The agricultural commission act was passed April 15, 1913, approved May 3, 1913, and filed with the secretary of state May 7, 1913. The other act in question was passed April 17, 1913, approved May 2, 1913, and filed with the Secretary of State May 8, 1913.

Section 12672, G. C., as it appeared in the two acts was substantially different in its provisions, and the court held that in determining which act was to be regarded as the law of the state, in so far as the two acts might be in conflict, the date of the approval of the governor was immaterial, and that the act found in 103 O. L., 505, was to be regarded as the law for two reasons:

First:—because it was passed by the legislature after the agricultural commission act was passed; and Second:—because it was filed with the Secretary of State after the agricultural commission act was so filed.

It will be seen that this decision sheds no light whatever upon the rule that would have applied to the facts now under consideration, for the reason that the act containing section 6929 is the later act in point of filing, while the act containing section 2294 G. C., is the later in point of passage by the legislature. In other words, while the Supreme Court of Ohio has held that, of two repugnant acts of the general assembly, the later, both in point of passage and of filing, repeals by implication the former, yet the decision of the court in that case sheds no light upon the question arising where one act is the later in point of passage and the other is the later in point of filing. I am of the opinion, however, that your question is not to be determined by invoking the doctrine of implied repeal, but that the two acts may be harmonized and effect given to both upon the well established principle of statutory construction, that where, of two inconsistent acts, one is general in its nature, while the other is special and limited in its application, the special and limited provision is to be given effect as to the class of persons or things embraced within its terms, and is to be regarded as an exception to the general rule. See State ex rel. v. Perrysburg, 14 O. S., 472.

I therefore advise you that section 2294 G. C., 106 O. L. 492, while general and sweeping in its terms, does not apply to a sale of county road bonds under section 6929 G. C., for the reason that the latter section provides a special method of advertising such bonds for sale, and that in the sale of road bonds under the section in question, such sale is to be advertised once not less than two weeks prior to the date fixed therefor, in a newspaper published and of general circulation within the county, if there be any such paper published in said county, but if there be no such paper published in said county, then in a newspaper having general circulation in said county.

Section 2343 G. C., to which you refer in your third question, reads as follows:

> "When it becomes necessary for the commissioners of a county to erect or cause to be erected a public building, or substructure for a bridge, or an addition to or alteration thereof, before entering into any contract therefor or repair thereof or for the supply of any material therefor, they shall cause to be made by a competent architect or civil engineer the following full and accurate plans, showing all necessary details of the work and materials required, with working plans suitable for the use of mechanics or other builders in the construction thereof, so drawn as to be easily understood; accurate bills, showing the exact amount of the different kinds of material necessary to the construction, to accompany the plans; full and complete specifications of the work to be performed, showing the manner and style required to be done, with such directions as will enable a competent builder to carry them out, and afford to bidders all needful information; a full and accurate estimate of each item of expense, and of the aggregate cost thereof.

"Nothing in this section shall prevent the commissioners from receiving from bidders on iron or reinforced concrete substructures for bridges the necessary plans and specifications therefor."

Section 2344 G. C., reads as follows:

"When it becomes necessary to erect a bridge, the county commissioners shall determine the length and width of the superstructure, whether it shall be single or double track, and advertise for proposals for performing the labor and furnishing the materials necessary to the erection thereof. In their discretion, the commissioners may cause to be prepared plans, descriptions and specifications for such superstructure, which shall be kept on file in the auditor's office for inspection by bidders and persons interested, and invite bids or proposals in accordance therewith."

Section 2345 G. C., reads as follows:

"They shall also invite, receive and consider proposals on any other plan at the option of bidders, and shall require that all proposals on such plan shall be accompanied with plans and specifications showing the number of spans, the length of each, the nature, quality and size of the materials to be used, the strength of the structure when completed, and whether there is any patent on the proposed plan, or on any, and if any, what part thereof."

Section 7199 G. C., being section 156 of the Cass highway law, provides among other things that all contracts for the improvement, maintenance or repair of any bridge to be awarded by the county commissioners shall be awarded on estimates, plans and specifications to be furnished by the county highway superintendent.

I understand that by your third question you mean only to inquire whether the provision of section 7199 G. C., referred to above, repeals by implication the provisions of the above quoted sections of the General Code, allowing the commissioners to receive from bidders on iron or reinforced concrete substructures for bridges the necessary plans and specifications therefor, rendering it discretionary with the commissioners in the erection of a bridge as to whether they will cause to be prepared plans, descriptions and specifications for the superstructure, and further providing that the commissioners shall also invite, receive and consider proposals on any other plan at the option of bidders, provided the other plan be accompanied with plans and specifications showing the number of spans, the length of each, the nature, quality and size of the materials to be used, the strength of the structure when completed, and whether there is any patent on the proposed plan, or on any, and if any, what part thereof.

This question was passed upon by me in opinion No. 832, rendered to Hon. Homer E. Johnson, prosecuting attorney, Marion County, on September 16, 1915, and found at page 1765 of the attorney-general's report for that year, and in conformity with that opinion I advise you that the provisions of sections 2343, 2344 and 2345 of the General Code, referred to above, are not repealed by the Cass high way law, either expressly or by implication.

As pointed out in that opinion, section 7187 G. C., being section 144 of the Cass highway law, requires the county highway superintendent to either prepare or approve all plans, specifications and estimates for the erection, maintenance and repair of bridges and culverts, and this section further provides that no contract for the construction of a bridge, the entire cost of which exceeds $10,000.00, shall be binding upon the county unless the plans are first approved by the state highway commissioner. Where, therefore, a bid for a bridge is submitted on a plan proposed by the bidder, the plan must be approved by the county highway superintendent, and in the event that the entire cost of the bridge exceeds $10,000.00 the plans must be approved by the state highway commissioner. The approval of the county highway superintendent and of the state highway commissioner when required should be obtained before the contract is awarded.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1576.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, VILLAGE OF NEW COMERSTOWN, TUSCARAWAS COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 15, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of the village of New Comerstown, Tuscarawas County, Ohio, in the sum of $11,000.00, to pay the village's portion of the cost of laying sanitary sewers in certain streets, being five bonds of two thousand dollars each and one bond of one thousand."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the council and other officer of the village of New Comerstown, Ohio, relative to the above bond issue, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds prepared in accordance with the form submitted, and executed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of the village of New Comerstown, Ohio.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1577.

REGULATION OF HOURS OF LABOR—FEMALES EMPLOYED IN LAUNDRY OF CITY HOSPITAL—SECTION 1008, G. C., 103 O. L., 555, CONTROLS—CINCINNATI GENERAL HOSPITAL.

Hours of labor of female employes of the laundry of a city hospital are controlled by section 1008, G. C., as amended, 103 O. L., 555, and an order of the industrial commission issued by the division of workshops, factories and public buildings in reference thereto is legal and binding.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 16, 1916.

The Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—Your request for an opinion as to the operation of section 1008 of the General Code, as amended, 103 O. L., 555, is as follows:

> "The industrial commission of Ohio respectfully requests of you an opinion as to whether or not George H. Hamilton, chief deputy of the division of workshops, factories and public buildings, was within his legal rights when he issued an order under date of March 25, 1916, to A. C. Bachmeyer, M. D., superintendent of the Cincinnati general hospital, Cincinnati, Ohio, as follows:
>
> " 'Do not employ females over 18 years of age more than 10 hours in any one day, or more than 54 hours in any one week; to be complied with at once.'
>
> "For your fuller information with reference to the circumstances of the issuing of this order and the right of chief deputy Hamilton to issue the same, I enclose herewith a letter addressed to this commission by Mr. Hamilton and also a letter addressed to Mr. Hamilton by the assistant city solicitor of the city of Cincinnati."

With your letter you enclose a statement of the facts and circumstances leading up to the inquiry by Mr. George H. Hamilton, chief deputy of the division of workshops, factories and public buildings, which is as follows:

> "Section 1008 of the General Code reads in part as follows:
>
> " 'Females over 18 years of age shall not be employed or permitted or suffered to work in or in connection with any factory, workshop, telephone or telegraph office, millinery, or dressmaking establishment, restaurant or in the distributing or transmission of messages, or in any mercantile establishment located in any city, more than ten hours in any one day, or more than 54 hours in any one week, but meal time shall not be included as a part of the work hours of the week or day, provided, however, that no restrictions as to the hours of labor shall apply to canneries or establishments engaged in preparing for use perishable goods.'
>
> "Under date of March 15, 1916, this department issued Order No. 31 to A. C. Bachmeyer, M. D., superintendent of the Cincinnati General Hospital, Cincinnati, Ohio. This order reads as follows:
>
> " 'Do not employ females over 18 years of age more than ten hours in any one day, or more than 54 hours in any one week; to be complied with at once.'
>
> "This order was intended to cover violations of the above law in the laundry of the Cincinnati General Hospital.

"In issuing this order this department considered the laundry operated by the above institution as coming within the term factory or worshop.

"Mr. Charles Tatgenhorst, Jr., assistant city solicitor for the city of Cincinnati, takes exception to our order, since city hospitals are not specifically mentioned in the above law, and cites section 4035 of the General Code, which reads as follows:

" 'The director of public safety shall have the entire management and control of such hospitals, when completed and ready for use, and subject to the ordinances of council, shall establish such rules for its government, and the admission of persons to its privileges, as he deems expedient. Such director may also employ a superintendent, steward, physicians, nurses, and such other persons as he deems necessary, and fix the compensation, of all persons so employed, which compensation shall be subject to the approval of the council.'

"I attach hereto a copy of Mr. Tatgenhorst's letter, which is self-explanatory, and we would be pleased to have an opinion from the attorney-general covering the points of difference in this case.

"If we are wrong in our contention you can readily see what this means to the thousands of women employed in the various state and city institutions of like nature throughout this state from the standpoint of humanitarianism.'

The term "workshop" is defined in the Century dictionary as follows:

"A shop or building where a workman, mechanic or artificer, or a number of such carry on their work. A place where any work or handicraft is carried on."

The Standard dictionary defines the same term as follows:

"A building or room where any work is carried on, especially a handicraft."

The objection to the order which has been raised by the authorities in Cincinnati is based on two grounds, and is set forth in a letter from the office of the city solicitor as follows:

"Dr. A. C. Bachmeyer, general superintendent of the Cincinnati hospital, has referred to this office for an opinion, your two letters to him under date of March 15th, and 30th, and his reply dated March 27th, regarding the employment of females over 18 years of age in the laundry of the city hospital, who you claim are working more than 54 hours a week.

"I notice in your letter of March 27th, that you refer to section 1008 of the General Code. In looking over this section no reference is made to city hospitals, and hence we are of the opinion that that section of the General Code does not apply.

"We are of the opinion that section 4035 of the General Code giving the director of public safety the entire management and control of the hospital, subject to the ordinances of council, applies. This section also provides that the director, with the approval of council, shall establish such rules for its government as he deems expedient, and gives him the power to employ the necessary help.

"Might I suggest that you refer this matter to the attorney-general for an opinion as to whether or not the general hospitals of the city come under section 1008 of the General Code? As far as I have looked into the matter I have been unable to find any case directly in point, and do not believe that the attorney-general has as yet given an opinion. We would greatly appreciate a reply from you giving us your ideas on this subject."

Granting that the management of the city hospital, under section 4035 of the General Code, supra, is in the director of public safety, subject to the ordinances of the council, it is to be noted that the hospital is to be managed in accordance with the general laws of the state, and any ordinance which might be adopted in conflict with such laws would be without force or effect. There is nothing in the law which in any manner exempts institutions owned or controlled by a municipality from the operation of the law, and hence, assuming that a laundry in the city hospital is a workshop as understood by the ordinary interpretation of the term, it is my opinion that the order referred to is valid under the powers lodged in your commission.

Coming to the second objection, namely, that no reference is made in section 1008 of the General Code, supra, to "city hospitals," it is to be observed that the order is directed not against the city hospital, as such, but that part of the hospital known as the laundry, which for the purposes of the act in question, by ordinary knowledge, is to be regarded as coming within the terms of "factory or workshop."

In view of the foregoing, it is my opinion, in answer to the second objection, that a laundry operated by a city hospital is covered by the provisions of section 1008 of the General Code, as amended, supra, and is subject to the inspection and orders of your commission, through the department of workshops and factories.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1578.

BOARD OF EDUCATION—BONDS ISSUED UNDER SECTION 4692, G. C., DO NOT BECOME AN "INDEBTEDNESS" OF A SCHOOL DISTRICT UNTIL SAID BONDS ARE ACTUALLY SOLD AND IN PROCESS OF DELIVERY.

An issue of bonds by the board of education of a school district does not become an "indebtedness" of said district within the meaning of the latter part of section 4692 G. C., 106 O. L., 397, until said bonds are actually sold and in the process of delivery.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 16, 1916.

HON. EARL K. SOLETHER, Prosecuting Attorney, Bowling Green, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—In your letter under date of April 25th, you request my opinion as follows:

"On February 15, 1916, an election was held in the Grand Rapids rural school district, which school district is under county supervision. This election was held for the purpose of voting on the question of issuing bonds in the sum of $45,000.00 for the purchase of a site, erecting a school house and furnishing the same, and resulted in a majority of the electors being in favor of the bond issue.

"On March 6, 1916, the county board of education transferred a part of the territory of the Grand Rapids rural school district to the Weston village school district. This transfer not to take effect, however, until the beginning of the tax year for 1916, which was April 9, 1916. The electors residing in the territory transferred by the county board voted at this bond election. On March 9, 1916, the Grand Rapids rural school board passed a resolution providing for the issuance of bonds in the sum of $45,000.00, and these bonds have been advertised to be sold on the 27th of April, 1916.

"The question now presented is, when does the bond issue become a legal binding obligation upon the property in the school district, or, in other words, is the territory transferred by the county board of education from the Grand Rapids rural board of education to the Weston village board of education liable for the bond issue above referred to?"

In response to my request for additional information, I have your letter of May 1st, in which you state that the electors of the Grand Rapids rural school district did not vote on the question of centralization, either before or at the time of the election for the issuing of bonds; that the county board of education, at the time it passed the resolution transferring the territory in question, did not make a distribution of the bonded indebtedness, and that a month later, they passed a resolution making a distribution of the indebtedness, taking into consideration the bonded indebtedness referred to in your letter of April 25th; that the resolution passed by the Grand Rapids rural school district, providing for the issuance of bonds, provided for the levy of taxes on all the property of said school district sufficient to pay the interest on said bonds, and also to provide a sinking fund for their retirement at maturity.

The vote of the qualified electors of the Grand Rapids rural school district, on February 6, 1916, in favor of the bond issue referred to in your inquiry, conferred on the board of education of said district, the authority to issue said bonds. In the exercise of this authority, said board of education, on March 9, 1916, passed its resolution to issue said bonds, and it appears that in said resolution provision was made for the annual levy and collection of a tax on all the taxable property of said district sufficient to pay the interest on said bonds, and to provide a sinking fund for their final redemption at maturity, as required by section 11 of article XII of the constitution.

While it appears that prior to the date of the passage of the aforesaid resolution by the board of education of the Grand Rapids rural school district, to-wit, on March 6, 1916, the board of education of Wood county school district passed its resolution to transfer a part of the territory comprising said rural school district to the Weston village school district; said resolution of said county board of education, by its terms provided that, said transfer of territory should not become effective until April 9, 1916. This provision was of course subject to the right of a majority of the qualified electors, residing in the territory sought to be transferred, to file their written remonstrance against said proposed transfer, conferred upon said electors by section 4692, G. C. (106 O. L. 397), under authority of which the county board of education made said transfer.

Even if the county board of education, in its resolution, had not fixed a definite time at which the transfer of the territory in question should become effective, such transfer could not have become effective until after the expiration of the thirty day period prescribed by said section 4692, G. C., for the reason that the right of the qualified electors to remonstrate against such transfer was not foreclosed until after the expiration of said period.

It appears that on April 6, 1916, the county board of education made an equitable division of the funds of the territory in question, either in the treasury or in the course of collection, and also an equitable division of the indebtedness of said territory, in the exercise of the authority conferred upon said board by provision of the latter part of said section 4692, G. C., and that in making a division of said indebtedness said county board of education took into consideration the bond issue referred to in your inquiry.

Assuming that the county board of education complied with all the requirements of said section 4692, G. C., and that no remonstance against such transfer was filed within said thirty day period, the transfer in question, by the terms of the aforesaid resolution, became effective on April 9, 1916. The question arises whether on April 6th, the time when the county board of education made a division of the indebtedness of the territory, the transfer of which became effective on April 9th, the bonds for the issue of which the board of education of the Grand Rapids rural school district passed its resolution on March 9, 1916, and in said resolution provided for the tax levy hereinbefore referred to, but which were not actually sold until April 27, 1916, were an existing indebtedness of said rural school district which the county board of education could take into consideration in making said division. It may be argued that the passing of the resolution of March 9th, by the board of education of said rural school district, determined the liability of said district and created a debt of said district as of that date. While I think that in providing for an annual tax levy on all of the taxable property of said rural school district sufficient to pay the interest on said bonds and to create a sinking fund for their final redemption at maturity, there was thereby incurred a contingent liability of said district which, upon the sale of such bonds on April 27th, became an indebtedness of the territory comprising said rural school district as it existed prior to the transfer in question, I do not think it can be said that prior to the time of the actual issuance of said bonds on April 27, 1916, the contingent liability above referred to was an indebtedness of said rural school district within the meaning of the latter part of section 4692, G. C., supra.

A sum of money which is certainly, and in all events payable, is a debt, without regard to the fact of the time of payment. A sum of money payable on a contingency is not a debt, and does not become a debt until the contingency has happened.

Kouns v. Reninger, 3 O. C. C. (N. S.), 664.
Hynicka v. Insurance Co., 4 O. N. P. (N. S.), 297.

I quote the following from the opinion of the court in the case of Peter v. Parkinson, 83 O. S., 36.

> "In Perry v. Washburn 20 Cal., 318, Field, C. J., in discussing the provision of the act of congress making United States notes 'a legal tender in payment of all debts, public and private,' says: 'Taxes are not debts within the meaning of this provision. A debt is a sum of money due by contract, express or implied. A tax is a charge upon persons or property to raise money for public purposes. It is not founded upon contract; it does not establish the relations of debtor and creditor between the taxpayer and state; it does not draw interest; it is not the subject of attachment; and it is not liable to set-off. It owes its existence to the action of the legislative power, and does not depend for its validity or enforcement upon the individual assent of the taxpayer. It operates in invitum. * * *' In Anderson's Dictionay of Law, a tax is defined to be: 'A charge, a pecuniary burden, for the support of government. A charge or burden for which the state may make requisition in a prescribed mode. A tax is not a "debt," that is, an obligation for the payment of money founded upon contract. It is an impost levied for the support of the government, or for some special purpose authorized by it. The consent of the taxpayer is not necessary to its enforcement: it operates in invitum. The form of procedure to collect, as, an action of debt, does not change its character.' "

In view of the foregoing it seems clear that while the resolution to issue the bonds in question provided for the tax levy required by the above provision of the constitution, said bonds were not an indebtedness of the rural school district referred to in your inquiry, which could properly be taken into consideration by the county board of education on April 9, 1916, the date when said board, acting under authority of the latter part of said section 4692, G. C., passed its resolution making a division of the indebtedness of said district.

Inasmuch, however, as the bonds, when duly issued, became a valid and binding obligation of the territory comprising said district as it existed prior to the transfer of a part of the territory to the adjoining village school district, I am of the opinion that said county board of education may now pass a supplemental resolution making an equitable division of said indebtedness, and in keeping with my former opinion (No. 919 of this department) rendered to you under date of October 13, 1915, I am of the further opinion that that part of said indebtedness which will be apportioned to the transferred territory by the county board of education will become the obligation of the Weston village school district as enlarged by the territory so transferred.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1579.

STATE HIGHWAY COMMISSIONER—APPROVAL OF BONDS OF THREE DEPUTY STATE HIGHWAY COMMISSIONERS.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 16, 1916.

HON. CLINTON COWEN, State Highway Commissioner, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of May 15, 1916, transmitting to me for approval the bonds of A. H. Hinkle, J. R. Chamberlin and H. M. Sharp, deputy state highway commissioners.

I find these bonds to be properly drawn and executed, and am therefore returning the same with my approval as to form endorsed thereon.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1580.

APPROVAL, RESOLUTIONS FOR IMPROVEMENT OF CERTAIN ROADS IN ATHENS, AUGLAIZE, GUERNSEY, SANDUSKY, SUMMIT, WASHINGTON, WAYNE, TRUMBULL, WILLIAMS, LICKING AND KNOX COUNTIES.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 16, 1916.

HON. CLINTON COWEN, State Highway Commissioner, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of May 8 and May 11, 1916, transmitting to me for examination final resolutions relating to the following roads:

"Athens county—Athens-Logan road, Sec. 'I,' Pet. No. 2061, I. C. H. No. 155.

"Auglaize county—Kenton-Wapakoneta road, Sec. 'D,' Pet. No. 2075, I. C. H. No. 166.

"Auglaize county—Celina-Kossuth road, Sec. 'A,' Pet. No. 2085, I. C. H. No. 174.

"Guernsey county—McConnelsville-Cambridge road, Sec. 'A,' Pet. No. 2403, I. C. H. No. 484.

"Sandusky county—Fremont-Bowling Green road, Sec. 'A,' Pet. No. 2893, I. C. H. No. 278.

"Summit county—Akron-Canton road, Sec. 'Q,' Pet. No. 2966, I. C. H. No. 66, M. M. No. 9.

"Washington county—Marietta-McConnelsville road, Sec. 'L,' Pet. No. 3058, I. C. H. No. 393.

"Washington county—Marietta-McConnelsville road, Sec. 'L,' Pet. No. 3058, I. C. H. No. 393.

"Wayne county—Sec. 'P,' Wooster-Canal Dover road, Pet. No. 3076, I. C. H. No. 414.

"Wayne county—Sec. 'P,' Wooster-Canal Dover road, Pet. No. 3076, I. C. H. No. 414.

"Trumbull county—Sec. 'L,' Chagrin Falls-Greenville road, Pet. No. 2987, I. C. H. No. 35.

"Williams county—Bryan-West Unity and Bryan-Wauseon roads, Sec. 'B,' Pet. Nos. 3087 and 3082, I. C. H. Nos. 307 and 297.

"Williams county—Bryan-West Unity and Bryan-Wauseon roads, Sec. 'B,' Pet. Nos. 3087 and 3082, I. C. H. Nos. 307 and 297.

"Williams county—Bryan-West Unity and Bryan-Wauseon roads, Sec. 'B,' Pet. Nos. 3087 and 3082, I. C. H. Nos. 307 and 297.

"Williams county—Bryan-Edgerton road, Sec. 'A,' Pet. No. 3083, I. C. H. No. 309, M. M. No. 1.

"Williams county—Bryan-Edgerton road, Sec. 'A,' Pet. No. 3083, I. C. H. No. 309, M. M. R. No. I.

"Williams county—Bryan-Edgerton road, Sec. 'A,' Pet. No. 3083, I. C. H. No. 309, M. M. R. No. I.

"Licking county—Newark-Lancaster road, Sec. 'A,' Pet. No. 2578, I. C. H. No. 359.

"Knox county—Columbus-Wooster road, Sec. 'J,' Pet. No. 2548, I. C. H. No. 24, M. M. R. No. X.

"Knox county—Columbus-Wooster road, Sec. 'I,' Pet. No. 2548, I. C. H. No. 24, M. M. R. No. X."

I find these resolutions to be in regular form and am, therefore, returning the same with my approval endorsed thereon.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1581.

APPROVAL, LEASES OF CANAL LANDS IN HOCKING AND ROSS COUNTIES

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 17, 1916.

HON. A. V. DONAHEY, Auditor of State, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—You submitted to me for my approval leases of lands as follows:

"1. Lease to T. R. Cowell, lands in Hocking county, Green township, containing 80 acres.

"2. Lease to D. D. Flanagan, lands in Colerain township, Ross county, containing 1,280 acres.

"3. Lease to D. D. Flanagan, lands in Colerain township, Ross county, containing 160 acres.

"4. Lease to D. D. Flanagan, lands in Colerain township, Ross county, Ohio, containing 160 acres.

"5. Lease to D. D. Flanagan, lands in Colerain township, Ross county, containing 160 acres."

I have examined the above described leases and find the same to be regular and legal in form and am returning the same with my approval endorsed thereon.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1582.

LOOKOUT MOUNTAIN MONUMENT—SOLDIERS' MEMORIAL COMMISSION IS AUTHORIZED TO PAY EXPENSES OF PERSON DESIGNATED TO UNVEIL MONUMENT AND ALSO EXPENSES OF STENOGRAPHER TO MAKE RECORD OF DEDICATORY EXERCISES.

The soldiers' memorial commission to erect Lookout mountain monument is authorized to pay from the appropriation for the erection and completion of the monument the expenses of the person designated to unveil the monument at the dedicatory exercises, as well as the expenses of a stenographer to make a record of said proceedings.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 17, 1916.

HON. SAMUEL H. BOLTON, Chairman Soldiers' Memorial Commission to Erect Lookout Mountain Monument, McComb, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Under date of May 15th you wrote me a letter as follows:

"Will we, as a board of commissioners, be allowed to take with us at the dedication of Lookout mountain monument, our wives, a lady to unveil the monument and a stenographer, at the state's expense, and if we run an excursion (which we expect to do) to take a physician, he to charge nothing except actual expenses for his services?

"I talked the matter over with the auditor of state. He said that it was satisfactory to him if it was with you. I think, under section 2, amended senate bill No. 100, we have that privilege, but wish to have your opinion."

The act creating your commission and appropriating money for the uses thereof is found in 106 O. L., 128.

Section 1 of said act authorizes the governor to appoint five members of such commission "to contract for and to purchase a site on the battlefield of Lookout Mountain, Tennessee, and to have erected thereon a suitable monument or memorial to commemorate the bravery of Ohio troops who participated in that battle. The commission is further given the authority to purchase land, if necessary, and to do all things necessary to carry out the purposes of the act.

Under section 2 it is provided that no member of the commission shall receive any compensation, but each member shall receive his necessary and actual traveling expenses. It is further provided therein that > "All expenses incurred by the commission in carrying out the purposes of this act shall be paid from the state treasury upon the warrant of the auditor of state upon the presentation of itemized vouchers signed by the chairman and secretary of the commission."

Section 3 of the act carries the appropriation, and is as follows:

> "For the purpose of paying the cost and expenses of erecting such monument or memorial and defraying the expenses of such commission, there is hereby appropriated, out of any funds in the state treasury to the credit of the general revenue fund, not otherwise appropriated, the sum of $20,000.00, $3,000.00 of which shall be available upon the taking effect of this act, and $17,000.00 of which shall be available on and after September 1, 1915."

It is specifically provided that the $20,000,00 appropriated is for the purpose of paying, first, the cost and expenses of erecting such monument or memorial, and secondly, of defraying the expenses of such commission. The commission is not only authorized to contract for and purchase a site and to have erected thereon a monument, but is also given authority "to do all other things necessary to carry out the purposes of this act." It is a well known fact that dedicatory exercises are always conducted at the completion of monuments and memorials; and the legislature, having given the commission the power to do all things necessary to carry out the purposes of the act, must undoubtedly have intended that the appropriation for the purpose of the erection and completion of the monument should also extend to the payment of the proper costs of the dedicatory exercises; that is to say, to pay those costs which are necessarily incident to the exercises themselves, but not to pay the costs of transporting persons to attend the exercises as a part of the audience.

In view of such fact, I am of the opinion that the commissioners would not be authorized, at the state's expense, to take their wives to such exercises nor to take a physician on an excursion train to be run at that time for the purpose of attending the exercises. However, I believe it to be well within the purpose of the appropriation to pay the expenses of the person designated and appointed by the commission to officiate at such exercises in unveiling the monument and also the expenses of a stenographer to attend in order to make a record of the dedicatory exercises.

Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,

Attorney-General.

1583.

CIVIL SERVICE—FEES TO BE CHARGED APPLICANTS FOR EXAMINATIONS—WHEN COLLECTED—NO FEE WHERE THERE IS NO ANNUAL SALARY.

The fees for a civil service examination are not required to be collected at the time applications therefor are filed, but may be collected from applicants when such examination is held.

The incumbents of positions under civil service laws who are paid a certain amount per hour or day when employed, and who are irregularly and not continuously employed, do not receive an annual salary in the sense that term is used in section 486-11, G. C., as amended, 106 O. L., 407, and may not be charged an examination fee.

Examination fees may be charged an applicant for a non-competitive examination held under section 476-14, G. C., as amended, 106 O. L., 409, and if said applicant thereafter takes a competitive examination, said fees may again be charged.

A person who has successfully passed a competitive examination for any position may, in the absence of an eligible list therefor, be appointed provisionally to said position without taking the non-competitive examination as provided in section 486-14, G. C., supra, and he does not thereby lose his standing obtained from the competitive examination. If, however, the civil service commission, in the exercise of its discretion, should require him to take a non-competitive examination, he must pay the fees therefor as prescribed by section 486-11, G. C., supra.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 17, 1916.

The State Civil Service Commission, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—I have your letter of May 10, 1916, submitting the following inquiries:

> "1. Is it necessary to collect the required fees from all filing applications at the time the application is filed, or can these fees be collected when the examination is held, and require only those who take the examination to pay such fees?
>
> "2. On what basis must fees be charged where the pay for positions for which the applicants desire to take an examination is at an hourly or daily rate, as fixed by law, ordinance or rule of board creating the positions, and where the employment is not regular?
>
> "(a) When the examination is held for positions, the incumbents of which are paid a stipulated amount per hour, or per day, and who are employed irregularly from time to time, and whose total earnings per annum probably would amount to over $600.00 for the period employed?
>
> "(b) The same as the foregoing, the incumbent receiving the same rate of compensation, but whose total earnings per annum would probably amount to less than $600.00 for the short period of employment each year?
>
> "3. Must fees be collected for non-competitive examinations when a provisional appointment is made in the absence of an eligible list, under section 486-14?
>
> "4. If so, when a competitive examination is held for the same position, is a provisional appointee required to pay another fee should he compete in this competitive examination for the position to which he has been provisionally appointed?
>
> "5. (a) If a person whose name appears upon an incomplete eligible list, and cannot be certified owing to the fact that we have no appropriate lists from which to make certification of three names, is appointed provisionally to a position for which he has taken a competitive examination, and from the result of which his name was placed on the incomplete eligible list referred to, and is provisionally appointed after said list is established, is such provisional appointee required to take a non-competitive examination, or can he be qualified for provisional appointment from the result of the competitive examination?

"(b) If he can be qualified for the provisional appointment from the result of the competitive examination referred to, does he lose his standing on the incomplete eligible list resulting from the competitive examination referred to?

"(c) If he cannot be qualified from the result of the competitive examination referred to, and is compelled to undergo a non-competitive examination for provisional appointment, is he required to pay an examination fee for said non-competitive examination?"

Your first two inquiries involve a consideration of that part of section 486-11, as amended in 106 O. L., 407, which provides as follows:

"The commission shall require persons applying for admission to any examination provided for by this act or by the rules of the commission prescribed thereunder, to file with the commission within a reasonable time prior to the proposed examination a formal application in which the applicant shall state under oath or affirmation:

"(1) Full name, residence and postoffice address.

"(2) Nationality, age and place and date of birth.

"(3) Health and physical capacity for the public service sought.

"(4) Business and employments and residences for five previous years.

"(5) Such other information as may be reasonably required touching the applicant's merit and fitness for the public service sought; but no inquiry shall be made as to any religious or political opinions or affiliations of the applicant.

"No fee or other assessment shall be charged for examination for positions, provided for by this act or by the rules of the commission prescribed thereunder, where the annual salary does not exceed six hundred dollars; for positions where the annual salary exceeds six hundred dollars and is less than one thousand dollars, an examination fee of fifty cents shall be charged; for positions where the annual salary is one thousand dollars or more, an examination fee of one dollar shall be charged. * * *"

This section plainly provides that the fee charged under its authority shall be charged for examination for positions provided for by the civil service act or by the rules of the commission thereunder. It would seem to be a necessary result from these provisions that the fee therein prescribed may be collected when the examination is held and its collection is not required upon the filing of an application for an examination. Therefore, in answer to your first inquiry, I advise that a fee for an examination prescribed by said section is not required to be paid at the time an application is filed, but such fee may be paid by the applicant at the time he takes said examination.

The provisions of said section above quoted further provide that no fee for examination shall be charged where the annual salary does not exceed $600.00. Under this requirement of the statute you ask, first, on what basis must fees be charged when the examination is held for positions, the incumbents of which are paid a certain amount per hour or per day, and who are not employed regularly and whose total earnings per annum would probably amount to over $600.00 for the time actually employed? This inquiry is prompted by the difficulty in determining whether the term "annual salary" as used in this statute may apply to the compensation paid to the persons designated and described in this inquiry. I am of the opinion that the compensation of such persons, which is based upon service by the hour or day, which service is irregular and not continuous, may not be said to be an annual salary in the sense that term is employed in this statute, but that the term "annual salary," as used in said statute, implies a payment for services based upon a year as the unit of time employed and also upon continuity of service for that period. This conclusion, I think, is in harmony with the decision of the court in the case of Thompson v. Philips, 12 O. S., 617, and Gobrecht v. Cincinnati, 51 O. S., 68. It follows, therefore, that in neither of the cases mentioned in your second inquiry may examination fees be charged.

Your third inquiry refers to non-competitive examinations which are authorized by the provisions of section 486-14, G. C., as amended, 106 O. L., 409, as follows:

> "Whenever there are urgent reasons for filling a vacancy in any position in the classified service and the commission is unable to certify to the appointing officer, upon requisition by the latter, a list of persons eligible for appointment after a competitive examination, the appointing officer may nomiate a person to the commission for non-competitive examination, and if such nominee shall be certified by the commission as qualified after such non-competitive examination, he may be appointed provisionally to fill such vacancy until a selection and appointment can be made after competitive examination."

The non-competitive examination thus prescribed in this section is an examination for a position provided for by the civil service act and therefore is an examination within the meaning of that term as used in section 486-11, supra, for which a fee may be charged if the annual salary for the position involved exceeds $600.00. I am therefore of opinion that when a non-competitive examination is held for a position, the annual salary of which exceeds $600.00, a fee may be charged for such examination, based upon the rates prescribed by section 486-11, supra.

My answer to your fourth question is yes, because a competitive examination is entirely separate and distinct from a non-competitive examination, and the provisions of said section 486-11 make no exceptions in favor of an applicant who takes a competitive examination after he has taken a non-competitive examination.

In answer to subdivision (a) of your fifth question, I desire to say that the person described therein may be appointed provisionally without a non-competitive examination if the civil service commission, required to certify said person, is satisfied with his qualifications, as determined by the competitive examination, and certifies that he is qualified to be appointed as a provisional appointee. In other words, I am of the opinion that the provisions of section 486-14, supra, may not be construed to be mandatory in a case where there is but one person on an eligible list and the appointing authority desires to appoint said person provisionally. It is manifest that such person, having taken and passed a competitive examination, has met the requirements of the civil service law in the matter of demonstrating his merit and fitness for the position, and a non-competitive examination would add nothing to his qualifications, nor would it furnish any additional evidence of his merit and fitness for the position. In such a case I think the statute may fairly be said to be directory on the civil service commission and that said commission may exercise its judgment in determining whether a non-competitive examination should be required.

Answering subdivision (b) of said fifth inquiry, if the person in question receives a provisional appointment, he does not thereby lose his standing on the eligible list, because there is no provision of law which requires him to surrender his rights on the eligible list on account of having accepted a provisional appointment. Therefore he still retains the position on the eligible list to which his grade in the competitive examination entitles him. That is to say, if at a subsequent competitive examination three other persons should obtain a higher standing than that held by him, he could no longer be considered on the eligible list, but if such subsequent competitive examination produces no more than two candidates whose grades are above the grade held by him, he may still retain his position on the eligible list.

Answering subdivision (c) of your fifth inquiry, if the commission, for any reason, is not willing to accept the competitive examination as proof of the applicant's qualifications, and will not certify him for a provisional appointment upon the strength of such competitive examination, he may be required to take a non-competitive examination, in which event he must pay a fee if the annual salary of the position to which he is appointed exceeds $600.00, as prescribed in section 486-11, supra.

I desire to observe in closing that the term "eligible list", is used in the foregoing opinion in the same sense in which it is employed by you in your inquiries, but that in a proper legal sense there may be no incomplete eligible list. In other words, there is no eligible list of any kind until three persons are duly qualified to be certified thereon, which three persons constitute the only eligible list recognized by the statute.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1584.

APPROVAL, RESOLUTION FOR IMPROVEMENT OF SECTION "A" SKELLY-EMPIRE ROAD IN JEFFERSON COUNTY.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 17, 1916.

HON. CLINTON COWEN, State Highway Commissioner, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of May 16, 1916, transmitting to me for examination final resolution relating to the following road:

> "Jefferson County—Sec. 'A' Skelly-Empire road, Pet. No. 2542, I. C. H. No. 378."

I find this resolution to be in regular form and am, therefore, returning the same with my approval endorsed thereon.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1585.

DISAPPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, MIAMI COUNTY, OHIO, FOR CONSTRUCTION OF GRAND STAND AT MIAMI COUNTY FAIR GROUNDS—TAX DUPLICATE INSUFFICIENT TO MAKE REQUIRED LEVY.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 18, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

> "RE:—Bonds of Miami County, Ohio, for the construction of a grand stand at the Miami County fair grounds in the aggregate amount of $18,000.00, being 36 bonds of $500.00 each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the county commissioners and other officers of Miami county in connection with the issuance of the above bonds, and I am unable to approve the same because the amount of the bond issue, together with the interest which will accrue upon said bonds prior to their due date, is in excess of the amount which can be raised by tax levy authorized under section 9887-1 of the General Code (106 O. L., 484). The pertinent part of this section is as follows:

> "* * * The county commissioners may levy a tax upon all the taxable property of a county for the improving of such grounds not to exceed one-twentieth of one mill in any one year and not for a period of more than five years. and in anticipation of the collection of this tax the commissioners may issue and sell the bonds of the county bearing interest not to exceed six per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually; * * *"

The tax duplicate of Miami county for the year 1914, according to the transcript, shows the assessed value of all property subject to taxation as $72,600,000.00; the 1915 duplicate is $79,190,300.00. The tax levy authorized under the language of the above section of the General Code based upon the duplicate for said year will be insufficient to pay the bonds and interest as they fall due.

I am of the opinion that the county commissioners of Miami county, Ohio, are without authority to issue bonds to the amount of $18,000.00 under section 9887-1 of the General Code, and advise you not to accept the same.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1586.

APPROVAL, CERTAIN LEASES OF CANAL LANDS.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 18, 1916.

HON. FRANK R. FAUVER, Superintendent of Public Works, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of May 8, 1916, transmitting to me for examination the following leases of canal lands:

	"Valuation.
"The Baltimore & Ohio R. R. Co., Cleveland, Ohio	$6,666 66
"The Baltimore & Ohio R. R. Co., Cleveland, Ohio	16,666 66
"The Columbus Railway Power & Light Co., Columbus, Ohio	1,666 66
"C. H. Gale, Cleveland, Ohio	3,500 00
"John Spurgeon, Kirkersville, Ohio	200 00
"Mrs. Louisa C. Hartman, Logan, Ohio	400 00
"T. J. Reilly, Akron, Ohio	2,050 00
"F. O. Davey, Logan, Ohio	600 00
"J. W. Jones, Logan, Ohio	100 00
"B. F. Sims, Sugar Grove, Ohio	416 66
"T. R. Cowell, Parkersburgh, W. Va., ⅛ Royalty and $200.00 advance payment."

I find these leases to be in regular form and am therefore returning same with my approval endorsed upon triplicate copies thereof.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1587.

LOOKOUT MOUNTAIN MONUMENT—APPROVAL OF CONTRACT AND BOND.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 18, 1916.

HON. SAMUEL H. BOLTON, Chairman Soldiers Memorial Commission to Erect Lookout Mountain Monument, McComb, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I am in receipt of the four copies of the contract entered into by your commission with The Bunnell Company, of Cleveland, Ohio, for the erection of a monument on Lookout Mountain, Tennessee, and the approach thereto, and the bond given for the faithful performance thereof.

I have carefully examined the contract and bond and hereby approve the same.

I have this day filed in the office of the auditor of state one copy of the contract and the bond, have sent one copy of the contract to the contractor, The Bunnell Company, and herewith hand you two copies thereof.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1588.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE BY NEW ANTIOCH RURAL SCHOOL DISTRICT, CLINTON COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 18, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of New Antioch rural school district, Clinton county, Ohio, in the sum of $20,000.00, to erect and furnish a school house, being forty bonds of five hundred dollars each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the board of education and other officers of the New Antoich rural school district relative to the issuance of the above bonds; also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in comformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds, drawn in accordance with the form submitted and executed by the proper officers will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of the new Antioch rural school district.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1589.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE BY NORWALK CITY SCHOOL DISTRICT, HURON COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 18, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of Norwalk City school district, Huron county, Ohio, in the amount of $8,500.00 for the purpose of erecting an addition of two rooms to Pleasant street school building, and for the equipment of the same, being seventeen bonds of five hundred dollars each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the board of education and other officers of the Norwalk City school district relative to the above bond issue; also the copy of bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds, drawn in accordance with the form submitted and executed by the proper officers will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of Norwalk City school district. Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1590.

APPROVAL, RESOLUTIONS FOR IMPROVEMENT OF ROADS IN GEAUGA AND DELAWARE COUNTIES.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 19, 1916.

HON. CLINTON COWEN, State Highway Commissioner, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communications of May 17, 1916, transmitting to me for examination final resolutions relating to the following roads:

"Geauga County—Sec. 'J' Chagrin Falls-Greenville road, Pet. No. 2377, I. C. H. No. 35.

"Delaware County—Sec. 'J' Delaware-Mt. Gilead road, Pet. No. 2300, I. C. H. No. 332.

"Delaware County—Sec. 'J' Delaware-Mt. Gilead road, Pet. No. 2300, I. C. H. No. 332.

"Delaware County—Sec. 'I' Columbus-Sandusky road, Pet. No. 2294-A, I. C. H. No. 4, M. M. VIII.

"Delaware County—Sec. 'I' Columbus-Sandusky road, Pet. No. 2294-A, I. C. H. No. 4, M. M. VIII.

"Delaware County—Sec. 'F' Columbus-Sandusky road, Pet. No. 2294-A, I. C. H. No. 4.

"Delaware County—Sec. 'F' Columbus-Sandusky road, Pet. No. 2294-A, I. C. H. No. 4."

I find these resolutions to be in regular form and am, therefore, returning the same with my approval endorsed thereon. Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1591.

MUNICIPAL CORPORATION—WITHOUT AUTHORITY TO DONATE, TO BOARD OF EDUCATION OF VILLAGE OR CITY SCHOOL DISTRICT, SITE UPON WHICH TO ERECT A SCHOOL BUILDING.

A village or city is without authority in law to donate, to the board of education of the village or city school district, a site upon which to erect a school building.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 19, 1915.

HON. ADDISON P. MINSHALL, Prosecuting Attorney, Chillicothe, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Your letter of April 28, 1916, is as follows:

> "I am desirous of having your opinion on the following proposition:
> "The Kingston village school district of Ross county, Ohio, is not co-extensive with the corporation boundaries of Kingston village, the school district comprising much more territory than the village. At the recent general election the electors of the Kingston village school district voted in favor of the issuance of bonds in the sum of $30,000.00 for the purpose of purchasing a site and erecting a building thereon. The village owns a suitable site and has offered to donate tha site to the school district for the purpose of erecting a school building thereon. Can this be legally done?"

A municipal corporation has special power to sell or lease real estate belonging to the corporation, when such property is not needed for any municipal purpose, under authority of and in the manner provided by section 3698 et seq., of the General Code.

The general grant of power to a municipal corporation to dispose of property to which it has the title in fee simple is found in section 3631, G. C., which section vests in the municipal corporation the power.

> "To hold and improve public grounds, parks, park entrances, free recreation centers and boulevards, and to protect and preserve them. To acquire by purchase, lease, or lease with privilege of purchase, gift, devise, condemnation or otherwise and to hold real estate or any interest therein and other property for the use of the corporation and to sell or lease it, or to donate the same by deed in fee sinple to the state of Ohio as a site for the erection of an armory."

While the latter part of section 3631, G. C., as above quoted, provides that a municipal corporation may donate real estate held by it for corporate purposes "by deed in fee simple to the state of Ohio as a site for the erection of an armory," I have already held that this provision of said section is unconstitutional in view of the decisions of the supreme court in the cases of Wasson v. Commissioners, 49 O. S., 622, and Hubbard v. Fitzsimmons, 57 O. S., 436 (See opinion No. 1002 of this department rendered to the Ohio state armory board under date of November 9, 1915, as found in the annual report of the attorney general for said year at page 2183 of said report.)

While it was held in the case of Newton v. Commissioners of Mahoning county, 26 O. S., 618, that a deed by a municipal corporation for the conveyance of property passes a legal title to the purchaser although the consideration expressed is far below the value of the property or merely nominal, the court did not attempt to say that under the statutes as then in force the municipal corporation had power to donate to the commissioners of the county land held by it for corporate purposes.

In the case of Kerlin Bros. Company v. City of Toledo, 20 C. C. 603, the court held in the seventh branch of the syllabus:

> "Where the sale of property is to be made by a municipality, certain formalities required by statute must be strictly and carefully observed in order to insure the validity of the transaction;"

and in the eighteenth branch of the syllabus that

> "To authorize a court to interfere upon the mere ground that the price is not sufficient, the price should be so much less than would probably be obtained by again offering the property, that it might be said by all men of fair judgment that the acceptance of the bid was a reckless and improvident act."

From your statement of facts it appears that the territory within the corporate limits of the village of Kingston is only a part of the territory comprising the Kingston village school district, and it must be borne in mind that said village and said village school district are independent taxing districts.

I call your attention to the provisions of section 7624-1, G. C., taken in connection with the provisions of section 7624, G. C., relating to the power of a board of education to appropriate land for school purposes where said board is unable to agree with the owner upon the sale and purchase thereof, as said sections are found in 103 O. L., 466. Said sections provide as follows:

> "Sec. 7624. When it is necessary to procure or enlarge a school site, or to purchase real estate to be used for agricultural purposes, athletic field or play ground for children, and the board of education and the owner of the property needed for such purposes are unable to agree upon the sale and purchase thereof, the board shall make an accurate plat and description of the parcel of land which it desires for such purpose, and file them with the probate judge, or court of insolvency, of the proper county. Thereupon the same proceedings of appropriation shall be had which are provided for the appropriation of private property by municipal corporations.
>
> "Sec. 7624-1. A municipal corporation may by ordinance duly passed, authorize the transfer and conveyance by deed, of any real property owned by it and not needed for municipal purposes, to the board of education of any such municipality, to be used by said board of education as an athletic field, a play ground for children or for school sites, upon such terms and conditions as are agreed to between the municipal corporation and the board of education, and when such property is so conveyed, the same shall be under the control and supervision of such board of education."

It will be observed, however, that under the provisions of section 7624 G. C. as above quoted, a site for the purposes therein mentioned may only be acquired upon a valuable consideration. As I view it, the effect of the provisions of the supplemental section is to give to a village or city the authority to transfer and convey to the board of education of the village or city school district, in the manner provided in said section, and upon a valuable consideration, the title to any real property owned by such village or city and not needed for municipal purposes, to be used by such board of education for the purposes mentioned in said section, and I am of the opinion that said village or city has no authority under said section to donate said site to said board of education.

In view of the foregoing, I am of the opinion that your question must be answered in the negative. It is evident, however, that there is ample authority in law for the sale of the site referred to in your inquiry, by the village of Kingston, and for the purchase of the same by the board of education of the village school district.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1592.

SCHOOLS—A TEACHER EMPLOYED BY ANY BOARD OF EDUCATION MAY NOT BE EMPLOYED BY PUBLISHERS OF TEXT BOOKS, WHICH ARE LISTED WITH SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION, TO DEMONSTRATE METHODS OF SUCH TEXT BOOKS IN SUMMER NORMAL SCHOOLS—SEE SECTION 7718 G. C., 106 O. L., 447.

A teacher, superintendent, supervisor or principal employed by any board of education in the state, who is employed by a publisher of books listed with the superintendent of public instruction, according to the provisions of section 7712 G. C., as a demonstator of a method reader of such publisher for sale for use in the public schools of this state, in a summer normal school within the state, is acting indirectly as a sales agent for such publisher within the terms of section 7718 G. C., 106 O. L., 447, and is subject to the provisions thereof.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 19, 1916.

HON. FRANK B. PEARSON, Superintendent of Public Instruction, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Your inquiry under date of May 6, 1916, in response to my request for further information on yours of May 4, 1916, is as follows:

> "We respectfully request your opinion on the following question:
> "A teacher has been employed by a publishing company as a demonstrator of a method reader at one of the summer normal schools. Her work will consist of teaching according to the methods of the texts published by the company. These text books are listed with the superintendent of public instruction according to the provisions of section 7712 G. C., and are for sale in the state of Ohio.
> "The work of this teacher will be observed by the students of the summer school. The publishing company will pay her for the work. She will use as the basis of her instruction the text published by the company which employs her.
> "Question. Will such work as that described above make a teacher liable to a penalty prescribed by section 7718 Ohio Laws?"

Section 7718 G. C., 106 O. L., 447, to which it is assumed you refer, provides as follows:

> "A superintendent, supervisor, principal or teacher employed by any board of education in the state shall not act as sales agent, either directly or indirectly, for any person, firm or corporation whose school text books are filed with the superintendent of public instruction as provided by law, or for school apparatus or equipment of any kind for use in the public schools of the state. A violation of this provision shall work a forfeiture of their certificates to teach in the public schools of Ohio."

The manifest purpose of the enactment of the provisions of the above mentioned section was to prohibit superintendents, supervisors and teachers employed by boards of education throughout the state from assuming such relationship to any publisher or publishers of any books offered for sale in this state, or any person having for sale in this state any school apparatus or equipment as to create in any such teacher, superintendent or supervisor a direct or indirect pecuniary interest in inducing boards of education to adopt or purchase books, apparatus or equipment from any particular firm or corporation, and further to bar all teachers, superintendents and supervisors, while so employed by a board of education, from engaging in any activity, the direct purpose or ultimate end of which is the sale of the books, apparatus or equipment offered by any person, firm or corporation for the use of the public schools of the state, and to effect a like inhibition against persons, firms or corporations inducing teachers, superintendents or supervisors, either directly or indirectly, through such employment, to use their influence with boards of education in securing the sale and adoption of the books, apparatus and equipment of the particular employer of such teacher, supervisor or superintendent, and to effect the full accomplishment of this purpose it is provided that such teacher, superintendent or supervisor shall not act, either directly or indirectly, as a sales agent for any such person, firm or corporation.

A sales agent is one the purpose of whose employment is to effect sales of the property, goods, wares or merchandise of the principal or employer. That is, to act directly as a sales agent would necessarily involve the bringing about by direct effort the perfecting of contracts of sale as between the principal and a third person or persons. To act indirectly as a sales agent is a comprehensive expression indeed. Many schemes and devices are adopted by enterprising business men to both directly and indirectly induce the purchase of their wares. Advertising methods of inconceivable variety are prosecuted on every hand, the sole purpose of which is the ultimate sale of goods of some class which constitute their subject matter. The dissemination or promulgation of any class of such advertising matter, the sole purpose of which is to induce the purchase of goods by one in the employ of another having such goods for sale, would make such one at least an indirect sales agent. The promulgation of information in regard to any article of merchandise by those whose business it is to make sale of the same, by whatever method or in whatever form, is actuated by the sole purpose to induce such sales and is therefore only a method of advertisement, and, as stated above, it must be conceded, I take it, that a person engaged in the advertisement of the sale of an article is at least indirectly a sales agent of that article. With these general observations we may examine the facts before us. It may be first pointed out that the employer in question is the publisher of books which are listed with the superintendent of public instruction, for sale for use in all the public schools of the state.

This fact suggests the question: Is it at all probable that any publisher of books which may not be permitted to be sold in this state will engage in an expensive scheme of demonstrating the merits of those books within the state? The answer to this question is conclusive of the sole purpose of such demonstration.

Some significance may also be attached to the further fact that the demonstrations in question are to be given in summer normal schools. At such normal schools are collected great numbers of teachers and students who are preparing to engage in that profession. Now it requires no far stretch of imagination to fathom the design of those prosecuting this palpable scheme of advertising. If the teachers before whom these demonstrations are made are favorably impressed with the method of such readers and text books, it follows not only as a natural but in the very nature of things a necessary result, in view of the relationship of those teachers both personal and otherwise to the boards of education throughout the state, that these teachers will render invaluable services, and I do not say improperly so in any sense whatever, in securing the adoption and purchase of those books in those schools in which they shall be employed to teach and this is palpably the end sought by an adroit and effective scheme of advertising—an agency designed to effect the sale of the books, the methods of which are sought to be demonstrated.

It therefore follows, and I am of the opinion, in answer to your inquiry, that a teacher who is employed by any board of education may not be employed by the publishers of text books which are listed with the superintendent of public instruction for sale in this state, to demonstrate the methods of such text books in summer normal schools within this state without being subject to the provisions of section 7718, G. C., supra.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1593.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, PRAIRIE TOWNSHIP RURAL SCHOOL DISTRICT, FRANKLIN COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 19, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of Prairie township rural school district, Franklin county, Ohio, in the amount of $42,000.00, for the purpose of purchasing sites for and the erection and equipment of three elementary grade school buildings, being 42 bonds of one thousand dollars each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the board of education and other officers of Prairie township rural school district relative to the above bond issue, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds, drawn in accordance with the form submitted and executed by the proper officers will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of said school district.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1594.

SHERIFFS—MAY CHARGE POUNDAGE ON ALL MONEYS ACTUALLY MADE AND PAID TO THEM ON SALE OF CHATTEL PROPERTY ON EXECUTION—SEE SECTION 2845, G. C.

Under the provisions of section 2845, G. C., sheriffs may charge poundage on all moneys actually made and paid to them on the sale of chattel property on execution.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 19, 1916.

Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—I have your letter of May 13, 1916, submitting the following inquiry:

"Do the poundage fees of the sheriff, as provided in section 2845 G. C., apply to sales of chattel property, or are they limited to sales of real estate?"

The provisions of section 2845 G. C., pertinent to your inquiry, are as follows:

"* * * poundage on all moneys actually made and paid to the sheriff on execution, decree or sale of real estate, on the first ten thousand dollars, one per centum; on all sums over ten thousand dollars, one-half of one per centum; but when such real estate is bid off and purchased by a party entitled to a part of the proceeds, the sheriff shall not be entitled to any poundage except on the amount over and above the claim of such party, except in writs of sale in partition he shall receive one per cent. on the first two thousand dollars, and one-third of one per cent. on all above that amount coming into his hands."

The foregoing provisions of said section have not been materially changed except as to the rate allowed since their original enactment in 1837, as found in Vol. XXXV, Ohio Laws, page 54. It was provided in said original act as follows:

"Poundage on all money actually made and paid to the sheriff, on execution, decree, or sale of real estate, except on writs of partition for the sale of real estate, two per cent. on the first thousand dollars, and one per cent. on all sums over one thousand dollars: Provided, That where such real estate shall be bid off and purchased by the plaintiff in execution, or the complainant in chancery, the sheriff shall not be entitled to any poundage, except on the amount paid over and above the claim of the plaintiff or complainant."

The exact question presented by you appears never to have been presented in any case to any of the courts of this state, although our courts have frequently been called upon to determine the rights of sheriffs to poundage in the matter of real estate sales. It would seem from earlier cases that poundage on money paid to the sheriff on execution applied to the sale of personal property as well as real estate.

Perhaps the nearest approach to an adjudication of this question is to be found in the case of Farrin v. Creager, reported in the 3rd Weekly Law Gazette, page 267, and decided by Judge Gholson, of the superior court of Cincinnati, from whose opinion I quote as follows:

"In this case, the plaintiff held a mortgage executed by the defendant, Creager, upon a leasehold estate, having connected with it, a right or privilege to purchase the fee. The lease was only for five years, and the inference is, though not stated in the pleading, that the privilege to purchase only continued with the lease. The plaintiff brought his action to realize upon his security. He obtained an order for the sale of the lease, with the right to purchase, it being the object to assign both to the purchaser, and such a course having obviously been within the intention and contemplation of the parties in giving and taking the security.

"A sale is made by the sheriff under the order of the court, and the plaintiff is himself the purchaser. The only question now made is as to the fees or poundage of the sheriff. He claims that there was a sale merely of personal property, and that the law governing sales of real estate, where the plaintiff is the purchaser, does not apply. I do not think so, but, on the contrary, that this case, if not within the letter strictly, is within the spirit and intent of the statute, and that its provisions must apply and govern."

It appears to be conceded by the parties in the foregoing case that the provision, of the statute applied to the sale of personal property. Considering this question however, upon the language of the statute itself, I am unable to perceive why its provisions do not include personal property as well as real estate. It plainly provides that all moneys paid to the sheriff on execution shall be subject to the charge of poundage. No execution may issue that is not directed first against the personal property of the debtor. It is only when there is no personal property subject to levy that an execution may be levied upon real estate. This being so, and the statute plainly providing that money received on execution shall be subject to the charge, I am unable to see upon what ground it may be held to exclude an execution levied upon personal property and the money received by the sheriff from the sale thereof.

I am therefore of the opinion that the provisions of section 2845 G. C., hereinbefore quoted, include money received from sales on execution levied upon personal property, and when such money is actually made and paid to the sheriff from the sale of said property, he is entitled to charge the fees therein prescribed as poundage.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1595.

FEES OF SHERIFF—PERSON SENTENCED BY COMMANDING OFFICER OF MILITIA TO COUNTY JAIL—FEES FOR COMMITTING AND DISCHARGING DEFENDENT IN BASTARDY PROCEEDING—FEES IN CONTEMPT PROCEEDINGS—NO JAIL FEES WHERE WITNESSES ARE COMMITTED BY CORONER.

Fees of the sheriff, including the board of a military prisoner committed by order of a commanding officer of the Ohio National Guard, under authority of section 5251 G. C., as amended 106 O. L., 472, must be paid by the officer ordering such commitment.

The fees for committing and discharging a defendant in a bastardy proceeding follow the costs of the case and under no circumstances may become a claim against the county under section 2846 G. C.

When a witness is committed to the county jail in a contempt proceeding or a proceeding other than a crimnal case, the payment of the fee for committing and discharging said prisoner will depend upon the order of the court as made in each particular case. When such fees, however, are received by the sheriff, they must be turned into his fee fund in every case.

There is no provision of law covering the payment of jail fees in cases where wttnesses are committed by a corner under the authority of section 2856 G. C.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 19, 1916.

Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—I have your letter of March 30, 1916, submitting the following inquiries:

> "First. May a sheriff tax fees for committing and discharging a military prisoner committed by an officer of the Ohio National Guard under the terms of section 5251 G. C., as amended in 106 O. L., page 472? If so, who is responsible for the payment of the same? May he charge the county under the terms of sections 2850 and 2997 G. C., for the board of such individual?

"Second. How is the sheriff to get his fees for committing and discharging of a prisoner committed by a magistrate, in bastardy proceedings, in default of bail? Is the county liable under the terms of section 2846 G. C.?

"Third. When a witness is committed to jail upon orders of the common pleas court, who pays the fee for committing and discharging, and to whom does it belong, the sheriff individually, or to the sheriff's fee fund?

"Fourth. Who pays the committing and discharging fees of witnesses committed to jail by the county coroner under the terms of section 2856, G. C.? May the sheriff in any event claim such fees for his own use under the terms of section 2846 G. C.?"

Section 5251 G. C., as amended 106 O. L., 472, to which reference is made in your first inquiry, provides as follows:

"Section 5251. The commanding officer of a regiment, battalion, company, troop or battery, may arrest any member of his command for the violation of an order, regulation or law for the government of the national guard, and may authorize in writing, any sheriff, constable or police officer of the county, city, village or township where such violation occurs, to so arrest such delinquent member. Such commanding officer may turn over, to any sheriff, constable or police officer, a member of his command so arrested by him. Such sheriff, constable or police officer shall hold such man, so arrested, in his custody, not exceeding five days, until he has been tried by the proper court-martial, or has been discharged by proper authority."

The matters for which an arrest or commitment may be made on the written order of a commanding officer under this section are limited to violations of an order, regulation or law for the government of the national guard. The effect of this statute is to make the sheriff subject to the orders of such cammanding officer in matters which are ultimately to be determined by a military court and wholly within its jurisdiction. There is no statute law by which a county may be held for any expense involved in the trial of persons charged with offenses against the military law, nor is there any statutory provision of law by which a commanding officer in matters connected with the prosecution of such military violations may in any manner bind a county for any expense involved therein. It was held in the case of McGorray v. Murphy, 80 O. S., 413, that under arrangements with a sheriff an offender against military law might be delivered to said sheriff, and held by him in the county jail. The precise question involved here was considered by my predecessor, Hon. T. S. Hogan, in an opinion under date of January 30, 1913, and reported at page 491 of Vol. I of the Attorney-General's reports for that year. Section 5251, supra, however, at that time did not include a sheriff in the list of officers to whom such commitment might be made or by whom such an arrest could be made. A sheriff was added to such list of officers by the recent amendment quoted above. However, I am of the opinion that the fact that said section now expressly empowers a commanding officer to authorize in writing a sheriff either to make the arrest or to hold the accused, does not in any manner change the effect of the statute upon the question of the expense involved in such transaction. It was held in the opinion aforesaid that county commissioners were not required to pay for the board and maintenance of an offender so held by the county sheriff, and I am of the opinion that this conclusion still obtains under the amended statute and that the commanding officer who orders the arrest and commitment must provide for all necessary expense connected therewith. This would include not only the board of the individual arrested, but would include all other costs which may legally attach to such commitment.

You inquire also whether a sheriff may tax what is known as jail fees in the case of a military prisoner committed to the county jail under this section. The provision of law which authorizes a sheriff to charge for receiving and discharging a prisoner is found in section 2845, G. C., and provides as follows:

> "Jail fees for receiving, discharging or surrendering each prisoner, to be charged but once in each case, fifty cents."

A prisoner may be said to be one who is lawfully deprived of his liberty. I am of the opinion that a person committed to a county jail under the provisions of section 5251, aforesaid, is a prisoner within the meaning of that term as used in said section 2845, aforesaid, and that the sheriff therefore may charge for receiving and discharging such prisoner fifty cents as therein specified, such charge to be made against the officer ordering such commitment, and to be collected with all other legal expense including board, from the commanding officer ordering such commitment.

In reply to your second question, all costs in a bastardy proceeding including the cost of receiving and discharging the defendant from a county jail follow the case, and, if the defendant is finally found guilty under the complaint, must be adjudged against him. If such costs including said fees are paid by said defendant, they must be paid into the sheriff's fee fund, and if not paid by the defendant may not be collected from the county under the provisions of section 2846, G. C., for the reason that said section includes only fees in criminal cases and misdemeanors and a bastardy case is not within either class.

Your third inquiry must depend upon the particular facts and circumstances of each case and the order of the common pleas court making said commitment. It may be said, however, as a general proposition, which would include the case of a witness committed to jail in a contempt proceeding, that all fees received by the sheriff are paid to him by virtue of his office and must be turned by him into his fee fund. The only circumstances under which a sheriff may claim any fees as an individual are those included in the allowance made by the county commissioners under the provisions of section 2846, G. C.

The provisions of section 2856, G. C., which are pertinent to the matters submitted in your last inquiry, are as follows:

> "If he deems it necessary, he shall cause such witnesses to enter into recognizance, in such sum as may be proper, for their appearance at the succeeding term of the court of common pleas of the county to give testimony concerning the matter. The coroner may require any and all such witnesses to give security for their attendance, and if they or any of them neglect to comply with his requirements, he shall commit such person to the prison of the county, until discharged by due course of law."

This statute empowers a coroner to commit to the county jail any witness who fails when so required to give security for his attendance at the succeeding term of court. This order by the coroner is not made in any criminal case or prosecution then pending, but it is made in anticipation of a future prosecution which will result from an investigation by the court before which said witness is required to appear at the succeeding term thereof. It follows that the costs involved in the order of the coroner may not be taxed as costs in any criminal case because, as before observed no criminal case is then pending. There is no other statutory provision under which such costs may be taxed either against the witness or the state or county. It follows, therefore, that such costs may not be recovered either from the county or from the witness.

Answering your last inquiry specifically I must advise that there is no statutory law providing for the payment of jail fees in cases where witnesses are committed by a coroner, under authority of section 2856, G. C., and that such fees may not be allowed and paid to the sheriff under section 2846, supra, because they are not made in any criminal case as required by the provisions of said last named section.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1596.

APPROVAL, LEASE OF CANAL LANDS TO THE PHARIS TIRE AND RUBBER COMPANY, NEWARK, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 19, 1916.

HON. FRANK R. FAUVER, Superintendent of Public Works, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of May 18, 1916, transmitting to me for examination a lease of certain canal lands to The Pharis Tire & Rubber Co., of Newark, Ohio.

I find this lease to be in regular form and am, therefore, returning the same with my approval endorsed thereon.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1597.

FORT JENNINGS MEMORIAL—DISAPPROVAL OF CONTRACT FOR SAID MEMORIAL BUILDING.

The contract relating to the Fort Jennings memorial shows that it is to be made between the contractor and the building committee of the Jennings memorial, the board of trustees of Jennings township, Putnam county, Ohio, and the village of Fort Jennings. There being no authority in law for the trustees of the township or the officials of the village to build, or aid in building, such memorial, the same is not approved.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 20, 1916.

HON. FRANK B. WILLIS, Governor of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

MY DEAR GOVERNOR:—Under date of May 17th you wrote me as follows:

> "The enclosed contract relates to the Fort Jennings Memorial under authority of Ohio Laws 103, page 607, and Ohio Laws 105, page 843. Will you kindly give me an opinion as to the validity and form of this contract in order that I may approve same in accordance with the terms of the statute?"

Enclosed with your letter you submitted the contract in question.

The only authority for the existence of the commission for the erection of a memorial building at Fort Jennings is found in 103 O. L. 607, which reads as follows:

"To an honorary commission, appointed by the governor, appointment not requiring confirmation by the senate, to serve without compensation, except actual expenses. Said commission to enter into a contract to be approved by the governor, for the erection of a memorial building, in commemoration of the life and services of Colonel William Jennings and his company of soldiers who erected a fort at Fort Jennings, the present site of the village of Fort Jennings, Putnam county, Ohio. After appointment the commission shall organize and elect one of its members chairman. The chairman shall approve and sign all vouchers for the payment of costs in the erection of said memorial building, for which there is hereby appropriated the sum of ..... $4,000.00."

In the appropriation bill found in 106 O. L. 843, balances then existing in the former appropriation were reappropriated.

The contract submitted is a contract between the contractor and "The building committee of the Jennings memorial, the board of trustees of Jennings township, Putnam county, Ohio, and the village of Fort Jennings" for the erection of "The Jennings Memorial Hall," for the sum of $11,219.00. It is stipulated in Article 3 of said contract as follows:

"The building committee to pay $4,000.00, the village of Fort Jennings to pay $2,500.00, and the board of trustees of Jennings township to pay the balance of $4,719.00," the building committee having the right to do the electric wiring in said memorial building.

It appears, therefore, from the provisions of the contract, that the parties thereto are not only the building committee of the Jennings memorial (being a state commission) but also the trustees of Jennings township and the village of Fort Jennings the latter two to contribute toward the erection of the memorial.

I can find no provision in the statutes authorizing the trustees of a township or the proper officials of a village to enter into a contract for the erection of such a memorial building.

Under the provisions of sections 3410-1, et seq., of the General Code, a township is authorized to build a memorial building; but an examination of said statutes will readily disclose that the township is not proceeding, or endeavoring to proceed, under said sections.

In view of the fact that there is no authority for the trustees of the township or the proper officials of the village to enter into a contract for the erection of such a memorial as is contemplated in the contract submitted, I am of the opinion that you should not approve the same.

I am returning to you herewith the said contract.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1598.

APPROVAL, RESOLUTIONS FOR IMPROVEMENT OF CERTAIN ROADS IN FULTON COUNTY.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 20, 1916.

HON. CLINTON COWEN, State Highway Commissioner, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of May 19, 1916, transmitting to me for examination final resolutions relating to the following roads:

> "Fulton County. Sec. 'A,' Wauseon-Napoleon road, Pet. No. 2357, I. C. H. No. 296.
> "Fulton County. Sec. 'J,' Toledo-Angola road, Pet. No. 2360, I. C. H. No. 21."

I find these resolutions to be in regular form and am, therefore, returning the same with my approval endorsed thereon.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1599.

STATE LIQUOR LICENSING BOARD—INSPECTORS OF SAID BOARD NOT ENTITLED TO WITNESS FEES AND MILEAGE IN ADDITION TO SALARY.

Inspectors appointed by the state liquor licensing board are not entitled to witness fees and mileage in cases of criminal prosecution of offenses against the liquor laws, where such inspectors are at the same time receiving their salaries and expenses for their time and services as such inspectors.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 22, 1916.

State Liquor Licensing Board, Columbus, Ohio.

Gentlemen:—Yours under date of May 12, 1916, is as follows:

> "The inspectors of this department who receive a fixed salary and traveling expenses are frequently subpoenaed into court as witnesses in cases reported by them, such inspectors receiving their salary and traveling expenses while attending court. As such witnesses, they are of course entitled to receive witness fees and mileage. It has been the custom of this department in the past to require the inspectors to turn such witness and mileage fees so received by them into the fund of this department, out of which, as stated above, they are paid their salary and traveling expenses while attending as such witnesses.
> "Some question having arisen as to the legality of this procedure, we desire that you will give us your opinion in the matter and oblige."

The facts stated by you, and the relationship of inspectors to whom you refer to the state as employes of your board, and at the same time witnesses in prosecution of offenses based upon their investigations, are analogous to, and involve an application of the same principles of law as were considered in an opinion under date of January 4, 1916, rendered to Hon. Bert B. Buckley, state fire marshal, and found at page 2477 of the report of the attorney-general for the year 1915, relative to the right of assistant fire marshals to witness fees under circumstances substantially identical and statutory provisions in part the same and otherwise entirely similar in import and operation, a copy of which opinion is herewith enclosed.

It is a part of the duties of inspectors in the employ of your department, for which they are paid by the state a salary, together with necessary expenses incurred in the performance of their duties, to investigate violations of the liquor laws, develop the evidence in relation thereto and assist in the prosecutions of all offenses by them found to have been committed in like manner, as it is the duty of assistant fire marshals to investigate and assist in the prosecution of all the violations of the criminal laws relating to incendiary fires for which they receive a salary and their necessary expenses. In the opinion above referred to it is held that where assistant fire marshals are paid their regular salary and expenses while in attendance as witnesses in the trial of criminal cases, such services must be deemed to be in the line of their duty and they are not entitled to any further witness fees and mileage, and if such fees and mileage are sent to them they should be returned to the county from which they were drawn.

I find no ground upon which any distinction as between assistant fire marshals and liquor license inspectors, in respect to witness fees, could be based, and, therefore hold upon the reasons set forth in the opinion above referred to that the rule therein stated is equally applicable to the fees and mileage of liquor license inspectors in criminal prosecutions for the violations of the liquor laws of the state, and that they are, therefore, not entitled to witness fees and mileage in such cases while they are at the same time under salary and receiving their expenses as such liquor license inspectors.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1600.

COUNTY SURVEYOR—VACANCY—HOW OFFICE SHALL BE FILLED FOR UNEXPIRED TERM.

Where a vacancy in the office of county surveyor occured in May, 1916, there should be elected at the November election, 1916, a person to fill the unexpired term, whose tenure of office will begin upon qualification after such election and end on the day preceding the first Monday of September, 1917. There should also be elected at the same election a surveyor for the term of two years, beginning on the first Monday of September, 1917.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 22, 1916.

HON. JOHN M. MARKLEY, Prosecuting Attorney, Georgetown, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Yours under date of May 16, 1916, is as follows:

> "John R. Moore, Jr., was elected county surveyor of Brown county, Ohio, in November, 1914, and entered upon the duties of his office on the first Monday of September, 1915.
>
> "On the 10th day of May, 1916, the said John R. Moore, Jr., died, and the commissioners of Brown county, on the 15th day of May, 1916, appointed Carl H. Thomas to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the said John R. Moore, Jr.

"The question now arises as to how long the person appointed by the commissioners to fill the vacancy can hold the office.

"It is my opinion that Carl H. Thomas, who has been appointed to fill this office, will hold until a successor is elected at the November election of this year, and that the successor so elected will serve for the remainder of the unexpired term of John R. Moore, Jr., that is, until the first Monday of September, 1917. It is also my opinion that as the said John R. Moore, Jr., would have been a candidate for re-election this year for the term beginning on the first Monday of September, 1917, there will have to be two persons elected this year; one to fill the unexpired term and the other for the regular term beginning on the first Monday of September, 1917.

"Kindly give me your opinion on this as soon as possible so that the prospective candidates for this office may be duly advised with reference to the matter."

Pertinent to your inquiry is the provision of section 2 of article III of the constitution of the state of Ohio, that:

"All vacancies in other elective offices (than state offices and members of the general assembly) shall be filled for the unexpired term in such manner as may be prescribed by law."

In reference to vacancies in the office of county surveyor, section 2785, G. C., provides as follows:

"If a vacancy occurs in the office of county surveyor because of death, resignation or otherwise, the county commissioners shall appoint a suitable person county surveyor, who, upon giving bond and taking the oath of office as required of the county surveyor elect, shall enter upon the discharge of the duties of the office."

It will be noted that under the provisions of the above section for filling a vacancy in the office of county surveyor, no provision is made as to the tenure of office of the person appointed to fill such vacancy. It is provided, however, with reference to the filling of vacancies in offices generally, by section 10 of the General Code as follows:

"When an elective office becomes vacant, and is filled by appointment, such appointee shall hold the office until his successor is elected and qualified. Unless otherwise provided by law, such successor shall be elected for the unexpired term at the first general election for the office which is vacant that occurs more than thirty days after the vacancy shall have occurred. This section shall not be construed to postpone the time for such election beyond that at which it would have been held had no such vacancy occurred, nor to affect the official term, or the time for the commencement thereof, of any person elected to such office before the occurrence of such vacancy."

I find that it is not otherwise provided by law with reference to the election of a successor in case of vacancy in the office of county surveyor, and the election of such successor is therefore governed by the provisions of said section 10, G. C., supra, which require that such successor shall be elected at the next general election for such office which occurs more than thirty days after the vacancy shall have occurred. The vacancy as to which you make inquiry having occurred on the 15th day of May, 1916, will have existed more than thirty days next preceding the next general election for the office of county surveyor, which will be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday of November next. The successor so required to be elected at the next November election will be entitled to serve for the unexpired term subsequent to his election and qualification. That is to say, the term of office of the successor to the person by reason of whose death the vacancy occurred will begin upon his qualification after his election at the November election, 1916, and will expire when the term of the officer by reason of whose death the vacancy occurred would have expired. That is to say, on the day preceding the first Monday of September, 1917. There is also required to be elected at the November election, 1916, a county surveyor, whose term of office will begin on the first Monday of September, 1917.

I therefore concur in your opinion and hold that under the facts stated by you there should, at the coming November election, be elected a county surveyor for the unexpired term ending on the day preceding the first Monday of September, 1917, and also a county surveyor elected at such election for the term of two years, beginning on the first Monday of September, 1917.

The same person may, however, be elected for both the unexpired term and the term beginning on the first Monday of September, 1917.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1601.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, VILLAGE OF CRESTLINE.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 22, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.
GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of the village of Crestline, in the sum of $3,000.00 to secure funds for the construction of a bridge on Scott Street in said village, being six bonds of five hundred dollars each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the council and other officers of the village of Crestline, Ohio, relative to the above bond issue, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the form submitted and executed by the proper officers will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of the village of Crestline.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1602.

BOARD OF AGRICULTURE—COMPETITIVE BIDS MUST BE SECURED FOR LETTING PAINTING CONTRACTS AT STATE FAIR GROUNDS—OTHER FORMALITIES NOT REQUIRED.

Competitive bids must be secured by the board of agriculture for painting done at the state fair grounds to be paid for from appropriations made in house bill No. 701. No advertisement or other formalities required, but opportunity must be given to all persons desiring to compete.

COLUMBUS, OHIO. May 23, 1916.

Board of Agriculture of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—I am in receipt of your request for opinion under date of May 22, 1916, which reads as follows:

> "We must do some painting at the state fair grounds this year, and have about $350.00 or $400.00 to spend. We desire to be advised by your department how to proceed to let the contract for the painting."

On August 5, 1915, in opinion No. 681 addressed to your board, I advised you generally relative to the method of letting contracts for painting where the contract price was less than $3,000.00. In that opinion I advised you that section 6 of house bill No. 701, 106 O. L. 666, requires that if the work is to be paid for out of the current general appropriation bill, competitive bids must be secured, unless it is impracticable in the judgment of the board created by the appropriation bill for the making of transfers and divisions of appropriation accounts, and the discharge of other administrative functions in connection therewith to invite competitive bids; or unless in the judgment of such board the situation presents an instance of emergency requiring purchase without competitive bids; or unless the general provisions of the law directly require or authorize entering into a contract without competitive bids (which is not the case in this instance).

It is my opinion, therefore, that you should secure competitive bids in this work, but in the securing of competitive bids no particular formalities are required and no particular advertisement is necessary. It is sufficient if substantial compliance is secured in any proper manner, giving all persons who desire to compete a free, fair and full opportunity to bid thereon.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1603.

COMMISSION FOR BLIND—STATE BOARD OF HEALTH—HOW CO-OPERATION IS TO BE EFFECTED UNDER PROVISION OF SECTION 1367, G. C.—PROSECUTION FOR VIOLATION OF SAID SECTION.

Questions as to the nature of co-operation of the commission for the blind with the state board of health under the provisions of section 1367, G. C., should be addressed to the board. A nurse of the commission might swear to an affidavit charging a non-compliance with the act "For the prevention of blindness from inflammation of the eyes of the new born, designating certain powers and duties and otherwise providing for the enforcement of this act" (106 O. L., 321), but the duty of prosecuting the matter is cast on the prosecuting attorney.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 23, 1916.

Commission for the Blind, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—The request for an opinion submitted by your executive secretary is as follows:

> "Under section 4, sub-section 1 of 'An act for the prevention of blindness from inflammation of the eyes of the new born, etc.' (105 O. L., 321), it is the duty of the state board of health to enforce the provisions of said act. By sub-section 8, it is also the duty of the state board of health to assist the local police or county prosecutor in every way possible, such as by securing necessary evidence. Under section 8, $5,000.00 is appropriated annually for the use of the state board of health in enforcing and carrying out the provisions of the act, including necessary expenses incurred in prosecuting a case under the act.
>
> "By section 1367 of the General Code, the Ohio commission for the blind is required to co-operate with the state board of health in the adoption and enforcement of proper preventive measures.
>
> "The Ohio commission for the blind desires your advice and opinion on how it is to co-operate with the state board of health in the enforcement of the act before referred to; also, whether a nurse of the commission, having personal knowledge of violation of the act, could properly swear out a warrant and undertake the prosecution of a case of non-compliance with the act."

Section 1284-4 of the General Code (106 O. L., 321), which is section 4 of an act

> "For the prevention of blindness from inflammation of the eyes of the new born, designating certain powers and duties and otherwise providing for the enforcement of this act."

is as follows:

> "It shall be the duty of the state board of health:
>
> "1. To enforce the provisions of this act.
>
> "2. To promulgate such rules and regulations as shall, under this act, be necessary for the purpose of this act, and such as the state board of health may deem necessary for the further and proper guidance of local health officers.
>
> "3. To provide for the gratuitous distribution of a scientific prophylactic for inflammation of the eyes of the new born, together with proper directions for the use and administration thereof, to all physicians and midwives as may be engaged in the practice of obstetrics or assisting at childbirth.

"4. To provide, if necessary, daily inspection and prompt and gratuitous treatment to an infant whose eyes are infected with inflammation of the eyes, provided further that the state board of health, if necessary, shall defray the expense of such treatment from such sum as may be appropriated for its use.

"5. To publish and promulgate such further advice and information concerning the dangers of inflammation of the eyes of the new born, and the necessity for prompt and effective treatment.

"6. To furnish copies of this law to all physicians and midwives as may be engaged in the practice of obstetrics or assisting at childbirth.

"7. To keep a proper record of any and all cases of inflammation of the eyes of the new born, as shall be filed in the office of the state board of health, in pursuance with this law and as may come to their attention in any way, and to constitute such records a part of the annual report to the governor and the legislature.

"8. To report any and all violations of this act as may come to its attention, to the state board of medical registration and examination, and also to the local police or county prosecutor in the county wherein said misdemeanor may have been committed, and to assist said officer in every way possible, such as by securing necessary evidence."

In section 6 of the act referred to above it is provided:

"It shall be the duty of the prosecuting attorney to prosecute all violations of the act."

Your enquiry arises by reason of the provisions of section 1367 of the General Code, which is as follows:

"The commission for the blind shall make enquiries concerning the cause of blindness to ascertain what portion of said cases are preventable and co-operate with the state board of health in the adoption and enforcement of proper preventive measures."

Under the provisions of the act referred to above, it is made the duty of the state board of health to enforce its provisions, while under the provisions of section 1367 of the General Code, supra, the commission for the blind is charged with the duty of co-operating with the state board of health in the adoption and enforcement of proper preventive measures. The act under consideration is a preventive measure and as such demands the attention of your commission.

The duties cast on the state board of health under the provisions of the act are many and varied, and the question as to how you can best co-operate with the board in the discharge of those duties should more properly be addressed to the board as the answer thereto embraces a question of fact rather than of law, and the board is doubtless in much better position to determine just what would be most helpful to it in the performance of its various functions in connection with the administration of the law.

Answering your last question specifically it is my opinion that no particular duties relative to prosecutions for violation of the provisions of the law in question are cast on a nurse of your commission. However, such nurse could swear to an affidavit charging non-compliance with the law, the same as any other person, but in the end the duty of prosecuting the case would rest on the prosecuting attorney as provided in section 1248-6 of the General Code (106 O. L., 322). The proper course to pursue is to report all violations of the law under consideration to the state board of health for presentation to the proper official in the jurisdiction in which the offense, if any, occurred.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1604.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION LAW—STATE INSURANCE FUND IS TRUST FUND FOR PAYMENT OF COMPENSATION TO INJURED EMPLOYES AND DEPENDENTS OF KILLED EMPLOYES—SAID FUND SHOULD BE SAFEGUARDED—CLAIMS SHOULD BE CLEAR BUT ANY DOUBT SHOULD BE WEIGHED CAREFULLY IN FAVOR OF CLAIMANT.

The state insurance fund, created by the Ohio workmen's compensation law, 103 O. L., 72 et seq., is a trust fund, the primary purpose of which is its distribution for the payment of compensation to injured employes and the dependents of killed employes.

Said fund should be safeguarded with every possible protection in its administration, however, said fund is created for distribution and not for the purpose of perpetuating or accumulating the same.

Claims arising under the Ohio workmen's compensation law where the proof is controlled by section 44 of the act, section 1465-91, G. C., should be clear, but any doubt of a claimant to participate in said fund should be weighed carefully in favor of the claimant.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 23, 1916.

The Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

In Re: Mrs. Lewis Burnside.

I am in receipt of your letter under date of May 11th, in which you request that I review the proof on file in this case and advise you as to my judgment as to whether or not a successful defense can be maintained by the commission in event an appeal is taken to the common pleas court from the finding of the commission.

The claim was presented to your commission and disallowed for the reason that the death of the husband, Lewis Burnside, was not caused by an injury sustained in the course of his employment.

In going over the proof in this case I find that Mr. Burnside was an employe of the city of Columbus, that his duty was to patrol the Scioto and Olentangy rivers, that he had been engaged in this work by the city for several years and seemed to be in normal health for a person of his age, he being sixty-two years of age.

The proof shows that he sustained an injury on December 24, 1914, and that he died on March 9, 1915. There is no proof showing that Mr. Burnside was troubled with any ailment prior to that date, but there seems to be an abundance of proof that he immediately made complaint to a number of persons, whose affidavits and testimony are on file with this claim, that he sustained the injury, and that from the time he received the alleged injury in December he continuously made complaint, and his knee, which was injured, was the seat or source of all the complaint and trouble to him after December 24th.

Dr. McKendree Smith, in the medical certificate of death, states that the cause of death was acute inflammatory rheumatism, and the contributory or secondary cause "heart prostration from absorption of toxemia." In answer to interrogatories submitted to him he says in answer to the 17th question, Dr. Smith said:

> "I cannot answer without some doubt and reservation as to whether the swollen, painful condition of the right knee was due to latent and inactive germs which became active after his exposure or due entirely to inflammatory rheumatism I am unable to say."

In his proof of death Dr. Smith says that the remote cause of death very probably was the injury he received on December 24, 1914.

In answer to interrogatory No. 8 to Dr. George L. Saunders—"Did septicemia develop after the alleged injury?" answered, "Yes."

Dr. Saunders saw the deceased only the day before his death.

We refer to the report of your medical department under date of March 4th in which they state that at the time of Mr. Burnside's death, or immediately after, Dr. Smith was inclined to change his diagnosis to that of septicemia, and he is firmly of the belief that it was the cause of his death. It appears that the doctor's first examination led him to believe that it was a case of rheumatism, but changed his opinion because of the continued pain other than the pain complained of in the knee which was not attended with the usual swelling and discoloration which is met with in articular rheumatism.

Dr. Emerson states that from an examination of the physician's reports, whose examinations he thinks were merely cursory, there might be reason to claim that the patient died of pneumonia, but there is no evidence in the papers on file that this man was ever afflicted with pneumonia.

Dr. Emerson further states that Dr. Smith thought it was septicemia from some cause, and Dr. Emerson presumes that not having had any actual facts further than the doctor's statement upon which to base an opinion, that he should acquiesce in the opinion and take it for granted that septicemia was the exciting cause.

In Dr. Emerson's report under date of March 25, 1915, he says that he is convinced that the presumption that death was the result of injury to the decedent's knee was a logical one, in fact, the most logical that he can consider after all the statements made. He says that he can think of only one other at all logical and that is the probability of pneumonia, and that this is too far-fetched to contradict the affidavits of the laymen as to the injury and the complaint of pain in the knee, swelling etc. He also says that he could not make a recommendation for the claimant, but could not make one against the claimant.

Much of the proof on file in this case before the commission seems to be in the nature of hearsay. It does appear from the evidence before the commission that Lewis Burnside sustained an injury on December 24, 1914, that all his complaint and sickness dates from that time, and the attending physicians, while they may not have been positive at the time of the injury as to the nature of the trouble, they seem now to be satisfied that death was caused by septicemia due to the injury to the knee. If this be a fact, and if these physicians will testify to the same on the witness stand, it would appear that this case, if appealed, would be decided in favor of the plaintiff.

All the testimony before the commission points to the fact that he sustained an injury on December 24, 1914, and that all of his illness was due to that injury.

In approaching the consideration of this question it is to be observed first that the fund created under the workmen's compensation law is a trust fund, which should at all times be safeguarded with every possible protection in its administration. However, it is created for specific purposes, the primary one of which is through its distribution to compensate injured employes who come within its provisions, and any doubt as to the right of the claimant to receive compensation from the fund should, under the provisions of the law, be weighed very carefully in favor of the claimant. This is made clear by the provisions of section 44, workmen's compensation act, or section 1465-91 of the General Code, which is as follows:

> "Such board shall not be bound by the usual common law or statutory rules of evidence, or by any technical or formal rules of procedure other than as herein provided; but may make the investigation in such manner as in its judgment is best calculated to ascertain the substantial rights of the parties and to carry out justly the spirit of this act."

In other words, the purpose of the law is to create a fund for the distribution to employes entitled under the law to receive it rather than for the purpose of perpetuating and increasing the fund.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1605.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION LAW—WHEN PROBATE COURT APPROVES SETTLEMENT MADE BY GUARDIAN FOR BENEFIT OF MINOR CHILDREN IN CLAIM UNDER SECTION 27 OF SAID LAW AND BOND IS EXECUTED, WHERE FACTS CLEARLY SHOW RECOVERY COULD NOT BE HAD UPON AN ACTION TO ENFORCE COLLECTION OF AWARD, INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION HAS AUTHORITY TO APPROVE SETTLEMENT AS OUTLINED.

Where the probate court has approved and confirmed a settlement made by a guardian for the benefit of dependent minor children in a claim under section 27 of the Ohio workmen's compensation law, 103 O. L., 72, et seq., and a good and sufficient bond being given for the faithful payment of the sum approved by the probate court, and where the facts before the industrial commission clearly show that a recovery could not be had upon an action to enforce the collection of an award, the industrial commission of Ohio has authority, in the exercise of its discretion, to approve the settlement, thereby insuring to the claimants in this claim the amount agreed upon.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 23, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—Replying to your letter of recent date, relative to the above entitled claim, the facts which I gather from your letter and the papers on file with the claim, appear to be that on April 18, 1916, an award of $3,013.92 was made by the industrial commission in favor of the dependents of Thomas J. Madison, deceased.

Among the papers on file appears a letter from attorney W. F. Lones, who represented the claimant, in which he advised your commission that the employer agreed to pay $1,700.00 in terms as follows: One hundred dollars cash and one hundred dollars each month for a period of three months, the balance to be paid at the rate of thirty-two dollars on the first day of each month until the total amount of $1,700.00 which had been agreed upon in settlement, would be paid.

It appears from the papers on file that owing to the financial condition of the employer, Mr. James J. Strabley, a settlement according to the above terms was agreed upon and approved by the probate court.

Counsel for the claimant agrees with the statements made by Mr. W. A. O'Grady, Wellsville, Ohio, who was attorney for the employer, to the effect that the financial condition of Mr. Strabley was such that he was in fact execution proof, and that no sum whatever could be realized for the purpose of making settlement of any award made by the industrial commission.

These facts doubtless contributed to the action of the probate court in approving the settlement which was made with the guardian, and it occurs to me in considering this case that the uppermost question in the minds of the commission should be the realizing of the best possible result for the claimant. A surety bond has been filed guaranteeing the payment of the $1,700.00 agreed upon in settlement of the claim, and under the wide powers vested in your commission, if deemed for the best interest of the claimant, it is my judgment that you would have authority to approve the settlement thereby insuring to the claimant the payment of the amount agreed upon, whereas a rejection of the settlement and a finding against the employe might result in a total loss to the claimant.

In view of the statements of the attorneys representing both sides to the effect that it would be impossible to realize anything on a judgment which might be secured against the employer,—assuming that the facts are true as stated by the attorneys—there is no doubt but that if only private interests were involved a speedy settlement would be made.

I am returning herewith all the claim papers in the case.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1606.

ROADS AND HIGHWAYS—ANSWERS TO NINETEEN QUESTIONS CONSTRUING PROVISIONS OF CASS HIGHWAY LAW.

1. The levy provided for by section 3298-18 G. C., is to be made by the township trustees at their first meeting after the estimate of the county highway superintendent has been filed with them, and the county highway superintendent is required to file this estimate not later than April 1*st of each year. These provisions, in so far as they relate to time, are directory rather than mandatory.*

The levies provided for by sections 3298-1, 3298-13, 3298-20 and 1222, G. C., are to be made by the township trustees on or before May 15*th of each year, and incorporated in the annual budget filed not later than the first Monday in June.*

2. Where counties carry forward road work by force account, it is not necessary for the county commissioners or county highway superintendent to advertise for bids in the purchase or lease of road machinery, or in the purchase of materials, or in the hiring of laborers and teams.

In so far as township work by force account is concerned, it is not necessary for the township trustees or county highway superintendent or township highway superintendent, as the case may be, to advertise for bids in the purchase or lease of road machinery, or in the purchase of materials, or in the hiring of laborers and teams.

3. The township highway superintendent has no official connection with the construction of roads by township trustees, and the person who fills the position of township highway superintendent may, therefore, work upon an improvement carried forward by the township trustees under chapter III of the Cass highway law, either with or without his team, upon any days when his services as township highway superintendent are not needed.

A township highway superintendent may not lawfully enter into a contract with himself for the dragging of the roads of any road dragging district under his supervision.

Township trustees, in the exercise of their discretion, may permit the township highway superintendent to use his own team in making small repairs, hauling a small amount of material or other similar work, when by so doing he can effect a saving of time and a reduction of expense to the township.

4. The cost of cutting brush, briers, noxious weeds, etc., along the public highways, is to be paid from the township road funds, of the several townships, and this without regard to the class or character of the road on which such work is performed.

5. Township trustees may do maintenance and repair work either by contract or force account.

6. The levies provided by sections 60 and 239 of the Cass highway law are entirely separate and distinct, and township trustees may make levies under both sections.

7. Township trustees are charged with the duty of maintaining and repairing bridges and culverts on township roads, and county commissioners are charged with the duty of maintaining and repairing bridges on county roads. County commissioners are, however, authorized to assist trustees in maintaining and repairing bridges on township roads.

8. In a proceeding under chapter I of the Cass highway law for the location or establishment of a new road, the commissioners are only authorized to go so far as to remove fences, trees and other obstructions, and do such slight grading and ditching as will render the road passable, and the expense of such work may be paid from the county road funds created by levies under sections 6926 and 6956-1, G. C. If it is desired to substantially improve the new road, the proper proceeding should be had under chapter VI of the Cass highway law.

9. If a property owner fails to keep in repair an approach from a public road as required by section 7212, G. C., and by reason of such failure the approach becomes an obstruction to a side ditch along the public highway, such owner is guilty of a violation of section 13421-7, G. C., and may be prosecuted therefor.

10. County commissioners are not authorized to control the number of deputies, etc., employed by the county surveyor, aside from the general control which they exercise in fixing the aggregate compensation to be expended in any year, neither are they authorized to determine what specific work shall be performed by any particular deputy or assistant.

11. County commissioners are authorized to secure right-of-way for road purposes without a petition.

12. County commissioners are not authorized to repair roads within cities and are authorized to repair roads within villages only where the consent of council has been first obtained.

13 The duty of dragging and maintaining an unimproved road through a village or city rests upon such municipal corporation.

14. In so far as the rules and regulations of the township trustees conflict with those of the county highway superintendent, the rules of the trustees are to govern.

15. A township trustee may not act as township highway superintendent.

16. Township trustees may be compelled by mandamus to determine the number of road districts and appoint township highway superintendents therefor. Township trustees are liable criminally if they wilfully neglect, fail or refuse to perform the duties of their office.

17. Township trustees are not authorized to dispense with the dragging of the graveled and unimproved public roads of their township.

18. In the repair of roads by county commissioners, engineers, foremen, laborers and teams are to be employed by the county highway superintendent, the employment first being authorized by the county commissioners.

In the repair of roads by township trustees, engineers, foremen, laborers and teams are to be employed by the township highway superintendent, the employment first being authorized by the township trustees.

19. Bills for road work ordered by the township trustees are to be approved by the county highway superintendent before payment. They may be approved before allowance by the trustees, or they may be allowed by the trustees subject to the approval of the county highway superintendent. In either event the approval of the county highway superintendent is necessary before payment can lawfully be made.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 23, 1916.

The Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—I acknowledge the receipt of your communication of March 30, 1916, in which you submit a number of inquiries relating to the Cass highway law.

Your first question reads as follows:

> "When should township trustees make their annual levy for road purposes?"

In answering this question it should first be observed that there are a number of different sections of the Cass highway law under which township trustees may levy taxes for road purposes.

Section 60 of the act, section 3298-1, G. C., authorizes a levy for the purpose of improving, dragging, repairing or maintaining roads. Section 72 of the act, being section 3298-13, G. C., refers to levies by the trustees for the payment of principal and interest on bonds issued for road purposes. Section 215 of the act, being section 1222, G. C., authorizes a levy by township trustees for the purpose of providing a fund for the payment of the proportion of the cost and expense of improvements carried forward by the state highway department, to be paid by a township. Section 239 of the act, being section 3298-18, G. C., authorizes a levy by township trustees for the purposes set forth in the annual estimate of the county highway superintendent. Section 257 of the act, section 3298-20, G. C., authorizes a levy by township trustees for the purpose of purchasing real property, containing stone or gravel, and the necessary machinery for operating the same when deemed necessary for the construction, improvement or repair of the public roads within the township. In only one of the sections referred to above is there any provision as to the time at which the levy shall be made.

It is provided by section 3298-18, G. C., that after the annual estimate for each township has been filed with the trustees of the township by the county highway superintendent, they may increase or reduce the amount of any of the items contained in said estimate, and that at their first meeting after said estimate is filed they shall make their levies for the purposes set forth in the estimate.

Under section 144 of the act, being section 7187, G. C., the county highway superintendent is required to make his annual estimate for the township trustees of each township on or before April 1st, and submit the same to the township trustees for their action. It therefore follows that the levy provided for by section 3298-18, G. C., is to be made by the township trustees at their first meeting after the estimate of the county highway superintendent has been filed with them and that the county highway superintendent is required to file this estimate not later than April 1st of each year. These statutes, in so far as they fix the dates for the filing of estimates and the making of levies, are to be regarded as directory rather than mandatory, and if these duties are not performed at the time specified, they may be performed at a later date. There being no specific provision as to the time when trustees shall make the other levies referred to above, the time is to be governed by the general provision found in section 5646, G. C., to the effect that the trustees of each township, on or before the 15th day of May, annually, shall determine the amount of taxes necessary for all township purposes and certify it to the county auditor, as modified by section 5649-3a, which permits the filing of annual budgets not later than the first Monday of June. It therefore follows that the levies provided for by sections 3298-1, 3298-13, 1222 and 3298-20, G. C., are to be made by the township trustees on or before the 15th day of May of each year, and incorporated in the annual budget filed not later than the first Monday in June in accordance with the provision referred to above.

In connection with section 1222 G. C., and the related sections, it will be noted that while the township trustees levy the taxes for the payment of the township's proportion of the cost and expense of road improvements carried forward by the state highway department, yet under section 1223 G. C., when it is determined to issue bonds in anticipation of the collection of such taxes, such bonds are to be issued by the county commissioners. Inasmuch as under section 11 of article XII of the constitution of Ohio no bonded indebtedness of any political subdivision of the state may be incurred unless in the legislation under which such indebtedness is incurred, provision is made for levying and collecting annually, by taxation, an amount sufficient to pay the interest on said bonds and to provide a sinking fund for their final redemption at maturity, it seems clear that under the sections referred to above it is necessary, before county commissioners may provide by bond issue funds necessary to pay the township's portion of the cost and expense of an improvement carried forward by the state highway department, that the township trustees should levy a tax sufficient to pay the township's portion of the interest on such bonds and to create a sinking fund sufficient to redeem the township's share of such bonds. Inasmuch as there is no requirement to the effect that bonds of this character must be issued at any particular time, it would seem clear that where township trustees act under section 1222 G. C., and levy a tax as a basis for a subsequent issue of bonds by county commissioners, they may take such action at any time.

Your second question reads as follows:

> "Can township trustees or county highway superintendents construct or repair roads or bridges by hiring teams, purchasing material and employing men, without advertising for bids? And if so, to what extent?"

This question may be better answered if its language be so changed as to require a statement of the rights of townships and counties to construct or repair roads or bridges by hiring teams, purchasing material and employing men without advertising for bids. It will then be possible, in framing an answer, to distinguish between the duties of township trustees and township highway superintendents and between the duties of county commissioners and county highway superintendents. I will refer first to the powers of counties in this particular.

In opinion No. 1093 of this department, rendered to Hon. Roger D. Hay, prosecuting attorney of Defiance County, on December 13, 1915, it was held that counties were authorized not only to maintain and repair, but also to improve highways by force account, and that the right of the county commissioners in this particular was not limited or abridged by the fact that the contemplated work might cost more than $200.00. In other words, county commissioners may improve, maintain or repair highways by force account without regard to the cost of the contemplated work. In so far as this force account work may involve the purchase of materials, the county commissioners may themselves purchase such materials under authority of section 7214, G. C., or they may, under authority of sections 7198 and 7203, G. C., authorize the county highway superintendent to make such purchase. In so far as tools and machinery may be needed, the county commissioners may purchase the same under authority of section 7200 G. C., or they may, under authority of sections 7198 and 7201 G. C., authorize the county highway superintendent to lease or hire such machinery, or they may under authority of section 7203 G. C., authorize the county highway superintendent to purchase the same from any public institution. In so far as it may be necessary, in the prosecution of such force account work to employ laborers and teams, it is provided by section 7198 G. C., that such laborers and teams are to be employed by the county highway superintendent, the employment first being approved or authorized by the county commissioners. It is not necessary for the county commissioners or county highway superintendent to advertise for bids in the purchase or lease of road machinery, or in the purchase of materials, or in the hiring of laborers and teams. I believe the above fully answers your inquiry in so far as it relates to the activities of counties.

Coming now to consider the question of force account work by township trustees, it may be observed that chapter III of the Cass highway law, relating to road construction and improvement by township trustees, contains no express authorization for force account work. After the plans and specifications for a proposed township improvement have been adopted, it is provided that the trustees shall give public notice of the time and place for receiving bids for the construction of such improvement. The trustees are authorized to except from the public letting such part of the labor or material as shall be donated, and the contracts for labor and material may be let separately or as a whole, as the board of trustees may determine. The trustees are required to let the contract to the lowest and best bidder.

In so far as repair work by township trustees is concerned, the statute is silent as to the method to be pursued in prosecuting such work. The only provision found in the law is that of section 75 of the act, section 3370, G. C., to the effect that under the direction of the township trustees the township highway superintendent shall have control of the roads of his district (township roads) and keep them in good repair. There is no provision in the law as to whether the repair work is to be done by contract or force account; or as to whether the contracts for repair work, if such work be done by contract, shall be let by the township trustees or the township highway superintendent; or as to whether, if the work be done by force account, the purchase of material and machinery is to be made by the trustees or the township highway superintendent, or as to which of these authorities is to employ the necessary laborers and teams. An examination of other sections of the Cass highway law makes it clear, however, that township trustees are authorized to proceed by force account.

In so far as force account work by township trustees may involve the purchase of materials, the township trustees may themselves purchase such materials under the authority conferred upon them by section 7214 G. C., or they may, under authority of sections 7198 and 7203 G. C., authorize the county highway superintendent to make such purchase. The township trustees may purchase tools and machinery under authority of section 7200 G. C., but before making such purchase the suggestions of the county highway superintendent are to be considered. The language of the section does not indicate that the trustees are bound to follow the suggestions or recommendations of the county highway superintendent, but it is the duty of the trustees before making any purchase of tools or machinery, to obtain and consider the suggestions of that official. The trustees may also, under authority of sections 7198 and 7201 G. C., authorize the county highway superintendent to lease or hire machinery, or they may, under authority of section 7203 G. C., authorize the county highway superintendent to purchase the same from any public institution.

Coming now to consider the employment of such laborers and teams as may be necessary on township work, it is provided by section 7198 G. C., that the county highway superintendent may, with the approval of the township trustees, employ such laborers and teams as may be necessary in the performance of his duties. It is therefore apparent that in so far as the township trustees may undertake construction work, under chapter III of the Cass highway law, by force account, the laborers and teams that may be necessary are to be employed by the county highway superintendent the employment first being authorized by the trustees. In so far as repair work by the township trustees is concerned, such work is, under the provisions of section 3370, G. C., to be carried forward by the township highway superintendent under the direction of the township trustees, and while there is no express statutory provision governing the matter, I am of the opinion that in so far as township trustees may proceed by force account to repair roads, the necessary men and teams should be employed by the township highway superintendent, the employment first being authorized by the township trustees. In so far as township work by force account is concerned, it is not necessary for the township trustees or county highway superintendent or township highway superintendent, as the case may be, to advertise for bids in the purchase or lease of road machinery, or in the purchase of materials or in the hiring of laborers and teams.

Your third question reads as follows:

> "May the township highway superintendent perform labor on construction, repair and dragging of township roads with his own team, and be paid for the same in addition to his regular per diem as fixed by the trustees? If he does not accept his per diem, may he receive pay for his team the same as other teams?"

It should first be observed that the township highway superintendent has no official connection whatever with the construction of roads by township trustees, his functions being limited to the repair and dragging of roads. In so far as road construction or improvement by township trustees is concerned, the plans and specifications are, under the provisions of section 3298-3 G. C., to be prepared by the county highway superintendent, and the work of inspection is to be performed by some competent person or persons appointed by the township trustees, under authority of section 3298-6 G. C., which person or persons are to act under the general direction of the county highway superintendent. I see no reason why the person who fills the office or position of township highway superintendent might not work upon an improvement being carried forward by the township trustees, under the provisions of Chapter III of the Cass highway law, either with or without his team, upon any days when his services as township highway superintendent are not needed, and receive for such work the same compensation paid to other persons. The township highway superintendent has no official connection, however, with the construction or improvement of roads by township trustees, as has been heretofore pointed out, and it would not, of course, be legal for him to receive compensation for his own services in connection with a township road improvement carried forward under the provisions of chapter III of the Cass highway law, for any day upon which he performed duties in connection with his work as township highway superintendent, provided he also received compensation for the performance of such duties. In other words, the township highway superintendent, being compensated upon a per diem or other similar basis, could not be permitted to receive compensation for two different services performed on the same day, either of which would require his entire time and attention.

In so far as the dragging of roads is concerned, the township highway superintendent is, by the terms of section 3377, G. C., required each year, on or before the 15th day of February, to contract with one suitable person in each dragging district to drag the roads of that district for that year, with the qualification that if no suitable person in the district will contract to drag the roads thereof, the township highway superintendent shall contract with any suitable person in the township. Competitive bidding is not required in the making of these contracts, and the only statutory restriction upon the amount to be paid is that found in section 3376, G. C., to the effect that the sum to be paid for dragging shall not exceed the sum of fifty cents per mile for each mile traveled while dragging the road. It is ordinarily against public policy for a public official, charged with the duty of making a contract on behalf of the public, to make such contract with himself, and I am of the opinion that this principle is applicable to the matter now under consideration, and that the township highway superintendent may not lawfully enter into a contract with himself for the dragging of the roads of any road dragging district under his supervision. In so far as the use by the township highway superintendent of his own team in road repair work is concerned, the matter was covered in opinion No. 881 of this department, rendered to you on October 2, 1915, and found at page 1894 of the Attorney-General's Report for that year. The second question answered in that opinion was as follows:

> "Can a township superintendent, under the new road law, legally use his own team on the roads, the trustees fixing the compensation for all team labor and providing that he can use his own team? The question arises from this condition: In making small repair, hauling a small amount of lumber or culvert material, or other similar work, where team, or team and wagon, are necessary, the superintendent can expedite matters and reduce the cost by thus doing."

It was held, in answering the above quoted question, that under the conditions therein set forth the township trustees, in the exercise of their discretion, may permit the township highway superintendent to use his own team and compensate him therefor at the established rate, when by so doing there may be effected a saving of time and a reduction of expense to the township.

I think the above question and answer set forth the conditions under which township trustees may properly permit the township highway superintendent to use his own team in repair work and compensate him therefor. If repair work is being carried forward by township trustees, the work must be done under the supervision of the township highway superintendent, and it is my view of the law that unless the conditions set forth in your former communication referred to above obtain, the township highway superintendent, if engaged upon the work at all, should be engaged as township highway superintendent in the performance of the duties of supervision, and not as the driver of a team. The distinction made between the right of the township highway superintendent to use his own team in repair work, and in dragging may well be based on the fact that bills for dragging are paid on the approval of the township highway superintendent, whereas bills for road repairs require the approval of the county highway superintendent before the same may be paid. I think the above constitutes a substantial answer to your third question.

Your fourth question reads as follows:

> "Who pays for cutting the brush, briers, etc., on county roads and state roads? In this connection note sections 7195 and 7467, G. C."

Section 7195, G. C., referred to by you, being section 152 of the Cass highway law, reads as follows:

> "All brush, briers, burrs, vines, Russian or Canadian or common thistles or other noxious weeds growing along the public highways, shall be cut between the first and twentieth days of June and the first and twentieth days of August of each year, and if required by the county highway superintendent between the first and twentieth days of September of each year. This work shall be done by the township highway superintendents in their respective districts, who shall employ the necessary labor to carry out the provisions of this section.

All expenses incurred shall, when approved by the township trustees, be paid from the township road fund by the township treasurer upon the warrant of the township clerk. The county highway superintendent shall enforce the provisions of this section."

Section 7467 G. C., being section 244 of the Cass highway law, reads as follows:

"The state, county and township shall each maintain their respective roads as designated in the classification hereinabove set forth; provided, however, that either the county or township may, by agreement between the county commissioners and township trustees, contribute to the repair and maintenance of the roads under the control of the other. The state, county or township, or any two or more of them may by agreement expend any funds available for road construction, improvement or repair upon roads inside of a village or a village may expend any funds available for street improvement upon roads outside of the village and leading thereto."

While the section last above quoted requires the state, county and township each to maintain their respective roads, as designated in the classification established by the Cass highway law, and while it would be conceded that in the absence of a special provision the state, county and township should each bear the expense of cutting brush, noxious weeds, etc., on their respective roads, provided the cost of this work is to be paid from the public funds, yet it is apparent from a consideration of the two sections that it was the intention of the legislature to establish a special rule as to the cutting of brush, etc., and to require that this work be done by the township authorities and paid for out of township road funds.

I therefore advise you, in answer to your specific inquiry, that the cost of cutting brush, briers, noxious weeds, etc., along the public highways, is to be paid from the township road funds of the several townships, and that this rule is effective without regard to the class or character of the road on which such work is performed.

Your fifth question reads as follows:

"Have township trustees, under the Cass law, the right to sell a maintenance or repair job on a township road, or should it be done by the township highway superintendent, acting under the county highway superintendent?"

As has already been indicated in this opinion, the legislature has left this matter largely to inference. It is provided merely that under the direction of the township trustees the township highway superintendent shall have control of the roads of his district and keep them in good repair. See section 75 of the Cass highway law, section 3370 G. C. Other sections of the act authorizing the purchase of material and machinery and the employment of teams and laborers, either by the township trustees or upon their authorization, render it apparent that it was the intention of the legislature to authorize the township trustees to proceed by force account. In so far as road construction and improvement by township trustees are concerned, the doing of such work by contract is expressly authorized. Inasmuch as the duty of maintaining and repairing township roads is cast upon the township trustees without any legislative provision as to the method of procedure to be followed, it is my view that the trustees may, if they choose, let a contract for repair work or they may proceed by force account, in which case the work is to be done under the supervision of the township highway superintendent. I suggest that if the trustees elect to do work of this character by contract, the contracting should be let in the manner provided by section 63 of the act, section 3298-4 G. C., relating to road construction and improvement by township trustees.

The sixth question submitted by you reads as follows:

> "Is there not a conflict between Sec. 60 and Sec. 239 of the Cass highway law, in that the levy is stated as three mills in one case and two mills in the other?"

Section 60 of the act, section 3298-1 G. C, authorizes the levying of a tax not exceeding three mills in any one year upon all the taxable property of the township, lincluding any municipality therein situated for the purpose of improving, dragging, repairing or maintaining roads. Section 239 of the act authorizes township trustees to levy a tax of not more than two mills in any one year upon the property of the township situated outside of any incorporated village or city for the purposes set forth in the annual estimate of the county highway superintendent. This levy is primarily a maintenance and repair levy, and must amount to at least $20.00 for each mile of township road within a township.

Your question as to a conflict between these two sections must be answered in the negative. There is no conflict between the two sections for the reason that the levies therein provided for are entirely separate and distinct. Township trustees may therefore make levies under both sections.

Your seventh question is as follows:

> "What bridges and culverts are to be taken care of by the county, and what ones by the townships?"

This question was substantially answered in opinion No. 1279, rendered by this department to Hon. E. E. Lindsay, prosecuting attorney of Tuscarawas county, on February 16, 1916, in which opinion it was held that township trustees are charged with the duty of maintaining and repairing bridges and culverts on township roads. The natural inference from the opinion in question was that county commissioners are charged with the duty of maintaining and repairing bridges and culverts on county roads, and such, in my opinion, is the law. It was also pointed out in the opinion to Mr. Lindsay, that while the duty of maintaining and repairing bridges and culverts on township roads is cast in the first instance on the township trustees, yet in view of the fact that county commissioners have full power and authority to assist the township trustees in maintaining all township roads, it follows that the commissioners are also authorized to repair or maintain a bridge or culvert on a township road.

The eighth question set forth in your inquiry reads as follows:

> "Section 7 of the Cass highway law provides for the establishing of a new road. What further steps are necessary toward the opening of the new road and the grading and ditching of the same, and who shall order the same opened, graded and ditched? Who pays for the same?"

It will be noted that chapter I of the Cass highway law, in which section 7 of the act, section 6866, G. C., is found, relates only to locating, establishing,altering widening, straightening, vacating or changing the direction of the road and does not relate in any way to road construction or improvement by county commissioners, the latter matters being covered by chapter VI of the act. The establishing of new roads by county commissioners is governed by the first 19 sections of the act, and the sections refer to and provide for the payment only of compensation and damages and do not make any provision for the grading and ditching of the road after the same is established. It is provided by section 10 of the act, section 6869, G. C., that after the commissioners have caused a record of the proceedings for the establishment of a new road to be entered in the proper road records of the county, the commissioners shall cause the road to be opened up as established, but the statutes are silent as to just what is meant by the direction to the commissioners to open up the road and as to the fund from which the expenses of opening up the road are to be paid. I am of the opinion that if the proceeding be merely one for the location or establishment of a new road, then the commissioners are only authorized to go so far as to remove fences, trees and other obstructions and do such slight grading and ditching as will render the road passable, and that the expense of such work may be paid from the county road funds created by levies under sections 105 or 238 of the act, sections 6926 or 6956-1 G. C. If it is desired to substantially improve the new road by grading, paving, draining, graveling or macadamizing the same, the proper proceedings should be had under chapter VI of the Cass highway law, and the cost and expense of such work may be paid in any one of several ways provided by that chapter.

Your ninth question is as follows:

> "Can a property owner, who fails to maintain an approach to his land, be prosecuted for obstructing a ditch if the failure to repair the approach becomes an obstruction to the ditch?"

Section 284 of the act, section 13421-7 G. C., provides in part as follows:

> "Whoever wrongfully obstructs any ditch, drain or water course along, upon, or across a public highway, or wrongfully diverts any water from adjacent lands to, or upon a public highway, shall be fined not more than one hundred dollars, nor less than five dollars; * * *"

Section 169 of the act, section 7212 G. C., reads as follows:

> "The owners or occupants of land shall construct and keep in repair all approaches or driveways from the public roads under the direction of the county highway superintendent, provided, however, that if, in the construction or improvement, maintenance and repair of any road, the approach or driveway of an abutting property owner is destroyed, the county comissioners or township trustees, shall compensate such abutting property owner or occupant of said lands for the destruction of such approach or driveway, or in lieu thereof, authorize the county highway superintendent to reconstruct the same."

Under the provisions of section 13421-7 G. C., it is a misdemeanor for any person to wrongfully obstruct any ditch along a public highway and this is true without reference to the character of the obstruction. Under section 7212 G. C., it is the duty of the owners or occupants of land to keep in repair all approaches from the public roads. If a property owner fails to keep in repair an approach from a public road, as required by section 7212 G. C., and by reason of his failure to keep such approach in repair, the same becomes an obstruction to a side ditch along the public highway, it is my opinion that such owner is guilty of a violation of the provisions of section 13421-7 G. C., and that he may be prosecuted for such violation.

The tenth inquiry contained in your communication is as follows:

> "After the county commissioners have fixed the appropriation for the county surveyor (Section 2788 G. C.), or have fixed the aggregate compensation to be expended for assistants by the county highway superintendent (Section 138, Cass highway law), have the commissioners any control of the number of men he employs or what work he spends it for so long as he is doing work prescribed by law?"

Section 2787 G. C., must also be considered in connection with this inquiry. The section in question reads as follows:

> "On or before the first Monday of June of each year, the county surveyor shall file with the commissioners of such county a statement of the number of all necessary assistants, deputies, draughtsmen, inspectors, clerks or employes in his office for the year beginning September first next succeeding their aggregate compensation. The county commissioners shall examine such statement and, after making such alterations therein as are just and reasonable, fix an aggregate compensation to be expensed therefor for such year."

Section 2788 G. C., referred to by you, reads as follows:

> "The county surveyor shall appoint such assistants, deputies, draughtsmen, inspectors, clerks or employes, as he deems necessary for the proper performance of the duties of his office and fix their compensation, but compensation shall not exceed in the aggregate the amount fixed therefor by the county commissioners. After being so fixed, such compensation shall be paid to such persons in monthly installments from the general fund of the county upon the warrant of the county auditor."

It is true that section 2787 G. C., requires the county surveyor to file with the commissioners a statement of the number of all necessary assistants, deputies, draughtsmen, inspectors, clerks or employes in his office for the year beginning September 1st next succeeding and a statement of their aggregate compensation, this statement being required to be filed on or before the first Monday of June of each year. It is also true that the county commissioners are required to examine this statement and are authorized to make alterations therein as may be just and reasonable; but the only thing which the commissioners are required or authorized to fix is the aggregate compensation to be expended for assistants, deputies, draughtsmen, inspectors, clerks and employes. Under section 2788 G. C., the surveyor is authorized to appoint such assistants, deputies, draughtsmen, inspectors, clerks or employes as he deems necessary for the proper performance of the duties of his office and fix their compensation, and the only limitation on his authority in this particular is that their compensation shall not exceed in the aggregate the amount fixed therefor by the commissioners. Under section 138 of the Cass highway law, section 7181 G. C., the only authority of the commissioners is to fix the aggregate compensation to be expended for assistants by the county highway superintendent during the year, in the event that the county highway superintendent cannot properly perform all the duties of his office and assistants are required. There is nothing in the sections of the General Code referred to above which indicates that it was the intention of the legislature that the county commissioners should have control of the number of assistants, deputies and other employes of the county surveyor other than the general control which they exercise by virtue of their power to fix the aggregate compensation to be expended. Indeed, the fair inference from the language used is that the authority of the county commissioners is limited to the fixing of the aggregate compensation to be paid assistants, deputies and other employes, and that the determination of the number of employes rests with the county surveyor. As an illustration: If the county commissioners, acting under sections 2787 and 7181 G. C., should fix the aggregate compensation of deputies and assistants for any given year at $6,000.00, it is not made by the statute the duty of the commissioners to determine whether the county surveyor employs four assistants at a compensation of $1,500.00 per year each or whether he employs five assistants at a compensation of $1,200.00 per year each. I, therefore, advise you that the county commissioners are not authorized to exercise any control over the number of men employed as deputies, assistants or employes by the county surveyor other than to fix the aggregate compensation to be expended, and that this matter rests with the county surveyor, subject to the qualification that the aggregate compensation expended cannot exceed the amount fixed by the county commissioners. I know of no statutory provision which gives the county commissioners any direct control over the question of what particular work is to be performed by the deputies and assistants of the surveyor. It cannot be assumed that the county commissioners will fix an inadequate aggregate compensation for deputies and assistants, and it is the duty of the county surveyor, with the assistance of such deputies, assistants and employes as he is able to employ for the sum allowed by the commissioners, to perform all the duties enjoined upon him by statute. As to whether a particular piece of work is to be done by the county surveyor himself, or by one or another of his deputies or assistants, rests ordinarily in the discretion of the county surveyor himself, with the qualification that there are certain official acts which he must perform in person, or by a deputy duly appointed and qualified as such, and authorized under the provision of section 9, G. C., to perform all and singular the duties of his principal. I am of the opinion, therefore, that the second branch of your tenth question, in so far as it is susceptible of a definite answer, must be answered in the negative.

Your eleventh question reads as follows:

> "May the county commissioners purchase right-of-way for road purposes without petition, and if so what is the proper procedure?"

If this inquiry relates to right-of-way for a new road, the answer thereto is to be found in the provisions of chapter I of the Cass highway law, relating to the locating, establishing, altering, widening, straightening, vacating or changing the direction of the road. The procedure for acquiring right-of-way is fully outlined in the first nineteen sections of this chapter, being sections 6830 to 6878 G. C., inclusive, and the commissioners are authorized to act in the premises, without a petition, by the provisions of the last section of the group referred to above, section 6878 G. C., which section reads as follows:

> "The commissioners of any county or any joint board of commissioners of two or more counties, at a meeting had for that purpose, may by resolution declare by unanimous vote their intention to locate, establish, alter, widen, straighten, vacate or change the direction of any road, and such notice shall thereupon be given as is provided for upon the filing of a petition for such improvement, and like proceedings shall be had by such commissioners or joint board thereof as in the case of the filing of a petition before them asking for such improvement."

A reference to the other sections of the group referred to above will, I think, sufficiently indicate the proper procedure without any further discussion on my part.

If the right-of-way desired is to be used in connection with the improvement of an existing road, the pertinent provisions of the General Code are to be found in Chapter VI of the Cass highway law, relating to road construction and improvement by county commissioners. It is provided by section 6906 G. C., that the county commissioners shall have power to alter, vacate or widen any part of a road in connection with the proceedings for the improvement thereof, and section 6910 G. C., authorizes county commissioners to take the necessary steps to construct or improve a public road or part thereof without the presentation of a petition upon the passage of a resolution by unanimous vote declaring the necessity therefor. In the event that land is to be taken for such an improvement, notice must be given in the manner provided by section 6913 G. C., and claims for compensation are to be determined in the manner pointed out in sections 6914 to 6916 G. C., inclusive. I think a reference to these sections will furnish a guide for the proper procedure in the premises without further discussion herein.

Your question as to whether county commissioners may purchase right-of-way for road purposes without petition is, therefore, to be answered in the affirmative, and for the proper procedure in securing such right-of-way reference is to be had to the sections of the General Code referred to above.

Your twelfth question reads as follows:

> "Where the county, by a vote of the people, under the general turnpike law, and by a general levy and bond issue has, prior to 1915, constructed roads through a village or city, can the county commissioners without an agreement with the council of the village or city repair or maintain such roads under the Cass law?"

I assume that you refer to roads constructed under old section 7181, G. C., et seq., but the proper answer is not determined by the law under which the roads were constructed, and is necessarily the same without regard to the law under which the roads were originally built.

It is provided by section 6949 G. C., that the board of county commissioners may extend a proposed road improvement into or through a municipality when the consent of the council of said municipality has been first obtained, but as pointed out in opinion No. 847, rendered to you on September 21, 1915, the term "municipality" as used in this and the succeeding sections is by the provisions of section 6954 G. C., so limited that it must be read "village." County commissioners are not, therefore, authorized to repair a road within a city, either with or without the consent of council. It is very clear that under the authority of this section county commissioners are not authorized to improve a road within a village without the consent of the council thereof, and if they have authority to improve such a road without the consent of council, such authority must be found in some other section of the act.

A reference to section 6949 G. C., and the succeeding sections might, at first glance, indicate that they were intended to apply only in the case of improvements as distinguished from maintenance or repair operations and yet upon a more careful consideration of the sections, and in view of the frequent use in the act of the word "improvement" for the purpose of denoting any operation upon a road, whether it be in the nature of construction, reconstruction, improvement, maintenance or repair, it might be urged with force that the proper view of the matter is that the provisions of section 6949 G. C., in so far as they require the consent of the council of the village, are applicable under all circumstances without regard to the nature of the operation planned by the county commissioners. It is true that section 7467 G. C., provides that > "The state, county or township, or any two or more of them, may by agreement expend any funds available for road construction, improvement or repair upon roads inside of a village."

but the language of this section is not as clear as might be desired. It might be argued that the language means that the state or the county or a township, or any two or or more of them, may expend funds inside a village by agreement with the village, or it might be argued that the phrase "by agreement" was inserted for the purpose of authorizing an agreement between the state, county and township, or any two of them, looking toward the expenditure of funds within a village. It is worthy of note in this connection, that, in so far as the state is concerned, it cannot extend a proposed improvement into or through a village without the consent of the council thereof, this being made very clear by the provisions of sections 1193 and 1231-3 G. C.

Section 1193 provides in substance, among other things, that county commissioners or township trustees may apply for state aid on a highway within a village, when the same is a continuation of a proposed improvement and the consent of the village has been first obtained.

Section 1231-3, G. C., provides, among other things, that the state highway commissioner may extend a proposed improvement into or through a village, when the consent of the council thereof has been first obtained.

If it be conceded that the statutory provisions, relating to the activities of county commissioners within villages in the way of repair work, are not clear upon the proposition of whether or not the council of a village must first give its consent, then the fact that in all cases of state work the consent of the council of the village must be first obtained is entitled to some weight in the solution of the question.

A consideration of all of the provisions referred to above discloses that in a general way the state, counties and townships are limited in all their highway work to roads located outside municipalities. Those cases in which a county may engage in road work inside a village constitute exceptions to the general rule and in view of the positive provisions of section 6949, G. C., to the effect that a board of county commissioners may not extend a proposed road improvement into or through a municipality unless the consent of the council thereof has been first obtained, and in view of the fact that there is no affirmative provision in the act that a county may do repair work upon a road inside a village without the consent of the council, I am of the opinion that your question must be answered in the negative and that county commissioners are now without authority to carry forward road work of any character within a village, unless the consent of the council thereof be first obtained.

Your thirteenth question is as follows:

> "Who pays for dragging or maintaining an unimproved road through a village or city?"

Section 3379, G. C., being found in the chapter of the Cass highway law relating to dragging unimproved roads, reads as follows:

> "It shall be the duty of the council of cities and villages to cause the main graveled and unimproved roads within the limits of said corporation to be dragged so far as practicable and possible in accordance with the provisions of the above sections."

By the above section the legislature has, in express terms, cast upon villages and cities the duty of dragging the main graveled and unimproved roads within their limits. Aside from the provisions of section 3379, G. C., it is clear that the duty, both of dragging and of maintaining roads within cities and villages, rests upon the municipal corporation. By section 3714, G. C., the council of a municipal corporation is given the care, supervision and control of public highways within the corporation and required to keep them open, in repair and free from nuisance. I therefore advise you that the duty of dragging and maintaining an unimproved road through a village or city rests upon such municipal corporation.

Your fourteenth question is as follows:

> "Is there not a conflict in the jurisdiction of the township trustees as defined in the latter part of section 75 of the Cass law and the duties of the county highway superintendent as set forth in section 141 of the Cass law?"

That part of section 75 of the Cass Highway law, section 3370 G. C., to which you evidently refer, reads as follows:

> "Under the direction of the township trustees he (the township highway superintendent) shall have control of the roads of his district and keep them in good repair."

Section 141 of the Cass highway law, section 7184 G. C., reads as follows:

> "The county highway superintendent shall have general charge, subject to the rules and regulations of the state highway department, of the construction, improvement, maintenance and repair of all bridges and highways within his county, whether known as township, county or state highways, and such county highway superintendent shall see that the same are constructed, improved, maintained, dragged and repaired as provided by law, and shall have general supervision of the work of constructing, improving, maintaining and repairing the highways, bridges and culverts in his county, subject, however to the provision hereinafter made for the designation, by the state highway commissioner, of an engineer, other than the county surveyor, to have charge of state work in such county."

There would, at first glance, seem to be a conflict between these sections in that section 3370, G. C., provides that the township highway superintendent shall keep the township roads of his district in good repair, and that in so doing he shall act under the direction of the township trustees, whereas section 7184, G. C., provides that the county highway superintendent shall, subject to the rules and regulations of the state highway department, have general charge of the repair of all highways within his county, including township roads, and shall see that the same are dragged and repaired as provided by law. It is apparent, however, from a consideration of the several sections of the act, that the township highway superintendent is the executive officer of the township trustees in all matters relating to the dragging and repair of roads, and that while the township highway superintendent is in a measure answerable to the county highway superintendent, and may be removed for cause by that official, yet in so far as there is any apparent conflict between the jurisdiction and authority of the township trustees and that of the county highway superintendent, such conflict must be resolved in favor of the jurisdiction and authority of the trustees. I reach this conclusion by reason of the language of section 3374 to the effect that the township highway superintendent, in addition to certain definitely prescribed duties, shall perform such other duties as may be prescribed by law or by the rules and regulations of the township trustees, or the county highway superintendent, so far as the rules and regulations of the county highway superintendent do not conflict with those of the township trustees. Your fourteenth question is, therefore, to be answered by the observation that while there is an apparent conflict between the sections referred to by you, yet the true rule may be reached by a consideration of section 3374, G. C., and that in matters of road repair and dragging, the township trustees are supreme, and in so far as their rules and regulations may conflict with those of the county highway superintendent, the rules and regulations of the township trustees are to govern.

Your fifteenth question reads as follows:

> "May one of the board of township trustees act as township highway superintendent, and receive compensation therefor?"

This question must be answered in the negative. The township highway superintendent is subject to the rules and regulations of the township trustees. His compensation is to be fixed by the township trustees and his compensation and expenses can only be paid after approval by the township trustees. The office of township trustee constitutes a check upon the position of township highway superintendent and it must therefore be held, under well established rules of law, that the two offices or positions are incompatible and cannot be held by the same person at the same time.

The sixteenth question contained in your communication reads as follows:

> "In case board of township trustees refuses to appoint a township highway superintendent, what can be done and who is liable for non-performance of work as specified in the Cass law?"

This question is to be answered by reference to the provisions of section 3370, G. C. Under this section it is the mandatory duty of the township trustees to determine the number of road districts in their townships, the number to be not less than one nor more than four, to fix the boundaries of said districts in case they decide to create more than one district, and to appoint for each road district a township highway superintendent. The number of districts rests in the discretion of the township trustees, but their duty to act under this section, by determining the number of districts, fixing the boundaries thereof and appointing a superintendent for each district, is one which may be enforced by mandamus. The remedy, therefore, under the state of facts presented by you, is an action in mandamus against the township trustees to compel them to perform their duty and in the case of a wilful refusal on their part to act in the premises, they may also be proceeded against criminally, under the provisions of section 13421-5, G. C., which section reads as follows:

> "If any county highway superintendent or township trustee or township highway superintendent, wilfully neglects, fails or refuses to perform the duties of his office, he shall be fined not more than one hundred dollars, nor less than ten dollars, and said conviction shall operate as a removal from office."

Your seventeenth question is as follows:

> "In case the trustees of a township are not in favor of the dragging of the township roads and order the township highway superintendent not to drag, has the county highway superintendent the power to order the roads dragged? In all cases of township work, whose order has precedence, that of the township trustees or that of the county highway superintendent?"

It is my view of the law that the statutes relating to the dragging of unimproved roads by the township authorities are mandatory, and this, despite the provision of section 3377, G. C., to the effect that it shall be the duty of the township highway superintendent to cause all roads to be dragged, as the township trustees may, from time to time direct, at such time as in his judgment is most beneficial.

It is provided by section 3375, G. C., that the township highway superintendent shall divide the graveled and unimproved public roads of the township into road dragging districts, which must include all mail routes and main traveled roads within the township which are graveled or unimproved. It is further provided in the same section that the township highway superintendent shall, from time to time, designate what districts shall be dragged, and that the township trustees shall furnish suitable road drags. Under section 3376, G. C., it is provided that the township trustees shall pay all claims for dragging that have the approval of the township highway superintendent, and that are not inconsistent with the provisions of the act. The same section provides that the trustees shall, each year, during the month of January, fix the price to be paid for dragging that year.

Under the provisions of section 3377, G. C., it is provided that the township highway superintendent shall, on or before the 15th day of February in each year, contract with one suitable person in each dragging district to drag the roads in that district for the year. To hold that the expression "as the township trustees may, from time to time, direct," found in section 3377, G. C., confers upon township trustees the power and authority of determining that the graveled and unimproved public roads of the township shall not be dragged, is to set aside a large number of other provisions in the same chapter of the law, which provisions are so drawn as to leave no doubt of their mandatory character. I must therefore conclude that the discretion which the legislature intended to lodge in the township trustees is not that of determining whether or not the graveled or unimproved public roads of the township shall be dragged, but that the legislature only intended that the trustees might exercise a discretion as to the method to be followed and their instructions in this particular were to be binding upon the township highway superintendent.

In reply to your seventeenth question I therefore advise you that township trustees are not authorized to dispense with the dragging of the graveled and unimproved public roads of their township. It is apparent, however, from a consideration of other provisions of the act that it was the intention of the legislature to vest in boards of county commissioners the power and authority of assisting the township trustees in the manner of dragging if, in the judgment of the board of county commissioners, such assistance seems necessary and proper.

Section 6906, G. C., provides, among other things, that the board of commissioners of any county shall have power to construct a public road by laying out and building a new public road or by improving, reconstructing or repairing any existing public road, or part thereof, by grading, paving, draining, dragging, graveling, macadamizing, resurfacing or applying dust preventives, or by otherwise improving the same. I therefore advise you that while the duty of dragging graveled and unimproved public roads rests upon the township authorities, yet county commissioners are authorized to assist in the discharge of this duty. The latter part of your seventeenth question is in part discussed and passed upon in my answer to your fourteenth question. In so far as the repair and dragging of roads is concerned, the order of the township trustees has precedence over that of the county highway superintendent. In so far as the construction or improvement of roads by township trustees is concerned, the relations existing between the township trustees and the county highway superintendent are substantially those existing between the county commissioners and the county highway superintendent. The question of the respective powers and duties of the trustees and the county highway superintendent in this matter is too broad to admit of a full discussion in this opinion and reference should be had to the provisions of chapter III of the Cass highway law for a determination of the same. I will be very glad to answer any questions that may arise as to any alleged conflict of duties.

Your eighteenth question reads as follows:

> "Whose duty is it to hire roller engineers, foremen, teams and laborers and purchase material in the repair of county roads? In the repair of township roads? May the county commissioners hire roller engineers, foremen, etc., without the approval of the county highway superintendent? May the township trustees hire roller engineers, foremen, etc., without the approval of the county highway superintendent or the township highway superintendent?"

This question has been substantially covered in my answer to your second question. In so far as the repair of roads by the county commissioners is concerned, engineers, foremen, teams and laborers are to be employed by the county highway superintendent, the employment first being authorized by the county commissioners. County commissioners may purchase material for the repair of roads or they may authorize the county highway superintendent to make such purchase. In so far as the repair of roads by township trustees is concerned, engineers, foremen, teams and laborers are to be employed by the township highway superintendent, the employment first being authorized by the township trustees. The township trustees may purchase material for the repair of township roads or they may authorize the county highway superintendent to make such purchase. The county commissioners are not themselves authorized to hire engineers, foremen and laborers and this is also true as to the township trustees.

Supplementing your inquiry of March 30th, you submit the following inquiry under date of May 1st:

> "We are submitting herewith a letter from Mr. Wm. F. Schepflin, county highway superintendent of Sandusky county, Ohio, in which he asks whether it is necessary for the county highway superintendent to approve all bills for road work ordered by the township trustees, and whether said bills should be approved before allowance by the township trustees, or whether his approval, or rejection, could be noted on the clerk's warrant or check before payment of same by the township treasurer.
>
> "As his letter presents a legal question, we would ask your written opinion upon same."

In conformity with opinion No. 847, rendered to you on September 21, 1915, I advise that all bills for road work ordered by the township trustees are to be approved by the county highway superintendent before payment. The bills may be approved before allowance by the township trustees or they may be allowed by the trustees subject to the approval of the county highway superintendent, but in either event the approval of the county highway superintendent is necessary before payment of the same may lawfully be made.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1607.

COLLATERAL INHERITANCE TAX—ST. VINCENT'S ORPHANS' ASYLUM, COLUMBUS, OHIO, EXEMPT FROM SAID TAX—IS INSTITUTION OF PUBLIC CHARITY.

St. Vincent's Orphans' Asylum of Columbus, Ohio, is an institution "for the purpose only of public charity" within the meaning of Section 5332, G. C.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 23, 1916.

HON. THOMAS C. BEATTY, Probate Judge, Portsmouth, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your letter of May 18th requesting my opinion as follows:

> "Will you tell me the status of St. Vincent's Orphans' Asylum of Columbus under the collateral inheritance tax act? Is it liable for the tax? Or is it not taxable on the ground that it is an institution for purposes only of public charity? The matter is bothering me here on the question of a bequest."

Upon investigation I find that St. Vincent's Orphans' Asylum, while owned and controlled by the Catholic Church, is open to all orphan children alike and that there are no restrictions as to creed or nationality for admission. I am of the opinion, therefore, that said institution is one "for the purpose only of public charity" within the meaning of section 5332, G. C., which provides that:

> "The provisions of the next preceding section (relating to the collateral inheritance tax) shall not apply to property, or interests in property, transmitted to the state of Ohio under the intestate laws of the state, or embraced in a bequest, devise, transfer or conveyance to, or for the use of the state of Ohio, or to or for the use of a municipal corporation or other political subdivision thereof for exclusively public purposes, or public institutions of learning, or to or for use of an institution in this state for purposes only of public charity or other exclusively public purposes. The property, or interests in property so transmitted or embraced in such devise, bequest, transfer or conveyance shall be exempt from all inheritance and other taxes while used exclusively for any of such purposes."

This conclusion is based on the following authorities:

Morningstar Lodge, I. O. O. F. v. Hayslip, 23 O. S., 144;
Gerke v. Purcell, 25 O. S., 229;
Little v. Seminary, 72 O. S., 417;
Philadelphia v. Masonic Home, 160 Pa., 572.

These authorities were fully considered in opinion No. 261 of this department, rendered to Hon. William H. Lueders, probate judge of Hamilton County, under date of April 19, 1915, as found in the Annual Report of the Attorney-General for said year at page 493 of said report.

I enclose a copy of said opinion for your consideration in connection with my conclusion reached in answer to the question submitted by you.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1608.

WHEN CORPORATION IS "NATURAL GAS" COMPANY WITHIN MEANING OF PUBLIC UTILITY TAX STATUTES OF 1911—SUCH COMPANY REQUIRED TO PAY EXCISE TAXES ON BASIS OF ENTIRE RECEIPTS FROM ALL BUSINESS DONE—WHO IS LIABLE FOR OMITTED TAXES WHEN ASSETS OF COMPANY SOLD TO ANOTHER COMPANY—CHARGE SHOULD BE MADE AGAINST COMPANY ACTUALLY IN DEFAULT.

A corporation principally engaged in the business of producing and transporting natural gas and selling the same to distributing companies, but to some extent also in the business of selling such gas directly to consumers, is a "natural gas" company within the meaning of the public utility tax statutes of 1911, and as such is required to pay excise taxes on the basis of its entire receipts from all business done.

A charge for omitted taxes made by the tax commission of Ohio, acting under section 5461, G. C., should be made against the public utility company which was actually in default, there being no authority to make the charge against another company which has in the meantime purchased the assets of the defaulting company. Such charge for such omitted taxes does not fasten upon the property and assets of the defaulting company which have, prior to the making of the charge, passed into the hands of a bona fide purchaser without notice of the default. The state may, however, pursue the property as such into the hands of a purchaser with notice, or a mere corporate reorganization, and may sue such purchaser and obtain a personal judgment for such omitted taxes if the purchaser has agreed to pay all liabilities of the selling company as a part of the consideration of the purchase.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 23, 1916.

The Tax Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—I have had some correspondence with Honorable Carl Norpell, attorney-at-law, Newark, Ohio, in the matter of the charge made by the auditor of state in pursuance of the finding of an examiner of your commission against the Newark Consumers Gas Company on account of omitted excise taxes due from its predecessor in title, the Newark Heat & Light Company.

The facts so far as disclosed by the correspondence in my possession are as follows:

The Newark Heat & Light Company was engaged in the business of leasing oil and gas lands, mining the gas and oil and selling the same. The sales of gas were mainly, in fact almost entirely, made to distributing companies, but some gas was sold to consumers. In the year 1912 the company reported to the tax commission of Ohio as its gross receipts for business done in this state the amount of its sales to consumers only. An examiner of the tax commission went over the books, which are now in the possession of the Newark Consumers Gas Company, and found omitted receipts, viz.: receipts from sales of gas to distributors, and has made a charge therefor.

The Newark Heat & Light Company evidently went out of business at the end of the year 1912 and was succeeded by The Newark Consumers Gas Company. However, no facts are furnished respecting the exact present status of The Newark Heat & Light Company as a corporation nor as to the contract between The Newark Heat & Light Company and The Newark Consumers Gas Company whereby the latter "succeeded" the former. The facts furnished seem to indicate that the property formerly belonging to The Newark Heat & Light Company has become the property of The Newark Consumers Gas Company, but beyond this the correspondence is silent on the points suggested.

Under these circumstances two questions arise, viz.:

"(1) On what basis was The Newark Heat & Light Company liable for excise taxes for the year 1912?

"(2) Is The Newark Consumers Gas Company now liable to the state for any omitted taxes which could be lawfully charged against The Newark Heat & Light Company?"

Section 5417, G. C., provides as follows:

"The term 'gross receipts' shall be held to mean and include the entire receipts for business done by any person or persons, firm or firms, co-partnerships or voluntary association, joint stock association, company or corporation, wherever organized or incorporated, from the operation of any public utility, or incidental thereto or in connection therewith. The gross receipts for business done by an incorporated company, engaged in the operation of a public utility, shall be held to mean and include the entire receipts for business done by such company under the exercise of its corporate powers, whether from the operation of the public utility itself or from any other business done whatsoever."

This section was in force in the year 1912, having been passed in 1911 (102 O. L., 224).

In the year 1912 The Newark Heat & Light Company was an "incorporated company." It was "engaged in the operation of a public utility." The business, the receipts from which are affected by the finding for omitted taxes, was "business done under the exercise of its corporate powers." In point of fact I think that even under the first sentence of section 5417, G. C. The Newark Heat & Light Company would have been liable for taxes on the omitted receipts; but the second sentence of the section removes all doubt. The constitutionality of this second sentence and the importance of the substantive change which its enactment made in the law were established in the case of Ohio Traction Co. v. State, recently decided by the supreme court, but not to be officially reported. The court of appeals in that case held that by virtue of the introduction of this section into the law when the Hollinger act of 1911 was passed the statutes were made to embody a "combination excise and franchise tax;" so that every company liable to the state for any privilege tax was made to bear a burden commensurate with the full exercise of its corporate powers.

None of the sections of the General Code applicable to such transactions authorizes the reduction of gross receipts on the ground that the same represent income from other companies also liable to excise taxation. It is sometimes urged that failure of the statutes expressly to authorize such deduction should not prevent their interpretation in such a way as to permit it, because otherwise the result would constitute unjust double taxation. This contention is not sound; all income and excise taxation is in this sense "double taxation." This point was settled in the case of Cincinnati, Milford & Loveland Traction Co. v. State, No. 14944, recently decided by the Supreme Court and not yet officially reported.

In the case of State v. Coshocton Gas Co., 12 N. P. n. s., 570, affirmed without report by the Supreme Court, the result of so-called "double taxation" was avoided by the fact that the relation of principal and agent, or one corresponding thereto, existed between the local company and the production and transporting company, so that sales made through the local company and the receipts therefrom were the products of a joint enterprise. That was a case in which the state was seeking to make the local distributing company account for receipts as the basis of excise taxation from all the business done in the city of Coshocton. The court held that the local company was required to report only its percentage of the receipts retained by it, the remainder of the total receipts being collected by it as agent of the transportation company. No question was made in that case as to the liability of the transportation company, which company is the one which bears an analogy to The Newark Heat & Light Company. In fact it was claimed in that case that the transportation company had paid excise taxes on its proportion of the local receipts.

The commission is, of course, familiar with these three cases, and I have referred to them only in a most general way. It follows from the terms of the statutes and from the interpretation given to them by the courts in the cases cited that The Newark Heat & Light Company was liable in the year 1912 for excise taxes based upon the income received by it from sales of gas to distributing companies.

The second question involved is more difficult of solution, for in this respect the statutes are not so clear nor have we the benefit of any decisions. The tax commission when it made the finding of omitted taxes was evidently acting under section 5461, G. C., which authorizes the commission to go back into previous years and make findings of omitted taxes. The section is very lengthy and I desire to quote only a part of it:

> "Section 5461. When a public utility or corporation fails to make any report or furnish any statement, which it is required to make or furnish, to the commission, or makes a return or statement of a portion only of the gross receipts or gross earnings, which it is required by law to make or return, and fails to make return or statement of the remainder, or fails to report a part or all of its taxable property, or report the same, or part thereof, according to its true value in money, the commission shall ascertain, as nearly as practicable, the gross receipts or gross earnings, or omitted portion of the same, or taxable property, or omitted part of the same, or such as was not reported according to its true value in money, that should have been reported or returned by such public utility or corporation, and certify such gross receipts or gross earnings, or the value of such property, so ascertained, as required in this act, with respect to its gross receipts, gross earnings and property of public utilities and corporations. * * * The power and duty of the commission, above provided for, shall extend to preceding years in such manner as that the commission shall, for such year or years preceding the year in which the inquiries are made, and omissions ascertained, certify such omitted amounts, so ascertained, certify such omitted amounts, so ascertained, as required in this act, with respect to such companies, in which event such omitted amounts shall be taxed at the rate of taxation belonging to the year or years in which the failure or omission occurred, in the case of property, and in all other cases the amount of the tax or fee upon such omitted amounts shall be calculated upon the amount so ascertained by the commission, at the rate provided by law, for such year or years; provided, however, that the power and duty of the commission with respect to property shall extend only to the five years next preceding the year in which such inquiries and corrections are made, and not in any event prior to the year 1911, except where no property of a company has been returned or assessed in any such year or years."

This section refers to the manner in which like certifications are "required in this act" to be made. This reference brings us back again to the group of statutes which provide for the exaction of the excise tax originally. The certification section relating to natural gas companies is section 5481, G. C. It provides as follows:

> "On the first Monday of October the commission shall certify to the auditor of state, the amount of the gross receipts so determined, of electric light, gas, natural gas, pipe line, waterworks, express, telegraph, telephone, messenger or signal, union depot, heating, cooling and water transportation companies, for the year covered by its annual report to the commission, as required in this act."

With this section, section 5483, G. C., belongs. It provides as follows:

> "In the month of October, annually, the auditor of state shall charge, for collection from each electric light, gas, natural gas, waterworks, telephone, messenger or signal, union depot, heating, cooling and water transportation company, a sum in the nature of an excise tax, for the privilege of carrying on its intra-state business, to be computed on the amount so fixed and reported by the commission as the gross receipts of such company on its intra-state business for the year covered by its annual report to the commission, as required in this act, by taking one and two-tenths per cent. of all such gross receipts, which tax shall not be less than ten dollars in any case."

While nothing is said expressly in any of these sections as to the manner in which the charge shall be made, I think it is rather clear that in the absence of express statutory authority the charge must be made against the company in default, under section 5461, G. C. In other words, I find no authority in the tax commission to charge against a "successor" company any taxes on receipts omitted by its predecessor company.

Section 5506, G. C., provides as follows:

"The fees, taxes and penalties, required to be paid by this act, shall be the first and best lien on all property of the public utility or corporation, whether such property is employed by the public utility or corporation in the prosecution of its business or is in the hands of an assignee, trustee or receiver for the benefit of the creditors and stockholders thereof."

If the liability for the tax had accrued prior to the sale of its property by The Newark Heat & Light Company to The Newark Consumers Gas Company, and the same became a lien upon that property, then, of course, while The Newark Consumers Gas Company would not be subject to any direct liability in personam, yet the state could foreclose the lien and thus The Newark Consumers Gas Company would be required to pay the omitted tax in order to protect its property.

I find the question as to whether the omitted tax in question became a lien to be the most difficult one raised by the statement of facts. Without, however, stating all the considerations which have appealed to me as suggesting one answer or another to this question, I give it as my opinion that the lien did not attach in this case until after The Newark Heat & Light Company had sold its property to The Newark Consumers Gas Company; so that when it did attach it could operate only upon the property then belonging to The Newark Heat & Light Company. I wish to make clear that I am not dealing with priorities, and that nothing is intended to be expressed here as to the nature of the lien once it does attach to the property of the public utility. Nor do I intend to hold that as a general proposition the lien for the taxes regularly payable does not attach until the duplicate charge is made. I have to deal in this opinion with the narrow question as to when the lien attached on a charge for omitted taxes. It will be remembered that taxes are not assessed on the property as a subject of taxation. The lien is a mere method of securing the payment of the tax. The property is bound in a sense as surety for an obligation primarily in personam.

To be sure, any one dealing with a public utility for the purchase of its property would, by the provisions of this law, be put upon his notice as to the existence of any unsatisfied claims for taxes. However, the source of information available to him would be limited to the duplicates in the offices of the auditor and treasurer of state, or at the most, to the files and records of the tax commission of Ohio. For example, if The Newark Consumers Gas Company had exercised the very highest degree of diligence when it was considering the purchase of the property of The Newark Heat & Light Company, it could not have discovered by anything on record in any of the state offices that any charge against The Newark Heat & Light Company existed. On the contrary, the records would have shown that charges had been made against The Newark Heat & Light Company, but that the same had been satisfied and the possibility of any liens on that account destroyed. To be sure, The Newark Heat & Light Company was technically in default in failing to include certain receipts in its statement to the tax commission. Nevertheless, it may have acted in good faith upon its understanding of the law; and this default should not, in the absence of a statutory provision a great deal more explicit than section 5506, G. C., be so imputed to The Newark Consumers Gas Company as to work an injury to it.

I must assume from the meager facts submitted to me that The Newark Consumers Gas Company is not a mere reorganization of The Newark Heat & Light Company, and that in the purchase in question it dealt with The Newark Heat & Light Company as an innocent purchaser, without notice of any claims of the state other than that with which it might be charged by the public records. On this assumption I arrive at my conclusion that the property which formerly belonged to The Newark Heat & Light Company could not be charged in the hands of The Newark Consumers Gas Company with a lien on account of the omitted taxes due from the former company.

I do not mean to hold that The Newark Consumers Gas Company is not liable to the state for the taxes of The Newark Heat & Light Company. I do not know what contract was made between the two companies for the sale of the property of one to the other. It may be that the state is the beneficiary of such a contract whereby The Newark Consumers Gas Company has agreed to assume all the liabilities of The Newark Heat & Light Company. If this is the case, I am of the opinon that the state could sue The Newark Consumers Gas Company and recover. If this is not so, the state's remedy is against The Newark Heat & Light Company, if that company is still in existence. If the company's affairs have been wound up, however, I am of the opinion that the claim of the state is uncollectible, for I do not believe that the winding-up trustees of the company could be held liable under all the circumstances.

My conclusions, then, are as follows:

(1) The claim certified to me is a proper one in the sense that there are omitted taxes for which there is a liability to the state.

(2) The charge, however, is improperly made. The tax commission should so certify to the auditor of state that the charge against The Newark Consumers Gas Company may be expunged and one against The Newark Heat & Light Company substituted therefor.

(3) Property formerly belonging to The Newark Heat & Light Company, and now belonging to The Newark Consumers Gas Company, would not be bound by lien of the charge against the former company, because the lien did not attach until after the title to the property had passed from the one company to the other. However, my holding here is based upon the assumption that The Newark Consumers Gas Company was a purchaser without notice. If it was substantially a reorganization of the old company and had notice of the old company's default, it may be that the state could successfully assert a lien on the property in question.

(4) Whether or not The Newark Consumers Gas Company is liable to the state by reason of the assumption by it of the liability of The Newark Heat & Light Company, or by reason of the fact that it may have been a mere reorganization of the latter company, is a question which cannot be determined from the correspondence in my possession. Possibly the examiner of the commission may have ascertained the facts with respect to this point and may have made his finding on the basis of such facts. If that is the case, his finding is erroneous merely with respect to the name in which it is certified. The examiner's conclusion should have been that a charge should be made against The Newark Heat & Light Company and proceedings for the collection of the same should be instituted against The Newark Consumers Gas Company.

Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,

Attorney-General.

1609.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, DOVER TOWNSHIP RURAL SCHOOL DISTRICT, TUSCARAWAS COUNTY, OHIO—BOND FORM TO BE REVISED.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 23, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of Dover township rural school district in Tuscarawas County, Ohio, in the sum of $30,000.00 for the purpose of purchasing a site and erecting, equipping and furnishing a school house thereon, being sixty bonds of five hundred dollars each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the board of education and other officers of Dover township rural school district relative to the above bond issue, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code, except that the bond form fails to contain the recital that provision has been made for the levy and collection of a tax sufficient to pay interest and create a sinking fund for the redemption of said bonds as they fall due. As provision to that effect was made in the resolution authorizing the issuance of bonds, I am by letter instructing the clerk of the board to amend the bond form by inserting a recital to that effect.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the form to be amended as above suggested, and signed by the proper officers will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of Dover township rural school district.

I suggest that opportunity be given me to further inspect the bonds when they are delivered to the treasurer of state.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1610.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, SHEFFIELD TOWNSHIP, RURAL SCHOOL DISTRICT, LORAIN COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 23, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of Sheffield township rural school district, Lorain county, Ohio, in the sum of $6,500.00, being thirteen bonds of five hundred dollars each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the board of education of Sheffield township rural school district and other officers relative to the above bond issue, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the form submitted, and signed by the proper officers will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of Sheffield township rural school district, Ohio.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1611.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE BY CITY OF WOOSTER, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 23, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:

"RE:—Bonds of the city of Wooster, Ohio, in the sum of $11,208.00, in anticipation of the collection of special assessments upon abutting properties for the improvement of East Bowman street, being twenty bonds of five hundred dollars each, and ten bonds of one hundred and twenty dollars and eighty cents each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the council and other officers of the city of Wooster relative to the above bond issue, also the bond and coupon form submitted, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the form submitted, and signed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of the city of Wooster, Ohio.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1612.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE BY CITY OF WOOSTER, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 23, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:

"RE:—Bonds of the city of Wooster, Ohio, in the sum of $11,646.00, to secure funds to pay the city's portion of the cost of paving East Bowman street and of South Bever street, being one bond of one hundred and forty-six dollars, and twenty-three bonds of five hundred dollars each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the council and other officers of the city of Wooster relative to the above bond issue, also the bond and coupon form submitted, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the form submitted, and signed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of the city of Wooster, Ohio.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1613.

COURT CONSTABLE—JUDGE OF COMMON PLEAS COURT IN COUNTY WHERE ONLY ONE JUDGE HOLDS COURT CANNOT LEGALLY APPOINT COURT CONSTABLE TO ATTEND ASSIGNMENT OF CASES.

A judge of the court of common pleas in a county where only one judge holds court cannot legally appoint a court constable to attend the assignment of cases, and fix an additional compensation for so doing.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 23, 1916.

Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—I have your letter of May 17, 1916, submitting the following inquiry:

> "May a judge of the court of common pleas, in a county where only one judge holds court, legally appoint the court constable to attend the assignment of cases and fix an additional compensation for so doing? See section 1692, G. C., as amended 103 O. L., 417, and section 1693, G. C., as amended 106 O. L., 347."

Section 1692, G. C., as amended 103 O. L., 417, provides as follows:

> "Section 1692. When, in the opinion of the court, the business thereof so requires, each court of common pleas, court of appeals, superior court, insolvency court, in each county of the state, and in counties having at the last or any future federal census more than seventy thousand inhabitants, the probate court may appoint one or more constables to preserve order, attend the assignment of cases in counties where more than two common pleas judges regularly hold court at the same time, and discharge such other duties as the court requires. When so directed by the court each constable shall have the same powers as sheriffs to call and impanel jurors, except in capital cases."

Section 1693, G. C., as amended 106 O. L., 347, provides as follows:

> "Section 1693. Each constable shall receive the compensation fixed by the judge or judges of the court making the appointment. In counties where four or more judges regularly hold court, such compensation shall not exceed twelve hundred and fifty dollars each year; in counties where more than one judge and not more than three judges hold court at the same time, not to exceed one thousand dollars per year, and in counties where only one judge holds court, such amount, not to exceed seven hundred and twenty dollars each year, as may be fixed by the court, and shall be paid monthly from the county treasury on the order of the court. Such court constable or constables may, when placed by the court in charge of the assignment of cases, be allowed further compensation not to exceed one thousand five hundred dollars, as the court by its order entered on the journal determines. In counties where only one judge holds court, the constable provided for herein, when not attending the common pleas court, shall, upon order of the judge of such common pleas court, and without additional compensation, attend the probate court or the court of appeals of such county."

Of these two sections the former is manifestly the enabling statute in respect to the appointment of court constables and the assignment of other duties. This section plainly provides that court constables may be appointed to preserve order, and to attend the assignment of cases in counties where two or more judges hold court, that is to say, such constables may be appointed in any county to preserve order, and in counties where two or more judges hold court they may also attend the assignment of cases. If this statute stood alone it would not be seriously questioned that its provisions limited the right to include in the duties of such constables the assignment of cases only to such counties in which two or more judges hold court.

But it seems some common pleas judges have construed the provisions of the last named section, as conferring authority upon the common pleas court to impose the duty of assigning cases upon court constables in any county and to make an extra allowance for such services as provided in said section. I cannot understand upon what theory, or by what process of reasoning this conclusion was reached. This section 1693, G. C., supra, authorizes such extra allowance only when such court constable or constables are placed in charge of the assignment of cases. It does not fix or undertake to specify when and under what circumstances they may be given this duty. It refers to a condition which must exist before such allowance may be made and as a basis of such an allowance, but it in no manner whatever assumes to provide for that condition.

In the absence of any other provision of law it might be said that this statute by expressly authorizing such additional allowance under the conditions specified, impliedly delegates the power to create such condition, but such authority may only be implied in any case to make effective the object and purpose of the law in question. It is manifest that the sole purpose of section 1693, G. C., supra, is to provide for the compensation of court constables. It has no other object. If its purpose may be fully accomplished without involving the doctrine of implication, no reason may be said to exist for the application of said doctrine and it, therefore, does not apply. However, in the section first named full and complete provisions are found for the appointment of court constables, and as before stated, it being the enabling statute in this respect it is exclusive and must control.

While entertaining the greatest respect for the judges in question I am unable to concur in their construction of the law, and must, therefore, advise you that in my opinion a court constable or constables may be given the duty of assigning cases, and additional compensation allowed therefor only in those counties which have two or more common pleas judges holding court.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1614.

TAX COMMISSION—CIRCULAR LETTER TO COUNTY BOARD OF REVISION DISAPPROVED IN CERTAIN PARTICULARS—SUGGESTIONS OFFERED.

The circular letter referred to in the within opinion is returned to the State Tax Commission without approval, the same to be approved when corrected in accordance with the suggestions made in said opinion.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 23, 1916.

Tax Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—I am in receipt of your letter under date of May 15, 1916, in which you enclose copy of a circular letter which your commission proposes to send out to county boards of revision. You request me to examine the instructions contained in said circular letter, and, if found "in accordance with the advice of the attorney-general," as required by provision of section 70, of the Parrett-Whittemore law (section 5623, G. C., 106 O. L., 265), to endorse such finding thereon.

The circular letter reads as follows:

May 15, 1916.

"To County Boards of Revision:

"A number of questions have arisen concerning the powers and duties of county boards of revision under the act of May 8, 1915, 106 O. L., 246, commonly known as the Parrett-Whittemore law. The tax commission of Ohio has decided such questions in accordance with the advice and opinion of the attorney-general as follows:

"1. Boards of revision at their June session, 1916, shall not increase or decrease valuations of real estate which has not been appraised or reappraised during said year.

"2. Boards of revision at their August session may increase or decrease any valuation or correct any assessment complained of whether or not there has been an appraisement or reappraisement for said year.

"3. Boards of revision at their August session are limited in their powers to the hearing of complaints only.

"4. The powers given to county boards of revision by the provisions of section 45 of the act, may only be exercised in the performance of their duties under section 44, of the act referring to the hearing of complaints.

"5. The powers of county boards of revision at both the June and August sessions extend only to valuations of the current year, i. e., at their sessions in 1916 they can only equalize and hear complaints as to the 1916 valuations.

"6. The powers given to county boards of revision by the provisions of section 43, of the act may be exercised at their June session only as to personal property and such real estate as may have been appraised or reappraised during the current year. These powers may also be exercised in the performance of their duties in hearing complaints.

"7. Boards of revision at their August session shall not increase the value of any real or personal property complained of without notice to the owner or his agent.

8. Boards of revision at their August session shall not decrease the value of any real or personal property, except upon written application, under oath of the party affected.

"9. Boards of revision at their June session may increase or decrease any valuation of personal property, or increase the listed amount of personal property without notice to owners. (The increase or decrease in value may be by percentage upon the value of any class of personal property.)

"10. If there has been an original appraisement of real estate in any year, or a reappraisement ordered by the county auditor in any year, boards of revision may, at their June session, increase or decrease the value of any real estate without notice. (Such increase or decrease may be by percentage upon the value of real estate in any taxing district.)

THE TAX COMMISSION OF OHIO,

By.....

Secretary.

Upon examination of the instructions contained in the foregoing letter I find that said instructions are in accordance with opinion No. 1173 of this department, rendered to your commission under date of January 14, 1916, with the following exceptions:

In item No. 8 as above set forth you advise that "boards of revision at their August session shall not decrease the value of any real or personal property, except upon written application, under oath of the party affected."

In this connection I quote from the opinion, above referred to, at page 27, as follows:

"Under provision of section 47 of the act the county board of revision may not decrease any valuation complained of nor reduce the listed amount of any taxable property complained of, unless the party affected thereby, or his agent, makes and files with the board a written application therefor, verified by oath, showing the facts upon which it is claimed such decrease should be made, and not without affording the county auditor an opportunity to be heard thereon."

In view of the foregoing I suggest that the words "or his agent"be added to the instruction contained in item 8 as above set forth.

In item No. 9 you advise that boards of revision at their June session may increase or decrease any valuation of personal property, or increase the listed amount of personal property without notice to owners, and that "the increase or decrease in value may be by percentage upon the value of any class of personal property."

In item No. 10 you advise that "if there has been an original appraisement of real estate in any year, or a reappraisement ordered by the county auditor in any year, boards of revision may, at their June session, increase or decrease the value of any real estate without notice," and that "such increase or decrease may be by percentage upon the value of real estate in any taxing district."

In connection with the proposed instruction contained in the first part of item No. 9, I call your attention to the following on page 33 of the opinion above referred to:

"The only notice of changes in valuations, made by said county board of revision, acting as a board of equalization at its June session, required to be given, is that provided for in sections 58 and 59 of the act (sections 5606 and 5607, G. C.).

"Section 58 provides:

"'When the board of revision has completed its work of equalization, and has transmitted the statements and returns to him, the county auditor shall give notice, by advertisement, in two newspapers, of opposite politics, published in and of general circulation throughout the county, that the tax statement and returns for the current year have been revised and the valuations completed, and are open for public inspection in his office, and that complaints against any valuation or assessment, except the valuations fixed and assessments made by the tax commission of Ohio, will be heard by the county board of revision, stating in the notice the time and place of the meeting of such board. Such advertisements shall be inserted in a conspicuous place in each such newspaper, and be published daily for ten days, unless there be no daily newspaper published in and of general circulation throughout such county, in which event such advertisement shall be so published one each week for two weeks. The county auditor shall, upon request, furnish to any person a certificate setting forth the assessment and valuation of any tract, lot or parcel of real estate or any specific personal property, and mail the same, when requested to do so, upon receipt of sufficient postage.'

"Section 59 provides:

" 'On or before the 15th day of July, annually, the county auditor shall cause to be printed a list showing all changes made in the assessment of any tract, lot or parcel of real estate or improvement thereon, or minerals or mineral rights therein, and shall cause a copy of such list to be mailed to each owner whose assessment has been changed, if known, and if not, then to his agent, if known.' "

While it is true that the notice required by sections 5606 and 5607 of the General Code, as above quoted, is not a condition precedent to the valid exercise of the authority conferred upon the board of revision by section 51 of the act (section 5605, G. C.), to increase any valuation of personal property, or increase the listed amount of personal property, nevertheless I am of the opinion that said proposed instruction, in the absence of any qualification, is misleading, and that the same should be modified by reference to the requirements of said sections 5606 and 5607 of the General Code in conformity with that part of my former opinion above quoted.

Coming now to a consideration of the proposed instruction contained in the first part of item 10, as above set forth, I call your attention to that part of opinion No 1173, above referred to, as found on page 30, in which I held that the county board of revision, in the performance of its duties under section 51 of the act, at its June session in any year is limited in its consideration of valuations of real property to the statements and returns for such year as placed before it by the county auditor in compliance with section 51 of the act, and that said board may not increase or decrease valuations of real estate which has not been appraised during said year.

It will be observed that in said opinion a distinction was made between an original assessment or appraisement of real property, which may be ordered by your commission in all counties of the state at the same time, i. e. the same year, and a reassessment or reappraisement of real property, or any class thereof, in any taxing district, or part thereof, which may be ordered by the county auditor under provision of section 55 of the act (section 5548, G. C., 106 O. L., 260), or in the manner provided in the latter part of said section, or by the tax commission under provision of sections 79 and 80 of the act (sections 5624-4 and 5624-5, G. C., 106 O. L., 267).

In view of this distinction taken in connection with the holding of the opinion, as above set forth, I am of the opinion that your proposed instruction contained in the first part of item 10 should be limited by striking therefrom the words "or a reappraisement ordered by the county auditor in any year," and that the words "or reappraised," in the instruction contained in items 1 and 6, and the words "or reappraisement," as found in the instruction contained in item 2, should be omitted. Said instruction, as found in the first part of item 10, should be further limited by the modification as to notice suggested in connection with your proposed instruction contained in the first part of Item No. 9.

You further propose to instruct the county board of revision in the latter part of item No. 9 that "the increase or decrease in value may be by percentage upon the value of any class of personal property," and in the latter part of item No. 10 that the increase or decrease in the valuation of the real estate in any taxing district, made by the county board of revision, may be by percentage upon such valuation.

Inasmuch as the question of the authority of the county board of revision to increase or decrease valuations of real or personal property, as returned by the assessing officer of any assessment district, by percentage upon such valuations, has not been answered in any former opinion to your commission, it remains to be determined whether said county board of revision, in the exercise of the authority conferred upon it by the provisions of section 51 of the act (section 5605, G. C.), may, in any year, increase or decrease valuations of personal property, or of real estate in case an original appraisement of real estate has been made in said year, by a percentage upon the valuation of classes of personal property, or upon the valuation of real estate, as returned by the original assessing officer in any taxing district, in accordance with said instructions.

The authority of the tax commission to increase or decrease the aggregate value of real or personal property, or any class of real or personal property, in any county, township, city, village or taxing district, or in any ward or division of a municipal corporation, by a percentage upon such aggregate value as reported to said commission by the several county auditors of the state, is found in section 76 of the act (section 5613, G. C., 106 O. L., 267), which provides:

> "The tax commission of Ohio shall, annually, determine whether the real and personal property, and the various classes thereof, in the several counties, cities, villages and taxing districts in the state, have been assessed at the true value thereof in money, and if it finds that the real or personal property, or any class of real or personal property, in any county, city, village or taxing district in the state as reported by the several county auditors to it, is not listed at its true value in money, it may increase or decrease the aggregate value of the real property or of the personal property, or any class of real or personal property, in any such county, township, city, village, or taxing district, or in any ward or division of a municipal corporation, by such rate per cent., or by such amount as will place such property on the tax list at its true value in money, to the end that each and every class of real and personal property in the state shall be listed and valued for taxation by an equal and uniform rule at its true value in money."

No such authority is expressly given to county boards of revision by any provision of the statutes now in force.

Section 51 of the act (section 5605, G. C., 106 O. L., 259), provides in part as follows:

> "On the second Monday of June, 1916, and annually, thereafter, the county auditor shall lay before the county board of revision the statements and returns of property received by him for the current year, and such board shall forthwith proceed to examine and revise the statements and returns of all property, both real and personal, to see that the valuations thereof are equal and uniform throughout the county, and that all property, and each and every class, kind or description thereof, is valued for taxation throughout the county at its full and true value in money. If the board finds any statement or return of personal property to be erroneous, either in the amount of property, moneys, credits, investments in bonds, stocks, joint stock companies or otherwise, listed in the name of any person, company, firm, partnership, association or corporation, or in the valuation of any item or items thereof, it shall correct such statement or return, by listing thereon any omitted property and giving to it, as well as to any property that has been listed therein but which has been incorrectly valued, the true value in money thereof, and by omitting therefrom property improperly listed thereon. * * * If the board finds that any tract, lot or parcel of land or any buildings, structures or improvements thereon, or any minerals therein or rights thereto have been improperly listed either inthe name of the owner, the description or quantity thereof, or have been incorrectly valued, or have been omitted and not valued, it shall make the necessary corrections and shall give to each such tract, lot or parcel of land, or any buildings, structures or improvements thereon or any minerals therein or rights thereto, incorrectly valued or omitted, the true value in money thereof. * * *"

It will be observed that under provision of section 5613, G. C., supra, the tax commission deals with the aggregate value of property or of a class of property in a county, township, city, village or taxing district, or ward or division of a municipal corporation and not with individual returns. The tax commission has no authority to consider individual returns of property made by the local assessing authorities except in cases of appeal, as provided in section 53 of the act (section 5610, G. C., 106 O. L., 260). On the other hand, it seems clear that the county board of revision, in the exercise of the authority conferred on it by section 5605, G. C., in any year, in increasing or decreasing the valuation of personal property, or of real estate in case an original appraisement of real estate has been made in said year, is confined to individual returns, and that said county board of revision cannot make horizontal increases by percentage upon the aggregate value of real or personal property, or class thereof, in an assessment district.

While it may be argued that there can be no objection to the county board of revision making increases or decreases by percentage upon the valuations of property as returned by the original assessing officer, so long as the same results in placing the property in question on the duplicate at its true value in money, and that, in case such a result is not realized by the individual owner, such owner may avail himself of his judicial remedy, the same as in the case of increases made by the tax commission under provision of section 5613, G. C., this argument meets with the objection that inasmuch as the county board of revision deals with individual returns rather than the aggregate value of all the returns of property or of a class of property in any district, the only valuation upon which the county board of revision could determine the percentage of increase or decrease would be the individual return of property as made by the original assessing officer. Such a method would be directly opposed to equalization of values and to the realization of the return of the property of the district at its true value in money.

I am of the opinion, therefore, that your proposed instruction contained in the latter part of item No. 9, as well as that contained in the latter part of item No. 10, is without authority in law, and that said instructions should be omitted from the list of proposed instructions as submitted by you.

I am returning said list of instructions to be corrected in the respects hereinbefore suggested. When such corrections are made I will endorse on said list the finding requested by your commission.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1615.

COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION—WHEN BOARD CAN EMPLOY ATTORNEYS TO REPRESENT IT.

Section 4744-3, G. C., 106 O. L., 399, now provides that the county auditor when making his semi-annual appropriation of the school funds of the various village and rural school districts shall set aside a contingent as well as a tuition fund to the credit of "The County Board of Education Fund."

Where, in an action between the board of education of a school district within the county school district and the county board of education, the prosecuting attorney of the county declines to represent said county board of education, said county board may, upon the filing with it of a certificate of available money in said contingent fund for said purpose, employ counsel to represent it in said case and, out of said fund, pay for the services rendered.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 24, 1916.

HON. J. W. WATTS, Prosecuting Attorney, Hillsboro, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—In your letter under date of May 10th, you request my opinion as follows:

> "The county board of education of this, Highland county, has been sued in the common pleas court in which its conduct with reference to the creation of certain school districts has been called into question, and said county board has asked me to submit to you for your opinion the question of its right to employ and pay attorneys to defend this action."

You are familiar with opinion No. 336 of this department, rendered to the bureau of inspection and supervision of public offices, under date of May 6, 1915 (page 564 of the annual report of the attorney-general for said year). Attention was called in said opinion to the provisions of section 4761, G. C., which are as follows:

> "Except in city school districts, the prosecuting attorney of the county shall be the legal adviser of all boards of education of the county in which he is serving. He shall prosecute all actions against a member or officer of a board of education for malfeasance or misfeasance in office, and he shall be the legal counsel of such boards or the officers thereof in all civil actions brought by or against them and shall conduct such actions in his official capacity. When such civil action is between two or more boards of education in the same county, the prosecuting attorney shall not be required to act for either of them. In city school districts, the city solicitor shall be the legal adviser and attorney for the board of education thereof, and shall perform the same services for such board as herein required of the prosecuting attorney for other boards of education of the county."

While it was held in said opinion that within the limitations of the above provisions of section 4761, G. C., the prosecuting attorney of the county may act as the legal adviser of the county board of education, it was observed that, in the case of an action between the county board and the local board of education of a school district within the county school district, the prosecuting attorney cannot represent both boards and is not required to represent either of said boards and the question arose as to whether, in case the prosecuting attorney declined to represent either of said boards, or if he chose to represent the local board, the county board of education might employ counsel other than the prosecuting attorney to represent it under authority of section 2918, G. C., which provides in part that:

> "Nothing in the preceding two sections shall prevent a school board from employing counsel to represent it, but such counsel, when so employed, shall be paid by such school board from the school fund."

the provisions of section 2916, G. C., not being material to the consideration of said question and section 2917, G. C., providing that the prosecuting attorney shall be the legal adviser of the county commissioners and all other county officers and county boards and for all township officers, and that no county officers may employ other counsel or attorney except as provided in section 2412, G. C. Attention was then called to the provision of section 1 of article X of the constitution:

> "The general assembly shall provide by law for the election of such county and township officers as may be necessary."

And it was further held in said opinion that the members of the county board of education are not county officers, and the said board is not a county board within the meaning of the provisions of section 2917, G. C., as limited by the above provision of the constitution and that this section has, therefore, no application to a county board of education.

After noting that under the above provision of section 2918, G. C., payment for services rendered to the board of education of a school district by counsel other than the prosecuting attorney must be made from the "school fund" of such district and that the contract of employment would not be within the exceptions of the requirements of section 5660, G. C., provided in section 5661, G. C. and that it would therefore be necessary that a certificate of available funds be filed with said contract by the clerk of said board, the conclusion was reached in said opinion that, while the authority of the local board, in the case referred to in said opinion, to employ counsel other than the prosecuting attorney to represent it, provided it had sufficient funds in its treasury available for such purpose, was clear, the county school district under the statutes as then in force had no school fund within the meaning of section 2918, G. C., out of which counsel other than the prosecuting attorney might be paid by the county board of education for services rendered to said board, and there being no authority in law to create such fund, the county board of education was without lawful authority to employ counsel other than the prosecuting attorney of the county.

In submitting the question as to the authority of your county board of education under the statutes now in force to employ counsel to represent it in the case now pending in the common pleas court of your county, you evidently have in mind the change effected in section 4744-3, G. C., in the amendment of said section by the act of the general assembly as found in 106 O. L., 396, which was passed subsequent to the time the aforesaid opinion was rendered, i. e., May 27, 1915, and which became effective August 26, 1915. Said section as amended and as now in force provides in part:

> "The county auditor when making his semi-annual apportionment of the school funds to the various village and rural school districts shall retain the amounts necessary to pay such portion of the salaries of the county and district superintendents and for contingent expenses, as may be certified by the county board. * * *"

This section as amended in 104 O. L., 143, and as in force at the time the former opinion, above referred to, was rendered, provided only for a tuition fund to be known as "the county board of education fund," which fund could only be used for tuition purposes.

I understand that you have declined to represent your county board of education in the case referred to in your inquiry and, inasmuch as said section 4744-3, G. C., as now in force, provided for a contingent as well as a tuition fund, I am of the opinion in answer to your question that, upon the filing with said county board of education by its clerk of a certificate of available money in said contingent fund for said purpose, said board may employ counsel to represent it in said case and, out of said fund, pay for the services rendered.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1616.

DISAPPROVAL, LEASE OF CANAL LANDS IN CITY OF AKRON TO HANCOCK BROTHERS, A PARTNERSHIP.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 24, 1916.

HON. FRANK R. FAUVER, Superintendent of Public Works, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of May 8, 1916, transmitting to me for examination a lease of certain canal lands in the city of Akron to Hancock Bros., a partnership.

I am returning this lease without my approval for two reasons: In the fifth paragraph, on the second page of the lease, there is set forth an agreement on the part of the party of the second part, his heirs, administrators and assigns, to furnish the party of the second part a suitable room for office purposes. It is manifest that there is an error in this provision, and that what was intended was an agreement on the part of the party of the second part, his heirs, administrators and assigns, to furnish the party of the first part a suitable room for office purposes.

The lease is drawn to Hancock Bros., a partnership, and the signature is as follows:

"Hancock Bros.
"By { E. D. Hancock, { Ford Hancock."

It does not appear on the face of the lease how many persons compose the partnership or whether the lease has been executed by all the partners. A single partner or any number of partners less than all is without authority to bind a partnership except as to matters within the scope of the partnership business.

In order that no question of lack of authority may be raised against leases executed to partnerships, I suggest that a proper recital be made of the names of all partners, and that a lease to a partnership be executed by all the partners.

If it be a fact that E. D. Hancock and Ford Hancock are the only members of the partnership in question, then the lease is properly executed, but the recital in the first paragraph thereof should be amplified to read as follows:

> "Hancock Bros., a partnership consisting of E. D. Hancock and Ford Hancock."

For the reasons above stated I am returning the lease without my approval, but when the changes above suggested have been made therein I will be glad to approve the same.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1617.

APPROVAL, RESOLUTIONS FOR IMPROVEMENT OF CERTAIN ROADS IN UNION, ASHTABULA, JEFFERSON AND STARK COUNTIES.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 24, 1916.

HON. CLINTON COWEN, State Highway Commissioner, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communications of May 20 and 22, 1916, transmitting to me for examination final resolutions relating to the following roads:

"Union county—Sec. 'C,' Marysville-Marion road, Pet. No. 3012, I. C. H. No. 115.

"Ashtabula county—Sec. 'J,' Jefferson-Andover road, Pet. No. 2048, I. C. H. No. 151.

"Jefferson county—Sec. 'J,' Ohio River road, Pet. No. 2539, I. C. H. No. 7, M. M. No. III.

"Jefferson county—Sec. 'D,' Canton-Steubenville road, Pet. No. 660, I. C. H. No. 75 (supplemental).

"Stark county—Sec. 'I,', Akron-Canton road, Pet. No. 2937, I. C. H. No. 66, M. M. No. IX."

I find these resolutions to be in regular form and am therefore returning the same with my approval endorsed thereon. Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1618.

MUNICIPAL CORPORATION—ANNEXATION OF TERRITORY FROM ONE OR MORE TOWNSHIPS TO A CITY—HOW FUNDS AND INDEBTEDNESS OF SAID TOWNSHIP ARE TO BE APPORTIONED—HOW FUNDS AND INDEBTEDNESS OF SCHOOL DISTRICTS ARE TO BE APPORTIONED IN SUCH CASE—CITY OF AKRON.

In case of the annexation of territory from one or more townships to a city, under authority of and in the manner provided by section 3558, et seq., G. C., an equitable division of the funds and indebtedness of said township or townships and the proper apportionment thereof may be made under authority of and in the manner provided by section 3544, G. C., read in connection with the provisions of the statutes governing the annexation of said territory to said city.

While it cannot be said that section 4690, G. C., 104 O. L., 134, is repealed by implication by the act of the general assembly (106 O. L., 396), in view of the provisions of the latter part of said section authorizing the transfer of the title to the school property located in territory annexed to a city, by agreement of the boards of education of the several school districts affected by such annexation, nevertheless if said boards fail to reach such an agreement, there is no way to effect such transfer other than that provided by section 4696, G. C., 106 O. L., 397, and in the manner therein set forth, and in any event the only method of procedure whereby the equitable division of funds and indebtedness may be effected is that provided by section 4696, G. C., and in the manner therein set forth. Such proceedings under section 4696, G. C., must be had prior to the time the territory above referred to is annexed to said city by the aforesaid annexation proceedings.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 25, 1916.

HON. C. P. KENNEDY, Prosecuting Attorney, Akron, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—In your letter of April 25th, you request my opinion as follows:

"A short time ago an annexation proceeding was started by the city of Akron by virtue of sections 3558, 3559 and 3560 of the General Code of Ohio.

The petition therefor was presented to the board of county commissioners of Summit county, as provided by law, the petition praying for the annexation of territory entirely surrounding said city of Akron. The petition came on for hearing before the board of county commissioners, as is provided for in section 3521, General Code, and the matter is now pending before said board.

"If the petition for annexation is finally allowed, the city will annex a part of the territory in several townships, and the question arises as to the division of funds and indebtedness of the various townships. Should section 3544 of the General Code be followed in determining these matters?

"The territory proposed to be annexed includes a part of several rural school districts. If it is annexed, does the territory annexed, which now comprises a part of a rural school district, become a part of the city school district for school purposes? If so, in what manner and by what means are the funds and the indebtedness of the various rural school districts to be apportioned?

"Section 4690 of the General Code, 104 O. L., 134, provides as follows:

" 'When territory is annexed to a city or village, such territory thereby becomes a part of the city or village school district, and the legal title to school property in such territory for school purposes shall remain vested in the board of education of the school district from which such territory was detached, until such time as may be agreed upon b[illegible]e several boards of education when such property may be transferred by [illegible]rranty deed.' "

"Section 4696, of the General Code, 104 O. L., page 135, provides in substance that when territory is transferred from one district to another by the annexation of territory to a city, the division of the funds in the treasury and in process of collection of the board of education of the school district in which the territory is detached, shall upon application to the probate court of the county, by either board of education interested, be determined and ordered by such court. Also the indebtedness, if any, together with the proper amount of money to be paid to such board by the board of education of the school district to which the territory is annexed, shall, in like manner, be determined and ordered by the court.

"Section 4696, however, has been amended by the legislature in Ohio laws, 105-106, page 397, and as amended leaves out entirely the provisions of the section setting forth the procedure before the probate court to determine the equitable division of funds and indebtedness in case of annexation, and I fail to find that any other procedure has been provided in such an instance.

"Is the effect of section 4696, as now amended, such as to provide the only way in which the transfer of a part of a school district under the jurisdiction of the county board of education can be made to a city school district? Or, are the ways provided therein in addition to those provided in section 4690, General Code, in which the territory automatically becomes a part of the city school district?

"If section 4690, of the General Code, is not repealed by implication, and I do not see how it is under the rule that repeals by implication, are not favored unless the intention of the legislature to so repeal is clearly indicated, are we then to be governed by the latter part of section 4696 as to the division of the funds and indebtedness?

" 'No such transfer shall be in effect until the county board of education and the board of education to which the territory is to be transferred each pass resolutions by a majority vote of the full membership of each board, and until an equitable division of the funds or indebtedness be decided upon by the boards of education acting in the transfer. Also a map shall be filed with the auditor. or auditors, of the counties affected by such transfer.'

"It would seem from a reading of the latter part of section 4696, that even though territory of a rural school district was annexed to the city school district by reason of section 4690, that the effect of the same would be held in abeyance, and there would in reality be no transfer for school purposes until such time as the county board of education and the city board of education had passed the resolutions and agreed upon the equitable division of funds or indebtedness, as required in section 4696."

Considering first your question as to how the division of the funds and indebtedness of the several townships affected by the transfer of the territory referred to in your inquiry, shall be made, I note that section 3560, G. C., as found in chapter 3 under division I of title XII of part first of the General Code, relating to the annexation to or detachment from a municipal corporation of territory, and under the subdivision of said chapter relating to annexation of territory to a municipal corporation on application of such corporation to the commissioners of the county in which such corporation is located, provides:

"Sec. 3560. The application of the corporation to the county commissioners for such purpose shall be by petition, setting forth that, under an ordinance of the council the territory therein described was authorized to be annexed to the corporation. The petition shall contain an accurate description of the territory, and be accompanied by an accurate map or plat thereof."

Section 3561, G. C., provides that:

"When the petition is presented to the commissioners, like proceedings shall be had, in all respects, so far as applicable, as are required in case of annexation on application of citizens in this chapter."

Section 3549, G. C., as found in the subdivision of said chapter relating to annexation of territory to a municipal corporation on the application to the county commissioners of the county in which such corporation is located, of citizens residing in the territory proposed to be transferred to such municipal corporation, provides that:

"The petition (signed by a majority of the adult freeholders residing in such territory) shall be presented to the board of commissioners at a regular session thereof, and when so presented the same proceedings shall be had as far as applicable, and the same duties in respect thereto shall be performed by the commissioners and other officers, as required in case of an application to be organized into a village under the provisions of this division. * * *"

Section 3544, G. C., as found in chapter 2 of the aforesaid division and title of the General Code relating to the incorporation of a village, provides:

"Sec. 3544. When a village has been created out of a portion of a township, or portions of more than one township, a proper division of the funds for township purposes in the treasury, or in the process of collection, of the township or townships from which the territory has been taken, shall, upon application of the village to the probate court of the county in which the territory is situated, be determined and ordered paid over to the treasurer of the village. In determining the portion of such funds to which the village is entitled, the indebtedness of each township shall be taken into consideration. Ten days notice of such hearing shall be given by the treasurer of the applicant to the treasurer of each township whose funds are sought to be divided. The findings and orders of the probate court shall be final."

It will be observed that when the petition referred to in your inquiry has been presented to the county commissioners and from that time on, the same proceedings are to be had in all respects, so far as applicable, as in the case of an application to incorporate a village, and that the same duties are to be performed not only by the county commissioners but by "other officers" as are required under the provisions of the aforesaid division of the statutes in the case of the incorporation of a village. This adoption by reference of the statutory provisions relating to the incorporation of a village makes it necessary to consider said provisions of said statutes and determine what proceedings are provided and what powers and duties are imposed on said county commissioners and "other officers" in connection with and growing out of such incorporation.

The sections referred to as thus adopted are sections 3517 to 3546, both inclusive, of the General Code, and one of these sections so adopted is section 3544, G. C., the provisions of which are as above set forth.

In view of the adoption by reference of said statutes it seems clear that the legislature intended to make all of the provisions of said statutes relating to the incorporation of villages apply to the annexation of territory to a municipal corporation in so far as said provisions are, in their nature, applicable. It seems equally clear that it is not merely the procedure before the county commissioners that is thus adopted since it is provided that the same duties shall be performed not only by the commissioners but by all other officers as are required in the incorporating of a village.

Among other provisions of these statutes thus adopted are those found in sections 3532 to 3535, both inclusive, of the General Code, relative to the juirsdiction and duties of the common pleas court in case of an application by any person interested for an injunction against the recording of proceedings, the grounds of such injunction and the duties of the court and other officers in relation thereto.

The courts have frequently exercised the jurisdiction thus conferred and have granted decrees therein provided for either for or against the annexation of territory to cities and villages. In several of these cases the statutes above referred to have been under discussion and have been considered by the courts as having been adopted in their entirety as governing annexations to municipal corporations and the rights of all parties growing out of such annexations.

Among other cases is the case of Shipbaugh v. Kimball, 7 N. P. (N. S.), 514 wherein the court, on the authority of section 3532, G. C., entered a permanent injunction against the recording of proceedings to annex territory to the city of Ashtabula.

Section 3532, G. C., by its terms has to do only with proceedings relating to the incorporation of villages but, as the court in the case of Shipbaugh v. Kimball, supra, plainly indicates, these provisions have by adoption become a part of the law relating to annexation of territory to cities. The same application of said statute was given by the court in the case of Hulbert v. Mason, 29 O. S., 562.

The same jurisdiction has been exercised and like decrees entered by the court of common pleas of Franklin county in several cases, among them being the case of Holtzman, et al., v. Barr, No. 56607 in said court (not reported), decided by Bigger, J., wherein the court enjoined the annexation to the city of Columbus of t he village of Bexley and other territory; also the case of Wilson, et al., v. Barr, No. 58689 also unreported, decided by Evans, J., wherein the provisions of the statutes, above referred to, were invoked and the court, after a full hearing and consideration of the merits, refused an injunction.

It is submitted that with equal force and propriety the provisions of section 3544, G. C., as above quoted, relative to the duties of the probate court with respect to the division of funds and indebtedness of a township, a part of which has been incorporated into a village, are applicable to the situation created by the annexation of such portion of a township to a municipal corporation.

It was clearly the intention of the legislature to adopt this section as well as the others to which reference has been made. While it would have been better if the legislature had seen fit to make the annexation statutes complete in themselves, it is none the less clear, upon an examination of all the statutes hereinbefore referred to, that the legislature fully intended and provided that these statutes, including section 3544, G. C., should be adopted and applied in the case of the annexation on territory to a municipal corporation.

Any doubt as to the correctness of this conclusion is settled by the decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Shugars, Clerk, v. Williams, et al., 50 O. S., 297, wherein the court holds that the statutes, relating to annexation and those relating to the incorporation of a village are to be, for the purpose of construction, treated as one act. The syllabus in this case reads as follows:

> "Chapters 2 and 5, of division 2, of title 12, Revised Statutes, relating to the general subject of the creation of villages and hamlets, and the annexation of territory to those already created, are to be treated, for purpose of construction, as one act. * * *"

Chapter 2, thus referred to, is the chapter relating to the creation of villages and hamlets and comprises sections 1553 to 1571a, inclusive, of the Revised Statutes (sections 3517 to 3546, inclusive, of the General Code), while chapter 5, so referred to, is the chapter relating to annexations of territory to municipal corporations and comprises sections 1589 to 1615, inclusive, of the Revised Statutes (sections 3548 to 3576, inclusive, of the General Code).

In view of the foregoing, I am of the opinion, in answer to your first question that if the petition for the annexation of the territory referred to in your inquiry is allowed and said territory is annexed to the city of Akron from the several adjoining townships, an equitable division of the funds and indebtedness of said township and the proper apportionment thereof may be made under authority of and in the manner provided by section 3544, G. C., as above quoted, read in connection with the provisions of the statutes governing the annexation of said territory to said city.

In determining the answer to your remaining questions, relative to the apportionment of the school funds and indebtedness of the territory proposed to be annexed to the city of Akron, considering said territory as a part of the several rural school districts from which the same is to be detached by said annexation proceedings, serious difficulty is encountered.

Section 4690, G. C. (104 O. L., 134), by its terms provides that upon the annexation of said territory to said city the same automatically becomes a part of the city school district. No provision, however, is made for an apportionment of the funds and indebtedness of said territory.

Said section further provides that

> "the legal title to school property in such territory for school purposes shall remain vested in the board of education of the school district from which such territory was detached, until such time as may be agreed upon by the several boards of education when such property may be transferred by warranty deed."

In this connection I note that this section, as in force prior to its amendment in 104 O. L., contained the additional provisions that

> "In case of disagreement between such boards of education, like proceedings shall be had by application to the probate court as are provided by law in case of the transfer of property from one school district to another."

No such provision is contained in this or any other statute now in force.

While section 4696, G. C., as amended in 104 O. L., 135, provided that:

> "When territory is transferred from one district to another by the annexation of territory to a city or village, the proper division of funds in the treasury, or in process of collection, of the board of education of the school district from which the territory is detached, shall, upon application to the probate court of the county in which such territory is situated by either board of education interested, be determined and ordered by such court. If such board of education is indebted, such indebtedness, together with the proper amount of money to be paid to such board by the board of education of the school district to which the territory is transferred, annexed, or of the district created, shall be in like manner determined and ordered by the court," as observed by you, this provision was repealed by the act of the general assembly (106 O. L., 396), and no such provision is found in the statutes as now in force.

While the latter part of said section 4696, G. C., (106 O. L., 397), provides that:

> "No such transfer shall be in effect until the county board of education and the board of education to which the territory is to be transferred each pass resolutions by a majority vote of the full membership of each board and until an equitable division of the funds or indebtedness be decided upon by the boards of education acting in the transfer; also a map shall be filed with the auditor or auditors of the county or counties affected by such transfer."

this provision by its terms is clearly limited to transfers of territory made by the mutual agreements of boards of education under authority of and in the manner provided by said section as now in force, and has no application to territory annexed to a village or city in the manner provided by the statutes, hereinbefore referred to, and governing annexation proceedings, which territory, if effect can be given to the first paragraph of said section 4690, G. C., automatically becomes a part of the school district of such village or city. There is no provision of any statute now in force vesting in any court or administrative board or officer the authority to make a division of school funds and indebtedness, when territory is annexed to a village or city from one or more adjoining townships under authority of section 3558, et seq., of the General Code.

It is evident, however, that upon the filing, with the boards of education of your county school district, of a petition signed by at least fifty per cent. of the qualified electors residing in each of the several parts of the territory in question located respectively in the several township rural school districts, praying for the transfer of such part of said territory from the respective rural school district in which the same is located to the Akron city school district, your county board of education and the board of education of said city school district may act under authority of, and in the manner provided by, said section 4696, G. C., (106 O. L., 397), and in this way said territory can be made a part of said city school district and the equitable division of funds and indebtedness may be realized, provided such proceedings are had prior to the time the territory in question is annexed to said city by the aforesaid annexation proceedings.

I am of the opinion, therefore, in answer to your remaining questions, that while it cannot be said that said section 4690, G. C., is repealed by implication by the act of the general assembly (106 O. L., 396), in view of the provision of the latter part of said section authorizing the transfer of the title to the school property located in the territory proposed to be annexed, by agreement of the boards of education of the several school districts affected by such annexation, nevertheless if said boards fail to reach such an agreement, there is no way to effect such transfer other than that provided by section 4696, G. C., (106 O. L., 397), and in the manner therein set forth, and that in any event the only method of procedure whereby the equitable divisions of funds and indebtedness may be effected is that provided by said section 4696, G C.. and in the manner therein set forth.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1619.

MUNICIPAL CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION—FEES OF WITNESSES SUBPOENAED BY SAID COMMISSION ARE PAYABLE OUT OF COUNTY TREASURY.

Fees of witnesses subpoenaed by a municipal civil service commission in any hearing before it, when the same are duly certified by said commission and audited, are payable out of the county treasury.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 25, 1916.

HON. F. C. GOODRICH, Prosecuting Attorney, Troy, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your letter of May 22, 1916, as follows:

> "Sometime ago I wrote you in reference to the construction of the fifth division of section 486-7, O. L., 105-6, page 403, in reference to witness fees paid in civil service examinations, and in reply you sent me a copy of a decision that you had rendered the state civil service commission, and from this I gather that your holding would be that in our case the fees for witnesses could not be paid from the county fund, but in order to be sure I am giving you the state of facts as they exist in our case, and I wish you would definitely state whether or not we can pay these witness fees from the county treasury.
>
> "The chief of police and the chief of the fire department of our city were removed by the mayor the 1st of January, and new appointments made upon charges being preferred and sent to the civil service commission for investigation. The mayor furnished a list of witnesses to sustain his charges and the defendants furnished a list of witnesses in their defense, and these witnesses were subpoenaed upon request of both parties by the clerk and the civil service commission of Troy. The witnesses are now demanding their fees, and the clerk of the civil service commission has certified the fees to the county auditor.
>
> "It is my construction of this section that each party should pay their own witness fees, and the witnesses should have demanded their fees in advance before testifying, as provided by statute in other cases.
>
> "I wish you would advise me at once if my interpretation is correct, and if not, tell me what the true construction is."

The opinion to which you refer in your foregoing letter, being opinion No. 1497, holds in effect that when a civil service commission is requested by any party to a hearing before it to have certain witnesses summoned to testify it may or may not in its discretion summon said witnesses. If it does not summon the witnesses so requested by said party, the latter at his own expense may procure and offer said witnesses, but if the commission in compliance with said request summons said witnesses and certifies their fees for payment, said fees, when duly audited, then and thereby become payable out of the state treasury, if summoned by the state civil service commission, and out of the county treasury if summoned by a municipal civil service commission as provided in the fifth paragraph of section 486-7, G. C., as amended 106 O. L., 403, which provides as follows:

> "* * * Fees shall be allowed to witnesses, and on their certificate, duly audited, shall be paid by the state treasurer, or in the case of municipal commissions by the county treasurer, for attendance and traveling, as is provided in section 3012, of the General Code, for witnesses in courts of record."

From the facts stated in your foregoing letter it appears that the municipal civil service commission subpoenaed the witnesses in question at the request of the parties and that it thereafter certified their fees to the county auditor. It follows, therefore, that when such fees are duly audited they become and are payable out of the county treasury.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1620.

CANDIDATES—FEE REQUIRED BY SECTION 4970-1, G. C., 106 O. L., 548, MAY BE COMPUTED ONLY UPON SALARY OF OFFICE FIXED BY LAW AND NOT UPON ANY FEES TO WHICH INCUMBENT OF OFFICE MAY BE ENTITLED.

The fee required by section 4970-1, G. C., 106 O. L., 548, may be computed only upon the salary of the office fixed by law and not upon any fees to which the incumbent of the office may be entitled.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 25, 1916.

HON. FORREST G. LONG, Prosecuting Attorney, Bellefontaine, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Yours under date of May 10, 1916, is as follows:

> "Referring to section 4970-1 of the General Code, or 106 Ohio Laws, page 548, I would be much pleased to have your opinion as to what fee a candidate should pay when he files his declaration of candidacy for nomination for county office, in case the office pays a salary in part and fees in part, or fees only. In other words, where a county commissioner received a certain salary and fees in addition, what amount should he pay upon the filing of his declaration of candidacy as aforesaid, or in case of a coroner, where he received fees only, how and in what manner should the amount he is to pay upon the filing of his declaration be ascertained.
>
> "The term used by this statute is 'annual salary.' The amount, of course, can easily be ascertained where there is a fixed salary, but where there is a salary and fees, or fees only, I am undecided as to how to advise those who have asked me this question. Said section also provides that a candidate for certain office shall not be required to pay any fees, and the language at the end of said section is 'nor for office for which no salary is paid,' but I would take it that this means where there is no compensation. Am I right in this regard?"

That part of section 4970-1, G. C., 106 O. L., 548, necessary to be considered, is as follows:

> "At the time of filing the declaration of candidacy for nomination for any office, each candidate shall pay a fee of one-half of one per cent. of the annual salary for such office, but in no case shall such fee be more than twenty-five dollars. * * * No fee shall be required in the case of candidates for committeeman or delegate or alternate to a convention or for president or vice-president of the United States, nor for offices for which no salary is paid."

Your inquiry, in so far as the same relates to candidates for coroner, is answered in opinion No. 1186, of this department, addressed to Hon. Charles Q. Hildebrant secretary of state, under date of January 20, 1916, a copy of which opinion is herewith enclosed, and in which opinion it was held that section 4970-1, G. C., 106 O. L., 548, does not require the payment of any fee by candidates for the office of coroner.

As stated in that opinion, there is a well defined distinction genarally recognized between a salary or an annual salary for an office and a fee or perquisite to which an officer may legally be entitled by reason of the performance of certain services in the line of his duties as such officer. A salary is generally understood to mean, in the connection, a fixed sum of money authorized to be paid to an officer at fixed and regular intervals by reason of his incumbency of the office, without regard to the performance of specific duties, either in kind or amount. An annual salary is therefore a fixed sum of money to be paid to the incumbent of the office for or during the official year, or a sum to be paid during the official year in quarterly, monthly or other equal installments.

A salary is understood to mean a pre-determined amount for a stated period of time and an annual salary would be such fixed amount to be paid within the period of one official year. Fees for the performance of specific services are, in the nature of things, incapable of accurate pre-determination. The impracticability of anticipating the aggregate amount of fees which may accrue in a definite period of time would seem ample reason to justify the legislature in not seeking to require the payment of a fee upon a purely speculative basis and confining the requirement of the payment of a nominal fee to those offices the compensation of the incumbents of which is a fixed and certain amount.

I am therefore of the opinion, in answer to your further inquiry, that the fee required to be paid by the provisions of section 4870-1, G. C., 106 O. L., 548, may be calculated only on that fixed sum which is determined in advance and not dependent upon the performance of a particular class of the duties of the office. That is to say, the fee referred to may be computed only by the salary fixed by law, and not upon any fees which the officer may receive for the performance of specific duties.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1621.

DISAPPROVAL, PROPOSED SALE OF CERTAIN CANAL LANDS IN CITY OF AKRON TO B. F. GOODRICH COMPANY.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 25, 1916.

HON. FRANK R. FAUVER, Superintendent of Public Works, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of May 4, 1916, which communication reads as follows:

> "Herewith I transmit a memorandum of the sale of certain state canal lands in the city of Akron, Summit county, Ohio, as sold at public vendue on the 1st day of May, 1916, the same having been previously advertised for thirty days as required by law.
>
> "The law requires that the governor and attorney-general approve all sales of canal lands made by the superintendent of public works, and I therefore request your approval of said sale as required by the provisions of section 464 of the General Code."

I have examined your record of proceedings transmitted to me and find that the sale which I am asked to approve is being made to The B. F. Goodrich Company of Akron, Ohio, and that the principal tract of land which it is proposed to sell to said company is described as follows:

> "Known as being all the land owned by the state of Ohio between the produced south line of Cedar street in said city of Akron on the north, the north line of Bartges street in said city of Akron on the south, the west property line of The B. F. Goodrich Company and the west property line of The Philadelphia Rubber Company, on the east, and on the west, a line drawn parallel to the westerly line of the state canal property as established by the survey of G. F. Silliman, made under the direction of the state board of public works in the summer of 1912, and seventy-five (75) feet easterly therefrom, containing one hundred fourteen thousand (114,000) square feet;"

The authority of the superintendent of public works to make a sale of land in the vicinity of the plant of The B. F. Goodrich Company in the city of Akron, Ohio, was considered by this department in opinion No. 1113, rendered to you on December 20, 1915. This opinion was rendered in response to your request under date of November 5, 1915, which request contained the following statement:

> "The B. F. Goodrich Company has made application to the superintendent of public works for the purchase of the parcels of state land along the Ohio canal in the city of Akron, shown in yellow on the plat hereto attached, marked 'Exhibit A,' and made a part hereof."

The plat referred to by you and which is on file in this office, together with your communication of November 5, 1915, shows that the Ohio canal in the vicinity of the plant of the B. F. Goodrich Company, in the city of Akron, is at one point approximately 267 feet wide, there being at this point a basin or wide-water of substantial extent. It also appears from the plat in question that the strip of land which it was proposed to reserve for the state extended in a straight line from a point just south of Chestnut street to a point some distance south of Falor street. The proposed sale of land which I was called upon to consider in opinion No. 1113, referred to above, was a sale of a very narrow strip of land on the east side of the canal and a wide strip of land on the west side of the canal, at a point where the basin or wide-water now exists. I advised you in the opinion in question that in my opinion you were authorized by the provisions of section 412, G. C., to narrow the towing path embankment between Cedar street and Bartges street in the city of Akron, by the use of concrete retaining walls and to eliminate by the construction of a new berme bank so much of the basin to the west of the plant of The B. F. Goodrich Company as is not needed for canal purposes, and that when this narrowing process is completed a part of the land not occupied by the canal and its embankments might, under certain conditions, be sold but that in making a sale of such lands you should, under no circumstances, reduce the width of the state's property below its narrowest width at any adjacent point. It was pointed out that in view of the width of the state's property at other points within the city of Akron, the width should not be reduced at this point to less than seventy-five feet.

It appears from the proceedings which I am now asked to approve that it is proposed to sell that part of the basin or wide-water lying to the east of a line drawn parallel to the state's west property line and at a distance of seventy-five feet therefrom. In other words, the seventy-five foot strip of land reserved for the state is to be located along the west side of the basin instead of along the east side. I am satisfied, after a careful investigation, to approve a sale of the land which you are now proposing to sell to The B. F. Goodrich Company and that the seventy-five foot strip reserved for the state may as properly be reserved along the west side of the basin as along the east side thereof. However, for reasons set forth in opinion No. 1234 of this department, rendered to you on February 4, 1916, I am unable to approve the sale, on account of the form of the legal advertisement thereof.

On February 2, 1916, you addressed to me a communication calling my attention to opinion No. 1113, referred to above, and stating that you were of the opinion that the land referred to in that opinion and lying outside the seventy-five foot strip to be reserved by the state, should be offered for sale and that the B. F. Goodrich Company was willing, in case it was the successful bidder, to do all dredging and other work required in making necessary changes in the canal embankment, and was also willing to construct cement retaining walls on both sides of the canal where the same were not already in existence. It was further stated that the company was willing to do this work in addition to paying the state the amount of its bid and after observing that all bidders should be placed on the same terms, you inquired whether notice of these conditions should be embodied in the legal advertisement of the sale and requested me, if I should so hold, to suggest the proper language to be used in the legal advertisement in setting forth such conditions. In reply to your inquiry I advised you in opinion No. 1234, referred to above, that while you might properly sell the land in question and require the purchaser, in addition to the money consideration paid by him, to make the changes which you would be authorized to make under section 412, G. C., yet this proceeding could be properly carried forward only by including in the legal advertisement made under section 13971 of the appendix to the General Code of Ohio a full and complete statement of the conditions under which the land was offered for sale. Complying with your further request I suggest in this opinion a proper form in which to set forth in the legal advertisement the conditions in question.

I have been furnished with a copy of the advertisement in pursuance of which the land which it is now proposed to sell was offered, and find that the conditions in question, or similar conditions which must necessarily have obtained in the making of the sale, were not even referred to in such advertisement. I am therefore of the opinion, as hereinbefore indicated, that the sale in question should not be approved for the ground that proper legal advertisement of such sale was not made.

Under section 412, G. C., the superintendent of public works is authorized to make such alterations or changes in the public works of the state as he may deem proper in the discharge of his duties. I have heretofore advised you that this section confers a certain degree of authority upon you to narrow the embankments of the canals of the state and to eliminate basins not necessary for the storage of water or other purposes incident to the operation and use of the canals, by constructing a new embankment inside the line of the old and that when this narrowing process is completed a part of the land not occupied by the canal and its embankments may, under certain conditions, be sold. It is my opinion, however, that you are not authorized to sell without condition land actually occupied by the canal or its basins at the time of the sale, and upon the theory that there may thereafter be made by the state such changes as will result in a relocation of the embankment of the canal so that the property sold will be outside of the lip of the embankment.

On the contrary, it is my view that the conditions should be clearly set forth in the legal advertisement and these conditions would ordinarily be that the purchaser before taking possession of the land purchased, must at his own expense make all needed changes according to plans and specifications prepared or approved by you. If, for any reason, it is more desirable that the changes be made under your direct management and control, the conditions of the sale should be such that the state will be assured of receiving for the land sold the full value thereof, definitely ascertained and fixed, and the items of purchase price and cost of changes should not be mingled. If you have available sufficient funds with which to make the changes, and plans for the same have been prepared and the cost estimated, it would be proper to insert in the advertisement of sale a statement that the purchaser would be required, in addition to paying the full purchase price, to pay the estimated cost of making the changes and that if the cost of making the changes exceeds the estimate, the purchaser would also be required to pay the excess cost, and that the purchaser would not be entitled to possession of the premises sold until all such payments have been made and all such changes fully completed by the state, all of which conditions should, of course be fully set forth in the deed.

Should you desire to take action along the line herein suggested, I will be glad to examine the legal advertisement and advise you as to its sufficiency before the publication of the same, or to prepare the advertisement, if you so wish.

I am unable, however, for the reasons above stated, to approve the sale made by you, and am, therefore, returning your record of proceedings without my approval.

Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1622.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF RURAL SCHOOL DISTRICT—FUNDS MAY NOT BE EXPENDED IN ACQUIRING "RIGHT OF WAY" THROUGH PRIVATE PROPERTY FOR USE OF PUPILS WHO ARE REQUIRED TO BE TRANSPORTED.

The board of education of a rural school district may not expend the funds of the district in acquiring a "right of way" through private property for the use of pupils residing in the district and living more than two miles from the nearest school in said district, for the purpose of relieving itself of the duty of providing transportation for such pupils under provision of section 7731, G. C., 104 O. L., 140.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 25, 1916.

Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—In your letter of May 15th you request my opinion as follows:

> "May a board of education of a rural school district expend school funds in acquiring a 'right of way' through private property for school children, thus relieving the district of transportation charges for pupils attending the public schools of such district?
>
> "If school funds can be legally expended for such purpose, in many sections of the state the distance to the schools can be made less than two miles. The question in our mind is, whether such a privilege complies with the requirement of the law as to being a public highway, and whether or not pupils living more than two miles by a regularly established highway can be compelled to walk across fields to attend the public schools furnished such pupils by the board of education?"

While section 4749, G. C., is general in its terms and provides that the board of education of a school district, when properly organized, is a body politic and corporate, and as such, capable of acquiring, holding, possessing and disposing of real and personal property, this provision of said section 4749, G. C., should properly be read in connection with the provision of section 7624, G. C. (103 O. L., 466), in determining the purposes for which a board of education may acquire the title or an interest in real property.

Section 7624, G. C., provides:

> "When it is necessary to procure or enlarge a school site or to purchase real estate to be used for agricultural purposes, athletic field or play ground for children, and the board of education and the owner of the property needed for such purposes are unable to agree upon the sale and purchase thereof, the board shall make an accurate plat and description of the parcel of land which it desires for such purposes, and file them with the probate judge, or court of insolvency, of the proper county. Thereupon the same proceedings of appropriation shall be had which are provided for the appropriation of private property by municipal corporations."

It is clear that under provision of said section 7624, G. C., the board of education could not expend the funds of its district in acquiring a right of way through private property for the purpose mentioned in your inquiry.

I find no provision of any statute expressly authorizing a board of education to acquire such right of way and in view of the limitations expressed by the above provision of section 7624, G. C., as to the purpose for which such board may condemn the title to real property, I would be inclined to the opinion that said board would be without authority in law to expend the school funds for said purpose, even if by acquiring such right of way the purpose mentioned in your inquiry could be realized.

That such a purpose could not be realized is evident from a reading of the provisions of section 7731, G. C. (104 O. L., 140), which are as follows:

> "In all rural and village school districts where pupils live more than two miles from the nearest school the board of education shall provide transportation for such pupils to and from such school. The transportation for pupils living less than two miles from the school house, by the most direct public highway shall be optional with the board of education. When transportation of pupils is provided, the conveyance must pass within one-half mile of the respective residences of all pupils, except when such residences are situated more than one-half mile from the public road. When local boards of education neglect or refuse to provide transportation for pupils, the county board of education shall provide such transportation and the cost thereof shall be charged against the local school district."

Under provision of this latter statute it clearly appears that where a pupil, residing in a rural or village school district, lives more than two miles from the nearest school in such district, measured "by the most direct public highway," such pupil is entitled to transportation and the statute makes it the duty of the board of education to furnish the same.

Even if the board of education could acquire the right of way mentioned in your inquiry, such right of way would not be a "public highway" within the meaning of the above provision of the statute and the pupil in question could still insist on transportation being provided.

In the great majority of cases the privilege of pupils, residing in rural districts, to cross private property in reaching the school to which they are assigned is not denied by the owners of such property, and in such cases it might well be argued that the reason for the first part of section 7731, G. C., supra, would cease to exist.

The manifest purpose of the legislature, however, in enacting said provision of said section 7731, G. C., was to make the nearest school in the district more accessible to such pupils and to secure the regular attendance of such pupils at such school by requiring the board of education of the district to provide for their transportation and thus relieve them of the hardship which they would undergo if compelled to walk to said school along the public highway or across private property during stormy weather at times when traffic is rendered difficult on account of rain or snow or on account of the condition of the ground due to freezing and subsequent thawing out.

Inasmuch as the purpose mentioned in your inquiry for which the board of education would acquire the right of way therein referred to would not be realized to the extent of relieving the board of education of its duty, under the above provision of the first part of section 7731, G. C., and in the absence of any provision of the statute expressly authorizing the expenditure of school funds for such purpose, I am of the opinion that your question must be answered in the negative.

Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,

Attorney-General.

1623.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, CITY OF WARREN, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 26, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of the city of Warren, Ohio, in the sum of $1,500.00 for the purpose of erecting and equipping two additional buildings to the present detention hospital, being three bonds of five hundred dollars each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of council of the city of Warren, Ohio, and other officers relative to the above bond issue, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the form submitted and signed by the proper officers will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of the city of Warren, Ohio.

Respectfully.
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1624.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, CITY OF WARREN, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 26, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of the city of Warren, Ohio, in the sum of $4,000.00 to pay the cost and expense of purchasing land for the opening and establishing a new street from Dana avenue to Griswold street, being eight bonds of five hundred dollars each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of council of the city of Warren, Ohio, and other officers relative to the above bond issue, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the form submitted and signed by the proper officers will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of the city of Warren, Ohio.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1625.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, CITY OF WARREN, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 26, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of the city of Warren, Ohio, in the sum of $7,500.00 for constructing a storm water sewer in East Market street, being fifteen bonds of five hundred dollars each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of council of the city of Warren, Ohio, and other officers relative to the above bond issue, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the form submitted and signed by the proper officers will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of the city of Warren, Ohio.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1626.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, CITY OF WARREN, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 26, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of the city of Warren, Ohio, in the sum of $4,500.00 to secure funds for the city's portion of the cost and expense of constructing a new span at the south end of the bridge crossing the Mahoning river at South Main street, being nine bonds of five hundred dollars each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of council of the city of Warren, Ohio, and other officers relative to the above bond issue, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the form submitted and signed by the proper officers will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of the city of Warren, Ohio.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1627.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, CITY OF WARREN, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 26, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of the city of Warren, Ohio, in the sum of $12,500.00 to pay the city's share and cost of expense of paving and otherwise improving North Laird avenue to East Market street, and the construction of sanitary sewers in Walnut and Beaver streets, East South street and Maple street, and the construction of a sanitary trunk sewer in sewer subdivision 'C,' being twenty-five bonds of five hundred dollars each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of council of the city of Warren, Ohio, and other officers relative to the above bond issue, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds, drawn in accordance with the form submitted and signed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of the city of Warren, Ohio.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1628.

ROADS AND HIGHWAYS—OBSTRUCTION IN PUBLIC HIGHWAYS—WHO SHALL REMOVE SAID OBSTRUCTIONS—COUNTY COMMISSIONERS MAY PROCEED TO WIDEN HIGHWAY ALTHOUGH FRANCHISE HAS BEEN GRANTED FOR ELECTRIC RAILWAY UPON SUCH PUBLIC HIGHWAY.

When the conditions prescribed in section 7204, G. C., obtain as to obstructions in public highways, the person or company responsible for such conditions must remove said obstructions.

The mere fact that county commissioners have granted a franchise for the construction and operation of an electric railway upon a public highway does not preclude the commissioners from thereafter entertaining a proceeding to widen such highway.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 26, 1916.

HON. OTHO W. KENNEDY, Prosecuting Attorney, Bucyrus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I acknowledge the receipt of your recent communication in which you state that the county surveyor of your county, through one of his assistants, wrote to Hon. Clinton Cowen, state highway commissioner, relative to certain matters, requesting the state highway commissioner to obtain my opinion as to the matters in question and that the state highway commissioner replied that these matters would have to be taken up through the prosecuting attorney rather than through the state highway department. You enclose a copy of the letter from the county surveyor and request my opinion upon the matters therein set forth. The letter in question reads as follows:

"In pursuance of your order of March 30, 1915, directing us to make preliminary survey in Crawford county at the Galion-Bucyrus road, I. C. H. No. 201, we find, on making survey, it will be quite impossible to locate the new improvement on the center line of the highway at present, owing to the occupancy of a portion of the north half of the highway by the track of the Cleveland, Southwestern and Columbus Railway, which is an electric line. At certain points the rail is laid within 13 feet from the center line of the highway.

"We find that either the track will have to be shifted, or the improvement placed 10 feet or more south of the center line of the highway to make room for the ditch and slopes between the track and the improvement. In the latter case ditch slopes on the south side will extend beyond the property line, and upon private property, a distance of 10 feet or more.

"We have taken up the matter with the railway company, with a view toward inducing them to procure private right of way. But the company claims to have certain rights upon the highway where now located, and claims to have a perpetual franchise, but submits that it is willing to shift the track a few feet.

"The questions which present themselves to us, and which we should be pleased to have you submit to the attorney-general for opinion are these:

"(1) What rights has the company within the highway under the terms of the franchise?

"(2) When does the franchise expire?

"(3) Can the county commissioners legally grant to an individual or railroad compny a franchise wherein the grantee acquires certain exclusive rights in the highway that will exclude or interfere with public improvements sought to be made according to a general plan?

"(4) Can the company be compelled to shift its tracks; if so, how far?

"(5) What rights would the county commissioners have to acquire additional lands for road purposes, in view of having granted such franchise?

"With a view toward the solution of the questions involved we enclose herewith a copy of the franchise, together with county commissioners' proceedings in connection therewith."

The franchise referred to by the county surveyor was granted by the county commissioners of Crawford county on September 29, 1896. The grantees, their heirs, successors or assigns are, by the terms of the franchise, authorized to construct, operate and maintain on the Bucyrus and Galion road a railroad operated by electricity or any other motive power except steam power and it is provided that the rail of said railroad next to the center of said Bucyrus and Galion road shall be 15 feet from the center thereof, except switches and turnouts. The grantees, their heirs, successors or assigns are also authorized to construct, operate and maintain all necessary switches, turnouts, crossings, polls, feed wires, span wires, trolley wires and appurtenances. All side tracks, switches and turnouts must be filled between the rails with some hard substance where the same encroach upon the roadway so as not to impede the public in driving vehicles over the road. Poles must be so placed as not to obstruct the travel on said highway or at any public or private driveways. All natural waterways must be protected and all public and private driveways must be planked, or so filled as to make a convenient and safe crossing across the tracks of said railroad.

The granting clause of the resolution of the county commissioners reads as follows:

> "We, the commissioners of Crawford county, Ohio, do hereby grant to said Wm. E. Haycox, of Mansfield, Ohio, and said Fred B. Perkins, of Toledo, Ohio, said grantees, their heirs, successors or assigns, the right and privilege to construct, maintain and operate said railroad as above described to convey passengers, freight, baggage, express, United States mail, and all other business coming to said railroad as long as said right of way is used for railroad purposes, from the date of these presents."

It is also provided that in case said railroad is abandoned, the right of way shall be restored to its former condition.

The first question set forth in the above quoted letter is too general to admit of a specific answer. It can only be observed, in answer to the same, that the Cleveland, Southwestern and Columbus Railway Company, assuming that said company is the assignee of the original grantee, is entitled under the terms of the franchise to maintain and operate, at some point within the limits of the highway in question, a railroad operated by electricity or any other motive power, except steam power, together with the necessary switches, turnouts, crossings, polls, feed wires, span wires, trolley wires and other necessary appurtenances.

An answer to your third and fourth questions will necessarily involve a full statement of the rights and liabilities of the railway company, unless indeed it is proposed to attempt to compel the company to entirely remove its tracks from the highway in question. In other words, a discussion of the length of the franchise and of the methods in which the same may be terminated can only be of interest in connection with the problem confronting the authorities of your county in case the county authorities seek to terminate the franchise of the company and its occupancy of this highway. It may be that the powers of the authorities charged with the improvement of this road, as outlined in my answer to your third and fourth questions, will be sufficient to accomplish all that is desired. If such does not prove to be the case, an opinion covering your second question will be prepared, but in that event I would expect a brief from you upon the matter.

Coming now to consider your third and fourth questions, a very similar matter was presented to this department by Hon. Clinton Cowen, state highway commissioner, and was considered in an opinion rendered to him on the 22nd day of September, 1915. The state highway commissioner was proposing to improve a section of highway upon which were located the tracks of the Columbus, Delaware and Marion Railway Company, the franchise of the company being a renewal of a pre-existing franchise and containing a provision to the effect that the tracks of the company should be and remain as located at the time the renewal franchise was granted and there was no provision in the franchise by which the authorities charged with the care of the road in question were authorized to require the company to move its tracks. The tracks were located about 12 feet east of the center line of the highway and the state highway commissioner inquired as to whether, under any existing statutes, authority existed to force the Columbus, Delaware and Marion Railway Company to move its tracks to the center line of the road and as to whether public funds might legally be expended to pay in whole or in part the cost of moving such tracks, or whether the railway company could be compelled to pay the entire cost of such work. In that case the tracks of the company were located as provided by the terms of its franchise, while in the case now under consideration the tracks of the company are located nearer to the center of the highway than is permitted under the terms of its franchise. It was pointed out in the opinion in question that the law applicable to such cases is now found in section 161 of the Cass highway law, being section 7204, G. C., which section reads as follows:

"It shall be the duty of the owners or occupants of land situated along the highways to remove all obstructions within the bounds of the highways which have been placed there either by themselves or their agents, or with their consent. It shall be the duty of all telephone, telegraph, steam or electric railway, or other electrical companies, oil, gas, water, or public service companies of any kind, to remove their poles and wires, connected therewith, or any tracks, switches, spurs, or oil, gas or water pipes, mains, conduits or other objects when the same, in the opinion of the county highway superintendent constitute obstructions in the highway or interfere with the construction, improvement, maintenance, or repair of the highway or use thereof, by the traveling public, subject, however, to the rights of any such company to be or remain in such highway, by virtue of any grant or franchise to said company. If, in the opinion of the county highway superintendent, such companies have obstructed said highway, said highway superintendent shall forthwith notify the county commissioners who shall cause notice to be served on said owner, occupant or company, directing the removal of said obstructions and if said owner, occupant or company shall not within five days proceed to remove said obstruction and complete the same within a reasonable time, the county highway superintendents, upon order of the county commissioners may remove said obstructions. The expense thereby incurred shall be paid in the first instance out of money levied and collected and available for highway purposes, and the amount thereof shall be certified to the proper officials to be placed upon the tax duplicate against the property of such owner, occupant or company, as provided by law, to be collected as other taxes, and the proper fund shall be reimbursed out of the money so collected, or the cost of removing such obstructions may be collected from the owner, occupant or company by civil action by the county commissioners or township trustees.

"All such persons, firms or corporations shall be required to reconstruct or relocate their properties or any part thereof upon such public highway, upon the order of the proper authorities if in the opinion of such authorities the same constitute an obstruction in such public highway."

The following quotation from the opinion in question, being opinion No. 855 follows a reference to the above quoted section:

"The above section defines the policy of the state which now controls its relation to railway companies occupying public roads with tracks which may constitute an obstruction to any improvement of said roads and said section places the entire cost of removing and relocating said tracks upon the companies which own the same.

"It may be, and doubtless will be contended, however, by the company in question that the enforcement of the provisions of the section just quoted as against it would be an unconstitutional application thereof, in that it would contravene the provisions of section 28 of article II of the constitutuon providing against the enactment of any laws impairing the obligations of contracts. A franchise such as the one under which this company is now located upon this highway and operating its railroad thereon, is frequently denominated and termed a contract and is commonly so regarded, but in a strictly legal sense it is only a right or privilege granted in this instance by the state through its duly constituted agents, the board of county commissioners of Franklin county, upon such terms and conditions as were fixed by said commissioners and it is a right which can only be exercised by reason of the grant thus made. Sections 9101 and 9113, G. C.

"The terms and conditions, however, of this franchise, as fixed by said county commissioners, are subject to the limitation that said commissioners could not in any manner or degree surrender or alienate that governmental power of the state which is required to exist for the welfare of the public, which welfare and right to use said public road is the paramount right in this case. This power so reserved and which said commissioners could not alienate is known as the police power of the state. Referring to this reserved governmental power, Elliott on streets and roads, section 939, says:

" 'The general rule is well settled that no contract can be made which assumes to surrender or alienate a strictly governmental power which is required to exist for the welfare of the public. To what extent it prevails as against chartered rights which are protected as rights flowing from a contract it is not possible to say with certainty and precision, but we believe that it may be fully affirmed that the power extends so far as to require the private corporation to yield to the public welfare in the matter of the reasonable regulation of roads and streets.'

"The rights and privileges granted as aforesaid under said franchise are subject to still further limitations which are reserved to the state by section 2 of the bill of rights and section 2 of article XIII of the constitution. By the provisions of the first section noted no special privileges or immunities shall ever be granted that may not be altered, revoked or repealed by the general assembly. Under the last quoted section it is provided that corporations may be formed under general laws, but all such laws may from time to time be altered or repealed.

"Without attempting to cite the many decisions of both federal and state courts in which the scope and effect of the foregoing constitutional provisions are considered and applied to the franchise rights of corporations, in many of which cases said rights have been set aside or additional burdens have been imposed on the owners thereof, it is sufficient to say that in my judgment they amply sustain the right of the state through its legislature to impose the provisions of said section 161, supra, upon railway and other compamies occupying public roads when said conditions exist as therein prescribed.

"It further must be observed that these constitutional reservations above noted are as much a part of the franchise granted by the agents of the state as they would be if actually made a part thereof and written therein. Railroad Company v. Defiance, 52 O. S., 314. However, as before observed, regardless of the application of these constitutional provisions the police power of the state cannot be alienated and the existence of this power must be preserved for the well being of organized society, and when exercised in a reasonable manner by the state cannot be said to impair the obligation of contracts."

The conclusion expressed in the opinion from which the above is quoted was that under the provisions of said section 7204, G. C., the company might be compelled to relocate its tracks and move them to the center of the highway, provided the conditions prescribed in the statute obtained in the case of the company in question and that the expense of such removal must be paid by the company and that no public funds might be used for that purpose.

I take it that you are interested in an answer to your third question only in so far as the same may bear upon the actual facts submitted and that this question is sufficiently answered in the conclusion as to your fourth question, in reply to which I advise you that if the conditions referred to in section 7204, G. C., obtain, that is to say, if the tracks of the railway company constitutes obstructions in the highway or interfere with the proposed improvement of the same or use thereof by the traveling public, then the company may be required, in the manner pointed out in the section in question, to remove its tracks to a new location within the limits of said highway.

Your fifth question is to be answered without reference to the fact that the franchise in question has been granted and is held by the company. In other words, the mere fact that county commissioners have granted a franchise for the construction and operation of an electric railway upon a public highway, does not preclude the county commissioners from thereafter entertaining a proceeding to widen such highway. The jurisdiction of the commissioners in respect to widening the highway in question is the same as it would be if no franchise for the construction and operation of the electric railway upon said highway had ever been granted. Proceedings for the widening of roads other than inter-county highways and main market roads are governed by the provisions of chapter I of the Cass highway law, but that chapter has no application to inter-county highways and main market roads. Where it is desired to widen an inter-county highway or main market road, the proper procedure is outlined in chapter VIII of the Cass highway law, and the county commissioners or township trustees making the application for a proposed improvement must furnish the requisite additional right of way, in the manner pointed out in that chapter, provided the improvement is to be constructed with local co-operation, and the state highway commissioner must procure such additional right of way where he proposes to improve a road without the co-operation of the county commissioners or township trustees. The procedure is outlined by sections 194 and 195 of the Cass highway law, being sections 1201 and 1202, G. C.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1629.

ROADS AND HIGHWAYS—EXPENSES OF ASSISTANTS APPOINTED UNDER SECTION 1219, G. C., ENGAGED IN MAKING SURVEYS AND PLANS—HOW APPORTIONED—EXPENSES OF ASSISTANTS, SUPERINTENDENTS AND INSPECTORS APPOINTED BY PROVISIONS OF ABOVE SECTION ENGAGED IN WORK OF SUPERVISION AND INSPECTION—HOW APPORTIONED.

The actual and necessary expenses and other similar expenses incurred by assistants appointed under section 1219, G. C., and engaged in making of surveys and plans, are to be equally divided between the state and the county or township on whose application the improvement is being made.

The necessary traveling expenses and other similar expenses of assistants, superintendents and inspectors appointed under section 1219, G. C., and employed in the work of supervision and inspection, after the contract for the improvement has been let, are to be paid by the state and the county or township on whose application the improvement is being made and should be divided in the same proportion as the cost of construction.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 27, 1916.

The Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—I have your communication of May 20, 1916, which communication reads as follows:

"We are submitting herewith letter to this department from Hon. Meeker Terwilliger, prosecuting attorney of Pickaway county, Ohio, and would ask your written opinion upon the questions therein propounded."

Mr. Terwilliger's questions may be phrased as follows:

"Who should pay the traveling expenses and other similar expenses of assistants, superintendents and inspectors appointed by the county highway superintendent under authority of section 1219, G. C., and engaged upon state work?"

The answer to this question is to be found in the provisions of the section in question. It is provided that the expense of surveys and plans shall be equally divided between state and county, except where the improvement is made on the application of township trustees, in which case the expenses of surveys and plans shall be equally divided between the state and township. It is further provided that the expense of supervision and inspection shall be apportioned on the same basis as the cost of construction.

In view of these povisions I advise you that the actual and necessary traveling expenses and other similar expenses incurred by assistants in the making of surveys and plans should be equally divided between the state and the county or township on whose application the improvement is being made. The necessary traveling expenses and other similar expenses of assistants, superintendents and inspectors employed in the work of supervision and inspection, after the contract for the improvement has been let, should be paid by the state and the county or township on whose application the improvement is being made and should be divided in the same proportion as the cost of construction.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1630.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, VILLAGE OF CHICAGO JUNCTION.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 29, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of Chicago Junction, as follows:—

"(a) Village's portion of the cost of improving Maple street, $4,700.00, being one bond of $200.00 and nine bonds of $500.00 each.

"(b) Special assessment bonds for the improvement of Maple street, $9,685.20, being ten bonds of $968.52 each.

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the council and other officers of the village of Chicago Junction relative to the above bond issues, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the form submitted and executed by the proper officers will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of the village of Chicago Junction, Ohio.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1631

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, VILLAGE OF CHICAGO JUNCTION.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 27, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of the village of Chicago Junction, as follows:—

"(a) Village's portion of improving Woodbine street, $2,500.00, being 5 bonds of $500.00 each.

"(b) Assessment bonds for the improvement of Woodbine street, $5,259.34, being ten bonds of $525.93 each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the council and other officers of the village of Chicago Junction relative to the above bond issue, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the form submitted and executed by the proper officers will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of the village of Chicago Junction. Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1632

SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC WORKS—FORM OF LEGAL ADVERTISEMENT FOR SALE OF CANAL LANDS—B. F. GOODRICH COMPANY.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 29, 1916.

HON. FRANK R. FAUVER, Superintendent of Public Works, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of May 27, 1916, which communication reads as follows:

"Herewith I am transmitting a form of advertisement to be used in connection with the sale of certain state canal lands at Akron, Ohio, as applied for by The B. F. Goodrich Company.

"In order to make sure of having it in proper form, we will greatly appreciate it if you will go over the same, and if satisfactory approve the same, otherwise, make such suggestions as to changes as you may deem necessary. We are anxious to have your opinion by noon Monday, the 29th inst."

The form of advertisement submitted by you is as follows:

"Sale of State Lands.

"The superintendent of the public works of the state of Ohio, acting for and on behalf of said state, will offer for sale, at public vendue, at the door of the courthouse, in the city of Akron, Summit county, Ohio, at 12 o'clock, noon, on the 29th day of June, 1916, the following described real estate, situated in the city of Akron, Summit county, Ohio, to-wit:

"Known as being all the land owned by the state of Ohio between the produced south line of Cedar street in said city of Akron on the north, the north line of Bartges street in said city of Akron on the south, the west property line of The B. F. Goodrich Company and the west property line of The Philadelphia Rubber Company, on the east and, on the west, a line drawn parallel to the westerly line of the state canal property as established by the survey of G. F. Silliman, made under the direction of the state board of public works in the summer of 1912, and seventy-five (75) feet easterly therefrom containing one hundred and fourteen thousand (114,000) square feet; and also the rectangular strip of land twenty (20) feet in width and fifty (50) feet in length easterly and near to lock one of said Ohio canal, on which parcel of land 'The Canal Collector's Office,' so-called, now stands, said parcel of land being bounded on the north, east and south by lands of The B. F. Goodrich Company, and westerly by the west property line, at or near said lock one, of said The B. F. Goodrich Company, produced the entire length of said parcel of land and containing one thousand (1,000) square feet.

"The superintendent of public works, under the power and authority vested in him by section 412 of the General Code of Ohio, has changed the location of the Ohio canal to the westerly seventy-five foot strip of canal land, from the produced southerly line of Cedar street to the northerly line of Bartges street, in said city of Akron, reserved for the state for the use, maintenance and operation of the Ohio canal.

"The superintendent of public works has prepared and approved plans and specifications providing for and showing all the alterations and changes necessary in making said change of location. In accordance with said plans and specifications, which will be on file in the office of the superintendent of the public works on and after the 15th day of June, A. D., 1916, for inspection, it will be necessary to dredge out a new channel for the canal, change certain bridges, construct a new towing path on the easterly side of such new channel, change the 'Guard lock' from its present location to a point south of said Bartges street and make some change in the grade of Falor street. The estimated cost of making such alterations and changes is $5,000.00.

"The successful bidder at the sale herein advertised, before taking possession of the land purchased, must,at his own cost and expense, in addition to paying the full purchase price of the real estate herein described, make all changes required by said plans and specifications and under the control, direction, supervision, and to the satisfaction and approval of the superintendent of the public works. All said conditions shall also be fully set forth in the deed to the purchaser.

"Said land has been appraised at the sum of forty six thousand six hundred sixty-six dollars and sixty-six one hundredths ($46,666.66), and no bid for less than three-fourths of said appraisement will be considered.

"Terms, cash on day of sale.

"----------

"Superintendent Public Works of Ohio."

The above form of legal advertisement appears to have been prepared in accordance with the former opinions of this department and is, in my opinion, sufficient. Inasmuch as at least thirty days' notice of the sale must be given, this notice should be published today in order to authorize a sale on the 29th day of June next.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General

1633.

TAX MAPS—COUNTY COMMISSIONERS NOT AUTHORIZED TO EMPLOY PERSON OTHER THAN COUNTY SURVEYOR FOR PURPOSE OF CORRECTING AND KEEPING UP TO DATE AN EXISTING SET OF TAX MAPS OF COUNTY—SEE OPINION No. 844, RENDERED SEPTEMBER 20, 1915, AS TO WHO CAN MAKE TAX MAPS.

County commissioners are not authorized to employ any person other than the county surveyor for the purpose of correcting and keeping up to date an existing set of tax maps of the county.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 29, 1916.

HON. PERRY SMITH, Prosecuting Attorney, Zanesville, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—In your communication under date of March 28, 1916, you state that the county commissioners of Muskingum county have made a contract for the tax map work of the county and enclose a copy of the contract. The contract in question, which you state has been entered upon the journal of the county commissioners, reads as follows.

"CONTRACT AND AGREEMENT

Made and entered into between James Buchanan, Samuel Frazier and Alfred Kelly, as commissioners of Muskingum county, Ohio, and John Dennis, of Zanesville, Ohio.

"WITNESSETH, Whereas, that we enter into contract with Mr. John Dennis for taking care of the county tax maps of our county, commencing March 1, 1916, and ending March 1, 1917, at a salary of $75.00 per month, payable monthly, and said John Dennis on his part agrees to faithfully perform all the duties reqiured of him in said capacity, upon the performance of which the said county commissioners hereby agree to pay him the above amount stipulated.

"The duties of the said John Dennis are, according to the rules and regulations laid down by the county commissioners, and the county recorder and the county auditor, and that at all times he shall be under the jurisdiction of the above mentioned parties.

"ALL MAPS belonging to said county to be checked up and kept up to date in every respect. All maps to be checked over and to be reported to the county auditor and county recorder at least once every two weeks.

"Now if the said John Dennis in contract for taking care of the county tax maps abides by the above agreement well and good, otherwise this contract is null and void.

"In Witness hereby, we have hereunto set our hands in duplicate, this the first day of March, 1916.

"(Signed) JAMES BUCHANAN,
"ALFRED KELLY,
"County Commissioners.
"(Signed) JOHN S. DENNIS,
"Contractor."

You call my attention to opinion No. 844, of this department, rendered to the bureau of inspection and supervision of public offices, on September 20, 1915,, in answer to the following questions among others:

"1. Does the annual salary provided by section 138 of the act above referred to cover services rendered by the county surveyor in the making of tax maps under the provisions of section 5551 and 5552, General Code?

"1-A. In view of the provisions of section 138 of the act, to the effect that the county surveyor shall give his entire time and attention to the duties of his office, may the county commissioners still appoint the county surveyor as tax map draftsman? If not, may they employ some other competent person?"

In a discussion of these questions the following language was used in the opinion in question:

"Coming to your questions 1 and 1-A, which will be considered together, it will be necessary to examine sections 5549, 5550, 5551 and 5552, the Warnes law and the Parrett-Whittemore law in connection with the above quoted statutes.

"The maps provided for in sections 5549 and 5550 were for the use of the assessors in making the quadrennial assessment. This scheme of assessment was repealed by the Warnes law, and sections 5549 and 5550 were repealed by implication when section 41 of the Warnes law (section 5620, G. C., 103 O. L. 797), was enacted and the duty of providing such maps was cast upon the district assessor.

"This section of the Warnes law (section 41, G. C., 5620), will be in effect until January 1, 1916, when all of the provisions of the Parrett-Whittemore law (106 O. L., 786), will become effective.

"The same maps which might have been made under sections 5549 and 5550 also could have been made under sections 5551 and 5552; that is to say, that while sections 5549 to 5552 were all in effect, the county commissioners may have pursued either course as to the making of the maps, though only under 5551 and 5552 where they also wanted the maps kept up to date. The maps to be made under section 5551 and 5552 were 'a complete set of tax maps for the county.' Such maps were for the use of the board of equalization and the auditor. The Warnes law abolished the board of equalization. Section 93 of the Parrett-Whittemore law, G. C., 5589, 106 O. L., 270, provides:

" 'The county commissioners shall furnish for the county board of revision in each county, and its experts, clerks and employes, suitable office rooms at the county seat and shall furnish the county auditor for his own office and for the county board of revision all maps, plats, stationery, blank forms, books, supplies, furniture and other equipment necessary for the proper discharge of its duties and for the preservation and safe keeping of its books, records and files. Provided, however, that the maps, plats, stationery, blank forms and other supplies and equipment used by the county auditor shall, so far as practicable, be used only by the county board of revision.'

"This section will become operative January 1, 1916, and will supersede all other authority for the making of future tax maps. Sections 5551 and 5552 have never been expressly repealed, but their operative effect will be limited to the tax maps referred to in said section 93, G. C., 5589, after January 1, 1916.

"When this last mentioned section becomes operative the county commissioners will have the option of either appointing the county surveyor to make the maps or of contracting with outside parties, but not of doing both. That is to say, that as the law now stands the county commissioners may appoint the county surveyor to make, correct and keep up to date a complete set of tax maps for the county. The county commissioners may not now have this work done by any one save the county surveyor and his assistants. After January 1, 1916, the county commissioners may have the tax maps made by either the county surveyor and his assistants or by outside parties, but not by both. In other words, one set of maps is required but two sets are not authorized.

"Section 5551, G. C., provides:

" 'The board of county commissioners may appoint the county surveyor, who shall employ such number of assistants as are necessary not exceeding four to provide for making, correcting, and keeping up to date a complete set of tax maps of the county. Such maps shall show all original lots and parcels of land, and all divisions, subdivisions and allotments thereof, with the name of the owner of each original lot or parcel and of each division, subdivision or lot, all new divisions, subdivisions or allotments made in the county, all transfers of property showing the lot or parcel of land transferred, the name of the grantee, and the date of the transfer, so that such maps shall furnish the auditor, for entering on the tax duplicate, a correct and proper description of each lot or parcel of land offered for transfer. Such maps shall be for the use of the board of equalization and the auditor, and be kept in the office of the county auditor.'

"Section 5552, G. C., provides:

" 'The board of county commissioners shall fix the salary of the draughtsman at not to exceed two thousand dollars per year. They shall likewise fix the number of assistants not to exceed four, and fix the salary of such assistants at not to exceed fifteen hundred dollars per year. The salaries of the draughtsman and assistants shall be paid out of the county treasury in the manner as the salary of other county officers are paid.

"Section 5551 does not impose a positive duty upon the county surveyor. It authorizes the county commissioners under certain conditions to impose a duty on the incumbent of the surveyor's office. In other words, the making, correcting and keeping up to date of tax maps is not necessarily, but may by action of the county commissioners be made one of the duties of the county surveyor. If this action is taken by the county commissioners, then it is their duty to provide a compensation for this additional work and I am of the opinion that the county surveyor may receive it in addition to the salary provided for in section 138 of the Cass law above quoted.

"I am impelled to this conclusion not only from a consideration of the Cass law and the deliberate leaving unrepealed of sections 5551 and 5552, but as well from considerations of public economy. The tax maps must be made. The commissioners may not compel the surveyor to make them without providing a compensation therefor. If the county surveyor does not make the maps, then the commissioners must contract with outside parties for the work, in all probability at a greater cost and without the benefit of having the tax maps kept up to date."

Your inquiry of March 28th leaving some doubt as to the exact question upon which you desired my opinion, I requested you to more fully state the same, and in reply to his request I have your communication of May 11, 1916, from which it appears that you desire my opinion upon the following questions:

First. May the county commissioners employ any person other than the county surveyor for the purpose of correcting and keeping up to date a complete set of tax maps of the county?

Second. If the above question is answered in the affirmative, may such contract of employment be made without competitive bidding?

I agree with your observation that the contract between the board of county commissioners of Muskingum county and John Dennis, as set forth above, is one for the correcting and keeping up to date of a set of tax maps and is not a contract for the making of a new set of maps. As indicated in opinion No. 844, a part of which is quoted above, the commissioners are now required, under section 93, of the Parrett-Whittemore law, section 5589, G. C., to furnish the county auditor for his own office and for the county board of revision all maps and plats that may be necessary with the qualification that the maps and plats used by the county auditor shall, so far as practicable, be used also by the county board of revision.

It was further pointed out in the opinion in question that this section supersedes all other authority for the making of future tax maps. As indicated in that opinion the county commissioners may now perform the duty of furnishing maps and plats in two ways; they may under authority of sections 5551 and 5552, G. C., require the county surveyor to correct and keep up to date a complete set of tax maps of the county provided they fix a compensation to be paid to the county surveyor for such services. If they do not exercise the authority conferred by sections 5551 and 5552 G. C., and appoint the county surveyor as tax map draftsman and fix his compensation, then the commissioners must contract with outside parties for the making of tax maps.

I think the reasoning of opinion No. 844 indicates the answer that must be made to your first question, and that where county commissioners elect to discharge the duty of furnishing maps and plats enjoined upon them by section 5589, G. C., by correcting and keeping up to date an existing set of tax maps of the county, then they must act in the manner pointed out in sections 5551 and 5552, G. C., and must appoint the county surveyor as tax map draftsman.

The first question above set forth must therefore be answered in the negative and I advise you that the county commissioners are not authorized to employ any person other than the county surveyor for the purpose of correcting and keeping up to date an existing set of tax maps of the county.

The answer to your first question makes it unnecessary to consider your second.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1634.

HUMANE OFFICER—APPOINTED FOR "THE ENSUING YEAR"—HOW LONG SUCH OFFICER IS ENTITLED TO RECEIVE COMPENSATION.

Under an appointment of a humane officer made by a humane society for "the ensuing year" approved by the probate judge of the county, under the provisions of section 10071, G. C., county commissioners are bound to provide compensation for a period of one year under the provisions of section 10072, G. C.

Such obligation is at an end when the term for which the officer was appointed expires.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 29, 1916.

HON. OTHO W. KENNEDY, Prosecuting Attorney, Bucyrus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Your request for an opinion is as follows:

"In Crawford county we have what is known as the Crawford county humane society, with its office located in the city of Galion, this county.

This organization was duly organized about the year 1904. The society had divers meetings from time to time, and on the 9th day of July, 1913, at the regular annual meeting of said society, they elected a humane officer for Crawford County, for the ensuing year. The appointee was duly sworn on the 10th day of July, 1913. On the 11th day of July, 1913, this appointment was approved by the mayor of the city of Galion, Ohio. On the 30th day of July, 1913, this appointment was approved by the probate court of Crawford county, Ohio. All proceedings thus far appear to be regular.

"You will note from the foregoing that this humane officer was elected on the 9th day of July, 1913,for the ensuing year, which would seem to mean for the period of one year immediately following the above date. No action whatever has been taken by the society since that date toward appointing a humane officer, or reappointing this same officer, the society apparently relying upon the proposition that it was not necessary to appoint a man every year, although this man was appointed for a period of but one year at the time, contending that he would hold his position until his successor would be elected and qualified.

"This officer has been presenting his bills to the county, and the county has been paying same until within the last three or four months; when it refused to pay the same for the reason that said appointee's term had expired, and that he is not now such humane officer. In other words, the commissioners contend that he does not hold his position of office until his successor is elected and qualified, but only for a period of one year, the time for which he was appointed.

"I desire your opinion as to whether or not the county is legally obligated to pay this humane officer at the present time, under the above statement of facts. An early reply will be appreciated."

Sections 10070, 10071 and 10072 of the General Code, provide for the appointment of an agent of such society, prescribe his duties and the manner in which the county or municipality may compensate such agent. The sections referred to are as follows:

"Sec. 10070. Such societies may appoint agents who are residents of the county or municipality for which the appointment is made, for the purpose of prosecuting any person guilty of an act of cruelty to persons or animals, who may arrest any person found violating any provision of this chapter, or any other law for protecting persons or animals or preventing acts of cruelty thereto. Upon making such arrest, such agent shall convey the person so arrested before some court or magistrate having jurisdiction of the offense, and there forthwith make complaint on oath or affirmation of the offense.

"Sec. 10071. All appointments by such societies under the next preceding section shall have the approval of the mayor of the city or village for which they are made. If the society exists outside of a city or village, appointments shall be approved by the probate judge of the county for which they are made. The mayor or probate judge shall keep a record of such appointments."

"Sec. 10072. Upon the approval of the appointment of such an agent by the mayor of the city or village, the council thereof shall pay monthly to such agent or agents from the general revenue fund of the city or village, such salary as the council deems just and reasonable. Upon the approval of the appointment of such an agent by the probate judge of the county, the county commissioners shall pay monthly to such agent or agents, from the general revenue fund of the county, such salary as they deem just and reasonable. The commissioners, and the council of such city or village may agree upon the amount each is to pay such agent or agents monthly. The amount of salary to be paid monthly by the council of the village to such agent shall not be less than five dollars, by the council of the city not less than twenty dollars, and by the commissioners of the county not less than twenty-five dollars. But not more than one agent in each county shall receive remuneration from the county commissioners under this section."

It is specifically stated in your letter that the humane officer for Crawford county referred to having been elected on the 9th day of July, 1913, by the Crawford county humane society for "the ensuing year," and in accordance with the provisions of sections 10071 and 10072 of the General Code, supra, and the approval of the mayor of the city of Galion and the probate judge of Crawford county followed, the question for consideration is as to whether or not the humane officer referred to is entitled to receive compensation for the entire period from the date of his election up to the present time.

You state in your letter that until within the last three or four months the county commissioners have been making monhtly payments to him but have now refused to continue the same, contending that his election was for a definite period of one year. No where in the law is there any provision fixing a definite term of office for an agent of a humane society which the society is authorized to appoint subject to the approval of the mayor of a municipality and the probate judge of the county in which the society exists.

In an opinion of my predecessor, addressed to the state civil sevice commission Columbus, Ohio, under date of April 24, 1914, Mr. Hogan held that:

"The humane agent is an employe of the humane society, a corporation. He is engaged in a public duty, and for performing that duty the county or municipality is authorized to pay him a compensation. He is not, in my opinion, in the service of the state, county or city within the meaning of section 1 of the civil service act. Humane agents, therefore, are not subject to civil service regulations."

This opinion is to be found on page 503 of the Annual Report of the Attorney-General for 1914, Vol. I.

In an opinion of attorney-general Denman, under date of October 13, 1910, addressed to Honorable George G. Barnes, prosecuting attorney, Georgetown, Ohio, to be found on page 891 of the Report of the Attorney-General for 1910 and 1911, the question of the term of office of the humane society agent was under consideration, the same sections of the General Code being involved. In the opinion it was held as follows:

"Nowhere in the General Code have I been able to find any provision as to the tenure of office of these agents. The mere fact that the appointment must be approved by certain local officers is inconclusive. The general rule is that appointments authorized to be made for terms not limited are at the pleasure of the appointing authority.

"I am, therefore, of the opinion that, unless otherwise provided at the time of the appointment, a humane society agent holds his position at the pleasure of the society appointing him, and of the mayor or probate judge, as the case may be."

Section 10072 of the General Code, supra, upon the approval by the probate judge of the appointment of a humane agent, fixes upon the county an obligation to pay reasonable compensation, subject to the limitation that it shall not be less than twenty-five dollars per month. The action of the probate judge in approving the appointment of the humane officer under consideration fixed an obligation upon the county commissioners of Crawford county to pay such humane officer at least $300.00. in monthly sums of not less than $25.00. This obligation was specific and the humane officer would have been entitled to institute an action to recover the same, However, at the expiration of the year for which he was appointed, no further obligation rested on the county commissioners under the approval of the probate judge previously given for the appointment of the humane officer for the period stated in your letter. Had the humane officer been appointed for an indefinite term and the approval of the probate judge given to the appointment in that form, no question would exist as to the right of the officer to the monthly compensation provided for in said section 10072 of the General Code, supra.

In the case of the State ex rel. The Coshocton Humane Society v. Ashman, probate judge, 90 O. S., 200, which was an action in mandamus to compel the defendant as probate judge, to approve the appointment of an agent made by the Humane society, the court, at page 201, said:

> "The theory presented for the reversal of the judgment is that the probate judge is without authority to refuse to approve if the person appointed is competent for the discharge of the duties of the place. The statutes relating to the subject comprise sections 10062 to 10084, General Code, inclusive. They authorize the society to make appointments of agents without the approval of the probate judge, or any other officer, and the approval if given, accomplishes but one purpose, possibly two. It does authorize the payment of the agent's compensation out of the funds of the county and possibly it adds to the agent's authority in making arrests. But the fact that the absence of the approval of the probate judge protects the county from the payment of salary or compensation to the agent must, we think, be regarded as vesting in the probate judge a discretion to determine whether, in view of all conditions existing, there is a public necessity for such appointment. No language of the statute restricts his discretion to a consideration of the fitness of the person whom the society names as agent, and the effect of this approval would not authorize us to infer such limitation."

In view of the fact that the tenure of office of the humane officer under the appointment and subject to the approval of the probate judge, was for the "ensuing year," which could mean only one year, it is my opinion that the approval of the judge of the appointment extended no further than the terms of the appointment and by such approval an obligation was placed on the county commissioners to provide compensation in accordance with the statute for time fixed by the appointment only, and that they are under no obligation to make further payments to the humane officer under the appointment referred to as having been made in July, 1913.

Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,

Attorney-General.

1635.

APPROVAL, RESOLUTIONS FOR IMPROVEMENT OF CERTAIN ROADS IN ASHTABULA, COLUMBIANA AND WASHINGTON COUNTIES.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 29, 1916.

HON. CLINTON COWEN, State Highway Commissioner, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of May 27, 1916, transmitting to be for examination final resolutions relating to the following roads:

"Ashtabula county—Sec. 'K,' Cleveland-Buffalo road, Pet. No. 2046, I. C. H. No. 2.

"Columbiana county—Sec. 'N,' Unity-Salem road, Pet. No. 1445, I. C. H. No. 86.

"Washington county—Sec. 'K,' Marietta-McConnelsville road, Pet. No. 3058, I. C. H. No. 393.

"Washington county—Sec. 'K,' Marietta-McConnelsville road, Pet. No. 3058, I. C. H. No. 393. (Duplicate.)

"Washington County—Sec. 'K,' Marietta-McConnelsville road, Pet. No. 3058, I. C. H. No. 393.

"Washington county—Sec. 'K,' Marietta-McConnelsville road, Pet. No. 3058, I. C. H. No. 393. (Duplicate.)

"Washington county—Sec. 'L,' Athens-Marietta road, Pet. No. 3063, I. C. H. No. 157.

"Washington county—Sec. 'L,' Athens-Marietta road, Pet. 3063, I. C. H. No. 157. (Duplicate.)

"Washington county—Sec. 'L,' Athens-Marietta road, Pet. No. 3063, I. C. H. No. 157.

"Washington county—Sec. 'L,' Athens-Marietta road, Pet. 3063, I. C. H. No. 157. (Duplicate.)

I find these resolutions to be in regular form and am therefore returning the same with my approval endorsed thereon.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1636.

MUNICIPAL CORPORATION—MEMBER OF COUNCIL MAY AT THE SAME TIME BE A CENTRAL COMMITTEEMAN.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 31, 1916.

HON. FRANK L. JOHNSON, Prosecuting Attorney, Xenia, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Yours under date of May 17, 1916, is as follows:

"Section 4207, G. C., providing for the qualifications of councilmen provides:

" 'Each member of council shall be an elector of the city, shall not hold any other public office or employment, except that of notary public or member of the state militia.'

"And the question upon which I would like to have your opinion is: Can a member of council be a central committeeman?

It is manifestly the purpose of section 4207, G. C., from which you quote, to define the qualifications of members of council rather than of other officers, and while the language might be construed as an inhibition against a person holding another public office or employment, I am more inclined to the view that it was intended rather to prevent one who holds another public office or employment from being a member of council. That is to say, the holding of other public office or employment would, by force of section 4207, G. C., work a disqualification as a member of council, and I assume that it is to the qualification of the members of council that your inquiry is directed.

It will be noted that the provision of section 4207, G. C., referred to, is limited to public office or employment.

The position of central committeeman is not an employment nor is it to my mind a public office. An office is defined in the case of The State ex rel. v. Hunt, 84 O. S., 149, as:

"A public position to which a portion of the sovereignty of the country attaches, and which is exercised for the benefit of the public."

The functions of a central committeeman are exercised more particularly for the benefit of a political party than for public benefit and while it may be argued that the functions of a committeeman are at least of minor public interest, I am not inclined to the view that such committeeman is a public officer within contemplation of the provisions of said section 4207, G. C., and am therefore of opinion that an elector may be at the same time a member of council and a central committeeman.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1637

DEPUTY STATE SUPERVISORS OF ELECTION — MEMBER OF SUCH BOARD OR CLERK THEREOF AFTER HAVING FILED DECLARATION OF CANDIDACY ARE RENDERED INELIGIBLE TO ACT AS SUCH ELECTION OFFICERS.

A person who serves as deputy state supervisor of elections or clerk of the board of deputy state supervisors of elections after having filed his declaration of candidacy as provided by section 4969, G. C., 106 O. L., 544, for any office to be filled at an election other than committeeman or delegate or alternate to a convention, is thereby rendered ineligible to such office under the provisions of section 5092, G. C., 103 O. L., 496.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 31, 1916.

HON. CHARLES E. BALLARD, Prosecuting Attorney, Springfield, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Yours under date of May 25, 1916, is as follows:

"A is a deputy state supervisor of elections of Clark county, Ohio, and expects to become a candidate before the August primary for nomination to a county office. Must A resign such position before August 8, 1916, or should he resign before filing his declaration of intention to become a candidate, which would be June 8, 1916?

"Section 5092, may throw some light upon this question."

Section 5092, G. C., 103 O. L., 496, to which you refer, provides as follows:

"No person, being a candidate for an office to be filled at an election, other than for committeeman or delegate or alternate to any convention, shall serve as deputy state supervisor or clerk thereof, or as a judge or clerk of elections, in any precinct at such election. A person serving as deputy state supervisor or clerk thereof, judge or clerk of elections contrary to this section shall be ineligible to any office to which he may be elected at such election."

The manifest and highly proper purpose of the enactment of this section was to afford an inhibition against any person being connected in any official capacity with the conduct of an election at which he is a candidate and to protect the public and other candidates against opportunities favorable to the commission of fraud by persons having an averse interest to other candidates. To effect its full purpose it should be liberally construed in favor of the parties for whose protection it was enacted.

Now by the plain terms of the above quoted statute it is provided that no person shall serve as deputy state supervisor of elections or clerk thereof after he becomes a candidate for an office to be filled at an election. A nomination is necessary to enable a candidate to have his named printed upon the ballot but a nomination is not at all essential to one's being a candidate. The nomination is only a means toward the primary object sought, viz.: election to office. A candidate, when used in relation to the election of public officers, is one who seeks election to office, and when one begins actively to seek a public office, he becomes a candidate. Persons who are candidates for office may have their names printed upon the primary ballot for the purpose of securing a party nomination by filing a declaration of candidacy and paying the required fee as provided by section 4969, G. C., 106 O. L., 545. While the filing of such declaration of candidacy is not essential to being a candidate, it is not only sufficient but conclusive evidence that the person so filing is actively seeking election to an office and therefore a candidate for office within the meaning of the terms of said section 5092, G. C., supra, and unless the office which the person seeks is within one of the classes excepted therein, such person renders himself ineligible thereto if he thereafter serves as deputy state supervisor of elections.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1638.

APPROVAL, SALE OF TRACT OF LAND IN CITY OF AKRON TO THE WILLIAMS FOUNDRY AND MACHINE COMPANY.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, May 31, 1916.

HON. FRANK R. FAUVER, Superintendent of Public Works, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of May 8, 1916, transmitting to me a copy of your proceedings relative to the sale to The Williams Foundry & Machine Company, of a tract of canal land in the city of Akron.

I find that your proceedings have been in accordance with the statutes and that the resolution providing for the sale of the land in question is properly drawn, and I have therefore attahed my signature to the duplicate copies of the resolutions in question.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1639.

BOARD OF HEALTH—PAYMENT FROM PUBLIC TREASURY OF BUSINESS LOSSES ACCRUING AS AN INCIDENT TO PROMULGATION OF QUARANTINE ORDERS NOT AUTHORIZED—INABILITY TO MARKET EGGS AND BUTTER.

Payment from the public treasury of business losses accruing as an incident to the promulgation of quarantine orders by the board of health, such as the inability to market eggs and butter from the quarantined premises, is not authorized.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 1, 1916.

HON. F. C. GOODRICH, Prosecuting Attorney, Troy, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Under date of May 29th you requested my written opinion as follows:

> "In reference to quarantining, I would like to have an opinion on the following facts:
>
> " 'A farmer is quarantined for scarlet fever and the health officers refuse to allow him to secure persons to take care of his chickens and cows, and collect the eggs and milk and market same, and by so doing causes him the the loss of $50 to $100 from the sale of his eggs and milk during the quarantine.'
>
> "The statute provides that the health board shall pay all necessary expenses including food and medical attention if the party quarantined is unable to pay for same, but I can find no statute which allows the party quarantined to collect his eggs and butter, as stated above.
>
> "Please let me have your opinion as to whether or not the township trustees are liable for the loss incurred by their order of quarantine in this matter."

Section 4428, of the General Code, provides that in case of the prevalence of a contagious or infectious disease in a house or other locality, the board of health may, as it deems best, send the person so affected to a quarantine hospital or other place provided for such persons or may restrain them and others exposed within such house or locality from intercourse with other persons and prohibit ingress or egress to and from such premises.

Section 4436, G. C., provides that the board of health shall furnish the necessary food, fuel, medical attendance, medicine, nurses, etc., to persons quarantined, when necessary, and that the expense so incurred shall be paid by the municipality, in case the persons quarantined are not able to pay it.

Section 4434, G. C., provides that the board of health may destroy infected clothing, bedding, or other articles which cannot be made safe by disinfection, and when a building, hut or other structure has become infected with smallpox or other dangerous communicable disease, and cannot, in the opinion of the board of health, be made safe by disinfection, the board may have such building, hut or other structure appraised and destroyed.

Section 4435, G. C., provides for the payment of the appraised value or such sum as the council deems just compensation for such destroyed articles.

Section 4460, G. C., provides:

> "In case scarlet fever, typhoid or other dangerous contagious or infectious disease should occur in the family of a dairyman or among his employes, or in a house in which milk is kept for sale, such dairyman or vender of such milk shall immediately notify the health officer of the municipality in which such milk is sold or offered for sale of the facts of the case, and the health officer may order the sale of such milk stopped pending an investigation and for such time thereafter as the board of health may require, The investigation shall be made without delay, and the board of health may make and enforce such orders as it deems necessary to prevent the sale of impure, adulterated and unwholesome milk or milk liable to carry disease.".

The foregoing sections of the General Code are found in the chapter creating boards of health in cities and villages and prescribing their duties and authority.

Section 3391, G. C., provides that in each township the trustees thereof shall constitute the board of health for the township outside the limits of any municipal corporation.

Section 3394, G. C., provides in part:

> "Township boards of health shall have the same duties, powers and jurisdiction within the township and outside of any municipality as by law are imposed upon or granted to boards of health in municipalities."

It does not clearly appear from your statement whether the person mentioned in your inquiry is a resident of a municipal corporation or of a township outside of a municipal corporation.

The place of residence of the party affected by the quarantine order, of course, will determine the jurisdiction of the respective boards, but the duties imposed and authority conferred upon the boards with respect to matters of quarantine are the same within their several jurisdictions.

These statutes are enacted pursuant to the police power of the state and the liability to make compensation for infected articles of property destroyed by order of the board of health and the payment of expenses incurred is strictly legislative, and there must be affirmative legislative provision in order to authorize the payment of claims growing out of the execution of the lawful orders of the board.

I do not find any statute broad enough in its terms to authorize the payment of losses of income or profits from one's business arising from the promulgation of quarantine orders by the board of health in conformity to the statutes.

Business losses are a probable incident to quarantine orders, yet the legislature while dealing with the kindred matters of compensation for property destroyed by order of the board and payment of expenses incurred in certain cases, has not made a corresponding provision in regard to compensation for losses to one's business interests occasioned in some degree by the quarantine order.

I therefore hold that such payment would not be authorized, and that in case the board of health has found conditions warranting the quarantining of premises on account of prevalence of scarlet fever therein, and such order prevented the marketing of eggs and butter from the premises, there is no authority for payment from the public treasury of the amount of the loss so incurred.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1640.

COMMON PLEAS JUDGE—PAYMENT OF $10.00 PER DAY PROVIDED FOR BY SECTION 2253, G. C., DOES NOT INCLUDE TIME SPENT BY A JUDGE IN GOING TO AND RETURNING FROM COUNTY OF SAID ASSIGNMENT.

The payment of $10.00 per day for each day of the assignment provided for by section 2253, G. C., as amended, 104 O. L., 251, does not include the time spent by a judge in going to and returning from the county of said assignment.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 1, 1916.

Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—I have your letter of May 18, 1916, submitting the following inquiry:

> "When the chief justice assigns a judge of the court of common pleas to aid in disposing of business of some county other than that in which he resides, as provided by the latter part of section 2253, General Code, as amended 104 O. L., 251, is the judge entitled to $10.00 per day for the days spent in traveling to and from his place of assignment in addition to the per diem while on the assignment?"

Section 2253, G. C., as amended 104 O. L., 251, to which you refer in your foregoing inquiry, in so far as its provisions are pertinent here, provides as follows:

> "Each judge of the court of common pleas who is assigned by the chief justice by virtue of section 1469, to aid in disposing of business of some county other than that in which he resides, shall receive ten dollars per day for each day of such assignment, and his actual and necessary expenses incurred in holding court under such assignment, to be paid from the treasury of the county to which he is so assigned, upon the warrant of the auditor of such county, and the amount allowed herein for actual and necessary expenses shall not exceed three hundred dollars in any one year."

The precise and plain mandate of the foregoing law is, that said judge, so assigned, shall receive ten dollars per day for each day of such assignment. The assignment of the chief justice is the thing which gives said judge jurisdiction and authority to proceed to a county, other than his home county, to hold court and such assignment must be placed upon the journal of the court in the county to which he is assigned as evidence of his authority to hold court therein. This assignment fixes the time when his services are to begin. Manifestly, then, no services under said assignment may begin until the date so fixed. It would seem plainly evident that the legislature only purposed by this provision to compensate a judge for services actually rendered the county to which he is assigned because said compensation is payable from the treasury of said county and does not in any way affect the regular salary of the judge. That salary goes on undisturbed by the absence of the judge from his home county or district. There is nothing in the evident purpose of this section nor in the surrounding circumstances, to warrant any construction of its language other than that which such language plainly imports. In other words, there is nothing in the statute or in the surrounding circumstances to warrant a conclusion other than that the provision in question means that the ten dollars per day is to begin with the date of the assignment and the services of the judge thereunder and ends when said services are completed by the adjournment of the court.

I therefore hold that the payment of ten dollars per day allowed by the provisions of this section is to be based upon the time actually spent by said judge in holding court in the county to which he is so assigned, and does not include the time spent in going to and returning from the county of such assignment.

It must be understood that the foregoing observations with reference to the payment of said ten dollars per day apply only to judges who were elected or appointed subsequent to the taking effect of said section 2253, G. C., to wit: June 8, 1914.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1641.

DISAPPROVAL, PROPOSED SALES OF CANAL LANDS TO THE B. & O. S. W. R. R. CO. AND THE C. H. & D. RY. CO., AT CHILLICOTHE, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 1, 1916.

HON. FRANK R. FAUVER, Superintendent of Public Works, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of April 29, 1916, which communication reads as follows:

> "Herewith I transmit resolutions providing for the sale of two small tracts of abandoned Ohio canal lands in the city of Chillicothe, Ross county, Ohio, one to the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern Railroad Company, and the other to The Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Railway Company.
>
> "These two tracts of land comprise the respective rights of way of each company across the abandoned canal property, and have been occupied with bridge crossings for many years.
>
> "Before approving these resolutions, we desire to have the attorney-general determine whether or not we in any way jeopardize prospective leases for railway purposes over the state canal property where the new road must cross over, under or at grade, the tracks of the existing railway tracks. If a company owning the right of way can compel the new road to pass over or under the existing tracks, we are of the opinion that it will very greatly depreciate the right of way that may subsequently be leased by the state to a nother corporation, and in that case we doubt the propriety of conveying the tracts described in the resolutions. This same situation will arise at many points along the abandoned canals, and we therefore respectfully request the attorney-general to render an opinion as to our duties in the premises.

"You will therefore approve or disapprove the resolutions in accordance with the opinion you render."

Your communication does not set forth the law under which the railroad companies to which you refer are occupying the portions of the Ohio canal now in use by them, but I am informed by Mr. E. E. Booton, of your department, that the occupancy of the companies is under the provisions of section 8775, G. C., et seq. These sections of the General Code do not define the respective rights of the state and a railroad company, where a canal is abandoned by the state, and I am not aware of any court decision in which this matter has been determined.

Authority to sell the land in question is conferred by senate bill No. 212, being an act to abandon certain portions of the Ohio canal and to provide for the selling and leasing of the lands connected therewith, the act in question being found in 102 O. L., 293. If such lands should be sold to the railroad companies in question,and it was thereafter desired by the state to sell or lease the remaining portions of the Ohio canal through the city of Chillicothe for railroad purposes, the company desiring to construct a line of railway along the bed of the canal would be compelled to obtain a crossing across the tracks of The Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern Railroad Company and The Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton Railway Company, in the manner provided by sections 8834 to 8842, inclusive, of the General Code, and the company desiring to construct such new line of railway would be compelled to compensate The Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern Railroad Company and The Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton Railway Company for the land occupied by the crossing. In case the companies were unable to agree upon the compensation to be paid for such land, this question would necessarily be submitted to a jury in accordance with the provisions of section 8838, G. C.

In view of this fact, I am of the opinion that the proposed sales would substantially impair the value of the remaining canal property within the city of Chillicothe, and I am therefore of the opinion that a sale of this property should not be made, and am returning your records of proceedings without my approval.

It is my opinion that the property in question might properly be leased to the two companies under such conditions that the companies would be permitted to eliminate over-head bridge construction with the ten foot clearance provided for by section 8775, G. C., et seq., and allowed to substitute other proper drainage structures, reserving to the state the right to lease the property to another company desiring to cross the existing railway lines at these points and expressly stipulating that if such action be taken the lessee of the bed and banks of the canal will not be required to make any compensation to The Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern Railroad Company and The Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton Railway Company for the lands occupied by their crossings and referring the companies to the statute for a determination of the method of crossing and the division of the initial expense thereof and the expense of maintenance.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1642.

APPROVAL, CONTRACT FOR WOMEN'S DORMITORY AT KENT STATE NORMAL COLLEGE.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 1, 1916.

Board of Trustees of Kent State Normal College Kent, Ohio.

DEAR SIRS:—I have received from you the affidavit and proof of publication, the proposals, contract of Robert H. Evans & Company in the sum of $113,264.00, with contact bond attached, and copy of resolution from the minutes of your board, submitted relative to the letting of the contract for the women's dormitory to the Kent State Normal College, and having carefully examined the same.

I find that the advertisement for bids is in proper form and was duly made. The estimate of the architect for the improvement was $113,274.61 and the bid of Robert H. Evans & Company, of Columbus, Ohio, was $113,264.00. Therefore, the bid is within the estimate, and the contract entered into with said Robert H. Evans & Company, who were the low bidders as appears from the bid submitted, and the contract bond together with the proposal of said Robert H. Evans & Company, attached thereto are in all respects in compliance with law.

I have obtained from the auditor of state, a certificate to the effect that there is sufficient money appropriated to cover the consideration named in the contract.

I have therefore, this day approved said contract and filed the same, together with the bond covering said contract, in the office of the auditor of state, and herewith return to you the other papers submitted.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1643.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS—JOINT COUNTY DITCHES—COSTS, HOW PAID—COUNTY AUDITOR'S COSTS FOR MAKING AND SERVING NOTICES IN SUCH CASES—SECTION 6449, G. C., 106 O. L., 135, GOVERNS.

When a joint board of county commissioners acting under section 6563-1, et seq., upon consideration of the report of the surveyors appointed in the matter of establishing a joint county ditch or ditches, determine to abandon said proceedings, all the costs thereof shall be paid equally by the several counties involved in said proceedings upon the order of said joint board as provided in section 6563-14, G. C.

In such cases the costs due county auditors for making and serving notices upon lot or land owners are to be determined by the provisions of section 6449, G. C., as amended, 106 O. L., 135.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 1, 1916.

HON. EARL K. SOLETHER, Prosecuting Attorney, Bowling Green, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your letter of May 27, 1916, submitting the following facts and inquiry:

> "Some time ago a petition was filed with the auditor of Lucas county by fifty or more persons praying for the improvement of a ditch known as Crane creek, which said ditch is located in the counties of Lucas, Wood and Ottawa.

"This petition was filed under section 6563-1 of the General Code, and proceedings were had under the provisions of said section, and the joint board as provided in section 6563-9 proceeded to go ahead with the improvement and ordered the county surveyors to make plans, specifications, profiles, etc. The surveyors proceeded with their work and filed their report as provided in section 6563-13.

"The joint board then considered the reports of the surveyors as provided in section 6563-14, and at this meeting abandoned the proceedings and dismissed the petition. Subsequently, the auditors of the three counties filed their cost bill with the secretary of the joint board of commissioners and the joint board then met to consider the cost bills.

"The auditor of Wood county made a charge in his cost bill for the making of notices which he was ordered to serve upon all persons interested as provided in section 6563-15, according to the rate and fee as allowed him under section 6524, G. C.

"The largest number of persons interested were located in Wood county and the making of the notices amounted to $170.50, and only a small number of the property owners interested were located in Lucas and Ottawa counties.

"Objection was made by Lucas and Ottawa counties to this charge made by the auditor of Wood county, claiming that this should not be allowed for the reason that the prayer of the petition was dismissed and that by reason of section 6453, G. C., the fees of the auditor for making notices could not be allowed. They further contended that section 6563-44 stated that the auditor should be allowed the same fees as are allowed in ditch work and that said section referred back to section 6453 of the single county ditch law.

"The auditor of Wood county contends that section 6453 does not apply in this case for the reason that the joint board determined to go ahead with the proceedings and ordered the surveyors to make plans, specifications, profiles, etc., thereby relieving the bondsmen from liability as provided in section 6563-10, and that all expenses of the auditor, surveyor and commissioners should be paid equally as provided in section 6563-14, G. C.

"Will you kindly give me your opinion as to the proper interpretation of these sections?"

From the facts stated in your foregoing letter it would seem that the contention of neither party to the controversy may be fully sustained.

It appears that the joint board, under the provisions of section 6563-14, G. C., determined to abandon the proceedings which section provides as follows:

> "If upon consideration of the reports of said surveyors said joint board shall determine to abandon said proceedings, it may dismiss the same, and the costs of said proceedings shall be paid by each county equally upon the order of the joint board, and the secretary thereof shall certify the amount to be paid by each county to the auditor thereof, and the auditor shall draw his warrant for the amount, and it shall be paid by the treasurer of the county."

When, therefore, the proceedings were abandoned as aforesaid the costs therein incurred became payable upon the order of said joint board by the counties involved in said proceedings in equal proportions. This is so because by the provisions of section 6563-10, G. C., when the joint board determines to appoint surveyors the petitioners are released from liability. This section provides as follows:

> "If the joint board shall determine that said surveyors shall be so appointed, then the bond given by said petitioners shall be released from liability.

But if said joint board determines not to proceed with said petition, then said petitioners shall pay the expenses of said proceeding."

The foregoing statute plainly provides that the petitioners shall pay the expenses of said proceedings when said joint board determines not to appoint surveyors and not to proceed with said petition. It appears from the facts stated in your letter that the joint board appointed surveyors and received their report as provided in section 6563-13, G. C. This action by the joint board clearly released the petitioners from any liability for the expenses of said proceeding and determined the liability of the counties involved for such expenses as provided in section 6563-14, G. C., aforesaid.

Section 6563-44, G. C. provides:

"Said surveyors named in section 8 (G. C. Sec. 6563-9) shall meet with the joint board of county commissioners whenever required by said board and said surveyors and auditors shall be paid their necessary expenses while employed under this act and shall be allowed the same fees as are allowed in ditch work generally and said commissioners shall receive the sum of three dollars a day and their actual expenses while employed under this bill."

Under this section the fees of the auditors of the several counties included in the proceedings aforesaid are to be the same as are allowed in ditch work generally. It appears from your statement that the auditor of Wood county contends that the fees for ditch work generally are fixed by the provisions of section 6524, G. C. This is true only as to such fees as are not covered by special provisions. The section which fixes the charges of an auditor for making and serving notices is not section 6524, G. C., but section 6449, G. C., as amended 106 O. L., 135, which provides as follows:

"The county auditor shall also prepare copies of the notice, for which he shall receive six cents per one hundred words, but not more than twenty-five cents for any one notice. At least fifteen days before the day set for hearing one copy of the notice shall be served upon each lot or land owner, or left at his usual place of residence and upon an officer or agent of each public or private corporation operating or having a place of business in the county. The person who serves such copies shall make return on the notice, under oath, of time and manner of service, and file it with the auditor on or before such day, and shall receive two dollars for each day actually employed in such service. If, however, the petition prays for the improvement of the channel of a river, creek or run, or part thereof, in more than one county and more than two hundred freeholders will be affected, if said improvement is granted as prayed for, all persons, firms and corporations, except steam railway companies having an agent located in the county, which shall be notified as hereinbefore provided, may be given notice by publication, whether they are resident or nonresident of any or all of the counties through which the improvement will pass, and no other notice shall be required. * * * *"

I therefore must advise that the costs of serving notices in Wood county are fixed by the provisions of said last named section and when determined as provided by said section are payable by the several counties involved in the manner prescribed in section 6563-14, G. C., supra.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1644.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE OF JEFFERSON TOWNSHIP RURAL SCHOOL DISTRICT, CLINTON COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 1, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus. Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of Jefferson township rural school district, Clinton county, Ohio, in the sum of $36,000.00, being seventy-two bonds of five hundred dollars each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the board of education of Jefferson township rural school district relative to the above bond issue, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds, drawn in accordance with the form submitted, and signed by the proper officers of the district will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of said school district.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1645.

DISAPPROVAL, LEASE OF CERTAIN CANAL LANDS AT CLEVELAND, OHIO, TO CORRIGAN McKINNEY AND COMPANY—SHOULD BE EXECUTED BY ALL PARTNERS.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 1, 1916.

HON. FRANK R. FAUVER, Superintendent of Public Works, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of May 15, 1916, transmitting to me for examination a lease of certain state canal lands at Cleveland, Ohio, to Corrigan McKinney & Co., a partnership.

I am returning this lease without my approval for the reasons set forth in opinion No. 1616, rendered to you on May 24, 1916. A proper recital should be made in the body of the lease of the names of all the partners and the lease should be executed by all the partners.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1646.

JURY SERVICE—TALESMEN—BYSTANDERS—WHEN ENTITLED TO FEE.

Under the provisions of section 3008, G. C., talesmen summoned in any case are entitled to the statutory fee of $2.00 for each day's service regardless of whether they are actually called to the jury box or not.

The only authority for the calling of "bystanders" is that contained in section 13650, G. C., which applies only in the trial of a person charged with a capital offense.

There is no provision of law for the payment of a fee to bystanders called to the jury box for examination as to their qualifications as jurors unless they are qualified and sworn as jurors.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 2, 1916.

Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—I am in receipt of a request for an opinion from honorable John C. Hover, judge of the court of common pleas, Logan county, and deeming the matter to be one of general interest, I am in accordance with my custom addressing the opinion to you. Judge Hover's request for an opinion is as follows:

> "Section 3008 provides that:
>
> " 'Each grand or petit juror drawn from the jury box pursuant to law, each juror selected by the court as talesman as provided by law, and each talesman, shall receive two dollars for each day of service, and if not a talesman, five cents each mile from his place of residence to the county seat. * * *'
>
> "When a regular juryman does not appear for service and there being no request for a special venire, and the court directs the sheriff to fill the panel, and, in compliance therewith, a talesman is placed in the jury box, who, upon examination or challenge, is excused, the question is: Is such juryman entitled to two dollars? Or, if he responds to the request of the sheriff and reports at the clerk's office, ready for service and is not called into the jury box, is he entitled to the statutory compensation?
>
> "The matter of paying talesmen who are thus called is questionable, and I would like an opinion from your office, that we may be governed accordingly in the practice of this court. * * *"

Section 3008 of the General Code is as follows:

> "Each grand or petit juror drawn from the jury box pursuant to law, each juror selected by the court as talesman as provided by law, and each talesman, shall receive two dollars for each day of service, and if not a talesman, five cents each mile from his place of residence to the county seat. Such compensation shall be certified by the clerk of the court and paid by the county treaurer on the warrant of the county auditor."

Section 11431, G. C., in part is as follows:

> "Sec. 11431. When, by reason of challenge or other cause, enough jurors summoned as aforesaid to make up the panel, either of the grand or petit jury, are not present, or if the array be set aside, the sheriff shall summon talesmen until the deficiency is made up. * * *"

Section 11434, G. C., is as follows:

> "Sec. 11434. When it is necessary to summon talesmen, the court, on the motion of either party, shall select them, and cause to be issued immediately a venire for as many persons having the qualifications of a juror as, in the opinion of the court, may be necessary, which persons shall be required to appear forthwith, or at such times as may be fixed by the court; but no person known to be in or about the court house shall be selected without the consent of both parties."

It will be noted from a reading of sections 11431 and 11434, G. C., supra, that under the conditions therein described it is made the duty of the sheriff to summon talesmen to make up the panel. In section 11434, G. C., it is specifically provided "that no person known to be in or about the court house shall be selected without the consent of both parties." The reason for the provision just quoted is obvious.

In the case presented by your first question, viz. "Where the court directs the sheriff to fill the panel, and in compliance therewith a talesman is placed in the jury box, who, upon examination is excused," it is important that the provisions of section 13650 of the General Code be considered in view of the application of its provisions to the practice in various jurisdictions.

Section 13650, G. C., is as follows:

"Sec. 13650. Jurors summoned, as provided by the first three sections of this chapter, not set aside on challenge, with bystanders having the legal qualifications as make the number of twelve, or, if the whole array be set aside, twelve of such bystanders having such qualifications and not set aside on challenge, shall be a lawful jury for the trial of a prisoner charged with a capital offense. Either party may demand and have a special venire to fill the panel. When it is necessary to summon talesmen, the court, on motion of either party, shall select them, and issue forthwith a venire for such number having the qualifications of jurors as is necessary. Such jurors shall appear forthwith, or at such time as is fixed by such court; but a person in or about the court house shall not be selected, without the consent of both parties. After a cause has been assigned for trial and a jury for the trial thereof has been drawn as herein provided, and the cause continued to another term of court, the jury so drawn shall be discharged, and a new jury drawn, as herein provided for the trial of such cause."

Section 13650, G. C., applies only in the case of the trial of a person charged with a capital offense. It provides among other things that bystanders may constitute a lawful jury in whole or in part for the trial of a prisoner charged with a capital offense. It is further provided in the section that "when it is necessary to summon talesman, the court, on motion of either party, shall select them and issue forthwith a venire for such number having the qualifications of jurors as is necessary."

A bystander who may be called to the jury box under the provisions of section 13650 G. C., supra, is not a talesman, hence would not be entitled to receive a fee under the provisions of section 3008, G. C., supra, unless he qualified and was sworn as a juror in the case.

In the case of State ex rel. v. Merry, 34 O. S., 137, it was held that "jurors are to be allowed compensation for days spent in whole or in part in going to and from court and for days in attendance during the term whether impaneled or not."

Section 3008, G. C., supra, provides for the payment of a fee and "each juror selected by the court as talesman as provided by law" in the first place, and secondly for "each talesman." The term talesman is used to describe a person summoned for jury service in a particular case and distinguishes such person from the general juror, in the bystander referred to in section 13650, G. C., supra, and I am therefore of the opinion that the talesman who is placed in the jury box, under the order of the court directing the sheriff to fill the panel, is entitled to receive the statutory fee of $2.00 for each day's attendance notwithstanding the fact that upon examination or challenge he is excused from service. His character as a talesman would end upon his being excused or challenged.

Coming to your second question which is "if he responds to the request of the sheriff and reports at the clerk's office ready for service and is not called into the jury box, is he entitled to the statutory compensation?" Section 3008, G. C., supra, provides under other things that "each talesman shall receive $2.00 for each day of service." In the case presented by you the talesman, who under the orders, or upon the request of the sheriff acting under the instructions of the court, reports at the clerk's office ready for service in the cause in which he has been called, is subject to the orders of the court, and his failure to attend and perform the duties assigned to him would subject him to punishment for contempt of court.

The provision in section 3008, G. C., concerning "each talesman" was evidently placed there to meet just such a condition as that described by you in your letter, and I am of the opinion, in answer to your second question, that the talesman who reports for service in obedience to the request of the sheriff acting under the orders of the court is entitled to the statutory fee of $2.00 for each day of attendance up to his discharge notwithstanding the fact that he may not be called into the jury box to perform actual jury service. In other words, he is simply a talesman as characterized in the statute, and as such is entitled to the statutory fee.

A copy of this opinion has been sent to Judge Hover.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1647.

APPROVAL, RESOLUTIONS FOR IMPROVEMENT OF CERTAIN ROADS IN RICHLAND AND FAYETTE COUNTIES.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 2, 1916.

HON. CLINTON COWEN, State Highway Commissioner, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of June 1, 1916, transmitting to me for examination final resolutions relating to the following roads:

"Richland county—Sec. 'O,' Mansfield-Ashland road, Pet. No. 2858, I. C. H. No. 140.

"Richland county—Sec. 'A,' Mt. Vernon-Mansfield road, Pet. No. 2867, I. C. H. No. 338.

"Richland county—Sec. 'A,' Bellville-Lexington road, Pet. No. 2872, I. C. H. No. 483.

"Fayette county—Sec. 'K,' Hillsboro-Washington road, Pet. No. 2333, I. C. H. No. 259.

I find these resolutions to be in regular form and am therefore returning the same with my approval endorsed thereon.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1648.

ROADS AND HIGHWAYS—PERSON MAY BE EMPLOYED AS ASSISTANT UNDER SECTION 7181, G. C., AND ALSO AS ASSISTANT SUPERINTENDENT OR INSPECTOR UNDER SECTION 1219, G. C., SUBJECT TO QUALIFICATION THAT HE CANNOT ACT IN BOTH CAPACITIES AT SAME TIME—COMPENSATION, HOW COMPUTED.

One person may be employed as an assistant under section 7181, G. C., and also as an assistant, superintendent or inspector under section 1219, G. C., subject to the qualification that he cannot act in both capacities at the same time. The methods of computing compensation, where one person acts in both capacities, are herein pointed out.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 2, 1916.

The Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—I have your communication of May 16, 1916, which communication reads as follows:

> "We are submitting herewith letter received from Mr. F. P. Crosse, county surveyor of Lorain county, Ohio, and would request your written opinion upon the question asked by him."

The attached letter of Mr. Crosse reads as follows:

> "Will you kindly advise me regarding my pay-rolls as divided between the state highway department and Lorain county?
>
> "Most of my men are on a monthly salary basis. These men are employed both on county and state work. I wish to make the total of the amounts paid for state highway work and for county work equal the monthly salary I have fixed for these men. The state highway department insists on the men being certified to them on a per diem basis. If we use the total number of days in the month in calculating the per diem rate for these men you can readily see that in case the men should work a full month for the state highway department they would lose considerable in salary, as we would not be allowed to turn in time for Sundays, and as all the working days would be charged to the state highway department. It would also be almost impossible to adjust the salary provided for working a fractional part of the month for each.
>
> "Would it meet your approval if we based the rate to the state highway department on a month of twenty-five or twenty-six working days, the county to pay the difference on the work done for the county, always keeping in mind that the total amount paid by the state highway department and by the county will never in any instance exceed the monthly salary fixed in my department."

The difficulty experienced by Mr. Crosse is probably due to his overlooking the fact that assistants employed on county and township work are of an entirely different class from those employed on state work. Assistants engaged on county work are appointed under authority of section 7181, G. C., which section provides, among other things, that in the event the county highway superintendent cannot properly perform all the duties of his office, the county commissioners shall fix the aggregate compensation to be expended for assistants by the county highway superintendent during the year, which compensation shall be paid out of the county treasury in the same manner as the salaries of county officials are paid. Assistants, superintendents and inspectors employed on state work are appointed under authority of section 1219, G. C., which provides, among other things, that the county highway superintendent, with the approval of the chief highway engineer, may employ such assistants as are necessary in the preparation of plans and surveys and also with like approval such superintendents and inspectors as may be necessary in the construction of improvements carried forward by the state highway department. The compensation of such assistants, superintendents and inspectors is fixed by the chief highway engineer. It was evidently not contemplated by the legislature that one person might be employed as an assistant under section 7181, G. C., and that the same person might also be employed as an assistant, superintendent or inspector under section 1219, G. C. I see no legal objection, however, to the employment of a person in both capacities, but this statement is, of course,subject to the qualification that he cannot act in both capacities at the same time. In other words, upon those days on which he is employed upon state work he cannot act as an assistant upon county or township work, under and by virtue of an appointment or employment under section 7181, G. C.

As previously pointed out, it is provided by section 7181, G. C., that the compensation of assistants appointed under the provisions of that section shall be paid out of the county treasury in the same manner as the salary of county officials is paid.

Under the provisions of section 2989, G. C., county officers receive their salary in monthly installments. While the natural and ordinary method of fixing the compensation of assistants appointed under section 7181, G. C., would, therefore, be to fix such compensation on a monthly basis, I see no objection to fixing the same upon a per diem basis, in which case the compensation would be paid at the end of each month, and would be computed by multiplying the per diem compensation by the number of days actually employed on county or township work. The fact should not be overlooked that the county highway superintendent fixes the compensation of assistants appointed under section 7181, G. C., while the chief highway engineer, a state official, fixes the compensation of assistants, superintendents and inspectors appointed under section 1219, G. C. Where it is desired by a county highway superintendent to appoint a certain person as an assistant, making the appointment under the provisions of section 7181, G. C., and to require such person to devote only a part of his time to county and township work, and to also appoint him as an assistant, superintendent or inspector, under authority of the provisions of section 1219, G. C., and require him to devote a part of his time to work carried forward by the state, it would be more desirable and would be conducive of easy bookkeeping to fix upon a per diem basis the compensation to be paid to him when serving as an assistant appointed under authority of section 7181, G. C. At the end of any given month such assistant would then be entitled to receive for his services performed as an assistant appointed under section 7181, G. C., a sum of money calculated by multiplying his per diem compensation, as such assistant, by the number of days upon which he was actually engaged on county or township work. He would also be entitled to receive from the state and from the county, or some township thereof, a sum of money calculated by multiplying the per diem compensation fixed by the chief highway engineer by the number of days actually spent upon state work. From the above it will be apparent that where the compensation fixed by the county highway superintendent is greater than that fixed by the chief highway engineer, the assistant in question will suffer a reduction in the aggregate monthly compensation received by him in those months during which he spends any part of his time on state work, and the greater the proportion of time spent by him on state work the greater will be the reduction in compensation which he will suffer. Where the compensation fixed by the chief highway engineer is higher than that fixed by the county highway superintendent, the converse of the above situation will result, however, and there is no escape under the statutes from this consequence. Where the compensation of the assistant appointed under section 7181, G. C., is fixed upon a monthly basis, and during any given month such assistant spends any time upon state work, acting as an assistant, superintendent or inspector, by virtue of an appointment under section 1219, G. C., the compensation which he is to receive from the county treasury, for the month in question, as compensation for services performed as an assistant appointed under section 7181, G. C., is to be computed by first ascertaining a per diem compensation by dividing his monthly compensation by the number of working days in the month in question, and then multiplying this per diem compensation so ascertained by the number of days upon which, during the month in question, he was actually engaged upon county or township work.

I believe the above constitutes a complete answer to Mr. Crosse's question, but that there may be no misunderstanding I will illustrate the proper computation by assuming that the compensation of an assistant appointed under section 7181, G. C., has been fixed by the county highway superintendent at $125.00 per month, and that in a certain month, containing twenty-five working days, such assistant has been excused from the performance of duties in connection with county or township work, and has been appointed as an assistant under section 1219, G. C., and assigned to the performance of duties in connection with work carried forward by the state highway department, and that his compensation as an assistant engaged on state work has been fixed by the chief highway engineer at $4.00 per day, and that he has devoted during the month five days to such state work and twenty days to county and township work. By dividing the number of working days into the monthly compensation fixed by the county highway department, it will be ascertained that the per diem compensation for county and township work is $5.00 per day. The assistant will be entitled to receive from the county treasury for his county and township work $5.00 per day for a total of twenty days, making $100.00, and he will be entitled to receive from the state and the county, or some township thereof, depending on whether the said improvement is being made upon the application of the county or a township, the sum of $4.00 per day for a total of five days, making $20.00. His total aggregate compensation for the month will be $120.00, or $5.00 less than he would be entitled to receive in case he had devoted his entire time to county and township work. If the compensation fixed by the chief highway engineer is the same as that fixed by the county highway superintendent, the compensation of the assistant will, of course, be the same, without reference to the character of the work on which he is engaged. If the chief highway engineer fixes a higher rate of compensation than that fixed by the county highway superintendent, the assistant will, of course, receive an increased compensation for any month during which he devotes a part of his time to state work. Where, by the application of the above rules, the total aggregate compensation for any month is below that fixed by the county highway superintendent, there is no authority for paying to the assistant out of the county treasury the difference between his actual compensation computed on the above basis and the monthly compensation fixed by the county highway superintendent.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1649.

CIVIL SERVICE—PERSONS IN CLASSIFIED SERVICE MAY NOT BE APPOINTED TO OFFICES OR POSITIONS IN UNCLASSIFIED SERVICE WITHOUT THEIR CONSENT AND APPROVAL OF PROPER CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION.

Persons holding offices or positions in the classified service may not be appointed to offices or positions in the unclassified service without their consent and without the approval of the civil service commission having jurisdiction thereof and such persons may not be deemed legal incumbents of said latter offices or positions until they accept the same and qualify therein.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 2, 1916.

HON. JOHN C. D'ALTON, Prosecuting Attorney, Toledo, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your letter of May 26, 1916, as follows:

"We are in receipt today of a letter from Clarence Conlisk, treasurer of this county, in which he submits the following:

" 'TOLEDO, OHIO, May 23, 1916.

" 'MR. JOHN C. D'ALTON, Prosecuting Attorney, Lucas County, Toledo, Ohio.

" 'DEAR SIR:—On March 10, 1916, acting under section 2637, of the General Code, I, as treasurer of Lucas county, appointed David W. McAleese a deputy treasurer, he heretofore having been chief clerk in the treasurer's office. He refused and has since refused to take the oath of office.

" 'On March 10, 1916, acting under the same section 2637, of the statutes, as treasurer of Lucas county, I appointed Walter L. Grudzinski a deputy treasurer. He has not as yet filed his oath of office.

" 'The state civil service commission contends that these two persons are not in fact deputies, because these appointments have not been approved by the said state civil service commission.

" 'Kindly advise me at your earliest convenience whether, under the law, Mr. McAleese and Mr. Grudzinski are deputies or not.

" 'Yours very truly,

CLARENCE CONLISK,

" 'Treasurer, Lucas County.'

"Inasmuch as the ruling from this department must necessarily involve an interpretation of the functions of the State civil service commission, we very mush desire that you would render us an opinion with respect thereto."

It is evident from the facts stated in the treasurer's letter aforesaid that the parties named therein have neither accepted the appointment of deputies nor have they qualified in any manner whatever for such positions or offices. These facts of themselves are a complete answer to his inquiry.

However, in addition to the facts stated in the letter aforesaid it appears from the records of the state civil service commission that said parties have been employed as clerks in the office of the treasurer of Lucas county since September 2, 1902, or for more than seven years prior to the first day of January, 1915. This service brings them within certain protective provisions of section 486-31, G. C., 106 O. L., 418, which provisions are as follows:

"Provided, however, that all persons who have served the state or any political subdivision thereof continuously and satisfactorily for a period of not less than seven years next preceding January 1, 1915, shall be deemed appointees within the provisions of this act."

They therefore may be deemed to be permanent appointees in their positions as clerks, which positions are in the classified service and from which they may only be removed as provided by section 486-17a, G. C., as amended, 106 O. L., 412, which section provides that:

> "The tenure of every officer, employe or subordinate in the classified service of the state, the counties, cities and city school districts thereof, holding a position under the provisions of this act, shall be during good behavior and efficient service; but any such officer, employe or subordinate may be removed for incompetency, inefficiency, dishonesty, drunkenness, immoral conduct, insubordination, discourteous treatment of the public, neglect of duty, violation of the provisions of this act or the rules of the commission, or any other failure of good behavior, or any other acts of misfeasance, malfeasance or nonfeasance in office."

Should either of these men accept positions in the unclassified service he or they naturally would not have the protection of the classified service but would be subject to removal at any time at the pleasure of the treasurer. Their appointment in the unclassified service would be in effect a removal from their present positions in the classified service and it is claimed that these men object to such transfer from the classified to the unclassified service. This is apparent from the fact that one of the parties, as stated in the treasurer's letter, has refused to accept said appointment and has refused to take the oath of office, while the other has not as yet taken the oath of office.

The state civil service commission is required to protect these men in their employment as clerks in the office of said treasurer and unless they voluntarily resign said positions and accept the appointment of deputies and qualify as such, they are entitled to remain in their positions as clerks until removed as provided by section 486-17a, G. C., supra, or until such positions are abolished as provided by law. In other words, they may not be compelled against their wishes to accept the position of deputies of the treasurer and so long as they insist upon remaining in their positions as clerks the treasurer is without authority to cause their removal therefrom by appointing them as his deputies.

Nothing herein contained is to be construed as holding that a county treasurer may not abolish any position in his office and thus dispense with the services of one or more persons so long as such action is taken in good faith. However, no county treasurer has the right to attempt to evade the civil service law by going through the form of abolishing a position and then hiring some one else to perform the duties of the former employe, either under the same or a different title. The civil service commission has the right to inquire into the good faith of the transaction and the validity of the transaction depends upon the good faith of the officer. The state civil service commission has the right to know what such new duties are and to determine whether they come within the purview of paragraph 9 of section 486-8, G. C., 106 O. L., 404, which provides:

> "The deputies of elective or principal executive officers authorized by law to act for and in the place of their principals and holding a fiduciary relation to such principals."

Under this section only such persons as are authorized by law to act for and in the place of said treasurer and who hold a fiduciary relation to him may become his deputies and be exempt from the test of a competitive examination. After the present civil service law went into effect said parties were certified by the treasurer as clerks in his employ and as having been appointed, as hereinbefore noted, on September 2, 1902. Manifestly, if they have heretofore been properly classed and now are not to assume any new and different duties from those they have been performing they may not qualify as deputies under the foregoing provisions of paragraph 9 aforesaid. A mere change of their official name, which does not involve a change of duties, will not be sufficient to qualify them to enter the unclassified service as deputies as provided in said section 486-8, G. C. They must not only be appointed as deputies but the duties of such position must be of such a character as to conform to the requirements of paragraph 9 aforesaid before the state civil service commission may legally approve their appointment. The responsibility of determining this matter rests with said state civil service commission by virtue of the provisions of section 486-9, G. C., 106 O. L., 406, which provides:

> "As soon as practicable after the taking effect of this act, the commission shall put into effect rules for the classification of offices, positions and employments, in the civil service of the state and the several counties thereof; * * *"

The treasurer has the unquestioned authority under the section he cites, to wit, section 2637, G. C., to name and appoint his deputies, but the state civil service commission has the equally unquestioned authority under the civil service laws to see that the duties he imposes upon said deputies and which they perform when so appointed meet the requirements of said paragraph 9 aforesaid, so that they may be placed in the unclassified service. In other words, it is the duty of the state civil service commission to determine in what class of the civil service each position shall be placed, which determination must be reached by a consideration of the duties to be performed in said position. Tested by these considerations the appointment as deputies of the parties named must eventually receive the approval of the state civil service commission before said parties may be deemed to be in the unclassified service and exempt from the test of a competitive examination.

Answering the direct question submitted by the treasurer in his letter, I must advise that the parties named therein may not be considered as his deputies until they accept said positions and qualify therein as required by law and the state civil service commission approves their appointment. thus placing them in the unclassified service.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1650.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE BY VILLAGE OF FELICITY, CLERMONT COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 2, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

> "RE:—Bonds of the village of Felicity, Clermont county, Ohio, in the sum of $2,200.00 for purchasing necessary equipment to transmit and supply electricity to the village, being eleven bonds of two hundred dollars each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the council and other officers of the village of Felicity, relative to the above bond issue, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code. I am by letter requesting the legal adviser of the village to amend the bond form attached to the transcript by inserting a recital that provision has been made for a sufficient tax levy to pay the interest and redeem said bonds at maturity.

I am of the opinion that said bonds, drawn in accordance with such amended form, and executed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of the village. I should be given an opportunity to examine the bonds when presented to the treasurer of state for delivery.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1651.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE BY NEW RICHMOND VILLAGE SCHOOL DISTRICT, CLERMONT COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 2, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of New Richmond village school district, Clermont county, Ohio, in the sum of $4,460.00 to provide funds to pay the indebtedness of said school district, being eight bonds of five hundred dollars each, and one bond of four hundred and sixty dollars."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the board of education of New Richmond village school district relative to the above bond issue, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the form submitted, and signed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of said village school district.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

652.

AUTOMOBILE LICENSE PLATES—BOARD OF ADMINISTRATION HAS AUTHORITY TO MANUFACTURE SUCH PLATES WITH CONVICT LABOR IN PENITENTIARY AND REFORMATORY.

There is ample provision of law to authorize the manufacture of automobile license plates by convict labor in the penitentiary and reformatory.

Section 41 of article 11 of the constitution, adopted September 3, 1912, has for its primary purpose the elimination of private profit from the labor of convicts in the penal institutions of the state.

Any surplus resulting from revenues derived from registration fees after defraying the expense of carrying out the provisions of the law must be turned into the state treasury weekly.

The question of the expediency of manufacturing automobile license plates is one for the determination of the Ohio board of administration, and before the state or any institution thereof may be called on to purchase supplies manufactured by said board it is required that a written notice shall be given to the effect that the board is equipped to furnish the supplies in question.

If the Ohio board of administration qualifies to furnish automobile license plates at current market prices, it will be necessary under the provisions of section six (6) of the current appropriation bill to secure the approval of the board mentioned in section four (4) of said appropriation bill to dispense with competitive bidding in order that arrangements for the furnishing of the license plates may be made with the Ohio board of administration.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 3, 1916.

HON. CHARLES Q. HILDEBRANT, Secretary of State, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Your request for an opinion is as follows:

> "We beg to submit to you for an opinion the following question, to wit:
> " 'Are there any provisions of law authorizing the state board of administration to manufacture and supply automobile license plates, as provided in section 6300 of the General Code of Ohio, for the year 1917, by convict labor?' "

Section 6300 of the General Code, as amended (103 O. L., 764), is as follows:

> "Such distinctive number as an identification mark shall consist of a placard, upon the face of which shall appear the distinctive number assigned to such motor vehicle as hereinbefore provided, in arabic numerals, such numerals to be not less than four inches in length, and each stroke not less than one half inch in width. Such placard shall also contain the name of this state and the figures of the calendar year for which this distinctive number is signed. Such distinctive number or placard shall be of a different color or shade each year, such color or shade to be selected by the secretary of state, provided that the identification mark of motor vehicles of the type commonly called motorcycles shall consist of a placard, the size of which shall be prescribed by the secretary of state."

Section 6301 of the General Code, as amended (106 O. L., 335), which relates to the manufacturers' and dealers' application is as follows:

> "A manufacturer or dealer in motor vehicles shall make application for registration, in like manner as hereinbefore provided, of each gasoline, steam, electric or other make of motor vehicles so manufactured and dealt in, and shall pay or cause to be paid a registration fee of five dollars for each make of motor bicycles, motorcycles, and motor tricycles named in such said application, and a registration fee of ten dollars for each make of other motor vehicles named therein. Thereupon, the secretary of state shall assign to each make of motor vehicles therein described a distinctive number, which must be carried and displayed by each motor vehicle of such like make in the manner provided in this chapter while it is operated on a public highway until it is sold or let for hire. Such manufacturer or dealer so registering a make of motor vehicle may procure certified copies of such registration certificate upon the payment of a fee of one dollar for each such copy. With each of such certified copies the secretary of state shall furnish two placards with the same numbering as provided in the original registration certificate."

Section 6298 of the General Code, as amended (103 O. L., 764), is as follows:

"Upon the filing of such application in the office of the secretary of state, and the payment of the registration fee provided for, the secretary of state shall assign to such motor vehicle a distinctive number, and, without expense to the applicant, issue and deliver to the owner, in such manner as the secretary of state may select, a certificate of registration in such form as the secretary of state shall prescribe, and two number plates, duplicates of each other, at the post or express office within the state of Ohio named in said application."

From a reading of the sections of the General Code quoted above it will be seen that it is made the duty of the secretary of state to procure automobile license plates for delivery to licensees for the granting of licenses under the law regulating the operation of motor vehicles.

Sections 2228, 2229 and 2230 of the General Code are as follows:

"Section 2228. The board of managers of the Ohio penitentiary, the board of managers of the Ohio state reformatory, or other authority, shall make no contract by which the labor or time of a prisoner in the penitentiary or reformatory, or the product or profit of his work, shall be let, farmed out, given or sold to any person, firm, association or corporation. Convicts in such institution may work for, and the products of their labor may be disposed of, to the state, or a political division thereof, or for or to a public institution owned or managed and under the control of the state, or a political division thereof, for the purpose and according to the provisions of this chapter.

"Section 2229. The board of managers of the penitentiary and the board of managers of the reformatory, so far as practicable, shall cause all prisoners serving sentences in such institutions, physically capable, to be employed at hard labor for not to exceed nine hours of each day, other than Sundays and public holidays.

"Section 2230. Such labor shall be for the purpose of the manufacture and production of supplies for such institutions, the state or political subdivisions thereof; for a public institution owned, managed and controlled by the state, or a political division thereof; for the preparation and manufacture of building material for the construction or repair of a state institution, or in the work of such construction or repair; for the purpose of industrial training and instruction, or partly for one and partly for the other of such purposes; in the manufacture and production of crushed stone, brick, tile and culvert pipe, suitable for draining wagon roads of the state, or in the preparation of road building and ballasting material."

Under the provisions of section 2229 of the General Code, supra, the duty of keeping prisoners serving sentences in the penitentiary or reformatory at hard labor for a period of not to exceed nine hours per day, when practicable, and when the physical condition of the prisoner permits, is enjoined on the Ohio Board of Administration.

In section 2228 of the General Code, supra, it is provided, among other things, that convicts in the penitentiary and reformatory may work for, and the products of their labor may be disposed of to the state.

In section 2230 of the General Code, supra, it is also provided, among other things, that > "such labor shall be for the purpose of the manufacture and production of supplies for such institutions, the state or political subdivisions thereof. * *"

Section 41 of article II of the constitution of Ohio, which is one of the amendments adopted September 3, 1912, is as follows:

> "Laws shall be passed providing for the occupation and employment of prisoners sentenced to the several institutions and reformatories in the state, and no person in any such penal institution or reformatory, while under sentence thereto, shall be required or allowed to work at any trade, industry or occupation, wherein or whereby his work, or the product or profit of his work, shall be sold, farmed out, contracted or given away; and goods made by persons under sentence to any penal institution or reformatory without the state of Ohio, and such goods made within the state of Ohio, excepting those disposed of to the state, or any political subdivision thereof, or to any public institution owned, managed or controlled by the state, or any political subdivision thereof, shall not be sold within this state unless the same are conspicuously marked 'prison made.' Nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent the passage of laws providing that convicts may work for, and that the products of their labor may be disposed of, to the state, or any political subdivision thereof, or for or to any public institution owned or managed and controlled by the state, or any political subdivision thereof."

The primary purpose of the constitutional amendment quoted, as shown by the explanation of its purpose when submitted to the people, is as follows:

> "This amendment will eliminate the elements of private profit from the labor of inmates of prisons and reformatories of Ohio. It will permit the employment of prisoners, in the production of things needed by any state, county or municipal institution, or in the building of public roads."

Section 6309, of the General Code, as amended (104 O. L., 6), in part, is as follows:

> "The revenues derived by registration fees provided for in this chapter shall be paid by the secretary of state weekly into the state treasury. Any surplus of such revenues which may remain after the payment of the expenses incident to carrying out and enforcing the provisions of this chapter shall be used for the repair, maintenance, protection, policing and patroling of the public roads and highways of this state, under the direction, supervision and control of the state highway department."

From a reading of section 6309, of the General Code, as amended, supra, it will be observed that any surplus of revenues derived from registration fees remaining after defraying the expenses incident to carrying out the provisions of the law is to be paid into the state treasury weekly. Any surplus of such revenues is to be used for the repair, maintenance, protection, policing and patroling the public roads and highways of the state under the direction, supervision and control of the state highway department.

With the exception of the duplicate license plates which are issued by your office to replace lost or destroyed license plates and for which, I learned upon inquiry of your office a nominal charge is made, none of the license plates used by you in carrying out the provisions of the law are sold, it being expressly provided in section 6298, of the General Code, as amended, supra, that such license plates are to be issued without expense to the applicant

Specifically answering your question, it is my opinion that there is ample provision in sections 2228, 2229 and 2230 of the General Code, supra, to authorize the employment of convict labor in the penitentiary and reformatory to manufacture automobile license tags to be supplied to the state if the Ohio Board of Administration finds such a course to be practicable, there being nothing in the provisions of section 41 of article II of the Ohio Constitution, supra, to forbid such a course. On the contrary, the spirit of the constitutional amendment, as well as of all recent enactments, is to find employment for prisoners along lines of work the product of which will be consumed by the state, its institutions and political subdivisions.

The foregoing answers your question as asked. However, there are several matters of detail that become important in this connection. In the first place it should be pointed out that under section 1846, of the General Code, the Ohio Board of Administration would not have the right to charge more than the usual market price for such plates, and whether or not the board could install the necessary machinery and furnish the plates at the usual market prices where the only work of this character that the board had was this particular contract, is a question to be determined in the first instance at least by the Ohio Board of Administration.

Section 1847, of the General Code, provides, in part:

> "* * * Whenever the board shall give written notice to any official or officials having lawful authority to purchase such article or articles that it is prepared to supply them from any institution under its control, such official or officials shall make any needed purchases of said article or articles from such institution unless the chief officer thereof, or the board, having been requested to furnish such article or articles shall give notice in writing that the same cannot be furnished within thirty days from the date of the request. * * *"

Section 6 of house bill No. 701 (106 O. L., 826), which is the current appropriation bill, provides, in part, as follows:

> "Section 6. The moneys appropriated in sections 2 and 3 of this act shall be drawn upon a requisition or voucher presented to the auditor, approved by the head of the department. * * * Such requisitions or vouchers shall set forth in itemized form and specify the classification of the service rendered, material furnished, or expenses incurred, and the date of purchase or time of service, and show that competitive bids were secured, unless otherwise provided by law; or unless in the judgment of the board provided in section 4 herein, it is impracticable because of the peculiar nature or location of the work to be done, in which case the above mentioned board may in writing authorize the department affected to proceed to do the work, or that it was an emergency requiring purchase; * * *"

Inasmuch as the Ohio Board of Administration is not at the present time equipped to furnish these license tags it is not necessary to determine what effect, if any, the provisions of section 6, of the current appropriation bill, requiring competitive bidding would have upon section 1847, of the General Code.

I am, however, of the opinion that if you were to enter into an arrangement with the Ohio Board of Administration whereby they were to equip to furnish these tags at current market prices it would be necessary to secure the approval of the board named in section 4 of said appropriation bill to dispense with competitive bidding. I apprehend that said board could legally make the necessary finding and that it would give the necessary consent.

It should be further borne in mind that under section 3 of the current appropriation bill it is provided that the money therein appropriated shall not be expended to pay liabilities or deficiencies existing prior to July 1, 1916, and that, therefore, any obligation entered into for the 1917 license tags should be contracted subsequent to July 1, 1916.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1653.

BOARD OF EDUCATION—RURAL SCHOOL DISTRICT WHICH MAINTAINS NO HIGH SCHOOL—PUPILS ATTEND SCHOOL IN ANOTHER DISTRICT—WHEN BOARD OF FORMER DISTRICT IS REQUIRED TO PAY TUITION OF SUCH HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS.

A rural school district which maintains no high school and has no agreement with another district maintaining a high school for the schooling of its high school pupils, is required to pay the tuition of such high school pupils by section 7747, G. C., 104 O. L., 125, when the notice of the attendance of such pupils is given as required by section 7750, G. C.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 3, 1916.

HON. B. A. MYERS, Prosecuting Attorney, Celina, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Yours under date of May 20, 1916, is as follows:

> "Calling your attention to section 7747 and section 7748, of the General Code of Ohio, I submit the following question at the request of the board of education of Celina, Ohio.
>
> "Certain pupils holding diplomas and residing in Montezuma special school district, where they have no high school, are attending the Celina high school, and Montezuma special school district claim that all funds raised or permitted by law in their district are necessary for the support of the schools of such district, and upon this theory refuse to pay the tuition of the pupils who are attending the Celina high school. The parents of the pupils insist that the Celina board of education collect their money from the Montezuma school district under section 7747, of the General Code.
>
> "Can the Montezuma board of education be compelled to pay this tuition?"

It is stated that the Montezuma special school district, which is now a rural school district by virtue of section 4735, G. C., 104 O. L., 133, has no high school and it is assumed that the board of education of such rural district has no agreement with any other board of education maintaining a high school for the schooling of the high school pupils of the Montezuma district under the provisions of section 7750, G. C.

Section 7747, G. C., 104 O. L., 125, to which you refer, provides as follows:

> "The tuition of pupils who are eligible for admission to high school and who reside in rural districts in which no high school is maintained, shall be paid by the board of education of the school district in which they have legal school residence, such tuition to be computed by the month. An attendance any part of the month shall create a liability for the entire month. No more shall be charged per capita than the amount ascertained by dividing the total expense of conducting the high school of the district attended, exclusive of permanent improvements and repair, by the average monthly enrollment in the high school of the district. The district superintendent shall certify to the county superintendent each year the names of all pupils in his supervision district who have completed the elementary school work, and are eligible for admission to high school. The county superintendent shall thereupon issue to each pupil so certified a certificate of promotion which shall entitle the holder to admission to any high school. Such certificates shall be furnished by the superintendent of public instruction."

The provisions of this section clearly impose upon the board of education which maintains no high school the obligation to pay the tuition of the pupils who reside in such rural school district and who are eligible for admission to a high school to the district in which such pupils attend high school. The obligation here referred to is subject, however, to the modification effected by the provisions of section 7750, G. C., as follows:

> "A board of education not having a high school may enter into an agreement with one or more boards of education maintaining such school for the schooling of all its high school pupils. When such agreement is made the board making it shall be exempt from the payment of tuition at other high schools of pupils living within three miles of the school designated in the agreement, if the school or schools selected by the board are located in the same civil township, as that of the board making it, or some adjoining township. In case no such agreement is entered into, the school to be attended can be selected by the pupil holding a diploma, if due notice in writing is given to the clerk of the board of education of the name of the school to be attended and the date the attendance is to begin, such notice to be filed not less than five days previous to the beginning of attendance."

If then, as it is assumed, the Montezuma district has no such agreement as is here authorized for schooling its high school pupils, the provisions of section 7747, G. C., supra, are limited or modified only by the latter provision of section 7750, G. C., which requires notice shall be given in writing to the clerk of the board of education of the name of the school to be attended and the date the attendance is to begin, not less than five days previous to the beginning of attendance.

This provision was considered in opinion No. 675, addressed to Hon. Hugh F. Neuhart, prosecuting attorney of Noble county, under date of August 2, 1915, found at page 1381 of the opinions of the attorney-general for the year 1915, in which it was held that tuition could not be collected from the resident district of a high school pupil unless notice of the attendance of such pupils be first given in accordance with the provision here referred to.

If the notice of attendance was duly filed as required by section 7750, G. C., then under the facts stated by you and in the absence of such agreement for schooling high school pupils as is authorized by the same section, the board of education of the Montezuma rural school district would be liable for the tuition of the high school pupils residing in that district and who attended high school in another district.

You state that it is claimed by the board of education of the Montezuma district that they are exempt from paying such tuition for the reason that "all the funds raised or permitted by law in their district are necessary for the support of the schools of such district."

It is presumed that this contention is based upon the provision of section 7748, G. C., 104 O. L., 125, hereafter noted. This section is quite lengthy and need not be quoted in full. This section deals only with districts which maintain or provide a high school or high schools of some recognized grade and provides, among other things, that a board providing a second grade high school shall pay the tuition of its pupils who graduate at such high school for one year at a first grade high school. This provision is modified by the exception following:

> "except that, a board maintaining a second or third grade high school is not required to pay such tuition when the maximum levy permitted by law for such district has been reached and all the funds so raised are necessary for the support of the schools of such district."

It is perfectly clear from the language of this exception that it can have no application to a rural district which does not maintain a second grade high school and could not, therefore, have any application to the district in question which it is stated maintains no high school. I am aware of no statutory provision, other than those above referred to, by force of which the Montezuma rural school district would be exempted from the provisions of section 7747, G. C., supra.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1654.

COUNTY COMMISSIONER—FORM OF PRIMARY BALLOT FOR NOMINATION OF CANDIDATES FOR COUNTY COMMISSIONER TO FILL AN UNEXPIRED TERM.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 3, 1916.

HON. J. H. MUSSER, Prosecuting Attorney, Wapakoneta, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Yours under date of May 20, 1916, is as follows:

> "One of the Auglaize county commissioners resigned, and thereupon the auditor, probate judge, and recorder, proceeded to fill the vacancy until the next election.
>
> "The question has now arisen as to how the person, who might be a candidate to fill this vacancy, shall be desiganted on the ballot in the primary.
>
> "As I understand it, the person who was appointed to hold until the next regular election, and until his successor is elected and qualified, desires to be a candidate, and I would like to have your opinion as to whether he should be designated on the ballot as a candidate for the 'unexpired term' of the former commissioner, or whether he should be designated as candidate for county commissioner 'short term.' "

It is provided by section 2397, G. C., that when a vacancy occurs in the office of county commissioner, more than thirty days before the next election of state and county officers, or within that time, and the interest of the county requires that the vacancy be filled before the election, the probate judge, auditor and recorder shall appoint a commissioner who shall hold his office until his successor is elected and qualified. Section 10, G. C., provides that such successor shall be elected for the unexpired term. Under the provisions of section 2395, G. C., there is required to be elected three county commissioners in each county at the next November election for the term of two years beginning on the third Monday of September, 1917. Under the facts stated there is then required to be elected in your county at the coming November election three county commissioners for the regular term of two years and one county commissioner for the remainder of the unexpired term of the commissioner who resigned.

While the same person may be elected to fill the unexpired term and for a regular term, there must be a separate election to each such term, so that there may be nominated at the primary election to be held in August of this year, for the nomination of state and county officers, candidates for both the regular and the unexpired term. In the very nature of things it is necessary to distinguish as between candidates for these two different tenures, both in the primary and in the election.

There is no statutory method prescribed for indicating such distinction upon the ballot. Such method should, however, be adopted as will readily and clearly indicate to the voter the term for which a person or persons are candidates. I can see little, if any, ground for preference as between the expressions "unexpired term" and "short term." It seems to me that they would be equally intelligible and sufficiently indicate the distinction, and that either phrase might with propriety be used.

It is provided by section 4976, G. C., that primary tickets "shall conform, as nearly as practicable, to the form of the ballot provided in this title for the use of electors in the election of public officers."

Since, for the regular term there are to be three candidates nominated, and for the short, or unexpired term, there is to be but one candidate nominated, that distinction should also be noted.

I therefore advise that if the primary ballot is in all other respects as required by law, it will be sufficient as to nominations for candidates for county commissioner for the unexpired or short term if the names of the candidates for such unexpired term be placed upon the primary ballot under the title of the office of county commissioner in the form substantially as follows:

	County Commissioner for the unexpired term. Vote for one.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1655.

ROADS AND HIGHWAYS—TOWNSHIP TRUSTEES ARE NOT AUTHORIZED TO LOAN ROAD BUILDING MACHINERY OWNED BY TOWNSHIP—RECOVERY MAY BE HAD ON CONTRACT WHEN SAME IS UNLAWFULLY LEASED—NO AUTHORITY UNDER SECTION 7033, G. C., FOR EXPENDITURES OF TOWNSHIP FUNDS IN CONSTRUCTION OF SWITCH—RIGHTS OF PARTIES WHO HAVE ENTERED INTO CONTRACT WHEN SAME HAS BEEN CONSTRUCTED.

Township trustees are not authorized to loan road building machinery and tools owned by the township, neither are they authorized to rent or hire such machinery to contractors or other persons. Where township trustees have unlawfully leased road machinery and the lessee has had the use of the machinery and the contract has been fully completed, recovery may be had on the contract. Where such machinery is unlawfully loaned, the trustees and the person using the same are liable in damages to the township.

There was no authority under old section 7033, G. C., et seq., for the expenditure of township funds in the construction of a switch or trade spur leading from a switch belonging to a stone crushing company. Where such a switch was constructed and was leased to a contractor and the contract has been executed and the lessee has had the use of the switch, the agreed rental may be recovered from him. Where a contractor is allowed by the trustees to use the switch free of charge, both the trustees and the contractor are liable in damages if any damage resulted from such use.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 3, 1916.

The Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—I have your request for an opinion under date of April 24, 1916, which request reads as follows:

"We would respectfully request your written opinion upon the following questions:

"(1) Where a township owns road-building machinery and tools, have the trustees of such township a right to loan such machinery to contractors or to permit the use of such machinery and tools by any one other than the officials of the township?

"(2) Have the trustees of such township a right to rent or hire such machinery to contractors and others, and if so must a rate, determined upon by such trustees and made a matter of record, be adhered to, or may such rate be modified or suspended by verbal agreement only?

"(3) If the trustees have a right to rent or hire such machinery, etc., to contractors and others, have they a right to fix a rate to one person, different from that given to another?

"(4) If the trustees have a right to hire such machinery, etc., can recovery be enforced against the trustees and the contractor when the rate fixed by such trustees is less than the reasonable rental value of such appliances?

"(5) If the trustees have no right to loan such machinery, etc., can recovery be enforced against the trustees and the contractor for the reasonable rental value thereof where its use without cost has been permitted under a verbal agreement?

"The trustees of a township, when beginning the construction of a road improvement, the funds for which were derived from the sale of bonds, desired for use in that connection a trade spur from a switch belonging to a stone crushing company. By agreement with such company the spur was built, the said company furnishing the steel rails and the trustees performing the labor, etc., and agreeing to pay said company the sum of $2.00 for each car delivered thereon.

"The trustees then passed a resolution by which a charge of $6.00 per car was to be made against any contractor or other person using said spur.

"(1) Can the proceeds of a bond sale for road construction purposes be used in this manner?

"(2) Can the general township funds be used for such purposes?

"(3) Can the rate of $6.00 per day, as fixed by the trustees, be collected from the contractor using the switch?

"(4) Can a finding for recovery of the above, or any other amount, be enforced against the contractor who used the switch free of charge by verbal agreement with the trustees?"

In reply to the first question submitted by you it would not be contended that where a township owns road building machinery and tools, the trustees of such township would have a right to make a gift of such machinery to a contractor, or to a private individual, and thereby divest the township of its ownership thereof.

I am unable to distinguish in principle between an absolute gift of the machinery, which would divest the township of its title to the same, and a loan of the machinery to persons desiring to use the same, and in my opinion a loan of road building machinery and tools owned by a township is wholly unauthorized. The township authorities have no right to permit the use of such machinery and tools by any persons other than the township officials, or employes of the township, with one exception that will be hereinafter noted.

Prior to the going into effect of the Cass highway law on September 6, 1915, this matter was covered by an express statutory provision found in section 3275, G. C., which section authorized the trustees to purchase road machinery "for the use of the township," and provided that such machinery should "be used exclusively for that purpose."

Section 3275, G. C., was repealed by the Cass highway law, which law authorizes the purchase of road machinery by township trustees, but so far as I have been able to discover contains no express provision to the effect that such machinery may be used only for township purposes. I am of the opinion, however, that the absence of such a statutory provision does not serve to alter the rule. Where a township owns a road roller, or other road building machinery, for which there is no present need in the prosecution of work by force account, it would be proper for the trustees, in advertising the letting of road work to be done by contract, to stipulate in the advertisement that the successful bidder will be permitted to use the machinery in question. Such an arrangement does not amount to a loan or a lease of the machinery, and at the same time places all contractors on the same basis.

Coming now to consider the right of township trustees to rent or hire such machinery to contractors and others, it should be observed that the authority and powers of officers are determined by the law. Public officers have no powers except such as are expressly given by statute, or such as are implied from those expressly given.

> "Express grants of power to public officers are usually subjected to a strict interpretation, and will be construed as conferring those powers only which are expressly imposed or necessarily implied."
>
> "Mechem on Public Officers and Offices, Section 511."

As before observed, township trustees, both under the Cass highway law and under the former statute repealed by that law, were authorized to purchase road machinery. As before indicated, the former statute provided expressly that such machinery should be used exclusively for township purposes, but even in the absence of such a provision I am unable to say that the authority to purchase road machinery carries with it by implication the right to rent or hire such machinery to contractors and other private persons. I think the necessary inference is that such machinery may be used only by the officers and employes of the township when engaged in the construction, improvement, maintenance or repair of roads by force account, with the one exception heretofore noted, and therefore advise you, in answer to your second question, that township trustees are not authorized to rent or hire to contractors or other persons road machinery belonging to the township. The answer to the first branch of your second question renders it unnecessary to answer the second branch of that question, and this is also true as to your third question.

While there is authority for the proposition that a municipal corporation, township or other similar political subdivision cannot maintain an action upon an ultra vires contract, yet the proposition that where a contract has been fully executed, a party who has obtained the full benefits thereof will not, when called upon to pay, be permitted to plead that the contract is ultra vires, also finds support in the authorities, and the last stated rule is the more equitable and just. See the case of Adelphi v. Swinhart, 3 O. D. R., 551. It is therefore my view that where township trustees have unlawfully leased road machinery, and the lessee has had the use of the machinery, and the contract has been fully completed, recovery may be had on the contract. When the rate fixed in the contract is substantially less than the reasonable rental value of the machinery, the township may, if it so desires, ignore the contract, and maintain an action in damages against the trustees and the person using the machinery. The measure of damages would be the depreciation in value of such machinery by reason of its use by the person in question.

Where the machinery is unlawfully loaned the trustees and the person using the same are liable in damages to the township, and in this case the measure of damages would also be the depreciation in value of the machinery by reason of its unlawful use. Where machinery is leased for an unconscionably small consideration, or where it is loaned, the law would not, however, imply a promise to pay the reasonable rental value thereof, and an action for the same could not be maintained. I believe the above constitutes an answer to your fourth and fifth questions.

Coming now to consider the second group of questions submitted by you, I am informed that in the particular instance referred to by you, the township trustees, in constructing the road improvement in question, were assuming to act under authority of section 7033, G. C., et seq., which sections were repealed by the Cass highway law. Your questions will, therefore, be answered with reference to the sections of the General Code under which the township trustees were attempting to operate. There was no authority for force account work under the sections of the General Code in question, and the trustees were required to carry forward the work of improving roads under these sections by contract.

Upon well established principles of law relating to the powers of public officers, which principles have been hereinbefore referred to, I advise you that there was no authority in law for a contract between the township trustees and the stone crushing company for the construction of a spur upon any terms, and the first and second questions relating to this matter must, therefore, be answered in the negative.

In answering your third and fourth questions relating to this matter, I assume that the unauthorized arrangement between the township trustees and the stone crushing company contemplated the exclusive use or control of the switch by the trustees. In accordance with what has already been said, I am of the opinion that where a contractor actually used the switch under an express contract to pay the township an agreed rental therefor, such contractor, after having had the full benefit thereof, would not in a suit for the recovery of the agreed rental be heard to say that the contract was ultra vires. In the absence of an express contract the action of the trustees in passing a resolution fixing the rental to be charged would have to be brought to the knowledge of a contractor before he could be charged the rate fixed in the resolution. Where a contractor used the switch without actual knowledge of the resolution and without any contract, he could not be held for the rate fixed in the resolution, and this is also true where he used it under an agreement that no charge was to be made. Under such circumstances the only remedy of the township is an action for damages in case the switch was actually damaged or depreciated in value by the use to which it was put.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1656.

COUNTY BOARD OF SCHOOL EXAMINERS—MEMBERS OF SUCH BOARD ARE NOT "COUNTY OFFICERS" AND SAID BOARD IS NOT "COUNTY BOARD" WITHIN MEANING OF SECTION 2917, G. C., AND PROSECUTING ATTORNEY IS NOT REQUIRED TO ACT AS LEGAL ADVISER OF SAID BOARD.

The members of the county board of school examiners are not "county officers" and said board is not a "county board" within the meaning of section 2917, G. C., and the prosecuting attorney of the county, as such, is not therefore required by the provisions of said section to act as legal adviser of said board.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 3, 1916.

HON. E. A. SCOTT, Prosecuting Attorney, West Union, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Yours under date of May 5, 1916, is as follows:

> "Under section 2917, the prosecuting attorney is made the legal adviser of all county officers, etc.
>
> "Is the prosecuting attorney the legal adviser of the board of school examiners?"

That part of section 2917 which is pertinent to your inqury is as follows:

> "The prosecuting attorney shall be the legal adviser of the county commissioners and all other county officers and county boards and any of them may require of him written opinions or instructions in matters connected with their official duties. He shall prosecute and defend all suits and actions which any such officer or board may direct or to which it is a party, and no county officer may employ other counsel or attorney at the expense of the county except as provided in section twenty-four hundred and twelve. * * *"

The county board of school examiners is established under the provisions of section 7811, G. C., as follows:

> "There shall be a county board of school examiners for each county, consisting of the county superintendent, one district superintendent and one other competent teacher, the latter two to be appointed by the county board of education. The teacher so appointed must have had at least two years' experience as teacher or superintendent, and be a teacher or supervisor in the public schools of the county school district or of an exempted village school district. Should he remove from the county during his term, his office thereby shall be vacated and his successor appointed."

Since none of the several members of the board of county school examiners are elected, it is clear that they cannot be held to be county officers without contravening the provision of section 1 of article X of the constitution, which requires that all county officers shall be elected.

The prosecuting attorney, however, is not only made the legal adviser of all county officers, but of all county boards as well. If, then, it be determined that the board of school examiners is a county board, the prosecuting attorney is by the terms of said section 7811, G. C., supra, unquestionably, by virtue of his office, the legal adviser of such board.

While the board in question is specifically designated a "county board" by the terms of the statute under which the same was created, that, of itself, is not conclusive of the question whether it is a "county board" in contemplation of section 2917, G. C., supra.

Since the incumbent of an appointive position may not be a county officer, we are confronted with the question: May there be, within the terms of section 2917, G. C., supra, a county board, the members of which are not county officers?

It was held in opinion No. 336, under date of May 6, 1915, found at page 664, of the opinions of the attorney-general for the year 1915, and also in opinion No. 1615, addressed to Hon. J. W. Watts, prosecuting attorney, under date of May 24, 1916, that the county board of education, since its members were not elected and therefore not county officers, was not a county board within the terms of section 2917, G. C.

This rule, it would seem, must be equally and as clearly applicable to the county board of school examiners. I am therefore of opinion, in answer to your inquiry, that the prosecuting attorney is not, by the provisions of section 2917, G. C., made the legal adviser of the county board of school examiners.

I am enclosing herewith copy of opinion No. 1615, above referred to and not yet printed.

Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER.

Attorney-General.

1657.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE BY CITY OF FINDLAY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 3, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of the city of Findlay, in the amount of $2,100.00, issued in anticipation of the collection of special assessments to improve Glendale avenue from the west end of the present pavement to the west line of Washington avenue, being one bond of three hundred dollars and nine bonds of two hundred dollars each."

I have examined the transcript of proceedings of the council and other officers of the city of Findlay, Ohio, relative to the above bond issue; also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds, drawn in accordance with the form submitted, and executed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of said city.

Respectfully

EDWARD C. TURNER,

Attorney-General.

1658.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE BY CITY OF FINDLAY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 3, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of the city of Findlay, in the sum of $2,085.00, in anticipation of the collection of special assessments for the improvement of Greenlawn avenue from the east end of the present pavement to the west line of Washington avenue, being one bond of two hundred and eighty-five dollars and nine bonds of two hundred dollars each."

I have examined the transcript of proceedings of the council and other officers of the city of Findlay, Ohio, relative to the above bond issue, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds, drawn in accordance with the form submitted, and executed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of the city of Findlay. Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,

Attorney-General.

1659.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE BY CITY OF FINDLAY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 3, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of the city of Findlay, Ohio, in the amount of $8,550.00, issued in anticipation of the collection of special assessments for the improvement of Laquineo street from North Main street to the T. & O. C. Ry. Co. tracks, being one bond of nine hundred dollars and nine bonds of eight hundred and fifty dollars each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of council and other officers of the city of Findlay, relative to the above bond issue, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the form submitted, and executed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of the said city.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1660.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE BY POLAND TOWNSHIP RURAL SCHOOL DISTRICT, MAHONING COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 3, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of Poland township rural school district, Mahoning county, Ohio, in the sum of $35,000.00, to erect and furnish two school buildings, being thirty-five bonds of $1,000.00."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the board of education and other officers of Poland township rural school district relative to the above bond issue, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the form submitted, and executed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of the said rural school district.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1661.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE OF VILLAGE OF LONDON, MADISON COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 5, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of the village of London, Madison county, Ohio, in the sum of $2,500.00, in anticipation of the collection of special assessments for the improvement of East First street from Main street to Maple street, by laying cable and erecting and equipping standards for cluster lights, being five bonds of five hundred dollars."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the council and other officers of the village of London relative to the above bond issue, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the form submitted, and executed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of the village of London, Ohio. Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1662.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE OF VILLAGE OF LONDON, MADISON COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 5, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of London, Madison county, Ohio, in the sum of $30,000.00, being ten bonds of $500.00 each to pay the village's portion, and fifty bonds of $500.00 each to pay the property owner's portion of the cost and expense of improving West High street from Main street to the Big Four Railroad Company's right of way."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the council and other officers of the village of London relative to the above bond issue, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the form submitted, and executed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of the village of London, Ohio. Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1663.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE BY CITY OF WOOSTER, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 6, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of the city of Wooster, in the amount of $11,738.00, issued in anticipation of the collection of special assessments for the improvement of south Bever street between the south line of East South street and the east line of Madison avenue, being one bond of $238.00, and twenty three bonds of $500.00 each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the council and other officers of the city of Wooster relative to the above bond issue, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the form submitted, and executed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of the city of Wooster.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1664.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE BY MADISON COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 6, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of Madison county, Ohio, in the sum of $15,680.00 in anticipation of the collection of assessments for ditch construction as follows:

"Foster ditch,	5 bonds of	$ 80 each	$ 400
"Gordin ditch	8 bonds of	500 each	4,000
"Vallery ditch,	6 bonds of	500 each	3,000
"T. C. Gregg ditch,	3 bonds of	360 each	1,080
"Grogan ditch,	3 bonds of	400 each	1,200
"Chrisman ditch,	1 bond of	300	300
"Chrisman ditch,	9 bonds of	500 each	4,500
"Harrod ditch,	3 bonds of	400 each	1,200."

I have examined the several transcripts of the proceedings of the county commissioners and other officers of Madison county relative to the above bond issue, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds, drawn in accordance with the form submitted, and signed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of Madison county, Ohio.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1665.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE BY MUSKINGUM COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 7, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of Muskingum county, Ohio, issued to secure funds to improve certain inter-county highways within said county in the amount of $23,000.00, being forty-six bonds of five hundred dollars each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the county commissioners and other officers of Muskingum county, relative to the above bond issue, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds, drawn in accordance with the form submitted, and signed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of Muskingum county.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1666.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE BY JACKSON TOWNSHIP RURAL SCHOOL DISTRICT, JACKSON COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 7, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of Jackson township rural school district, Jackson county, Ohio, in the sum of $3,000.00, to purchase a site and erect two new school houses therein, being twelve bonds of $500.00 each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the board of education and other officers of Jackson township rural school district, relative to the above bond issue, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds, drawn in accordance with the form submitted, and executed by the proper officers, will upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of said school district.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1667.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, PAULDING COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 10, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of Paulding county, Ohio, in the amount of $19,500.00 to pay the cost and expense of Lehman pike improvement bonds, being 19 bonds of one thousand dollars each, and 1 bond of five hundred dollars."

I have examined the transcript of the county commissioners and other officers of Paulding county, relative to the above bond issue, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds, drawn in accordance with the provisions of the General Code and the resolutions of the county commissioners authorizing their issuance, and signed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitiute valid and binding obligations of Paulding county.

As no bond and coupon form is attached to the transcript an opportunity should be given me to examine the bonds when presented to the treasurer of state for delivery.

Respectfully
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1668.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, PAULDING COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 10, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of Paulding county, Ohio, in the sum of $30,000.00 to pay the cost and expense of the Wabash-Canal pike improvement, being 30 bonds of one thousand dollars each."

I have examined the transcript of the county commissioners and other officers of Paulding county, relative to the above bond issue, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds, drawn in accordance with the provisions of the General Code and the resolutions of the county commissioners authorizing their issuance, and signed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of Paulding county.

As no bond and coupon form is attached to the transcript, an opportunity should be given me to examine the bonds when they are presented to the treasurer of state for delivery.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1669.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, PAULDING COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 10, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of Paulding county, Ohio, in the sum of $13,000.00, to pay the cost and expense of Yenser-Klein pike improvement, being 13 bonds of one thousand dollars each."

I have examined the transcript of the county commissioners of Paulding county, and other officers of said county, relative to the above bond issue, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the provisions of the General Code and the resolutions of the county commissioners authorizing their issuance, and signed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of Paulding county.

As no bond and coupon form is attached to the transcript an opportunity should be given me to examine the bonds when presented to the treasurer of state for delivery.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1670.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, ZANE TOWNSHIP RURAL SCHOOL DISTRICT, LOGAN COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 10, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of Zane township rural school district, Logan county, Ohio, in the sum of $6,000.00, for the purpose of finishing and furnishing Zane township rural school building, being 12 bonds of $500.00 each."

I have examined the transcript of proceedings of the board of education and other officers of Zane township rural school district, Logan county, Ohio, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the form submitted, and signed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of the said school district.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1671.

FOREIGN CORPORATION—WHEN SAME QUALIFIES TO DO BUSINESS IN THIS STATE AND STILL OWNS PROPERTY IN THIS STATE,, BUT NO LONGER IS "DOING BUSINESS" IN STATE—REQUIRED TO PAY MINIMUM FEE OF TEN DOLLARS IN COMPLIANCE WITH SECTION 5503, G. C.—WHEN CORPORATION MAY RETIRE FROM THIS STATE AND CONTINUE TO HOLD PROPERTY HERE.

Where a foreign corporation, qualified to do business in this state, and owning property herein, is no longer "doing business" in the state within the meaning of section 5503, G. C., and is not, therefore, "using" any of said property in the state within the meaning of said section 5503, G. C., but has not filed the certificate referred to in section 5520, G. C., and provided for in section 11976, G. C., such corporation is only required, each year, to pay the minimum fee of $10.00 in compliance with the provision of said section 5503, G. C.

Said corporation may retire from this state by filing the aforesaid certificate, and continue to hold its property here without violating any provision of the statutes.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 12, 1916.

The Tax Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—In your letter under date of May 10th you request my opinion as follows:

> "The Pittsburgh Block Coal Company, a foreign corporation qualified to transact business in Ohio, after which it purchased property, and for several years transacted business in this state. It then ceased to transact business in this state and leased its property to another company. The company now owns no property except that in Ohio, and does not transact business anywhere. The amount of its authorized capital stock is $50,000.00.
>
> "Is this company required to pay an annual franchise fee in order to maintain its charter rights in this state? If so, upon what amount should the fee be based?
>
> "Can the above company retire from this state and continue to hold its property here without violating the laws of Ohio?"

I have on file in this office the affidavit of John Kennedy Ewing, Jr., of Pittsburgh, Pa., who is the president and treasurer of the above mentioned company. From his sworn statement of facts it appears that The Pittsburgh Block Coal Company was organized under the laws of the state of New Jersey in December, 1902, and began doing business in the state of Ohio in February, 1903, in Harrison County, where all of its capital is invested; that it continued to do business until the first of December, 1907, at which time its mines were shut down, and no further business was transacted until October 1, 1909, when the property was leased to The Oliver Coal Company, a Pennsylvania corporation, which operated it until March 1, 1914, at which time that company failed and gave up the lease, and that since then the property has not been operated owing to the long continued strike in the Eastern Ohio coal fields and the want of capital to operate after the strike. It further appears that the said John Kennedy Ewing, Jr., owns nearly all of the stock and other securities of The Pittsburgh Block Coal Company, and that his purpose in keeping the corporation qualified in the state of Ohio is that it will enable him to sell the property more readily, or the company in its entirety.

Mr. Ewing's statement of facts is in keeping with that contained in your letter as above set forth.

It is contended by the representative of the aforesaid company that since said date of March 1, 1914, the aforesaid company has not been transacting business in Ohio, and that for the purpose of merely owning property in this state said company is not required to qualify to transact business in this state under section 178, G. C., which provides that before a foreign corporation for profit "transacts business in this state" it shall procure from the secretary of state the certificate of admission as therein prescribed, and under section 183, G. C., which provides that:

> "Before doing business in this state a foreign corporation organized for profit, and owning or using a part or all of its capital or plant in this state, shall make and file with the secretary of state in such form as he may prescribe, a statement under oath of its president, secretary, treasurer, superintendent or managing agent in this state," containing the statement of facts required by said statute; that its compliance with said sections was erroneous and that such compliance relieves it of the liability for any fees except the minimum fee of $10.00 required by provision of section 5503, G. C., attention being called to the opinion of my predecessor, Hon. U. G. Denman (Annual report of the attorney-general for the year 1909, page 84), in which it was held that the foreign corporation, under consideration in said opinion, was indebted to the state for at least ten dollars per year from the time it filed its application for admission to do business in Ohio, but that it would not be liable for any more than that amount during any year in which it had no property or business in Ohio, and that it was not necessary that said company should both own property and do business in the state in order that it be required to pay this tax; that it was sufficient if it owned property located in the state or did business alone in the state. Reference to this opinion will hereafter be made.

It is further contended by the representative of The Pittsburgh Block Coal Company that a foreign corporation is not "doing business" in Ohio within the meaning of the statutes, unless it is engaged in the principal enterprise for which it was organized, attention being called to an opinion of my predecessor, Hon. Timothy S. Hogan (Annual report of the attorney-general for the year 1912, at page 526), in which it was held that under the above provision of section 183, G. C., the mere ownership of property and the mere use of the capital stock of a foreign corporation in this state otherwise than in the "doing of business" does not impose any obligation upon such foreign corporation; numerous authorities being cited in support of the proposition that a company is not "doing business" within the meaning of statutes like section 183, G. C., unless it is engaged in the principal enterprise for which it was organized.

From the statement of facts as above set forth it appears that the principal enterprise for which the above named company was organized is mining and selling coal. It further appears that for several years said company transacted such business in this state; that during the years from October 1, 1909, to March 1, 1914, the property of said company was leased to the Ohio Coal Company, a foreign corporation; that since said latter date no business has been transacted in Ohio or elsewhere by The Pittsburgh Block Coal Company or its lessee, but said company continues to own the property hereinbefore referred to located in this state and has an authorized capital stock of $50,000.00.

In determining the answer to your first question I call your attention to the following provisions of the statutes to be considered in connection with the provisions of the statutes and the holdings of my predecessors hereinbefore set forth.

Section 5499, G. C., provides:

> "Annually, during the month of July, each foreign corporation for profit, doing business in this state, and owning or using a part or all of its capital or plant in this state, and subject to compliance with all other provisions of law, and in addition to all other statements required by law, shall make a report in writing to the commission in such form as the commission may prescribe."

Section 5500, G. C., provides for the verification of said report and section 5501, G. C., prescribes what said report shall contain.

Section 5502, G. C., provides:

"Upon the filing of the report, provided for in the last three preceding sections, the commission, from the facts thus reported and any other facts coming to its knowledge bearing upon the question, shall, on the first Monday in September, determine the proportion of the authorized capital stock of the company represented by its property and business in this state. On the first Monday of October, the commission shall certify the amount of the proportion of the authorized capital stock of each such company represented by its property and business in this state, as determined by it, to the auditor of state."

And section 5503, G. C., provides:

"On or before October fifteenth, the auditor of state shall charge for collection, as herein provided, annually, from such company, in addition to the initial fees otherwise provided for by law, for the privilege of exercising its franchises in this state, a fee of three-twentieths of one per cent. upon the proportion of the authorized capital stock of the corporation represented by the property owned and used and business transacted in this state, which fee shall not be less than ten dollars in any case. Such fee shall be payable to the treasurer of state on or before the first day of the following December."

Under provision of section 178, G. C., it will be observed that before a corporation for profit transacts business in this state it must secure the certificate of admission required by said section; that "before doing business in this state" such foreign corporation must file with the secretary of state the sworn statement of facts required by section 183, G. C.

Under provision of section 5499, G. C., it is only when a foreign corporation "does business" in the state and owns or uses a part or all of its capital or plant in this state that such corporation is required to file the report therein mentioned, upon the filing of which your commission is required to determine the proportion of the authorized capital stock of the company represented by its property and business in Ohio, and certify this valuation to the auditor of state as required by the provisions of section 5502, G. C., supra, and upon which valuation the auditor of state charges for collection the annual fee prescribed by section 5503, G. C., for the privilege of transacting business in this state, which fee shall in no case be less than ten dollars.

In view of the foregoing provisions of the statutes it seems clear to my mind that said provisions only apply to a foreign corporation which does business in this state and which owns or uses a part or all of its capital or plant in the state and that said statutes impose no obligation on a foreign corporation which does not do business in the state and does not use a part or all of its capital or plant in the state in the transaction of its business.

I am unable, therefore, to agree with my predecessor, Mr. Denman, in holding that, generally speaking, a foreign corporation is subject to the provisions of section 178, et seq., of the General Code, if it merely owns property in the state without doing business in the state.

The courts have frequently had under consideration the question of what constitutes "doing business" within the meaning of the above or similar provisions of the statutes.

In the case of Insurance Company v. Sawyer, et al., 44 Wis., 387, it was held that compliance with the statute of the state of Wisconsin is not necessary to enable a foreign insurance company to take securities in that state for debts due to it by residents of said state.

A foreign corporation may institute and prosecute suits in the courts of Alabama without complying with the constitutional and statutory provisions of that state regulating its right to do business in said state. See Christian v. American Freehold Land Mortgage Co., 89 Ala., 198.

To the same effect see:

Cook v. Rome Brick Co., 98 Ala., 409;
Railway Co. v. Fire Association, 55 Ark., 174;
Powder R. C. Co. v. Commissioners Custer County, 90 Mont., 145.

"The words 'doing business in this state' in the statute, limiting the powers of foreign corporations, refer to the business for which the foreign corporation is organized and not to its doings with its own members or its resort to the courts to enforce liabilities."

Mandel v. Swan Land Co., 154 Ill., 177.

"A foreign corporation is not doing business within the state, within laws 1892, page 1805, C. 687, section 15, requiring it in such instance to obtain a certificate from the secretary of state, by making a contract within the state, no sales being made or other business done there."

Commercial Wood & Cement Co. v. Northern Portland Cement Co., 84 N. Y. Supp., 38.

"Whether a foreign corporation is carrying on business in the state must be determined by what it has done, or is doing, rather than by what it may hereafter do under powers reserved to it in existing contracts, but not yet exercised. For one person to supply the means to another to do business with or on is not the doing of that business by the former."

U. S. v. Bell Telephone Co., et al., 29 Fed. 17.

This latter case arose under the Ohio statutes.

In the case of The Toledo Commercial Company v. The Glen Manufacturing Company, 55 O. S., 217, the syllabus provides:

"The act of May 19, 1894 (91 Ohio Laws, 355-6), which provides 'that no foreign stock corporation, other than a banking and insurance corporation, shall do business in this state without first having procured from the secretary of state a certificate that it has complied with all the requirements of law to authorize it to do business in this state,' etc., and that no such 'corporation doing business in this state without such certificate, shall maintain any action on this state upon any contract made by it in this state until it shall have procured such certificate,' etc., does not apply to a foreign corporation whose business within the state consists merely of selling through traveling agents, and delivering goods manufactured outside of the state."

In view of the foregoing provisions of the statutes and authorities cited, I concur with my predecessor, Mr. Hogan, in his conclusion that the mere ownership of property and the mere use of the capital stock of a foreign corporation in this state otherwise than in the "doing of business" does not impose any obligations upon such foreign corporation under the provisions of sections 178 and 183, G. C., supra.

It appears, however, that The Pittsburg Block Coal Company qualified under the provisions of section 178, et seq., of the General Code, and for several years transacted, in this state, the business for which said corporation was organized. In this connection I call your attention to section 5520, G. C., which provides:

> "The mere retirement from business or voluntary dissolution of a domestic or foreign corporation, without filing the certificate, provided for in sections eleven thousand nine hundred and seventy-four, eleven thousand nine hundred and seventy-five and eleven thousand nine hundred and seventy-six of the General Code, shall not exempt it from the requirements to make reports and pay fees or taxes in accordance with the provisions of this act."

Inasmuch as The Pittsburg Block Coal Company is qualified to do business in this state and still owns property in this state, but is no longer "doing business" in this state within the meaning of the above provisions of the statutes, and is of course not "using" any of the aforesaid property, it is evident that under the holding of the court in the case of State v. Coal Company, 17 O. N. P. (n. s.) 60, the basis for the calculation of the percentage under the above provision of section 5503, G. C., reduces to zero, but inasmuch as said company has not filed the certificate referred to in section 5520, G. C., it is still liable for the minimum fee of ten dollars provided for in said section 5503, G. C.

I am of the opinion, therefore, in answer to your first question, that said company is only required, each year, to pay the minimum fee of ten dollars in compliance with the provision of said section 5503, G. C.

In view of what has already been said in answer to your first question, I am of the opinion that said company may retire from this state by filing with the secretary of state the certificate required by section 11976, G. C., and continue to hold its property here without violating any provision of the statutes. Your second inquiry is therefore answered in the affirmative.

The foregoing answers your separate inquiry under date of May 10th in re The American Plaster Company, a foreign corporation, qualified to transact business in Ohio, which company owns property in this state, does not own any other property and has not transacted business anywhere. Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1672.

DISAPPROVAL, RESOLUTIONS FOR IMPROVEMENT OF SIX ROADS IN HANCOCK COUNTY.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 12, 1916.

HON. CLINTON COWEN, State Highway Commissioner, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of June 7, 1916, transmitting to me for examination final resolutions relating to the following roads:

> "Hancock county—Sec. 'F,' Lima-Sandusky road, Pet. No. 2426.
> "Hancock county—Sec. 'F,' Lima-Sandusky road, Pet. No. 2426.

"Hancock county—Sec. 'G,' Lima-Sandusky road, Pet. No. 2426.
"Hancock county—Sec. 'G,' Lima-Sandusky road, Pet. No. 2426.
"Hancock county—Sec. 'H,' Lima-Sandusky road, Pet. No. 2426.
"Hancock county—Sec. 'H,' Lima-Sandusky road, Pet. No. 2426."

I note that main market road funds are to be used in the construction of the improvements referred to in all of the above resolutions, but it does not appear on the face of the resolutions or by attached certificate that the roads to be improved have been designated as main market roads. I am, therefore, returning the final resolutions in question without my approval.

If, as a matter of fact, the roads referred to in these resolutions have been designated as main market roads and a certificate reciting that fact and signed by you is attached to or endorsed on each of the resolutions, the same will be in such form as to be entitled to approval.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1673.

APPROVAL, RESOLUTION FOR IMPROVEMENT OF CERTAIN ROADS IN CHAMPAIGN, MONTGOMERY, PERRY, PREBLE, ROSS AND SHELBY COUNTIES.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 12, 1916.

HON. CLINTON COWEN, State Highway Commissioner, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of June 7, 1916, transmitting to me for examination final resolutions relating to the following roads:

"Champaign county—Sec. 'K,' Troy-Urbana southern road, Pet. No. 2154.
"Montgomery county—Sec. 'H,' Dayton-Greenville road, Pet. No. 2727.
"Montgomery county—Sec. 'I,' Dayton-Covington road, Pet. No. 2725.
"Montgomery county—Sec. 'L,' Dayton-Indianapolis road, Pet. No. 2721.
"Perry county—Sec. 'Q,' New Lexington-Athens road, Pet. No. 2799.
"Perry County—Sec. 'Q,' New Lexington-Athens road, Pet. No. 2799.
"Preble county—Sec. 'F,' Dayton-Indianapolis road, Pet. No. 2835.
"Preble county—Sec. 'F-2,' Eaton-Richmond road, Pet. No. 2836.
"Ross county—Sec. 'O,' Portsmouth-Columbus road, Pet. No. 2874.
"Shelby county—Sec. 'D,' Sidney-Wapakoneta road, Pet. No. 2928."

I find these resolutions to be in regular form, and am, therefore, returning the same with my approval endorsed thereon.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1674.

DEPUTY STATE SUPERVISORS AND INSPECTORS OF ELECTIONS—EXPENSE FOR OFFICES IN REGISTRATION CITIES IS REQUIRED TO BE PAID BY SUCH CITY FROM ITS GENERAL FUND—LORAIN—ELYRIA.

The cost of the rent, furnishing and supplies for rooms hired by deputy state supervisors and inspectors of elections for offices in registration cities is required to be paid by such city from its general fund.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 12, 1916.

HON. C. F. ADAMS, Prosecuting Attorney, Lorain, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Yours under date of May 25, 1916, is as follows:

"The board of elections of Lorain county have requested of this office an opinion on the following facts:

"In Lorain county are two registration cities, to wit: City of Lorain with eighteen precincts, and the city of Elyria with eleven precincts; outside of these cities are thirty-five precincts.

"The clerk of the board has charge of the Lorain office, which is used only for such business as pertains to the city of Lorain as a registration city.

"The Elyria office is the regular office of the county board, all meetings being held there, and it being the distributing point for all supplies.

"For several years past the distribution of expense, other than salaries, has been as follows:

"Lorain city pays all expense for fixtures, furniture, rent and maintenance of the Lorain office. Similar expenses of the Elyria office have been divided between Lorain and Elyria in proportion to the number of precincts in each city, or as eleven is to eighteen.

"The board wish to know if any expenditure for furniture, fixtures, rent or maintenance of the Elyria office would be a proper charge against the county, and if not, would this expense be a proper charge against both Lorain and Elyria cities?"

Section 4942, G. C., provides for the payment of additional compensation to deputy state supervisors of elections in counties containing cities in which registration is required, and that the same shall be paid monthly from the city treasury. Section 4944, G. C., prescribes the compensation of registrars of electors. Section 4946, G. C., 103 O. L., 545, provides as follows:

"The additional compensation of members of the board of deputy state supervisors and of its clerk in such city hereinbefore specified, the lawful compensation of all registrars of electors in such city, the necessary cost of the registers, books, blanks, forms, stationery and supplies provided by the board for the purposes herein authorized, including poll books for special elections, and the cost of the rent, furnishing and supplies for rooms hired by the board for its officers and as places for registration of electors, and the holding of elections in such city, shall be paid by such city from its general fund. Such expense shall be paid by the treasurer of such city upon vouchers of the board, certified by its chief deputy and clerk and the warrant of the city auditor. Each such voucher shall specify the actual services rendered, the items of supplies furnished and the price or rates charged in detail."

By the terms of this section it is specifically provided that "the necessary cost of the registers, books, blanks, forms, stationery and supplies provided by the board for the purposes of registration, and the cost of the rent, furnishing and supplies for rooms hired by the board for its offices and as places for registration of electors, and the holding of elections in such city, shall be paid by such city from its general fund. It will be observed that it is only the cost of rent, furnishing and supplies for rooms hired by the board for its offices in such city which shall be paid by such city. It is equally clear that the cost of rent, furnishing and supplies of the Elyria office should be paid from the general fund of that city. From the provisions of this section it clearly follows that the expense and cost of rent, furnishing and supplies of the office in Lorain are properly chargeable to the city of Lorain as stated in your inquiry. I find, however, no authority for charging any part of the rent or maintenance expense of the Elyria office against the city of Lorain as such.

It was held in an opinion of my predecessor, Hon. Timothy S. Hogan, found at page 200, 212, of the report of the attorney-general for the year 1912, that under the provisions of section 4696, G. C., supra, the general office expense of the board of deputy state supervisors of elections in registration cities must be borne by the city. That is to say, the general expense of rent, furnishing and supplies of the office rooms of the board of deputy state supervisors of elections, when located within a registration city, shall be paid by the city from its general fund. In this opinion I fully concur. If the general office of the board were located elsewhere in the county than in a registration city, then the rent, furnishing and maintenance of such office would be chargeable to neither nor to both of said cities as such. The expense of the rent, furnishing and maintenance of such general office, if necessary, would then be payable under the provisions of section 4821, G. C., which are as follows:

> "All proper and necessary expenses of the board of deputy state supervisors shall be paid from the county treasury as other county expenses, and the county commissioners shall make the necessary levy to provide therefor. In counties containing annual general registration cities such expenses shall include expenses duly authorized and incurred in the investigation and prosecution of offenses against laws relating to the registration of electors, the right of suffrage, and the conduct of elections."

The general provisions of this section must, however, give way to the special provisions of section 4696, G. C., supra, particularly applicable to the class of expenses under consideration, viz: expenses of offices in the particular class of cities therein referred to.

I am therefore of opinion, in answer to your inquiry, that no part of the cost of the rent, furnishing or supplies of the Elyria office is a proper charge against the county, nor would any part of the same be a proper charge against the city of Lorain.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1675.

DITCHES—AUTHORITY OF DITCH SUPERVISOR TO SELL THE WORK OF CLEANING OR REPAIRING SECTION OF DITCH WHERE NOTICE, AS REQUIRED BY SECTION 6694, G. C., HAS BEEN GIVEN, AND TEMPORARY RESTRAINING ORDER GRANTED BUT LATER DISSOLVED—FURTHER NOTICE NOT REQUIRED.

After the notice required by section 6694, G. C., has been given to lot and land owners, corporate roads, railroads, townships and counties therein referred to, further notice is not thereby required, by reason of a temporary restraining order granted by a court pending litigation in which it is sought to enjoin the sale of the work of cleaning a township ditch by the ditch supervisor when such injunction is refused, and temporary restraining order dissolved upon final termination of such action.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 12, 1916.

HON. GEORGE W. PORTER, Prosecuting Attorney, Greenville, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Yours under date of June 3, 1916, is as follows:

> "In 1914 the ditch supervisor of this township served notice on the property owners along a ditch for a cleanout; that afterwards the apportionments were adjusted by the township trustees and the ditch supervisor ordered to sell the ditch after the thirty days notice required; that before the ditch supervisor could sell the same he was enjoined from proceeding any further with the improvement. This suit was decided in favor of the ditch supervisor this year; the time elapsing between the commencement of the proceedings to improve and up to the present time being about two years. All of this time this injunction has been in force.
>
> "Thirty days after the court of appeals rendered its decision, the ditch supervisor proceeded to sell said improvement; the question now arises as to whether or not this ditch supervisor had a right to sell said ditch improvement without additional notices to the property owners to clean out the ditch, and, could he proceed to sell said improvement without further notice to parties assessed."

By sections 6691, 6692 and 6693, G. C., provision is made for the apportionment of township ditches to the land owners, corporate roads, railroads, township and county, according to the benefits received, for the purpose of cleaning or keeping the same in repair.

Section 6694, G. C., provides as follows:

> "When the apportionment of a ditch provided for in the next three preceding sections is completed, the ditch supervisor, within ten days thereafter, shall notify in writing each of the lot and land owners, corporate roads, railroads, township and county assessed thereon of the portion assigned to them, and of the date of the completion thereof."

Section 6695, G. C., provides in part as follows:

> "Each lot and land owner, corporate road, railroad, township and county, so notified, shall clean the portion or section of the ditch or watercourse as fixed by such apportionment, or if changed by the township trustees as fixed by them, to its full depth and capacity as originally constructed, and when necessary reclean such portion without further notice. * * *"

By section 6705, G. C., it is provided that if the parties to whom the sections of such ditch are assessed neglect or refuse to clean or keep them in repair, the ditch supervisor may sell the work and certify the cost to the county auditor who is required to place the same upon the tax duplicate and the same becomes a lien upon the land and is collected as other taxes This section must, however, be read in connection with the succeeding section, which provides as follows:

"Sec. 6706. If a land owner, corporate road, railroad, township or county, notified to clean the ditch or water course under the provisions of this chapter, neglects or refuses to comply therewith within thirty days, the ditch supervisor, after giving ten days' notice by posting notices in three conspicuous places in said township, shall sell the work of cleaning said section or sections to the lowest responsible bidder, take a bond as provided in the next preceding section, and certify the cost thereof to the county auditor, as provided therein. The ditch supervisor shall certify the amount due the contractors, for the work done to the township trustees, who shall order it paid out of the township fund."

I gather from your inquiry that at least some of the land owners against whom some of the apportioned sections of the township ditch had been assessed, had neglected or refused to clean or repair the same within the prescribed thirty days and that by reason thereof the ditch supervisor sought to sell the work of cleaning or repairing such sections pursuant to order of the township trustees and at this point in the proceedings an action was brought against the ditch supervisor and a temporary restraining order procured, preventing such sale, pending the litigation in which it was sought to permanently enjoin the proposed sale by the ditch supervisor.

The notice required by section 6694, G. C., supra, and the lapse of the thirty-day period thereafter, prescribed in section 6706, G. C., supra, are essential to the authority of the ditch supervisor to sell the work of cleaning or repairing the sections of such ditch in question. After the expiration of the thirty-day period the right of the land owners to perform the work of cleaning or repairing the sections of such ditch assessed against them, to the exclusion of the sale of such work by the ditch supervisors, ceased. At this point the proceedings by the ditch supervisor were suspended by reason of the order of the court in the pending litigation. Since the court must have found the proceedings regular and legal up to and including the service of the notice required by section 6694, and that the thirty-day period thereafter had elapsed, every right of the land owner to notice must have been fully protected and there is now neither requirement nor occasion for the further service of the notice prescribed therein.

The only notice now required to be given by the ditch supervisors is the ten days' notice of the sale of the work required by section 6706, G. C., supra.

Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1676.

COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION—TRANSFER OF TERRITORY—BOARD MAY TRANSFER TO AN EXEMPTED VILLAGE SCHOOL DISTRICT —SEE SECTION 4696, G. C., 106 O. L., 396—TRANSFER PURSUANT TO SECTION 4692, G. C., 106 O. L., 396—DUTY OF BOARD TO WHICH TERRITORY IS TRANSFERRED TO LEVY TAXES TO PAY INDEBTEDNESS SO APPORTIONED TO IT.

Territory may not be transferred by the county board of education to a village school district other than an exempted village school district, pursuant to the provisions of section 4696, G. C., 106 O. L., 396.

Where territory is transferred by the county board of education, pursuant to section 4692, G. C., 106 O. L., 306, the ten days' notice therein required is jurisdictional and the same must therefore be given as required.

Where transfer of territory is made by the county board of education, pursuant to section 4692, G. C., supra, and the indebtedness of the territory is divided by the board as therein authorized, it then becomes the duty of the board of education of the district to which such territory is transferred to levy taxes to pay the indebtedness so apportioned to it.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 12, 1916.

HON. ELI H. SPEIDEL, Prosecuting Attorney, Batavia, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Yours under date of May 20, 1916, is as follows:

"I have been requested by the county board of education and the county superintendent of schools, to ask for your opinion as to the right or duty of the county board of education to transfer territory from one school district to another, in the following instances and under the following circumstances:

"Goshen township, in this county, forms one rural district. Prior to the enactment of the present school code, all of the subdistricts in that township, with the exception of three, were abandoned and the pupils hauled to a central school at Goshen, in said township. Beginning with the school year 1916, or about September 1, 1916, the three remaining subdistricts were abandoned and since that time all of the pupils of school age in said township have been transported from their homes to said central school at Goshen, in said township. I might add that while the district was never centralized in the sense that it was authorized by a vote of the people, it was made under an arrangement with the township board and the various subdistricts. A petition has been filed by a Mr. Cox and two other residents of Goshen township, who live about six miles from Goshen, to transfer their three farms from the Goshen township rural district to the Loveland village district, their farms, together with a portion of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad right of way, which is included in this petition, being nearer to Loveland, where the Loveland village school is located, than to Goshen.

"In the first place, is it mandatory on the part of the county board of education, under the provisions of section 4696, to transfer this territory from the Goshen rural district to the Loveland village district? Secondly, if it is not mandatory on the part of the county board of education to transfer such territory, have they the power and authority so to do, and if they have, is the notice provided for in section 4692, a condition precedent which must be first complied with before it can be so transferred?

"We also desire your opinion on the following statement of facts:

"The Branch Hill special school district and the Paxton special school district, both of which are located in Miami township, this county, and in which, within the last three years a bond issue was carried by a vote of the people and a new school house with proper equipment constructed therein, are located adjacent to the Loveland village school district, which is located partly in Clermont, Hamilton and Warren counties. A petition has been filed by more than 75 per cent. of the electors in a certain territory, which is a part in each instance of the Branch Hill district and the Paxton district, asking the county board of education to transfer such territory from the respective districts in which it is now located, to the Loveland village district. In fact it is reported to the county board of education, and the petition shows, that all of the electors in each of the respective territories to be transferred have signed the petitions asking therefor.

"Under these circumstances, is it compulsory on the part of the board of education to transfer this territory, and if it is not, have they the power so to do? And if they have, is the notice required by section 4692, a condition precedent, which must be complied with, before the transfer is made?

"If it is compulsory on the part of the county board of education to transfer the territory from these two respective districts to the Loveland district, or if they may so transfer such territory, what provision should be made relative to the assessment for taxes of the territory so transferred, which territory is now irrevocably pledged for the payment of the school house bonds and interest, as the same respectively fall due?

"An opinion at your earliest convenience, on these questions, will be very much appreciated, as the condition with reference to this territory is at present in a very unsettled state and all persons interested are very anxious to have the matter determined by your department."

Section 4696, G. C., 106 O. L., 396, mentioned in your inquiry provides as follows: –

"Section 4696. A county board of education may transfer a part or all of a school district of the county school district to an adjoining exempted village school district or city school district, or to another county school district, provided at least fifty per centum of the electors of the territory to be transferred petition for such transfer. Provided, however, that if at least seventy-five per cent. of the electors of the territory petition for such transfer, the county board of education shall make such transfer. No such transfer shall be in effect until the county board of education and the board of education to which the territory is to be transferred each pass resolutions by a majority vote of the full membership of each board and until an equitable division of the funds or indebtedness be decided upon by the boards of education acting in the transfer; also a map shall be filed with the auditor or auditors of the county or counties affected by such transfer."

Your first inquiry as to whether the provisions of section 4696, G. C., are mandatory is answered in opinion No. 903, addressed to Hon. Milton Haines, prosecuting attorney, Marysville, Ohio, under date of October 8, 1915, which may be found at page 1937 of the opinions of the attorney-general for 1915, in which it is held that:

"The provision of section 4696, G. C., as amended in 106 O. L., 397, that 'if at least seventy-five per cent. of the electors of the territory petition for such transfer, the county board of education shall make such transfer' is directory."

It follows without argument that if this provision is directory only the further provision for transfer upon a petition of a less number of electors would not be mandatory. Although it is not mandatory upon the county board of education to make a transfer upon petition under section 4696, G. C., there is by its provisions power conferred upon the county board of education to make the transfer of territory therein referred to upon compliance with its provisions as to the filing of petition, subject, however, to the further provision that the boards of education pass resolutions by a majority vote of the full membership of each; that an equitable division of the funds and indebtedness be decided upon and a map filed with the auditor or auditors of the counties affected by the transfer.

There is no provision for notice in section 4696, G. C., nor does the reason for notice in proceedings under 4692, G. C., 106 O. L., 396, exist in case of transfers made under 4696, G. C.

The manifest purpose of the notice required by section 4692, G. C., is to give opportunity for protest against the transfer proposed by a majority of the electors of the territory transferred provided for therein. No such protest is authorized under section 4696, nor would the same be possible. No purpose would therefore be served by giving the notice required by section 4692, G. C., and I am of opinion that no notice of the transfer of territory pursuant to the provisions of section 4696, G. C is required to be given.

It will be observed, however, that transfers may be made pursuant to section 4696, G. C., supra, only to an adjoining exempted village school district, a city school district or to another county school district. I find upon investigation that the Loveland village school district is not an exempted village district within the meaning of section 4696, G. C., supra, and therefore falls in neither of the classes of school districts to which that section may be applied. In other words a transfer of territory to Loveland village school district may not be effected under the provisions of section 4696, G. C.

The authority of the county board of education to transfer the territory in question is then limited to that conferred by section 4692, G. C., 106 O. L., 396, referred to by you, which provides as follows:

> "Section 4692. The county board of education may transfer a part or all of a school district of the county school district to an adjoining district or districts of the county school district. Such transfer shall not take effect until a map is filed with the auditor of the county in which the transferred territory is situated, showing the boundaries of the territory transferred, and a notice of such proposed transfer has been posted in three conspicuous places in the district or districts proposed to be transferred, or printed in a paper of general circulation in said county, for ten days; nor shall such transfer take effect if a majority of the qualified electors residing in the territory to be transferred, shall, within thirty days after the filing of such map, file with the county board of education a written remonstrance against such proposed transfer. If an entire district be transferred the board of education of such district is thereby abolished or if a member of the board of education lives in a part of a school district transferred the member becomes a nonresident of the school district from which he was transferred and ceases to be a member of such board of education. The legal title of the property of the board of education shall become vested in the board of education of the school district to which such territory is transferred. The county board of education is authorized to make an equitable division of the school funds of the transferred territory either in the treasury or in the course of collection. And also an equitable division of the indebtedness of the transferred territory."

It will be first observed that the power to transfer here conferred is limited to territory within the county school district. It is learned upon investigation that the Loveland village school district is a part of the Clermont county school district. The county board of education of Clermont county may then transfer territory of such county district to the Loveland village district pursuant to said section 4692, G. C., supra. It will be noted, however, that in proceedings under section 4692, G. C., no petition of electors is required or authorized. Such petition would therefore neither serve to make compulsory nor to give jurisdiction to the county board to transfer any territory therein referred to. Such petition could serve no other purpose than to bring to the attention of the county board the desirability of such transfer on the part of the petitioners.

If it is sought to make transfer of the territory mentioned in the petitions referred to within the Clermont county school district to the Loveland village school district by the Clermont county board of education, since the same may be done only pursuant to the provisions of section 4692, G. C., supra, it follows that all the provisions of said section must be complied with, and that therefore the notice therein required must be given. It is unnecessary to say that the provision of the first sentence of said section 4692, G. C., is enabling only, and not mandatory.

When transfer of territory is made under said section 4692, G. C.,

> "The county board of education is authorized to make an equitable division of the school funds of the transferred territory either in the treasury or in course of collection. And also an equitable division of the indebtedness of the transferred territory."

When the funds and indebtedness of the districts affected by the transfer are so divided by the county board of education, the indebtedness apportioned to the several districts becomes the obligation thereof, and it becomes the duty of the board of education of such district to levy taxes for the payment of the same.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1677.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, CITY OF FREMONT, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 12, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

> "RE:—Bonds of the city of Fremont, Ohio, in the sum of $10,300.00, for the improvement of Franklin avenue from the south line of Lucky street to the south line of North street, being 20 bonds of $515.00 each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of council and other officers of the city of Fremont relative to the above bond issue, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the form submitted, and signed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of the city of Fremont, Ohio.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1678.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE BY CITY OF FREMONT, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 12, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of the city of Fremont, Ohio, in the sum of $32,900.00, for the improvement of East State street, being 20 bonds of $1,645.00 each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the city council and other officers of the city of Fremont relative to the above bond issue, also the bond and coupon form, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the form submitted, and signed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of the city of Fremont.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1679.

CORPORATION—SECRETARY OF STATE ADVISED TO ACCEPT COPY OF CERTIFICATE OF SUBSCRIPTION OF THE DEERFIELD OIL AND GAS COMPANY, MILLERSBURG, OHIO.

Secretary of state advised to accept and record sworn copy of the certificate of subscription of the Deerfield Oil & Gas Company in order to complete the record in the office of the secretary of state relative to said corporation.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 12, 1916.

HON. CHARLES Q. HILDEBRANT, Secretary of State, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your letter of June 7, 1916, in which you request my opinion as follows:

"We are enclosing certificate of reduction of capital stock of "The Deerfield Oil & Gas Company," together with certificate of subscription of the same company, checks to the amount of $7.00, and a ten-cent internal revenue stamp, and would like your opinion on the question as to whether or not the said certificate of subscription is in conformity with section 8633 of the General Code, and should the same be filed and recorded by this department."

The certificate of subscription referred to in your letter, which The Deerfield Oil and Gas Company seeks to file, is as follows:

"THE DEERFIELD OIL AND GAS COMPANY CERTIFICATE OF SUBSCRIPTION.

"MILLERSBURG, Ohio, April 6, 1909.

"To the Secretary of State, Columbus, Ohio.

"We, the undersigned incorporators of The Deerfield Oil and Gas Company, do hereby certify, that on the 6th day of April, 1909, all the incorporators of said company did order, in writing, that books be opened for subscription to the capital stock of said company, at Millersburg, Ohio, on the sixth day of April, 1909, at 1 o'clock, p. m., and at the same time did waive, in writing, the notice by publication of the time and place of such opening of books of subscription, required by law; and further, said books having been opened at the time and place ordered, that ten percent. of said capital stock of said company has been subscribed.

"(Signed) .....

"STATE OF OHIO, HOLMES COUNTY, ss:

"Carl Schuler, being first duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that he is the secretary of The Deerfield Oil and Gas Company, and that the foregoing is a true copy of the certificate of subscription of said company, as the same appears upon its record of the proceedings of the incorporators, page 6.

"(Signed) Carl Schuler.

"Sworn to and subscribed in my presence, this 27th day of May, 1916.

"(Signed) H. E. Howenstine,

"Notary Public."

From the correspondence attached to your letter it appears that The Deerfield Oil and Gas Company is now and has been since April 6, 1909, exercising its corporate franchise. The records in your office fail to show, however, that the incorporators filed a certificate in compliance with section 8633 of the General Code, which is as follows:

"When ten per cent. of the capital stock is subscribed, the subscribers to the articles of incorporation, or a majority of them, at once shall so certify in writing to the secretary of state."

Such a certificate was apparently prepared and executed by the incorporators, because the certificate which The Deerfield Oil and Gas Company now seeks to file, signed by its secretary under oath, recites that it is a true and correct copy taken from the record of the proceedings of the incorporators. For some unknown reason this certificate does not appear upon the records of your office, and the company now seeks to supply the omission in the record.

As a corporation organized under the laws of Ohio does not in reality become a corporation and is not authorized to act as such until the certificate required by section 8633 is filed in your office, it is important that this record should be made. As the purpose in filing this certificate is to establish a public record of the facts recited therein, and as a sworn copy of this certificate is perhaps as good evidence as can at this time be had, I am of the opinion that it should be accepted and recorded by you.

I return herewith the enclosures referred to in your letter, also the correspondence which you have since handed to me. Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1680.

OFFICES INCOMPATIBLE—JUSTICE OF PEACE—COUNTY CORONER.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 12, 1916.

Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—I am in recipt of a letter from W. T. Warner, a justice of the peace at Manchester, Ohio, requesting my opinion as to whether one person may at the same time hold the office of justice of the peace and the office of county coroner. I deem this question of sufficient general interest to address my opinion on the same to your bureau.

I find no provision of the constitution or statutes expressly prohibiting a person from holding both of said offices at the same time. It remains to be determined, therefore, whether said offices, because of the duties incident to their exercise, are incompatible. In other words, would the performance of the duties of one office in any case be inconsistent with the performance of the duties of the other?

Section 11, G. C., provides:

> "No person shall hold at the same time, by appointment or election, more than one of the following offices: sheriff, county auditor, county treasurer, clerk of the court of common pleas, county recorder, prosecuting attorney, probate judge, and justice of the peace."

Section 2835, G. C., provides:

> "In an action wherein the sheriff is a party, or is interested, process shall be directed to the coroner. If both these officers are interested, the process shall be directed to, and executed by, a person appointed by the court or judge."

In connection with the performance by the coroner of the duties of the sheriff under the conditions prescribed in the above provision of section 2835, G. C., I note that Throop on Public Officers, at section 31, states that a coroner does not vacate his office by acting in place of a sheriff where the latter is disqualified, citing Powell v. Wilson, 16 Texas, 59.

Section 2857, G. C., relates to the findings and proceedings of the coroner in case of an inquest and provides:

> "The coroner shall draw up and subscribe his finding of facts in writing. If he finds that the deceased came to his or her death by force or violence, and by any other person or persons, so charged, and there present, he shall arrest such person or persons, and convey him or them immediately before a proper officer for examination according to law. If such persons, or any of them, are not present, the coroner forthwith shall inform one or more justices of the peace, and the prosecuting attorney, if within the county, of the facts so found, in order that the persons may be immediately dealt with according to law."

Section 1745, G. C., provides that:

> "When the office of coroner becomes vacant by death, resignation, expiration of the term of office, or otherwise, or when the coroner is absent from the county, or unable from sickness or other cause to discharge the duties of his office, a justice of the peace of the county shall have the powers and duties of the coroner to hold inquests."

It will be observed that while a justice of the peace may act for the coroner under the conditions prescribed in section 1745, G. C., supra, the jurisdiction thus vested in such justice of the peace by the provisions of said section, in performing the duties of the coroner under said conditions, is limited to holding inquests, and I find no statutory provision vesting in a justice of the peace the authority to act in place of the coroner in serving civil process.

It should be observed in connection with what has already been said that a justice of the peace in performing the duties of the coroner within the limitation of the statute above referred to and under the conditions therein imposed, only acts in specific cases and is not vested with general authority to act in place of the coroner in the performance of the duties incident to the coroner's office under the conditions hereinbefore mentioned.

While it cannot be said that the provisions of section 11, G. C., read in connection with the provisions of section 2835, G. C., by their terms prohibit the holding of the two offices in question by one person at the same time, it seems clear that the reason for the prohibition contained in section 11, G. C., against a person holding both the office of justice of the peace and sheriff at the same time applies with equal force where the coroner performs the duties of the sheriff under the conditions mentioned in section 2835, G. C., and in view of the provisions of section 2857, G. C., and the limitation imposed by section 1745, G. C., on the authority of a justice of the peace to act in place of the coroner under the conditions prescribed in said latter section, I am of the opinion that the offices of justice of the peace and county coroner are incompatible and may not be held by one person at the same time. The question submitted must therefore be answered in the negative.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1681.

TAX COMMISSION—MAY NOT EXTEND TIME FOR COMPLETION OF WORK OF COUNTY BOARD OF REVISION AT ITS JUNE SESSION BEYOND FIRST MONDAY IN AUGUST OF SAID YEAR—AUTHORITY CONFERRED BY SECTION 5613, G. C., IS LIMITED TO YEARS IN WHICH AN ORIGINAL APPRAISEMENT HAS BEEN MADE.

The tax commission may not, in any year, extend the time for the completion of the work of the county board of revision at its June session, required by section 51, of the Parrett-Whittemore law, section 5605, G. C., beyond the first Monday in August of said year, the date fixed by the statute for the beginning of the August session of said board.

The tax commission is limited in the exercise of the authority conferred upon it by provision of section 76, of the Parrett-Whittemore law, section 5613, G. C., to the year in which an original appraisement has been made in accordance with the order of said commission in the exercise of the authority conferred upon it by provision of the first part of section 55 of said law, section 5548. G. C.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 13, 1916.

The Tax Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—In your letter of May 20th, you request my opinion upon the following grounds:

> "Section 40 of the Parrett-Whittemore law requires county boards of revision to hold sessions beginning on the second Monday in June and the first Monday of August respectively, and to convene at such other times as the tax commission of Ohio may order. It further provides that the board shall complete its work within such times as may be fixed by the tax commission. Section 51 of the same law provides that the board of revision shall not undertake the hearing of complaints or the exercise of any other powers at its June session until its powers and duties under this section have been exercised and discharged.

"May the tax commission extend the time of the June session of the board beyond the first Monday of August, or must all of the work required by section 51 of the Parrett-Whittemore law be completed before that date?

"If the commission may legally extend the June session of the board beyond the first Monday of August, may complaints be filed within thirty days from the beginning of the second session of the board or must all complaints be filed before the first Monday in August or within thirty days thereafter regardless of the date from which the board begins its second session?

"May the authority conferred upon the tax commission by section 76 of the Parrett-Whittemore law be exercised by it as to real estate which has not been assessed or reassessed for the current year?"

Section 40 of the Parrett-Whittemore law (section 5593, G. C., 106 O. L., 257), provides as follows:

"County boards of revision shall hold sessions beginning on the second Monday of June, and the first Monday of August respectively, and convene at such other times as the tax commission of Ohio may order. Such boards may adjourn from day to day and shall complete their work within such times as may be fixed by the tax commission of Ohio for the completion thereof."

Section 51 of said law (section 5605, G. C., 106 O. L., 259), provides:

"On the second Monday of June, 1916, and annually, thereafter, the county auditor shall lay before the county board of revision the statements and returns of property received by him for the current year, and such board shall forthwith proceed to examine and revise the statements and returns of all property, both real and personal, to see that the valuations thereof are equal and uniform throughout the county, and that all property, and each and every class, kind or description thereof, is valued for taxation throughout the county at its full and true value in money. If the board finds any statement or return of personal property to be erroneous, either in the amount of property, moneys, credits, investments in bonds, stocks, joint stock companies or otherwise, listed in the name of any person, company, firm, partnership, association or corporation, or in the valuation of any item or items thereof, it shall correct such statement or return, by listing thereon any omitted property and giving to it, as well as to any property that has been listed therein but which has been incorrectly valued, the true value in money thereof, and by omitting therefrom property improperly listed thereon. The county auditor shall add to any such statement or return, any dog omitted therefrom. If the board finds that any tract, lot or parcel of land or any buildings, structures or improvements thereon, or any minerals therein or rights thereto have been improperly listed either in the name of the owner, the description or quantity thereof, or have been incorrectly valued, or have been omitted and not valued, it shall make the necessary corrections and shall give to each such tract, lot or parcel of land, or any buildings, structures or improvements thereon or any minerals therein or rights thereto, incorrectly valued or omitted, the true value in money thereof. The board of revision shall not undertake the hearing of complaints or the exercise of any other power at its June session, until its powers and duties under this section have been exercised and discharged. The county auditor shall not make up his tax list and duplicate, as provided in section 56 of this act, nor advertise, as provided in section 58 of this act, until the board of revision has completed its work under this section and has returned to the auditor all the statements and returns laid before it with the revisions and corrections thereof, as made by it."

Section 52 of said law (section 5609, G. C., 106 O. L., 259), provides in part that

"Complaints against any valuation or assessment on the tax list for the current year may be filed with the county auditor before the meeting of the county board of revision on the first Monday of August, or within thirty days thereafter if the board remains in session so long. * * *"

Section 45 of said law (section 5598, G. C., 106 O. L., 258), which must be read in connection with the above provision of section 5609, G. C., provides as follows:

"The county board of revision shall have power to investigate all assessments on the tax list with respect to the amount of property listed, as well as with respect to the valuation at which the same is listed. The power of the board shall extend to all cases in which real or personal property has been assessed for taxation for the current year, but not to assessments, additions or corrections hereafter made by the tax commission of Ohio."

Section 5593, G. C., as above quoted, recognizes two separate sessions of the county board of revision, and fixes a definite time for the beginning of each of said sessions. While said county board of revision may be convened at such other times as the tax commission may order, the duty of said board to convene on the second Monday in June, and commence the performance of its duties as a board of equalization, under provision of section 5605, G. C., as well as its duty to convene on the first Monday of August for the performance of its duties as a board of complaints, under provision of section 5609, G. C., taken in connection with the provisions of sections 44 and 45 of the Parrett-Whittemore law (sections 5597 and 5598 of the General Code), is clearly prescribed by the foregoing provisions of the statutes, and in no way depends upon any order of the tax commission.

In my former opinion to your commission under date of January 14, 1916, I called your attention to the two separate and distinct functions of the county board of revision; first, that of equalizing valuations of property at its June session, and second, that of revising valuations of property on complaint at its August session, and in said opinion it was held that while section 51 of the Parrett-Whittemore law gives the county board of revision power to correct the amounts of valuations of any of the listings for the current year, and also gives it power to make any investigation in regard to said listings, it does not give to said board any authority to hear any complaints of said listings until after they have been revised and corrected by said board and have been returned to the county auditor to be thereafter reviewed upon complaint. And it was further held that at the August session the work of the county board of revision is confined to a review upon complaint of any valuation or assessment on the tax list for the current year as returned to the county auditor by said county board of revision after its work of equalization has been completed at its June session.

While I am inclined to the opinion, in view of the provision of the latter part of section 5593, G. C., supra, that your commission may, within the time intervening between the second Monday in June and the first Monday in August of any year fix the time for the completion of the work of the county board of revision at its June session, and in view of the provision of the latter part of section 5605, supra it seems clear that after the duties of said county board of revision under said section have been exercised and discharged, said board may then undertake the hearing of complaints if any are filed with the county auditor at that time. In view of the plain provision of the statute definitely fixing the times for the beginning, respectively of the June and August sessions of said county board of revision, and in keeping with what has already been said in my former opinion with reference to the two separate and distinct functions to be performed by said board at said respective sessions, I am of the opinion in answer to your first question that your commission may not, in any year, extend the time for the completion of the work required by said section 5605 G. C., beyond the first Monday in August of said year, the date fixed by the statute for the beginning of the August session of said county board of revision.

This answer to your first question disposes of your second question.

Coming now to a consideration of your third question, it will be remembered that in my former opinion to your commission, above referred to, I held than an annual appraisement of real estate is not required by the Parrett-Whittemore law, and in answer to the question raised by me as to whether the tax commissiom may order an assessment of real estate in one county and not in another, in any year, I advised your commission that the only safe course to pursue is to order an assessment of real property in all counties of the state at the same time, i. e., in the same year. As has already been stated, your commission was further advised in said opinion that the county board of revision, at its June session in any year, is limited in its consideration of valuations of real property to the statements and returns for such year as placed before it by the county auditor in compliance with section 51 of the Parrett-Whittemore law, and that said board may not increase or decrease any valuation of real estate which has not been appraised during said year.

You were further advised in opinion No. 1614, rendered to your commission under date of May 2, 1916, that, in view of the distinction made in my former opinion, above referred to, between an original assessment or appraisement of real property, which may be ordered by your commission in all counties of the state in the same year, and a reassessment or reappraisement of real property, or any class thereof, in any taxing district or part thereof, which may be ordered by the county auditor under provision of the first part of section 55 of the Parrett-Whittemore law (section 5548, G. C.), or in the manner provided in the latter part of said section, or by the tax commission under provisions of sections 79 and 80 of said law (sections 5624-4 and 5624-5 of the General Code), taken in connection with the holding in said opinion as above set forth, county boards of revision, at their June session, may not increase or decrease the valuation of any real estate in any year unless there has been an original appraisement of real estate for said year. This latter holding has, doubtless, given rise to the question now under consideration.

Section 61 of the Parrett-Whittemore law (section 5612, G. C., 106 O. L., 262) provides:

> "On or before the first Monday of July, annually, each county auditor shall make out and transmit to the tax commission of Ohio an abstract of the real and personal property of each taxing district in his county, in which he shall set forth the aggregate amount and value of each class of real and personal property in such county as it appears on his tax list, or on the statement and returns on file in his office."

Section 76 of said law (section 5613, G. C., 106 O. L., 267), provides:

> "The tax commission of Ohio shall annually determine whether the real and personal property, and the various classes thereof, in the several counties, cities, villages and taxing districts in the state, have been assessed at the true value thereof in money, and if it finds that the real or personal property, or any class of real or personal property, in any county, city, village or taxing district in the state, as reported by the several county auditors to it, is not listed at its true value in money, it may increase or decrease the aggregate value of the real property or of the personal property, or any class of real or personal property in any such county, township, city, village or taxing district, or in any ward or division of a municipal corporation, by such rate per cent., or by such amount as will place such property on the tax list at its true value in money, to the end that each and every class of real and personal property in the state shall be listed and valued for taxation by an equal and uniform rule at its true value in money."

The authority of your commission under the above provision of section 5613, G. C., to increase or decrease the aggregate value of the real or personal property or any class thereof, in any county, township, city, village or taxing district, or in any ward or division of a municipal corporation, by such rate per cent. on said aggregate value, is separate and distinct from its authority to order a reassessment of real or personal property or any class thereof in any district or subdivision thereof under authority of and in the manner provided by sections 79 and 80 of said Parrett-Whittemore law, above referred to, which latter authority in the tax commission, as has already been observed, is practically the same as that conferred upon the county auditor by provision of the first part of section 55 of said law (section 5548, G. C.) and by the latter part of said section upon the parties therein mentioned and referred to.

Without passing on the question as to whether a reassessment or reappraisement of real or personal property in any year presupposes an original appraisement of said property in that year, in view of my former holding that an original appraisement is not required but may be made in all the counties of the state in any year when ordered by your commission, I am inclined to the opinion that your authority to act under the above provision of section 5613, G. C., is limited to the years in which an original appraisement has been ordered by your commission and has been made in accordance with said order. In other words, as I view it, the linitation of your commission to act under provision of section 5613, G. C., supra, is practically the same as that limitation hereinbefore referred to as controlling the county board of revision in the performance of its duty at its June session under provision of section 5605 G. C., supra.

If the tax commission properly performs its duty under the above provision of section 5613, G. C., in a year in which an original appraisement has been made in accordance with the order of said commission, the occasion for the exercise of such authority will not again arise until an original appraisement has again been ordered.

I am of the opinion therefore, in answer to your third question, that the tax commission is limited in the exercise of the authority conferred upon it by provision of section 76 of the Parrett-Whittemore law (section 5613, G. C.) to the years in which an original appraisement has been made in accordance with the order of said commission in the exercise of the authority conferred upon it by provision of the first part of section 55 of said law (section 5548, G. C.).

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1682.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS—WHEN "EMERGENCY" OCCURS IN REPAIR OF ROADS—LEVY MADE UNDER SECTION 7419, G. C., IS NOT SUBJECT TO FIFTEEN MILL LIMITATION PROVIDED BY SECTION 5649-5b, G. C.—SEE OPINION OF SUPREME COURT OF OHIO, 94 O. S.—STATE EX REL. MINNING ET AL. VS. ZANGERLE, AUDITOR, ETC.

A levy properly made under section 7419, G. C., under a proper resolution showing an emergency is not subject to the fifteen mill limitation provided by section 5649-5b, G. C., and may be made by county commissioners despite the fact that the effect of such levy, will be to increase the tax rate in one of the taxing districts of the county to the extent that, such tax rate will exceed fifteen mills.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 13, 1916.

HON. HENRY W. CHERRINGTON, Prosecuting Attorney, Gallipolis, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of June 1, 1916, which communication reads as follows:

> "I have before me your opinion No. 719, addressed to Hon. Forrest G. Long, prosecuting attorney, Bellefontaine, Ohio, and of date August 12, 1915.
>
> "Some of the principal highways of this county have become unfit for travel, and cause difficulty, danger and delay to teams passing thereon, by reason of the large amount of traffic, etc.
>
> "The present tax levy in the city of Gallipolis is fifteen mills. It will be fifteen mills this coming year, exclusive of any additional levies that may be made under the provisions of section 7419 G. C.
>
> "I take it from the opinion, above referred to, that the commissioners under these facts may make an additional levy to take care of the principal highways. They desire to levy two mills. This levy will make the tax rate exceed fifteen mills in Gallipolis city and in several taxing districts of this county. Am I correct in my assumption that they have authority to do so?
>
> "A prompt reply will be greatly appreciated, as the commissioners desire to act at their June session."

Replying to the above I advise you that where a levy is made under section 7419, G. C., such levy is not subject to the fifteen mill limitation prescribed by section 5649-5b, G. C. This is true by reason of the provision of section 5649-4, G. C., to the effect that for the emergencies mentioned in certain sections of the General Code including section 7419, G. C., the taxing authorities of any district may levy a tax sufficient to provide therefor, irrespective of any of the limitations of the Smith one per cent. tax law.

Since the rendition of opinion No. 719 of this department, referred to by you the matter of tax levies under section 7419, G. C., was considered and passed upon by the court of common pleas of Miami county, Ohio, in the case of State ex rel. Commissioners v. Staley, auditor. In this case it was held that the proper interpretation of section 5649-4, G. C., is that it is a legislative declaration that all levies made under the authority of the sections of the General Code, named in section 5649-4 G. C., are emergency levies. The decision of the common pleas court in this case has been affirmed by the court of appeals.

In view of the foregoing, I advise you that a levy properly made under section 7419, G. C., under a proper resolution showing an emergency is not subject to the fifteen mill limitation provided by section 5649-5b, G. C., and may be made by county commissioners despite the fact that the effect of such levy will be to increase the tax rate in one or more of the taxing districts of the county to the extent that such tax rate will exceed fifteen mills. The only limitation upon levies made under section 7419, G. C., is that contained in the section in question which is in effect that the annual levy made under this section may not exceed five mills upon the dollar upon all taxable property of the county. Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1683.

MUNICIPAL CORPORATION—PLATS OF LANDS AND STREETS OUTSIDE OF SUCH MUNICIPAL CORPORATION—ABSENCE OF ACCEPTANCE BY PUBLIC AUTHORITIES—NOT REQUIRED TO IMPROVE OR REPAIR SUCH STREETS.

Where lands outside a municipal corporation have been platted, the streets shown on the plat do not, in the absence of an acceptance on the part of the public authorities, become public highways of the state within the meaning of section 7464, G. C., and in the absence of an acceptance the public authorities are not authorized or required to improve or repair the same.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 13, 1916.

HON. A. M. HENDERSON, Prosecuting Attorney, Youngstown, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I acknowledge the receipt of your communication of May 4, 1916 which communication reads as follows:

"I have had a number of inquiries since the enactment of the Cass highway law as found in Ohio Laws, Vol. 106, with which your office is already familiar, as to whether or not the portion of plats outside of municipalities dedicated as streets come within the term 'highways, streets or roads' as used in the Cass highway law; that is, where plats are laid out into lots and portions of said plats laid out as streets by the companies platting the land; whether these so-called streets or highways which abut upon township, county or state roads come within the term 'highway' as used in the Cass act so that the township trustees or the county commissioners may be required to repair and improve said portion of said platted lands as laid out for the purpose of streets in getting to and from said platted lots. It is understood, of course, that the plats referred to and the so-called streets referred to are outside of a municipality. So that you may have a better understanding of the most recent inquiry which we have received, I inclose herewith a copy of a letter from the township trustees of Coitsville township. In this connection I might say that I have taken the position that these so-called streets and highways of this kind which are simply platted according to statute and accepted by the platting commission of the city of Youngstown, where these plats are reasonably near the municipal boundaries, are not such public highways as come within the Cass act. You will, of course, understand that some of these streets in some of the plats in this county, extend to, and abut upon, the corporate limits of the city of Youngstown, whereas others are as far out as two or three miles away from the boundary line and are reached by suburban car lines.

"This question has been presented to township trustees in our county so frequently that the trustees believe that we should have your ruling going directly to the point in dispute, and for that reason I am taking the liberty of calling upon you for an opinion, in view of the fact that our position has been that these dedicated streets are not highways as indicated within the Cass highway act and the trustees and the county are not required to keep them in repair or make improvements upon them; neither are they required to drag such highways under the dragging provisions of the Cass act. The inquiry becomes important of course because in time some of these so-called streets become very much out of repair and the trustees desire to know upon whom the responsibility for keeping them in repair rests so that they may govern themselves accordingly. Many of these so-called streets connect at right angles to improved highways, that is township or county roads. Our contention has always been that township roads must be viewed and established in the regular way by township trustees and viewed and established in the regular way by the county commissioners before they come within the terms of the Cass highway act and before the township or county can be made liable for failure to keep them in repair as required by law."

The copy of the letter from the township trustees of Coitsville township enclosed with your letter reads as follows:

"Section 241 of the new highway laws of Ohio as found on page 648 of the 1914-15 volume of session laws of Ohio, divides the public highways into three classes of which the third is as follows: 'Township roads shall include all public highways of the state other than state or county roads as hereinbefore defined, and trustees of each township shall maintain all such roads within their respective townships.'

"Section 7466 of the General Code of Ohio, which was repealed by the new highway code, formerly provided a method by which township trustees could accept streets either before or after they had been platted for the purpose of taking control of these and improving them.

"Our township is peculiarly made up in that the western half of it lying adjacent to the city of Youngstown is largely made up of now platted property much of which is built up as closely as city streets and by far the greatest proportion of taxes paid in the western portion of our township are paid by people living upon platted ground and whose properties abut such streets.

"We therefore have a great many of such streets in our township which never were accepted as provided by old section 7466 of the General Code and which of course now never can be and which need and require some attention from us as trustees for the purpose of repairing, improving and maintaining such streets.

"These plats all lie within the three mile limit of the city so that when the plats were dedicated the streets were made by the Youngstown city commission to conform to its ideas of the future development of Youngstown and said plats were duly accepted as provided by the statute by said platting commission before said plats and dedicated streets were admitted to record.

"We assume that these are 'Public Highways' within the meaning of section 241 of the new highway code and as such we suppose we have a right to go upon them and spend township funds in their proper maintenance, improvement and repair; and feel justified in so doing because the property abutting such streets is paying taxes on a much higher valuation than unplatted land surrounding same much of which unplatted land adjoins brick highways built by the township, county or state, but before actually expending any township funds upon such streets we would like to have the ruling of the attorney-general of the state on the question of our right so to do."

It is elementary that in order to make a dedication complete on the part of the public as well as the owner and to charge the public corporation having jurisdiction over highways with the duty to repair the way, there must be an acceptance of the dedication by the public or the proper local authorities. The acceptance on the part of the public authorities may be either express or implied. An express acceptance is evidenced by some order of the body or officer possessing jurisdiction in such matters accepting the dedication in express terms. An implied acceptance arises in cases where the public authorities have done acts recognizing the existence of the highway and treating it as one of the public ways of the locality. The assumption of control by the public authorities may be evidenced in many ways but in order to constitute an acceptance it must be such as could be rightfully exercised over a highway only. Elliott on roads and streets, section 165, et seq.

Under section 7466, G. C., referred to by the trustees of Coitsville township, persons were authorized to dedicate a tract or strip of ground to the public use as a highway, either by plat or deed of gift to the county or township, filed with the county commissioners or township trustees, and by them recorded as road survey and other plats. The commissioners or trustees, if they deemed such road of sufficient public utility, were authorized to accept it by entry to that effect on their record, and upon such acceptance the tract or strip became a legally established highway. This section of the General Code was repealed by the Cass highway law, 106 O. L., 574, but authority for the dedication and acceptance of land for road purposes still exists. Under the former statute the acceptance might be either by the county commissioners or the township trustees, but under the present statute township trustees are not authorized to accept a dedication of land for road purposes, and the entire authority in this matter is lodged in the county commissioners. The matter is controlled by section 33 of the Cass highway law, section 6886, G. C., which section reads as follows:

> "Any person or persons may, with the approval of the county commissioners, dedicate lands for road purposes. A definite description of the lands to be dedicated, with a plat of the same thereto attached, and signed by the party dedicating the same, with the approval and acceptance of the commissioners endorsed thereon, shall be placed upon the proper road records of the county in which such road is situated. Provided, however, that if the lands so dedicated contemplate a change in an existing road, the same proceedings shall be had thereon, after the commissioners by proper resolution approve and accept the lands for such purpose, as are provided for in cases where the commissioners by unanimous vote declare their intention to locate, establish, widen, straighten, vacate or change the direction of a road without a petition therefor, but otherwise the proposal to dedicate land for road purposes, together with the acceptance of the grant by the commissioners, shall constitute the lands so dedicated a public road without any further proceedings thereon."

In view of the well established principle of law to the effect that the dedication of land for road purposes in order to be complete, and in order to charge the public authorities with any power or duty in respect to the land dedicated, must be accepted by the proper local authorities, it is my opinion that where lands outside a municipal corporation have been platted, the streets and other public grounds shown on the plat do not, in the absence of an acceptance on the part of the public authorities, become public highways of the state within the meaning of section 241 of the Cass highway law, section 7464, G. C., and that in the absence of an acceptance no power or duty to improve, maintain, drag or repair such streets or public grounds attaches either to the county commissioners or to the township trustees. If it is desired by either the township trustees or the county commissioners to improve or repair any of such streets or public grounds, the proceedings provided for by section 6886, G. C., supra should first be had by the owners and the county commissioners.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1684.

ROADS AND HIGHWAYS—PROVISION IN SPECIFICATIONS FOR CONCRETE CONSTRUCTION ON PUBLIC WORK FOR "BATCH MIXER" TO BE USED IS REASONABLE.

A provision in the specifications for concrete construction on public work, to the effect that all mixing shall be done with a batch mixer, is a reasonable and proper exercise of discretion on the part of the engineer preparing the specifications, and such a provision is therefore legal and may be incorporated in specifications for public work, and compliance therewith upon the part of a contractor may be required.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 13, 1916.

HON. THOMAS H. MOORE, Prosecuting Attorney, Ashland, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of May 24, 1916, which communication reads as follows:

> "Will you please give me your opinion upon the following question?
>
> "Upon concrete construction on public work is it legal for a county surveyor to specify in his plans and specifications that the concrete work shall be done with a batch mixer, excluding all other types of mixers?
>
> "Would such a condition be an illegal discrimination, providing the other types of concrete mixers meet all other conditions in the specifications?
>
> "I contend that if specifying a batch mixer is but specifying a method, then it would not be a discrimination, but if it is the specifying a certain kind of a machine to the exclusion of others, then it would be."

In investigating the question submitted by you, it came to my attention that the standard specifications of the state highway department provide that all mixing of concrete materials shall be done with the type of mixer known as a batch mixer. I understand that there are two common types of mixers known as batch mixers and continuous force-feed mixers. I have inquired of the state highway department as to whether these two types of mixers operate by substantially different methods, and also whether there is reasonable ground for the opinion that from an engineering point of view a batch mixer is to be preferred over a continuous force-feed mixer. I am informed by a representative of the highway department that these two types of mixers do operate by substantially different methods.

In the batch mixer the ingredients, constituting a batch of concrete, are dumped in a revolving drum in the form of a complete batch, consisting of the proportions of cement, sand and coarse aggregate called for in the specifications. The batch remains in the drum until completely mixed, water being added in sufficient quantities during the mixing to make the concrete of the proper consistency. After this batch is properly mixed, the whole batch is dumped or discharged before another batch is placed in the mixing drum.

A continuous force-feed mixer is generally supplied with hoppers, one hopper for cement, one for sand and another for the coarse aggregate. These hoppers are kept filled by the workmen during the operation of the mixer. There is a mechanical device supplied to feed the different ingredients in the proper proportions continuously in the mixer. The concrete runs through continuously, and consequently is continuously discharged from the mixer. There is a device attached to the mixer whereby the proportions of the ingredients can be regulated according to the proportions desired in the concrete.

From the above brief statement of facts it will be seen that the two types of mixers operate upon quite different principles and by decidedly different methods.

While not taking the position that concrete cannot be well mixed in a continuous force-feed mixer, the official of the state highway department, answering my request for information, states that the state highway department much prefers to have its concrete mixed in a batch mixer, and says that the department is not without very good engineering authority for this stand. The position of the department is based in part on the ease and thoroughness with which the work of a batch mixer may be inspected, and the thoroughness of the operation when that type of mixer is used.

Basing my opinion upon the above facts furnished to me by the state highway department, it is my conclusion that a provision in the specifications for concrete construction on public work, to the effect that all mixing shall be done with a batch mixer, is a reasonable and proper exercise of discretion on the part of the engineer preparing the specifications, and that such a provision is therefore legal and may be incorporated in specifications for public work, and compliance therewith upon the part of a contractor may be required.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1685.

ROAD, LANE OR OUTLET ESTABLISHED BY SECTION 6887, G. C.—NOT PUBLIC HIGHWAYS—PUBLIC AUTHORITIES NOT AUTHORIZED TO CONSTRUCT OR REPAIR SUCH ROADS.

The public authorities are not authorized to construct or repair a road, lane or outlet established under authority of section 6887, G. C., et seq. Such roads, lanes or outlets are not to be regarded as public highways, and must be constructed, repaired and maintained by the petitioners therefor.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 13, 1916.

HON. HUGH F. NEUHART, Prosecuting Attorney, Caldwell, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of May 18, 1916, which communication reads as follows:

> "Section 36, Cass highway act, section 6889, G. C., among other things provides:
>
> " 'When the petitioner for said road, lane or outlet has paid to the owner or owners of lands through which said road, lane or outlet will pass, the amount found due them for compensation or damages by the county commissioners, he shall have full right and authority to enter upon said premises and open up said road, lane or outlet.'
>
> "Upon whom devolves the duty primarily of constructing said road, viz.: grading and placing culverts, and afterwards of repairing and maintaining same?
>
> "See attorney-general opinion No. 933—section 241 (c) Cass act— and DeForest v. Wheeler, 5 O. S., 286.
>
> "The outlet has been awarded, compensation paid and no appeal taken and the time limit up on the appeal."

The procedure outlined in section 6887, 6888 and 6889, G. C., is to be followed where it is desired by any person, firm or corporation to secure a road, lane or outlet leading from any land owned by said person, firm or corporation, through the lands of any person or persons to a public highway. The language of the first part of section 6887, G. C., referring to a road, lane or outlet of this character as leading to a public highway, indicates that such road, lane or outlet was not intended by the legislature to be classified as a public highway. The provision of section 6889, G. C., quoted by you also indicates that the authority and duty of opening up the road, lane or outlet rests not upon the public authorities but upon the petitioner. Roads, lanes or outlets of this character are established for the exclusive convenience and benefit of the petitioner or petitioners, and there is no declaration in the statute that such roads, lanes or outlets are to be regarded as public highways, while as above pointed out, the language of the statutes indicates that all expenses incurred in connection with roads of this class are to be met by the petitioner or petitioners.

I therefore advise you that the public authorities have no authority to construct or repair roads of this class; that the same are not to be regarded as public highways and that they must be constructed, repaired and maintained by the petitioners.

The conclusion expressed in opinion No. 933, referred to by you and rendered to Hon. J. W. Watts, prosecuting attorney of Highland county, on October 14, 1915, was based on the express declaration of the statutes that roads of the class therein referred to were to be public highways.

The case of DeForest v. Wheeler, 5 O. S., 286, decided in 1855, must be read in the light of the statutes then in force and has no application to the situation presented by your inquiry.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1686.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS—THEIR DECISION GRANTING OR REFUSING TO GRANT PRAYER OF PETITION ASKING FOR RECONSTRUCTION OR REPAIR OF PUBLIC ROAD IS NOT REVIEWABLE ON APPEAL.

The decision of the county commissioners, granting or refusing to grant the prayer of a petition asking for the construction, reconstruction or repair of a public road or part thereof, and presented to the board of county commissioners of a county, under authority of section 6907, G. C., is not reviewable on appeal, and the determination of the county commissioners, granting or refusing the petition, is final.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 13, 1916.

HON. B. A. MYERS, Prosecuting Attorney, Celina, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of May 29, 1916, which communication reads as follows:

> "I am anxious for your opinion on the following question:
>
> "1st. Does the provision for an appeal under chapter 2, sections 37 and 38, of the Cass road law, apply to improvements provided for under chapter 5, sections 85, and following?
>
> "2nd. Our exact situation is this. We have a petition in our county with a majority of 40 signers out of a total of 95 resident parties to be assessed for the improvement. The petition was filed January 7, 1916. Our commissioners have not acted upon the petition for some reason, and the 60 days having passed for the viewing of the road, mandamus proceedings are threatened. If the commissioners would view the road and dismiss the petition, would there be an appeal from their action in so doing,or is their finding final?"

Inasmuch as chapter V of the Cass highway law refers to dragging unimproved roads and does not refer to improvements, and inasmuch as section 85 of the Cass highway law is found in chapter VI of that act, I assume that when you refer to chapter V you mean to refer to chapter VI.

Sections 37 and 38 of the Cass highway law, being sections 6890 and 6891, G. C. are the first two sections in chapter II of the act, which chapter relates to appeals in road cases. These sections immediately follow chapter I of the act, which chapter relates to locating, establishing, altering, widening, straightening, vacating or changing the direction of the road. The sections in question read as follows:

> "Section 37. No order of the county commissioners for locating, establishing, altering, straightening, widening or changing the direction of a public road, shall be executed until ten days have elapsed after the county commissioners have made their final order in the matter of compensation and damages, on account of said improvement. If, at the end of ten days, any person, firm or corporation interested, shall have effected an appeal, then said order shall not be executed until the matters appealed from shall have been disposed of in the probate court.
>
> "Section 38. Any person, firm or corporation interested therein, may appeal from the final order or judgment of the county commissioners made in the proceeding and entered upon their journal determining either of the following matters:
>
> "1. The compensation for land appropriated.
>
> "2. The damages claimed to property affected by the improvement.
>
> "3. The order establishing the proposed improvement.
>
> "4. The order dismissing or refusing to grant the prayer of the petition for the proposed improvement."

Inasmuch as these sections immediately follow the provisions of the act relating to locating, establishing, altering, widening, straightening or changing the direction of a road, the natural inference is that they are intended to apply only in such proceedings authorized by chapter I of the act. This inference and the conclusion that the sections have no application in any other proceedings unless adopted by specific reference, are strengthened by the provision of section 95 of the act, section 6916, G. C., found in the chapter relating to road construction and improvement by county commissioners to the effect that any person aggrieved by the finding of the commissioners upon any application for compensation or damages may appeal to the probate court by giving the notice provided for in the chapter of the act relating to appeals in road cases and by filing the bond therein provided, and that such proceedings shall be thereafter had upon such appeal as are provided for in said chapter.

I am therefore of the opinion that the decision of the county commissioners, granting or refusing to grant the prayer of a petition asking for the construction, reconstruction or repair of a public road or part thereof, and presented to the board of county commissioners of any county under authority of section 86 of the act, section 6907, G. C., is not reviewable on appeal, and that the determination of the county commissioners granting or refusing the petition is final.

Where, under authority of the provisions of chapter VI of the act a proceeding for the construction, reconstruction or repair of a public road is instituted by a petition, the only order of the county commissioners which is appealable is a finding by them upon an application for compensation or damages.

Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,

Attorney-General.

1687.

ROADS AND HIGHWAYS—WHERE COMMISSIONERS OF ROAD DISTRICT LET CONTRACT FOR PURCHASE OF STONE PRIOR TO GOING INTO EFFECT OF CASS HIGHWAY LAW—MAY CONTRACT AFTER LAW BECOMES EFFECTIVE FOR HAULING OF STONE WHERE PROPERTY OWNERS HAVE PERFORMED THEIR PART OF AN AGREEMENT TO IMPROVE THE ROADS.

Where prior to the going into effect of the Cass highway law the commissioners of a road district organized under section 7095, G. C., et seq., agreed to surface a certain road provided the abutting property owners would first grade the same, and the property owners carried out their agreement and the commissioners of the road district let a contract for the purchase of the stone to be placed on the road, such commissioners may after the going into effect of the Cass highway law lawfully make a contract for the hauling of the stone on the road in question.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 13, 1916.

HON. ALDRICH B. UNDERWOOD, Prosecuting Attorney, Medina, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I acknowledge the receipt of your communication of June 3, 1916, submitting for my opinion a question which, from your communication and from oral statements made by you to a representative of this department, I understand is as follows:

> "Certain townships in your county were, prior to the going into effect of the Cass highway law, organized into a road district under section 7095, G. C., et seq. One of the roads in this district was known as road No. 27, or the Bunker Hill road. Prior to the going into effect of the Cass highway law, on September 6, 1915, the road commission of the district in question entered upon its records an agreement to improve the Bunker Hill road by applying stone and slag provided the abutting property owners would first grade the road in a manner satisfactory to the road commission and its engineer, and abutting owners complied with these conditions and did the grading and laid the foundation for the road, and the road commission sought bids and let a contract for the purchase of the stone to be placed upon said road. All of the above occurred prior to the going into effect of the Cass highway law.
>
> "After the going into effect of the Cass highway law and in October, 1915, a contract was let by the road commission for hauilng the stone on the road in question. The performance of this latter contract has been held up pending a determination of the authority of the road commission to enter into the same.
>
> "You now inquire whether in view of the saving provisions of the Cass highway law the contract for the hauling of the stone on the road in question is one which the road commission had a right to enter into after the going into effect of the Cass highway law."

The pertinent provision of the Cass highway act is to be found in section 303 thereof, and reads as follows:

> "* * * wherever under any law repealed by this act any organization now exists for the purpose of improving, repairing or maintaining any public road or roads, such organization shall not be affected by this act and all officers of such organization or organizations shall continue to hold office and exercise the powers heretofore exercised by them. Their successors in office with like powers shall be elected or appointed as heretofore till all contracts and obligations of such organization shall be fully met and complied with and all rights fully conserved. For such purposes such organization or organizations shall have all the rights heretofore exercised by them to hire necessary assistance, clerical or otherwise; to fund or refund any indebtedness and to levy and collect taxes or certify the same for levy and collection; to pay such debts and expenses together with salaries and other expenses of such organization or organizations; but no such organization or organizations shall contract any new obligation or obligations after the taking effect of this act, for the construction or repair of additional road or roads or the maintenance or repair of roads already improved. When all obligations existing at the time of the taking effect of this act have been fully met and complied with, such organization or organizations shall cease to exist and all property or funds of such organization or organizations shall be and become a part of the road fund of the county in which such organization or organizations exist. All roads macadamized or paved by any such organization shall be kept improved and in repair by the county highway superintendent at the cost of the county in which the same are located."

In opinion No. 1439, rendered to you on March 30, 1916, I held that road commissioners appointed under section 7095, G. C., et seq., now repealed, had no authority after the going into effect of the Cass highway law, on September 6, 1915 to enter into new contracts for the construction or repair of roads in their district.

The situation presented by your present inquiry is, however, a different one from that presented by your former inquiry in which you stated that it was the intention of the road commissioners to continue to do business and to enter into new contracts until the money belonging to the district had been used.

A careful examination of the above quoted provision of section 303 of the Cass highway law, while indicating that in a general way the road commissioners appointed under section 7095, G. C., et seq., were not authorized to enter into any new obligation or obligations after the taking effect of the Cass highway law, also estblishes the the fact that it was the intention of the legislature that all obligations existing at the time of the taking effect of that act should be fully met and complied with.

The road commissioners of the district, referred to by you, having agreed to surface a road provided the abutting land owners would grade the same, the land owners having acted upon this agreement and graded the road, and the stone necessary to complete the work having been purchased, I am of the opinion that there was thereby created an obligation on the part of the road commission to place the stone on the road in question, which obligation was in existence at the time of the going into effect of the Cass highway law.

The provision of the statute that no new obligation or obligations should be created after the going into effect of the Cass highway law, and the provision requiring the road commission to fully meet and comply with the existing obligations, must be read together, and under the state of facts disclosed by your inquiry I advise you that the road commission was authorized to make the contract for the placing of the stone in question upon the road already graded and that the contract in question may be lawfully executed by the road district.

The conclusion herein expressed is, however, limited to the facts of this particular case.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1688.

ARMORY SITE—FORM OF DEED FROM WEBB C. HAYES AND WIFE TO STATE FOR ARMORY AT FREMONT, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 13, 1916.

HON. BYRON L. BARGAR, Secretary Ohio State Armory Board, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Under date of May 20th you submitted for my consideration the following:

"On April 20, 1916, I transmitted to you copy of a proposed deed from Colonel and Mrs. Webb C. Hayes to the state of Ohio, conveying an armory site to be donated to the state.

"The board's minutes of January 29, 1916, refer to the form of said deed in the following words:

" 'FREMONT ARMORY SITE. A report on the Fremont site was made by the committee with regard to the acceptance of this site and thereupon it was unanimously

" 'RESOLVED. Whereas, Colonel and Mrs. Webb C. Hayes, of Fremont, Ohio, have offered to donate to the state of Ohio an armory site situated in the city of Fremont, Ohio, county of Sandusky, state of Ohio, and bounded and described as follows:

" 'Beginning at the intersection of the proposed alley and Park Place; thence easterly 80 feet on north line of lot (Park Place); thence southerly on the east line of the lot 115 feet; thence westerly on the south line of the lot for a distance of 25 feet; thence south 55 feet on the east side of the lot to Court street; thence 30 feet westerly on the south line of the lot (Court street); thence north 55 feet on the west line of the lot; thence west 25 feet on the south line of the lot; thence north 115 feet on the west line of the lot to the place of beginning.'

"It was thereupon unanimously

" 'RESOLVED. That said site be accepted for and on behalf of the state of Ohio, on the following conditions:

" '1. That a fee simple title, approved by the attorney-general be conveyed to the state thereof at no cost to the state.

" '2. That the deed evidencing such conveyance contain special covenants, requiring the construction of the buildings in the remainder of the plot, from which said site is deeded to the state, in the following manner namely:

" 'The buildings to be constructed in the same order or style of architecture as that used in the design of the armory.

" 'That the buildings to be constructed will not exceed four stories in height, of not more than ten feet in the clear of each ceiling.

" 'That the buildings to be built will only be to the south of the armory and that the east and west sides of the armory will not be built upon.

" 'That alley ways will be left all around the armory lot as contemplated.'

" 'I herewith transmit the plat showing the lands from which said site is carved by Colonel Hayes, and also showing two tracts of land which he contemplates donating for other public purposes; these two tracts comprising the remainder of his lands at that location. I also transmit a sketch showing the parts of the proposed armory site which will be covered with the proposed armory.

"The armory board requests that you redraw the deed proposed by Colonel Hayes in such a way as to protect the armory building from unsuitable structures on the Hayes tract (the parks marked Y. M. C. A. and technical school) and also to protect the armory from the character of business to be conducted on said school and Y. M. C. A. tracts and from the erection of buildings other than in conformity to the provision in the board's minutes of January 29, 1916."

In accordance with your request I have prepared a deed which, when executed, will, I believe, carry out the intentions of your board as expressed in your communication. Said form of deed is as follows:

"KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS: That WEBB C. HAYES and MARY MILLER HAYES, his wife, the grantors, for the consideration of one dollar ($1.00) received to their full satisfaction of the STATE OF OHIO, grantee, do GIVE, GRANT, BARGAIN, SELL and CONVEY unto the said grantee, its successors and assigns, the following described premises, situate in the city of Fremont, county of Sandusky and state of Ohio:

" 'Being a part of inlots numbered one hundred and eight (108) and one hundred and nine (109), bounded and described as follows:

" 'Beginning at the north-west corner of inlot one hundred and nine (109); thence easterly eighty (80) feet on the south line of Park Place; thence southerly one hundred and fifteen (115) feet parallel to the west line of inlot one hundred and nine (109); thence westerly twenty-five (25) feet parallel to the south line of Park Place; thence southerly parallel to the west line of inlot one hundred and nine (109) to the north line of Court street; thence west thirty (30) feet on the north line of Court street; thence northerly parallel to the west line of inlot one hundred and nine (109) to a point one hundred and five (105) feet south of the south line of Park Place; thence westerly twenty-five (25) feet parallel to the south line of Park Place; thence northerly one hundred and five (105) feet on the west line of inlot one hundred and nine (109) to the place of beginning.'

"TO HAVE AND TO HOLD the above granted and bargained premises, with the appurtenances thereof, unto the said grantee, its successors and assigns forever. And the said grantors do for themselves and for their heirs, executors and administrators, covenant with the said grantee, its successors and assigns, that they are well seized of the above described premises, as a good and indefeasible estate in fee simple, and have good right to bargain and sell the same in manner and form as above written, and that the same are free and clear from all incumbrances whatsoever, and that they will WARRANT and DEFEND said premises, with the appurtenances thereunto belonging, to the said grantee, its successors and assigns, against all lawful claims and demands whatsoever.

"And the said MARY MILLER HAYES does hereby remise, release and forever quit claim unto the said grantee, its successors and assigns, all her right and expectancy of dower in the above described premises.

"This deed is made subject, however, to the following provisions:

"First. That provision shall be made for an armory building by the state armory board on or before ————————————.

"Second. That the drill hall of said armory building shall be not less than fifty (50) feet in width by one hundred (100) feet in length, extending from the south line of Park Place.

"Third. That should the premises hereinafter described be deeded for the purpose of a technical school and a Y. M. C. A. building, access shall be given from the thirty (30) foot entrance area on Court street to said premises.

"Grantors reserve to themselves and assigns the right of possession and occupancy of the above described premises until the grantee, or its duly authorized officers or agents, has executed a valid contract for the erection and construction of a state armory thereon.

"Grantors further reserve to themselves and assigns the right to remove from said premises all buildings, fences, interior walks, shrubs and trees thereon within thirty (30) days after notice from grantee that it has executed said contract for the erection and construction of said armory.

"The grantors herein, for themselves, their heirs, executors, administrators and assigns, do hereby covenant with the grantee, its successors and assigns, that no building or buildings shall be erected on the premises hereinafter described, and which are now the property of grantors, that do not conform in style of architecture to that used in the design of the armory building to be built on the premises herein conveyed, and that such building or buildings shall not exceed four (4) stories in height, of not more than ten (10) feet in the clear of each ceiling; that any building or buildings built on the premises hereinafter described will only be to the south of the said armory; and further, that no intoxicating liquor shall ever be sold on the premises hereinafter described, nor shall the same be used in any way as to become an annoyance or nuisance to grantee herein, its successors or assigns, or to the neighborhood; said premises being as follows:

" 'Situated in the city of Fremont, county of Sandusky, and state of Ohio, and described as follows:

" 'First. Beginning at the northeast corner of inlot one hundred and eight (108); thence westerly fifty-two (52) feet on the south line of Park Place to the northeast corner of lot herein deeded by Webb C. Hayes and Mary Miller Hayes, his wife, to the state of Ohio; thence southerly along the east line of said property one hundred and fifteen (115) feet; thence westerly parallel to the south line of Park Place twenty-five (25) feet; thence southerly parallel to the west line of inlot one hundred and eight (108) to the north line of Court street; thence east seventy-seven (77) feet on the north line of Court street; thence northerly on the east line of inlot one hundred and eight (108) one hundred and seventy-four (174) feet and four (4) inches to the place of beginning.

" 'Second. Beginning at the northeast corner of Court street and Park avenue; thence along the north line of Court street sixty-six (66) feet and three (3) inches; thence northerly parallel to the west line of inlot one hundred and nine (109) sixty-nine (69) feet and four (4) inches; thence west parallel to the north line of Court street twenty-five (25) feet to the west line of inlot one hundred and nine (109); thence along said west line of inlot one hundred and nine (109) to a point twenty (20) feet north from the north line of inlot one hundred and ten (110); thence westerly twenty-two (22) feet and four (4) inches to a point; thence southwesterly twelve (12) feet and nine (9) inches to a point; thence westerly forty-six (46) feet and six (6) inches to the east line of Park avenue; thence southerly along the east line of Park avenue seventy-four (74) feet and eight (8) inches to the place of beginning.'

"Grantors for themselves, their heirs, executors, and administrators, further agree that in any and all deeds made by them for the two tracts of land last above described, or either of them, they will place therein convenants to the same effect as herein contained relative to said property.

"IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the grantors herein have hereunto set their hands the ————————day of ————————————, A. D., 1916.

"Signed and acknowledged in the presence of ————————————————

————————————————

————————————————

"THE STATE OF OHIO,
SANDUSKY COUNTY. } ss.

"Before me, a notary public in and for said county and state, personally appeared the above named WEBB C. HAYES and MARY MILLER HAYES, his wife, who acknowledged that they did sign the foregoing instrument, and that the same is their free act and deed.

"IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and official seal, at Fremont, Ohio, this ———————— day of ————————————, A. D., 1916.

————————————————

"Notary Public."

I am retaining the plats which you submitted with your inquiry, but am returning to you the proposed deed submitted by you from Colonel Hayes and wife to the state. You understand, of course, that should the form of deed which I have prepared meet with the approval of yourself and the grantors, the title to the property will have to be examined in order to determine whether or not the state will receive a good title thereto. Therefore, an abstract of title should be submitted to this department for examination.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

————————————

1689.

OHIO PENITENTIARY COMMISSION—PROPOSAL OF ARCHITECTS NOT APPROVED—COVERS SERVICES IN SUPERVISION OF CONSTRUCTION OF BUILDINGS—CONSTRUCTION OF BUILDINGS UNDER JURISDICTION OF OHIO BOARD OF ADMINISTRATION.

Proposal of Messrs. Richards, McCarty and Bulford, Architects, made to the Ohio penitentiary commission not approved, since said proposal covers services in supervision of the construction of buildings. The construction of the buildings is placed under the jurisdiction of the Ohio board of administration.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 13, 1916.

HON. SAMUEL J. BLACK, Sec'y Ohio Penitentiary Commission, Upper Sandusky, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Under date of April 29th you wrote me to the following effect:

"The Ohio penitentiary commission, of which I am secretary, have selected Richards, McCarty & Bulford as the architects for the proposed penitentiary, and Governor Frank B. Willis has approved said architects. At a meeting of this commission held on the 29th inst., a letter from the above named architects was submitted setting forth the terms covering their employment in this capacity, and the commission by unanimous vote accepted the proposition as submitted when approved by the attorney-general and the governor as provided by the law creating said penitentiary commission.

"I have been authorized by the commission to request from you a written opinion as to the legality of said proposition."

You have submitted to me the letter of Messrs. Richards, McCarty & Bulford to Mr. James A. Leonard, superintendent of Ohio state reformatory, under date of April 25, 1916, wherein it is stated as follows:

"We are enclosing herewith the original proposition which is intended to outline pretty fully the points necessary to consider in making a preliminary arrangement for our service. We have intended to draw this letter in such a manner as to make it a preliminary contract when accepted by you."

The letter referred to, and which when accepted is to constitute a preliminary contract according to the terms of the letter to Mr. Leonard, is one addressed to the Ohio penitentiary commission by Messrs. Richards, McCarty & Bulford, under date of April 25, 1916, submitting their proposition as a basis of the contract for their service as architects in connection with the proposed new penitentiary. After stating some preliminary matters, the letter contains five propositions, as follows:

"FIRST. We propose to place at your disposal our professional service including the service of our office force and organization for the purpose of making such preliminary investigations as you may see fit as to the best method of procedure in outlining the work to be done, up to such a point as will enable you to determine to just what stage in the progress of the plans and specifications for the proposed institution it would be wise and equitable for you to enter into a contract with us, upon a per diem basis as follows, viz.:

"For the time of a member of the firm outside of the office, either in traveling or attending meetings of the commission at points other than Columbus, there will be charged against this work twenty-five dollars ($25.00) per day plus actual traveling expenses; traveling expenses to include such items as transportation of all kinds, necessary hotel bills and proper incidental items due to being away from the home office.

"For the time of a member of the firm spent in the office engaged in this work a charge will be made of two dollars ($2.00) per hour.

"For the time of draftsmen and employes of this office a charge will be made of the actual cost to us of the draftsmen's time as shown by the records filed in this office each day the draftsmen work on this institution.

"If after starting the investigation it develops that you are not satisfied with our service and wish to make a settlement with us, you will be at liberty so to do upon paying to us the gross amount of the charges as shown by our books at the rates above listed up to the date of dispensing with our service plus an amount equal to twenty-five per cent. (25%) of the gross amount of said charges to cover our overhead cost in connection with the work.

"SECOND. Should it be determined by you to proceed with us to such a point as will complete the general preliminary drawings for the entire institution, consisting of the following, viz. plats and maps of the ground showing roads, sewers, water lines, buildings, grouping and arrangement of buildings and departments, the necessary sections, elevations and perspectives showing not only the entire institution and the assembling of its various departments, but in addition to this, showing preliminary plans of the individual buildings composing the institution together with the necessary sections, elevations and perspectives of the same, with such descriptions and explanations as will set forth in a general way the material to be employed and the character of construction to be used throughout, together with a general estimate of the entire cost of the institution complete, then and in that event the service to be rendered by us shall extend to the completion of such preliminary plans and information as is above outlined, and if it is desired by you to settle with us and dispense with our service upon such completion of such preliminary plans, due to any dissatisfaction with our service rendered, you will be at liberty so to do upon payment to us of an amount equal to one and two-tenths per cent. (1.2%) of the estimated cost of the work for which such preliminary plans, descriptions and estimates have been prepared, plus our actual traveling expenses outside of the state of Ohio caused by making investigation regarding this work.

"It is further understood that should our service with you extend to the point of the completion of the preliminary studies and estimates above outlined and for which a charge of one and two-tenths per cent. of the estimated cost is to be made, then and in that event the amount fixed for compensation for preliminary studies includes all of the items mentioned in the per diem charge except the item of traveling expense outside of the state of Ohio, and any amount that shall have been paid us on our per diem charges, either for members of the firm in or out of the office, or for draftsmen or employes of the firm, shall be credited as a partial payment on the one and two-tenths per cent. charged for the preliminary studies.

"THIRD. Should you desire to employ our service beyond the preliminary stage last above mentioned to such a point as will complete the working drawings and specifications for the entire institution, or for any of the separate buildings or units thereof, ready to submit to the contractors for bids, having us prepare all working plans and specifications, bills of material and estimates, attend the letting, tabulate the bids, prepare the contracts with the contractors, in a word, render fully professional service up to the point of actually starting construction of the buildings, not including the supervision of the construction, our compensation for this last mentioned service shall be an amount equal to two and four-tenths per cent. (2.4%) of the lowest responsible bids received on such completed plans and specifications as we have prepared.

"FOURTH. Should you desire to retain our service to supervise the construction of the work or any portion thereof and render full professional service to the completion of the construction of the same, then and in that event our compensation for this last mentioned service shall be an amount equal to two and four-tenths per cent. (2.4%) of the actual cost of the work executed under our supervision and direction.

"FIFTH. It is understood that for full professional service in connection with this work the gross amount paid us for preliminary studies, working plans and specifications, detailed drawings, estimates, bills of material and supervision of the construction, shall not exceed an amount equal to six per cent. (6%) of the cost of the work complete, divided and apportioned approximately as above outlined for the various stages of the work as it progresses, except that we shall be entitled to receive in addition to the six per cent. mentioned our actual traveling expenses outside of the state of Ohio caused by making investigation regarding this work."

And then follows a summary.

Before coming to consider the various propositions submitted in the letter heretofore referred to, it would be well to consider the legislation passed in 1913 in "An act to provide for the appointment of a commission to acquire a site, and to prepare and adopt plans for the erection thereon of a new penitentiary" (103 O. L., 247).

The said act, after specifying the manner in which the state shall acquire the site upon which the new penitentiary is to be erected, provides as follows:

Section 11 provides that the commission shall prepare ground plans of and plans for the erection of a new penitentiary; that is shall, by visitation or otherwise, secure information, employ a competent architect, and do whatever else may be necessary and essential to obtain the best possible plans for this purpose; that the commission is to fix the fee of the architect, which shall, together with other expenses incident to the preparation of such plans, be paid in the same manner as other expenses of the commission. The employment and compensation of the architect is subject to the approval of the governor.

Section 12 provides:

> "Before any ground plans or plans for the erection of a new penitentiary, or building or groups of buildings constituting part or units of the same, are finally approved and adopted by the commission, such plans shall be exhibited in the state house for not less than fifteen days, and any criticism of the same shall be considered by such commission in determining whether such plans shall be finally adopted."

Section 13 provides:

> "Such commission shall determine what ground plans and plans for the erection of the new penitentiary shall be adopted by formal vote of the commission at a public meeting. The plans adopted by the commission shall thereupon be submitted to the governor for his approval; if approved by him such plans shall be the final plans for the erection of the new penitentiary, and thereafter shall not be changed except when necessary, and then upon the consent of the governor, the penitentiary commission and the board of administration."

Section 14 provides that upon the final approval of such plans, the board of administration is to construct the new penitentiary, such construction in all things to conform to and be governed by the plans approved as before provided for; and that after the final approval of the plans the penitentiary commission shall, until relieved by the governor, continue to act in an advisory capacity to the board of administration.

From the above provisions of the statute it is clear that the commission is to employ an architect to cause to be prepared ground plans, which must undoubtedly mean the location of the various buildings upon the penitentiary site and plans for the erection of the various buildings to be located thereon; but that before any ground plans or any plans for the erection of any building or buildings are finally approved and adopted they shall be exhibited in the state house for not less than fifteen days for criticism; that after such ground plans and plans for the erection of the various buildings have been so exhibited the commission shall, by formal vote, adopt the same at a public meeting, shall thereupon submit the same to the governor for his approval, and, when approved, such plans shall be final plans for the erection of the building or buildings.

The proposal of the architects is, first, that they should make preliminary investigations, for which they are to be paid certain per diem fees.

Second. After the preliminary investigation has been conducted, if the result thereof is satisfactory, the architects are to proceed to complete "general preliminary drawings for the entire institution, consisting of the following, viz: plats and maps of the ground showing roads, sewers, water lines, buildings, grouping and arrangement of buildings and departments, the necessary sections, elevations and perspectives showing not only the entire institution and the assembling of its various departments, but in addition to this showing preliminary plans of the individual buildings, together with the necessary sections, elevations and perspectives," and a general estimate of the entire cost of the institution; for which the architects are to receive one and two-tenths per cent. of the estimated cost plus actual traveling expenses outside of the state.

Third. Should final plans and specifications then be made, the architects are to receive two and four-tenths per cent. of the lowest responsible bid received on such completed plans and specifications.

Fourth. Should the architects supervise the buildings determined to be built, they are to receive two and four-tenths per cent. of the actual cost of the work; the architects, however, under no circumstances, to receive more than six per cent. of the cost of the work complete.

A reading of the entire proposal made by the architects shows that it is their desire to cover the complete work of construction and supervision of the new penitentiary, but the question to be decided is whether the penitentiary commission can enter into such an arrangement.

At the beginning of their letter of April 25th they state that it is understood that if their proposition be accepted it shall not be construed as binding the state of Ohio to pay a sum in excess of _____ "until such an amount shall have been appropriated for this purpose by the general assembly of the state of Ohio."

I have ascertained from the auditor of state that the amount still available for the purposes of the commission on May 18, 1916, was $9,899.46.

There is no doubt that if a proper investigation and preliminary studies be made for the new penitentiary it will be determined that several buildings should be built, and preliminary plans for said several buildings will be made and the cost thereof estimated. The commission now has a little less than $10,000 for all purposes, and said amount will under no circumstances be sufficient, should the commission determine after the preliminary investigation has been made to proceed with the preliminary plans, to pay the one and two-tenths per cent. which would be due the architects upon completion of said preliminary plans.

The proposal provides that should the proposition be accepted and the preliminary work meet the approval of the Ohio penitentiary commission " a contract or contracts will be entered into as soon as sufficient facts and data can be determined upon, and that these contracts will provide for our employment to such a point as will carry through to completion one or more of the various stages of the work hereinafter described."

It seems to be recognized throughout the proposal that no contract or contracts, as above specified, can be entered into until an appropriation has been made. This, as I construe the matter, is sufficiently clear not to bind the state of Ohio until a proper appropriation has been made. The same is true as to the various other stages of the work.

However, in the fourth proposition submitted by the architects they undertake to contract with the penitentiary commission as to the compensation that is to be paid to them for services in supervising the building or buildings during construction. Under the law as hereinbefore set out, after the final plans and specifications have been duly approved, they are then turned over to the board of administration, which said board is to proceed with the construction in accordance with such plans and specifications. While it is true that, unless relieved by the governor, the penitentiary commission shall continue to act in an advisory capacity to the board of administration, yet I do not believe that the continuing of said commission in an advisory capacity would authorize it to enter into a contract with any architects to supervise the construction of said building after the final plans and specifications are adopted. Therefore, so far as the fourth proposition contained in the architects' proposal is concerned, it would be entirely outside of the scope of the powers of the commission to enter into any such arrangement.

For the foregoing reason, therefore, I am of the opinion that the proposition submitted by the architects to your commission is not such a proposition as can be accepted by your commission.

The conclusion reached above need not, as I view it, interfere with the main purpose of the employment. My suggestion in order to carry out the plain intention of the proposal would be that the same should be addressed both to the Ohio penitentiary commission and the board of administration; and that when so addressed the said proposal should be accepted by both of the above boards.

(1) So far as the first step, to wit, the preliminary investigation, is concerned, as before stated, there is now to the credit of the Ohio penitentiary commission something over $9,000, and as the preliminary investigation is to be conducted on a per diem basis, I am of the opinion that the services of the architects can be accepted in regard to the preliminary investigation to the extent that there is money now available to pay them for such services, and when a further appropriation shall have been made by the general assembly for such purpose, may be continued to the extent of such appropriation.

(2) After the investigation has been made, if the commission determines to continue the services of the architects, the contract provided for in the preliminary contract should be entered into between the architects and the Ohio penitentiary commission, embodying all terms and conditions that should be properly embodied in such a contract, as soon as the legislature has appropriated sufficient money to pay the architects the percentage agreed upon in such contract.

(3) After the general preliminary drawings have been made, if the commission determines to continue the services of the architects and determines to have final plans of some or all of the proposed buildings completed, the contract provided for in the preliminary contract should be entered into between the architects and the Ohio penitentiary commission, embodying all terms and conditions necessary in such a contract to carry the same into effect, when the legislature has appropriated money sufficient to pay the architects for their services at the completion of said work.

(4) After the final plans have been legally approved and the same turned over to the board of administration to be used in construction, the contract provided for in the preliminary contract should be entered into between the architects and the board of administration, embodying all the terms and conditions necessary to be embodied in such contract, for the supervision of such construction, and specifically containing the proposal of the architects that the entire cost to the state, including the amount already received by them from the Ohio penitentiary commission, should not exceed the six per cent. provided for.

A slight change in the proposal submitted by the architects and which upon being accepted is to constitute the preliminary contract will, I believe, suffice to carry out the plain intention of the parties and, when accepted, will be legal and binding.

As the question of the rate of compensation to be paid the architects is not before me, I desire it to be fully understood that I do not in any way pass upon the rate of compensation provided for in the proposal, but only to the legality of employing architects in the manner set out therein.

Under section 11 of house bill No. 556 (103 O. L., 247-249) it is provided that the employment and compensation of the architect "shall be subject to the approval of the governor." Therefore, not only is the employment, but likewise the compensa tion to receive the approval of the governor. In your letter of April 29th you state that your commission has selected Richards, McCarty & Bulford as the architects and that the governor has approved said architects, but there is no statement in your letter that the governor has likewise approved the compensation. Therefore, as soon as your commission and the Ohio board of administration have accepted the proposal, revised as herein suggested, the same should receive the approval of the governor.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1690.

BOARD OF LIBRARY COMMISSIONERS—WHERE BOARD REMAINED IN QUARTERS AFTER EXPIRATION OF TWO YEAR LEASE—HOW LONG LEASE IS EXTENDED.

The board of library commissioners, having continued in its present quarters after the expiration of its two-year lease, the date of expiration being April 10, 1916, and having paid rent for April and May, the landlord accepting the same, and the adjutant general not having prior to the expiration of the term of the lease provided other quarters for said board, the term of said lease was thereby extended to April 10, 1917.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 13, 1916.

HON. BENSON W. HOUGH, Adjutant General of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—A few days ago your department submitted to me copy of a lease between the Central Ohio Paper Company and the board of library commissioners of Ohio, together with certain correspondence had by you with said Paper Company, and asked my opinion as to whether or not the contention made by the Paper Company is correct, or whether you are now at liberty to make a lease with the Stoneman Realty Company for quarters in its building, to be taken possession of immediately by the board of library commissioners.

The lease submitted is one made on the 4th day of April, 1914, between the Central Ohio Paper Company and the board of library commissioners of Ohio, for the term of two years from April 10, 1914, fully to be completed and ended April 10, 1916, the amount of the rental to be paid being $100.00 per month for the first year and $125.00 per month for the second year. One of the covenants of the lease is as follows:

> "It is also agreed and understood by the parties of this lease or contract, and the same is unders ood that said party of the second part is hereby given option to extend, at its own will and desire, the term of this lease for an additional term of 1, 2 or 3 years as it may desire upon the same conditions as are provided herein for the definite term of two years.
>
> "It is also agreed and understood, however, that if the party of the second part desires to extend the terms for an additional year, it must give the lessor ninety days notice of such desire before the expiration of the two year term."

It appears that the library commissioners have occupied the premises up to the present time, being after the original term of two years as fixed by the lease, and that no notice was served on the lessor, within the ninety days specified, of its intention of continue in the premises.

From the correspondence enclosed it appears that on June 1, 1916, you notified Mr. Orland Miller, of the Central Ohio Paper Company, as follows:

> "This is to notify you that on or before July 1, 1916, the room in your building occupied by the traveling library, will be vacated.
>
> "This move is not made necessary through any action on your part as owner of the building, but rather with a view of saving money for the state of Ohio."

In reply to the said letter is a letter to the following effect:

> "Acknowledging your esteemed favor of the 1st: I have to advise that we hold a lease, signed by the board of library commissioners for the room occupied by the traveling library, which does not expire until April 10, 1917, and can not consent to cancellation of said lease before that time. The payment of the rent in April and May of this year by the board of library commissioners was in effect a renewal of the lease for one year from April 10, 1916."

There can be no question raised in this matter as to the appropriation, as that matter was fully determined in the case of State ex rel. Ross et al. v. Donahey, auditor, 93 O. S., 414.

The law of Ohio relative to the holding over by a tenant under a lease for a term of years is set out in the second branch of the syllabus in the case of Railroad Co. v. West, 57 O. S., 160, which is as follows:

> "Where, after the expiration of the term, the tenant holds over and pays rent for a part of another year, without any new agreement with the landlord, he becomes a tenant for that year at the same rent, and cannot terminate the tenancy before the end of the year without the landlord's consent."

The court, at page 165, says:

> "And when, after the expiration of the term, he holds over into another year without any new agreement or arrangement with the landlord, the latter may treat him as a tenant for that year at the same rent and upon the terms and conditions of his prior occupancy, or, as a trespasser at his election; but if the landlord accept the rent, or acquiesce in such holding over for a considerable time, his election will be regarded as made in favor of the tenancy, and then it cannot be terminated before the end of the year by either party without the consent of the other."

It is true that in the lease submitted there is an option given to the lessee, provided it is exercised within ninety days before the expiration of the original term to extend the term, and that such an option was not exercised in this case. That, however, will in no way estop the landlord from electing, should the tenant hold over, to treat him as a tenant for another year, or as a trespasser and oust him.

Such is the law of Ohio in regard to leases between private individuals. The lease in question was made by the board of library commissioners, at a time when said board was fully authorized to enter into a lease.

Section 146 of the General Code was amended in May 14, 1915 (106 O. L., 319). Said amendment provided that the adjutant general shall have "full control and supervision of fixing and placing all offices, commissions, departments and bureaus of the state in offices, buildings and rooms outside the state house when the same cannot be placed therein." And further provides:

> "He shall rent all offices, buildings and rooms for all officers, commissions, departments and bureaus of the state located outside the state house and execute all leases in writing for the same on behalf of the state subject to the approval of the governor * * *."

I do not think that this provision of the statute in any way changes the rule of law as laid down in the case of Railroad Co. v. West, supra. The library commissioners having held over after the two year term, and rent having been paid and received for such holding over, their tenancy is referable to the original lease, and the original lease being valid in its inception and their tenancy referable thereto, I do not believe that the contract so entered into can be abrogated.

For that reason I am of the opinion that the contention made by the lessor in this case is correct, and that there is a valid lease for the premises now occupied by the traveling library up until April 10, 1917.

I am returning herewith the lease and other papers submitted by you.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1691.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE BY UNION COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 14, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

> "RE:—Bonds of Union county, Ohio, in the sum of $12,300.00 to pay the cost of improving the Moore-Williamson road, being one bond of one hundred dollars, and 20 bonds of six hundred and ten dollars each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the county commissioners and other officers relative to the above bond issue, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the form submitted and executed by the proper officers will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of Union county.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1692.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, UNION COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 14, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of Union county, in the sum of $270.00 for Moore ditch No. 1065 improvement in Claibourne township, being one bond of $70.00 and two bonds of one hundred dollars each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the county commissioners and other officers relative to the above bond issue, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the provisions of the General Code, and the resolutions of the county commissioners authorizing the issuance of the same, and executed by the proper officers will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of Union county.

As no bond and coupon form was attached to the transcript I should have an opportunity of examining the bonds when presented to the treasurer of state for delivery.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1693.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE BY UNION COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 14, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of Union county, Ohio, in the sum of $1,570.00, for Westlake ditch No. 1057 improvement in Paris and Taylor townships, being one bond of five hundred and thirty dollars, and two bonds of five hundred and twenty dollars each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the county commissioners and other officers relative to the above bond issue, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the provisions of the General Code, and the resolutions of the county commissioners authorizing their issuance, and executed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of Union county.

As no bond and coupon form was attached to the transcript I should have an opportunity of examining the bonds when presented to the treasurer of state for delivery.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1694.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE BY UNION COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 14, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of Union county, Ohio, for Kunz ditch No. 1064 in York township, amounting to $1,520.00, being one bond of $320.00, and four bonds of $300.00 each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the county commissioners and other officers relative to the above bond issue, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the provisions of the General Code, and the resolutions of the county commissioners authorizing their issuance, and executed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of Union County.

As no bond and coupon form was attached to the transcript I should have an opportunity of examining the bonds when presented to the treasurer of state for delivery.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1695.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE BY UNION COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 14, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:

"RE:—Bonds of Union county, Ohio, for Haner ditch No. 1060 improvement in Washington township, in the sum of $1,050.00, being 3 bonds of $350.00 each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the county commissioners and other officers relative to the above bond issue, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the provisions of the General Code, and the resolutions of the county commissioners authorizing their issuance, and executed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of Union county.

As no bond and coupon form was attached to the transcript I should have an opportunity of examining the bonds when presented to the treasurer of state for delivery.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1696.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE BY UNION COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 14, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of Union county for McMahon ditch No. 1059 improvement, in the sum of $950.00, being one bond of $310.00, and two bonds of $320.00 each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the county commissioners and other officers relative to the above bond issue, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the provisions of the General Code, and the resolutions of the county commissioners authorizing their issuance, and executed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of Union county.

As no bond and coupon form was attached to the transcripts I should have an opportunity of examining the bonds when they are presented to the treasurer of state for delivery.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1697.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE BY UNION COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 14, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of Union county for Brown ditch No. 1066 improvement in Jerome township, in the sum of three hundred dollars, being three bonds of $100.00 each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the county commissioners and other officers relative to the above bond issue, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the provisions of the General Code, and the resolutions of the county commissioners authorizing their issuance, and executed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of Union county.

As no bond and coupon form was attached to the transcripts I should have an opportunity of examining the bonds when presented to the treasurer of state for delivery.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1698.

COMBINED NORMAL AND INDUSTRIAL DEPARTMENT OF WILBERFORCE UNIVERSITY—LIABILITY FOR TUITIONS PAID BY STUDENTS TO WILBERFORCE UNIVERSITY WHICH BELONG TO SAID ABOVE NAMED DEPARTMENT.

The combined normal and industrial department of Wilberforce university should not pay to Wilberforce university amount due to such university for teaching service to students of the C. N. and I. department until said university has paid to said department the amount of fees which said university received belonging to said department.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 15, 1916.

HON. WILLIAM A. JOINER, Financial Officer, C. N. and I. Department, Wilberforce University, Wilberforce, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I am in receipt of your letter of June 5, 1916, requesting an opinion as follows:

"In the interest of correct office procedure and proper accounting as financial officer for the combined normal and industrial department at Wilberforce university, I have the honor to request an opinion in the case following:

"Statement of facts:

"The combined normal and industrial department offers to students, resident in Ohio, normal and vocational instruction free of tuition, and to students registering from other states a small fee is charged.

"When such non-resident students take literary work in Wilberforce university said students pay also to said university a term fee.

"In September, 1915, K. Carpenter and E. Matthews registered under C. N. and I. department as special students in domestic science; M. Thompson and M. M. Symore registered in C. N. and I. department as special students in carpentry.

"All four were assigned to take some literary work and each paid to the office of the secretary of Wilberforce university a term fee of $6.25, and into this office a like fee of $6.25, making full tuition fee of $12.50 (All being non-residents). Amount of fees collected in this office was duly forwarded to state treasurer as receipts.

"The second term fees were paid in like manner by Carpenter and Matthews, Symore became a 'labor' student (working for his tuition) while the secretary of Wilberforce university collected from Thompson the entire tuition $12.50, i. e., $6.25 due the university office and $6.25 due this office, which, upon request, they declined to surrender.

"At the opening of third term, the university collected the entire fee $12.50 from Carpenter, Matthews and Thompson, Symore remaining a labor student. All students are required to register first at office of president, whence they are sent to their respective departments.

"The books of this office show one-half the above mentioned tuitions collected by the university office due and payable to this office as revenue of the state, to wit, $25.00.

"This department pays to Wilberforce university monthly for teaching service to students of this C. N. and I. department, the sum of $500.00, the last of which payments for the present fiscal year will soon be due; so also will be due to the state from this C. N. and I. department all tuitions, revenues, etc. (vide Mooney bill).

"Question:

"Is this office liable for these tuitions, to wit: $25.00 due this department and collected and held by Wilberforce university?

"If so, should amount be deducted from amount due from this department to Wilberforce university; or should payment be withheld till settlement is made? Or what steps should be taken to collect same?"

The Wilberforce university and the combined normal and industrial department are two separate and distinct institutions, the latter being a state institution and the former a private institution.

You state in your letter that you charged the persons named, being non-residents a term tuition fee of $6.25, which amount was paid in by the persons mentioned; that the second term fees of two of the parties named were paid direct to you, the third becoming a "labor" student and therefore not required to pay a tuition fee; that the fourth paid his entire tuition fee to the secretary of Wilberforce university, being the fee charged by the university as well as the fee charged by your department, and that upon request the said university refused to surrender the same to you; that at the opening of the third term the university collected the entire fee, both due to the university and to your department, from the three students named who are required to pay the fee, and that the university refuses to turn over to your department its proportionate share therof. You ask whether your office is liable for the tuition, by which I understand you to mean whether or not you are liable to the state for the tuitions in question, you not having received the same.

I do not believe you are liable to the state for those fees which you did not receive. It is, of course, the policy of the state that fees due the state should first be paid before the services are rendered; in other words, that the state does not do a credit business. However, in this instance it seems that the students have done all that was in their power to do, and presumed that they had paid properly when they paid the entire fee to the university proper.

Since your department pays to Wilberforce university monthly for teaching service to students a certain sum, I am of the opinion that you should not pay any further sums to said university until said university has settled with you for so much of said fees received by it as your department is entitled to receive.

Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,

Attorney-General.

1699.

MUNICIPAL CORPORATION—SECTION 4564, G. C., REQUIRES THAT WHERE A MUNICIPAL CORPORATION OWNS ITS WORKHOUSE AND PRISON, IMPRISONMENT FOR VIOLATION OF ORDINANCES SHALL BE IN SAID WORKHOUSE OR PRISON.

Where a municipal corporation owns and operates a city workhouse and a city prison, the first part of section 4564, G. C., requires that imprisonment under the ordinances of such municipal corporation shall be in said workhouse or prison.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 15, 1916.

Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—In your letter of May 15th you request my opinion on the following question:

> "Did the judge of the police court of the city of Columbus, Ohio, (1914-1915), have authority to sentence persons convicted of the violation of the city ordinances to the Franklin county jail, said city of Columbus, Ohio, at the time owning and operating its own city prison and work house in the absence of a contract between the city of Columbus (through its director of safety) and Franklin county (through the county commissioners), if, at the time said sentences were imposed, there was sufficient accomodations in the city prison or the work house for the confinement of prisoners therein?"

I call your attention to section 4564, G. C., which provides as follows:

> "Imprisonment under the ordinances of a municipal corporation shall be in the workhouse or other jail thereof, if the corporation is provided with such workhouse or a jail. Any corporation not provided with a workhouse, or other jail, shall be allowed, for the purpose of imprisonment, the use of the jail of the county, at the expense of the corporation, until it is provided with a prison, house of correction, or workhouse. Persons, so imprisoned in the county jail shall be under the charge of the sheriff of the county, who shall receive and hold such persons in the manner prescribed by the ordinances of the corporation, until discharged by due course of law."

From your statement of facts it appears that during the years mentioned in your inquiry the city of Columbus owned and operated a city prison and city workhouse. In view of this fact it is clear that under provision of the first part of section 4564, G. C., supra, the imprisonment of the persons, referred to in your inquiry, should have been in the prison or workhouse of said city. It follows that the director of public safety of the city of Columbus could not have entered into a valid contract with the commissioners of Franklin county for the maintenance of the aforesaid persons at the county jail at the expense of said city. There is, therefore, no liability on the part of said city for said maintenance.

If, however, the city has paid the county for said maintenance, I am of the opinion that said county cannot be required to refund to said city the amount so paid by it.

In view of the foregoing your question must be answered in the negative.

Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,

Attorney-General.

1700.

COUNTY RECORDER—NO FEE MAY BE CHARGED BY SUCH OFFICER FOR FILING AN OIL MAP.

No fee may be charged by a county recorder for filing an oil map under the provisions of section 973, G. C.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 15, 1916.

Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—I have your letter of June 13, 1916, submitting the following inquiry:

> "Is the county recorder legally entitled to charge a fee for the filing of the map required to be filed with him by the provisions of section 973, General Code?"

The provisions of section 973, G. C., to which you refer in your foregoing inquiry, in so far as they are pertinent to said inquiry, are as follows:

> "Any person, firm or corporation causing to be drilled any well for oil or gas or elevator well or any test well within the limits of any coal producing county of this state, must give notice, in writing, of such fact to the chief inspector of mines, stating the location of the land upon which such well is to be drilled.
>
> "It shall be the duty of any such person, firm or corporation to make or cause to be made an accurate map on a scale of one inch to four hundred feet, showing on said map the location and number of wells, the property lines of the property upon which located in the township, section and quarter section in which the same is being drilled, together with a measurement from the section line and also from the quarter section line, together with the sworn statement of the person, firm or corporation making said map, the same to be kept on file in the office of the state mining department and shall be open for inspection by the public at all reasonable hours. The original map shall be retained by the owner or surveyor and one blue print filed with the chief inspector of mines and one with the recorder of the county in which such well is located within sixty days after the passage and approval of this act, or after commencing to drill any oil or gas well, and if drilling is still continued on the property already surveyed, a complete blue print shall be made and filed at the end of each year.
>
> "No oil or gas well shall be drilled nearer than three hundred feet to any opening to a mine used as a means of ingrees or egress for the persons employed therein, nor nearer than one hundred feet to any building or inflammable structure connected therewith and actually used as a part of the operating equipment of said mine. * * *
>
> "The property owner or owners shall report to the chief inspector of mines of the commencing to drill of any well or wells for oil or gas on his or their property and shall report at the end of each year thereafter if drilling is continued the number of wells drilled on his or their property, the date drilled and by whom drilled.
>
> "When any oil or gas well is to be abandoned, the person, firm or corporation having drilled or operated such well, shall notify the chief inspector of mines, at least ten days in advance so that he may direct one of his district inspectors to be present at the time of abandonment."

An inspection of the provisions of said statute aforesaid indicates that its primary purpose is to keep the state mining department, the chief inspector of mines and the public generally fully advised in respect to the operations of all persons, firms or corporations owning and controlling oil or gas wells within the limits of any coal producing county of the state. Its requirements are enacted for the protection of the public and to enable said mining department and chief inspector of mines to effectively enforce the laws for the protection of mining properties and all persons required to be in and about said properties in the operation thereof. It is a law, therefore primarily in the interest of the public and is a police regulation designed for the public's benefit. The legislature has provided no fee or charge for filing said map as in the case of filing a map of an abandoned coal mine, see section 937, G. C. This omission may have been made designedly because of the general purpose of the law as before noted, or it may have been merely an oversight on the part of the legislature. Regardless, however, of the cause of such omission the fact remains that neither in the section quoted nor in any section providing generally for fees or charges for filing an instrument with the county recorder may any provision be found fixing and requiring a fee or payment for the filing of such maps.

This being so, and because the law makes no provision for a fee or charge for filing oil maps under the provisions of said section 973, G. C., supra, I must advise that no fee or charge therefor may be made by the county recorder.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1701.

ROADS AND HIGHWAYS—FORMS FOR ORDINANCES WHERE STATE HIGHWAY COMMISSIONER EXTENDS ROAD IMPROVEMENT THROUGH VILLAGE AND CO-OPERATES DIRECTLY WITH VILLAGE.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 15, 1916.

HON. CLINTON COWEN, State Highway Commissioner, Columbus, Ohio..

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of May 4, 1916, which communication reads as follows:

> "Permit me to direct your attention to opinion 1317 from your department, in which you advised this department relative to the proper procedure where state aid is extended in improving an extension of an intercounty highway through a village with the co-operation of the county commissioners and township trustees.
>
> "In the last paragraph of your opinion you stated you would be pleased to advise us when necessary as to the proper course to pursue where neither the township or county is able to participate in the cost of such an improvement, and where the village and state desire to co-operate directly.
>
> "I am attaching hereto a copy of letter signed by the clerk of the village of Oak Hill, Jackson county, Ohio, in which the clerk quotes a resolution passed by the village of Oak Hill, agreeing to pay one-half of the cost of the improvement of Railroad street through that village, and requesting that the state pay one-half of the cost. In this case neither the county commissioners nor the township trustees are able to participate in the cost of the improvement, and we desire to co-operate direct with the village.

"I, therefore, respectfully request an opinion from your office as to the proper procedure in this matter."

The resolution heretofore passed by the council of the village of Oak Hill, as set forth in the communication of the clerk of that village, is as follows:

"Be it resolved by the council of the village of Oak Hill that the state highway department be and is hereby tendered the following proposition for paving with brick Railroad street from the north corporation line to the south corporation line through the said village as follows: That the village of Oak Hill pay one-half of the cost of said improvement and the state highway department pay one-half of said cost; that the width of the said improvement from the north corporation line southwardly to the B. & O. S. W. Railroad crossing be paved to a width of sixteen (16) feet; from the B. & O. S. W. Railroad crossing southwardly to the south line of Maple avenue to a width of twenty (20) feet; thence southwardly from the south line of Maple avenue to the south corporation line to a width of sixteen (16) feet."

Section 1231-3, G. C., being section 229 of the Cass highway law, is the section of the General Code relating to the extension of proposed intercounty highway or main market road improvements into or through a village where there is no co-operation by the county or township in which the village is situated. The section in question reads as follows:

"The state highway commissioner may extend a proposed road improvement into or through a village when the consent of the council of said village has been first obtained, and such consent shall be evidenced by the proper legislation of the council of said village duly entered upon its records, and said council may assume and pay such proportion of the cost and expense of that part of the proposed improvement within said village as may be agreed upon between said state highway commissioner and said council. The state highway commissioner may also enter into an agreement with the council of said village to improve any part of the road within said village to a greater width than is contemplated by the proceedings for said improvement, and the state highway commissioner and the council of said village shall be governed as to all matters in connection with said improvement within said village by the statutes relating to road improvements through municipalities by boards of county commissioners."

It will be noted from the above quoted section that the first step to be taken in the premises is the procuring of the consent of the council of the village in question. This consent should be by ordinance or resolution, which should, of course, be duly entered upon the records of the council of the village, and a certified copy of the ordinance should be forwarded to your department and preserved in the files of your office. The state may pay the entire cost of the work within the village, or the cost may be divided between the state and the village in such proportion as may be agreed upon between them. There is also a provision applicable where it is desired by the village that the road be improved to a greater width than is contemplated by the state highway department, but I am informed that it will not be necessary to invoke this provision in the present instance for the reason that the improvement, as contemplated by your department, is of the width desired by the village. It is further provided by section 1231-3, G. C., that the state highway commissioner and the council of the village shall be governed as to all matters in connection with the improvement within the village by the statutes relating to road improvements through municipalities by boards of county commissioners. These statutes are sections 6949 to 6954, G. C., inclusive.

Section 6949, G. C., extends in terms to municipalities, but in view of the provision of the last sentence of section 6954, G. C., the word "municipality," occurring in this and the subsequent sections, must be read "village." Under section 6949, G. C., a board of county commissioners may extend a proposed road improvement into or through a village when the consent of the council of the village has been first obtained, this consent to be evidenced by the proper legislation of the council entered upon its records. The village may pay such part of the cost of the work within the village as may be agreed upon between the commissioners (state highway commissioner, in the procedure now under consideration) and the council.

It is clear from a consideration of sections 1231-3, G. C., and 6949, G. C., that where you desire to extend a proposed inter-county highway or main market road improvement into or through a village, the first step that must be taken is the action of the village council consenting to such proposed extension. An examination of the subsequent sections, relating to the improvement of roads through villages by county commissioners, which sections are by adoption made applicable to the proceedings which you now have in view, indicates that the agreement relating to the division of cost is to be made after the plans, specifications, profiles, cross sections and estimates have been made and approved by you and transmitted to the village. The action taken by the council of the village of Oak Hill is, therefore, somewhat premature and while the same would probably be regarded as in effect consenting to the making of the improvement, yet in view of the fact that it may be necessary to issue bonds to pay the portion of the cost assumed by the village, I suggest the advisability of starting the legislation anew and requiring the council of the village of Oak Hill to adopt a formal ordinance consenting to the making of the improvement, which ordinance may be in the following form:

"Ordinance No.....

Consenting to the extension by the state highway commissioner of a proposed road improvement through the village of Oak Hill.

"WHEREAS, it is desired by the state highway commissioner of the state of Ohio to extend the improvement of inter-county highway (main market road) No..... through the village of Oak Hill, Jackson county, Ohio, over the following described route, to wit: (Here describe the route through the village), and,

"WHEREAS, said village of Oak Hill is willing to pay one-half of the cost of said improvement within its corporate limits, NOW, THEREFORE,

"Be It Ordained by the council of the village of Oak Hill, state of Ohio,

"Section 1. That said village of Oak Hill, state of Ohio, hereby consents to the construction by and under the supervision of the state highway department of the state of Ohio, of said proposed road improvement through said village along the above described route.

"Section 2. That the clerk of said village be and he hereby is instructed to certify a copy of this ordinance to the state highway commissioner of the state of Ohio.

"Section 3. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law."

Inasmuch as it is not desired by the council of the village of Oak Hill to improve the highway in question to a width greater than that contemplated by your department, section 6950, G. C., need not be considered.

The next step, after the council of the village has formally given its consent to the construction of the improvement by your department, will be the preparation of the necessary plans, profiles, cross sections, specifications and estimates for the improvement of the road and the approval of the same by you. After these plans, etc., have been prepared and approved by you, you should certify a copy of the same to the village clerk. This action should be taken in order to conform to the provisions of section 6951, G. C.

Under the provisions of section 6952, G. C., it will be the duty of the council of the village, upon receipt of a certified copy of the plans, etc., to approve the same and enter into formal agreement looking toward the desired division of the cost and expense of the improvement. This action should be taken by ordinance, which ordinance may be in the following form:

"Ordinance No._____

Approving plans, specifications, profiles, cross sections and estimates for the improvement of_____road (street) and agreement with the state of Ohio as to the division of the cost and expense of said improvement.

"WHEREAS, the village of Oak Hill, Ohio, has heretofore consented to the extension, through said village by the state highway department of the state of Ohio, of a proposed road improvement along the following route, to wit: (Here describe the route of the proposed improvement, using the same language as in the former ordinance), and,

"WHEREAS, the state highway commissioner of the state of Ohio has prepared and approved plans, specifications, profiles, cross sections and estimates for said proposed improvement and has caused a certified copy thereof to be filed with the clerk of said village, NOW, THEREFORE,

"Be It Ordained by the council of the village of Oak Hill, state of Ohio,

"Section 1. That said plans, specifications, profiles, cross sections and estimates for said improvement, as prepared and approved by the state highway commissioner of the state of Ohio, be, and the same are hereby approved.

"Section 2. That it is hereby agreed that one-half of the estimated cost and expense of said proposed improvement to be made by and under the supervision of the state highway department of the state of Ohio, according to said plans, specifications, profiles, cross sections and estimates, shall be paid by said village and that all compensation and damages, on account of said improvement, shall be paid by said village.

"Section 3. That the clerk of said village be and he hereby is instructed to certify a copy of this ordinance to the state highway commissioner of the state of Ohio.

"Section 4. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law."

After the adoption of the above ordinance, the council of the village will be required to cause notice to be given that said plans, etc., have been approved and said agreement entered into by one publication in some newspaper of general circulation in the village, and it is further required that the notice shall fix a time when claims for compensation and damages, on account of the proposed improvement, shall be filed. If any claims for compensation or damages are filed and the council is not able to agree upon the amount of the same with the persons filing such claims, the council must order proceedings to be instituted in a court of competent jurisdiction to inquire into such claims for compensation and damages. All compensation and damages, on account of the improvement, must be paid by the village and all questions of assessment are to be determined and all assessments made by the village. Bonds may be issued by the village, both in anticipation of the collection of special assessments and in anticipation of taxes levied for the purpose of providing for the payment of that part of the village's share of the cost to be paid by general taxation. The above steps are to be taken by the village authorities and your department is not concerned in the exact procedure followed by the village in its legislation on these matters. Such legislation may be conducted under the supervision of the village solicitor and after the necessary funds have been provided, either by a bond issue by the village or otherwise, it will become the duty of the village to pay to the county treasurer of Jackson county its estimated proportion of the cost of the improvement, as fixed in the agreement set forth in the ordinance adopted by the village council. The funds paid by the village to the county treasurer are to be paid out by the treasurer upon the warrant of the county auditor, issued upon the requisition of the state highway commissioner. As evidence that payment has been made by the village, the village should forward to the state highway department the receipt of the county treasurer. You will be justified in letting a contract for the improvement when a certified copy of the ordinance of the village council, consenting to the extension of the proposed improvement through the village and a certified copy of the ordinance approving the plans, etc., and containing the agreement of the village as to the proportion of the cost to be paid by it, have been filed with you and when the village shall have paid to the county treasurer its estimated proportion of the cost of the improvement, as fixed in the ordinance adopted by its council, and forwarded to you the receipt of the county treasurer showing such payment.

I think the above suggestions will serve as a sufficient guide in all cases where it is not desired by the village to improve the highway to a greater width than is proposed by you.

Should a situation arise where it is desired by a village to improve the road to a greater width than is contemplated by you, the forms of ordinances above prescribed may be readily modified to meet the changed conditions. The following forms of ordinances, based on the assumption that you propose to pave to a width of sixteen feet and that the village desires a pavement twenty-four feet wide and is willing to pay one-half the cost of the sixteen-foot pavement and all the cost due to the widening of the pavement to twenty-four feet will serve as models.

The ordinance consenting to the extension of the improvement may be in the following form:

"Ordinance No_____

"Consenting to the extension by the state highway commissioner of a proposed road improvement through the village of_____.

"WHEREAS, it is desired by the state highway commissioner of the state of Ohio to extend the improvement of inter-county highway (main market road) No_____, through the village of_____, _____county, Ohio, over the following described route, to wit: (Here describe the route through the village), and,

"WHEREAS, it is proposed by the state highway commissioner of the state of Ohio to improve said road (street) to a width of sixteen feet and it is desired by said village that said road (street) be improved to a width of twenty-four feet, and

"WHEREAS, said village of_____is willing to pay one-half of the cost of improving said road (street) within its corporate limits to a width of sixteen feet and is willing to pay all of the cost of improving said road (street) to said additional width, NOW, THEREFORE,

"Be it ordained by the council of the village of_____, state of Ohio,

"Sec. 1: That said village of_____, state of Ohio, hereby consents to the construction by and under the supervision of the state highway department of the state of Ohio of said proposed road improvement through said village along the above described route.

"Sec. 2: Said village hereby declares its intention to improve said road (street) to a width of twenty-four feet, being a width eight feet greater than that proposed by the state highway commissioner of the state of Ohio.

"Sec. 3: That the clerk of said village be and he hereby is instructed to certify a copy of this ordinance to the state highway commissioner of the state of Ohio.

"Sec. 4: This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law."

The ordinance approving the plans, etc., and agreeing as to the division of the cost and expense, may be in the following form:

Ordinance No.....

"Approving plans, specifications, profiles, cross sections and estimates for the improvement of.....road (street) and agreeing with the state of Ohio as to the division of the cost and expense of said improvement.

"WHEREAS, the village of....., Ohio, has heretofore consented to the extension through said village by the state highway department of the state of Ohio of a proposed road improvement along the following route, to wit: (here describe the route of the proposed improvement using the same language as in the former ordinance), and,

"WHEREAS, said village has heretofore indicated its willingness to pay one-half of the cost of improving said road (street) to a width of sixteen feet and has declared its intention of improving said road (street) to a width of twenty-four feet and has indicated its willingness to pay all the cost of improving said additional width of eight feet, and,

"WHEREAS, the state highway commissioner of the state of Ohio has prepared and approved plans, specifications, profiles, cross sections and estimates for said proposed improvement and has caused a certified copy thereof to be filed with the clerk of said village, NOW, THEREFORE,

"Be it ordained by the council of the village of....., state of Ohio,

"Sec. 1: That said plans, specifications, profiles, cross sections and estimates for said improvement, as prepared and approved by the state highway commissioner of the state of Ohio, be and the same are hereby approved.

"Sec. 2: That said improvement shall be made by and under the supervision of the state highway department of the state of Ohio, according to said plans, specifications, profiles, cross sections and estimates and it is hereby agreed that one-half of the estimated cost and expense of improving said road (street) to a width of sixteen feet, which estimated cost and expense amounts to..... dollars ($.....) shall be paid by said village and that all of the estimated cost and expense of improving said road (street) to said additional width of eight feet, which estimated cost and expense amounts to ..... dollars ($.....) and also all compensation and damages on account of said improvement shall be paid by said village.

"Sec. 3: That the clerk of said village be and he hereby is instructed to certify a copy of this ordinance to the state highway commissioner of the state of Ohio.

"Sec. 4: This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law."

I am returning herewith certain correspondence of your department, relating to an improvement through the village of Waverly, similar to that projected through the village of Oak Hill.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1702.

DISAPPROVAL, RESOLUTION FOR CERTAIN ROAD IMPROVEMENT IN FAYETTE COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 15, 1916.

HON. CLINTON COWEN, State Highway Commissioner, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of June 12, 1916, transmitting to me for examination final resolution relating to section "A" of the Cincinnati-Zanesville road in Fayette county, petition No. 2330, I. C. H. No. 10.

Permit me to call your attention to the fact that this resolution does not contain a recital of the total estimated cost and expense of the improvement. It also appears that main market road funds are to be used in part, but it does not appear, either upon the face of the resolution or by a certificate attached to or endorsed thereon, that the road in question is a main market road.

For these reasons I am returning the resolution in question without my approval.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1703.

APPROVAL, RESOLUTIONS FOR IMPROVEMENT OF ROADS IN TEN DIFFERENT COUNTIES.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 15, 1916.

HON. CLINTON COWEN, State Highway Commissioner, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communications of June 12 and June 14, 1916, transmitting to me for examination final resolutions relating to the following roads:

"Clermont county—Sec. 'H,' Cincinnati-West Union road, Pet. No. 2169, I. C. H. No. 30.

"Clermont county—Sec. 'L,' Bethel-Chilo road, Pet. No. 2177, I. C. H. No. 257.

"Clermont county—Sec. 'L,' Milford-Hillsboro road, Pet. No. 2168, I. C. H. No. 9.

"Harrison county—Sec. 'N,' Cadiz-Carrollton road, Pet. No. 2458, I. C. H. No. 371.

"Hocking county—Sec. 'I,' Chillicothe-Logan road, Pet. No. 2500, I. C. H. No. 363.

"Meigs county—Sec. 'L,' Pomeroy-Marietta road, Pet. No. 2676, I. C. H. No. 161.

"Meigs county—Sec. 'M,' Middleport-McArthur road, Pet. No. 2677, I. C. H. No. 163.

"Miami county—Sec. 'E,' Dayton-Troy road, Pet. No. 518, I. C. H. No. 61.

"Morgan county—Sec. 'H,' McConnelsville-Athens road, Pet. No. 2741, I. C. H. No. 162.

"Seneca county—Sec. 'A,' Fremont-Tiffin road, Pet. No. 2914, I. C. H. No. 269.

"Seneca county—Sec. 'A,' Fremont-Tiffin road, Pet. No. 2914, I. C. H. No. 269.

"Hancock county—Sec. 'F,' Lima-Sandusky road, Pet. No. 2426, I. C. H. No. 22.

"Hancock county—Sec. 'F,' Lima-Sandusky road, Pet. No. 2426, I C. H. No. 22.

"Hancock county—Sec. 'G,' Lima-Sandusky road, Pet. No. 2426, I. C. H. No. 22.

"Hancock county—Sec. 'G,' Lima-Sandusky road, Pet. No. 2426, I. C. H. No. 22.

"Hancock county—Sec. 'H,' Lima-Sandusky road, Pet. No. 2426, I. C. H. No. 22.

"Hancock county—Sec. 'H,' Lima-Sandusky road, Pet. No. 2426, I. C. H. No. 22.

"Wyandot county—Sec. 'A,' Forest-Upper Sandusky road, Pet. No. 3120, I. C. H. No. 233.

"Logan county (township trustees)—Sec. 'D,' Urbana-Bellefontaine road, Pet. No. 2587-T, I. C. H. No. 189, Liberty township."

I find these resolutions to be in regular form and am, therefore, returning the same with my approval endorsed thereon.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1704.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE BY PAULDING COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 15, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of Paulding county, Ohio, in the sum of $55,500.00, to pay the cost and expense of Minning pike improvement, being 55 bonds of one thousand dollars each, and one bond of $500.00."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the county commissioners and other officers of Paulding county relative to the above bond issue, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the provisions of the General Code, and the resolutions of the county commissioners authorizing their issuance, and signed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of Paulding county.

As no bond and coupon form is attached to the transcript an opportunity should be given me to examine the bonds when presented to the treasurer of state for delivery.

Respectfully
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General

1705.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE BY PAULDING COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 15, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of Paulding county, in the sum of $31,500.00, to pay the cost and expense of Hash-Hannenkratt pike improvement, being 31 bonds of one thousand dollars each, and one bond of $500.00."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the county commissioners and other officers of Paulding county relative to the above bond issue, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the provisions of the General Code, and the resolutions of the county commissioners authorizing their issuance, and signed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of Paulding county.

As no bond and coupon form is attached to the transcript an opportunity should be given me to examine the bonds when presented to the treasurer of state for delivery.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1706.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE BY PAULDING COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 15, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

RE:—Bonds of Paulding county, Ohio, in the sum of $23,000.00 to pay the cost and expense of Headlit pike improvement, being 23 bonds of one thousand dollars each.

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the county commissioners and other officers of Paulding county relative to the above bond issue, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds, drawn in accordance with the provisions of the General Code and the resolutions of the county commissioners authorizing their issuance, and signed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of Paulding county.

As no bond and coupon form is attached to the transcript an opportunity should be given me to examine the bonds when presented to the treasurer of state for delivery.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1707.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, LOWELLVILLE VILLAGE SCHOOL DISTRICT, MAHONING COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 15, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of Lowellville village school district, Mahoning county, Ohio, in the sum of $25,000.00 for the purpose of erecting and furnishing on the North side school grounds a fire-proof, two-story additional school building, being fifty bonds of five hundred dollars each.

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the board of education and other officers of Lowellville village school district relative to the above bond issue, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds, drawn in accordance with the form submitted, and executed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of Lowellville village school district.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1708.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, TRURO TOWNSHIP RURAL SCHOOL DISTRICT, FRANKLIN COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 15, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of Truro township rural school district of Franklin county, Ohio, amounting to $5,000.00, in anticipation of the income from taxes levied, being ten bonds of five hundred dollars each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the board of education and other officers of Truro township rural school district relative to the above bond issue, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds, drawn in accordance with the form submitted, and executed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of the said school district.

Respectfully, EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1709.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE BY SUGAR GROVE VILLAGE SCHOOL DISTRICT, FAIRFIELD COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 15, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of Sugar Grove village school district in Fairfield county, Ohio, in the sum of $5,000.00, to complete the construction of a new school building, being ten bonds of five hundred dollars each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the board of education and other officers of Sugar Grove village school district relative to the above bond issue, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds, drawn in accordance with the form submitted, and executed by the proper officers, will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of the said school district.

Respectfully, EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1710.

BI-MONTHLY WAGES—BOARD OF EDUCATION IS NOT CONTROLLED BY SECTION 12946-1, G. C., FOR PAYMENT OF WAGES IN EACH CALENDAR MONTH.

Section 12946-1, G. C., 103 O. L., 154, does not apply to or control a board of education in fixing the times when employes of the board are to be paid. The law in question applies to and is limited to the ordinary business of a commercial character.

Section 12946-1, G. C., is a criminal statute and is to be construed strictly.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 16, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—Your request for an opinion relative to the law regulating the times of payment of wages with respect to the board of education of Columbus, Ohio, has been received. The facts in the case are set out in the correspondence between your department and the board of education, which is as follows:

"June 9, 1916.

"MR. E. B. MCDADDEN, Clerk Board of Education, Columbus, Ohio.

"DEAR SIR:—It is reported to us that the Columbus board of education has not been paying the teachers and other employes wages twice in each calendar month as provided by law. It is reported to us that in one instance wages have not been paid for a period of five weeks.

"I am forwarding to you, under separate cover, pamphlet containing extracts from the General Code and will call your attention to section 1 page 137.

"Trusting you will arrange pay days in strict accordance with the law, and let us have a satisfactory report at an early date, I am,

"Yours very truly,
GEO. H. HAMILTON,
"Chief Deputy, Division of Workshops and Factories.

"June 9, 1916.

"MR. GEO. H. HAMILTON, Chief Deputy, City.

"DEAR SIR:—Your favor of the 9th inst. received this morning. Your information is correct. Neither the teaching corps nor the regular employes of the board of education are paid twice a month. The section of the law to which you refer very clearly applies to commercial institutions, since every term is purely a business term, whereas the school district is a political subdivision of the state of Ohio, and has nothing whatever to do with commercial affairs, and the legal advisor of the board of education has ruled the section in no way effects the right of the board to determine when pay-days occur. Besides it could not possibly apply to teachers, since the law determines what is a school month, which is in no way controlled by the calendar month. However, if this matter has been judicially determined will be very glad to know the fact.

"Respectfully,
"EDW. B. MCDADDEN,
"Clerk-Treas."

The act to provide for the payment of wages at least twice in each calendar month, which is section 12946-1 of the General Code (103 O. L., 154), is as follows:

"Section 1. That every individual, firm, company, copartnership, association or corporation doing business in the state of Ohio, who employ five or more regular employes, shall on or before the first day of each month pay all their employes engaged in the performance of either manual or clerical labor the wages earned by them during the first half of the preceding month ending with the fifteenth day thereof, and shall on or before the fifteenth day of each month pay such employes the wages earned by them during the last half of the preceding calendar month; provided, however, that if at any time of payment an employe shall be absent from his or her regular place of labor and shall not receive his or her wages through a duly authorized representative, such person shall be entitled to said payment at any time thereafter upon demand upon the proper paymaster at the place where such wages are usually paid and where such pay is due. Provided nothing herein contained shall be construed to interfere with the daily or weekly payment of wages.

"Section 2. * * * Whoever violates the provisions of this act shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty-five nor more than one hundred dollars."

It will be observed in the first place that the law under consideration is a criminal statute, which under the familiar and well-established rules of construction is to be strictly construed as it is limited in its operation by its exact provisions

There can be no question but that the provision.

"Every individual, firm, company, copartnership, association or corporation doing business in the state of Ohio."

refers to the doing of business in the ordinary commercial sense for a profit, and it cannot be held to include a board of education engaged in carrying out the provisions of the constitution relative to education throughout the state.

While the payment of wages twice a month by the board of education may be desirable and expedient, that matter rests entirely with the board, as it is my opinion that section 12946-1 of the General Code, supra, does not extend to and is not operative on the board of education.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1711.

BOND ISSUE—FLOOD EMERGENCY ACT, 103 O. L., 141—COUNTY COMMISSIONERS HAVE CONTINUING AUTHORITY TO ISSUE BONDS AND NOTES TO PROVIDE FUNDS TO REPAIR, REPLACE OR RECONSTRUCT PUBLIC PROPERTY OR WAYS, INJURED OR DESTROYED IN MANNER AND AT TIME DESCRIBED IN SAID SECTION 1 OF SAID FLOOD EMERGENCY ACT.

Under section 3 of the so-called flood emergency act, 103 O. L., 141, and in the manner provided in said act read in connection with the act of the general assembly amending section 1 of said flood emergency act, 104 O. L., 183, the commissioners of a county have continuing authority to issue bonds or notes of said county "as needed" to provide sufficient money in the flood emergency fund to meet the obligations of such county incurred in repairing, replacing or reconstructing public property or public ways injured or destroyed in the manner and at the time described in said section 1 of said flood emergency act.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 19, 1916.

HON. DON. C. PORTER, Prosecuting Attorney, Coshocton, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your letter of June 15th, which is in part as follows:

"By virtue of the 1913 flood emergency act, 103 Ohio Laws, pages 141 and 760, the commissioners of Coshocton county have heretofore issued bonds in the sum of two hundred thousand dollars for the purpose of repairing and replacing roads and bridges damaged by the 1913 flood. The fund so created has been exhausted but there still remains one bridge and a section of one of our principal highways destroyed by the 1913 flood which are in need of immediate repair and improvement as a result of the damage caused by the flood. The commissioners state that at the time of the previous bond issue they believed that the fund so created would be sufficient to repair and replace all bridges and highways damaged by the 1913 flood, but that by reason of the increased cost of material and labor the fund is insufficient to complete the bridge and highway mentioned. Would it be proper at the present time to issue 1913 flood emergency bonds for the purpose of repairing and replacing the bridge and highway in question? If in your opinion we cannot lawfully issue bonds by virtue of the 1913 flood emergency act, will you kindly suggest the proper sections of the code to proceed under in order to issue bonds for such repairs and replacements without first submitting the same to a vote of the people."

While section 1 of the so-called flood emergency act (103 O. L., 141) was amended in 104 O. L., 183, so as to extend the provisions of said act to the repair, reconstruction and replacement of public property and public ways destroyed or injured by the floods occuring in July, 1913, and section 6 of said act as originally enacted was amended in 103 O. L., 761, for the purpose of correcting typographical errors, the only section of said act to which reference need be made for the purpose of answering your question is section 3 (103 O. L., 143), which provides as follows:

"For the purposes mentioned in sections 1 and 2 of this act, and for the permanent repair, reconstruction or replacement of public property or public ways destroyed or injured in the manner, and at the time described in section 1 of this act, any board of county commissioners, board of education, township trustees or council of any municipal corporation or the road commissioners of any road district may issue bonds or notes of the corporation, subdivision or district as needed. Resolutions or ordinances providing for the issuance of such notes or bonds shall not be published, shall not require the approval of the electors nor be subject to any referendum. Such resolution or ordinances shall state the facts bringing them within the terms of this act, so far as the emergency is concerned, shall require for their passage the votes of two-thirds of all members elected to such board or council and the recitals therein contained shall be conclusive evidence of the facts recited."

Under the above provisions of said section 3 of said flood emergency act, it will be observed that for the purpose therein mentioned and referred to, your board of county commissioners may issue notes or bonds of the county "as needed," in order to provide sufficient money in the flood emergency fund to meet the obligations incurred in the accomplishing of said purposes, and that this authority continues until the public property and public ways destroyed or injured by the floods of 1913 have been repaired, reconstructed or replaced.

From your statement of facts it appears that the flood emergency fund of your county is exhausted, and that one of the bridges of the county and a section of one of the principal highways of said county, destroyed by said floods, have not yet been reconstructed or replaced. In view of the above provisions of section 3 of said flood emergency act, I am of the opinion in answer to your question that your county commissioners may issue flood emergency bonds for the purpose of replacing or reconstructing the bridge and section of highway referred to in your inquiry, under authority of the provisions of said section 3 of said act and in the manner provided for in said act.

This answer to your first question disposes of your second question.

Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,

Attorney-General.

1712.

PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION—RAILROADS AND PUBLIC UTILITIES CANNOT BE REQUIRED TO PAY ASSESSMENTS MADE UNDER SECTION 606, G. C., BEFORE FIRST DAY OF AUGUST, ANNUALLY.

Railroads and public utilities cannot be required to pay assessments made under section 606, G. C., before the first day of August, annually.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 19, 1916.

HON. R. W. ARCHER, Treasurer of State, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Under date of June 1, 1916, you requested my opinion as follows:

> "In regard to section 606 of the General Code, and Ohio Laws 102, page 550, with reference to the assessment for the maintenance of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio:
>
> "The matter as to when this assessment should be paid has arisen. The railroads have been paying it on or before August 1st. While we have used this expiration date on our notices to the railroad companies, yet we have attempted to collect the money earlier. We would be glad to have your decision as to when the collection period on this assessment expires."

Section 606 of the General Code provides as follows:

> "For the purpose of maintaining the department of the public service commission of Ohio, and the exercise of police supervision of railroads and public utilities of the state by it, a sum not exceeding seventy-five thousand dollars each year shall be apportioned among and assessed upon the railroads and public utilities within the state by the commission, in proportion to the intrastate gross earnings or receipts of such railroads and public utilities for the year next preceding that in which the assessments are made.
>
> "On or before the first day of August next following, the commission shall certify to the auditor of state the amount of such assessment apportioned by it to each railroad and public utility, and he shall certify such amount to the treasurer of state, who shall collect and pay the same into the state treasury to the credit of a special fund for the maintenance of the department of such public service commission."

Since the statute provides that the Public Service Commission shall certify to the auditor of state on or before the first day of August next following the amount of the assessment, and that the auditor of state shall certify such amount to the treasurer of state, I am of the opinion that the governing date is the last date upon which the statute contemplates that the certification shall be made, and that, therefore, there is no authority in law to require the railroad companies to pay on or before the first day of August the assessment made against them under the provisions of section 606, G. C.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1713.

FOREIGN CORPORATION—WHERE SAME ENTERS INTO CONTRACT WITH OWNER OF LAND IN THIS STATE AND A TRUSTEE FOR SAID OWNER—WHEN SUCH FOREIGN CORPORATION IS DOING BUSINESS IN OHIO.

Where a foreign corporation qualifies to do business in this state, and enters into a contract with the owner of land in this state and a trustee for said owner, and by the terms of said contract it is agreed that the title to the land in question shall remain in the name of said trustee; that the trustee shall pay all taxes on said property as the same become due, and that the corporation shall proceed to subdivide said land and plat the same and sell the lots to individual purchasers, who shall receive a deed direct from the trustees upon the payment to said trustee of the consideration price, that the trustee out of the funds thus received by him shall pay to the original owner of the land the purchase price of each of the several lots so sold as agreed upon in said contract, and pay any balance to the corporation, and the title to said land as a whole or any of the lots when the same is subdivided is not to be conveyed to said corporation, and the corporation at no time owns said property, said foreign corporation in investing its capital in said enterprise for the foregoing purposes is "doing business" in this state within the meaning of the provisions of section 183, G. C., and the money so invested by said corporation will represent the proportion of its capital stock used in transacting its business in this state in determining the foreign corporation tax required by provision of section 184, G. C. In investing its capital for said purpose, said corporation acquires an interest in said lots by the terms of said contract, and in this way its capital is invested and used in the business transacted in this state in the exercise of its corporate franchise.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 20, 1916.

HON. CHARLES Q. HILDEBRANT, Secretary of State, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—In your letter of May 24th you request my opinion upon the following question:

> "A foreign corporation purchased land in the state of Ohio. The title to the land is held in the name of a trustee for the benefit of the seller, who has not been paid for his land by the corporation. The foreign corporation subdivides the land and plats the same to sell it to individual purchasers, who receive a deed from the trustee for the land upon the payment of the same. The trustee out of the funds received by it from individual purchasers pays the original owner of the land (the seller) the purchase price thereof, and any balance is turned over to the foreign corporation. Under these circumstances is the foreign corporation doing business in Ohio? If so, upon what amount of money must it pay the foreign corporation tax? Under the above circumstances is the foreign corporation merely a selling agent for the original owner of the land, and its commission for selling the land the difference between the purchase price and the aggregate price of the lots sold? Is the amount of money used by such foreign corporation in promoting the sale of such land and platting the same the amount of its capital stock used in this state upon which a foreign corporation tax must be computed?"

I am informed that the foreign corporation above referred to is the same as the one referred to in your request of April 12, 1916, in answer to which opinion No. 1521, of this department, was rendered to you under date of April 27, 1916.

It will be observed, however, that the facts stated in said former request are materially different from those stated in your request now under consideration as above set forth.

The question submitted by you in said former request reads as follows:

> "A foreign corporation purchases property in Ohio and conveys same to a trustee. The trustee pays the taxes on the property so that in effect the foreign corporation is not the owner of real estate in Ohio. Under such circumstances, must a foreign corporation, when it is qualified to do business in Ohio, consider the value of that real estate as capital of a foreign corporation, invested in Ohio?"

In said former request as above set forth it appears that the foreign corporation in question purchased property in this state and conveyed the same to a trustee for said corporation. While you state in your present inquiry that said corporation purchased land in this state, it further appears that the title to said land is held by a trustee for the benefit of the seller who has not been paid for his land by said corporation.

I am informed by the representative of said corporation that the title to said land was conveyed direct from the person referred to in your inquiry as the "seller" to the aforesaid trustee; that by the terms of a contract made and entered into between the seller, the trustee and the corporation, it is agreed that the title to the land in question shall remain in the name of the trustee for the benefit of the seller; that the trustee shall pay all taxes on said property as the same become due and that the corporation shall proceed, as set forth in your inquiry to subdivide said land, plat the same and sell the lots to individual purchasers who receive a deed direct from the trustee upon the payment to said trustee of the consideration price. The trustee, out of the funds thus received by him, pays the original owner of the land, the seller, the purchase price of each of the several lots so sold, as agreed upon in said contract, and any balance is turned over to the corporation. The title to said land as a whole or to any of the lots when the same is subdivided is not to be conveyed to said corporation by the terms of said contract and the corporation at no time owns said property.

In performing that part of the contract on its part to be performed, the only thing required by the terms of said contract to be done by said corporation, is to subdivide and plat the land in question into lots, develop the same by such improvements as it sees fit to make and sell said lots so developed. The paying of any money to the original owner, hereinbefore designated as the seller, is contingent upon the sale of said lots to individual purchasers, in which event, as has already been stated, the consideration agreed upon passes to said original owner direct from the trustee, and the only capital of said corporation used in said enterprise is that invested by it in the subdivision, platting and development of the aforesaid lots and in the sale of the same.

The provisions of the statutes applicable to the question now under consideration are found in section 183, et seq., of the General Code. Section 183, G. C., provides as follows:

> "Before doing business in this state, a foreign corporation organized for profit and owning or using a part or all of its capital or plant in this state shall make and file with the secretary of state, in such form as he may prescribe, a statement under oath of its president, secretary, treasurer, superintendent or managing agent in this state, containing the following facts: * * *
>
> "3. The value of the property owned and used by the corporation in Ohio, where situated, and the value of the property of the corporation owned and used outside of Ohio.

"4. The proportion of the capital stock of the corporation represented by property owned and used and by business transacted in Ohio."

Section 184, G. C., provides:

"From the facts thus reported and any other facts coming to his knowledge, the secretary of state shall determine the proportion of the capital stock of the corporation represented by its property and business in this state, and shall charge and collect from such corporation for the privilege of exercising its franchise in this state, one-tenth of one per cent. upon the proportion of its authorized capital stock represented by property owned and used and business transacted in this state, but not less than ten dollars in any case. Upon the payment of such fee the secretary of state shall make and deliver to such foreign corporation a certificate that it has complied with the laws of Ohio and is authorized to do business therein, stating the amount of its authorized capital stock and the proportion of such authorized capital stock represented in this state."

Section 185, G. C., relates to the filing of supplemental statements in the event of a change in proportion, etc., and provides:

"A corporation which has filed its statement and paid the fee prescribed by the preceding two sections and which thereafter shall increase the proportion of its capital stock, represented by property used and business done in this state, shall file within thirty days after such increase an additional statement with the secretary of state, and pay a fee of one-tenth of one per cent. upon the increase of its authorized capital stock represented by property owned and business transacted in this state."

Attention was called in my former opinion to the somewhat inconsistent use of the words "owning or using" found in the first part of section 183, G. C., supra, when compared with the use of the words "owned and used" as found in the latter part of the same section as well as in section 184, G. C., and the word "used" as the same appears in section 185, G. C.

It was observed in said opinion that while the trustees referred to in said inquiry may be, for many purposes, the "owner" of the trust property in question, nevertheless it is competent for the legislature to treat the beneficiary as the owner, at least, provided the trustee has himself no beneficial interest; that if the trustee has no beneficial interest the beneficiary is the one who is entitled to the "use" of the property; that the trustee administers and manages the property for the use of the beneficiary and that the beneficiary would be the one "using" the property, whether he would be regarded as the "owner" thereof or not, unless the trustee's interest were such as to entitle him also to a substantial use.

I quote the following from said opinion for the purpose of distinguishing the conclusion therein reached from the proper conclusion to be reached upon the facts now under consideration:

"You do not state the facts which you have in mind fully, but I am assuming that the trustee is managing the property for the use of the corporation and in furtherance of its corporate objects. If that is the case, then it is clear that the corporation is exercising its corporate powers and franchises by means of the confidence reposed in the trustee and with respect to the property in his mere legal custody and control. It will, of course, be assumed that the corporation has power so to conduct its business under its charter or articles of incorporation. That being the case, it is, therefore, also clear that the corporation is exercising its corporate franchises with respect to the beneficial use and enjoyment of the property to an extent different in degree only, and not in substance, from that to which it would exercise its franchises if it actually owned the legal title to the property."

It was held in said former opinion that the corporation, upon the assumptions above made, is to be regarded as "owning and using" property in Ohio within the meaning of the Ohio statutes. It was further observed that the statute is aimed at two kinds of franchises or privileges which are granted by the state: First, the privilege of "having" and, second, the privilege of "doing," and that every possible corporate franchise that may be exercised in this state is intended to be comprehended within these two groups. The question was then raised as to whether the actual interest of the beneficiary under the circumstances named is to be regarded as proprietary, in the nature of the exercise of a property interest, or as the "doing of business" within the meaning of the above provision of the statute, and it was held that a beneficiary's interest and its exercise as to Ohio property, is to be regarded for the purpose of the statutes under consideration, as a property interest. In conclusion, it was held that when the corporation in question qualifies to do business in Ohio it must report the property in which it has the beneficial interest and the legal title to which is vested in a trustee, as property "owned" by it in this state.

It will readily be observed that my former opinion was based on the fact stated that the title to the land in question was held by the trustee in trust for the use and benefit of the corporation referred to in said former inquiry, and the assumption that the trustee was managing said property for the use of the corporation in the furtherance of its corporate objects.

It now appears that the corporation is not the owner of said property, within the meaning of that term as used in said former opinion, but that the trustee holds the title to said property in trust for the original owner, and in view of the terms of the above mentioned contract, as hereinbefore set forth, I am of the opinion that said corporation is not the "owner" of said property within the meaning of the provisions of section 183 et seq., of the General Code.

It is clear, however, that in subdividing the land in question into lots, in developing and selling said lots and in using its capital for these purposes said corporation is "doing business" in this state within the meaning of the provision of section 183, G. C., supra. Your first question must therefore be answered in the affirmative.

In view of what has already been said I am of the opinion in answer to your second question that the money invested by said corporation in the above mentioned purposes will represent the proportion of its capital stock used in transacting its business in this state in determining the foreign corporation tax required by provision of section 184, G. C., supra.

While one of the activities of the corporation in question, under its contract with the original owner of the aforesaid land and his trustee, is to sell the lots into which said land is subdivided, and, in the performance of said contract in this respect, the corporation acts as a selling agent for said trustee, it is evident that the relation of said corporation to said original owner and his trustee, created by the terms of said contract is more than that of a mere selling agent. The profit realized by said corporation in performing said contract results from the subdivision and platting of the land in question into lots and the development of the same by the improvements hereinbefore referred to. In investing its capital for these purposes said corporation acquires an interest in said lots by the terms of said contract and in this way its capital is invested and used in the business transacted in this state in the exercise of its corporate franchise. This is in answer to your third question.

Your fourth question has already been answered in an wering your second question.

In arriving at the conclusions above expressed in answer to the questions submitted by you, it is to be understood that said conclusions are based upon the facts stated in connection that said inquiries and are confined to the particular corporation in question and are not to be applied to the case of a foreign corporation holding the legal title to land in Ohio for the purpose of development and sale when subdivided into lots, or to a foreign corporation having an equitable title to land in this state to be developed and sold as aforesaid, the legal title being in a trustee for said corporation.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1714.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS—SECTION 5649-3d, G. C., GENERALLY SPEAKING RENDERS SECTION 2571, G. C., INOPERATIVE—TRANSFER OF FUNDS UNDER SECTIONS 2296 AND 2297, G. C.—WHEN SUCH APPROPRIATION IS AVAILABLE IN VIEW OF LIMITATION FIXED BY SECTIONS 5649-3a AND 5649-3d, G. C.—ILLEGAL TRANSFER, HOW CORRECTED—WHERE COUNTY AUDITOR FAILED TO CHARGE BACK ELECTION EXPENSES DUE FROM POLITICAL SUBDIVISIONS—MAY PROCEED UNDER SECTION 2571, G. C., TO REIMBURSE FUND—COMMISSIONERS MAY BORROW MONEY TO PAY FOR COUNTY CHARGES IN INSTITUTION FOR FEEBLE MINDED—MAY NOT BORROW FOR OVERDRAFT UNDER AUTHORITY OF SECTION 5656, G. C. —COMMISSIONERS MAY NOT BORROW MONEY UNDER SAID SECTION TO PAY FOR LABOR ON ROADS—COUNTY HAS CONTINUING AUTHORITY TO ISSUE BONDS AND NOTES—FLOOD EMERGENCY ACT FOR PURPOSES MENTIONED IN SECTION 3 OF SAID ACT.

Generally speaking, the effect of the provisions of section 5649-3d, G. C., is to render the provisions of section 2571, G. C., inoperative.

Subject to the exception provided in section 2296, G. C., 103 O. L., 522, the respective boards or officers mentioned in said section may, under authority of its provisions and in compliance with the provisions of section 2297 et seq., G. C., transfer surplus money in one fund to another under their respective control, and when the transfer of money is made to one of the funds mentioned and referred to in sections 5649-3a and 5649-3d, G. C., said money, as found at the beginning of the fiscal half year, in the fund to which the same has been transferred, is available for appropriation in said fund by the board or officers having control of the same and, when appropriated, may be expended during said semi-annual period for the purposes for which said fund is established.

Where as a result of an attempted illegal transfer of funds by the county commissioners of a county, the books of the county auditor have been changed in conformity with such action, the commissioners of such county should by proper resolution correct their records and the books of the county auditor should be immediately corrected so as to show the true status of each of the several funds of the county, even though as a result of such correction one or more of said funds to which said board of county commissioners has illegally attempted to transfer money will show an overdraft.

Where the auditor of a county by inadvertence failed at the February, 1916, settlement to charge back the portion of primary and election expenses due from the several political subdivisions of said county for the year 1915, thus causing a deficit in said county election fund, the auditior, treasurer and commissioners of said county may proceed under authority of and in the manner provided by section 2571, G. C., to transfer from the undivided tax funds belonging to the several political subdivisions in said county, to said county election fund, an amount of money sufficient to meet the expenses charged by law against said county election fund.

A charge against a county for the maintenance, in the custodial department of the institution for feeble-minded, of persons over the age of fifteen years and residents of said county, under provision of section 1898, G. C., as in force prior to its repeal by the act of the general assembly as found in 103, O. L., 864-914 (said provisions being now found in section 1815-12, G. C., 106, O. L., 503) is a valid, existing and binding indebtedness of the county until the same is paid and the commissioners of such county may, if there is no money in the county treasury available for such purpose, borrow money for said purpose under authority of and in compliance with the requirements of section 5656 et seq. of the General Code.

County commissioners may not borrow money under authority of section 5656 et seq., G. C., for the purpose of covering an overdraft in a county fund.

While the claims of persons for labor performed on the highways of a county under the direction and approval of the commissioners, from March to September, 1915, are moral obligations of the county which might be paid by said county commissioners out of the road repair fund of said county if there were money in the county treasury to the credit of said fund and available for said purpose, said claims are not valid, existing and binding obligations of the county for the payment of which said county commissioners may borrow money under authority of section 5656, G. C.

Under provision of section 3 of the so-called flood emergency act (103 O. L. 141) the board of county commissioners of a county has continuing authority to issue the necessary bonds or notes to provide sufficient money in the "Flood Emergency Fund" to meet the obligations of said county when the same become payable according to the terms of contracts duly made by said county commissioners for the purposes mentioned and referred to in said section 3 of said act.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 20, 1916.

Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—In your letter under date of April 19th you request my opinion on several questions involving the interpretation of a number of statutes governing the commissioners, auditor and treasurer of a county in the administration of their respective offices and in the performance of their official duties. Your questions will be considered in the order in which you have submitted them, your first question reading as follows:

> "1. Section 2571, G. C., authorizes the transfer of funds from the undivided general tax fund to a depleted or overdrawn fund.
>
> "Is not this section repealed by implication, or at least rendered of no avail, by the requirement of section 5649-3d, requiring semi-annual appropriations, and directing that all expenditures for the ensuing six months be confined to the sum so fixed for each fund?"

Section 2571, G. C., provides:

> "Section 2571. When any fund is exhausted the county auditor and treasurer shall make an estimate of the amount of money belonging to such fund which has been collected as taxes and credited to the undivided tax funds in the treasury. If the commissioners deem it advisable, by an order entered on their journal, they may authorize the auditor and treasurer to transfer from such undivided tax funds to the fund so exhausted an amount not to exceed three-fourths of the amount so estimated to belong to the exhausted fund. At the next semi-annual distribution of taxes the amount so transferred shall be deducted from the total amount found to be due such fund. The estimate shall be made in writing, signed by the auditor and treasurer, and recorded on the commissioners' journal."

Prior to the enactment of the provisions of section 5649-3d, one of the sections of the so-called Smith one per cent. law, it was the common practice of the auditor and treasurer of the county, acting under the direction of the county commissioners, to make "advances" to exhausted funds from the undivided tax funds, under authority of the above provisions of section 2571, G. C., and in the manner therein prescribed. This practice resulted in an extravagant expenditure of public funds by public officials, and the legislature, recognizing this prevailing tendency, enacted the provisions of the Smith law for the manifest purpose of limiting public officials in the expenditure of money, and compelling said officials in the administration of the duties of their respective offices to conduct the business of said offices practically on a cash basis, and to keep the expenditures for each semi-annual period from each particular fund within the amount of money realized in said fund from the semi-annual collection of taxes and all other sources of revenue and any balance in said fund at the beginning of such semi-annual period.

Section 5649-3d provides:

"At the beginning of each fiscal half year the various boards mentioned in section 5649-3a of this act shall make appropriations for each of the several objects for which money has to be provided from the moneys known to be in the treasury from the collection of taxes and all other sources of revenue, and all expenditures within the following six months shall be made from and within such appropriations and balances thereof, but no appropriation shall be made for any purpose not set forth in the annual budget, nor for a greater amount for such purpose than the total amount fixed by the budget commissioners, exclusive of receipts and balances."

The plain terms of the above provisions of said section 5649-3d, G. C., require that all expenditures for any fiscal half year from any fund must be confined to the appropriation made out of said fund for said period by the proper officials in charge of the same, and to any balance remaining in said fund at the beginning of said period.

I am of the opinion, therefore, in answer to your first question, that the effect of the provisions of said section 5649-3d, G. C., is to prevent the expenditure, during any semi-annual period, from any county fund, of money "advanced" to said fund during said period from the undivided tax funds by the county auditor and treasurer, under the direction of the county commissioners in the exercise of the authority vested in said officials by the above provisions of section 2571, G. C. In other words, the practical effect, generally speaking, of the provisions of said section 5649-3d, G. C., is to render the provisions of said section 2571, G. C., inoperative.

Your second question is as follows:

"2. Section 2296, et seq., as amended O. L. 103, page 521, authorizes the transfer of funds upon application to the court of common pleas.

"Can a transfer by this or any other means be made so as to be available for appropriation and expenditure in the fund to which transferred, in view of the limitations fixed by section 5649-3a and 5649-3d?"

Section 2296, G. C. (103 O. L., 522), provides:

"The county commissioners, township trustees, the board of education of a school district, or the council or other board having the legislative power of a municipality, may transfer public funds, except the proceeds or balances of special levies, loans or bond issues under their supervision, from one fund to another, or to a new fund created under their respective supervision, in the manner hereafter provided, which shall be in addition to all other procedure now provided by law."

It will be observed that proceeds or balances of special levies, loans or bond issues may not be transferred under the above provision of section 2296, G. C., taken in connection with the provisions of section 2297, et seq., of the General Code. The disposition of such proceeds or balances is governed by section 5654, G. C. (103 O. L., 521), which provides:

"The proceeds of a special tax, loan or bond issue shall not be used for any other purpose than that for which the same was levied, issued or made, except as herein provided. When there is in the treasury of any city, village, county, township or school district a surplus of the proceeds of a special tax, or of the proceeds of a loan or bond issue, which cannot be used, or which is not needed for the purpose for which the tax was levied, or the loan made, or the bonds issued, all of such surplus shall be transferred immediately by the officer, board or council having charge of such surplus, to the sinking fund of such city, village, county, township or school district, and thereafter shall be subject to the uses of such sinking fund."

It seems clear, however, that subject to the exception provided in said section 2296, G. C., the respective boards or officers mentioned in said section may, under authority of its provisions, and in compliance with the provisions of section 2297, et seq., of the General Code, transfer surplus money in one fund to another under their respective control, if upon application to the court of common pleas of the county, and on the hearing of said application the court finds that the requirements of the statutes have been complied with, that the petition states sufficient facts, that there are good reasons, or that a necessity exists for the transfer, and that no injury will result therefrom, and orders the same to be made.

When a transfer of money is made to one of the funds mentioned and referred to in sections 5649-3a and 5649-3d, of the General Code, I am of the opinion, in answer to your second question, that said money as found, at the beginning of the fiscal half year, in the fund to which the same has been transferred, is available for appropriation in said fund by the board or officers having control of the same and, when appropriated, may be expended during said semi-annual period for the purposes for which said fund is established.

Your third inquiry is as follows:

"3. Transfers of funds having been illegally made, should correction be made by a retransfer of the amount to the fund from which taken, without regard to a resultant overdraft in the debtor fund?"

This question evidently relates to the situation where the board of county commissioners has attempted to transfer money from one county fund to another without authority in law or in a manner contrary to the requirements of the statutes governing such transfer. Such attempted transfer being illegal, the effect in law, in so far as the amounts of money in the treasury of the county to the credit of its several funds are concerned, is the same as if no action had been taken and I am of the opinion in answer to your third question that where, as a result of such attempted transfer, the books of the county auditor have been changed in conformity with such action, the commissioners of such county should by proper resolution correct their records and the books of the county auditor should be immediately corrected so as to show the true status of each of the several funds of the county even though as a result of such correction one or more of said funds to which said board of county commissioners has illegally attempted to transfer money will show an overdraft.

Your fourth question reads as follows:

> "4. The auditor having failed to charge back on semi-annual settlement the portion of primary and election expenses due from the various political subdivisions of the county for the year 1915, causes a shortage in the election fund.
>
> "May the election fund be credited with this amount from the undivided general tax fund as an immediate correction of the error, the proper charge to be deducted from the distributive share of the several districts at the settlement of August, 1916, or must money be borrowed to carry the expenses payable from the election fund until the actual correction is made at the August settlement?"

In view of the fact that proper election expenses for the year 1916 are charged by law against the county election fund and must be paid out of said fund, and in view of the further fact that through inadvertance the county auditor of the county referred to in your inquiry failed to charge back, at the semi-annual settlement in February, 1916, the portion of primary and election expenses due from the several political subdivisions of said county for the year 1915, thus causing at this time a shortage in said county election fund, I can see no valid objection to holding that the auditor and treasurer of said county may proceed under authority of section 2571, G. C., supra, to estimate the amount of money in the county treasury to the credit of the undivided general tax funds and belonging to the several political subdivisions in question, from which funds said election expenses should have been withheld at said semi-annual settlement in February, 1916, and that upon the determination of these several amounts and the aggregate thereof, the commissioners of said county, acting under authority of said section 2571, G. C., supra, may, by a resolution fully setting forth the facts showing such inadvertance of the county auditor, and by an order on their journal, authorize said auditor and treasurer to transfer from such undivided tax funds to the county election fund an amount sufficient to meet the expenses charged by law against said county election fund and in this way avoid the necessity of borrowing money under authority of section 5656, et seq., of the General Code to pay said indebtedness on account of having to wait until the August settlement, at which time the several amounts which should have been withheld from the several funds of the various political subdivisions of the county at the February settlement, would have to be withheld in making the semi-annual distribution in August of this year. It is assumed, of course, in advising that the county officials may act under authority of said section 2571, G. C., supra, that the auditor and treasurer in estimating the amount of money in the county treasury to the credit of the undivided general tax funds and belonging to the several political subdivisions in question, will find sufficient money in the county treasury to the credit of said undivided general tax funds which, under the limitation prescribed by the latter part of said section 2571, G. C., may be transferred to said county election fund for the aforesaid purpose.

While I have already held in answer to your first question, that, generally speaking, the provisions of section 2571, G. C., are rendered inoperative by the provisions of section 5649-3d, G. C., I do not think that the transfer of money to the county election fund in the manner above suggested can be considered an "advance" in the sense that the same is prohibited by section 5649-3d, G. C., for the reason that by inadvertance the county auditor failed to wihhhold from the several political subdivisions of the county the several amounts due said county election fund at the February, 1916, settlement, and the deficit in said county election fund at this time is not due to expenditures from said fund prohibited by section 5649-3d, G. C. In advising that said county officers may act under authority of said section 2571, G. C., for the purpose of making up the deficit in said county election fund caused by said inadvertance of the county auditor, I would not be understood as holding that the authority of said section may still be invoked by county officers for the purpose of making "advances" to exhausted current expense funds in cases where said funds have been exhausted by expenditures made by the county commissioners during any fiscal half year contrary to the provisions of said section 5649-3d, G. C. I am of the opinion therefore, in answer to your fourth question, that the county commissioners, auditor and treasurer of the county referred to in your inquiry may proceed in the manner above suggested to remedy the situation presented by said inquiry.

Your fifth inquiry is as follows:

> "5 On March 10, 1913, the county commissioners authorized and negotiated a loan of $7,000 00 to pay an indebtedness due the Institution for Feeble-minded. The proceeds of the loan were credited to the county fund and thereafter expended for the general uses of that fund, the indebtedness for which it was to provide remaining unpaid at the present time The loan was afterward repaid from the county fund.
>
> "May the present board of commissioners make a new loan to cover this indebtedness?"

The indebtedness referred to in your inquiry, and to pay which the county commissioners mentioned in said inquiry borrowed said sum of $7,000.00, was evidently charged against the county in question by virtue of the provisions of section 1898, G. C., which, as in force prior to its repeal by the act of the general assembly, as found in 103 O. L., 864-914, provided as follows:

> "For each person over the age of fifteen years, in the custodial department from any county in the state, the trustees and superintendent may charge against such county a sum not exceeding the annual per capita cost to the county of supporting inmates in its county infirmary, as shown by the annual report of the board of state charities. The treasurer of the county shall pay the annual draft of the financial officer of the institution for the aggregate amount chargeable against such county, for the preceding year, for such inmates."

I note, however, that the foregoing provisions of section 1898, G. C., were carried forward by the general assembly and are now found in section 1815-12, G. C. (106 O. L., 503.)

Assuming that the amount of said charge was properly determined and that there was no money in the treasury of said county available for the payment of said amount, said charge was a valid, existing and binding obligation of the county for the payment of which the county commissioners, acting under authority and in compliance with the requirements of section 5656, et seq., of the General Code, may borrow money.

While the action of the former board of county commissioners in crediting the general county fund with the proceeds of the loan negotiated by them for the purpose of paying the aforesaid indebtedness, and in expending said sum of $7,000.00 for purposes other than those for which the loan was made, was without authority in law, the indebtedness still remains unpaid and is therefore a valid, existing obligation of the county which must be paid, and I am of the opinion, in answer to your fifth question, that the present board of county commissioners may borrow money for this purpose under authority and in compliance with the requirements of said section 5656, et seq., of the General Code.

Your sixth question is as follows:

> "6. On April 7, 1914, the county commissioners authorized and negotiated a loan of $20,000.00 upon notes of the county, the proceeds of the loan being used to cover overdrafts then existing in the building and county road funds. Of this loan $9,000.00 remains unpaid.
>
> "Both of the funds benefited by this loan being wholly contractual in nature, both the creation of the overdraft and the borrowing of money for their use would be forbidden by the provisions of Secs. 5649-3a and 5649-3d.
>
> "Therefore, there having been no authority of law for the loan, under what obligation is the county placed for its repayment?
>
> "If the county is bound therefor, both of these funds being exhausted, may this debt be funded by a bond issue?"

The overdrafts in question must have resulted from the letting of contracts by the county commissioners under either one of two conditions: (1) Where prior to the letting of a contract to be paid out of the county building fund or county road fund, as the case might be, the county auditor certified that money was in the county treasury to the credit of the fund out of which said contract was to be paid and available for the purpose for which said contract was let, in compliance with the requirements of section 5660, G. C., when in fact such fund was not available; (2) Where the contract was let without the certificate of available funds being filed with the county commissioners by the county auditor.

It is evident that a contract let under the first condition above stated, providing the county commissioners complied with all the requirements of law governing the letting of same, would be binding upon the county, and upon default in the payment to the contractor of any amount due according to the terms of said contract, the contractor could recover from the county. It is equally clear that a contract let under the second condition above mentioned was made without authority in law and section 5661, G. C., provides that such a contract shall be void. It is well settled by the holdings of the courts in this state that the contractor could not have recovered any sum from the county if the county commissioners had refused to pay said contractor for material furnished or labor performed according to the terms of said contract.

It appears, however, that the claims of contractors according to the terms of contracts let under authority of the foregoing conditions were paid out of the treasury in question on the allowance of the county commissioners and the warrant of the county auditor, and as a result of this clear violation of the law by the county auditor or the county commissioners, as the case might have been, the overdrafts referred to in your inquiry were created. It is unnecessary for the purpose of answering your question to express an opinion on the question as to whether the county commissioners would have had authority to borrow money under section 5656, et seq., of the General Code to secure funds to meet the payment of obligations incurred under contracts let under the first condition above set forth when the same became due. It is sufficient to observe that said obligations were paid out of the county treasury as the same became due according to the terms of the contracts and the overdrafts in question were thus created. I am clearly of the opinion that at the time the loan of $20,000.00 referred to in your inquiry was negotiated by said county commissioners to cover said overdrafts, there was not a valid, existing and binding indebtedness of the county for the payment of which said county commissioners could borrow money under authority of section 5656, et seq., of the General Code. I am of the opinion therefore in answer to your sixth question that the aforesaid loan was not a legal obligation of the county referred to in said inquiry and that the balance of $9,000.00 remaining unpaid cannot be funded by a bond issue under provision of said section 5656, et seq., of the General Code.

If, however, upon the presentation of said claim to the commissioners of the county in question and their refusal to allow the same, the jurisdiction of the court should be invoked, and upon consideration of all the facts and circumstances of the case the court should hold the county estopped to deny the validity of said claims and should render judgment against said county for the amount of such claims, said judgment would in my opinion constitute a valid indebtedness of said county for the payment of which the county commissioners might borrow money under authority of said section 5656, et seq., of the General Code.

Your seventh question is as follows:

> "7. Certain persons having performed labor on the county highways under the direction and by the instruction and with the approval of the county commissioners during the period from March to September, 1915, no certificate having been made by the auditor that funds were in the treasury or in process of collection for that purpose, and there being in fact no funds at that time in the county treasury available for such use, is the county under either a legal or moral obligation to pay the claims presented for compensation for such labor?
>
> "If the county is legally bound, the funds from which these claims are payable, being exhausted, may the commissioners borrow funds in order to make payment?"

While I think the claims referred to in your inquiry are moral obligations of the county which might be paid by the county commissioners out of the road repair fund of said county if there were sufficient money in the county treasury to the credit of said fund and available for said purpose, in view of the plain provision of section 5660, G. C., that

> "The commissioners of a county * * * shall not enter into any contract, agreement or obligation involving the expenditure of money, or pass any resolution or order for the appropriation or expenditure of money, unless the auditor * * * first certifies that the money required for the payment of such obligation or appropriation is in the treasury to the credit of the fund from which it is to be drawn, or has been levied and placed on the duplicate and in process of collection and not appropriated for any other purpose; * * *" taken in connection with the provision of section 5661, G. C., that

> "All contracts, agreements or obligations and orders or resolutions entered into or passed contrary to the provisions of the next preceding section, shall be void, * * *" and the further provisions of section 5649-3d, G. C., as above quoted, and in conformity with what has already been said in answer to your sixth question, I am compelled to hold in answer to your seventh question that the claims therein referred to are not legal obligations of the county for the payment of which the county commissioners may borrow money under authority of section 5656, et seq., of the General Code.

Your eighth question is as follows:

"8. The auditor certifies that the money required for a certain improvement is in the county treasury to the credit of the fund from which it is to be drawn, or has been levied and placed on the duplicate and is in process of collection and not appropriated for any other purpose, when in truth and in fact, said money was not in the treasury, levied or in process of collection.

"Is a contract, otherwise regular, let under such circumstances a legal and binding obligation on the county, and is the county under either a legal or moral obligation to pay the unpaid balance on such contract?"

This question has already been answered in answering your sixth question. Your ninth question reads as follows:

"9. Under authority of the flood emergency act of April, 1915 (O. L., 103, page 141), an emergency fund was created by the sale of $440,000.00. Contracts let under that act and payable from this fund have exhausted the proceeds of the original sale of bonds, and unpaid balances amounting to about $20,000.00 are still outstanding.

"Is there any authority of law for a further bond issue or other relief for this fund in order to meet its outstanding obligations?"

While section 1 of the so-called flood emergency act (103 O. L., 141), was amended in 104 O. L., 183, so as to extend the provisions of said act to the repair, reconstruction and replacement of public property and public ways destroyed or injured by floods occurring in July, 1913, and section 6 of said act as originally enacted was amended in 103 O. L., 761, for the purpose of correcting typographical errors therein, the only section of said act to which reference need be made for the purpose of answering your question is section 3 (103 O. L., 143), which provides as follows:

"For the purposes mentioned in sections 1 and 2 of this act, and for the permanent repair, reconstruction or replacement of public property or public ways destroyed or injured in the manner and at the time described in section 1 of this act, any board of county commissioners, board of education, township trustees or council of any municipal corporation or the road commissioners of any road district may issue bonds or notes of the corporation, subdivision or district as needed. * * *"

It seems clear to my mind that under the above provision of section 3 of the said flood emergency act the board of county commissioners of the county referred to in your inquiry has continuing authority to issue the necessary bonds to provide sufficient money in the "flood emergency fund" to meet the obligations of said county when the same become payable according to the terms of contracts duly made by said county commissioners for the purposes mentioned and referred to in said section 3 of said act. I am of the opinion therefore in answer to your ninth question that, upon the facts therein stated, said county commissioners may, acting under authority and in compliance with the requirements of said flood emergency act, issue bonds for the purpose of providing sufficient money in the "flood emergency fund" of said county to pay the balances due according to the terms of the aforesaid contract and still outstanding.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1715.

DISAPPROVAL, RESOLUTION FOR IMPROVEMENT OF CERTAIN ROAD IN FAYETTE COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 20, 1916.

HON. CLINTON COWEN, State Highway Commissioner, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of June 16, 1916, transmitting to me for examination final resolution relating to section "A" of the Cincinnati-Zanesville road in Fayette county, petition No. 2330, I. C. H. No. 10.

This resolution was submitted to me for approval on June 12, 1916, and under date of June 15th I returned the resolution to you without my approval for the reason, among other things, that it appears that main market road funds are to be used in part, but it does not appear either upon the face of the resolution or by a certificate attached to or endorsed thereon that the road in question is a main market road. The resolution is still defective in this particular, and I am therefore again returning the same without my approval.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1716.

APPROVAL, RESOLUTIONS FOR IMPROVEMENT OF CERTAIN ROADS IN COSHOCTON, FAIRFIELD, MUSKINGUM, FRANKLIN AND MADISON COUNTIES, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 20, 1916.

HON. CLINTON COWEN, State Highway Commissioner, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communications of June 16 and June 17, 1916, transmitting to me for examination final resolutions relating to the following roads:

"Coshocton county—Sec. 'A,' Walhonding-New Guilford road, Pet. No. 356, I. C. H. No. 411.

"Fairfield county—Sec. 'A,' Lancaster-Kirkersville road, Pet. No. 2325, I. C. H. No. 462.

"Fairfield county—Sec. 'A,' Lancaster-Kirkersville road, Pet. No. 2325, I. C. H. No. 462.

"Muskingum county—Sec. 'L,' Zanesville-Dresden road, Pet. No. 2752, I. C. H. No. 344.

"Franklin county—Sec. 'M,' Columbus-Sandusky road, Pet. No. 2339, I. C. H. No. 4.

"Muskingum county—Sec. 'K,' Zanesville-Cincinnati road, Pet. No. 2754, I. C. H. No. 10.

"Madison county—Sec. 'E,' Washington-London road, Pet. No. 2634, I. C. H. No. 244."

I find these resolutions to be in regular form and am therefore returning the same with my approval endorsed thereon.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1717.

DITCHES—COUNTY COMMISSIONERS HAVE JURISDICTION UNDER SECTION 6443, G. C., EVEN IF DITCH IS LOCATED IN MORE THAN ONE TOWNSHIP.

It is not essential to the jurisdiction of county commissioners in the matter of the location, construction, straightening, altering, deepening, widening, boxing or tiling a ditch, drain or water course as conferred by section 6443, G. C., that such ditch, drain or water course be located in more than one township within the county.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 21, 1916.

HON. PERRY SMITH, Prosecuting Attorney, Zanesville, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Yours under date of June 13, 1916, is as follows:

"Find enclosed a request or an application to repair and improve a water course in Falls township, Muskingum county, Ohio, the same having been filed with the auditor and with the board of county commissioners on the 12th day of May, 1916.

"The county commissioners have asked me to have you look over this petition and say whether they have jurisdiction or not in viewing this so-called water course. I have given the commissioners my opinion in reference to this application and have said to them that the county commissioners have no jurisdiction as this contemplated ditch is in Falls township alone and it would be the duty of the trustees of Falls township to arrange for this ditch.

"Further, if this ditch should be constructed as applicant desires, it would throw the water over and upon another farm, which would mean damages to the adjoining farm where the water is to be thrown and the county commissioners would become liable for any damages sustained. There is no one in Falls township complaining as to the public health, convenience and welfare, save and except John H. Shipps and Mr. Hearing, who bought this farm some eighteen years ago, platted it into lots, made the streets and built the ditch to carry the water at that time. Since then the buildings which have been put upon these lots, have connected their sinks in their kitchens with the tile or drain and the water from the roofs causing the same to be filled up and it seems to me that the proper ones to complain in reference to the health, convenience and the necessity for the improvement should be made by the parties who complained of the inconvenience and the unhealthiness and not the land owners, who desire to have the ditch made for their convenience, so that they can sell their land to a greater advantage through the officers of Muskingum county.

"I have advised the county commissioners that they have no jurisdiction and from the reading of sections 6447, 6451 and 6455 of the General Code, it seems to me that the county commissioners cannot interfere where the ditch or drainage is sought to be made in Wayne township, but must go through two or more townships in order to give them jurisdiction of the case.

"Am I right in my contention or am I wrong? I have so held and so advised the county commissioners, but they are anxious to have your interpretation in reference to this petition as filed and you will see that no where in the petition or application do they allege that this drain is to be in any other township than Falls, therefore, it is the duty of the applicants to take this matter up with the township trustees of Falls township."

Accompanying your inquiry you submit for examination the original application filed with the county commissioners, together with two bonds in substantially the same form, which said application and bonds are as follows:

"In the matter of the application of John H. Shipps, for the improvement of a natural water course in Falls township, Muskingum county, Ohio state.

"Before the county commissioners of Muskingum county, Ohio state.

"APPLICATION.

"Now comes applicant, John H. Shipps, and says that he is a resident of Falls township, Muskingum county, Ohio state; and that he is the owner of some of the lots through which a natural water course extends, the improvement of which will be conducive to public health, convenience and welfare.

"Said natural water course is located in Falls township, Muskingum county, Ohio state, beginning at a certain spring situated near the center of the Dresden road front of Charles F. Hearing's subdivision, and running thence, in a southwesterly direction, diagonally across the southeast corner of said subdivision near the rear of the dwelling house of George N. Kerner, on Lot No. 1 of said subdivision, to and across Brookover avenue; thence in a southwesterly direction upon and in a westerly direction through a certain 2-2/100 acre tract of land (now divided into lots), of this applicant, John H. Shipps; thence in a westerly direction through Fenton's subdivision, across lot No. 9 owned by Minnie Joanna Bird, near the middle thereof; thence on across lot No. 8 owned by Lena Russel and Amanda Bailey near the rear of their dwelling house; thence on across lot No. 7 and lot No. 6, owned by Vaidney Engle, near the rear of the dwelling house on said lot No. 6; thence on across lot No. 5 of Wm. O. Finney and on through lot No. 3 of Wm. O. Finney, to where said natural water course flows under the Frazeysburgh road, a distance from said spring of about one thousand feet.

"That about eighteen years ago this water course was a natural one, but did not contain living water. That the spring water, storm water, and spouting and seeping water from the elevated lands thereabout, all, lost themselves therein, and enswamped the same, and rendered it dangerous to the public health, conducive to the public inconvenience, and against the public welfare of the community; and for the public health, convenience and welfare of the community, by private agreement between two, John H. Shipps and Charles F. Hearing, or more individuals, said natural water course was ditched and tiled, thereby affecting their real property (which was the same as the premises included in this proceeding), in this, to wit: That for the last eighteen years, without obstruction or interruption, said tiled ditch has drained said natural water course and land of said John H. Shipps and Charles F. Hearing which was situated within it, save and except during the last two or three years, during which time it has become obstructed for a distance of about three hundred feet from the Frazeysburgh road toward its head. And because of its such establishment and use, said ditch is become and is a public water course, independently of its natural condition and nature as a natural water course.

"That because of such obstructions, all of that part of the water course is again enswamped, the cellars of the dwelling houses flooded; the lots flooded and washed and encumbered with stagnant and polluted water; and all of said waters and their actions are become conducive to public contagious and other diseases and sickness, inconvenience and welfare of the residents in and along and about said natural water course in said township, and in other townships in said county; and it is necessary and will be conducive to the public health, convenience and welfare of said public, said residents of said water course and of said community and townships, to improve said tiled natural water course so as to drain it and said lots, cellars, etc.

"That all of the lots and premises situated in said natural water course, and owned by the parties named herein, are parts of said original tracts of real property benefited by the establishment, some eighteen years ago, of said tiled water course; and that said original tracts were platted, and the lots herein affected were sold and conveyed after and in relation to the establishment of said tiled water course, and with full knowledge thereof on the part of the original purchasers from said John H. Shipps and Charles F. Hearing, of the same; or that said purchasers, and all subsequent purchasers, ought to have known thereof.

"The following named owners of lots in said natural water course, or draining into it, are affected and will be affected by the present obstructed drain and any improvement thereof: John H. Shipps, Minnie Joanna Bird, Lena Russel, Amanda Bailey, Vaidney Engle, Carl E. Horn, Joseph Albert Horn, Wm. O. Finney, Chas. W. Truesdale, Chas. F. Hearing, Geo. N. Kerner, Samuel D. Hearing, Emma L. Griffin, John F. Ross.

"Wherefore, this applicant asks the said county commissioners duly to improve said natural water course, and for all proper relief.

"(Signed) JOHN H. SHIPPS.

"State of Ohio, Muskingum County, ss.

"Now comes the said applicant, who being first duly sworn, says that the above statements are true as he verily believes.

"(Signed) JOHN H. SHIPPS.

"Sworn to and subscribed before me this June 12, 1916.

"(Signed) CHAS. G. GRIFFITH,

"(Seal) Notary Public.

"Know all men by these presents, that I, John H. Shipps, as principal, and J. S. Fenton, and C. F. Hearing, as sureties, are hereby held and firmly bound to the state of Ohio in the sum of two hundred dollars, for the payment of which we hereby firmly bind ourselves.

"Dated this June 12, 1916.

"The condition of this bond is such, That whereas said John H. Shipps has filed his petition with the clerk of and before the board of county commissioners of Muskingum county, Ohio, and with the county auditor of said county, for the improvement and repair, etc., of a certain tiled natural water course situated in Falls township, said county, ———

"Now, therefore, if he shall duly pay any and all costs and expenses of such proceeding, according to law, that shall be assessed against him, then these presents shall become void; otherwise to remain in full force and virtue in law.

"(Signed) JOHN H. SHIPPS,
"J. S. FENTON,
"C. F. HEARING."

In addition to the question of the sufficiency of the bond and application or petition above set forth, you make further inquiry as to the jurisdiction of county commissioners in the matter of the construction or improvement of a ditch, drain or water course located within a single township, which latter inquiry will be first considered.

Section 6443, G. C., confers upon boards of county commissioners jurisdiction and authority in the matter of the construction, straightening, widening, altering, deepening, boxing or tiling of ditches, drains or water courses, and provides as follows:

"The board of county commissioners, at a regular or called session, when necessary to drain any lots, lands, public or corporate road or railroad, and it will be conducive to public health, convenience or welfare, in the manner provided in this chapter, may cause to be located and constructed, straightened, widened, altered, deepened, boxed, or tiled, a ditch, drain or watercourse, or box or tile part thereof, or cause the channel of a river, creek or run, or part thereof, within such county, to be improved by straightening, widening, deepening, or changing it, or by removing from adjacent lands timber, brush, trees, or other substance liable to obstruct it. The commissioners may change either terminus of a ditch before its final location, if the object of the improvement will be better accomplished thereby."

The authority thus conferred upon county commissioners in respect to ditches, drains and water-courses is not in said section specifically limited or restricted to ditches, drains or water-courses which may be located in more than one township, and a careful examination of the chapter in which said section is found fails to disclose any limitation upon the authority here conferred to ditches which are located in more than one township.

I am therefore led to conclude that the location of such ditch, drain or watercourse proposed to be improved under the provisions of the chapter in which section 6443 is found, in more than one township, is not essential or a condition precedent to the authority of the commissioners to proceed with the location, construction, etc., of such ditch pursuant to said section 6443, G. C., et seq.

It is provided by section 6446, G. C., that application for such improvement shall be made to the commissioners of the county, signed by one or more of owners of lots or lands which will be drained or benefited thereby, or shall be made by the street commissioner or superintendent of the road district in which it is required to be done.

Section 6447, G. C., provides as follows:

"A petition shall be filed with the county auditor setting forth the necessity and benefits of the improvement and describing the beginning, route and termini thereof. It shall also contain the names of the persons and corporations, public or private, who, in the opinion of the petitioner or petitioners are in any way affected or benefited thereby. There shall be filed therewith a bond, subject to the approval of said auditor, payable to the state of Ohio, with at least two sufficient sureties, in not less than two hundred dollars, conditioned for the payment of all costs if the prayer of the petition is not granted or is dismissed for any cause. If the name of a person or corporation, either public or private, in any way affected by the proposed improvement, is omitted from the petition, the county commissioners, upon discovering that such omission has been made, shall supply such name, and cause notice to be served as herein provided."

An examination of the application or petition submitted by you, herein above quoted, discloses that it is made and subscribed by John H. Shipps, that said application or petition recites that the said John H. Shipps is a resident of Muskingum county and an owner of lots or lands which will be drained or benefited by the proposed improvement, as required by section 6446, G. C. Said petition, it will be observed, purports to describe the beginning, route and termini of the ditch, drain or water course proposed to be located, constructed or improved, and further purports to contain the names of the persons and corporations, public and private, who, in the opinion of the petitioner, are in any way affected or benefited by the location, construction or improvement of such drain, ditch or water-course.

While the petition contains much matter that is not material, I am inclined to the view that taken as a whole it sufficiently sets forth the necessity and benefits of the improvement sought to be made, and that it is of such substantial compliance with the requirements of section 6447, G. C., supra, as to render it sufficient in law to confer upon the county commissioners jurisdiction and authority to proceed to determine the necessity of such improvement, in so far as a petition or application therefor is required. The bond herein before quoted appears to be sufficient in form and amount, and when approved by the county auditor, as required by the provisions of section 6447, G. C., supra, together with the application and petition hereinbefore referred to, will confer upon the county commissioners and the county auditor jurisdiction and authority to proceed under the provisions of sections 6448, 6449, 6450 and 6451, G. C., to give notice therein required and to determine the necessity of such improvement and to continue the proceedings for the location, construction and improvement of said ditch, drain or water-course, as required by law.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1718.

BOARD OF EDUCATION—ENCYCLOPEDIA PURCHASED FOR USE OF HIGH SCHOOL NOT A PERMANENT IMPROVEMENT WITHIN MEANING OF THAT PHRASE AS FOUND IN SECTION 7747, G. C.

An encyclopedia purchased for the use of a high school is not a permanent improvement within the meaning of that phrase as found in section 7747, G. C.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 21, 1916.

HON. GEORGE W. PORTER, Prosecuting Attorney, Greenville, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Yours under date of June 12, 1916, is as follows:

"Section 7747 provides the manner by which the tuition of a pupil residing outside of the district may be computed.

"It is necessary for a high school, in order to maintain their charter, to purchase an encyclopedia. The question now arises as to whether or not this school board, in computing the tuition of a pupil residing outside of the district, can add in the costs of conducting the school the cost of the encyclopedia and charge the same to the non-resident pupil; whether or not you would consider the encyclopedia as one of the permanent improvements of said school?"

By section 7747, G. C., 104 O. L., 125, to which you refer, provision is made for the payment of the tuition of pupils who are eligible for admission to high schools, and who reside in rural districts in which no high school is maintained, when such pupils attend high school in another district and, as pertinent to your inquiry, said section provides in part as follows:

"No more shall be charged per capita than the amount ascertained by dividing the total expenses of conducting the high school of the district attended, exclusive of permanent improvements and repair, by the average monthly enrollment in the high school of the district."

It will be noted from this provision that the basis for the computation of the tuition to be charged for the attendance of pupils from other districts is the total expense of conducting the high school attended, exclusive of permanent improvements and repair, and your inquiry involves a consideration of the meaning of the phrase "permanent improvement," as found in the above quoted statutory provision.

While the term "improvement" may be applied to the amelioration in the condition of personal property, it is said in 16 Am. and E. Ency., 66 (2nd Ed.) that:

"The term is, however, ordinarily used only in reference to real property."

In its application to real property, the term "improvement" is defined in 22 Cyc., 5, as follows:

"An improvement or betterment, as it is otherwise known, is an improvement on realty which is more extensive than ordinary repair, and enhances in a substantial degree the value of the property."

In support of this definition there is cited the case of Stark v. Starr, 22 Fed. Cas., No. 13307, 1 Sawy. 15, in which it is said:

"A permanent improvement is something done or put upon land by the occupant which he cannot remove, either because it has become physically impossible to separate it from the land or, in contemplation of law, it has been annexed to the soil and become a part of the free-hold."

From the above definitions it is conclusive that in its ordinary sense the term "improvement" or "permanent improvement" has reference to an improvement or betterment made upon real estate, and there appears from a perusal of the section of the statute above referred to no reason for giving to this phrase a meaning other than that in which it is ordinarily used and understood. I am therefore inclined to the view that the phrases "permanent improvement" and "repairs," as found in section 7747, have reference only to the school ground and building or, in other words, the real estate of the school district in which the high school in question is maintained.

An encyclopedia would not in any case be considered as an improvement and betterment, either of the building or the land but, on the contrary, is clearly a part of the equipment only of the school and is therefore not within the terms of the statute referred to, and hence the purchase of such encyclopedia for the use of a high school would constitute a part of the expense of conducting such high school and be included in the computation of the tuition authorized to be charged for the attendance of pupils at such school from other districts.

It may be observed, however, that only such part of the purchase price of such encyclopedia as is actually paid within the year would constitute a part of the expense of conducting such school for that year.

Answering your question specifically, I am therefore of the opinion that the purchase of an encyclopedia for the use of a high school does not constitute a permanent improvement within the meaning of section 7747, G. C., and thereby authorized to be deducted in the calculation of the total expense of conducting such high school in the computation of the tuition to be charged pupils attending the same from other districts.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1719.

OHIO HOSPITAL FOR EPILEPTICS—SUPERINTENDENT—LETTER MAY BE MAILED DESCRIBING CONDITION OF PATIENT IN THAT INSTITUTION TO PERSON CONTEMPLATING MARRIAGE WITH SUCH INMATE.

The superintendent of the Ohio hospital for epileptics may mail a letter describing the condition of a patient in that institution to a person contemplating marriage with the inmate in question for his information and to safeguard the public against the results of such a marriage, without violating the law,—the truth of the statements in the letter and its purpose being a complete justification for its sending.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 21, 1916.

G. G. KINEON, M. D., Superintendent the Ohio Hospital for Epileptics, Gallipolis, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your letter of June 16, 1916, asking for an opinion which is as follows:

> "I am enclosing herewith a copy of a letter which I have written to a young man * * * concerning a patient at this hospital by the name of * * * and who has been here for over eleven years. As I understand it * * * met this man while she was away on a visit to her uncle, and the uncle has written for the girl to make him another visit, which, I am informed, is for the purpose of having this young man marry her.
>
> "I have dictated a letter to * * * as per copy enclosed, and should like your opinion as to whether there is any legal objection to such a letter being sent."

The letter to which you refer is a statement concerning the condition of a patient in the Ohio hospital for epileptics advising of the probable results of a marriage with such a person, and calling attention to the probable consequences thereof. It is to be assumed that the statements in the letter are true, as there is no purpose in its being mailed other than to safeguard the public and interested parties against undesirable results, and it is doubtless a wise precaution to take.

It is my opinion that there is no provision of law which would prevent the mailing of such a communication, and that a complete defense to any action which might result therefrom would be the truth of the statements contained in your letter.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1720.

JURORS—EXPENSES OF MEALS AND LODGING—WHEN IN TRIAL OF ANY CASE, IF NOT PERMITTED TO SEPARATE, SUCH EXPENSES MUST BE PAID FROM COUNTY TREASURY—MAY NOT BE TAXED AS COSTS OR ASSESSED AGAINST ANY PARTY TO SAID CASE.

The expenses of meals and lodging furnished to jurors, when in the trial of any case they are not permitted to separate, must be paid from the county treasury and may not be taxed as costs or assessed against any party to said case.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 22, 1916.

Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—I have your letter of June 16, 1916, submitting the following inquiries:

> "1. Where a jury is forbidden by the court to separate, in either a civil or criminal case, can the cost of meals and lodging for the jury be legally paid out of the county treasury?
>
> "2. If so, could such expense be considered such a cost as could be taxed against the parties to the action in the cost bill of the case and the treasury be reimbursed? See sections 11449 and 13688, General Code."

The sections to which you refer in your foregoing letter provide as follows:

> "Sec. 11449. When the case is submitted, the jury may decide it in court, or retire to deliberate. Upon retiring, they must be kept together, in charge of an officer, at a convenient place, until they agree upon a verdict, or are discharged by the court. The court may permit them temporarily to separate at night and for their meals.
>
> "Sec. 13688. When a case is finally submitted, the jurors must be kept together in a convenient place, under the charge of an officer, until they agree upon a verdict or are discharged by the court. Such officer shall not permit a communication to be made to them, nor make any himself, except to ask if they have agreed upon a verdict, unless by order of the court; nor shall he communicate to any person, before the verdict is delivered, any matter in relation to their deliberations. If the jurors are permitted to separate during the trial, they shall be admonished, by the court, not to converse with, nor permit themselves to be addressed by, any person, nor to listen to any conversation on the subject of the trial, nor form or express an opinion thereon, until the cause is finally submitted to them."

The first named section, to wit, section 11449, applies to the trial of civil cases, and when considered in connection with section 11451, G. C., has been construed as authorizing the court to permit a jury in the trial of civil cases to separate temporarily for their meals, even after the case has been finally submitted to them for their verdict. In other words, this section is construed as leaving it entirely in the discretion of the court in the trial of a civil case whether the jury shall be permitted to separate during the progress of the trial, and after the case is finally submitted to it or not.

Parker v. State, 18 O. S., 89-91.

Section 13688, G. C., aforesaid, which applies to the trial of criminal cases, does not permit a separation of the jury after the case is finally submitted to it. It, however, makes it discretionary with the court to permit a separation during the progress of the case and until the time when the case is submitted to the jury for its determination.

Parker v. State, supra.
Bergin v. State, 31 O. S., 111.

It appears to be the general practice of the courts of this state to permit a separation of the jury during all stages of the trial of civil cases, while in the more important criminal matters no separation is permitted at any time during the trial of such cases, and no separation may be permitted in any criminal case after the same is finally submitted to the jury. It is apparent, therefore, that in the trial of all criminal cases the necessity may arise to furnish the jury some care and sustenance during its service in said cases, while in civil cases, if the court in the exercise of its discretion orders and directs the jury not to separate, such necessity may also arise. In modern practice it has always been recognized in this state as right and proper to furnish jurors with meals, care and sustenance during their service on juries when either by the provisions of law or by an order of the court no separation is permitted.

As early as 1832 in the case of State v. Town, Wright's Reports, 78, the following observation is found in the statement of the case:

"The jury retired at nine o'clock p. m. At eleven o'clock they sent for the court and received instruction upon a point of law and again retired. At eight o'clock the next morning they were allowed refreshment and a physician was allowed to examine and prescribe for one of the jurors that was sick."

Again, in the case of Sutliff v. Gilbert, 8 Ohio, 405, which was a civil suit, the question of the right of a jury to separate after sealing a verdict, and before making its report to the court was considered. The court in commenting upon the right of jurors to separate makes the following observation:

"Formerly jurors were not permitted to separate until their verdict was returned into court; and in order to compel them to agree, they were deprived of the necessaries of life for the time being. But these rigid rules have been much relaxed in the practice of this state. We do not, it is true, permit jurors to separate until a verdict is found, but we allow them all necessary refreshment, and when they have agreed upon a verdict, if the court is not in session they are permitted to put it under seal, and then separate."

Your attention is directed to the foregoing matters simply to illustrate the change that has taken place in the matter of the treatment of juries in modern as compared with earlier times and as illustrating the attitude of the courts toward the right of a court to furnish jurors with the necessary care and sustenance during their service to the court when under their obligations as jurors they may not be permitted to take care of themselves.

You first inquire if the cost of such care and sustenance can be legally paid out of the county treasury. This question, in so far as it applies to criminal cases, is answered by the case of State ex rel. v. Auditor, 19 Ohio, 116. In this case it appears that the sheriff of Hamilton county expended a certain amount of money in and about the boarding, and care of two juries impaneled to try a person charged in two indictments with the crime of murder. This money was expended in obedience to an order of the court, and the allowance and order of the court for said sum of money were duly presented to the defendant, who was the auditor of said county, with the request that he issue an order on the treasury therefor, which he refused to do. The case itself was an action in mandamus to compel the auditor to issue said order. In passing upon the question thus presented in said case the court said:

"There is no difference of opinion amongst our number, in respect to the justice of this claim, and the propriety of the expenditure by the sheriff, under the circumstances.

"Indeed we would with one voice unite in advising the defendant to audit and allow the account as a proper charge against the county of Hamilton, but we do not see the way clear to carry out the remedy by mandamus, as the law no where, in express terms, makes it the duty of the auditor to act upon the allowance of the court, in cases of this sort.

"A majority of the court, however, believe it to be a necessary incident to their authority, to make a provision for the sustenance and care of juries when called to administer the criminal laws of the state, in any county; and as the speediest way of reimbursing the sheriff for money advanced by him for this salutary purpose, they will direct the county auditor to consider an account of this character, audited and allowed by the court, as 'a just demand against the county, settled and allowed by a tribunal authorized by law to do so.' A peremptory mandamus will issue."

So far as I have been able to ascertain, the authority of this case has never been questioned. It follows, therefore, that it would seem to settle the liability of a county for such expense in the trial of criminal cases, and I am unable to conceive of any reason why the same reasoning will not apply with equal force in civil cases under like circumstances. In other words, when the court in a civil suit in its discretion requires a jury to be kept together after the case is finally submitted to it or during the progress of the trial thereof, it may be said to be a necessary incident to the right of the court to make such order to also provide for the sustenance and care of such jury while it is so subject to such order. While the necessity of an order requiring a jury to remain together during the progress of the trial of a civil case would be of very rare occurrence, yet it is very frequently a wise precaution upon the part of the court to refuse to permit a separation in such cases after they are finally submitted to a jury for its verdict, and it not infrequently happens that it is necessary under such conditions that the jury shall be furnished with meals. In view of these considerations I am of the opinion that your first inquiry must be answered in the affirmative.

This conclusion, in so far as it applies to criminal cases, is in harmony with an opinion of this department of the date of April 16, 1870, reported in Vol. II, page 20 of the opinions of the attorney-general of said year. In a later opinion, however, under date of March 17, 1886, the conclusion was reached by the then attorney-general of this state, that in felony cases when the court orders the sheriff to keep the jury together during the progress of the trial, the hotel bills should not be paid by the county. There is, however, in the last opinion no discussion of the question whatever. In view of this conflict I have deemed it necessary to discuss more fully than I otherwise would my reasons for arriving at the foregoing conclusion.

You next inquire if such expense may be taxed as costs in such cases, and assessed against the parties to the action and the treasury reimbursed.

Section 12375, G. C., provides:

> "In all sentences in criminal cases, the court shall include therein, and render a judgment against the defendant for the costs of prosecution; and, if a jury has been called in the trial of the cause, a jury fee of six dollars shall be included in the costs."

This section is held to be exclusive and that no further charge for jury service may be taxes as costs in any criminal case. Commissioners v. Commissioners, 14 C. C., 28.

As there is no statutory provision permitting such expenses to be taxed as costs in any case, and as the costs include "only those expenditures which are by law taxable and to be included in the judgment." McDonald v. Page, Wright's Reports, 121, and Commissioners v. Commissioners, supra, I am of the opinion that such expenses may not be taxed as costs in any case. Your second inquiry, therefore, will be answered in the negative.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1721.

MUNICIPAL CORPORATION—PETITION PRESENTED BY PROPERTY OWNERS FOR IMPROVEMENT OF STREET ON ASSESSMENT PLAN CANNOT CONTAIN RESTRICTIONS BINDING PRESENT OR SUBSEQUENT COUNCIL AS TO GENERAL ASSESSMENTS FOR STREET IMPROVEMENTS.

The petition presented by property owners for improvement of a street on the assessment plan cannot contain restrictions preventing council from improving other streets of municipality in which a larger per centum of the cost thereof is assumed by the village than is assumed by the village in the instant improvement.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 22, 1916.

Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—I am in receipt of your letter of June 15th, wherein you request my opinion as follows:

"A petition is presented by property owners for the improvement of a certain street upon which their property abuts, the village to pay two per centum and cost of intersections. Said petition contains the following clause:

"'Further, the petitioners hereto, make a part of this petition for the improvement of said street in the manner and between the points named, this condition: That in consideration of the acceptance of this petition, the construction of said improvement and the assessment of the cost thereof in the proportions above named, that all property so abounding, abutting, benefited and assessed for said improvement in said proportions shall hereafter be exempt from contributing by general taxation or otherwise toward the improvement of any streets, parts of streets, public places and public ways in said village, except such amount, in proportion, as the village of Somerset, Ohio, from general taxation, or otherwise contributes to this proposed improvement.'

"Would this clause prove effective if the improvement be made upon the conditions mentioned in said petition, and prevent a subsequent council from improving other streets of the municipality in which a larger per centum of the cost thereof is assumed by the village, the same to be met by taxation?"

There is no doubt that the clause quoted by you from the petition presented by the property owners is ineffective to prevent a subsequent council from improving other streets of the municipality in which a larger part of the cost thereof is assumed by the village, the same to be met by taxation. In fact the clause, as I view it, is absolutely without any force or effect. If no proceedings have been had on the petition referred to, I would suggest that the entire petition be disregarded and, if the improvement referred to therein is desired, that council proceed in the regular way to make the improvement as if no petition had been presented.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1722.

INSPECTOR OF AUTOMATIC COUPLERS—ASSESSMENT FOR MAINTENANCE OF SUCH OFFICE NOT REQUIRED TO BE PAID BY RAILROADS BEFORE AUGUST 1ST, ANNUALLY.

The assessment provided for in section 8960, G. C., is not required to be paid before August 1st, annually.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 22, 1916.

HON. R. W. ARCHER, Treasurer of State, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Under date of June 1st you submitted for my opinion the following:

"In regard to section 8960 of the General Code, providing for the assessment of the sum of $2,500 for the support and maintenance of the office of inspector of automatic couplers:

"We mailed statements to every railroad assessed under date of January 7th. It seems that the procedure heretofore has been to allow the railroad companies to pay these amounts on or before August 1st. Inasmuch as the law is silent in this respect I have made an attempt to complete this collection by June 10th, believing the time intervening between January 7th and June 10th to be sufficient.

"Some of the railroads have taken exception to my efforts, contending that the payment would not have to be made before August 1st. In order to settle the controversy we would like to have your decision as to just when this assessment should be paid."

Section 8960 of the General Code, to which you refer, provides as follows:

"Such inspector (inspector of automatic couplers, etc.) shall receive a salary of fifteen hundred dollars per year, and all necessary expenses, not exceeding one thousand dollars in any one year, which shall be paid in the manner now provided by law for the salary and expenses of the railroad commission. In addition to the fifteen thousand dollars now authorized for such state railroad commission, there shall be assessed yearly in the manner and upon the corporations as the law provides, the sum of two thousand, five hundred dollars to pay the salary and expenses herein provided for."

A careful examination of the history of the legislation of section 8960, G. C., which prior to codification bore the section number 3365-23d of the Revised Statutes, will disclose that the provision therein "as the law provides," refers to section 606, G. C., the original of which prior to codification was known as section 250-2 of the Revised Statutes. Therefore, the time for paying the assessment referred to in section 8960, G. C., is the time specified in section 606.

In opinion No. 1712 rendered to you on June 19, 1916, I advised you as to the manner and time of the assessment and collection of the amount to be assessed under section 606, G. C., and said opinion will apply as well to the time of the assessment to be made under section 8960, G. C. In said opinion it was held that the payment of the assessment could not be compelled prior to August 1st, annually.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General

1723.

TOWNSHIP TRUSTEES—NOT ENTITLED TO ANY COMPENSATION FOR SERVICES PERFORMED UNDER OLD SECTIONS 7033 TO 7052, G. C., INCLUSIVE.

Township trustees are not entitled to any compensation for services performed under old sections 7033 to 7052, G. C., inclusive.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 23, 1916.

HON. GEORGE THORNBURG, Prosecuting Attorney, St. Clairsville, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of June 15, 1916, which communication reads as follows:

"Under the provisions of sections 7033 to 7052, G. C., Washington township trustees are improving their roads. Information relative to their bond issue was submitted to me by your opinion of October 27, 1915, No. 978. The trustees are proceeding under your directions to improve the roads under said sections now repealed.

"Section 7052 of said law provides:

" 'The trustees shall designate one of their number to supervise the improvement of each working section of the public highways.'

"Section 6999 provides that trustees shall receive two dollars per day for services performed under this sub-division.

"The Cass law makes no provision for compensation for trustees for such services, and they have submitted to me the question of how the trustees are to be paid for superintending the work.

"It seems to me that since they are proceeding to sell their bonds and improve the road under the old law that they have a right to charge for compensation under section 6999 at the rate of two dollars per day for their services, not to exceed one hundred dollars in all.

"If they can sell their bonds and proceed under the law as has already been outlined, I think they should also be governed by all other provisions of the law, and that the saving sections of the Cass law will protect them.

"I desire to have your opinion as to whether or not I am taking the proper view of it."

It should first be observed that all of the sections of the General Code referred to by you were repealed by the Cass highway law, 106 O. L., 574, and are now operative only in so far as they are preserved by the saving provision of that act. Where by virtue of such saving provisions the trustees are still proceeding under old sections 7033 to 7052, G. C., inclusive, I quite agree with your conclusion that such trustees are now entitled to the compensation, if any, which they would have received for services rendered under such sections prior to the going into effect of the Cass highway law. In other words, the conclusion as to the proper compensation of township trustees for services rendered under old sections 7033 to 7052, G. C., inclusive, will be the same without regard to whether the services were rendered before or after the going into effect of the Cass highway law.

Section 7052, G. C., reads as follows:

"The trustees shall designate one of their number to supervise the improvement of each working section of the public ways. They shall provide such blanks, books and records, as are necessary, and allow to the township clerk for the services to be rendered by him, reasonable compensation; all of which shall be paid out of the fund provided for such improvement on the order and allowance of the township trustees."

This section was originally section 13 of house bill No. 557, being an act to authorize township trustees to create road districts and improve the roads therein, passed April 12, 1900, and found in 94 O. L., 129. The section in question in its original form read as follows:

"That the township trustees shall designate one of their number to supervise the improvement of each working section of said public ways, improved under this act, and the trustee so designated shall receive for his services in that behalf not to exceed two dollars a day for the time actually and necessarily employed in such supervision; and the trustees shall provide such blanks, books and records, as shall be necessary to meet the requirements of this act: and shall allow to the township clerk for the services to be rendered by him, reasonable compensation; all of which shall be paid out of the funds provided for such improvement on the order and allowance of the township trustees."

It will be noted that the provision of this section, giving the trustee designated to supervise the improvement of a working section a compensation not exceeding $2.00 per day for the time actually and necessarily employed in such supervision, was stricken out by the codifying commission and cannot therefore be regarded as a part of this scheme of road improvement unless preserved by some other section of the General Code.

Section 6999, G. C., referred to by you, read as follows:

"For the duties performed under the provisions of this subdivision of this chapter, the trustees, upon filing an itemized statement with the clerk of such township, as provided by law, shall receive two dollars per day for the time actually employed in addition to the fees allowed otherwise by law for other services. Such compensation shall not in any one year exceed one hundred dollars each, for the services performed under such subdivision. The trustees shall allow the township clerk for his services under such subdivision a reasonable compensation, not to exceed one hundred dollars in any one year."

This section, in the form in which it was last put by the legislature prior to the work of the codifying commission, was a part of section 15 of house bill No. 67, being an act to authorize the improvement of public roads of townships, including streets of cities or villages therein, etc., passed April 22, 1904, and found in 97 O. L., 550. Section 15 of the act in question read in part as follows:

"* * * for the duties performed under the provisions of this act, the trustees shall, upon filing an itemized statement to the clerk of such township, as provided in section 1530, Revised Statutes, as amended April 21, 1890, receive two dollars per day in addition to the fees allowed in section 1530, for other services rendered for the time actually employed, and such compensation shall not in any one year exceed the sum of one hundred dollars each, for the services performed under this act; and the trustees shall allow the township clerk for services performed under this act a reasonable compensation, not to exceed one hundred dollars in any one year."

It will be noted that the above quoted provision as to the compensation of township trustees was preserved by the codifying commission. House bill No. 557, 94 O. L., 129, became a subdivision of chapter 3, title IV, part second of the General Code, and was styled by the codifying commission "township or precinct a road district." House bill No. 67, 97 O. L., 550, also became a subdivision of the same chapter, and was styled by the codifying commission "roads partly in a municipality."

I have referred to the history of these two subdivisions of chapter 3, title IV, part second of the General Code, for the purpose of showing that any provision as to compensation of trustees, found in old section 6999, G. C., can have no application to services rendered by trustees under old sections 7033 to 7052, G. C., inclusive, for the reason that the compensation provided by old section 6999, G. C., is, by the terms of that section, expressly limited to duties performed under the subdivision of the chapter in which old section 6999, G. C., was found. Old section 7052, G. C., not providing any compensation for township trustees for services rendered under old sections 7033 to 7052, G. C., inclusive, and no such provision being found in any of the other sections of the subdivision in question, township trustees are not entitled to any compensation for such services unless the same is allowed under the general section relating to the compensation of township trustees. That section is section 3294, G. C., which reads as follows:

> "Each trustee shall be entitled to one dollar and fifty cents for each day of service in the discharge of his duties in relation to partition fences, to be paid in equal proportions by the parties, and one dollar and fifty cents for each day of service in the business of the township, to be paid from the township treasury. The compensation of any trustee to be paid from the treasury shall not exceed one hundred and fifty dollars in any year including services in connection with the poor. Each trustee shall present an itemized statement of his account for such per diem and services, which shall be filed with the clerk of the township, and by him preserved for inspection by any person interested."

The services now under discussion have, of course, no relation to partition fences, and it is my opinion that such services cannot be said to relate to the business of the township. Road districts organized under the sections in question might have consisted of a township or that part of a township outside of any municipal corporation or corporations therein situated or an election precinct or part thereof in a township. The services in question related therefore not to the business of a township but to the business of a road district which might or might not have consisted of all of a township. In view of the foregoing, I therefore conclude that township trustees were not and are not entitled to any compensation for services rendered under old section 7033 to section 7052, inclusive, of the General Code.

The above conclusion is the same as that reached by my predecessor, Hon. Timothy S. Hogan, in opinion No. 982,, rendered to Hon. Archer L. Phelps, prosecuting attorney of Trumbull county, on June 17, 1914, and found in the annual report of the attorney-general for that year at page 801.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1724.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE BY VILLAGE OF CRESTLINE, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 23, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

> "RE:—Bonds of the village of Crestline, Ohio, in the amount of $4,000.00 to pay the village's portion of the cost and expense of improving North Seltzer street from the north line of Main street to the north line of Diamond street, being 10 bonds of $400.00 each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the council and other officers of the village of Crestline relative to the issuance of the above bonds; also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the form submitted and executed by the proper officers will constitute valid and binding obligations of the village of Crestline, Ohio.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1725.

APPROVAL, RESOLUTION FOR IMPROVEMENT OF ROAD IN FAYETTE COUNTY.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 24, 1916.

HON. CLINTON COWEN, State Highway Commissioner, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:- I have your communication of June 21, 1916, transmitting to me for examination final resolution relating to section "A" of the Cincinnati-Zanesville road, Pet. No. 2330, I. C. H. No. 10, Fayette county.

I find this resolution to be in regular form and am, therefore, returning the same with my approval endorsed thereon.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1726.

APPROVAL, LEASE OF ISLAND IN BUCKEYE LAKE TO C. C. PHILBRICK.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 24, 1916.

HON. FRANK R. FAUVER, Superintendent of Public Works, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:- I have your communication of June 20, 1916, transmitting to me for examination a lease of a small island in Buckeye lake known as "Castle Island" to C. C. Philbrick.

I find this lease to be in regular form and am, therefore, returning the same with my approval endorsed upon the triplicate copies thereof.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1727.

APPROVAL, RESOLUTION FOR IMPROVEMENT OF CERTAIN ROAD IN PORTAGE COUNTY.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 24, 1916.

HON. CLINTON COWEN, State Highway Commissioner, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of June 20, 1916, transmitting to me for examination final resolution relating to section "A" of the Aurora-Warren road, Petition No. 2832, I. C. H. No. 474, in Portage county.

I find this resolution to be in regular form and am, therefore, returning the same with my approval endorsed upon the duplicate copies thereof.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1728.

BOARD OF EDUCATION—WHERE SCHOOL TEACHERS' PENSION FUND IS MAINTAINED—CLERK-TREASURER OF SCHOOL BOARD BECOMES TREASURER OF BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF SAID SCHOOL TEACHERS' PENSION FUND—NEITHER BOARD HAS AUTHORITY TO PROVIDE DEPOSITORY FOR SAID FUND.

Where the board of education of a school district, which maintains a school teachers' pension fund, has provided a depository for the school funds of said district in the manner authorized by law and has dispensed with the treasurer of said funds under authority of section 4782, G. C., 104 O. L., 159, the clerk of said board of education succeeds to the duties of said treasurer by provision of the latter part of said section 4782, G. C., and under provision of section 7889, G. C., said clerk-treasurer, upon giving the bond required by said section, becomes treasurer of the board of trustees of said school teachers' pension fund and custodian of said fund.

Neither the board of education of said school district nor the board of trustees of said school teachers' pension fund have any authority in law to provide a depository for said fund for the purpose of relieving the clerk-treasurer as custodian of said fund of any and all liability incident to the care and custody of moneys belonging to such fund.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 24, 1916.

Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—In your letter of June 13th, you request my opinion upon the following question:

> "Do the resolutions submitted by the assistant city solicitor of the city of Cincinnati, Ohio, enclosed herewith, marked Exhibits A and B, respectively, represent, in the event of enactment by the board of education of said city school district, legal action on the part of said board?"

The resolutions above referred to read as follows:

"Exhibit A.

"A RESOLUTION.

"Whereas, The board of education of the Cincinnati school district has dispensed with the services of the city treasurer as treasurer of the school moneys and directed the clerk of the board to perform the duties required by law of the treasurer, and

"Whereas, Section 7889 provides that the treasurer of the school district shall be the custodian of the pension fund, therefore, be it

"Resolved, That the treasurer of the school district of the city of Cincinnati be required to file a bond in the penal sum of $——— for the faithful performance of duty as custodian of the school teachers' pension fund.

"Resolved, That Richard B. Witt, treasurer, be and is hereby authorized and directed to deliver to Wm. Grautman, his successor in office, all securities, moneys, books and other property of whatsoever kind, nature and description in his hands or under his control as treasurer of the school teachers' pension fund of Cincinnati, Ohio.

"Resolved, That Wm. Grautman, treasurer of the school teachers' pension fund be and is hereby directed to receipt in the name of the board of trustees for all such records, papers, books, bonds and cash.

"Resolved, That upon delivery of said records, papers, books, bonds and cash, the said Richard B. Witt shall be and he is hereby released from any and all liability as custodian of the school teachers' pension fund.

"Exhibit B.

"A RESOLUTION.

"Resolved, That the Columbia Bank and Savings Company be and is hereby designated by the board of trustees of the school teachers' pension fund of Cincinnati, Ohio, as the depositary for all cash moneys belonging to the said fund.

"Resolved, That said Columbia Bank and Savings Company be required to file a bond in the penal sum of $25,000.00 for the receipt, safekeeping and payment over of all moneys belonging to the school teachers' pension fund which may be deposited with said bank.

"Resolved, That the treasurer of the school teachers' pension fund be and he is hereby directed to deposit all moneys belonging to said fund with the said Columbia Bank and Savings Company.

"Resolved, That (upon) compliance with these resolutions, the treasurer shall be relieved of any and all liability, in so far as deposits are concerned."

Section 7875, G. C., provides that:

"When the board of education of a school district by resolution, adopted by a majority vote of the members thereof, declares that it is advisable to create a school teachers' pension fund for that school district, such fund shall be under the management and control of a board to be known as 'the board of trustees of the school teachers' pension fund' for such district," and further provides the manner in which said board of trustees shall be selected.

Section 7879, G. C., governs the investment of the pension fund referred to in section 7875, G. C., supra, and the payment of pensions from said fund, and provides that > "Such board of trustees may invest such pension fund (created and maintained under provisions of sections 7877, 7879, 7894 and 7895 of the General Code) in the name of the board in bonds of the United States, or of the state of Ohio, or of any county, or municipal corporation, or school district in this state; and may make payments from such fund for pensions granted in pursuance of the laws relating thereto."

Said section further provides that:

> "The board of trustees from time to time also may make and establish such rules and regulations for the administration of the fund as they deem best."

Section 7889, G. C., provides:

> "The treasurer of such school district (in which a school teachers' pension fund has been established) shall be the custodian of such pension fund, and keep it subject to the order, control and direction of the board of trustees. He must keep books of accounts concerning the fund in such manner as may be prescribed by such board which always shall be subject to the inspection of the board of trustees or of any member thereof. Such treasurer shall execute a bond to the board of trustees with good and sufficient sureties in such sum as the board requires, which bond shall be subject to its approval, and be conditioned for the faithful performance of his duties as custodian and treasurer of the board."

Section 7890, G. C., provides:

> "Such treasurer must keep and truly account for all moneys and profits coming into his hands belonging to such fund, and at the expiration of his term of office pay over, surrender and deliver to his successor all securities, moneys and other property of whatsoever kind, nature and description in his hands or under his control as treasurer. For his services he shall be paid not to exceed one per cent. annually of the amount paid into the fund during the year."

Section 4763, G. C. (104 O. L., 159), provides that:

> "In each city school district the treasurer of the city funds shall be the treasurer of the school funds. * * *"

Section 4782, G. C. (104 O. L., 159), provides that:

> "When a depository has been provided for the school moneys of a district, as authorized by law, the board of education of the district, by resolution adopted by a vote of a majority of its members, shall dispense with a treasurer of the school moneys, belonging to such school district. In such case, the clerk of the board of education of a district shall perform all the services, discharge all the duties and be subject to all the obligations required by law of the treasurer of such school district."

I am informed by Mr. Saul Zielonka, the assistant city solicitor referred to in your letter, that Richard B. Witt, mentioned in the first resolution above set forth, is the city treasurer of Cincinnati, and that William Grautman is clerk of the board of education of the Cincinnati city school district.

By provision of section 4763, G. C., supra, the treasurer of said city was ex-officio treasurer of the school funds of said school district up until the time said board of education, acting under authority of section 4782, G. C., supra, dispensed with his services as treasurer of said school funds. Since that time, by provision of the latter part of said section 4782, G. C., the clerk of said board of education has performed such services, discharged all the duties and has been subject to all the obligations required by law of said treasurer.

I have already held in opinion No. 1265 of this department, rendered to your bureau under date of February 14, 1916, that in a school district in which a school teachers' pension fund has been established and is being maintained, and in which the board of education has provided a depository for the school funds in the manner authorized by law and has dispensed with the treasurer of said funds under authority of said section 4782, G. C., the clerk of said board, who is now performing all the services and discharging all the duties and is subject to all the obligations required by law of the treasurer of such school district, is treasurer of said school teachers' pension fund under provision of said section 7889, G. C., supra. It follows that inasmuch as the school teachers' pension fund has been established and is being maintained in the Cincinnati city school district and the board of education of said school district has provided a depository for the school funds of said district in the manner authorized by law and has dispensed with the treasurer of said funds under authority of said section 4782, G. C., the said William Grautman as clerk of said board, upon giving the bond required of said section 7889, G. C., will succeed the said Richard B. Witt as custodian of said pension fund and it will be the duty of the said Richard B. Witt to deliver to his successor, the said William Grautman, "all securities, moneys, books and other property of whatsoever kind, nature and description in his hands or under his control as treasurer of the school teachers' pension fund" of said city school district, and the said William Grautman as the successor of the said Richard B. Witt as custodian of such fund, should receipt, as such custodian, for all such records, papers, books, bonds and moneys.

In view of the foregoing I am of the opinion that the latter part of the first branch of the resolution, as above set forth and marked "Exhibit A," should be modified so as to designate the treasurer of said pension fund as "the treasurer of the school teachers' pension fund of the Cincinnati city school district" and that the second branch of said resolution should be modified to read as follows:

> "Resolved, That William Grautman, treasurer of the school teachers' pension fund, be and is hereby directed to receipt as such custodian for all such records, papers, books, bonds and moneys."

With this modification I am of the opinion that said resolution will be in conformity with the provisions of the statutes hereinbefore set forth.

Coming now to a consideration of the second resolution above set forth, I note that the pension fund in question is derived from the following sources:

> "1. Deductions of two dollars from the monthly salary of each teacher accepting the provisions of the law for creating said pension fund (section 7877, G. C.).
>
> "2. All moneys received from donations, legacies, gifts, bequests or from any other sources (section 7878, G. C.).

"3. Deductions from the salaries of teachers on account of their tardiness or absence (section 7894, G. C.).

"4. The payment from the contingent fund of such school district into said pension fund of not less than one per cent. nor more than two per cent. of the gross receipts of the board raised by taxation (section 7895, G. C.)."

The moneys received under item 2 are paid either into the pension fund or into a permanent fund. If paid into a permanent fund only the interest thereof shall be credited to the pension fund and applied to the payment of pensions.

It will be observed that under provision of section 7889, G. C., supra, the custodian of the pension fund is required to "keep it subject to the order, control and direction of the board of trustees" and the bond given by said treasurer as such custodian is subject to the approval of said board of trustees and conditioned for the faithful performance of his duties as custodian and treasurer of the board.

In the former opinion of the department, above referred to, it was observed that while the above provision of section 7889, G. C., makes the treasurer of a school district, which has established a school teachers' pension fund, the treasurer of the board of trustees and as such the custodian of said fund, the treasurer of said school district as treasurer of said board of trustees and as custodian of said fund is in no way accountable to the board of education of said district. It was further observed that the bond required to be given by the provision of the latter part of said section 7889, G. C., is executed to said board of trustees and is subject to the approval of said board; that in view of the provisions of sections 7889 and 7890, G. C., taken in connection with the above provisions of sections 7875 and 7879, G. C., it seems clear that the board of education of a school district is in no way charged with the administration of the school teachers' pension fund and that said fund is not a fund of the school district within the meaning of section 7604, G. C. (106 O. L., 328), which provides that:

"Within thirty days after the first Monday in January, 1916, and every two years thereafter, the board of education of any school district by resolution shall provide for the deposit of any or all moneys coming into the hands of its treasurer."

and it was held in said opinion that the provision of this latter statute has reference only to the funds belonging to the school district and is not applicable to the pension fund under consideration.

It seems clear to my mind from a consideration of all of the provisions of the statutes relating to said school teachers' pension fund and governing the administration and control of said fund and determining the sources from which the same is derived, that the several funds going to make up the school teachers' pension fund cannot be considered school funds of the district and that the board of trustees, created under authority of section 7875, G. C., and in the manner therein provided, is vested by the provisions of the foregoing statutes with the administration and the exclusive control of said pension fund with the authority under section 7879, G. C., supra, to invest said fund in the securities therein mentioned, to make payments from such fund for pensions granted in pursuance of the laws relating thereto and to make and establish such rules and regulations for the administration of said fund as they deem best.

It follows that the board of education of the Cincinnati city school district is without authority in law to pass the proposed resolution above set forth and marked "Exhibit B." Moreover, I am of the opinion that in view of the foregoing provisions of the statutes and in the absence of any provision of the statutes, governing the administration and control of said fund, requiring or even authorizing said board of trustees to provide a depository for said fund, said board is without authority in law to pass such a resolution for the purpose of relieving the clerk-treasurer as custodian of said fund of any and all liability incident to the care and custody of moneys belonging to such fund.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1729.

STATE HIGHWAY COMMISSIONER—CONTRACTS MADE BY SUCH OFFICER ARE NOT REQUIRED TO BE APPROVED BY COUNTY COMMISSIONERS ALTHOUGH COUNTY CO-OPERATES IN MAKING IMPROVEMENT.

Contracts made by the state highway department are not required to be approved by the county commissioners of the county in which the work is to be done, even in those cases in which the county is co-operating in the making of the improvement.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 24, 1916.

HON. CLINTON COWEN, State Highway Commissioner, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of June 17, 1916, which communication reads as follows:

"Under date of March 24 th this department, after the usual preliminary proceedings, received bids for the construction of section 'K' of the National road, I. C. H. No. 1, M. M., No. IV, in Guernsey county, the estimated cost of the work being $109,297.15.

"The lowest bid for this work was submitted by W. H. Young Company, the amount of the bid being $96,150.15, the Illinois Surety Company signing form of proposal and contract bond as surety for the W. H. Young Company.

"Our form of contract, in addition to the signature of the state highway commissioner with the proper attestation, and the signature of the contractor, provides for the approval of such contract by the county commissioners of the county in which the improvement is to be made. A form of contract signed by W. H. Young Company, by W. H. Young, and not bearing the signature of the state highway commissioner, was sent to the county commissioners of Guernsey county for their approval. Their response to our request is dated April 21st, and reads as follows:

"'Hon. Clinton Cowen, Columbus, Ohio.

"'Dear Sir:—In the matter of the contract on the construction of the section K of the National road, Pet. No. 2397, I. C. H. No. 1, Guernsey county, Ohio.

"'In reply to yours of the 20th of April: The board of commissioners would reply that the board cannot concur in the award of this contract to the W. H. Young Company, at their bid of $96,160.15 because it has reasons to believe that this company would be unable to successfully construct the improvement in accordance with specifications and in a workmanlike manner.

"'We further would respectfully request that the contract be awarded to Gray Bros., of Bowling Green, Ohio, at their bid of $105,000.00 if your investigation on the responsibility of the firm and the general reputation for road building is such as to justify your so doing. Or, if not, to proceed to re-advertise for bids on the same at your earliest possible date.

(Signed) "'T. C. White, County Auditor.

"'By order of the county commissioners of Guernsey county, Ohio.'

"Pursuant to the request of the county commissioners, this department re-advertised this work and received bids again on May 5, 1916, at which time the W. H. Young Company, bidding at $105,541.13, were the sole bidders. The proposal and contract bond submitted in connection with this bid is signed by both the Maryland Casualty Company and the National Surety Company.

"This bid and form of contract was also submitted to the county commissioners of Guernsey county for their approval with the signature of the W. H. Young Company, by W. H. Young, and without the signature of the state highway commissioner, and they again request that the work be re-advertised as shown by copy of their letter attached hereto. I am also attaching hereto copy of my answer as to June 8th, and reiterate the opinion therein expressed, viz., that the work should be let to the W. H. Young Company as the season is already far advanced, prices of material and labor are on the rise, Mr. Young assuring me that he will employ practical and competent assistants on this work, and he has furnished what in my notion is a very sound bond.

"I respectfully request an opinion from your office, therefore, as to whether I may proceed and enter into contract with the W. H. Young Company without the approval of the county commissioners of Guernsey county."

The request of the county commissioners that you again re-advertise the work reads as follows:

"At the regular quarterly session of the Guernsey county commissioners: In the matter of section K of the National road.

"It was moved by Mr. Nelson and seconded by Mr. McCracken that the bid of the W. H. Young Company on section K on the National pike, east of the village of Washington, be rejected for the same reason as was incorporated to you in a former letter regarding the bid on the letting of April 7, 1916, it is the desire of this board that you proceed to re-advertise this section for bids at your earliest opportunity.

"On roll call on the above motion the members voted as follows: McBride, yes; McCracken, no; Nelson, yes. The motion was declared carried."

Your answer to the request of the county commissioners, transmitted to them under date of June 8th, reads as follows:

"I beg to asknowledge receipt of your favor of June 7th in regard to awarding the contract for the improvement of section K of the National pike east of Washington to the W. H. Young Company.

"Mr. Young has been able to furnish what appears to be adequate bond, and has given me assurance that he will be associated with practical and experienced assistants. This work has already been repeatedly delayed, and has been the cause of considerable criticism on this department and the county officials.

"If we re-advertise, we might not be any better off than we are with the W. H. Young Company, who have given me assurance that the work will be pushed vigorously and continuously until it has been completed.

"It is my opinion that we should award the contract to said company and not re-advertise as the season is already getting late."

I have carefully examined all the provisions of law relating to the activities of your department, and find no statutory provision to the effect that the contracts of your department are to be approved by the county commissioners of the county in which the work is to be done, even in those cases in which the county is co-operating in the making of the improvement. After the county commissioners, acting under authority of section 1200, G. C., have adopted the surveys, maps, plans, profiles, specifications and estimates for the proposed improvement, caused to be made by you and transmitted to the commissioners with your certificate of approval endorsed thereon, and after the county commissioners have provided that the highway in question be constructed under the provisions of chapter VIII of the Cass highway law and have, under authority of section 1218, G. C., made a written agreement to assume in the first instance that part of the cost and expense of said improvement, over and above the amount to be paid by the state, they have completely exhausted their authority in the premises and their approval of a contract subsequently made by you for the construction of the improvement, is not required, and such approval adds nothing to the validity of the proceedings.

Your inquiry as to whether you may proceed to enter into a contract with the W. H. Young Company, without the approval of the county commissioners of Guernsey county is, therefore, to be answered in the affirmative.

Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,

Attorney-General.

1730.

BOARD OF EDUCATION—BOND ISSUE TO PURCHASE SITE AND ERECT HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING MAY BE SUBMITTED AT SPECIAL OR GENERAL ELECTION—ADDITIONAL TAX FOR HIGH SCHOOL PURPOSES, HOW SUBMITTED—BONDS ISSUED UNDER SECTION 7669, G. C., FOR HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING MUST BE ISSUED BY EACH DISTRICT SEPARATELY AND MAJORITY OF ELECTORS IN EACH DISTRICT MUST APPROVE—LEVY FOR INTEREST AND SINKING FUND—HOW APPORTIONED—SITE PURCHASED BY BOARDS OF EDUCATION OF SEVERAL UNITED DISTRICTS—LIMITATIONS OF LEVY FOR INTEREST AND SINKING FUND DISCUSSED.

The question of issuing bonds for the purpose of purchasing a site and erecting a high school building, as authorized by section 7669, G. C., may be submitted at a special election called for that purpose or at a regular or general election.

When the question of issuing bonds is submitted pursuant to sections 7669 and 7625, G. C., it is not required that in addition thereto there shall be submitted the question of levying additional tax for high school purposes, pursuant to sections 5649-5 and 5649-5a, G. C.

Bonds authorized by section 7669, G. C., to be issued for the purpose of purchasing a site and erecting a high school building, must be issued by each district separately and issue must be approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon in each district in which the question is submitted.

The levy for interest and sinking fund must be in proportion to the amount of bonds issued in each of the several united districts.

The site should be purchased and the high school building erected by the boards of education of the several united districts.

The levy for interest and sinking fund for the payment of bonds issued pursuant to section 7669, G. C., may be without the five mill limitation of section 5649-3a, G. C., but is within the fifteen mill limitation prescribed in section 5649-3b, G. C., 103 O. L., 57.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 26, 1916.

HON. HUGH F. NEUHART, Prosecuting Attorney, Caldwell, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Yours under date of April 29, 1916, is as follows:

"The boards of education of two adjoining rural school districts by a majority vote of the full membership of each board have united such districts for high school purposes under section 7669 of the General Code.

"It is now necessary to purchase a site and erect a building.

"1. May bonds be issued under this section by submitting the question to the voters at a special election for that purpose, or must a vote be taken at a general election for an additional tax levy for high school purposes before the bonds may be issued?

"2. If bonds may be issued under this section without first submitting the question of the tax levy to the voters, will the bond issue be an issue of the joint district and must the vote carry in each district?

"3. If the bonds may be issued after submission to the electors at a special election will the levy for the sinking fund and interest be made in the proportion as provided under section 7671?

"4. Does the control of the purchase of land and the letting of the contract for the building vest in the committee provided for by section 7670?

"5. May the levy for the sinking fund and interest on bonds issued under section 7669 by either of the above methods be in excess of the 5 mill limitation for school purposes?"

Section 7669, G. C., 104 O. L., 229, to which you refer in your first inquiry, provides as follows:

"The boards of education of two or more adjoining rural school districts, or of a rural and village school district by a majority vote of the full membership of each board, may unite such districts for high school purposes. Each board also may submit the question of levying a tax on the property in their respective districts, for the purpose of purchasing a site and erecting a building, and issue bonds, as is provided by law in case of erecting or repairing school houses; but such question of tax levy must carry in each district before it shall become operative in either. If such boards have sufficient money in the treasury to purchase a site and erect such building, or if there is a suitable building in either district owned by the board of education that can be used for a high school building it will not be necessary to submit the proposition to vote, and the boards may appropriate money from their funds for this purpose."

The first branch of your first question is: May bonds be issued under section 7669, G. C., by submitting the question at a special election.

It will be noted that by said section it is specifically provided:

"Each board also may * * * issue bonds, as is provided by law in case of erecting or repairing school houses."

I find that the provision for issuing bonds in case of erecting or repairing school houses is made in section 7625, G. C., 102 O. L., 419, as follows:

"When the board of education of any school district determines that for the proper accommodation of the schools of such district it is necessary to purchase a site or sites to erect a school house or houses, to complete a partially built school house, to enlarge, repair or furnish a school house, or to purchase real estate for playground for children, or to do any or all of such things, that the funds at its disposal or that can be raised under the provisions of sections seventy-six hundred and twenty-nine and seventy-six hundred and thirty, are not sufficient to accomplish the purpose, and that a bond issue is necessary, the board shall make an estimate of the probable amount of money required for such purpose or purposes and at a general election or special election called for that purpose, submit to the electors of the district the question of the issuing of bonds for the amount so estimated. Notices of the election required herein shall be given in the manner provided by law for school elections."

Here it is specifically provided that the question of issuing bonds in the case referred to may be submitted at a general election or special election called for that purpose. This provision is clearly adopted by reference by the provision of section 7669, G. C., 104 O. L., 225, above referred to, and it therefore follows that the question of issuing bonds, pursuant to the provisions of said section last mentioned, may be submitted at a special election called for that purpose, or at a general election.

The separate branches of your first question are somewhat confusing in that the first branch refers to the submission of the question of issuing bonds, while the second branch refers to the submission of the question of levying a tax. The conduct of elections is subject solely to statutory control and special elections may be held in those cases only in which there is special statutory provision and authority therefor. There is no provision in section 7669, G. C., supra, for holding a special election for the submission of the question of levying a tax as therein authorized, nor does section 7625, G. C., supra, the provisions of which are adopted by reference as to the question of issuing bonds, contain any provision at all as to the submission of the question of levying a tax in any case. I am therefore of opinion, in answer to the alternative question contained in your inquiry that the question of levying a tax authorized by section 7669, G. C., to be submitted, may be submitted only at a regular or general November election.

The tax levy authorized by section 7669, G. C., supra, is distinct from that authorized by section 5649-5, G. C., provision for the submission of which is made in section 5649-5a, G. C., in that the former is for the special purpose of purchasing a site and erecting a building and may be used for that purpose alone while the latter may be used for general school purposes.

The condition by which your second inquiry is introduced is in no way material to the question submitted. It may be observed in passing, however, that bonds may not be issued pursuant to section 7669, G. C., above referred to, without submitting the question to a vote of the electors, as provided in section 7625, G. C., et seq.

Whether the bond issue authorized by section 7669, G. C., supra, is a joint issue or the obligation of the entire united district is not without difficulty, but reading the section as a whole and in view of the specific provision for separate action of the several boards in effecting a union of the districts for high school purposes, the absence of provision for joint action of the boards in respect to any matter relating to such united districts, and the further provision where a tax levy is authorized to be submitted, that each board must submit the same and the requirement that it carry in each district before it shall become operative in either, I am inclined to the view that the bond issue authorized by said section 7669, G. C., is not a joint issue of the several united districts, but on the contrary such bonds may be issued only by the several districts, and it therefore follows that the same must be approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon in each of the districts in which the question of issuing such bonds is submitted.

Again in your third question, the condition precedent incorporated is wholly immaterial to the question submitted.

Coming to conisder the question of whether the levy for the sinking fund and interest must be made in the proportion as provided by section 7671, G. C., in case of a bond issue under section 7669, G. C., attention is called to section 11 of article XII of the Constitution, adopted September, 1912, as follows:

> "No bonded indebtedness of the state, or any political subdivisions thereof, shall be incurred or renewed, unless, in the legislation under which such indebtedness is incurred or renewed, provision is made for levying and collecting annually by taxation an amount sufficient to pay the interest on said bonds, and to provide a sinking fund for their final redemption at maturity."

From the plain terms of this constitutional provision, it follows that in those districts in which it is proposed to issue bonds under section 7669, G. C., provision must be made in the resolution authorizing the submission of the question for levying and collecting annually a tax sufficient to pay the interest on said bonds, and to provide a sinking fund for their redemption at maturity. So that the levy for interest and sinking fund purposes in the several districts which issue bonds pursuant to section 7669, G. C., will in every case of necessity be in proportion to the amount of bonds issued by such district for the purpose of erecting the building and purchasing the site, as provided in said section.

Sections 7661 and 7662, G. C., 104 O. L., 225, refer only to the maintenance and support of the high school of such united districts and have no application to the purchasing of a site or the erection of a building for high school purposes, as authorized in said section 7669, G. C., supra.

The authority of the committee referred to in your fourth inquiry is found in section 7670, G. C., which provides in part as follows:

> "Any high school so established shall be under the management of a high school committee, consisting of two members of each of the boards creating such joint districts, elected by a majority vote of such boards. Their membership of such committee shall be for the same term as their terms on the boards which they respectively represent."

It will be noted that it is the authority for the management only of a high school so established that is here conferred on the high school committee authorized to be elected. It would be difficult to maintain that a high school had been established prior to the erection of a building or the letting of the contract therefor. The election of the members of such committee devolves upon the boards of education of the districts and until a high school is so established within the contemplation of section 7670, supra, no duty to elect members of such committee is imposed and I am not inclined to believe that mandamus would lie to compel the election of such members until a building has been provided for such school. That is to say, until the districts have been united and the building erected pursuant to section 7669, G. C., a high school may not be said to be established within the contemplation of the provisions of said section 7670, G. C. I am therefore of opinion, in answer to your fourth question, that there is no authority in the committee chosen pursuant to section 7670, G. C., to purchase a site or let a contract for the erection of a building, and that the site must be procured and the building erected by the boards of education of the several united districts.

Your fifth inquiry involves a consideration of that part of section 5649-3a, G. C., which is as follows:

> "The local tax levy for all school purposes shall not exceed in any one year five mills on the dollar of valuation of taxable property in any school district. Such limits for * * * school levies shall be exclusive of any special levy, provided for by a vote of the electors. * * *"

The levy for purchasing a site and erecting a building here under consideration, having been authorized or approved by a vote of the electors, comes clearly within the class defined in the above exception to the five mill limitation, and I am therefore of opinion, in answer to your fifth inquiry, that the necessary levy for payment therein referred to may be outside of the five mill limitation on the levy for school purposes found in said section 5649-3a, G. C., but must be within the fifteen mill limitation prescribed by section 5649-3b, G. C., 103 O. L., 57.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1731.

SPENCERVILLE ARMORY—CONTRACT AND BOND FOR COMPLETION OF SAME, APPROVED.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 27, 1916.

HON. BYRON L. BARGAR, Secretary, Ohio State Armory Board, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Under date of June 14th you advised me as follows:

"Pursuant to your opinion of February 5, 1916, the board duly advertised for four consecutive weeks for bids for the completion of Sereff Bros.' defaulted contract for construction of the Spencerville armory. In accordance with said advertisement, it received the bids described in the following copy of its proceedings on the date of June 8, 1916:

"'SPENCERVILLE ARMORY: The board had received previous to 12 o'clock noon of this date four proposals for completion of Spencerville armory pursuant to previous resolution and legal advertisement for said bids. At 12:05 said bids were opened and found to be as follows:

"'Fred E. Fletcher, Columbus, complete bid (using fan)_____$4,410.50
"'Fred E. Fletcher, Columbus, complete bid (not using fan)____ 4,705.50
"'(A certified check for $100 accompanied said bid.)
"'Geo. S. Kline, Sidney, complete bid (using fan)_____ 5,849.90
"'Geo. S. Kline, Sidney, complete bid (not using fan)_____ 5,649.90
"'(A certified check for $100 accompanied said bid.)
"'H. I. Williams, Dayton Construction Co., complete bid (using fan) _____ 5,970.00
"'H. I. Williams, Dayton Construction Co., complete bid (not using fan) _____ 6,300.00
"'(A certified check for $120 accompanied said bid.)
"'The Clemmer & Johnson Co., Hicksville, complete bid (not using fan) _____ 5,095.00
"'(A certified check for $110 accompanied said bid.)

"'After opening bids, the board recessed for lunch and reassembled at 1:15 p. m.

"'SPENCERVILLE ARMORY CONTINUED: RESOLVED, That the bid of Fred E. Fletcher for completion of the general contract abandoned by Sereff Bros., by furnishing both labor and material and fully completing said contract, not using fan vento coils, and radiators and marked "Property of Plikerd Bros." for the sum of $4,705.50, being the lowest bid received today for said work, and being regularly filed according to law, be and hereby is accepted and contract awarded accordingly on the condition that this acceptance and award be approved by the attorney-general. That the contract bond to be provided by said Fred E. Fletcher shall be in the sum of $2,330.00.'

"By your direction, we have prepared the contract with the lowest bidder with attached 'Summary of Work to be Done,' to complete the Spencerville armory and have secured a contract bond from the proposed contractor, who is the lowest bidder.

"Said proposed contract is herewith forwarded in triplicate with said bond in duplicate. Proof of publication of said advertisement for bids is also herewith enclosed.

"Please advise whether or not the contract and bond are approved by you as required by law."

Enclosed with your letter were the proposed contract in triplicate and contract bond; also proof of publication of the advertisement for bids.

Under section 5258, G. C., the board is required to advertise for sealed bids for the erection of such armory by publication "in at least one newspaper in the city or county in which the armory is to be erected."

From the papers submitted I note that you have complied with the provisions of the above statute in advertising for bids for the completion of the Spencerville armory, and the advertisement made in the Republican Gazette of Allen county, as submitted, is a legal advertisement.

I have examined the contract and bond submitted and find the same to be in accordance with law, and have ascertained from the auditor of state's office that there is available for the purposes of the completion of this contract an amount of money sufficient to meet the price called for therein.

The drawings and specifications and summary of work to be done should be identified by the signatures of the parties before the delivery of the contract to the contractor, and as soon as this is done the same should be filed with the auditor of state.

I am returning to you herewith the copies of the contract and bond, and also the legal advertisement submitted by you.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1732.

CONSTRUCTION OF PHRASE "IMPROVED ROADS" AS FOUND IN SECTION 13421-12, G. C.—APPLIES TO GRAVELED ROADS—WHAT CONSTITUTES AN OFFENSE UNDER ABOVE SECTION—DESTRUCTION OF HIGHWAYS.

Section 13421-12, G. C., applies to graveled roads. The expression "any political subdivision thereof" occurring in section 13421-12, G. C., is meant to include the political subdivisions of the state authorized to construct or improve roads, to wit: Townships, counties and municipalities. In order to constitute an offense under section 13421-12, G. C., it is not only necessary that a traction engine with tires or wheels, equipped with lugs, spikes, chains or other projections, be driven over an improved highway, but it is also necessary that such lugs, spikes, chains or other projections be seriously destructive to the highway.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 27, 1916.

HON. ADDISON P. MINSHALL, Prosecuting Attorney, Chillicothe, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of June 14, 1916, which communication reads as follows:

> "In Ross county there are quite a number of persons engaged in the business of threshing. There are also in Ross county paved, concreted and other modern roads. Section 289 of the Cass Road Laws provides as follows:
>
> "'Whoever drives over the improved highways of the state, or any political subdivision thereof, a traction engine with tires or wheels equipped with lugs, spikes, chains or other projections seriously destructive to such highways, or by any other means damages such highways, shall be fined for each offense not less than ten dollars nor more than two hundred dollars.'

"Does this section apply to graveled roads?

"What is the meaning of the phrase 'or any political subdivision thereof?'

"Would a person driving over any road, coming within the provisions of this law, a traction engine equipped with lugs, spikes, chains or other projections be guilty of a misdemeanor unless it were proven that such lugs, etc., were damaging the highway?"

If graveled roads are to be regarded as improved highways, then section 289 of the Cass Highway Law, section 13421-12, G. C., must be taken as applying to the same. I think there is no doubt but that a graveled road is to be regarded as an improved highway.

Without attempting a general definition of the term "improved highways," occurring in section 13421-12, G. C., it may safely be said that a road upon which has been placed an artificial surface or a surface composed of material not present in the natural state of the road, said material being placed thereon for the purpose of making the surface more substantial, even and easy for travel, is an improved road within the meaning of the statute. I therefore advise you, in answer to your first question, that section 13421-12, G. C., applies to graveled roads.

Replying to your second question, it is my opinion that the expression "or any political subdivision thereof," occurring in the section in question, is used in its ordinary signification and is meant to include the political subdivisions of the state authorized to construct or improve roads, to wit: Counties, townships and municipalities.

Your third question is to be answered by reference to the language of the section in question, and in order to constitute an offense under this section it is not only necessary that a traction engine, with tires or wheels equipped with lugs, spikes, chains or other projections be driven over an improved highway, but it is also necessary that such lugs, spikes, chains or other projections be seriously destructive to the highway.

I therefore advise you that a conviction under this section would not be warranted unless it be averred in the indictment or affidavit that the lugs, spikes, chains or other projections were seriously destructive to the highway, and unless such fact be proven at the trial.

Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,

Attorney-General.

1733.

APPROVAL, SALE OF CERTAIN ABANDONED OHIO CANAL PROPERTY IN MADISON TOWNSHIP, LICKING COUNTY AND HOCKING CANAL IN VILLAGE OF LOGAN, HOCKING COUNTY.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 27, 1916.

HON. FRANK R. FAUVER, Superintendent of Public Works, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of June 8, 1916, transmitting to me duplicate copies of a resolution providing for the private sale of certain abandoned Ohio canal property in Madison township, Licking county, to The Newark Suburban Realty Company of Newark, Ohio, for the sum of $500.00, and also duplicate copies of a resolution providing for the private sale of eighty square feet of the abandoned Hocking canal in the village of Logan, Hocking county, Ohio, to E. A. Moore, for the sum of $25.00.

I find these resolutions to be in regular form and to contain the proper recitals of jurisdictional facts, and I am therefore returning the same with my signature attached to the duplicate copies thereof. Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1734.

APPROVAL, SALE OF CERTAIN CANAL LANDS IN VILLAGE OF NEWBURGH HEIGHTS, CUYAHOGA COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 27, 1916.

HON. FRANK R. FAUVER, Superintendent of Public Works, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of June 10, 1916, transmitting to me duplicate copies of a resolution providing for the private sale of certain canal lands in the village of Newburgh Heights, Cuyahoga county, Ohio, to The American Steel & Wire Co., for the sum of $350.00.

I find this resolution to be in regular form and to contain the necessary recitals of jurisdictional facts, and I am therefore returning the same with my signature attached to the duplicate copies thereof.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1735.

APPROVAL, FORM LEASES OF RESERVOIR LANDS AT INDIAN LAKE AND ST. MARYS.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 27, 1916.

HON. FRANK R. FAUVER, Superintendent of Public Works, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of June 23, 1916, transmitting to me for examination the following leases of canal lands:

	"Valuation.
"To The Russell Point Amusement Co., land at Indian Lake	$1,666.66
"To Jacob L. Wust, cottage site at Lake St. Marys	300.00
"To H. G. Barrington, cottage site at Lake St. Marys	166.66
"To Helen Colgan, cottage site at Lake St. Marys	166.66"

I find these leases to be in regular form and am, therefore, returning the same with my approval endorsed thereon. Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1736.

APPROVAL OF CERTAIN LEASES FOR OHIO AND HOCKING CANAL LANDS AND ST. MARYS RESERVOIR LANDS.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 27, 1916.

HON. FRANK R. FAUVER, Superintendent of Public Works, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of June 8, 1916, transmitting to me for examination the following leases of canal lands:

"Price McKinney, canal lands at Cleveland	$11,700.00
"The Buckeye Pipe Line Co., for abandoned Ohio canal lands	200.00
"The Buckeye Pipe Line Co., for abandoned Hocking canal lands	200.00
"Albert M. Koch, St. Marys reservoir land	166.66
"Roy E. Layton, Lake St. Marys reservoir land	300.00
"H. S. Vaubel, one-half lot Lake St. Marys	166.66
"E. D. Hancock and Ford Hancock, lands at Akron	4,500.00
"C. T. Kolter, one-half cottage site, Lake St. Marys	166.66
"Jacob F. Seitz, cottage site, Lake St. Marys	300.00
"Lewis Stout, cottage site, Lake St. Marys	300.00
"Charles E. Speck, half cottage site, Lake St. Marys	166.66"

I find these leases to be in regular form and am therefore returning the same with my approval endorsed upon the triplicate copies thereof.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1737.

APPROVAL, SALE OF CERTAIN CANAL LANDS IN CITY OF AKRON, TO FRANK C. HOWLAND.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 27, 1916.

HON. FRANK R. FAUVER, Superintendent of Public Works, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of June 22, 1916, transmitting to me a record of your proceedings relating to the sale of certain canal lands in the city of Akron, Summit county, Ohio, to Frank C. Howland, for a consideration of $4,200.00, and described as follows, to wit:

> "Situate in the City of Akron, Summit county, Ohio, and beginning at a point in the south line of Buchtel avenue, in the city of Akron, Summit county, Ohio, that is 478.80 feet west of Main street, measured along the present southerly line of said Buchtel avenue: thence north 62° 25′ west, parallel to the center line of Buchtel avenue and 30 feet therefrom, 27.50 feet to an iron pin; thence south 9° 47′ east parallel to and 12 feet easterly from the base line of the state canal survey, 20 feet to an iron pin on the south line of Buchtel avenue, as originally laid out ninety-nine (99) feet wide; thence south 3° 48′ west, parallel to and 12 feet easterly from said base line 277.50 feet to a point that is 12 feet east of the base line referred to above; thence south 8° 20′ west 82 feet to a point in the north line of Exchange street in said city, which point is south 62° 22′ east, 12.70 feet from the point where the base line of the state canal survey crosses the north line of Exchange street, which point is also 360.6 feet west of the northwest corner of Main and Exchange streets, measured along the north line of Exchange street; thence south 62° 22′ east along the north line of Exchange street 18.30 feet; thence along the east line of land claimed by the state of Ohio, north 6° 8′ east, 356.50 feet to the place of beginning and containing 7,050 square feet, more or less."

I find that your proceedings have been conducted in accordance with the provisions of the statutes, and I am therefore returning the record of proceedings with my approval of the sale endorsed thereon.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1738.

TREASURER OF STATE—NOT AUTHORIZED TO ACCEPT LEGALLY ISSUED BONDS OF SCHOOL DISTRICTS IN LIEU OF CASH DEPOSIT PROVIDED UNDER SECTION 9778, G. C., FOR TRUST COMPANIES.

Treasurer of state is not authorized to accept legally issued bonds of school districts in lieu of a cash deposit under the provisions of section 9778, G. C.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 28, 1916.

HON. R. W. ARCHER, Treasurer of State, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your letter of June 27th in which you request my opinion as follows:

"We are in receipt of the following communication from The Tillotson & Wolcott Company, of Cleveland, Ohio:

"'Kindly advise us if the legally issued bonds of school districts are acceptable under the provisions of section 9778, of the code.'

"The statute is silent with reference as to whether we can use the kind of bonds that these people ask us to accept. We would, therefore, be pleased to have your official opinion with reference to the matter. A prompt reply will be highly appreciated."

Section 9778 of the General Code, referred to in your letter, is as follows:

"No such corporation either foreign or domestic shall accept trusts which may be vested in, transferred or committed to it by an individual, or court, until its paid in capital is at least one hundred thousand dollars, and until such corporation has deposited with the treasurer of state in cash fifty thousand dollars if its capital is two hundred thousand dollars or less, and one hundred thousand dollars if its capital is more than two hundred thousand dollars, except that, the full amount of such deposit by such corporation may be in bonds of the United States, or of this state, or any municipality or county therein, or in any other state, or in the first mortgage bonds of any railroad corporation that for five years last past paid dividends of at least three per cent. on its common stock."

In opinion No. 1314, which I gave you on March 3, 1916, I advised you that the provisions of section 9778 of the General Code, authorizing you to accept certain specified bonds in lieu of a cash deposit should be strictly construed. Although the legally issued bonds of a school district in Ohio are ordinarily considered to be securities of as high a character as municipal or county bonds, yet the legislature has not seen fit to authorize you to accept them by the provisions of said section 9778.

I therefore advise you that you are not authorized to accept legally issued bonds of school districts under said section 9778 of the General Code above quoted.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1739.

VETERINARY MEDICINE—FORM OF INDICTMENT FOR ILLEGAL PRACTICE OF SAME.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 28, 1916.

HON. ALLEN T. WILLIAMSON, Prosecuting Attorney, Marietta, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—In yours received June 22, 1916, you request that I submit a form of indictment for the prosecution of the illegal practice of veterinary medicine in violation of section 13382 of the General Code, in reply to which the following general form is suggested:

That _____, late of _____ _____ county, on the _____ day of _____, in the year of our Lord, 19__, at said county of _____, state of Ohio, did knowingly, wilfully and unlawfully engage in the practice of veterinary medicine in the state of Ohio, without having first complied with the provisions of sections 1177-17 and 1177-18, of the General Code of Ohio, as amended by the act passed April 21, 1915, 106 O. L., at page 165, in this, that at the time and place aforesaid, he, the said _____, did for a fee and compensation, to wit: the sum of_____ ($_____) dollars, prescribe, direct, advise, recommend, administer and dispense, for the cure and relief of a disease of an animal, to wit: a horse, then and there belonging to one _____, a certain drug, medicine and treatment, the exact name and character of which is unknown, put up in _____ form and incased in (here describe the vessel, bottle, box or case in which said drug, medicine or treatment was contained), upon the outside of which said (vessel, bottle or case), then and there containing said medicine, drug and treatment, put up in _____ form, as aforesaid, he, the said _____, then and there wrote and signed his name to a certain prescription and direction and he, the said _____, then and there annexed and appended the letter (set out letters or titles named in section 1127-20, 106 O. L., 166), to his said name so written under and signed to said prescription and directions, as aforesaid, which said prescription and directions are in the words and figures following, to wit:

(Here set forth the prescription and directions.)

The name and composition of said drug, medicine and treatment is to the grand jurors aforesaid unknown and was by the said _____ prescribed, advised, recommended and administered, as aforesaid, for the cure and relief of a bodily infirmity and disease of the aforesaid animal owned by _____, as aforesaid, the name and nature of which bodily infirmity and disease is to the grand jurors aforesaid unknown; he, the said _____ at the time aforesaid, not having first obtained, in the manner required by law, a certificate from the said board of veterinary examiners of the state of Ohio, entitling him to practice veterinary medicine and surgery within the state of Ohio, as required by said sections 1177-17 and 1177-18 of the General Code of Ohio, as amended in 106 O. L., at page 165, and he, the said _____, at the time aforesaid, not then and there being entitled, qualified and authorized under the laws of the state of Ohio to engage in the practice of veterinary medicine and surgery within the state of Ohio, the prescription, direction, advice, recommendation, administration and dispensation of said drug, medicine and treatment for the cure and relief of a disease of an animal, to wit: A horse as aforesaid, and none nor all of the said services and acts of the said _____ _____ aforesaid then and there being in a case, or cases of emergency, and none nor all of the aforesaid acts of the said _____ then and there consisting of or constituting animal castration or the dehorning of cattle, contrary to the statute in such case made and provided and against the peace and dignity of the state of Ohio.

You will observe that the practice of veterinary medicine and surgery is now defined by statute, section 1127-20, G. C., 106 O. L., 166, in a similar manner to the general practice of medicine and surgery as found in section 1286 of the General Code, so that an indictment for a prosecution under the provisions of section 13382 of the General Code, should be made to conform to the statutory definition of the practice of veterinary medicine and surgery, above referred to, as well as to the provisions of sections 1177-17 and 1177-18 of the General Code, as amended in 106 O. L., at page 165, hereinbefore referred to.

With these observations it is believed you will have no difficulty in adapting the form above suggested to the facts of the particular case before you.

Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,

Attorney-General.

1740.

BOARD OF EMBALMING EXAMINERS—REQUIREMENTS FOR LICENSE —FIXING AGE LIMITATION IS WITHOUT FORCE AND EFFECT.

The requirements for license to engage in the practice of embalming fixed by law are specific and the action of the Ohio state board of embalming examiners in fixing an age limitation is without force and effect.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 28, 1916.

The Ohio State Board of Embalming Examiners, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—Your request for an opinion is as follows:

"Will you kindly give us your written opinion upon the following question?

"On October 7, 1905, the Ohio state board of embalming examiners, at a meeting held on that day, took the following action:

"'Moved by Jones, and seconded by Krupp, that all applicants for embalmers' licenses in the state of Ohio shall be at least twenty-one years of age. Carried.'

"Is the above action of the board legal?

"Our reason for submitting the question is that one, G. E. C., made application upon the form provided by the board for an embalmer's license. In said application he stated as follows:

"'I was born 4th day of August, 1894. I am twenty-one years old.'

"The said G. E. C. took the examination and passed, and received a license on October 9, 1915. It now develops that said G. E. C. was born August 4, 1896.

"In view of the fact that the applicant in his application stated that he was twenty-one years of age, which statement was not true, and on said application and examination a license was issued to him, has the board any power in regard thereto at the present time?"

Sections 1341, 1342 and 1343 of the General Code are as follows:

"Sec. 1341. For use in the examination of persons who desire to engage in the practice of embalming and the preparation and disposal of the dead in this state, the state board of embalming examiners shall prepare a list of questions on the following subjects:

"(a) Visceral anatomy and vascular system of the human body.

"(b) The action and comparative value of germicides.

"(c) The methods of embalming and of preparing bodies for transportation.

"(d) The meaning of 'contagion,' 'infection,' the dangers they beget, and the best methods of their restriction and arrest, and bacteriology in relation to contagion and infection.

"(e) The signs of death and the manner in which they are determined.

"(f) Practical demonstrations on a cadaver.

"Sec. 1342. A person desiring to engage in the practice of embalming or in the preparation of the dead for interment, cremation or transportation, shall make an application in writing to the secretary of the state board of embalming examiners for a license and pay a license fee of five dollars. Such applicant shall also appear before the board and pass an examination on the subjects named in the preceding section.

"Sec. 1343. If the state board of embalming examiners finds that the applicant possesses a good moral character and has passed a satisfactory examination in such subjects, it shall register such applicant as a duly licensed embalmer. The license shall be signed by the president and secretary of the board and attested by its seal. The person to whom a license is issued shall register it with the board of health of the city, village or township in which he proposes to practice. He shall also display such license in a conspicuous place in his office and annually thereafter on or before the date fixed by the state board pay to the secretary thereof one dollar for its renewal."

As a preliminary to taking an examination to qualify as a licensed embalmer it is provided in section 1342 of the General Code, supra, that the applicant shall make an application in writing and pay a license fee of five dollars. He is then qualified to enter the examination which is to be given on the subjects set out in section 1341 of the General Code, supra.

If he passes the examination in a manner satisfactory to the board he is subject to the further requirement that he must possess a good moral character. If he meets the requirements referred to he is entitled to receive a license to operate as an embalmer.

In the enactment of laws governing the right to engage in the practice of various occupations the general assembly has seen fit in some cases to fix an age limitation or to vest the authority in charge of the matter to make rules which might include the fixing of an age limit. However, there is nothing in the law governing the matter under consideration which fixes an age limit nor vests your board with authority to do so.

In the absence of any provision of law authorizing your board to fix an age limit for applicants, the specific conditions governing applications for license to act as embalmers and the course pursued by the general assembly in legislating on similar matters it is my opinion that the action of your board in adding an age limitation was without authority and the action would have no force or effect.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1741.

BOARD OF ADMINISTRATION—CONVICT—NO AUTHORITY FOR ISSUANCE OF CONDITIONAL CERTIFICATE OF RESTORATION.

There is no authority of law for the issuance of a conditional certificate of restoration to a convict in any case, hence a convict released from prison on the expiration of a commuted term of sentence should be granted a certificate of restoration on his compliance with the provisions of section 2161, G. C.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 29, 1916.

HON. FRANK B. WILLIS, Governor of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

MY DEAR GOVERNOR:—Your request for an opinion is as follows:

"Your official opinion is requested respecting the following:

"A conditional pardon is issued to a prisoner in the Ohio penitentiary and he is discharged by reason of such pardon. Can a conditional certificate of restoration be issued to him?"

Sections 99 and 12390 of the General Code are as follows:

"Section 99. A pardon or commutation of sentence may be granted upon such conditions as the governor may impose, which shall be stated in the warrant; but such pardon or commutation shall not take effect until the conditions so imposed are accepted by the convict and his acceptance indorsed upon the warrant, signed by him, and attested by one witness. In case of commutation of sentence, such witness shall go before the clerk of the court in whose office the sentence is recorded and prove the signature of the convict. The clerk shall thereupon record the warrant, endorsement, and proof in the journal of the court, which record, or a certified transcript thereof, shall be evidence of such commutation, the conditions thereof, and the acceptance of the conditions.

"Section 12390. A person convicted of felony, unless his sentence is reversed or annulled, shall be incompetent to be an elector or juror, or to hold an office of honor, trust or profit. The pardon of a convict shall effect a restoration of the rights and privileges so forfeited, or they may be restored as provided elsewhere by law, but a pardon shall not release a convict from the costs of his conviction unless so stated therein."

It will be noted from a reading of section 99 of the General Code, supra, that a pardon or commutation of sentence may be granted by the governor on such conditions as he may impose, and under the provisions of section 12390 of the General Code, supra, it is provided that the pardon of a convict shall effect a restoration of the rights and privileges forfeited by him on his conviction, while under the provisions of section 99 of the General Code, supra, what is known as a conditional pardon or commutation may be granted. There is no provision of law providing for the issuance of what you have seen fit to term a "conditional certificate of restoration."

As you have verbally requested that I consider the question of the issuance of a conditional commutation, I have to advise that there is no provision of law which effects the issuance of a certificate of restoration based upon either a conditional or unconditional granting of a commutation. However, your attention is directed to section 2161 of the General Code, which is as follows:

"A convict who has served his entire term without a violation of the rules and discipline * * * shall be restored to the rights and privileges forfeited by his conviction. He shall receive from the governor a certificate of such restoration, to be issued under the great seal of the state, whenever he shall present to the governor a certificate of good conduct which shall be furnished him by the warden."

After a commutation has been granted, whether conditional or unconditonal, the right of the convict to earn the certificate of restoration is dependent upon his record in the penitentiary or reformatory, as before such certificate of restoration is issued it is incumbent upon the convict after his release to present to the governor a certificate of good conduct which shall be furnished by the warden. The only effect of the commutation is to diminish the term of the sentence of the convict.

It will also be noted from a reading of section 2161, General Code, supra, that such certificate of restoration is only to be issued to the convict who has served his entire term. Regardless of the length of the original term for which the convict has been sentenced, there is no question but that after commutation and when a convict has been released under the terms of a commuted sentence by expiration thereof it must be said that he has served his entire term.

Wise public policy demands that one who has paid the penalty imposed by the state for a violation of law be given the full benefit of the law to the end that he may rehabilitate himself, and even though one by his conduct in prison has not earned his certificate of restoration it is provided in section 2162, General Code, that he may have opportunity of earning it on the outside by his conduct.

It is my opinion that there is no warrant of law for the issuance of a conditional certificate of restoration in any case, hence a convict who has served the entire term fixed by a commutation of sentence, conditional or otherwise, is entitled to receive a certificate of restoration on his compliance with the provisions of section 2161 of the General Code, supra.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1742.

MUNICIPAL CORPORATION—SUPERINTENDENT OF WATERWORKS OF CITY HAVING HELD POSITION CONTINUOUSLY FOR MORE THAN SEVEN YEARS PRIOR TO JANUARY 1, 1915, MAY ONLY BE REMOVED BY SECTION 486-17a, 106 O. L., 412—REMOVAL—TEMPORARY APPOINTMENT—HOW MADE.

A superintendent of the waterworks of a city who has held such position continuously for more than seven years prior to January 1, 1915, may only be removed therefrom as provided by section 486-17*a, as amended,* 106 O. L., 412.

No temporary appointment may be made by the mayor to such position until said superintendent is removed therefrom as provided aforesaid and if no eligible list exists from which an appointment may be made, such provisional appointment may only be made as provided by section 486-14, G. C., as amended 106 O. L., 409, aforesaid.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 29, 1916.

Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—I have your letter of June 2, 1916, submitting the following statement of facts and inquiries:

> "The mayor of a city desires to remove the superintendent of the waterworks who has held the position for more than seven years prior to the enactment of the civil service law of May 27, 1915, but has not passed either a competitive or non-competitive examination for such position. There is no eligible list from which to appoint a successor to said superintendent. The following questions arise in connection therewith, upon which we desire your written opinion:
>
> "1. May the mayor make a temporary appointment to the position of superintendent of the waterworks under section 486-14 of the General Code, as amended 106 O. L., 409, without first proceeding to remove the incumbent?
>
> "2. If the mayor cannot make such temporary appointment, may he make an order of removal and remove such superintendent without setting out his reasons therefor, and giving said superintendent time to make explanation as provided in section 486-17a, G. C., 106 O. L., 412, and at the same time make a temporary appointment to said position?

"3. If the mayor may remove such superintendent in the summary manner set out in question No. 2, must he certify such removal to the city civil service commission?

"4. Will such temporary appointee hold until an eligible list is certified by the city civil service commission, or for thirty days only?

"5. If such summary removal cannot be made, we would be pleased to have you outline the proper proceedings that should be observed by the mayor in order to accomplish the legal removal of such superintendent."

The inquiries submitted in your foregoing letter may best be answered by considering first the matter contained in the last inquiry, or, in other words, in determining in what way or manner a mayor may legally remove a superintendent of waterworks in a city.

It appears from the statement accompanying your inquiries that the superintendent of waterworks involved in this inquiry has held his present position for more than seven years prior to January 1, 1915. He, therefore, comes within the provision of section 486-31, G. C., as amended 106 O. L., 418, which provides that:

"All persons who have served the state or any political subdivision thereof continuously and satisfactorily for a period of not less than seven years next preceding January 1, 1915, shall be deemed appointees within the provisions of this act."

Manifestly, therefore, said superintendent under this law is and has been since January 1, 1915, an appointee within the provisions of the civil service law of this state and his position being in the classified service he may only be legally removed therefrom under the provisions of said civil service law in respect to the removal of persons holding positions in the classified service.

This is so because it is provided in section 486-19, G. C., 106 O. L., 414, that:

"The procedure applicable to reductions, suspensions and removals, as provided for in section 486-17 and 486-17a of the General Code, shall govern the civil service of municipalities."

Referring now to section 486-17a, G. C., aforesaid, it provides that:

"The tenure of every officer, employe or subordinate in the classified service of the state, the counties, cities and city school districts thereof, holding a position under the provisions of this act, shall be during good behavior and efficient service; but any such officer, employe or subordinate may be removed for incompetency, inefficiency, dishonesty, drunkenness, immoral conduct, insubordination, discourteous treatment of the public, neglect of duty, violation of the provisions of this act or the rules of the commission, or any other failure of good behavior, or any other acts of misfeasance, malfeasance or nonfeasance in office.

"In all cases of removal the appointing authority shall furnish such employe or subordinate with a copy of the order of removal and his reasons for the same, and give such officer, employe or subordinate a reasonable time in which to make and file an explanation. Such order with the explanation, if any, of the employe or subordinate shall be filed with the commission. Any such employe or subordinate so removed may appeal from the decision or order of such appointing authority to the state or municipal commission, as the case may be, within ten days from and after the date of such removal, in which event the commission shall forthwith notify the appointing authority and shall hear, or appoint a trial board to hear, such appeal within thirty days from and after its filing with the commission, and it may affirm, disaffirm or modify the judgment of the appointing authority, and the commission's decision shall be final; * * *"

The foregoing section prescribes the only legal method or manner whereby removals may be made from positions in the classified service of the state, counties, cities or city school districts, and this section, therefore, furnishes the method or manner whereby said mayor may remove said superintendent of waterworks in the case under consideration. This law requires the mayor when he removes said superintendent to furnish the latter with a copy of his order of removal and his reasons for the same and to give him a reasonable time within which to make and file an explanation. It also requires the mayor to file a copy of his order of removal with the explanation of said superintendent, if any is filed, with the municipal civil service commission. The superintendent will have ten days from and after the date of such removal to appeal from the order of said mayor to said municipal commission and it is made the duty of such commission to hear such appeal within thirty days after its filing and to affirm, disaffirm or modify the judgment of the mayor upon such hearing.

When the mayor has removed the superintendent as prescribed by the foregoing law, he should at once issue a requisition for an eligible list from which to select a successor to said superintendent. Should there be no eligible list available then the mayor may appoint a provisional appointee under authority of section 486-14, G. C., 106 O. L., 409, which provides as follows:

"Whenever there are urgent reasons for filling a vacancy in any position in the classified service and the commission is unable to certify to the appointing officer upon requisition by the latter, a list of persons eligible for appointment after a competitive examination, the appointing officer may nominate a person to the commission for non-competitive examination, and if such nominee shall be certified by the commission as qualified after such non-competitive examination, he may be appointed provisionally to fill such vacancy until a selection and appointment can be made after competitive examination; but such provisional appointment shall continue in force only until regular appointment can be made from eligible lists prepared by the commission, and such eligible lists shall be prepared within ninety days thereafter. In case of an emergency an appointment may be made without regard to the rules of this act, but in no case to continue longer than thirty days, and in no case shall successive appointments be made; * * *"

It will be observed that the foregoing section provides for two classes or kinds of provisional appointments. One to be made after a non-competitive examination and a certification as to qualifications by the civil service commission and the other, known as an emergency appointment, which may be made without regard to the provisions of the civil service act but which appointment may continue only for the period of thirty days and no successive appointments may be made after the expiration of that time. It would seem advisable, therefore, if it becomes necessary to make a provisional appointment, that the mayor should make such appointment in accordance with the first provision named in said section, to wit, an appointment after a non-competitive examination.

The foregoing observations will explain fully the manner and method of accomplishing the legal removal of said superintendent as requested in your last inquiry.

Referring now to your remaining inquiries: In view of the foregoing considerations the first two thereof must be answered in the negative, and in answer to your third, while the mayor may not remove such superintendent in the manner therein suggested, yet when said superintendent is legally removed the mayor must certify the order of removal to the civil service commission as hereinbefore explained.

Your fourth inquiry is sufficiently answered by the observations made herein in reference to the provisions of section 486-14, G. C., aforesaid. That is to say, an emergency appointment for thirty days may continue no longer than that time and is made without regard to any of the provisions of the civil service act, but if a provisional appointment is made under the first clause of said section the appointee may serve until an eligible list is furnished by said civil service commission, which shall be done within ninety days after said provisional appointment was made.

It must further be understood that the foregoing observations do not apply to charter cities which have adopted their own civil service system under their charter.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1743.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS—COMPENSATION AUTHORIZED FOR JOINT COUNTY DITCH WORK—LIMITATIONS—DUTIES MAY BE IMPOSED ALTHOUGH MAXIMUM COMPENSATION FOR YEAR HAS BEEN RECEIVED.

The compensation of county commissioners, of three dollars per day for work on joint county ditches, authorized by the provisions of section 6563-44, G. C., 102 O. L., 575, is subject to the limitations of section 3001, G. C., and the total compensation received pursuant to section 6563-44, G. C., together with the compensation received for all other ditch work may not exceed in any one year the sum of $300.00.

Where the maximum compensation of $300.00 for ditch work in any one year has been received, county commissioners may be compelled to discharge the duties imposed upon them by law in respect to ditches for the remainder of the year without further compensation therefor.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 20, 1916.

HON. B. A. MYERS, Prosecuting Attorney, Celina, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Yours under date of May 12, 1916, is as follows:

> "The following question has been submitted to me by our county commissioners and they have asked that I submit the question to you:
>
> "Can the county commissioners draw fees and expenses above the three hundred ($300.00) dollars amount on ditch work, where such additional work is done on joint county ditches? (That is, is the joint county ditch work included in the three hundred dollars [$300.00] allowance as provided in section 3001 of the General Code?)

"The question has come up because of the excessive rains in this community last year and the great amount of ditch work which followed.

"Our county commissioners have a great deal of ditch work on hand but have already drawn the three hundred dollars ($300.00) for this year. Can they be compelled to do ditch work from now on till the 14th of September, 1916, without pay?"

You first inquire whether county commissioners are entitled to compensation and expenses for ditch work on joint county ditches in addition to their salary and compensation for ditch work provided by section 3001, G. C.

That part of section 3001, G. C., pertinent to your inquiry provides:

"* * * * In counties where ditch work is carried on by the commissioners, in addition to the salary herein provided, each commissioner shall receive three dollars for each day of time he is actually employed in ditch work; the total amount so received for such ditch work not to exceed three hundred dollars in any one year. Such compensation shall be in full payment of all services rendered as such commissioner and shall not in any case exceed four thousand dollars per annum. Such compensation shall be in equal monthly installments from the county treasury upon the warrant of the county auditor."

It will be observed that this provision has reference to "ditch work" without qualification or restriction as to class and there is nothing therein found to suggest a legislative distinction of classes of ditch work in which county commissioners may be employed or which would support the position that the same applies to one class to the exclusion of another. The legislature will be presumed to have been mindful of the different classes of ditch work required of these officers recognized by the statute at the time of the enactment of this provision and in the absence of even a suggestion to the contrary, I am inclined to the view that the phrase "ditch work" includes all classes of ditch work on which county commissioners may be lawfully employed, viz., single county ditches, joint county ditch work under the provisions of sections 6556 to 6563, G. C., inclusive, as well as county ditch work under the provisions of section 6563-1 to 6563-48, G. C, inclusive.

An examination of the history of the provisions of section 3001, G. C., above quoted, discloses that there has been no substantial change in the same except that the maximum compensation of county commissioners was increased from $3,500.00 to $4,000.00 by amendment in 102 O. L., 514, since the original enactment of the salary law of such officers in 97 O. L., 254. That is to say, the $300.00 maximum limitation on the amount of compensation for ditch work in any one year has remained unchanged since its first enactment and was in no way affected by the amendment of the section in which the same is found in 102 O. L., 514, save by the operation of the increase of the maximum total compensation from $3,500.00 to $4,000.00 per annum above referred to. This maximum limitation on the amount of compensation which county commissioners might receive in any one year for ditch work for some years theretofore had been, and was in force at the time of the enactment of section 6563-44, G. C., hereinafter referred to.

The legislature must be presumed to have had in contemplation the existence and operation of the $300.00 limitation long since established in the enactment of section 6563-44, G. C. There is no such irreconcilable inconsistency in the provisions of sections 3001 and 6563-44, G. C., as to sustain a contention for a repeal by implication. Indeed, there is no inconsistency whatever and it requires no strained construction to give full operative force to both. The $300.00 limitation now found in section 3001, G. C., then in full force, at the time of the enactment of section 6563-44, G. C., operated only to effect a modification thereof to the extent of putting the same limitation upon the amount of compensation which might be received in any one year under section 6563-44, G. C., as was already applicable to the compensation which might be received for any and all other ditch work.

A distinct scheme of improvement, construction and location of joint county ditches is provided under sections 6536 and 6563, G. C., as amended in 103 O. L., 836. A careful examination of these sections fails to disclose any provision therein for compensation of county commissioners for ditch work under the scheme therein provided, so that the authority for the payment of compensation of commissioners for ditch work, pursuant to the provisions of the statutes last above referred to is found in said section 3001, G. C., supra. The compensation of commissioners for ditch work done pursuant to those sections of the General Code would, therefore, unquestionably be subject to the limitation provided by section 3001. It is difficult to assign a substantial reason for allowance of compensation for joint county ditch work without limitation when performed under the separate and distinct scheme provided by sections 6563-1, et seq., and the application of the limitation of section 3001, G. C., to such compensation under another scheme where the work is substantially identical.

With the limitations of section 3001, G. C., upon the compensation which the commissioners might then receive in any year for ditch work, then in force and operation, and at least presumably in contemplation thereof, the legislature enacted section 6563-44, G. C., which provides as follows:

> "Said surveyors named in section 8 shall meet with the joint board of county commissioners whenever required by said board and said surveyors and auditors shall be paid their necessary expenses while employed under this act and shall be allowed the same fees as are allowed in ditch work generally and said commissioners shall receive the sum of three dollars a day and their actual expenses while employed under this bill."

The question of whether county commissioners were entitled under the provisions of this section to compensation for ditch work, in adddition to that allowed by section 3001, G. C., supra, was considered by my predecessor, Hon. Timothy S. Hogan, in opinion No. 1365, rendered to the bureau of inspection and supervision of public offices and found at page 1732 of the Report of the Attorney-General for the year 1914, in which it is held that in joint county ditch proceedings, pursuant to sections 6563-1 to 6563-48, G. C., inclusive, the county commissioners may be allowed for their services $3.00 per day and their expenses as provided by section 6563-44, G. C., in addition to their salary and compensation for ditch work provided by section 3001, G. C. This conclusion was reached upon the theory that section 6563-44, was special and controlled to the exclusion of section 3001, G. C., as being a general provision otherwise governing the same subject-matter. While section 3001, G. C., in respect to the limitation on compensation for ditch work may properly be said to be general in character, its manifest purpose was to apply to all these special provisions for compensation for ditch work of all classes as heretofore pointed out. That is to say, section 3001, G. C., makes manifest the general policy and settled purpose of the legislature at the time of its enactment to limit the compensation which may be received for ditch work to $300.00 per annum in all cases.

In discussing the force to be given to such declaration of general policy as to compensation of public officials, the supreme court in the case of State ex rel. v. Stone, 92 O. S., 63, 65, referring to section 2977, G. C., in connection with section 3001, G. C., said:

> "This section, as well as the section following, clearly indicates the settled purpose and fixed plan of the state to pay county officials a fixed lump sum, no matter what additional duties may be imposed upon them from time to time, unless there be a clear purpose to pay further compensation for such duties."

It cannot be maintained that there is found in section 6563-44, or elsewhere in that act, a clear expression of the purpose on the part of the legislature to render its provisions free from modification by operation of section 3001, G. C., and independent of the general policy therein manifest. As before pointed out in this opinion, the general policy of the limitation of the compensation of commissioners for ditch work to $300.00 in any one year, as manifest from the provisions of section 3001, G. C., from the original enactment of the salary law for such officers in 97 O. L., 254, seems incontrovertible.

It must be observed that the enactment of section 6563-44, G. C., supra, was subsequent to the establishment of the general policy of limitation upon the compensation for ditch work, and it is not therein provided in any way that the compensation there authorized and provided shall be in addition to any or all other compensation authorized for ditch work.

The principle applicable to such case is clearly laid down in the second branch of the syllabus in the case of State ex rel. v. Stone, supra, as follows:

> "Such policy of the general assembly should not be overturned or invaded by carrying or re-enacting such impliedly repealed statute in the report of a codifying commission, which is subsequently adopted by the general assembly, or by some subsequent enactment of the general assembly, unless such other statute clearly evinces by appropriate language an intention and purpose to provide 'an additional salary.'"

In view of the rule here laid down by the supreme court and for the reasons above stated, I am compelled to conclude that the compensation authorized by section 6563-44, G. C., as well as that provided by section 6523, G. C., in case of single county ditches, and that provided for ditch work under the provisions of sections 6536 to 6563, G. C., inclusive, is subject to the $300.00 limitation by section 3001, G. C.

The case of State ex rel. v. Stone, supra, had not been decided at the time the opinion of my predecessor above referred to, was rendered and I do not believe that the conclusion therein stated would have been reached in the light of the decision in that case.

Answering specifically your first question, I am, therefore, of opinion that the compensation of county commissioners for ditch work in every case is subject to the limitation of $300.00 per annum, found in section 3001, G. C., as well as by the further limitation therein found of $4,000.00 on the total aggregate compensation of such officers in any one year.

You further inquire if county commissioners may be compelled to do ditch work after the exhaustion of the $300.00 maximum annual compensation therefor, prescribed by section 3001, G. C., without additional compensation.

It is a well established rule of law that public officials are entitled to such compensation only for the performance of official duties as is prescribed by statute and where such duties are imposed by law on public officials and no compensation is provided therefor, the services in the performance thereof are gratuitous, or deemed to have been compensated by fees, salary or perquisites already provided. Clark v. Board of County Commissioners, 58 O. S., 107; In re Lease, 4 C. C., 3: Commissioners v. Williver, 12 C. C., 440.

I am, therefore, of opinion that county commissioners may be compelled to perform services required to be performed in ditch work for the remainder of the official year without additional compensation therefor, where they have already received within the official year the maximum of $300.00 for such ditch work.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1744.

TOWNSHIP BOARDS OF HEALTH—EXPENSES—HOW PAID.

Township boards of health may be allowed expenses incurred in the discharge of duties imposed by Section 4448, G. C., and township trustees have authority under the provisions of section 4451, G. C., to make the necessary appropriations for the payment of such expenses.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 29, 1916.

Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—Your request for an opinion is as follows:

"We would respectfully request your written opinion upon the following question:

"Section 4448, General Code, requires township trustees as boards of health to inspect the sanitary condition of all schools and school buildings within their jurisdiction semi-annually and oftener, if, in their judgment, it be necessary. If said trustees, in the performance of such duty, hire an automobile to make said trip of inspection, may the expense thereof be paid from the township funds?

"If such payments are illegally made, should findings for recovery be made against the trustees by our examiners; i. e., are such illegal expenditures recoverable?"

Section 4448 of the General Code is as follows:

"Semi-annually, and oftener, if in its judgment necessary, the board of health shall inspect the sanitary condition of all schools and school buildings within its jurisdiction, and may disinfect any school building. During an epidemic or threatened epidemic, or when a dangerous communicable disease is unusually prevalent, the board may close any school and prohibit public gatherings for such time as it deems necessary."

Section 3391 of the General Code is as follows:

"In each township the trustees thereof shall constitute a board of health, which shall be for the township outside the limits of any municipality. Each year they shall elect one of their number president and the township clerk shall be clerk of the board of health. They shall appoint a health officer and may appoint as many sanitary officers as they deem necessary to carry out the provisions of this chapter and they shall define the duties and fix the compensation of such appointees who shall serve during the pleasure of the board. Such board of health shall meet annually and at such other times as it deems necessary."

Section 4451 of the General Code is as follows:

"When expenses are incurred by the board of health under the provisions of this chapter, upon application and certificate from such board, the council shall pass the necessary appropriation ordinances to pay the expenses so incurred and certified. The council may levy and set apart the necessary sum to pay such expenses and to carry into effect the provisions of this chapter. Such levy shall, however, be subject to the restrictions contained in this title."

Section 3394 of the General Code is as follows:

"Township boards of health shall have the same duties, powers and jurisdiction, within the township and outside of any municipality as by law are imposed upon or granted to boards of health in municipalities, and any violation of any order or regulation of such township board made pursuant to such authority, or obstruction or interference with the execution thereof, or wilful or illegal omission to obey such order or regulation, shall be punished, and the prosecution thereof instituted and conducted in the same manner, and the fines and penalties and the disposition thereof, and the punishment shall be the same as is provided by law for the prosecution and punishment of the violation of any like order or regulation of boards of health in municipalities."

The provisions of law relative to boards of health referred to in the sections quoted above are all parts of and taken from an act passed May 7, 1902 (95 Ohio Laws, 421-437).

It will be noted that the duties imposed on the board in section 4448 of the General Code, supra, are alike applicable to township and municipal boards of health. This is a special duty which involves the traveling of the board to all parts of the township wherever a school house may be located and which necessarily involves expense such as not contemplated in the discharge of the ordinary duties of township trustees.

In section 4451 of the General Code, supra, it is provided that:

"when expenses are incurred by the board of health under this chapter * * * council shall pass the necessary appropriation ordinances to pay the expenses. * * *"

While it is recognized in the section quoted that expenses may be incurred by boards of health, no machinery is provided for the payment of township boards' expenses, while the payment of expenses of boards of health of municipalities is provided for specifically.

It appearing clearly that the general assembly had in mind the payment of expenses incurred by boards of health in connection with the performance of the duties imposed by section 4448 of the General Code, supra, it follows that in the case of township boards of health which are charged with the same duties as are cast on municipal boards it is necessary to substitute for the word "council" in section 4451 of the General Code, supra, the word "township trustees" thereby recognizing their authority to make the necessary appropriations to carry out the purposes of the related statutes.

Section 3267 of the General Code is as follows:

> "A person elected or appointed to a township office, who neglects or refuses to serve therein, shall forfeit and pay to and for the use of the township wherein he resides at the time of such election, the sum of two dollars, to be recovered by an action before a justice of the peace of such township. The township clerk shall demand, receive, or sue for such forfeiture, in the name of the township, and when collected, pay to the township treasurer. No person may be compelled to serve in a township office two terms in succession."

It will be noted from a reading of the section quoted above that a person elected as township trustee is subject to serve under a penalty of forfeiture and by virtue of his being a member of the board of township trustees he becomes a member of the township board of health with the duties imposed by section 4448 of the General Code, supra, cast upon him, hence it is my opinion that if it becomes necessary to hire an automobile to perform those duties the expenses therefor may be allowed and provision made for their payment from township funds under the provisions of section 4451 of the General Code, supra.

The answer to your first question disposes of the necessity of reply to the second.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1745.

APPROVAL, SALE OF CANAL LANDS IN CITY OF AKRON TO THE B. F. GOODRICH COMPANY.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 29, 1916.

HON. FRANK R. FAUVER, Superintendent of Public Works, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of June 29, 1916, transmitting to me duplicate copies of your proceedings relating to the public sale of certain canal lands in the city of Akron, Summit county, Ohio, to The B. F. Goodrich Co., for a consideration of $35,000.00.

I find that your proceedings in this matter have been conducted in accordance with the provisions of the statutes and I am, therefore, returning to you the duplicate copies of the record of your proceedings, with my approval of the said sale endorsed thereon.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1746.

BOARD OF AGRICULTURE OF SHELBY COUNTY—WHEN CANDIDATES FOR SUCH OFFICES ARE AUTHORIZED TO BE NOMINATED AND ELECTED—NO ELECTION THIS YEAR.

Candidates for members of the board of agriculture of Shelby county as authorized by the act of April 29, 1902, 95 O. L., 833, may not be nominated at the August primary 1916 nor may such members be elected at the November election 1916.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 29, 1916.

HON. D. FINLEY MILLS, Prosecuting Attorney, Sidney, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Yours under date of June 23, 1916, is as follows:

"The Shelby county agricultural board was created or provided for under the provisions of the special act passed by the legislature in 1903, 95 O. L. 833-835. Since the amendment of the election laws providing for biennial for state and county offices no elections have been made of the members of the county agricultural board in Shelby county, but the old members have been permitted to continue in office and the vacancies occurring in said board have been filled by appointment by the board.

"This year a few petitions have been filed with the board of elections asking that their names be printed on the ballot at the next primary for nomination as members of said board for their respective township. I think there are only three or four such petitions from the whole county. The board of elections has asked my opinion as to the manner of selecting the candidates and members from the various townships and as to whether or not an election for the same should be held this year. In looking over the act aforesaid and construing it in the light of the present election laws and the method of nominating candidates for township and county offices, I fail to see how nominations and elections can be made at the coming primary and election. I have suggested to the board that no nomination and election be held for members of this board this year, and that the old members be permitted to continue in office until an amendment can be secured at the next session of legislature, which will properly provide for the nomination and election of the members of said board.

"Three years ago at the suggestion of the secretary of state an election was dispensed with with that idea in mind, but when the legislature met the matter was overlooked or forgotten and no attention was paid to the matter from that time until the present. I would like very much to have your opinion in the matter, and if my suggestions do not meet with your approval, I would be pleased to have you give me your opinion as to how the matter may be legally managed at the coming primary and election. At the next session of the legislature I shall see to it that this act is amended so as to prevent any further trouble. As the election board is anxious to know what should be done in the matter, I will be pleased to hear from you in the matter as soon as possible."

That the act referred to by you is unconstitutional there can be little doubt, but even assuming the constitutionality of the act of 1902, 95 O. L., 833-835, referred to by you, and that the same has not been expressly or by implication repealed by statutory enactment, the contrary of either of which would abrogate all authority therein for the election of "members of the agricultural board," your inquiry is fully answered by either of two provisions of the constitution. The act referred to required the election of two members of the agricultural board from each township of Shelby county at the fall election in 1902 and provides further that:

> "Thereafter, annually, at the annual fall election held in said county, for the election of the state and county ticket there shall be elected in each township in said county, by the qualified electors thereof, one (1) member of the agricultural board, who shall hold his office for two years and until his successor is elected and qualified."

Section 7 of said act provides in part as follows:

> "The election of members of the agricultural board shall be governed in all respects by the same laws governing the elections of other township officers, and the township clerk shall issue notices of election to such members elect as required by law for other township officers."

That the members of the agricultural board in question are not county officers is clear from the provisions of section 2 of article X of the constitution as follows:

> "County officers shall be elected on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, by the electors in each county in such manner, and for such term, not exceeding three years, as may be provided by law."

Section 1 of article XVII of the constitution of Ohio provides:

> "Elections for state and county officers shall be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November in the even numbered years; and all elections for all other elective officers shall be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November in the odd numbered years."

The plain and unambiguous terms of this constitutional provision clearly preclude the election of any township officers at the coming November election and since in addition to section 2 of article X of the constitution it is specifically provided that:

> "the election of members of the agricultural board shall be governed in all respects by the same laws governing the election of other township officers" which provision clearly comprehends the constitutional as well as the statutory provisions governing the election of township officers, it, therefore, follows, if for no other reason, that candidates for the office of member of the agricultural board of Shelby county are not authorized to be nominated at the primary election to be held in August next.

Attention is also directed to the provision of section 7 of article V of the constitution of Ohio following:

> "but direct primaries shall not be held for the nomination of township officers or for officers of municipalities of less than two thousand population, unless petitioned for by a majority of the electors of such township or municipality."

By reason of this constitutional inhibition primaries may not be held for the nomination of township officers in any event unless such primary election be petitioned for by a majority of the electors of the township.

I am, therefore, of opinion that members of the agricultural board of Shelby county may not be elected at the November election in 1916 and that candidates for such office may not be nominated at the primary election to be held in August of this year.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1747.

COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION—MAY NOT DISMISS DISTRICT SUPERINTENDENT UPON CHARGES SPECIFIED BY STATUTE—PRESIDENTS OF BOARDS OF EDUCATION OF SEVERAL RURAL AND VILLAGE SCHOOL DISTRICTS HAVE AUTHORITY.

A district superintendent who is elected by the county board of education, pursuant to section 4741, G. C., 104 O. L., 133, may not be dismissed by such county board of education upon charges of inefficiency, neglect of duty, immorality or improper conduct, pursuant to section 7701, G. C.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 29, 1916.

HON. E. A. SCOTT, Prosecuting Attorney, West Union, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Yours under date of June 12, 1916, is as follows:

> "Section 7701 of the General Code of Ohio gives the county board of education the right to dismiss any appointee or teacher, etc.
>
> "When charges have been filed against a district superintendent, has the board of education any right to allow witness fees?"

In reply to a request for further information, you state, under date of June 26, 1916:

> "The district superintendent, against whom charges have been filed, was elected by county board of education on account of the presidents of the boards of education failing to agree on him."

Section 7701, G. C., to which reference is made, provides as follows:

> "Each board may dismiss any appointee or teacher for inefficiency, neglect of duty, immorality, or improper conduct. No teacher shall be dismissed by any board unless the charges are first reduced to writing and an opportunity be given for defense before the board, or a committee thereof, and a majority of the full membership of the board vote upon roll call in favor of such dismissal."

The provisions of this section were last enacted, prior to the codification of 1910, as a part of section 4017, R. S., as amended in 97 O. L., 362, prior to the enactment of section 4728, G. C., 104 O. L., 133, under authority of which county boards of education are created.

The boards of education referred to in the act in which section 7701, G. C., was originally enacted were limited to city, village, township and special school district boards of education and the phrase "each board," as then used, could have had no application to county boards of education, which were then unauthorized. Whether the term "each board" comprehends county boards of education, it is not deemed necessary here to undertake to determine.

The term "appointee or teacher" clearly has reference only to appointees and teachers appointed or employed by the board of education therein referred to. That is to say, teachers and appointees, whose employment or appointment is in the first instance authorized and required to be made by a board of education, hence it is only appointees and employes of a board of education that may be dismissed under authority of section 7701, G. C., supra.

By section 4738, G. C., 106 O. L., 396, county boards of education are required to divide the county school district into supervision districts, and sections 4739 and 4741, G. C., 104 O. L., 133, provides as follows:

> "Section 4739, G. C. Each supervision district shall be under the direction of a district superintendent. Such district superintendent shall be elected by the presidents of the village and rural boards of education within such district, except that where such supervision district contains three or less rural or village school districts the boards of education of such school districts in joint session shall elect such superintendent. The district superintendent shall be employed upon the nomination of the county superintendent, but the board electing such district superintendent may, by a majority vote, elect a district superintendent not so nominated.
>
> "Section 4741, G. C. The first election of any district superintendent shall be for a term not longer than one year, thereafter he may be re-elected in the same district for a period not to exceed three years. Whenever for any cause in any district a superintendent has not been appointed by September first, the county board of education shall appoint such superintendent for a term of one year."

From the foregoing it will readily appear that the election of district superintendents devolves primarily upon the presidents of the boards of education of the several village and rural school districts constituting the supervision district, except where the supervision district contains three or less rural or village school districts, in which case the district superintendent is required, in the first instance, to be elected by the boards of education of such districts in joint session.

District superintendents are therefore not subject in the first instance to election, appointment or employment by the county board of education. It is only when by reason of the failure of the presidents of the boards, or the boards of education fail or refuse for any cause, to elect or appoint a district superintendent for any supervision district, that the county board of education is authorized, ex officio, to exercise that function. When so acting, the county board of education is rather acting instead of the otherwise constituted authority, and when a district superintendent is so elected and his compensation determined, as provided in section 4743, G. C., 104 O. L., 133, the county board of education then loses all authority or jurisdiction in the matter, and the district superintendent so elected stands in the same relation to the county board of education as a district superintendent elected either by the action of the presidents of the boards of education of the rural and village districts constituting the supervision district or by the boards of education of the village and rural districts in joint session. It would not be argued that a district superintendent, elected by the presidents of the boards of education of the village and rural school districts of the supervision district, was an appointee of the county board of education and subject to its jurisdiction as to dismissal. A superintendent so elected cannot be said to be the appointee of any board of education and would, therefore, not be subject to dismissal under the provisions of section 7701, G. C., supra. To hold then that district superintendents, elected by the county board of education, are subject to dismissal pursuant to said section 7701, G. C., would lead to the anomalous result of some district superintendents being subject to dismissal while employes or appointees in the same class would not be so subject to dismissal. The legislature certainly never intended that a district superintendent, because he happened to have been elected by the county board of education, pursuant to section 4741, G. C., supra, should be subject to dismissal under section 7701, G. C., while a superintendent of an adjoining supervision district could not be so dismissed because he happened to be elected by the presidents of the boards of education of the several rural and village school districts of the supervision district, pursuant to section 4739, G. C., supra.

I am therefore of opinion that upon the election of a district superintendent by the county board of education, pursuant to section 4741, G. C., supra, and the determination of his compensation by said board, as provided by section 4743, G. C., 104 O. L., 133, such district superintendent then becomes in contemplation of law, to the same extent as district superintendents otherwise elected, the appointee of the presidents of the boards of education of the village and rural school districts of the supervision district or the joint boards of education thereof, as the case may be, and are not subject to dismissal by the county board of education, under authority of section 7701, G. C., supra.

The above conclusion renders unnecessary a consideration of the question submitted by you.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1748.

SCHOOLS—COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT AS COUNTY SCHOOL EXAMINER ENTITLED TO COMPENSATION FOR CONDUCTING INVESTIGATIONS—SECTIONS 7827 AND 7828, G. C., INTERPRETED.

The county superintendent, as county school examiner, is entitled to the compensation of three dollars per day provided in section 7828, G. C., for conducting investigations required by section 7827, G. C.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 30, 1916.

HON. E. A. SCOTT, Prosecuting Attorney, West Union, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Yours received June 20, 1916, is as follows:

"Section 7828, General Code of Ohio, gives the board of school examiners the sum of $3.00 per day for conducting investigations where charges have been filed against a teacher.

"Does the language of this section as 'other expenses' include payment of witness fees?

"Does the county superintendent draw $3.00 per day for such investigations when he is under a salary?"

It is provided by section 7827, G. C., that hearings and investigations may be had by the board of county examiners upon charges against teachers for intemperance, immorality, incompetence or negligence.

Section 7828, G. C., to which you refer, provides as follows:

> "The fees and the per diem of examiners for conducting such investigation at three dollars a day each, and other expenses of such trial shall be certified to the county auditor by the clerk and president of the examining board and be paid out of the county treasury upon the order of the auditor."

Your first question was considered in an opinion of my predecessor, Hon. U. G. Denman, found at page 296, of the report of the attorney-general for the year 1910, in which it was held that the board of county school examiners might lawfully pay mileage and fees of witnesses called by it under authority of sections 7827 and 7828, G. C.

While costs, witness fees and mileage are governed by statute, and may not be paid from the public funds except upon express statutory authority therefor, it will be observed that it is provided by section 7828, G. C., supra, that fees and per diem of examiners and "other expenses" shall be paid out of the county treasury when certified by the county auditor by the clerk and president of the examining board. I find no expense of such investigation, other than the fees and per diem of the examiners, expressly prescribed or authorized to be incurred in such investigations, hence the phrase "other expenses" seems necessarily to comprehend some expenditure not otherwise specifically provided. The examining board is authorized, under the provisions of section 7827, G. C., "to send for witnesses and examine them." There is no provision for the issuance of compulsory process, nor is there express provision for the payment of fees and mileage to such witnesses, yet it may readily be conceived that to send for witnesses and to procure their attendance would, in most cases, necessarily involve some expense. It is not mandatory upon the examining board to send for witnesses in any case, yet the power to do so is clearly conferred, and therefore rests in the discretion of the board whether witnesses shall be sent for, and if so, how many and whom? If in thus procuring the attendance of witnesses, necessary and reasonable expense is incurred, in no case in excess of witness fees and mileage in ordinary cases, I am of the opinion that such expense may be paid pursuant to the provisions of said section 7828, G. C.

Coming to consider your second question as to the right of the county superintendent to $3.00 per day, under said section 7828, G. C., supra, attention is first directed to section 4744-1, G. C., 104 O. L., 133, which prescribes the salary of county superintendents. There is not in this section found any provision that the salary therein provided "shall be in full payment of all the services rendered," and required by law of the county superintendent and in lieu of all the fees otherwise provided by law, nor is there elsewhere such provision as is found in section 3001, G. C., under consideration in the case of State ex rel. v. Stone, 92 O. S., 63, that:

> "Such compensation shall be in full payment of all services rendered as such commissioners, and shall not in any case exceed four thousand dollars per annum."

The question before the court in that case was whether this specific statutory declaration was repealed by implication by the re-enactment of section 5597, G. C.

102 O. L., 279, and the court held that an established and clearly defined general policy as to compensation of county officers could not be thus overridden by mere implication.

In the matter of the compensation of school examiners, it will be noted that the law fixing the compensation of county and district superintendents and which provides that the county superintendent and one of the district superintendents shall be members of the board of school examiners, was passed subsequent to the enactment of section 7828. So that the question here under consideration is rather the converse of that decided in the Stone case, supra, viz.: Whether the specific statutory provision of section 7828, G. C., is repealed by implication by the subsequent enactment of a statute fixing the compensation of an officer or employe who, by virtue of the same act is ex officio a member of the board of school examiners, in the absence of any declaration indicating an intent that the compensation so provided shall be in full payment for all services.

There is a further distinction which is deemed worthy of note. The basis for the determination of the salary of county commissioners is definitely fixed by section 3001, G. C., while the compensation of county and district superintendents is fixed in every case by the appointing authority (sections 4743 and 4744-1, G. C., 104 O. L., 133). So that there seems ample reason for the legislature not providing that the salary of county and district superintendents should be in full payment for all services in contemplation of the appointing authority taking into consideration the compensation of school examiners in fixing the compensation of such superintendents.

Since one of the county school examiners is also a district superintendent (section 7811, G. C., 104 O. L., 100) whose compensation, as such, is fixed in similar manner to that of the county superintendent, it seems conclusive that whatever rule would apply to the compensation of the county superintendent, under section 7828, G. C., must apply equally to the other school examiner who is a district superintendent. Section 4743, G. C., 104 O. L., 133, prescribing the compensation of district superintendents, was passed February 5, 1914. On the next day, February 6, 1914, there was passed by the legislature section 7834, G. C., 104 O. L., 100, in which it was provided that each member of the board of school examiners should be paid certain compensation for conducting examinations of teachers for teachers' certificates. By the same act (section 7811, G. C., 104 O. L., 100) it was provided that one of the school examiners should be a district superintendent. This subsequent action of the legislature tends strongly to support the position that it was not contemplated that the salary provided by section 4743, G. C., supra, should constitute the sole compensation to which the district superintendent, who is the school examiner, might be entitled. If, as above suggested, it be clear that it was thus intended that the school examiner, who is a district superintendent, should be entitled to the compensation provided by section 7828, G. C., it would hardly be argued that the examiner, who is county superintendent, should not be entitled thereto under the same statute.

Section 7828, G. C., which was in operation at the time of the enactment of section 4744-1, G. C., which provides for the payment of the salary of county superintendents, has not been expressly repealed. Repeals by implication are not favored, and there appears no inconsistency or conflict between the provisions of the sections above referred to.

I am therefore of opinion, in answer to your second question, that in a proper case a county superintendent is entitled to $3.00 per day for conducting the investigation authorized by section 7827, G. C., in addition to the annual salary fixed and provided by section 4744-1, G. C.

Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,

Attorney-General.

1749.

APPROVAL, RESOLUTION FOR ROAD IMPROVEMENT IN RICHLAND, JEFFERSON AND MERCER COUNTIES.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 30, 1916.

HON. CLINTON COWEN, State Highway Commissioner, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of June 28, 1916, transmitting to me for examination final resolutions relating to the following roads:

"Richland county—Section 'I,' Mansfield-Norwalk road, Pet. No. 822, I. C. H. No. 287.

"Jefferson county—Section 'E,' Canton-Steubenville road, Pet. No. 660, I. C. H. No. 75.

"Mercer county—Section 'A,' Celina-Wabash road, Pet. No. 2687, I. C. H. No. 264."

I find these resolutions to be in regular form, and am therefore returning the same with my approval endorsed thereon.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1750.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY—SALARY OF MEMBER—CERTIFICATE OF SPEAKER OF HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, CONCLUSIVE—JOHN A. MANSFIELD, STEUBENVILLE, OHIO.

The certificate of the speaker of the house of representatives under section 54, G. C., is, in the absence of fraud or collusion, conclusive.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, June 30, 1916.

HON. A. V. DONAHEY, Auditor of State, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Under date of April 28th you submitted for my opinion the following:

"Will you kindly give me an opinion upon the following facts?

"Hon. John A. Mansfield, of Steubenville, Ohio, was elected a member of the 81st general assembly. On January 4, 1915, he was excused on account of illness. On February 16, 1915, he presented his certificate of election. He was present at the session on February 16th, April 29th, May 7th, 13th, 14th, 15th, 17th and 27th, 1915. He was absent on all other days of the session. The journal of the house does not show that he was granted leave of absence, nor does it show that he was excused for absence, except as to January 4, 1915.

"In spite of these facts, the speaker of the house signed vouchers for the salary of Mr. Mansfield, as follows: Numbers 23866, 38201, 40204, 43796, 56199 and 68310, being salary of Mr. Mansfield for the first year of the 81st general assembly. Upon these vouchers the auditor of state issued the following warrants:

"January 20, 1915	$200 00
"February 24, 1915	100 00
"March 12, 1915	100 00
"March 18, 1915	200 00
"April 15, 1915	200 00
"May 18, 1915	200 00

"At the time of the presentment of the vouchers to the auditor of state, each voucher had endorsed upon it the following: 'Received a warrant on treasurer of state for within amount (carrying the date).' Each such statement was signed by Mr. Mansfield.

"Upon the examination of the financial affairs of the general assembly made by this department, the fact of Mr. Mansfield's absence without leave or excuse, and also that the warrants had never been delivered to Mr. Mansfield, but were being retained by the clerk of the house, came to the notice of this department.

"On January 27, 1916, the attention of Mr. Mansfield to these facts was drawn by a letter to him from this department, and Mr. Mansfield was requested to state whether it was his intention to accept these warrants, or, if it was not his intention so to do, to kindly advise the clerk of the house to return them to this department so that proper entries might be made before the report of the examination was completed. To this no answer was received from Mr. Mansfield, so that we do not know his attitude, except by inference.

"On January 5, 1916, voucher No. 74 for $1,000, being the second year's salary of Mr. Mansfield as a member of the 81st general assembly, was presented to the auditor of state. It had been signed by Mr. Mansfield in acknowledgment of the receipt of the warrant, as the former vouchers had been signed.

"The matters upon which we desire an opinion are as follows:

"1. Was Mr. Mansfield entitled to the full salary for the first year (1915) without deduction for absence without leave or excuse, as provided by section 50, G. C.?

"2. If such deductions should have been made, in view of the fact that the warrants covering the salary in full are yet in the possession of the clerk of the house, may this department, under section 270, G. C., require the return of such warrants as will cover the excess?

"3. If under section 270, G. C., the auditor cannot compel the return of these warrants to the amount of the excess, then what action should he take to recover the amount of such excess?"

Immediately upon receipt of your request for opinion as above set forth, I wrote to Hon. John A. Mansfield, at Steubenville, advising him of your request for opinion and requesting him to give me the benefit of his views and claims in the premises.

On May 6th Mr. Mansfield replied to my letter, giving me a statement of facts as he understood them for my consideration. In the course of his letter he said:

"The people of Jefferson county honored me with an election to the Ohio legislature, and it was my purpose to render all the service in that office possible for me to render. By reason of the continued illness of Mrs. Mansfield it was impossible for me to render the service desired, and I cannot express the deep regret and disappointment to me by reason thereof. I make this statement to show that my absence was in no sense wilful or due to negligence.

"The situation was conveyed to Speaker Conover prior to the meeting of the legislature, and he stated that my absence would be excused. On the 16th day of February I appeared, presented my certificate of election, and took the oath of office, when I again communicated to Speaker Conover the difficulties under which I labored. He again said that my absence would be excused, but to attend all that I could. The vouchers for my salary were regularly issued by the speaker, and the clerk of the house was instructed to obtain the necessary warrants from the auditor of state, and to retain the same until the end of the session, or until such time as I requested the return of the same to me. I attended some eight or ten days, and rendered all the service it was possible for me to render under the circumstances. Both the speaker and clerk of the house informed me that I was legally entitled to the salary, and this assumption is borne out from the fact that the speaker issued to me the necessary vouchers, and the auditor of state issued the necessary warrants for the first year's salary, together with my mileage.

"I made no examination of the law, never read section 50, G. C., until after receiving your letter, made no examination of the journal of the house, and did not know what action had been taken by the house relative to my absence until after receiving your letter. I simply relied upon what the speaker and the clerk had said to me.

"Along about the first of July, 1915, Speaker Conover forwarded to me his voucher for the second year's salary, payable on the first of January, 1916. This voucher I retained in my possession, and along about the first of January, 1916, I requested Clerk Maynard to forward to me my warrants for the first year's salary, which he did. On January 28, 1916, I received a communication from the auditor of state, to the effect that by an examination of his department it came to his notice that I had not drawn my first year's salary, and also desiring to know whether I had received Speaker Conover's voucher for the second year's salary, and what I intended to do with it, as he was anxious to close up his books and make a report. Immediately thereafter I wrote to Clerk Maynard, enclosing Speaker Conover's voucher, requesting Mr. Maynard to present the voucher to the auditor of state and obtain my warrant for the second year's salary, and return the same to me. Mr. Maynard presented the voucher to the auditor, but for some reason or other the warrant was not forthcoming. I wrote to the auditor of state in answer to his communication that I had forwarded Speaker Conover's voucher for the second year's salary to Mr. Maynard, with the request that he present the same to the auditor of state for the warrant, which I assumed would be an answer as to my intentions in the matter."

Upon receipt of the letter from Mr. Mansfield, in view of the facts stated therein, I wrote to Mr. C. D. Conover, speaker of the house of representatives, under date of May 18th, advising him of the fact that a request for opinion had been received by this department; that under date of May 6th I had received from Mr. Mansfield his view of the facts therein, and that I was desirous of receiving a letter from him setting forth the facts as he understood them in regard to the matter.

Under date of June 16th I received a letter (dated May 31st) from Mr. Conover in answer to my letter, in the course of which letter he states as follows:

> "The journal of the house shows that on January 4, 1915, that Mr. Mansfield was excused on account of illness. This was on the opening day of the 81st general assembly. The question of excusing Mr. Mansfield from the opening session was presented to the house because citizens from Jefferson county and Senator Moore stated that the attendance of Mr. Mansfield was impossible on account of 'illness.' This is the only time that the question of excusing Mr. Mansfield was brought to my attention, and consequently to the attention of the house for action. I am certain of this as every request for an excuse or leave of absence by a member was promptly written down and presented to the house during that day's session."

Under date of June 16th I again wrote to Mr. Conover, referring to the entry made in the minutes of the meeting of the house of representatives on January 4, 1915, to the effect that and requested him, in view of the fact that the entry referred to was not specific in regard to the length of time for which Mr. Mansfield was excused, to advise me as to what was intended when he excused Mr. Mansfield.

> "The speaker excused Mr. Mansfield, of Jefferson, on account of illness."

Under date of June 26th I received a reply to my letter, which is as follows:

> "In your last letter, that of June 16, you ask for a 'statement of intention' as to the length of time for which Mr. Mansfield was excused. I do not think that there was any specific intention connected with the action of the house as to the length of time. The bare fact is that Mr. Mansfield assured the house that he could not attend. The excuse followed as an inevitable result. The excuse was on account of illness. There are many contingencies that may operate to delay or advance man's perspective recovery from illness, and for that reason an excuse granted on account of illness could not be bounded by so many days. The regular attendance of the members of the 81st assembly is not surpassed by that of any previous assembly and equalled by very few. They were men of honor, respected by the people who elected them or else they would not have been here. It is only reasonable to assume that the integrity of any member would not be impeached without facts to justify such action. Furthermore, I kept in close touch with those who were absent and I know that no member was wilfully absent under color of illness.
>
> "The matter of entry on the record varies somewhat. I do not know why the entry you refer to appears in the form that it does as the speaker never excuses any one from attendance. The question is presented by the speaker for the action of the house and whatever intention there is connected with it is that of the house and not that of the party who presents it, whether he be the presiding officer or a member. For instance: On page 143 a member was granted an 'indefinite leave of absence on account of illness.' On page 180 a member was granted a leave of absence 'on account of illness.' Another 'granted leave of absence on account of death in his family.' Again on page 416 a member was granted a leave of absence 'for today.' Another for 'Wednesday and Thursday.' I cite these to show that the question as to the length of the time of an excuse is dependent largely upon the circumstances connected with each particular case."

The sections of the General Code applicable to this question are as follows:

"Sec. 50. Every member of the general assembly shall receive as compensation a salary of one thousand dollars a year during his term of office. Such salary for such term shall be paid in the following manner: Two hundred dollars in monthly installments during the first session of such term and the balance of such salary for such term at the end of such session.

Each member shall receive two cents per mile each way for mileage once a week during the session from and to his place of residence, by the most direct route of public travel to and from the seat of government, to be paid at the end of each regular or special session. If a member is absent without leave, or is not excused on his return, there shall be deducted from his compensation the sum of ten dollars for each day's absence.

"Sec. 52. The word 'attendance' includes all days from the opening to the close of the session, except such days of absence as are not excused by the house to which the member or officer belongs.

"Sec. 54. The president of the senate, and speaker of the house of representatives, shall ascertain the number of days' attendance of each member and officer of the respective houses, during the session, the number of miles travel of each member to and from the seat of government, and certify such attendance and mileage, and the amount due therefor, to the auditor of state."

Reading the definition of "attendance" as used in section 52, G. C., it is clear that the absence of a member of the house of representatives is to be excused by the house. The entry of January 4, 1915, hereinbefore referred to, states that "the speaker excused Mr. Mansfield."

From such examination as I have been able to make it would seem that it has been the custom for the speaker to excuse members from attendance and report the same to the house for its ratification, and that if no objection is made thereto the action of the speaker is deemed to be ratified.

While it is not absolutely clear as to what was intended by the entry of January 4, 1915—which is the only entry relative to the absence of Mr. Mansfield that I have been able to find—it seems to me from the facts stated in the letter of Mr. Mansfield hereinbefore referred to, and which the speaker of the house of representatives does not state is not the fact, that it was the intention that Mr. Mansfield should be excused from attendance during the session on such days as he found it impossible, by reason of the facts stated by him, to attend.

Construing the entry in the minutes of January 4, 1915, as an indefinite leave of absence to Mr. Mansfield, the questions submitted by you do not arise, for the reason that if Mr. Mansfield was excused from attendance the deductions required to be made under the provision of section 50, G. C., supra, would not be made, and the entire amount due Mr. Mansfield as salary would be payable.

Under the provisions of section 50 of the General Code there is to be deducted from the compensation of each member of the general assembly the sum of ten dollars for each day's absence, unless excused. The power of excusing is lodged with the house, but under section 54, G. C., it is made the duty of the speaker to ascertain the number of days' attendance of each member, together with his mileage, and certify such attendance and mileage and the amount due therefor to the auditor of state.

The speaker of the house of representatives, under the provisions of said section 54, G. C., certified to the auditor of state as due Mr. Mansfield the entire salary due him, and in the absence of a showing of fraud or collusion the certificate of the speaker is conclusive. From the facts stated, as hereinbefore set forth, there is no doubt that there was no fraud or collusion in this matter. Therefore, the certificate of the speaker is conclusive.

For the foregoing reasons, I am of the opinion that Mr. Mansfield was entitled to his entire salary for the first year of his term.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1751.

OHIO UNIVERSITY—BALANCE OF APPROPRIATION FOR WOMEN'S DORMITORY AVAILABLE FOR CONSTRUCTION OF ANNEX TO HOUSE HELP.

The balance of appropriation of $120,000 for women's dormitory at Ohio University (H. B. 701) is available for construction of annex to women's dormitory to house help, since it could be used for changes in dormitory proper and construction of annex amounts to the same thing.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 1, 1916.

HON. A. V. DONAHEY, Auditor of State, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Under date of June 29th you submitted for my opinion the following:

> "On June 27, 1916, at a meeting of the governor, auditor of state and secretary of state, acting under section 2314, G. C., plans and specifications, etc., for an annex to the women's dormitory at Ohio University were presented for approval.
>
> "For the Ohio University there was appropriated in house bill No. 701 the following:
>
> " 'Section 2. Women's dormitory to cost complete with equipment $120,000.00 ---------- $15,000.00
>
> " 'Section 3. To complete and equip women's dormitory--------$105,000.00'
>
> "A contract was entered into for the women's dormitory for $97,777.77, leaving a balance of $17,292.98 exclusive of architects' fees.
>
> "I was directed to request an opinion as to whether the building commission has authority to approve the plans for an annex to the women's dormitory inasmuch as the appropriation reads 'women's dormitory and equipment.' The purpose of the annex is to be a part and to serve the same purpose as the dormitory, the purpose for which is to provide for the help which otherwise would have to be taken care of in the dormitory proper, thus permitting a corresponding increase in the capacity of the dormitory."

While the word "dormitory" usually conveys the idea of a single building, nevertheless, I do not believe that the appropriation made in house bill No. 701 should necessarily receive that restricted meaning. It is apparent that the legislature intended to provide sleeping quarters for women, the same to cost complete with equipment not to exceed $120,000.00.

Section 2320 of the General Code provides as follows:

> "After they are so approved and filed with the auditor of state, no change of plans, descriptions, bills of material or specifications, which increases or decreases the cost to exceed one thousand dollars, shall be made or allowed unless approved by the governor, auditor and secretary of state. When so approved, the plans of the proposed change, with descriptions thereof, specifications of work and bills of material shall be filed with the auditor of state as required with original plans."

It is clearly shown by the provisions of said section that changes therein could be made, and if the said changes increase or decrease the cost to exceed one thousand dollars, the same must receive the approval of the governor, auditor of state and secretary of state, and when approved "the plans of the proposed change, with descriptions thereof, specifications of work and bills of material shall be filed with the auditor of state as required with original plans."

In the instant case it is apparent that under the provisions of section 2320, G. C., there would be full authority for the university to change the plans of the women's dormitory and add thereto an additional story in which to house the "help." If there be funds sufficient for that purpose left in the appropriation, I can see no reason why the university could not provide a separate and distinct building for such purpose, and therefore advise you that the building commission has authority to approve the plans for an annex to the women's dormitory, the same to serve the purpose of providing for the help which otherwise would have to be taken care of in the dormitory proper. Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1752.

WHEN TWO OR MORE BOARDS OF TOWNSHIP TRUSTEES WITHIN SAME COUNTY MAKE APPLICATION FOR STATE AID—HOW STATE HIGHWAY COMMISSIONER MAY CHOOSE.

When two or more boards of township trustees within the same county make applications for state aid, the state highway commissioner may, under proper circumstances, make his selection of the particular application to be granted upon the basis of the amounts which the local authorities are able and willing to expend, and to approve the application of the board of township trustees offering the largest measure of co-operation.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 3, 1916.

HON. E. A. SCOTT, Prosecuting Attorney, West Union, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Your communication of May 18, 1916, received by this department on May 29, 1916, reads as follows:

> "The county commissioners have requested me to ask you for an opinion relative to the following questions. I herewith enclose copy of letter sent out by Hon. Clinton Cowen, state highway commissioner. The facts are briefly stated as follows: The county commissioners joined in a request to continue the intercounty road started two years ago, but did not agree to furnish any money with which to continue the same. The various townships mentioned in letter asked state highway department to cooperate with them.

"Question: Has the state highway commissioner any legal right to locate the proposed improvement to the highest amount offered or highest bidder?

"Is it not against public policy to build road or improve same under such plan?

"Would not an injunction be granted to restrain the expenditure of money under such a plan of road improvement?

"Is there any law whatever for such a plan of improvement?"

The enclosed copy of letter from the state highway commissioner reads as follows:

"We have on file in this department petitions from the trustees of the following townships: Meigs, Wayne, Green, Scott, Oliver, Tiffin and Winchester.

"At a meeting here today with a large delegation from the vicinity of Seaman, it was suggested, and I think generally agreed, that the amount of state funds due Adams county for 1916, which amounts to about $17,000.00, which should not be split up and divided among the several townships because the amount which each township would receive would be so small as to be of little benefit to any.

"It was further suggested and agreed that the townships or citizens, or both, that would raise the greatest amount of money per mile for any particular road in said township should receive state aid to assist that township in building such road, the money raised by township and citizens to be in cash and to the credit of such township by June 1, 1916. A proper certificate from any bank or responsible depository will be evidence as to the amount each township or community has raised for the above mentioned purpose."

Section 185 of the Cass Highway Law, section 1192, G. C., reads as follows:

"In case the county commissioners do not file any application for state aid before January 1st of any year in which the funds will be available for the construction, improvement, maintenance or repair of some one or more of the intercounty highways or main market roads, then the board of township trustees of any township within the county may file such application, and the state highway commissioner may co-operate with such trustees in the construction, or improvement of said highway in the manner hereinafter provided in cases where the county commissioners make such application."

Under the provisions of sections 1213 and 1217, G. C., where an improvement is made by the state highway department on the application of township trustees, the township and the owners of abutting real estate must pay at least twenty-five per cent. of the cost of the improvement and they must pay at least fifty per cent. of the cost of the improvement unless the state assumes the county's proportion of the same. It appears that about $17,000.00 is available as state aid for use in your county, and that seven townships have made application for the improvement of roads situated within their territorial limits. It seems to be the policy of the state highway commissioner not to divide the $17,000.00 among the several townships for the reason that the amount which under such plan would be available for use in each township would be so small as to be of little benefit. His policy seems to be to select some one of the townships and expend the entire sum in that township to the end that an improvement of substantial extent may be constructed. It should be observed that the principle of contribution by the local authorities is recognized by the statutes, and that under the sections of the General Code heretofore referred to, the state highway commissioner is now without authority to co-operate with any one of the townships unless such township is able and willing to pay at least twenty-five per cent. of the cost of the improvement. Indeed, the township with which the state highway commissioner co-operates must be willing to pay at least fifty per cent. of the cost of the improvement unless the state highway commissioner, acting on behalf of the state, is willing to assume the county's proportion of the cost, which proportion is twenty-five per cent.

The right of the state highway commissioner to receive contributions from citizens is recognized by section 1224, G. C., but the statutes do not authorize co-operation by the state highway commissioner with citizens in the sense that the term "co-operation" is used in connection with counties and townships. In other words, the state highway commissioner would not be authorized in rejecting the application of a county or township properly made when such county or township was able, willing and ready to co-operate with the state, in order that he might enter into an engagement with private individuals looking toward the construction of a particular road, in consideration of contributions to be made by them. I do not understand, however, that such a course has been contemplated by the state highway commissioner, either in your county or elsewhere. In cases where two or more boards of township trustees within one county make applications for available state funds, it is my opinion that the state highway commissioner may, in the exercise of his discretion, determine that he will grant one or more applications and reject the remainder. The situation in your county furnishes an excellent illustration of the reasoning on which this conclusion is based. If the $17,000.00 available for use in your county were to be divided equally among the seven townships making the applications less than $2,500.00 would be available for use in each township and the amount of roadway that could be improved in each township would not be of sufficient length to be of substantial benefit. It is also a well known fact that the letting of a number of very small contracts is not an economical method of handling funds.

The statute is silent as to the facts to be taken into consideration by the state highway commissioner in determining which of several applications by boards of township trustees within the same county he will approve and which he will reject or at least hold in abeyance. Section 1195, G. C., provides only that if, upon the receipt of an application for state aid the highway commissioner approves of the construction, improvement, maintenance or repair of the intercounty or main market roads described in the application, or any part thereof, he shall certify his approval to the county commissioners or township trustees making the application. There are a number of facts which may properly be taken into consideration by the state highway commissioner in determining a question of this character, and among these may be mentioned the relative importance of the several roads covered by the applications, the present condition of such roads and the need of immediate action in reconstructing or improving the same, and the ability and willingness of the local authorities to co-operate with the state. It is possible and even probable that in some instances the importance of one road and the imperative need for its immediate improvement would be such that in determining the question the state highway commissioner would have a right to look only to these considerations and would not be authorized in refusing an application for state aid in the improvement of such road if the board of township trustees were able and willing to expend the minimum percentage required by the statute, even though some other board of township trustees in the county might be able and willing to pay a much larger percentage of the cost of improving some other road of less importance or a road the condition of which did not render imperative its immediate improvement. However, in view of the fact that the statute recognizes and even requires a measure of co-operation on the part of the local authorities before an application for state aid can be granted, and in view of the fact that there is no statutory provision setting forth the considerations which are to govern the state highway commissioner in the selection of the particular road to be improved or the particular township whose application is to be granted, I am of the opinion that where two or more boards of township trustees within the same county make applications for state aid, and the roads covered by the applications are of substantially the same importance, and the condition of the several roads and the other facts and circumstances are not such as to render it apparent that as between the two or more roads one should be improved at the present time and the work upon the other road or roads delayed, then the state highway commissioner is authorized to make his selection upon the basis of the amounts which the local authorities are able and willing to expend, and to approve the application of the board of township trustees offering the largest measure of co-operation.

I believe the above constitutes as specific an answer as can be made to the several questions submitted by you.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1753.

ROADS AND HIGHWAYS—COUNTY COMMISSIONERS—NOT AUTHORIZED TO ISSUE BONDS UNDER SECTION 6929, G. C., UNTIL PRELIMINARY STEPS OUTLINED IN PRECEDING SECTIONS HAVE BEEN TAKEN.

County commissioners are not authorized to issue bonds under section 6929, G. C., until the preliminary steps outlined in the preceding sections of chapter VI of the Cass highway law and looking toward the improvement of a particular road have been taken.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 3, 1916.

HON. ELI H. SPEIDEL, Prosecuting Attorney, Batavia, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your request for an opinion under date of June 9, 1916, which request reads as follows:

> "On March 16, 1916, I wrote your office asking for an opinion relative to the authority of the county commissioners to issue road improvement bonds, and also asking whether or not it was necessary to first submit the question to a vote of the people, and, in a well considered opinion from your office, being opinion No. 1460, dated April 6, 1916, you held that it was not necessary to first submit the question to a vote of the people and that ample authority was provided by section 6929 of the General Code, being section 108 of the Cass highway law, for the issuing and sale of such bonds.

"The board of county commissioners and the county highway superintendent of this county, acting on the advice contained in your opinion, proceeded as follows:

"On May 15, 1916, Archie G. Holland, the county highway superintendent of this county, presented to the board of county commissioners an estimate of the cost of rebuilding, repairing and resurfacing certain enumerated parts of certain highways in said county, a copy of which estimate is herewith enclosed for your inspection.

"On the same day the board of county commissioners, by unanimous vote by resolution, accepted said estimate and approved and confirmed the same.

"On the same day, the board of county commissioners by a unanimous vote, passed a resolution to issue the bonds of said county of Clermont, in the sum of one hundred thousand ($100,000.00) dollars, to pay the cost of rebuilding, repairing and resurfacing the said portions of said turnpikes, enumerated in the estimate of the county highway superintendent, and which are embraced in the resolution as passed.

"These bonds were then offered in writing to the industrial commission of Ohio, as provided by law, but not taken.

"They were then advertised as provided in section 6929 of the General Code, and also in the Cincinnati Enquirer, a newspaper having a general circulation throughout the state, and were sold to the Provident Savings Bank and Trust Company at a premium of $3,470.00.

"On June 6, 1916, I received a communication from the law firm of Peck, Shaffer & Peck, which letter I herewith enclose, in which they raise the question as to whether or not the steps mentioned in their letter are conditions precedent, which should be complied with or performed before the resolution is passed to issue the bonds.

"They also suggest that if I believe that the opinion of your office justified the issue of bonds without such preliminary steps, that I submit their letter to you for your consideration and to let me have your exact views upon the subject.

"After giving the matter considerable thought and consideration, both before the resolution was passed, and since, I am of the opinion that none of the steps mentioned in the letter of Peck, Shaffer & Peck, are required, when the bond issue is a general issue, to be met by general taxation on all the property in the county, but I am submitting the matter to your office for a further opinion, as I feel that Peck, Shaffer & Peck will be largely guided by the view taken of the matter by your office.

"I might add that the work to be performed on these roads is largely force work, which the county commissioners expect to have done in the manner heretofore pointed out and approved by an opinion rendered by your office to the bureau of inspection and supervision of public offices.

"I feel that the determination of this question by your office is of the greatest importance in this county, for, if the suggestions contained in the Peck, Shaffer & Peck letter are conditions precedent to the passing of the resolution and the sale of the bonds, then under the conditions as they exist in this county, it becomes almost impossible to effectively utilize the provisions of the Cass highway act as a remedial road measure.

"I might add this fact for your consideration. About three years ago, the board of county commissioners of this county, in practically the same manner as they have proceeded with the present issue of bonds, sold the bonds of the county in the sum of fifty thousand dollars, to pay the county's portion of the costs of building certain parts of certain intercounty highways in this county. Mr. Shaffer of the firm of Peck, Shaffer & Peck, in a general way, raised the same questions that he is now raising, to wit: That it was necessary to have plans and specifications and the other preliminary steps that were provided in that act, before the resolution could be passed, but after we had discussed the matter for quite a while, the bonds were accepted and the proceedings approved."

The communication from Messrs. Peck, Shaffer & Peck, addressed to you under date of June 6, 1916, and referred to in your communication, reads as follows:

"The Provident Savings Bank & Trust Company have submitted to us for examination an issue of $100,000.00 road improvement bonds of Clermont county Ohio.

"With the transcript is an opinion from the attorney-general of the state, to the effect that counties have authority under section 6929 to issue road improvement bonds.

"In this opinion the attorney-general does not specify the preliminary steps necessary giving the county commissioners jurisdiction to issue such bonds.

"These bonds are issued under authority of chapter 6 of the Cass road bond act, and particularly under section 6929 of the General Code, being 108 of said act. It seems to us that this chapter affords a scheme by which such bonds might be issued, which scheme involves the following jurisdictional acts:

"1. The filing of a petition signed by at least fifty-one per cent. (51%) of the lot owners residents of the county, asking that the improvement be made. The granting of such application or the determination of the county commissioners by a unanimous vote declaring the necessity therefor, as provided by section 6910.

"2. The ordering of the county surveyor to make plans and estimates for the improvement.

"3. The determination by the county commissioners to construct the improvement and causing the publication in a newspaper of general circulation of a notice that such improvement is to be made, and that the surveys, estimates, etc., are on file for the inspection of all persons interested thereon. The notice must state the time and place of hearing the objections to the improvement.

"4. The determination at the hearing that the commissioners are still satisfied that the public convenience and welfare require the improvement to be made, and the cost and expense thereof will not be excessive in view of the public utility therefor, and their determination to proceed with the improvement as provided by section 6917.

"5. The determination of the county commissioners of the method of paying the compensation and expenses thereof in accordance with the eight separate plans provided for in section 6919.

"6. The resolution of the county commissioners providing for the issue of the bonds.

"The transcript does not show that any of these proceedings were taken. It may be that the transcript does not contain all of the proceedings of the county commissioners.

"If such proceedings have not been taken and you believe that the opinion of the attorney-general justifies the issue of bonds without such preliminary steps, we suggest that you submit this letter to the attorney-general for his consideration and let us know exactly his views upon the subject."

Before considering the question raised by your inquiry I desire to refer briefly to opinion No. 1460, rendered to you on April 6, 1916, and referred to by you in your request for an opinion.

No attempt was made in this opinion to determine the necessity for the preliminary proceedings referred to by Messrs. Peck, Shaffer & Peck, that matter not being involved in your inquiry. In brief, it was held in the opinion in question that the provision for the issuance of bonds by county commissioners for county road improvement purposes is found in section 6929, G. C., that under the provision of this section all bonds of this character must mature in not more than ten years, that there is no authority for submitting to the electors of a county the proposition of issuing bonds for such purposes, that the county commissioners have full power and authority to issue such bonds without a vote of the electors and that such bonds, in so far as they are to be issued in anticipation of the collection of taxes, are to be issued in anticipation of levies made under sections 6926 and 6927, G. C. It was further pointed out in this opinion that not only is a submission to a vote of the electors of the question of issuing such bonds neither required nor authorized, but that it is also true that no substantial advantage could be derived by submitting a proposition of this character to a vote of the electors, in view of the statuory provisions relating to the tax levies in anticipation of which bonds of this character may be issued, which tax levies were fully discussed and defined. No effort was made in the opinion in question to determine the amount of bonds that might be issued by Clermont county, under section 6929, G. C., the opinion only going so far as to point out the limitations to be considered by the authorities of Clermont county, or any other county in the state in reaching a determination as to the possible amount of bonds that might be issued.

The questions submitted by you and in response to which opinion 1460 was prepared related to the amount of bonds that might be issued at the present time for road improvement purposes by the board of county commissioners of Clermont county, the length of time that such bonds might run and the authority or power of the commissioners to submit such bond issue to a vote of the people. All of these questions were answered specifically except the first. In answering the first question it was impossible to calculate the amount of bonds that might be issued for the reason that your communication contained no information as to present tax rates, and, therefore this question was answered by the statement of a rule by the use of which the local authorities might make the computation.

As has been previously observed, your inquiries did not involve a consideration of the necessity of preliminary legislation of the character referred to in the letter of Messrs. Peck, Shaffer & Peck, and, therefore, opinion No. 1460 cannot be taken as having answered that question either in the affirmative or in the negative.

The first sentence of section 6929, G. C., reads as follows:

"The county commissioners, in anticipation of the collection of such taxes and assessments may, whenever in their judgment it is deemed necessary, sell the bonds of said county in the aggregate amount necessary to pay the estimated cost and expenses of such improvement."

In the view that I take of the law, the language of this sentence is conclusive as to the question submitted by you. The sentence in question is both a grant of power and a limitation upon the power granted. It authorizes the county commissioners to sell the bonds of the county, but only in the aggregate amount necessary to pay the estimated cost and expense "of such improvement." The only inference that can be drawn from the use of the word "such," in connection with the word "improvement" is that the legislature intended to restrict the bond issuing authority of the county commissioners to the amount necessary to pay the estimated cost and expenses of an improvement projected in the regular manner, in accordance with the provisions of the preceding sections of chapter 6 of the Cass highway law. In other words, there must have been a petition filed under authority of section 6907, G. C., a view of the proposed improvement by the county commissioners and a determination that the public convenience and welfare require that the improvement be made, or, in lieu of the above the commissioners must, under authority of section 6910, G. C., have adopted a resolution by a unanimous vote declaring the necessity for the improvement. Under authority of section 6911, G. C., the commissioners must have determined the route and termini of the road, the kind and extent of the improvement and must have ordered the county surveyor to make the required surveys, etc. The surveyor must have complied with this order and transmitted to the commissioners his estimate of the cost and expense of the improvement, together with a copy of his survey, etc., and the commissioners must have given the notice provided by section 6912, G. C., to the effect that the improvement is to be made and that the surveys, estimates, etc., are on file for inspection and the notice must also state the time and place for hearing objections and claims for compensation and damages and must contain the other matter referred to in sections 6912 and 6913, G. C. The proceedings relating to the allowance of compensation and damages, referred to in sections 6914 and 6916, G. C., inclusive, must have been taken and the commissioners must have adopted a resolution under authority of section 6917, G. C., setting forth that they are still satisfied that the public convenience and welfare require that such improvement be made and that the cost and expense thereof will not be excessive, in view of the public utility thereof, and ordering that they proceed with the improvement and adopting the plans, etc., reported by the surveyor or with the modification agreed upon. The commissioners must also determine by resolution the method of paying the compensation, damages, costs and expenses of the improvement, which determination must be the same as that set forth in the petition when the board is acting upon a petition. Under authority of section 6921, G. C., the commissioners may, by a unanimous vote, order that all the compensation and damages, costs and expenses of constructing any improvement, be paid out of the proceeds of any levy or levies for road purposes, on the grand duplicate of the county or out of any road improvement fund available therefor. This seems to be the method desired by the county commissioners of your county. If any part of the cost and expense of the improvement is to be specially assessed upon benefited real estate, the further steps provided by sections 6922 to 6924, G. C., inclusive, should be taken before bonds are issued. That is to say, the surveyor should make his estimated assessment and file the same in the office of the county commissioners, notice that the estimated assessment has been made and is on file and that objections will be heard at a certain time should be given, the assessments should be approved and confirmed either as originally made or as modified by the commissioners and the persons specially assessed should be given an opportunity to pay their assessments in cash. When all the above requirements have been complied with, the county commissioners will be authorized to issue and sell the bonds of the county, if in their judgment it is deemed necessary, in the aggregate amount necessary to pay the estimated cost and expenses of the improvement. If any part of the cost and expense of the improvement has been specially assessed and any part of the special assessments has been paid in cash, then, of course, it will not, under any circumstances, be necessary to sell bonds in anticipation of the collection of the special assessments already paid. Answering your question specifically, I advise you that the steps above outlined are jurisdictional to the authority of the county commissioners to issue bonds under section 6929, G. C.

I am unable to share your view that the conclusion herein expressed will in any substantial measure curtail the availability and usefulness of the provisions of the Cass highway law herein discussed. I gather from your correspondence that it is desired by the board of county commissioners of your county to reconstruct or repair a number of county roads within the county, and to pay the entire cost and expense thereof out of the funds of the county without making any special charge against the townships in which the roads are located or against benefited real estate. In the view that I take of the law, proceedings of this character should be initiated by resolution adopted by the county commissioners by unanimous vote, under authority of section 6910, G. C., declaring the necessity therefor, the route and termini of the road and the kind and extent of the improvement and ordering that the county surveyor make the necessary surveys, etc. When the county surveyor has complied with this order, the county commissioners should cause to be published the notice provided by section 6912, G. C., and upon the day fixed in such notice should hear and determine objections to the improvement, if any, and also claims for compensation and damages, if any, and should then by a unanimous vote declare that they are still satisfied that the public convenience and welfare require that such improvement be made and that the cost and expense thereof will not be excessive, in view of the public utility thereof, and should order by resolution that they proceed with the improvement and should adopt the plans, profiles, specifications and estimates therefor, as reported by the surveyor, or as modified by agreement, and should further order that all the compensation and damages, costs and expenses be paid out of the proceeds of a levy to be made for road purposes on the grand duplicate of the county. The county commissioners will then be in a position to adopt a resolution making the necessary levy under authority of section 6926, G. C,, and providing for a sale of the bonds of the county under authority of section 6929, G C.

Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,

Attorney-General

1754.

DEPUTY STATE SUPERVISORS OF ELECTIONS—THE TERM "CLERK" IN SECTION 5092, G. C., 103 O. L., 496, DOES NOT INCLUDE DEPUTY CLERKS—TERM ELECTION REFERS ONLY TO REGULAR AND GENERAL NOVEMBER ELECTIONS AND SPECIAL ELECTIONS.

The term "clerk," referring to clerks of deputy state supervisors of elections in section 5092, G. C., 103 O. L., 496, does not include deputy clerks of deputy state supervisors of elections.

The term election first found in section 5092, G. C., supra, has reference only to regular and general November elections and special elections at which the final choice of officers is consummated and does not include elections at which only nominations of candidates are made.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 6, 1916.

HON. ROBERT C. PATTERSON, Prosecuting Attorney, Dayton, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Yours under date of June 21, 1916, is as follows:

> "Hon. J. Clarence Schaeffer, clerk of court of common pleas of this county, requests me in writing to ask you for an opinion on section 5092, General Code (103 O. L., p. 496,), covering the following questions:
>
> "First. Does the term 'clerk thereof' following the words 'deputy state supervisor,' include deputy clerks appointed by the deputy state supervisors?
>
> "Second. Does the word 'election' in the part of sentence 'for an office to be filled at an election' mean a primary election as well as a general election?"

Section 5092, G. C., 103 O. L., 496, to which you refer, provides as follows:

> "No person, being a candidate for an office to be filled at an election, other than for committeeman or delegate or alternate to any convention, shall serve as deputy state supervisor or clerk thereof, or as a judge or clerk of elections, in any precinct at such election. A person serving as deputy state supervisor or clerk thereof, judge or clerk of elections contrary to this section shall be ineligible to any office to which he may be elected at such election."

Little, if any, reason can be assigned for a distinction between the clerk and the deputy clerk of boards of deputy state supervisors of elections in the matter of their being candidates for offices at elections as to which they bear an official relationship.

It is, however, an elementary principle of statutory construction that "if the words are free from ambiguity and doubt and express plainly, clearly and distinctly the sense of the framers of the instrument, there is no occasion to resort to other means of interpretation." Lewis' Sutherland Statutory Construction, 2nd Edition, section 366.

The legislature must be presumed to have been mindful of the statutory authority for the office or position of deputy clerks of boards of deputy state supervisors of elections and the relationship of such persons to the conduct of elections. No reason for omitting specific reference to deputy clerks of boards of deputy state supervisors of elections suggests itself if it were intended that they should be rendered ineligible to hold any office for which they might be a candidate at an election in which such deputy clerks participate in an official capacity.

In view of the plain and unambiguous language of the statute, I am of the opinion that deputy clerks of boards of deputy state supervisors of elections are not included within the provisions of section 5092, G. C., supra.

You make further inquiry as to the meaning of the term "election" as first used in said section 5092, G. C., supra. It will first be observed that the election referred to is one at which offices are to be filled or at which officers are elected. Section 1 of article XVII of the constitution provides:

> "Elections for state and county officers shall be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November in the even numbered years; and all elections for all other elective officers shall be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November in the odd numbered years."

From a consideration of this constitutional provision it is conclusive that elections at which officers may be elected may be held only on the first Tuesday after the first Monday of November of any year. So that it necessarily follows that the term "election" as used in the phrase "being a candidate for an office to be filled at an election" has reference only to the annual regular or general November election and special elections at which the final choice of officers is consummated. This opinion is not in conflict with opinion No. 1637, directed to Hon. Charles E. Ballard, prosecuting attorney, under date of May 31, 1916, in which it was held only that a person becomes a candidate within the terms of the above section when he begins to actively seek an office which is to be filled at an election, independent of whether candidates for such office are to be nominated at a primary and independent of whether the person seeking such office seeks any nomination as such candidate.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1755.

EMPLOYMENT OF FEMALES—INTERPRETATION OF SECTION 1008, G. C., 103 O. L., 555—NOT OPERATIVE AS TO FEMALES OVER EIGHTEEN YEARS OF AGE EMPLOYED IN MERCANTILE ESTABLISHMENTS LOCATED IN VILLAGES.

Section 1008, G. C., as amended 103 O. L., 555, while not operative as to females over eighteen years of age employed in mercantile establishments located in villages it is, however, applicable to the employment of females over twenty-one years of age employed in the various other occupations enumerated, wherever located.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 6, 1916.

The Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—Your request for an opinion is as follows:

> "I enclose herewith a letter from George H. Hamilton, chief deputy of the division of workshops, factories and public buildings, addressed to the industrial commission, in which he asks for the construction of section 1008 of the General Code.
>
> "The industrial commission respectfully requests that you render an opinion in accordance with the request of Mr. Hamilton."

With your request you submitted a letter addressed to your commission by Mr. George H. Hamilton, chief deputy of the department of inspection of the division of workshops, factories and public buildings, which letter is as follows:

"There seems to be quite a difference of opinion as to the proper interpretation of that part of section 1008 of the General Code reading as follows:

"'Females over 18 years of age shall not be employed or permitted or suffered to work in or in connection with any factory, workshop, telephone or telegraph office, millinery, or dessmaking establishment, restaurant or in the distributing or transmission of messages or in any mercantile establishment located in any city, more than ten hours in any one day, or more than fifty-four hours in any one week, but meal time shall not be included as part of the work hours of the week or day, provided, however, that no restriction as to the hours of labor shall apply to canneries or establishments engaged in preparing for use perishable goods.'

"Girls between the ages of 18 and 21 are prohibited from working more than ten hours in any one day or 54 hours in any one week in any of the occupations mentioned in section 1008 by section 12996 of the General Code in any town or village of the state regardless of the size.

"Obviously section 1008 is not applicable to females over 21 years of age employed in mercantile institutions in towns and villages with a population of less than 5,000, but the question arises as to whether or not this law is applicable to female employes over 21 years of age employed in restaurants, dress making establishments and other establishments as mentioned in section 1008 in towns and villages with a population of less than 5,000.

"Will you kindly let us have an opinion as soon as possible and greatly oblige, * * *"

That part of section 1008 of the General Code quoted in Mr. Hamilton's letter is taken from the amended section 1008 to be found on page 555 of 103, Ohio Laws. The only change made in the section by the amendment is in the addition of the provision: "Or in any mercantile establishment located in any city."

The question propounded is as to whether or not section 1008, as amended, supra, is applicable to female employes over 21 years of age employed in the various occupations enumerated in the section, namely: "Any factory, workshop, telephone or telegraph office, millinery or dress making establishment, restaurant or in distributing or transmission of messages," when such employment is in villages with a population less than five thousand.

Prior to the enactment of the section in its present form, no question could exist concerning this point. As the provisions of the section are general, there being no limitation as to the place of employment, it is to be observed that the various employments mentioned, at least generally speaking, are to be construed as employments involving manual labor. There is nothing in the section in its present form to indicate an intention on the part of the legislature to exempt from its provisions females engaged in manual labor, and the provision: "Or in any mercantile establishment located in any city," does not tend to modify the effect of the section as it previously existed. On the contrary, it has the effect of extending the scope of its operation to mercantile establishments, so-called, when located in a city as distinguished from mercantile establishments located in villages.

The law under consideration is one of a number of provisions which is the result of an agitation in the interest of the health and welfare of female employes in various occupations in which they are engaged, and there can be no question but that the general assembly did not have in mind any curtailment of the benefits flowing from the legislation when the amendment was passed. It is significant that when house bill No. 163, which is the present law, was introduced in the general assembly it did not contain the provision: "or in any mercantile establishment located in any city," that provision being inserted by way of amendment to the original bill.

It is, therefore, my opinion that while under the provision of section 1008 of the General Code, supra, female employes in mercantile establishments located in villages are exempt from its operation the insertion of the provision in the law "or in any mercantile establishment located in any city" does not serve to exclude from its benefits, females over twenty-one years of age, when employed in the various other occupations enumerated in section 1008 of the General Code, as amended supra, regardless of where they may be located.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1756.

MUNICIPAL CORPORATION—PLANNING COMMISSION—PERSONNEL OF SUCH COMMISSION—SEE SECTION 4366-1, G. C.—NO BOARD OF PARK COMMISSIONERS.

Under the provisions of section 4366-1, G. C., 106 O. L., 455, the council of any city may by ordinance provide for the establishment of a city planning commission to consist of the persons named in said section. When such ordinance has been passed in any city, and such city has no board of park commissioners and no president thereof, said planning commission may consist of the mayor, service director and four citizens to be appointed by the mayor. If thereafter a board of park commissioners is established in said city and a president of said board elected, said president will become ipso facto a member of said board.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 6, 1916.

Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—I have your letter of June 29, 1916, submitting the following inquiry:

> "In cities where there is no board of park commissioners, and consequently no president of a board of park commissioners, would council have any authority to authorize the mayor to appoint a city planning commission, and if so, what would be the personnel of said planning commission in such cities?"

In connection with your foregoing inquiry I have a letter from a solicitor of a certain city in Ohio which states the facts upon which your inquiry is based. Said letter is as follows:

> "Section 4366-1 as passed by the legislature on the 27th day of May, 1915, Vol. 106, O. L., page 455, is as follows:
>
> "'The council of each municipality may establish a city planning commission, consisting of seven members: The mayor, the service director, the president of the board of park commissioners and four citizens of the municipality, who shall serve without compensation and who shall be appointed by the mayor for a term of six years, except that the term of two members of the first commission shall be for three years. Whenever such commission is appointed, it shall have the powers conferred in section 4344, G. C.'

"First. In cities where there is no board of park commissioners and no officer who corresponds to the president of the board of park commissioners, would council have any authority to authorize the mayor to appoint five citizens instead of four?

"Second. In cities in which there is no president of the board of park commissioners, should the city planning commission consist of but six members?

"This matter was presented to me by a resolution of the city council of this city that I prepare an ordinance providing for a city planning commission. In the city of _____ we have no president of the board of park commissioners, the control of the parks being under the supervision of the service director. After an examination of the statutes I reached the opinion that there was no authority to substitute any one for the president of the board of park commissioners, owing to the fact that the service director is already a member of the commission, and, therefore, held that the commission in the city of _____ must consist of but six members, and an ordinance was passed and a commission appointed accordingly. There seemed to be some question as to the correctness of my holding in this matter and I was requested by the mayor and city council to get the opinion of your office upon this subject."

Under the facts above stated I am of the opinion that the ordinance providing for the establishment of a city planning commission in the city in question should follow the strict terms of said section 4366-1 aforesaid. That is to say, the ordinance should provide for the establishment of a city planning commission in said city to consist of seven members, viz.: The mayor, the service director, the president of the board of park commissioners and four citizens of the municipality.

When such ordinance is regularly passed the mayor may appoint four citizens as members of said commission who, together with the mayor and director of public service, will constitute a city planning commission for said city. Should a board of park commissioners thereafter be established in said city, the president thereof, upon his election as such president, will ipso facto become a member of said commission. However, until the happening of such event the six members hereinbefore named will constitute the commission which, in my opinion, will be legally invested with all the rights, powers and duties delegated to planning commissions by the act found in 106 O. L., page 455, of which said section 4366-1 aforesaid is a part.

Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,

Attorney-General.

1757.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS—NOT AUTHORIZED TO EXPEND COUNTY FUNDS UPON BRIDGES WITHIN MUNICIPALITIES UNLESS SUCH BRIDGES ARE ON STATE OR COUNTY ROADS—SEE SECTIONS 2421 AND 7557, G. C.

County commissioners are not authorized to expend county funds upon bridges within municipalities unless such bridges are on state or county roads, or roads of the several classes referred to in sections 2421 and 7557, G. C.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 6, 1916.

HON. G. A. STARN, Prosecuting Attorney, Wooster, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your inquiry of May 29, 1916, which inquiry reads as follows:

"The city of Wooster in Wayne county receives no part of the bridge fund levied upon the property within the city.

"Is it the duty of the city or of the county commissioners to construct a bridge over a natural stream of water on a street within said city, which street is not a state or county road, free turnpike, improved road, abandoned turnpike or a plank road in common public use?

"The city officials claim that the county should construct this bridge, while the county commissioners claim it is not their duty, and that they have no authority to expend the county's money to construct this bridge, notwithstanding the fact that the city receives no portion of the bridge money.

"This matter is regulated by section 2421 of the General Code, and has been construed by the supreme court in the case of Piqua vs. Geist, 59 O. S., 163. According to the construction placed on this section by the supreme court in this case I am of the opinion that the county is not obliged to build this bridge, but the city officials call attention to the case of State ex rel. Sherman v. Carlisle et al. commissioners, reported in 15 O. D., 165, being a decision of the common pleas court of Franklin county. You will note that this is a more recent case than that of the supreme court, and that the last paragraph of the court's opinion is a rather broad, general statement which seems to be in conflict with the supreme court case."

Section 2421, G. C., referred to by you, reads as follows:

"The commissioners shall construct and keep in repair necessary bridges over streams and public canals on state and county roads, free turnpikes, improved roads, abandoned turnpikes and plank roads in common public use, except only such bridges as are wholly in cities and villages having by law the right to demand, and do demand and receive part of the bridge fund levied upon property therein. If they do not demand and receive a portion of the bridge tax, the commissioners shall construct and keep in repair all bridges in such cities and villages. The granting of the demand, made by any city or village for its portion of the bridge tax, shall be optional with the board of commissioners."

Section 7557, G. C., should also be considered in connection with your inquiry, the section reading as follows:

"The county commissioners shall cause to be constructed and kept in repair, as provided by law, all necessary bridges in villages and cities not having the right to demand and receive a portion of the bridge fund levied upon property within such corporations, on all state and county roads, free turnpikes, improved roads, transferred and abandoned turnpikes and plank-roads, which are of general and public utility, running into or through such village or city."

In the case of Piqua v. Geist, 59 O. S., 163, cited by you, the court held that county commissioners are not required to construct and keep in repair bridges over natural streams and public canals on streets established by a city or village for the use and convenience of the municipality and not a part of a state or county road, though the city or village receives no part of the bridge fund levied on the property within the same.

The following is quoted from the opinion of the court in the case of City of Newark v. Jones, 16 O. C. C., 563, 9 O. C. D., 196:

> "There is no direct authority anywhere that county commissioners have the right to build a bridge on a street, as such. If it is a state or county road, or any of those denominated in those statutes, passing through a city, then they have that right under the statute; but not because it is a street, as such, that they have the right to construct these bridges."

To the same effect see the following cases:

> City of Newark v. McDowell, 16 O. C. D., 556; 9 O. C. D., 260.
> Jones v. Commissioners, 2 O. C. C., n. s., 14; 15 O. C. D., 510.

The above cited cases warrant the statement that the rule is well established that county commissioners are not authorized to expend county funds upon bridges within municipalities unless such bridges are on state or county road or roads of the several classes referred to in sections 2421 and 7557, G. C. Such was the holding of this department in opinion 1569, rendered to Hon. George Thornburg, prosecuting attorney of Belmont county, on May 11, 1916. The case of State ex rel. Sherman v. Carlisle, 15 O. D., 165, referred to by you, was reversed by the circuit court of Franklin county on March 30, 1905, and the decision of the circuit court, reversing the common pleas court, was affirmed by the supreme court without report on February 20, 1906. See 74 O. S., 430.

Since rendering the opinion to the prosecuting attorney of Belmont county, referred to above, my attention has been called to the cases of State ex rel. v. Menning, and Bramley v. Bernstein, being cases Nos. 15285 and 15289, in the supreme court of Ohio. These cases had to do with the construction of approaches to the Detroit Superior High Level bridge in the city of Cleveland, which bridge is being built by the county commissioners of Cuyahoga county. The one case instituted by the prosecuting attorney sought to stay the hands of the county authorities and the other, instituted by a tax payer, sought to stay the hands of the city authorities. The lower courts refused an injunction, and on May 29, 1916, the supreme court overruled motions for orders directing the court of appeals to certify its records in the cases to the supreme court on the ground that there was no error committed by the lower courts.

A careful examination of the facts in these cases does not, however, justify the conclusion that the supreme court of Ohio has overruled the case of Piqua v. Geist, supra. The two cases referred to above are in a way a continuation of the former litigation relating to the construction of the high level bridge in the city of Cleveland. This matter was first before the courts in the case of State ex rel. v.

Eirick, 17 O. C. C., n. s., 331, affirmed without report in 84 O. S., 503. It was urged in that case that the county authorities were not authorized to construct the proposed high level bridge for the reason that there was no state road or other road in common public use on which to build it. The court pointed out that inasmuch as the termini of the proposed improvement were located substantially within the limits of a county road, the fact that the roadway, as elevated above the valley by the proposed improvement, was not in a vertical line above the old roadway, was of no importance; that the obvious and proper way to erect a high level bridge across a valley, was to erect it in a straight line, and that if this involved a departure from the circuitous roadway theretofore existing, this fact did not oust the jurisdiction of the county commissioners.

Certain changes having been made in the plans for the structure, and the city of Cleveland entering into an agreement with the commissioners relative to the construction of the bridge, the matter was again brought before the courts in the two cases referred to above. The most substantial change involved an extension of the easterly approach of the high level bridge into Superior avenue, a city street, and not a road of any of the classes mentioned in sections 2421 and 7557, G. C. The facts before the court and considered in the recent cases of State ex rel. v. Menning, and Bramley v. Bernstein were, therefore, that the bridge was to be constructed in a general way along the line of a state or county road, and was designed for use in connection with and to facilitate traveling upon such road, and the westerly approaches were to be constructed in Detroit avenue and West Twenty-fifth street, the one being a state and the other a county road, but the easterly approach was to be constructed in Superior avenue, a city street only, the city having consented to the plan.

The trial court further found that the building of the approaches under the old plans would result in death traps, and that to refuse to sanction the extension of the one approach into Superior avenue would bring about an intolerable condition of affairs. The bridge was designed as a double deck structure; that is, with an upper level roadway for vehicular and pedestrian travel, and a lower level roadway for street car, suburban and rapid transit car travel. This lower level roadway was to be merged with the upper level roadway by means of open wells near each end of the bridge, through which the cars were to emerge to the surface of the streets. After the bridge was under construction it was realized that the location of the open wells as originally planned would divide the roadway into two separate and narrow roadways at each end, just at the points at which there should have been wider roadways to accommodate the slowing up of the traffic by reason of cross travel at the ends of the bridge. It was also found that to follow the original plans would result in seriously obstructing the easterly end of Superior viaduct, and in rendering necessary a heavy fill and dangerous grade on an important connecting street. With these peculiar facts and circumstances before it, the court sanctioned the arrangement with the city involving the construction of one of the approaches to the high level bridge in a city street, but it is clear that the decision of the court must be limited to the peculiar and unusual facts before it, and cannot be regarded as overruling or modifying the general rule laid down in the case of Piqua v. Geist, supra.

I therefore advise you that county commissioners are not authorized to expend county funds upon bridges within municipalities unless such bridges are on state or county roads, or roads of the several classes referred to in sections 2421 and 7557, G. C.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1758.

ROADS AND HIGHWAYS—MILAN-ELYRIA ROAD IN LORAIN COUNTY —CONTRACTORS NOT REQUIRED TO FURNISH ADDITIONAL MATERIAL—WHEN SUPPLEMENTARY CONTRACT MAY BE ENTERED INTO FOR SUCH ADDITIONAL MATERIAL.

Under the facts as submitted, the contractors for section "P" of the Milan-Elyria road, I. C. H. No. 288, contract No. 732, in Lorain county, are not required to furnish additional material in order to produce a base of any particular thickness between sections 174 and 183, and between sections 191 and 232-72. If additional material is necessary for this purpose, a supplementary contract may be made therefor, but before such a contract may be entered into by the state highway commissioner, the county commissioners must agree to assume and pay in the first instance at least one-half the cost of such additional material.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 6, 1916.

HON. CLINTON COWEN, State Highway Commissioner, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Under date of June 28, 1916, I have the following request for an opinion from Mr. H. M. Sharp, chief highway engineer:

"On August 6, 1915, the state highway department received bids for improving 4.4 miles of road with waterbound macadam, contract being known as section 'P,' of the Milan-Elyria road, I. C. H. No. 288, contract No. 732, Lorain county.

"The lowest bidder was Knepper, Burr & Jeakle, who were awarded the contract some time shortly after the bids were received.

"This road previous to improvement was an old macadam road, and it was contemplated to use the two course waterbound macadam construction for specified distances, and also one course waterbound macadam for other specified distances. You will note by referring to the plan and profile for this work that two courses of macadam are specified between stations 0 to 174 and 183 to 191. One course macadam is specified between station 174 to 183 and 191 to 232+72, which is the end of the improvement.

"The surveys, plans and specifications for this improvement were gotten out early in 1915 by the county highway superintendent of Lorain county, assisted by our division engineer. At this time it was decided by the engineers that one course only of macadam would be necessary between the limit above noted.

"The contract was not completed in 1915 and carried the travel on this road over the uncompleted portions during the winter 1915-16. This spring it developed that a short distance where it was contemplated using one course macadam that this construction would be insufficient to insure a good and lasting improvement. In fact, the traffic was such during the winter that we have found it would be advisable, according to our judgment, to now place two courses for a short distance where it was contemplated using but the one course at the time the plans were made and the contract let.

"We therefore, proposed to let a supplemental contract covering the additional bottom course that would be necessary and, which, in our judgment, is not covered by the contract, and prepared a supplemental agreement for $630.00, which was submitted to the county commissioners of Lorain county for their approval.

. "Upon advice from the prosecuting attorney the commissioners feel that they should not approve the contract. In their letter of June 23, 1916, which you will find attached, they give their reasons for not approving same. They further request in this letter that we secure an opinion from your office as to the legality of proceeding as we have under the supplemental agreement.

"We have submitted to your office the profile tracing of this improvement and a copy of the contract for your convenience in acquainting yourself with this work.

"We respectfully request, at your earliest convenience, your opinion as to whether or not we may proceed with this supplemental agreement with the county commissioners in Lorain county."

The letter of the county commissioners of Lorain county, dated June 23, 1916, and referred to in the communication of Mr. Sharp, reads as follows:

"We hereby acknowledge the receipt of your communication of the 12th inst., in which reference is made as to the necessity of letting another contract to cover what your department terms additional material made necessary by unforeseen contingencies, to be used on top of the old macadam base on a part of the Milan-Elyria road, I. C. H. No. 288, section 'P.'

"Our prosecuting attorney sometime ago ruled that the contract now in force on this road covers everything necessary to be done so as to complete the improvement.

"However, for fear that there might possibly be some phase of the terms of the contract that we did not understand he made a special trip to Columbus, this week, to confer with your department on this subject, so as to be perfectly informed as to the exact status of the matter under consideration.

Upon his return he again advises that his first decision still stands, to wit: That the contract and specifications under which the improvement is now being made covers the furnishing of all the labor and material necessary to complete the road improvement in its entirety.

"We have carefully looked over the plans and specifications and do not find any allusion made whatsoever which would indicate that new material would be necessary at the point in question; on the other hand we do find in the specifications certain wording which convinces us that the decision of our prosecuting attorney is correct. We therefore respectfully refer you to page A-2, under the caption 'Old road as foundation,' which in part is as follows: 'Where the material in an old road does not conform to the established lines of the new highway, the old material, if of approved quality and when practical, (on this road it is, we understand) shall be used in constructing the foundation course.' Under the same heading, where there is not sufficient material in the old road foundation, and it is necessary to supply additional matter, the following phraseology covers: 'Should the surface of the old road be irregular, it shall be scarified, graded to the PROPER ELEVATION and all depressions shall be filled with the same kind of material as that of which the course consists."

"Further: page 13. 'Estimated cost' we find this wording. 'The estimates below are only approximate, although the result of calculations, and the contractor must be responsible for his own data on which to base his bid.'

"Further: Under 'Agreement' we find 'According to the plans and specifications.' And as stated before there being no mention of additional material for the point in question, we feel that this covers.

"However, we do not want to appear obstinate in this matter, and we would therefore respectfully suggest, that if your department will secure an opinion from the attorney-general's office, to the effect that we will be within our legal rights to let another contract and pay additional money on this improvement, and will then order us to proceed, we will carry your desires into effect."

If the opinion, which according to the letter of the county commissioners has been expressed by the prosecuting attorney of Lorain county, was founded upon the notice to contractors, instructions to bidders, general and detail specifications, agreement, proposal and contract bond, estimate and proposal for the work, I can readily understand how the prosecuting attorney reached his conclusions and would indeed be inclined to agree with him. An examination of the general and detail specifications indicates, however, that the general specifications are intended to apply in the case of all contract work with the state highway department, and this is true also as to a part of the detail specifications while the remainder of the detail specifications, relating to macadam, are intended to apply to all contract work of the state highway department involving the construction of macadam roadways. In other words, these specifications are manifestly prepared for general use, and it would not be possible for a contractor to determine from the general and detail specifications many of the facts which he must know in order to bid intelligently and with which he must be familiar in order to construct any particular road, and in order to get this information reference must be had by the contractor to the profile tracing and other plans and specifications prepared by the state highway department and relating to any specific work upon which a contractor desires to bid. I have examined the profile tracing of this particular road and find that, among other things, the same contains a cross section showing that the width of the roadway is to be fourteen feet and that each berme is to be five feet wide, and that from section 0 to section 174, and from section 183 to 191, there is to be a top course of waterbound slag, 4½ inches in thickness, and a lower course or base of rolled sandstone 6 inches in thickness. Underneath the drawing, showing the cross section of the road and the above information, is found the following language:

"From 174 to 183 and 191 to 232+72 the old macadam is to be reshaped and used as the foundation course, and top course will be as shown above."

An examination of the profile tracing discloses the further fact that from section 0 to section 174 and from section 183 to 191, an elevation line is shown on the drawing indicating the grade or elevation of the surface of the proposed improvement. From section 174 to 183 and from section 191 to 232+72, no elevation line is shown upon the tracing. In other words, the elevation of the proposed improvement from section 174 to 183 and from section 191 to 232+72 is to be the elevation of the present roadway plus any new materials that the contractor is required to use under the terms of his agreement. The commissioners in their letter refer to the following language found on page A-2 of the detail specifications: "Where the material in an old road does not conform to the established lines of the new highway, the old material, if of approved quality and when practical, shall be used in constructing the foundation course." This provision can have no application to the matter involved in your inquiry for the reason that between sections 174 and 183 and between sections 191 and 232+72, no elevation line has been established for the new highway. The only possible conclusion that can follow from the failure to establish such elevation line is that the elevation of the new work is to be the same as that of the old highway, except as a higher elevation may incidentally result from the application of new material which the contractor is required to furnish.

The county commissioners also refer to the following language found on page A-2 of the detail specifications:

> "Should the surface of the old road be irregular, it shall be scarified, graded to the proper elevation and all depressions shall be filled with the same kind of material as that of which the course consists."

It is apparent from what has already been said that under this provision those portions of the highway in question lying between sections 174 and 183 and between sections 191 and 232+72 need not be graded by the contractor to any particular elevation, for the reason that as to these portions of the highway no elevation is established in the profile. The contractor will have fully complied with this provision, where the surface of the old road is irregular, when he has scarified and graded the same, unless, indeed, such a process does not produce an even surface, under which circumstances it will be necessary for him to fill only so far as may be necessary to produce an even surface. In other words, as to the portions of the highway now under discussion the contractor is not required to construct a base of any particular thickness. If the surface of the old road is regular, the only duty of the contractor, under this particular provision, and in so far as the base is concerned, is to sweep or scrub the old road clean of dirt, mud or other accumulation. Should the surface of the old road be irregular, the contractor is further required to scarify the same and grade it so as to produce an even surface and to resort to filling, so far as the same may be necessary to produce an even surface, in case he is unable to obtain the same by grading and to then see that the scraified material is filled, waterbound and compacted by rolling. As to these sections of roadway the plans were manifestly prepared upon the theory that enough of the old metal remained upon the roadway to constitute a proper and sufficient base and the contractor is not required to add any material for the purpose of increasing the thickness of this base. In so far as the base of these portions of the highway is concerned, the contractor is not required by the above enumerated operations to secure a base of any required thickness, and if on account of unforeseen contingencies it develops that the things which the contractor is required to do will not produce a base of sufficient thickness, then the addition of other and further material is an operation not contemplated by the original contract. The provision in the estimate that the estimates are only approximate, although the result of calculations, and that the contractor must be responsible for his own data on which to base his bid, can be taken as applying only to operations which by the terms of the plans and specifications the successful bidder is required to perform. The agreement on the part of the contractor to furnish all materials, appliances, tools and labor and perform all the work required for the improvement of the highway in question, according to the plans and specifications, could not be taken to require the contractor to do work falling clearly outside the plans and specifications, merely because it might subsequently develop that such work was to be regarded as desirable or necessary in order to produce a satisfactory roadway. There are oftimes certain incidental matters which are manifestly necessary to the proper performance of acts specifically required and which a contractor may be required to perform, although not specifically referred to in the contract, but I am unable to reach the conclusion that the application of extra material, for the purpose of producing a base of proper thickness, on the portions of the highway referred to by Mr. Sharp, is to be regarded as incidental to the performance of the main stipulations in the agreement. I therefore conclude that under the terms of the agreement submitted by Mr. Sharp, the contractor is not required to add additional material for the construction of a bottom course between sections 174 and 183 and between sections 191 and 232+72, except in so far as the addition of material may be necessary to secure an even surface, and that if it has developed that the scarifying of the metal now on the road and the grading of the same to an even surface will not produce a base of sufficient thickness, the contractor may, nevertheless, fully perform his contract without adding any additional material, provided he is able to scarify the material on the road and grade the same to an even surface, and that if it is desired by your department and by the county commissioners of Lorain county to add additional material between the sections referred to above and construct a base of greater thickness than can be built out of the material now on the road, it will be necessary to enter into a supplemental contract for such work. I am further of the opinion that if the conditions set forth in Mr. Sharp's letter exist and are due either to inadvertence in the preparation of the original plans or to the wear of traffic during the time between the preparation of the plans and the performance of the work, or to a combination of such causes, the situation may properly be regarded as constituting an unforseen contingency within the meaning of section 1210, G. C. There is no statute under which the county commissioners of Lorain county can be compelled to assume any share of the cost and expense of the extra work. The commissioners will be fully within their legal rights if they decline to enter into such an agreement, but it is equally true that the state highway commissioner will be fully within his rights in refusing to have the extra work performed unless the county commissioners will agree to assume and pay in the first instance, at least one-half of the cost and expense thereof. In other words, the county commissioners are fully authorized to assume and agree to pay in the first instance fifty per cent. or more of the cost and expense of the extra work, but cannot be required to enter into such an agreement.

I learn by an examination of the certified copy of the original final resolution, providing for this improvement and on file in your office, that the state's portion of this improvement is being paid out of intercounty highway funds, and that the cost and expense of the improvement is being paid one-half by the state and one-half in the first instance by the county. Section 206 of the Cass Highway Law, section 1213, G. C., has the effect of limiting to fifty per cent. the proportion which may be paid by the state toward the cost and expense of constructing an improvement, the state's share of which is to be paid from intercounty highway funds. If, therefore, the county commissioners of Lorain county are unwilling to enter into a supplementary agreement to assume in the first instance at least one-half of the cost and expense of the extra work, referred to herein, then you will be without authority to do such extra work, and it will be necessary to construct the improvement in accordance with the original plans and specifications, as herein interpreted.

I am returning to you the letter of the county commissioners of Lorain county, and also the profile tracing and copy of contract submitted to me for examination.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1759.

ROADS AND HIGHWAYS—HOW COMPENSATION AND EXPENSES OF ASSISTANTS EMPLOYED UNDER SECTION 7181, G. C., ARE TO BE PAID—HOW ASSISTANTS, SUPERINTENDENTS AND INSPECTORS EMPLOYED UNDER SECTION 1219, G. C., ARE TO BE PAID.

1. The compensation and expenses of assistants employed under section 7181, G. C., are to be paid from the general county fund.

2. The county's portion of the compensation and expenses of assistants, superintendents and inspectors, employed under section 1219, G. C., are to be paid from the special fund created for the construction of the particular improvement upon which such assistants, superintendents or inspectors may be engaged.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 6, 1916.

The Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—I have your communication of May 26, 1916, which communication reads as follows:

> "We would respectfully request your written opinion upon the following questions:
>
> "(1) From what fund are compensations of assistants employed under section 138 of the Cass highway law (section 7181, G. C. 106 O. L., 612) to be paid, and from what fund are the expenses of said assistants to be paid?
>
> "(2) From what fund are compensations of assistants employed under section 212 of the Cass highway law, (section 1219, G. C., 106 O. L., 639) to be paid, and from what fund are the expenses of said assistants to be paid?"

Those provisions of section 138 of the Cass highway law, section 7181, G. C., pertinent to your inquiry, are as follows:

> "In the event the county highway superintendent cannot properly perform all the duties of his office, the county commissioners shall fix the aggregate compensation to be expended for assistants by the county highway superintendent during the year. Such compensation shall be paid out of the county treasury in the same manner as the salary of county officials is paid. In addition thereto, the county highway superintendent and his assistants, when on official business, shall be paid out of the county treasury, their actual, necessary traveling expenses, including livery, board and lodging."

The compensation and expenses referred to in your first question are, under the terms of section 7181, G. C., to be paid out of the county treasury, but the section in question does not expressly provide as to the fund from which payment is to be made. So far as compensation is concerned, it is, however, provided that the same shall be paid in the same manner as the salary of county officials is paid. Under the provisions of section 2989, G. C., county officials receive their salaries out of the general county fund and the same are paid monthly upon the warrant of the county auditor. It is also worthy of note that the assistants appointed under authority of section 7181, G. C., are not appointed for the purpose of carrying forward the engineering work in connection with any particular improvement, but they are appointed to assist the county highway superintendent generally in the performance of all of the duties of his office. In view of the above considerations it is my opinion that the compensation and expenses of assistants, appointed under authority of section 7181, G. C., are to be paid from the general county fund.

Section 212 of the Cass highway law, section 1219, G. C., reads as follows:

> "The chief highway engineer may direct the county highway superintendent to make the necessary surveys and plans for the proposed highway improvement. The expense of such surveys and plans shall be equally divided between the state and county, except in cases where the improvement is being made on application of the township trustees, in which case the expense of such plans and surveys shall be equally divided between the state and township. The county highway superintendent, with the approval of the chief highway engineer, may employ such assistants as are necessary to prepare such plans and surveys, and also, with like approval, such superintendents and inspectors as may be necessary in the construction of said improvement. Each of said assistants, superintendents and inspectors shall receive such pay as the chief highway engineer may determine. All work in connection with such improvement shall be done under the direction of the chief highway engineer. The expense of supervision and inspection of said improvement shall be apportioned on the same basis as the cost of construction."

This section contains no provision as to the manner of payment of the county's portion of the compensation and expenses of assistants, superintendents and inspectors appointed thereunder, and no provision as to the fund from which such payment is to be made. The only provision of the section is that the expense of surveys and plans shall be equally divided between the state and county, except in cases where the improvement is being made on application of the township trustees in which case the expense of such plans and surveys shall be equally divided between the state and township, and that the expense of the supervision and inspection shall be apportioned on the same basis as the cost of construction.

Evidence as to the intention of the legislature is furnished by the provision of the section to the effect that the expense of supervision and inspection shall be apportioned on the same basis as the cost of construction. Under section 1222, G. C., tax levies are authorized for the payment of the county's and township's proportion of the cost and expense of construction, and under section 1223, the proceeds of bond issues may be used for paying the cost and expense of construction. Under section 1214, G. C., the cost and expense of an improvement made under this chapter of the Cass highway law is to be divided in certain proportions and a part thereof is to be assessed against abutting real estate. The use in section 1219 of the expression "cost of construction," and the use in the sections relating to tax levies, bond issues and division of cost of the expression "cost and expense," indicates that the legislature had in mind that the aggregate cost of an improvement under this chapter of the law would consist of two items, to wit: the actual cost of construction and the expense incident to construction. I think that from the above it is indicated that engineering expense incurred in connection with an improvement carried forward by the state highway department is to be regarded as a part of the aggregate cost and expense of such improvement, and that therefore the county's or township's share of such engineer expense should be paid from the special fund provided for the construction of the improvement in connection with which such expense is incurred. It is also worthy of consideration that appointees, under this section, are not appointed for the purpose of assisting the county highway superintendent generally, but are appointed for the purpose of assisting in the making of surveys, the preparation of plans and the supervision of the work of construction of particular improvements. Under such circumstances and without reference to the reason above assigned the same principles may be invoked that are applicable in determining whether or not engineering expense in connection with an improvement is to be regarded as a part of the cost and expense of such an improvement, and all or some part thereof assessed against the benefited real estate. If compensation and expenses of assistants, superintendents and inspectors, appointed under section 1219, G. C., is to be regarded as a part of the cost and expense of constructing the improvement upon which they are employed, and if a part thereof may be assessed against the benefited real estate, then the compensation and expenses of such assistants, superintendents and inspectors should be paid from the special fund provided for the improvement upon which they are employed. If such compensation and expenses may not be regarded as a part of the cost and expense of the improvement and a part thereof specially assessed, then such compensation and expenses should be paid from the general county fund.

It was held in the case of Longworth et al. v. City of Cincinnati, 34 O. S., 101, that if a superintendent of a city street improvement is necessary, and one is employed by the city for a particular improvement, the amount paid by the city for his services may properly be included in the assessment. A similar conclusion was reached by the court in the case of State ex rel. Dolle v. Miller, et al., 18 O. D., N. P., 218, in which case it was held that where the board of public service of a city appoints an agent to inspect work on a particular street improvement as it progresses, the expense of such inspector is a proper charge against the cost of the improvement. To the same effect see City of Cincinnati v. Newell et al., 17 Weekly Law Bulletin, 287.

In view of the above considerations I am of the opinion that the county's portion of the compensation and expenses of assistants, superintendents and inspectors appointed under section 1219, G. C., should be paid from the special fund created for the construction of the particular improvement upon which such assistants, superintendents or inspectors may be engaged. The same would be true as to the township's portion of such compensation and expenses where an improvement is made on the application of township trustees. I understand that you desire an answer to your second question only in so far as the financial transactions of counties and townships are concerned.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1760.

JOINT COUNTY DITCHES—INTERPRETATION OF SECTION 6536, G. C., 103 O. L., 836—PROCEEDINGS NECESSARY—WHEN BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS ACT JOINTLY AND SEPARATELY.

Since the amendment of section 6536, G. C., et seq., 103 O. L., 836, the provisions thereof are specifically made applicable to the improvement of a living stream.

In proceedings pursuant to section 6536, G. C., et seq., for the improvement of a joint county ditch, drain, watercourse or the channel of a river, creek or run, when the improvement has been determined upon and the damages and compensation of property owners assessed and the cost and expense of the improvement apportioned to the several counties, the further proceedings as to such improvement should be had by the commissioners of the several counties separately, as provided in case of the improvement of single county ditches by section 6442, G. C., et seq.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 6, 1916.

HON. T. B. JARVIS, Prosecuting Attorney, Mansfield, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Yours under date of June 20, 1916, is as follows:

'There has been filed a petition with our board of county commissioners asking for the straightening, widening and deepening of the run, the water course being the Black Fork of the Mohican, a living stream which is probably fifteen feet wide and from three to five feet deep, beginning in Richland county, and passing through into Ashland county and back again forming the county line between the two counties for some ten or twelve miles.

"This petition was filed under the authority of section 6535, as amended in the 102 Laws of Ohio, page 313. The petition contains the names of about twenty-five people who will be benefited by the improvement, some of whom are in Richland and some in Ashland county.

"The joint board of county commissioners have met relative to the matter, but the prosecuting attorney of Ashland county and myself as prosecuting attorney of Richland county, are unable to agree that this is the proper section under which the petition should be filed. We feel that the proceedings should be brought under section 6563-1. That attorney for petitioners maintain that if brought under this section, there is no authority by which the the stream may be deepened or widened, and that the ends to be accomplished cannot be obtained under the new law.

"Referring to Attorney-General Hogan's opinion as found in volume 2 of 1913 Opinions, page 1164 and following, it would appear that the petitions should be filed under section 6563-1. This section requires fifty or more signers to the petition. It is suggested that it will be almost impossible to obtain fifty signers to the petition who will be benefited by the improvement, and probably this is the reason the petition is filed under this section which permits of one or more signers to the petition.

"Our boards have adjourned to meet on the 30th day of June, awaiting a reply from your department as to the proper section under which the petition should be filed for the purpose of deepening and widening and straightening this stream of water.

"You will note in this section 6563-1, improve and straighten are the words used. I think the word 'improve' implies deepening, widening, and locating, and is just as complete as the former.

"Second, should the improvement be made under section 6536, does the joint board act as a joint board throughout the entire construction, that is, letting the contract jointly, make the assessments jointly, etc., or does each board act independently if the petition is allowed. * * *"

Referring to an opinion of my predecessor, Hon. Timothy S. Hogan, found at page 1164 of the Report of the Attorney-General for the year 1913, you state "that it appears that the petitions should be filed under section 6563-1."

It is held in the opinion so referred to that at the time it and the opinion on page 1174 of the same volume were rendered, sections 6536, G. C., et seq., were not applicable to the improvement of rivers, creeks or runs, and it is assumed that it is upon this holding that you base the statement that the petition should be filed under section 6563-1, G. C., et seq., since it is further stated that the improvement of a living stream is sought by the proceedings under consideration.

It will be noted, however, that since the opinions above mentioned were rendered, section 6536, G. C., was amended in 103 O. L., 836, whereby it was made to specifically include the improvement of the channel of a river, creek or run as follows:

"Ditches, drains or watercourses which provide drainage, or, when constructed, will provide drainage for lands in more than one county, may be located and constructed, enlarged, cleaned, or repaired or boxed or tiled as provided in this chapter and the laws prescribed for constructing, enlarging, cleaning or repairing single county ditches, drains or watercourses, or the channel of a river, creek, or run, ditch, or part thereof which provides drainage, or when improved will provide better drainage for lands in more than one county, may be improved by straightening, widening, deepening or changing the channel or part thereof, of it, or by removing from adjacent lands, timber, brush, trees, or other substance liable to obstruct it, as provided in this chapter and the laws prescribed for the improvement of the channel of a river, creek or run or part thereof as provided in the laws for single county ditches."

Subsequent sections of the General Code were so amended in the same act as to prescribe proceedings and provided complete machinery for the improvement of rivers, creeks, and runs thereunder, so that there is a complete scheme for the improvement of rivers, creeks and runs, under sections 6536 to 6563, G. C., as amended in 103 O. L., 836, distinct from and independent of the scheme provided in section 6563-1, G. C., et seq., as enacted in 102 O. L., 575.

The initiatory steps under the two schemes of improvement are clearly distinct in that under the former application to the board of commissioners of each county therein required may be made by a single person, while under the latter a petition signed by fifty or more persons interested in the improvement, togther with a bond, is required to be filed with the auditor of one of the counties in which the proposed improvement is located.

By reason of the amendment of section 6536, G. C., et seq., 103 O. L., 836, it is made perfectly clear, and I am of opinion that proceedings may be had under said section for the improvement of a living stream.

Coming to a consideration of your second question, viz., do the several boards of commissioners act jointly throughout the proceedings for improvement of a ditch, drain, watercourse, river, creek or run, under the provisions of section 6536, G. C., et seq., it will be noted that while the application is required to be made to each board of commissioners, it is provided by section 6537, G. C., 103 O. L., 836, that:

> "Application for damages shall be made and appeals from the finding of the commissioners, in joint session, locating and establishing such ditch or granting the improvement, of the channel of a river, creek or run or any part thereof, and from the assessment of damages or compensation, shall be taken to the probate court of the county in which the greatest length of such ditch or improvement, or the greatest length of the channel of a river, creek, or run, ordered improved is located. A majority of the joint board of commissioners, when in joint session, shall be competent to locate and establish such ditch or improvement, or to grant the order improving the channel of a river, creek, or run or part thereof.

Further provision is made in said section for the appointment of an engineer to sit with the joint board in case of an inability of the joint board to determine the matters before it by reason of an equal division of the membership thereof on such question.

By section 6539, G. C., 103 O. L., 837, it is provided:

> "If the majority of the joint board of county commissioners in joint session find in favor of the proposed improvement or improvements provided for in section 6537, and are unable to agree as to the proportion of the costs of location and construction of the improvement, or of the improvement of the channel or part thereof of a river, creek or run, which shall be assessed in each of the counties, respectively, the commissioners of either county may petition the court of common pleas of the county in which the greatest length of such ditch or improvement or the greatest length of the channel of a river, creek or run ordered improved, is located for the appointment of three disinterested freeholders, not residents of either of said counties, who, within thirty days thereafter, after being duly sworn and upon actual view of the improvement, shall estimate and report to the court the amount which would be charged to the land respectively in each county interested in the improvement. * * * Costs, including allowance to said freeholders, shall be charged to the parties as the court may determine. After final determination, the clerk of the court shall send a transcript of such proceedings, duly certified, to the commissioners of each county, who shall make the apportionment of costs of location and construction or the improvements of the channel or part thereof of a river, creek or run, as provided by law for single county ditches, giving to the property in each county the amount so determined in the court proceeding, including costs."

No further provision is found for joint action of the boards of county commissioners in respect to the improvement of a joint county ditch or a river, creek or run located in more than one county, in the scheme prescribed in section 6536, et seq. It is provided, however, by section 6536, G. C., supra, that joint county ditches may be located, constructed, etc., "as provided in this chapter, and the laws prescribed for constructing, enlarging, cleaning or repairing single county ditches, drains or watercourses," and that "the channel of a river, creek or run, ditch or part thereof * * * may be improved by straightening, widening, deepening or changing * * * as provided in this chapter, and the laws prescribed for the improvement of the channel of a river, creek or run, or part thereof, as provided in the laws for single county ditches."

The phrase "as provided in this chapter," found in section 6536, G. C., prior to the amendment in 103 O. L., 836, was substituted in the codification of 1910 for the phrase "as provided in this act," and when it received its present form in original section 6536, G. C., in the codification of 1910, the chapter in which said section was found contained only sections 6536 to 6563, G. C., inclusive, so that the phrase "as provided in this chapter," at that time and prior to its amendment in 103 O. L., meant only as provided in the last mentioned sections, and had no reference whatever to any proceeding prescribed or authorized by sections 6563-1, et seq.

While the provision as to rivers, creeks and runs came into section 6536 by amendment in 103 O. L., 836, after the enactment of sections 6563-1 to 6563-48, in 102 O. L., 575, I am inclined to the view that the phrase "as provided in this chapter" as found in the language of said section as to rivers, creeks and runs incorporated in said amendment, should be given the same interpretation as the same language previously used in the section. That is to say, the phrase "as provided in this chapter" in both instances adopts by reference only the provisions of sections 6536 to 6563, G. C., as amended in 103 O. L., 836.

I am therefore led to conclude that after the proceedings prescribed and authorized by sections 6536 to 6540, G. C., inclusive, have been completed in the case stated by you, and the improvement of the stream referred to accordingly determined upon and the damages or compensation assessed by the joint board and the costs and expenses of the improvement apportioned to the several counties, the further proceeding as to such improvement should be had by the county commissioners of the several counties separately, as provided in the case of the improvement of single county ditches by section 6442, G. C., et seq.

Since section 6536, G. C., et seq., as amended in 103 O. L., 836, and sections 6563-1, G. C., et seq., 102 O. L., 575, provide separate and distinct schemes for the improvement of ditches, drains and natural watercourses, either of which might be pursued in the improvement of a living stream, it would seem to be clearly a matter of choice as to which scheme should be adopted to be exercised by the persons by whom the improvement is proposed. If the application is made by less than fifty persons to the board of commissioners of each of the counties in which the proposed improvement is located, then the improvement must be made and the proceedings had as prescribed in sections 6536, G. C., above referred to. On the contrary, if the petition and bond are filed, as required by sections 6563-1 to 6563-4, G. C., inclusive, the improvement must be made and the proceedings had as prescribed by sections 6563-1 to 6563-48, G. C.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1761.

APPROVAL, RESOLUTION FOR IMPROVEMENT OF TWO ROADS IN WOOD COUNTY.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 6, 1916.

HON. CLINTON COWEN, State Highway Commissioner, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of June 30, 1916, transmitting to me for examination final resolutions relating to the following roads:

> "Wood County—Sec. 'E' of the Bowling Green-Perrysburg road, Pet. No. 3098, I. C. H. No. 282. (Also duplicate).
> "Wood County—Sec. 'F' of the Bowling Green-Perrysburg road, Pet. No. 3098, I. C. H. No. 282. (Also duplicate)."

I find these resolutions to be in regular form and am, therefore, returning the same with my approval endorsed upon the duplicate copies thereof.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1762.

BRIDGES—DUTY OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS TO REPAIR BRIDGES BUILT BY THEM ON COUNTY ROADS IN CITIES AND VILLAGES—BOTH COUNTY COMMISSIONERS AND MUNICIPAL CORPORATIONS LIABLE FOR INJURIES WHEN SUCH BRIDGES BECOME DEFECTIVE AND DANGEROUS.

It is the duty of county commissioners, under sections 2421 and 7557, G. C., to repair bridges built by them on county roads in cities and villages, and they are liable for injuries occasioned by failure to perform said duty.

Municipalities in which said bridges are located also may be liable for a failure to protect the public against injury from such bridges when the same become defective and dangerous. (Mooney, Admr. v. Village of St. Marys, 15 C. C., 446; Newark v. McDowell, 16 C. C., 556.)

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 7, 1916.

HON. CHARLES H. JONES, Prosecuting Attorney, Jackson, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your letter of July 1, 1916, submitting the following inquiry:

> "Whose duty is it, under the Cass road law, to repair bridges built by county commissioners, located in, 1st, cities; 2nd, villages, on county roads extending into such municipalities; and are the commissioners or the municipalities liable for injuries occasioned by a failure to repair?"

You first inquire whose duty it is under the Cass highway law to repair bridges, built by county commissioners, located on county roads extending into cities and villages.

It must be observed, in the first place, that no provision of the Cass highway law repeals or modifies either section 2421, G. C., or section 7557, G. C., which said sections provide as follows:

"Sec. 2421. The commissioners shall construct and keep in repair necessary bridges over streams and public canals on state and county roads, free turnpikes, improved roads, abandoned turnpikes and plank roads in common public use, except only such bridges as are wholly in cities and villages having by law the right to demand, and do demand and receive part of the bridge fund levied upon property therein. If they do not demand and receive a portion of the bridge tax, the commissioners shall construct and keep in repair all bridges in such cities and villages. The granting of the demand, made by any city or village for its portion of the bridge tax, shall be optional with the board of commissioners.

"Sec. 7557. The county commissioners shall cause to be constructed and kept in repair, as provided by law, all necessary bridges in villages and cities not having the right to demand and receive a portion of the bridge fund levied upon property within such corporations, on all state and county roads, free turnpikes, improved roads, transferred and abandoned turnpikes and plank roads, which are of general and public utility, running into or through such village or city."

In an opinion of this department rendered by Hon. U. G. Denman on October 28, 1910, reported in the Attorney-General's Reports for the years 1910-1911, page 781; it was held that:

"Under the General Code no cities are entitled to demand and receive any portion of the county bridge fund."

Commenting upon the right of cities to demand a portion of the bridge fund it is stated in said opinion that:

"I beg to advise that section 2824 of the Revised Statutes provided for certain cities receiving part of the bridge fund from the county. This section has been divided and written into the General Code as sections 5635 and 5636. Neither of these sections now provide for paying any portion of the bridge fund to any city. I note from the table of revision in the General Code that that portion of old section 2824, R. S., which provided for certain cities receiving a portion of the bridge fund, was considered special legislation by the codifying commission and was omitted in the General Code.

"Section 2421 of the General Code makes a reference to cities which receive a part of the bridge fund, but I am unable to find anywhere in the General Code any provision for any city to receive any portion of such fund, and I am, therefore, of the opinion that the city of Fremont is not entitled to demand and receive any portion of the bridge fund."

Following this opinion—in which I fully concur—it has been held by this department in various subsequent opinions that the sections above quoted, namely, sections 2421 and 7557, G. C., aforesaid, are of general application and that under their provisions county commissioners are charged with the duty of constructing and keeping in repair all necessary bridges on state and county roads, free turnpikes, improved roads, transferred and abandoned turnpikes and plank roads, which are of general and public utility in all cities and villages.

Therefore, answering your first question specifically the duty to repair the bridges specified in said inquiry is imposed on county commissioners, not, however, under the Cass road law but by virtue of the provisions of said sections 2421 and 7557, G. C., aforesaid.

Your next inquiry refers to the liability for injuries occasioned by failure to repair said bridges.

As the duty is imposed upon the board of county commissioners to make such repairs, it follows that primarily such liability rests upon them. But under some circumstances the municipality has been held by the courts liable for a failure to properly guard the public against danger from defective bridges located therein which it is the duty of the county commissioners to keep in repair.

Mooney, Admr. v. Village of St. Marys, 15 C. C., 446;
Affirmed without report, 60 O. S., 599;
Newark v. McDowell, 16 C. C., 556.

An examination of the above cases will disclose the theory and principle under which municipalities may be held liable for injuries sustained by reason of defective bridges in the class named in your inquiry.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1763.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, HANCOCK COUNTY.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 8, 1916.

The Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.
GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of Hancock county, Ohio, in the amount of $190,000.00 for the improvement of that part of intercounty highway No. 22 (now being also a part of Main Market road No. 7) lying in Orange, Eagle, Union and Liberty townships, being 190 bonds of $1,000.00 each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the county commissioners and other officers of Hancock county relative to the above bond issue, also the bond and coupon form attached, and find the same regular and in accordance with the provision of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the form submitted and executed by the proper officers will constitute valid and binding obligations of Hancock county, Ohio.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1764.

APPROVAL, LEASE OF PART OF ABANDONED HOCKING CANAL TO J. R. ELDER, FOR OIL AND GAS PURPOSES.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 10, 1916.

HON. FRANK R. FAUVER, Superintendent of Public Works, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of June 30, 1916, transmitting to me for examination triplicate copies of a lease to J. R. Elder, of 10,700 feet of the abandoned Hocking canal near Haydenville, for oil and gas purposes, the lease providing for a bonus of $200.00 and a one-eighth royalty on all the oil and gas produced.

I find this lease to be in regular form and am, therefore, returning the same with my approval endorsed thereon.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1765.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE, BRIGHTON RURAL SCHOOL DISTRICT, LORAIN COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 10, 1916.

The Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of Brighton rural school district of Lorain county, Ohio, in the sum of $1,500.00, being three bonds of $500.00 each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the Brighton board of education and other officers of Brighton rural school district, relative to the above bond issue, also the bond and coupon form attached, and find the same regular and in conformity with the provision of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the form submitted and executed by the proper officers will constitute valid and binding obligations of said rural school district.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1766.

JUDGE OF LORAIN CRIMINAL COURT—COMPENSATION FIXED BY COUNCIL—IN STATE CASES SAME FEES AS JUSTICE OF PEACE—CHIEF OF POLICE ENTITLED TO NO COMPENSATION FOR SERVICES RENDERED IN LORAIN CRIMINAL COURT.

The judge of the Lorain criminal court is entitled not only to the compensation fixed by council but also in state cases to the same fees as a justice of the peace is entitled.

There being no provision for compensation of chief of police for services rendered in Lorain criminal court, he is not entitled to any.

The city is not entitled to bring suit to recover from chief of police moneys received by him from defendants in state criminal cases.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 10, 1916.

Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—Under date of June 13, 1916, you requested my opinion upon two questions relative to the criminal court of Lorain, Ohio.

Your first question is as follows:

> "(1) Is the judge of the criminal court of the city of Lorain, Ohio, entitled to retain his fees collected in state cases when same are collected of defendants?"

Upon receipt of your request for opinion we wrote to the judge of the said criminal court in regard to the matter, and under date of June 30th received a brief on his behalf.

In the case of State ex rel. McCarty v. Oberlin, auditor, (unreported), the court of appeals of Stark county held that the criminal court in the city of Canton was essentially a police court and was governed by the laws relating thereto. However, the opinion was rendered in said case solely as to the disposition of fines collected by said court.

In opinion No. 137 of this department, rendered to your bureau under date of March 11, 1915, Opinions of the Attorney-General for 1915, page 264, I held that so far as the disposition of fines by the Lorain criminal court is concerned, said fines are to be disposed of in the same manner as if assessed by a police court. However, the matter under consideration here cannot be considered as in any way determined either by the case or by the opinion hereinbefore referred to.

The criminal court of Lorain was established by an act found in 101 O. L., 385. Sections 1 and 8 thereof were subsequently amended in 103 O. L., 397, but so far as the question here involved is concerned the amendments to said sections have no bearing.

Section 5 of said act (section 14740-17 of the Appendix to the General Code), provides as follows:

> "Such court shall have power to compel the attendance of witnesses, jurors and parties. Jurors shall have the qualifications and be subject to the challenges of those in court of common pleas in like cases. They shall be selected, summoned and impaneled in accordance with an ordinance of the city council; or if no such ordinance is in force, in accordance with a rule of the court and they shall receive the same fees as are allowed jurors and witnesses in courts of justice of the peace.

Other fees shall be the same as before the justice of the peace in like cases."

Section 10 of said act (section 14740-22 of the Appendix to the General Code) provides as follows:

"The bond and compensation of such judge shall be fixed by the council."

The question naturally arises as to whether or not the provisions of section 10 of the act referred to, that the bond and compensation of the judge of the Lorain criminal court shall be fixed by council, refers to the entire compensation of such judge both for acting in ordinance as well as state cases, or whether the provision of section 5 that "other fees shall be the same as before the justice of the peace in like cases" would entitle the judge of the court to charge the same fees as a justice would in the hearing of state cases. The general rule is that where there are specific provisions relative to a matter in an act, and likewise general provisions, the specific shall govern.

However, the act establishing the criminal court in Lorain was passed subsequent to the decision in certain cases in Ohio, which establish the rule that a mayor was entitled to receive and retain his fees in state cases, although council had enacted an ordinance providing that all fees received by him should be turned into the municipal treasury. Furthermore, the criminal court in Lorain is a successor to the mayor's court of said city, and prior to the enactment of the said act establishing the criminal court, the mayor was entitled to the fees fixed by council as well as to the fees fixed in state cases.

I am informed that there have been no allowances made by county commissioners to the judge of the Lorain criminal court for services performed in state cases, but that the judge thereof retains his fees charged in said cases as remuneration for the work done therein.

After careful consideration of the matter I am of the opinion that the provisions of section 10 of the act, that the compensation of the judge shall be fixed by council, refers solely to the compensation he is to receive for his services in ordinance cases, and that the provision of section 5 of the act entitles the judge to charge and retain the same fees as the justice of the peace in like cases.

Your next question is as follows:

"(2) Is the chief of police of said city, rendering service in said criminal court, entitled to retain the fees earned by him in such cases when collected of defendants prosecuted in said court?"

The above inquiry refers solely to state cases.

There are no provisions contained in the act establishing the Lorain criminal court prescribing who shall be the ministerial officer of said court.

Section 13500, G. C., provides as follows:

"The warrant shall be directed to the sheriff or to any constable of the county, or, when it is issued by an officer of a municipal corporation, to the marshal or other police officer thereof."

Under the provisions of section 8 of the act establishing the Lorain criminal court (section 14740-20 of the Appendix to the General Code), the judge thereof is elected by the electors of said city, and would therefore be an officer of the municipal corporation, and under the provisions of section 13500, G. C., would direct the warrants to the chief of police or other police officer thereof. However, there is no provision made as to any fees for such chief of police.

The provision of section 5 of the act establishing the Lorain criminal court, "other fees shall be the same as before the justice of the peace in like cases," is not sufficient to provide the fee for the police officer serving the warrant, since there are no provisions of statute that I have been able to find which permit of a fee to be paid to the chief of police or other police officer in cases prosecuted before a justice of the peace. Therefore, there being no fees provided in such matter, the chief of police of Lorain, in rendering service in said criminal court, would not be entitled to charge any fees in state cases. However, if he has charged such fees and received the same from defendants, I am of the opinion that the city would not be authorized to bring suit to recover the same from him. See Delaware v. Mathews, 13 O. C. C., n. s., 539. Affirmed without report, 82 O. S. 423.

It is true that section 285, G. C., 103 O. L., 507, at page 509 provides:

> "The term 'public money' as used herein shall include all money received or collected under color of office whether in accordance with or under authority of any law, ordinance or order, or otherwise, and all public officials, their deputies and employes, shall be liable therefor."

However, on referring back to the earlier part of said section it is provided that "if the report sets forth that * * * any public money collected has not been accounted for, * * * " suit shall be brought "in the name of the political subdivision or taxing district to which such public money is due * * *."

The amount of money which has been received by the chief of police as fees in state cases from the defendants, but which was not properly charged in the costs, cannot be considered as moneys due to the subdivision. Therefore, I am of the opinion that if the chief of police has charged and received fees from defendants in state cases for services rendered in the Lorain criminal court no action can be instituted by the city for the recovery thereof.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1767.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE BY BOARDMAN RURAL SCHOOL DISTRICT, MAHONING COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 10, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.
GENTLEMEN:—

> "RE:—Bonds of Boardman rural school district, Mahoning county, Ohio, in the sum of $30,000.00, for the purpose of erecting a school building at Boardman Center, being sixty bonds of $500.00 each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the board of education and other officers of Boardman rural school district, relative to the above bonds, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the form submitted and executed by the proper officers will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of said district.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1768.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS—REQUEST MADE BY COUNTY AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY FOR LEVY—COMMISSIONERS DETERMINE AMOUNT—MANDATORY TO LEVY TAX TO PRODUCE SAID AMOUNT.

Under provision of section 9894, G. C., the commissioners of a county, on request being made by the agricultural society of such county, may determine the amount of money to be raised for the purpose expressed in said section, keeping within the limitations therein provided, and, subject to their discretion as to the amount to be named, it is mandatory on said commissioners to levy the tax which they estimate will produce said amount, the same to be set forth in the annual budget filed with the county auditor and by him placed before the county budget commission for consideration under provision of section 5649-3*c, G. C.*

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 10, 1916.

HON. GEORGE C. VON BESELER, Prosecuting Attorney, Painesville, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—In your letter of June 23rd you request my opinion as follows:

> "May I have your opinion please, as to whether or not the provisions of section 9894 of the General Code of Ohio are mandatory as to the maximum amount of one thousand five hundred dollars, in the event that a levy of one-tenth of one mill would produce that sum? In other words, is it discretionary with the county commissioners, when a county or a county agricultural society, holds and owns under a lease, real estate used as a site whereon to hold fairs, for the board of county commissioners to pay this sum of one thousand five hundred dollars, any amount less than that, or nothing at all."

Section 9894, G. C., provides:

> "When a county or a county agricultural society, owns or holds under a lease, real estate used as a site whereon to hold fairs, and the county agricultural society therein has the control and management of such lands and buildings, for the purpose of encouraging agricultural fairs, the county commissioners shall on the request of the agricultural society annually levy taxes of not exceeding a tenth of one mill upon all taxable property of the county, but in no event to exceed the sum of one thousand five hundred dollars, which sum shall be paid by the treasurer of the county to the treasurer of the agricultural society, upon an order from the county auditor duly issued therefor. Such commissioners shall pay out of the treasury any sum from money in the general fund not otherwise appropriated, in anticipation of such levy."

This section prior to its amendment (102 O. L., 105) read as follows:

"When a county owns real estate used as a site whereon to hold fairs, and the county agricultural society therein has the control and management of the lands and buildings of the county, for the purpose of encouraging agricultural fairs, the county commissioners may annually levy taxes of not exceeding a tenth of one mill upon all taxable property of the county, which sum shall be paid by the treasurer of the county to the treasurer of the agricultural society; upon an order from the county auditor duly issued therefor. Prior to the levy of any such tax, if they determine it to be for the best interest of the county and society, such commissioners may pay out of the treasury any sum from money in the general fund not otherwise appropriated, in anticipation of such levy."

It will be observed that section 9894, G. C., supra, as amended and as now in force, is more liberal in its terms and gives to county agricultural societies coming within its provisions greater rights than were granted by said section as in force prior to its amendment. The old section merely permitted aid to be given to a county agricultural society of a county which owned the real estate used as a site whereon to hold county fairs, said agricultural society having control of such lands and buildings located thereon and used for agricultural fair purposes. The amended section provides that, under the conditions therein prescribed, the county commissioners shall levy a tax.

In this connection I note that section 9887, G. C., provides the conditions under which county commissioners may levy a tax upon all the taxable property of the county for the purpose of providing a fund to aid in the purchase or lease and improvement of an agricultural fair site, and section 9895, G. C., provides when the county commissioners may levy a tax upon all the taxable property of the county to provide a fund greater in amount than that authorized by section 9894, G. C., to be used for the purchase and improvement of county fair grounds.

In view of the use of the word "may" in said sections 9887 and 9895, G. C., as well as in section 9894, G. C., as in force prior to its amendment in 102 O. L., 105, it seems clear to my mind that the only purpose of said amendment was to extend the list of societies to which assistance should be given, to limit the maximum amount of such assistance and to make it mandatory upon the county commissioners, within the limitations provided in said statute, to make a levy for the purpose mentioned in said statute, providing the agricultural society requesting such assistance comes within the purview of said statute.

I do not think it can be said, however, that the agricultural society, qualified to request aid from the county commissioners, may, within the limitations prescribed in said section 9894, G. C., supra, fix the amount to be levied by said county commissioners. Its only right under said statute is to make the request and I think it is reasonably clear that if said society makes such representations as the commissioners deem proper showing the necessity for the amount requested, the commissioners should then determine how much in their judgment will be necessary, keeping within the limitations of the statute, and when this amount is determined it will be the duty of said commissioners to levy a tax which they estimate will be sufficient to produce said amount. This levy must, of course, be set forth in the annual budget as provided by section 5649-3a, G. C., and will be subject to reduction by the county budget commission.

In view of the foregoing I am of the opinion in answer to your question that your county commissioners, on request being made by the county agricultural society, may determine the amount of money to be raised for the purpose expressed in section 9894, G. C., keeping within the limitations therein provided, and that, subject to their discretion as to the amount to be named, it is mandatory on said county commissioners to levy the tax which they estimate will produce said amount, the same to be set forth in the annual budget filed with the county auditor, and by him placed before the county budget commission for consideration under provision of section 5649-3c, G. C.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1769.

INTERPRETATION OF SECTION 4740, G. C.—AMENDED TWICE BY SAME LEGISLATURE—EFFECT—THE WORD "SUPERINTENDENTS" DEFINED—"STATE AID" REFERS TO REGULAR PAYMENT BY STATE OF PART OF SALARY OF DISTRICT SUPERINTENDENT NOT TO AID TO WEAK SCHOOL DISTRICT—DISTRICT EMPLOYING PART TIME SUPERINTENDENT MAY RECEIVE STATE AID AS WEAK SCHOOL DISTRICT.

Section 4740, G. C., as amended by senate bill No. 282, 106 O. L., 396, was supplanted by the same section as amended by senate bill No. 323, 106 O. L., 439, which last section now is and at all times since it went into effect has been the law of this state. The effect of the successive amendments of this section is such as that the first of them never was the law of this state.

The word "superintendents" as used in the last two sentences of section 4740 as amended 106 O. L., 439, means and refers to the part time superintendent employed by a village or rural school district or union of school districts for high school purposes which maintains a first grade high school, and which has upon application been continued as a separate district under the direct supervision of the county superintendent. Whether or not a person employed by the board or boards of education of such district or union of districts is a "superintendent" within the meaning of said section is a question of fact not foreclosed by the name which may be given to the position.

The phrase "state aid" as used in section 4740 as amended, supra, refers to the regular payment by the state of a part of the salary of a district superintendent, and does not refer to the aid to weak school districts. Therefore, the prohibition in said section does not prevent a district employing a part time superintendent from receiving state aid as a weak school district on account of a deficiency in part due to the payment of salary to such part time superintendent, and such district is entitled to include as a part of its deficiency for the purpose of receiving state aid as a weak school district such proportion of the minimum salary of a high school teacher (seventy dollars per month) as is represented by the proportionate time given by such part time superintendent to teaching.

Whether or not authority exists to make new employments of part time superintendents under section 4740, G. C., as amended supra, query.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 10, 1916.

HON. A. V. DONAHEY, Auditor of State, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I acknowledge receipt of your letter of June 26th, which in full is as follows:

"Section 4740, G. C., was amended twice by the last general assembly;

"S. B. 282 was passed May 27th, signed by the governor on May 27th, and filed with the secretary of state on May 28th, 1915;

S. B. 323 was passed May 27th, signed by the governor on June 2nd, and filed with the secretary of state on June 4th, 1915.

"We call your attention to the provisions of the veto and the referendum amendment to the constitution in regard to this situation. It appears that in the act first to have the approval of the governor, the word 'principal' is used, wherever in the act last to secure the governor's approval the word 'superintendent' is used.

"Assuming that the last approved and filed act governs in any construction of this section, then we are in the following quandary:

"Where a board of education has made the application required by the statute, and makes showing that it employs a superintendent, and is therefore under the direct supervision of the county superintendent, then does the word 'superintendent' thereafter appearing in relation to devoting part of each day to teaching, refer to the county superintendent, or to a district superintendent, or a principal? Does the same word 'superintendent' where it afterwards appears in connection with the payment of salaries and state aid, refer to the county superintendent, the district superintendent, or the principal?

"In other words, we desire an opinion giving a construction to section 4740, G. C., so that we may administer the weak school district aid laws intelligently and lawfully."

In opinion No. 463, addressed to Hon. Frank W. Miller, superintendent of public instruction, under date of June 8, 1915, and found in volume 1 Opinions of the Attorney-General for the year 1915, at page 944, I had occasion to consider the effect of the passage and approval of senate bills Nos. 282 and 323 referred to in your letter and now appearing in 106 Ohio Laws, pages 396 and 439, respectively. I then stated as my opinion, the reasons for which need not be now given in detail, that "the general assembly * * * intended that the amendment of the section (4740, G. C.) in amended senate bill No. 282 should never become effective."

That is to say, I then was and still am of the opinion that section 4740, G. C., as amended in 106 O. L., 396, was in effect corrected by the later measure, and that the same is not now and substantially never was the law of this state.

It follows, of course, that your question must be answered solely in accordance with the provisions of section 4740, G. C., as amended by senate bill No. 323 (106 O. L., 439). That section provides in full as follows: (106 O. L., 439.)

"Any village or rural school district or union of school districts for high school purposes which maintains a first grade high school, and which employs a superintendent, shall upon application to the county board of education before September 10, 1915, or before June 1st of any year thereafter, be continued as a separate district under the direct supervision of the county superintendent. Such district shall continue to be under the direct supervision of the county superintendent until the board of education of such district by resolution shall petition to become a part of a supervision district of the county school district. Such superintendents shall perform all the duties prescribed by law for a district superintendent, but shall teach such part of each day as the board of education of the district or districts may direct. Such districts shall receive no state aid for the payment of the salaries of their superintendents, and the salaries shall be paid by the boards employing such superintendents."

In my opinion, the word "superintendents" as used in the last two sentences of this section means and refers to the superintendent who must be "employed" within the meaning of the first sentence of the section in order to qualify the village or rural school district or union of school districts for high school purposes for continuance as a separate district under the direct supervision of the county superintendent. In other words, the section contemplates the employment in such districts of a part time superintendent, the remainder of whose time shall be devoted to teaching, and whose functions of supervision shall be exercised under the direct supervision of the county superintendent. That the last two sentences of this section can refer only to the part time district superintendent, previously referred to in the section, and not to the county superintendent, follows obviously I think from the provision therein to the effect that such superintendent shall teach such part of each day as the board of education of the district or districts may direct, and from the further provision that the salaries of such superintendents shall be paid by the boards employing them. Manifestly, neither of these provisions could have been intended to refer to the county superintendent, for he could not be required by any board of education to devote any time to actual teaching, nor is he employed by any board of education nor his salary paid by any such board.

For reasons above stated, the word "superintendents" as used in the last two sentences of section 4740, G. C., as amended 106 O. L., 439, cannot relate to a high school principal, as such. In short, it relates, as above stated, to the district superintendent employed by a village or rural school district or union of school districts for high school purposes to devote a part of his time to supervision and the remainder of his time to teaching. The salary of such a district superintendent must be paid by the board of education of the district employing him, without state aid applicable thereto.

It might conceivably happen that a person so employed might also discharge under his contract the duties of a high school principal. This would make no difference. Whatever part of the time of such a superintendent is given to supervision and whatever part is given to teaching or to the duties of a principal, his entire salary must be paid by the district without state aid therefor.

Section 4740, supra, does not apply at all to a district which employs no superintendent, as such, so that if a high school principal be the only general officer employed by the district, it would have no right under the section to continue as a separate supervision district.

This would be in a given case a question of fact. I assume that the department of public instruction has investigated all such cases, and determined the status of each district which may claim compliance with section 4740. I suggest that your department co-operate with that department and avail itself of the information which, I take it, must be on file therein, in determining whether or not the district officer of a given district or union of districts is a "superintendent" within the meaning of said section.

As I understand your question, however, something more than the interpretation of the word "superintendents" in section 4740, G. C., as amended and at present in force, is required in order to return a complete answer to it.

Your letter seems to assume that the phrase "state aid" as used in said section, refers to the state aid for weak school districts, and that because of the prohibition therein no state aid to such a school district is authorized to be furnished on account of the salary of such superintendent.

If this be your assumption, I advise that, in my opinion, it is erroneous. It is unfortunately true that the phrase "state aid" is used in the school laws in two distinct and wholly different senses. The sense in which the phrase is used in section 4740, G. C., in its present form can be best understood, I think, by noting the phraseology of the same section as it was in substance first enacted in 104 O. L., 141. I shall not quote the entire section as it was then framed, but content myself with the observation that the act of which it was a part constituted the pioneer legislation of this state looking toward the establishment of the present system of uniform county and district supervision. The law required the organization of supervision districts throughout the state and prescribed what might be termed the minimum qualifications of a supervision district. The section under examination constituted an exception to such minimum qualifications by continuing in existence as separate supervision districts certain districts which had theretofore availed themselves of the optional privilege of employing a superintendent. The following provision of the section will be sufficient to show the connection in which the term "state aid" was used therein:

> "Such districts shall receive such portion of state aid for the payment of the salary of the district superintendent as is based on the ratio of the number of teachers employed to forty, multiplied by the fraction which represents that fraction of the regular school day which the superintendent gives to supervision."

As a part of the same law section 4743, G. C., was enacted (104 O. L., 142), and this section is still in force in the form in which it was then enacted. It provides as follows:

> "The compensation of the district superintendent shall be fixed at the same time that the appointment is made and by the same authority which appoints him; such compensation shall be paid out of the county board of education fund on vouchers signed by the president of the county board. The salary of any district superintendent shall in no case be less than one thousand dollars per annum, half of which salary not to exceed seven hundred and fifty dollars shall be paid by the state and half by the supervision district, except where the number of teachers in any supervision district is less than forty in which case the amounts paid by the state shall be such proportion of half the salary as the ratio of the number of teachers employed is to forty. The half paid by the supervision district shall be pro rated among the village and rural school districts in such district in proportion to the number of teachers employed in each district."

It is clear to me that the "state aid" to which section 4740 as enacted in 104 O. L., 141, referred was the state's portion of the regular salary of the district superintendent. That is to say, it was "aid" which should be paid to all supervision districts in order to enable them the more easily to comply with the requirement of the law that they have a superintendent. It had nothing whatever to do with the "state aid to weak school districts," because it was paid for the benefit of every district in the state, whether such districts were "weak" or not. The idea of original section 4740 as enacted in 104 O. L., 141, was merely to fix the amount of the state's contribution to the salary of a part time superintendent, the remainder of whose time was given to teaching, and that proportion was fixed commensurately with the relative amount of time which such superintendent actually gave to the work of supervision.

When section 4740 was amended in 106 O. L., 439, supra, the legislature evidently intended to discourage the exceptional or abnormal kind of supervision districts which the section provided for, by withdrawing wholly any contribution by the state to the regular payment of the salaries of the part time superintendents therein provided for; therefore it was provided that > "such districts shall receive no state aid for the payment of the salaries of their superintendents, and the salaries shall be paid by the boards employing such superintendents."

This provision was necessary because section 4743 still remained in force and provided that half of the salary not to exceed seved hundred and fifty dollars of every district superintendent should be paid by the state. The superintendent referred to in section 4740 being a "district superintendent," section 4743 would have required the state to pay half of his salary but for the provisions of the last sentence of amended section 4740. In short, the legislation of 1915, among other things, imposed an additional condition upon the existence of the special or exceptional supervision districts referred to in section 4740, viz.: that such districts pay the entire salaries of their district superintendents.

(I think it is probably true that it is inaccurate to call the districts mentioned in section 4740 "supervision districts" and the "superintendents" therein referred to "district superintendents." I have done so in this opinion, however, as a matter of convenience to distinguish the superintendents referred to in the section from the county superintendents.)

This discussion will, I think, make it apparent that the last sentence of section 4740 as amended, has nothing whatever to do with state aid for weak school districts. That law is to be administered with respect to the salaries of teachers of a district within the purview of section 4740, G. C., as amended without regard to the prohibition contained in the last sentence of said section; so that the provision that "such districts shall receive no state aid for the payment of the salaries of their superintendents" would not of itself prohibit such district from receiving state aid as a weak school district for a part of the salary of such superintendent, if it were otherwise qualified to receive such state aid therefor.

This statement is equivalent to the statement that the amendment of section 4740, G. C., in nowise affected the question as to the application of state aid for weak school districts in a district employing a part time superintendent. The law therefore is just the same in this particular as it was prior to the amendment of section 4740.

On April 27, 1915, this department rendered an opinion to the Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices, (found in the Opinions of the Attorney-General for that year, at page 567), in which the following question was put and the following answer given:

> "If a teacher is employed one-half his time in supervision and one-half in teaching, can the amount paid him as teacher be included in the expense going to make up the deficiency on which is based application for state aid under section 7595, General Code? If not, would the fact that a teacher had been so paid for one-half his time, prevent the district from receiving state aid, provided it had complied with the other requirements of the weak school district sections?
>
> * * * * * * * * * *
>
> "Your fourth question applies only to the case of a superintendent employed under authority of section 4740, G. C. District supervision * * * is mandatory, and the question arises whether a district which contributes its proportionate part of the salary of the district superintendent, who gives one-half of his time to teaching in a school within said district, is, on this account, disqualified under the above provision of the statute relating to state aid. * * *

"The district superintendent must have the qualifications of a high school teacher under the provisions of section 4744-5, G. C., as found in 104 O. L., 143.

"For the time he teaches, his salary is more than $70.00 per month, the minimum for a high school teacher mentioned in item four of the schedule of salaries provided in section 7595-1, G. C., as amended in 104 O. L., 165. It does not follow, however, that the district which pays said superintendent for teaching one-half of his time, is on this account prevented from receiving state aid. * * *

"Replying to your fourth question, I am of the opinion that where a superintendent employed under the provisions of section 4740, G. C., gives one-half of his time to teaching, the proportionate amount paid him as teacher, based upon the minimum salary of $70.00 per month, should be included by the board of education of the district in which he teaches, in estimating its deficiency for the purpose of making application for state aid, and the fact that said superintendent has been paid for teaching one-half his time, would not prevent said district from receiving state aid providing said district has complied with the above requirements of the statutes relating thereto."

The principles laid down in the opinion from which quotation has been made apply as well at the present time as they did when the opinion was rendered.

A school district which is employing a part time superintendent under section 4740, G. C., and has a deficiency in its tuition fund may include, in estimating its deficiency for the purpose of making application for state aid as a weak school district, such proportionate part of the minimum salary of $70.00 per month for a high school teacher as represents the relative amount of time devoted by the part time superintendent under the direction of the board of education to actual teaching.

Of course, if the district officer is a mere high school principal, and in no sense a supervisor or superintendent, which fact can be determined by ascertaining the status of the district under section 4740 from the records of the department of public instruction, then if the district should apply for state aid as a weak district under section 7595, et seq., G. C., it would be entitled to include the entire sum of $70.00 per month on account of the salary of such principal as a part of its deficiency for the purpose of applying for state aid.

I wish to make it very clear that in answering your question as I have I do not mean to pass upon a question which has been suggested to me from another quarter, viz.: as to whether or not there is any authority under section 4740 or otherwise for making a contract of employment of a part time superintendent at the present time. Section 4740, as pointed out in opinion No. 463, above referred to, certainly has some force and effect so long as contracts entered into in "continued" separate districts therein referred to prior to the enactment of the amendment of 1915 subsist. As these contracts could be made for three years, at least prior to 1914, it is conceivable that some of them then made are still in force, and no question could be raised as to the validity of such employments and the status of the superintendents so employed. Your statement of facts does not advise me whether the question which you ask has been raised with respect to a part time superintendent employed, or attempted to be employed, since the amendments referred to therein were made. If that is the case, I must advise you that this department has not yet passed upon the legality of such employment, and that no opinion with respect thereto is intended to be expressed herein.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1770.

BRIDGES AND CULVERTS—COUNTY COMMISSIONERS MAY BORROW MONEY UNDER SECTION 2434, G. C., TO CONSTRUCT AND REPAIR SAME—CONDEMNATION OF IMPORTANT BRIDGE.

County commissioners may borrow money under section 2434, G. C., to construct and repair necessary bridges which also includes culverts.

When an important bridge has been condemned for public travel and the commissioners deem the repair thereof to be necessary for public accommodation they may borrow money under section 5644, G. C., to build or repair said bridge.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 11, 1916.

Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—I have your letter of June 15, 1916, submitting the following statement and inquiries:

> "The county commissioners of a certain county have made up a list of estimates for repair of bridges, culverts and stone arches in the various townships of the county aggregating about $21,000.00.
>
> "There is no money in the bridge fund and the county commissioners wish to borrow money under the provisions of section 2434, G. C., and section 5643, G. C., for the purpose of making the necessary repairs and improvements.
>
> "The list includes two or three bridges that are said to be unsafe for public travel, and if such conditions actually exist have they a legal right to borrow money under the provisions of section 5643, G. C.?
>
> "A part of the list is made up of reflooring, repairing and improving, or rebuilding various other bridges of the county, and if conditions actually warrant such action, may they borrow money for this purpose under the provisions of section 2434, G. C.?
>
> "The balance of the list is made up of stone culverts, box culverts, corrugated and sewer pipe culverts, stone arch culverts and cast iron pipe culverts. May they borrow money for such purposes under authority of section 2434, G. C., or section 5643, G. C.?"

Section 2434, G. C., to which you first refer in your foregoing inquiries, in so far as its provisions are pertinent to said inquiries, provides as follows:

> "For the execution of the objects stated in the preceding section, or for the purpose of erecting or acquiring a building in memory of Ohio soldiers, or for a court house, county offices, jail, county infirmary, detention home, or additional land for an infirmary or county children's home or other necessary buildings or bridges, or for the purpose of enlarging, repairing, improving, or rebuilding thereof, or for the relief or support of the poor, the commissioners may borrow such sum or sums of money as they deem necessary, at a rate of interest not to exceed six per cent. per annum, and issue the bonds of the county to secure the payment of the principal and interest thereof. * * *"

This section provides, among other things, that the commissioners may borrow money to repair bridges. It invests them with a discretion to be exercised in the matter of making such loans, and the same must be in such amounts as they deem necessary and for the repair of necessary bridges.

It would seem to be the purpose of the law to provide money for immediate use when such use is necessary. In other words, as the law requires the money to be in the treasury before valid contracts may be made for the repair of bridges, this statute undertakes to provide a method for meeting such requirements and thus to enable the commissioners to repair necessary bridges without the danger of delay.

You do not state the facts under which each repair as contemplated by the commissioners is to be made. If such repairs are necessary, in the sense that any delay in making them would interfere with travel or imperil the public, I am of the opinion that such sum or sums of money as the commissioners deem necessary may be borrowed by them under said section 2434, G. C., to meet the situation. I am also further of the opinion that the repairs contemplated in said section may properly include the erection of stone culverts, box culverts, corrugated and sewer pipe culverts, stone arch culverts and cast iron pipe culverts, being the repairs specified in your last inquiry.

Referring now to section 5643, G. C., which provides:

"If an important bridge, belonging to or maintained by any county, becomes dangerous to public travel, by decay or otherwise, and is condemned for public travel by the commissioners of such county, and the repairs thereof, or the building of a new bridge in place thereof, is deemed, by them, necessary for the public accommodation, the commissioners, without first submitting the question to the voters of the county, may levy a tax for either of such purposes in an amount not to exceed in any one year two-tenths of one mill for every dollar of taxable property upon the tax duplicate of said county," it is manifest that no authority to borrow money is conferred by said section. Such authority is found in the succeeding section, 5644, G. C., which provides:

"If the county commissioners deem it necessary or advisable, they may anticipate the collection of such special tax by borrowing a sum not exceeding the amount so levied, at a rate of interest not exceeding six per cent. par annum, payable semi-annually, and may issue notes or bonds therefor, payable when said tax is collected, or the commissioners, without such submission of the question, may proceed under the authority conferred by law to borrow such sums of money as is necessary for either of the purposes before mentioned, and issue bonds therefor. For the payment of the principal and interest on such bonds, they shall annually levy a tax as provided by law."

These sections considered together may be said to furnish the means and method for building or repairing a bridge when an emergency exists. In the first place, the bridge to be built or repaired must be an important bridge. This means that it must be a bridge of such necessity to the public, as without its use the latter would be seriously inconvenienced and interrupted in its travel; secondly, its condition must be such that it is condemned for public travel; and thirdly, the building or repair thereof must be deemed by the county commissioners to be necessary for the public accommodation.

When these conditions obtain the commissioners to repair the same may levy a special tax as provided in section 5643, G. C., aforesaid, and in anticipation of its collection may borrow money as provided in section 5644, G. C., aforesaid, or, as provided in said last named section, may proceed under authority conferred by law to borrow the necessary money and issue bonds therefor, and for the payment of the principal and interest they may levy a tax as provided by law.

You state that the list of bridges which the commissioners contemplate repairing, includes two or three bridges that are said to be unsafe for public travel, and you inquire if such conditions actually exist whether the money to make such repair may be borrowed under the provisions of said sections 5643, G. C.

I have already stated that said section 5644, G. C., aforesaid, is the section which furnishes the authority to borrow money for the purposes named in said section 5643, G. C., aforesaid. If, therefore, any or all of the three bridges in question are important in the sense above explained, and have been condemned for public travel, and the commissioners deem the repair thereof to be necessary for public accommodation, the commissioners under the provisions of said section 5644, G. C., aforesaid may borrow money to make such repairs.

The foregoing observations furnish as specific an answer as can be made to your inquiries in the absence of any further statement of the facts of each case involved in said inquiry in which the commissioners contemplate making the repairs named.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1771.

TOWNSHIP CLERKS—COMPENSATION ALLOWED UNDER SECTION 3298-12, G. C., SUBJECT TO LIMITATION OF $150.00 IN ANY YEAR AS PROVIDED BY SECTION 3308, G. C.

The compensation allowed to township clerks under the provisions of section 3298-12, G. C., 106 O. L., 592, is subject to the limitation of $150.00 in any year as provided by section 3308, G. C.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 11, 1916.

Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—I have your letter of June 13, 1916, submitting the following inquiry:

> "Section 71 of the Cass law provides that a township clerk may receive a fee of ten cents for each one hundred words for making a record of road improvements, and also such reasonable compensation for other services in connection therewith as shall be allowed by the township trustees.
>
> "Is such compensation additional to the limit of $150.00 fixed by law for other official services required of township clerks?"

Section 71 of the Cass highway law, to which you refer, being section 3298-12, G. C., 106 O. L., 592, provides as follows:

> "The trustees shall provide the township clerk with a suitable book in which he shall keep a complete record of the proceedings for the improvement of such roads. For making such record, he shall receive ten cents for each hundred words and for all other services in connection therewith, he shall receive such reasonable compensation as may be allowed him by the township trustees."

Section 3308, G. C., is the section fixing the limit of $150.00, also referred to in your inquiry, and provides as follows:

> "The clerk shall be entitled to the following fees, to be paid by the parties requiring the services: twenty-five cents for recording each mark or brand; ten cents for each hundred words of record required in the establishment of township roads, to be opened and repaired by the parties; ten cents for each hundred words of records or copies in matters relating to partition fences, but not less than twenty-five cents for any one copy, to be paid from the township treasury; ten cents for each hundred words of record required in the establishment of township roads, to be opened and kept in repair by the superintendents; for keeping the record of the proceedings of the trustees, stating and making copies of accounts, and settlements, attending suits for and against the township, and for any other township business the trustees require him to perform, such reasonable compensation as they allow. In no one year shall he be entitled to receive from the township treasury more than one hundred and fifty dollars."

It is a well settled law of statutory construction that every new statute must be construed in connection with those already existing in relation to the same subject matter, and all should be made to harmonize if that may be done by any fair and reasonable interpretation. Black Interpretation of Laws, 112.

In the earlier and general statute the compensation of a township clerk is limited to $150.00 in any one year. Does this limitation apply to the compensation fixed by the later statute, being said section 3298-12, G. C., aforesaid, so that the compensation as earned and allowed under both sections shall be subject to the limitation of $150.00 in any one year? Undoubtedly said limitation does so apply. Its application to the new statute works no inconsistency between the two laws.

The determining feature, however, in my judgment in this matter is that in both statutes the same compensation is fixed for services in the establishment of roads, and that the provisions of the first statute, namely, "ten cents for each hundred words of record required in the establishment of township roads to be opened and repaired by the parties," and "ten cents for each hundred words of record required in the establishment of township roads, to be opened and kept in repair by the superintendents," are now obsolete because of the repeal by the present road law of the statute under which such roads were formerly established. In other words, the new law in effect simply substitutes compensation for services connected with improved roads for the same compensation for services provided for in the old statute in reference to township roads.

As observed, there are now no statutes under which such compensation may be earned, as provided in section 3308, G. C., aforesaid, and in lieu of said provisions we now have the compensation fixed by section 3298-12, G. C., aforesaid. This being so, the last named section therefore imposes no additional duties on township clerks, but provides for compensation for those duties which now take the place of similar duties under the earlier statute, section 3308, G. C., aforesaid. The legislature enacted the latter statute with full knowledge of these facts, and of the limitation contained in the earlier general statute. If the legislature had intended the compensation thus allowed in the new law to be outside of such limitation, and in addition thereto, it must be assumed that it would have provided by some appropriate language to that effect. Failing so to do and because of the facts hereinbefore observed, we must conclude that the purpose of the new law is merely to fix a rate or basis for compensation for the services specified therein and to take the place of the compensation formerly allowed for similar services under said section 3308, G. C., aforesaid.

Had the legislature not enacted said section 3298-12, G. C., there would have been no legal authority whatever for compensating township clerks for services in and about the establishment of improved roads in townships.

I am of the opinion, therefore, that the compensation provided for in section 3298-12, G. C., aforesaid is subject to the limitation of $150.00 specified in the concluding clause of section 3308, G. C., aforesaid.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1772.

CIVIL SERVICE—OFFICES, POSITIONS AND EMPLOYMENTS IN VILLAGES AND VILLAGE SCHOOL DISTRICTS ARE NOT INCLUDED WITHIN PROVISIONS OF CIVIL SERVICE LAW.

Offices, positions and employments in villages and village school districts are not included in the operation of the civil service law of this state.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 11, 1916.

HON. E. A. SCOTT, Prosecuting Attorney, West Union, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your letter of July 6, 1916, submitting the following statement and inquiry:

> "Manchester, Ohio, is incorporated as a village, and the board of education of said village has employed the same janitor for public schools for some ten years. Recently the board of education employed another janitor—the old janitor refuses to surrender the keys to the building for the reason that he has been employed for a period of more than seven years, and that section 486-31 places him under civil service, and permits him to retain position.
>
> "Does this section or any other section give the janitor of a village school board (under the civil service law) the right to hold position by having been in the service of the board for more than seven years? In other words, does not the law apply to city school districts and not village?"

Paragraph 1 of section 486-1, G. C., as amended 106 O. L., page 400, provides that:

"The term 'civil service' includes all offices and positions of trust or employment in the service of the state and the counties, cities and city school districts thereof."

This paragraph specifies what offices, positions and employments are included in the civil service law of the state and it is exclusive. It will be observed that it does not include offices or positions in villages or village school districts. It follows, therefore, that the position held by the janitor named in your inquiry is not within the operation of the civil service law, and said janitor is not entitled to its protection or to hold his position under any of its provisions, including the provision of section 486-31, G. C., as amended 106 O. L., 418, referred to in your inquiry and commonly known as the seven-year service clause.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1773.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS—MAY CONTRACT FOR SUPPLYING COUNTY INFIRMARY WITH ELECTRIC LIGHT—NO PUBLIC UTILITY MAY ENTER INTO SUCH CONTRACT AT RATE IN EXCESS OF THAT SHOWN BY ITS SCHEDULE FILED WITH PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION OF OHIO.

The county commissioners may, pursuant to section 2435-1, G. C., upon competitive bids therefor, award a contract for supplying a county infirmary with electric light.

No public utility, as defined by statute, may enter into such contract at a rate in excess of that shown by its schedule filed with the public utilities commission of Ohio.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 11, 1916.

HON. JOHN E. BETTS, Prosecuting Attorney, Findlay, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Yours under date of June 22, 1916, is as follows:

"Under proceedings heretofore had a new infirmary building is being constructed in this county, at a distance of some two or three miles from the city. A commission was appointed by the common pleas judge, under section 2333, G. C.

"It is now apparent that there are not sufficient funds to provide a lighting plant for this new building. It is also desired by the commissioners to contract with the electric light company of this city to furnish current under and by virtue of section 2435-1. However, the question of constructing the line from the plant of the company in the city to the infirmary building is an item of expense which must be reckoned with.

"I am aware of your opinion at page 1032 of Vol. 2 of your report of the year for 1915, applying to a similar condition relative to furnishing light to the Children's Home in Knox county. The county commissioners do not desire to erect the poles and construct the line and own it, but prefer to have this done and maintained by the lighting company and simply to contract for the current by virtue of the section last quoted.

"This brings us to the proposition that the rate for which light could be furnished by virtue of the cost to the company of erecting this line will be greater than that authorized to be charged by the utilities commission, for light furnished by that company in this city. Therefore I submit for your opinion, which the commissioners will also be very glad to receive through me, as to whether or not a legal contract can be made on behalf of the county, with the Electric Light Company, to furnish current to the infirmary at a rate higher than the same company is permitted to charge in this city (the conditions being, of course, such as require a higher rate), or would you suggest application be made by the light company, or joint application of the light company and county for special rates in this instance?"

Section 2435-1, G. C., to which you refer, provides as follows:

"The commissioners of any county may, at any time, either before or after the completion of any county building, invite bids and award contracts for supplying such building with light, heat and power, or any of the same, for any period of time not exceeding ten years; but none of the provisions of section 5660 of the General Code shall apply to any such contracts."

There is here conferred upon the county commissioners general authority to enter into the contract referred to in your inquiry without restriction or limitation as to the character of persons, firms or corporations with whom such contract may be made. It will be observed that it is provided that such contracts shall be let upon bids. If any person, firm, corporation or association, operating a public utility, should seek such contract, the question would then arise as to whether such person, firm, corporation or association may, under the law, enter into the proposed contract, rather than as to the competency of the county commissioners in respect to the same. Since the Electric Light Company, to which you refer, is assumed to be such public utility, it would then be subject to the provisions of section 614-16 of the General Code, which require that every public utility shall print and file with the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio schedules showing all rates, joint rates, rentals, tolls, classifications and charges for services of each and every kind by it rendered or furnished, which were in effect at the time the act in which said section is found took effect, and to the further provision of section 614-18, G. C., as follows:

"No public utility shall demand, charge, exact, receive or collect a different rate, rental, toll or charge for any service rendered, or to be rendered, than that applicable to such service as specified in its schedule filed with the commission and in effect at the time."

So that it conclusively appears that no bidder for the contract in question, which is a public utility, could lawfully enter into such contract at a rate of charge for the services rendered in excess of that which is already shown by its schedule on file with the public utility commission. Provision is made, however, for change in such schedule of rates by section 614-20, G. C., as follows:

"Unless otherwise ordered by the commission, no change shall be made in any rate, joint rate, toll, classification, charge or rentals, in force at the time this act takes effect, or as shown upon the schedules which shall have been filed by a public utility in compliance with the requirements of this act, or by order of the commission, except after thirty days' notice to the commission, which notice shall plainly state the changes proposed to be made in the schedule then in force, and the time when the change, rate, charge, toll, classification or rental shall go into effect; and all proposed changes shall be plainly indicated upon existing schedules, or by filing new schedules thirty days prior to the time they are to take effect, but the commission may prescribe a less time when they may take effect."

So that if the rates and schedules of the utility seeking to enter into the proposed contract with the county commissioners are, at the present time, prohibitive, a change therein may be effected pursuant to the above provision, and until such change is legally effected and becomes operative, such public utility could not legally enter into the proposed contract.

I find no authority or sanction for an application for such change of schedule to be made by the county commissioners in the present case.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1774.

COUNTY AUDITOR'S CERTIFICATE REQUIRED BY SECTION 5660, G. C., MUST BE MADE AS TO ALL THAT PART OF COST OF ROAD IMPROVEMENT WHICH UNDER SECTION 1218, G. C., IS ASSUMED BY COUNTY INCLUDING SHARES OF TOWNSHIP AND ABUTTING PROPERTY OWNERS—CERTIFICATE REQUIRED AS TO FULL AMOUNT.

The county auditor's certificate required by section 5660, G. C., must be made as to all that part of the cost of a road improvement which under section 1218, G. C., a county assumes in the first instance, including the shares of the township and abutting property owners. Where a contract is let for a road improvement under chapter VI of the Cass highway law, the county auditor's certificate required by section 5660, G. C., must be made as to the full amount of the proposed contract, including the shares of the township and property owners.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 11, 1916.

HON. G. A. STARN, Prosecuting Attorney, Wooster, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your request for an opinion under date of May 29, 1916, which request reads as follows:

"By reason of section 5660 of the General Code, the county auditor is obliged to certify that the money required for the payment of a contract is in the treasury to the credit of the fund from which it is to be drawn before a contract can be entered into by the county commissioners.

"The county commissioners have entered into several contracts for the improvement of public roads, a portion of which is to be paid by the township trustees and a portion by the owners of real estate benefited by the improvement. Also a portion is to be paid by the state.

"In determining whether or not the money is now in the treasury so that the auditor can make his certificate, should he take into consideration only the portion to be paid by the county on contracts already let as well as those to be let, or should he take into consideration the amount to be paid by the county, township and property owner. The contract entered into provides that the commissioners shall pay the whole amount not paid by the state. The portion to be paid by the township trustees and the abutting property owners is not in the county treasury and therefore the auditor cannot certify that it is in the treasury."

In response to my request for additional information as to the exact question upon which my opinion is desired by you, you advised me under date of June 10, 1916, in part as follows:

"Suppose for instance we have in our treasury, for the purpose of improving or constructing roads, the sum of $100,000.00. An agreement is entered into by the county commissioners with the state highway department for the improvement of a road whereby the county agrees to pay, say $40,000.00, the balance to be paid by the state. Of this $40,000.00 which the county agrees to pay, the abutting property owners and the township trustees will pay $20,000.00, leaving the amount that the county will finally pay but $20,000.00, although it is primarily liable for $40,000.00.

"Other contracts for the improvement of highways in the county by the county commissioners have been entered into under authority of section 85, et seq., of the Cass highway law, being section 6906, et seq., G. C. By virtue of the provisions of these sections the township trustees and property owners benefited by the improvement have agreed to pay certain portions of the cost of the improvement.

"In determining what amount of money is in the treasury for the purpose of these contracts, should the county auditor deduct from the $100,000.00 originally in the treasury the $40,000.00 agreed to be paid by the county for the improvement of the state highway, leaving $60,000.00 in the treasury, or should there be deducted from the $100,000.00 only the $20,000.00 which the county will eventually be obliged to pay, and which would leave $80,000.00 in the treasury instead of $60,000.00?

"Again suppose contracts have been entered into by the county commissioners under section 85 et seq., of the Cass highway law amounting to $50,000.00, of which the township trustees and the benefited property owners have agreed to pay $25,000.00, should there be deducted the $50,000.00 or the $25,000.00 from the amount left in the treasury?"

Section 5660, G. C., referred to by you, reads as follows:

"The commissioners of a county, the trustees of a township and the board of education of a school district, shall not enter into any contract, agreement or obligations involving the expenditure of money, or pass any resolution or order for the appropriation or expenditure of money, unless the auditor or clerk thereof, respectively, first certifies that the money required for the payment of such obligation or appropriation is in the treasury to the credit of the fund from which it is to be drawn, or has been levied and placed on the duplicate and in process of collection and not appropriated for any other purpose; money to be derived from lawfully authorized bonds sold and in process of delivery shall, for the purpose of this section, be deemed in the treasury and in the appropriate fund. Such certificate shall be filed and forthwith recorded, and the sums so certified shall not thereafter be considered unappropriated until the county, township or board of education, is fully discharged from the contract, agreement or obligation, or as long as the order or resolution is in force."

I will first consider the question submitted by you in reference to improvements carried forward by the state highway department. It is provided by section 1218, G. C., in part as follows:

"No contract shall be let by the state highway commissioner in a case where the county commissioners or township trustees are to contribute a part of the cost of said improvement unless the county commissioners of the county in which the improvement is located shall have made a written agreement to assume in the first instance that part of the cost and expense of said improvement over and above the amount to be paid by the state. Where the application for said improvement has been made by the township trustees, then such agreement shall be entered into between the state highway commissioner and the township trustees. Such agreement shall be filed in the office of the state highway commissioner with the approval of the attorney-general endorsed thereon as to its form and legality."

Where a highway improvement is carried forward by the state on the application of county commissioners, the state looks only to the county for the payment of all that part of the cost and expense of the improvement over and above the amount to be paid by the state. All moneys disbursed in connection with the improvement, with the exception of the funds contributed by the state, are, under the provisions of section 1212, G. C., to be paid by the treasurer of the county in which the highway is located upon the warrant of the county auditor, issued upon the requisition of the state highway commissioner. Using your illustration, which is that of a county agreeing to assume in the first instance $40,000.00 of the cost and expense of an improvement, the balance to be paid by the state, and the $40,000.00 to be ultimately paid by the county, township and property owners, the county auditor is not authorized to make his certificate that the money required for the payment of the county's obligation is in the treasury to the credit of the fund from which it is to be drawn and not appropriated for any other purpose, unless this fact be true as to the entire $40,000.00. If only the $20,000.00 to be paid by the county is in the treasury and the $20,000.00 to be paid by the interested township or townships and the abutting property owners is not in the treasury, the county auditor is not authorized to make his certificate to the effect that the entire $40,000.00 is in the treasury. The entire sum of $40,000.00 so certified must thereafter be retained in the county treasury and applied only upon the obligation in question until the county is fully discharged from the same. If the sum of $100,000.00 is in the treasury and parts thereof are available for the payment of the shares of the county, interested township or townships and property owners respectively, then under the illustration used by you the $20,000.00 to be paid by the county must be deducted from the sum in the treasury applicable to the payment of the county's share of an improvement of this class, the amount to be paid by the township must be deducted from the sum in the treasury available for such purpose, and the amount to be paid by the abutting property owners must be deducted from the sum in the treasury applicable to that purpose, and only such sums as are left after this deduction is made may thereafter be regarded as available for use in connection with any other agreements made under section 1218, G. C.

Coming now to consider your question in so far as it involves improvements carried forward by the county commissioners, it should be observed that the contract for the improvement is made between the county commissioners and the contractor or builder. The latter knows only the county, and has a right to look to the county for the payment of the full amount expressed in the contract. Under the scheme of road improvement provided by section 6906, G. C., et seq., all matters of finance are handled by the county commissioners; under the provisions of section 6927, G. C., the county commissioners levy the tax for that part of the cost of the improvement to be paid by the interested township or townships; under the provisions of section 6922, G. C., and the related sections, all special assessments are made by the county commissioners, and under the provisions of section 6929, G. C., county commissioners issue bonds not only in anticipation of taxes levied upon the county for the county's share of the cost, but also in anticipation of taxes levied upon the interested township for its share of the cost and in anticipation of special assessments levied against the benefited real estate. If it is proposed by the county commissioners to let a contract for the construction or improvement of a road involving an expenditure of $40,000.00, a part of which is to be paid by the county, a part by the township or townships in which the road is situated and a part by the owners of benefited real estate, the county auditor's certificate, made under section 5660, G. C., must be made as to the entire $40,000.00, and the same method as to deductions hereinbefore set forth must be followed and the result of the making of such certificate will be to reduce by $40,000.00 the amounts in the county treasury and applicable to the payment of the respective shares of the county, township and property owners.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1775.

COUNTY AUDITOR'S CERTIFICATE REQUIRED BY SECTION 5660, G. C. —LEVIES MADE UNDER SECTION 7419, G. C., MAY ISSUE AS SOON AS SUCH LEVIES ARE PLACED ON DUPLICATE AND ARE IN PROCESS OF COLLECTION—WHEN SUCH LEVIES ARE ON DUPLICATE AND IN PROCESS OF COLLECTION.

As to levies made under section 7419, G. C., the county auditor's certificate required by section 5660, G. C., may issue as soon as such levies have been placed on the duplicate and are in process of collection. Such levies cannot be regarded as placed on the duplicate and in process of collection until the duplicate of the books containing the tax list has been made up by the county auditor and delivered to the county treasurer.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 11, 1916.

HON. LINDSEY K. COOPER, Prosecuting Attorney, Ironton, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of June 13, 1916, which communication reads as follows:

> "Enclosed herewith find opinion which I have just rendered to our county auditor. The plan which I have suggested in this opinion, being out of the ordinary mode of procedure, the auditor felt that he would not be justified in so proceeding without your opinion in the premises. And, it may be, that I may have been influenced, to some extent, by the very urgent need of immediately having the roads of this county repaired.
>
> "Our county commissioners have arrangements to borrow the money to do this work, at once, if a valid contract can be made to start the work.

We are now entirely ready to enter into the contracts for the repair of the roads if the auditor can make this certificate. If it is necessary to wait for the clerical work to be done on the books in making up the extensions on duplicate, which could not be done before the middle of August, it will be entirely too late to procure good results from the work this year."

The opinion rendered by you to the auditor of your county, a copy of which was enclosed with your letter, reads as follows:

"Replying to your verbal inquiry as to whether or not you would be authorized to certify, that the money required for the payment of the obligation to be incurred by the contract of the county commissioners, for certain road repairs, 'has been levied and placed on the duplicate, and in process of collection,' will say:

"I understand the facts to be as follows:

"At the present June session of the board of county commissioners of this county, a tax of two (2) mills has been duly levied upon all taxable property of the county, for the purpose of making repairs upon certain of the principal highways of this county, under what is known as the Emergency Road Law, section 7419, General Code.

"I understand that the difficulty of entering this levy upon the tax duplicate, so that it may be certified by you as having been entered thereon, lies in the fact that the amount of taxes, other than this emergency road tax, cannot be determined until after the budget commission meets in August, and passes upon the various levies for taxes submitted to said budget commission.

"The duties of the budget commission are set forth in the sub-sections of section 5649, General Code, and I have been unable to find any duty resting upon the budget commission relative to the emergency road tax, above mentioned, and am of opinion that the amount having been levied therefor at two (2) mills on the dollar, being less than the amount plainly authorized by section 7419, General Code, the budget commission has nothing whatever to do with said levy.

"I am fully aware of the fact that it would be impracticable to make up the duplicate of the entire county in the extended form required for practical use in collecting the taxes, but am of opinion that, assuming that my determination that the budget commission has nothing whatever to do with this special levy, is correct, that you could enter upon the duplicate the fact and statement that this tax of two (2) mills upon all of the taxable property of the county is levied, and upon such statement and fact being entered upon the duplicate, that you would then be justified in making the certificate relative to the said tax being levied and placed on the duplicate, and in process of collection, required by section 5660, General Code, to be made as a condition precedent to the county commissioners entering into a contract for the expenditure of the same."

Section 5660, G. C., referred to by you, reads as follows:

"The commissioners of a county, the trustees of a township and the board of education of a school district, shall not enter into any contract, agreement or obligation involving the expenditure of money, or pass any resolution or order for the appropriation or expenditure of money, unless the auditor or clerk thereof, respectively, first certifies that the money required for the payment of such obligation or appropriation is in the treasury to the credit of the fund from which it is to be drawn or has been levied and placed on the duplicate and in process of collection and not appropriated for any other purpose; money to be derived from lawfully authorized bonds sold and in process of delivery shall, for the purpose of this section, be deemed in the treasury and in the appropriate fund. Such certificate shall be filed and forthwith recorded, and the sums so certified shall not thereafter be considered unappropriated until the county, township or board of education is fully discharged from the contract, agreement or obligation, or as long as the order or resolution is in force."

It has been the generally accepted view that as to funds falling within the purview of section 5649-3d, G. C., so much of section 5660, G. C., as provides that the certificate may be issued by the auditor when the money needed for the expenditure has been levied and is in process of collection, has been repealed by implication by the enactment of said section 5649-3d, G. C. Such was the holding of my predecessor, Hon. Timothy S. Hogan, in opinion No. 97, rendered on February 1, 1912, and found at page 1128 of the Report of the Attorney-General for that year. It is my opinion, however, that said section 5649-3d, G. C., does not apply to the proceeds of levies made under section 7419, G. C., and that as to such funds the auditor's certificate may be issued as soon as the levies have been placed on the duplicate and are in process of collection. Such levies are special levies made for the construction, reconstruction or repair and maintenance of particular roads, and the purpose for which such levies are made is not one to be set forth in the annual budget. In view of the above it seems clear that as to levies made under section 7419, G. C., for the purpose of repairing specific highways, the auditor's certificate may issue as soon as such levies have been placed on the duplicate and are in process of collection. It therefore remains to consider the question of when such levies may be regarded as placed on the duplicate and in process of collection. It is the duty of the county treasurer to collect taxes, and it would seem clear that a tax cannot be regarded as in process of collection until the power and authority of the county treasurer has been invoked and the machinery of his office put in motion. This cannot be regarded as having been done until the county auditor has delivered to the county treasurer the duplicate of the books containing the tax list. Under the provisions of section 2595, G. C., this duty is to be performed on or before the first day of October of each year. Where, therefore, a levy has been made under section 7419, G. C., for the repair of certain specified roads, the county auditor's certificate, under section 5660, G. C., may not be issued as to such funds until the duplicate of the books containing the tax list for the current year has been fully made up by the county auditor and delivered to the county treasurer.

I deem it proper in this connection to call attention to the fact that section 7433, G. C., under which levies made under section 7419, G. C., might be anticipated by a bond issue, was repealed by the Cass highway law, 106 O. L., 574.

Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,

Attorney-General.

1776.

OHIO PENITENTIARY COMMISSION—PROPOSITION OF ARCHITECTS UNDER DATE OF JULY 6, 1916, LEGAL.

Proposition of architects to Ohio penitentiary commission under date of July 6, 1916, legal.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 13, 1916.

HON. SAMUEL J. BLACK, Secretary Ohio Penitentiary Commission, Upper Sandusky, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—At the request of Hon. W. A. Greenlund, one of the members of your commission, I have gone over the proposition submitted to your commission on July 6th by Messrs. Richards, McCarty and Bulford, architects appointed by you with the approval of the governor, for the erection of the new penitentiary. The proposition submitted is as follows:

"We hereby propose to prepare such preliminary information, plans and reports in connection with the proposed new penitentiary for the state of Ohio, as are hereinafter described, upon the following terms and conditions, namely:

"You are to furnish us with topographical surveys of such portions of the penitentiary farm as may be necessary for our work. We will take these surveys, properly develop them, and prepare a general ground plan of the entire institution. This will show the location of all buildings proposed for the completed institution, their size and relation to each other; but will not show detailed plans of each of the buildings. This plan will locate the roads and drives; the landscape features; drainage; railroad tracks; power, water, and connecting steam lines, etc., complete, without giving the details as to sizes of such lines.

"In addition to the ground plans above described, we will furnish such sections and elevations as will show the general grade relations of the various departments of the institution; general elevations of the buildings; and we will also prepare a large bird's eye view of the complete institution showing all of the buildings and enclosures in perspective in such manner as to give a comprehensive and intelligent idea of the entire work to be undertaken.

"All of the plans and perspectives will be accompanied by such legends, charts and descriptions as will make clear the relation of the various units to each other; and also approximate estimates of cost of the various units. These estimates, of course, will be based upon cubic foot prices for the buildings, as the details will not be sufficiently worked out in these preliminary plans to make possible the preparation of itemized estimates.

"In addition to the drawings we will prepare a general description of the entire institution, and character of construction proposed for the various buildings complete.

"It is understood that in working this matter out we are to prepare any number of sketches that may be required to rearrange and bring into proper relation, satisfactory to you, the various departments of the institution proposed; that you are at all times to have the advantage of consultation with us upon any matters that may seem proper to you to incorporate in the work.

"It is understood that we are to commence this work immediately, pushing it forward as rapidly as possible; and the preliminary plans above described are to be ready for inspection not later than the first of November, 1916.

"In addition to the above, we are to accompany you on such trips of inspection as you may deem necessary; visiting other institutions, and spending as much time as may be necessary for such visits to gather data for use in this work.

"For our professional services, as above outlined, it being understood that this also covers any and all assistants that we may be compelled to employ in the preparation of the work, we are to be paid a sum not to exceed five thousand ($5,000.00) dollars; and that this sum, or any sum less, is to be paid us upon the completion of the above described preliminary work to your satisfaction and approval.

"If, upon the completion of this service, you desire to go further with our employment in the preparation of other preliminary plans of each of the units of the institution, or working drawings, details and specifications for any or all of the buildings comprehended in the work, paying us therefor the customary percentage for complete plans and specifications; namely, three and one-half per cent. of the cost of the work for which complete plans are prepared, then, in that event, we will credit on our full fee for the units of the institution for which we prepare complete plans and specifications such a proportion of the five-thousand-dollar preliminary fee as the cost of the units for which complete plans are prepared bears to the cost of the entire institution.

"It is understood and agreed, however, that this proposition, if accepted by you, is not binding upon you beyond the preparation of the preliminary plans first above outlined; and it is entirely at your option as to whether our employment extends beyond this point; and it is not binding upon you or the state of Ohio to pay to us an amount in excess of the five thousand dollars first above named as our professional fee until a further agreement be entered into.

"In addition to the fee of five thousand dollars above mentioned, we are to be paid our actual traveling expenses in making investigations regarding this work, it being understood that no traveling expenses shall be incurred without first notifying you and receiving your approval as to whether same shall be necessary.

"It is further understood regarding the traveling expenses above mentioned, which we are to be paid in addition to our professional fee, that this does not apply to traveling expense required in making trips between the penitentiary farm, near London, Ohio, and our office in Columbus, that all expense incident to such trips is included in our first named professional fee.

"We agree that the preliminary plans and other data referred to above which may be prepared by us shall become the property of the state of Ohio in the custody of the Ohio penitentiary commission."

Section 11 of an act passed April 19, 1913, 103 O. L., 247, providing for your commission, is as follows:

"Such commission shall prepare ground plans of and plans for the erection of a new penitentiary upon the site so purchased or appropriated by the state; it shall, by visitation or otherwise, secure information, employ a competent architect, and do whatever else may be necessary and essential to obtain the best possible plans for this purpose. The compensation of such architect shall be fixed by the commission, and shall, together with other expenses incident to the preparation of such plans, be paid in the same manner as other expenses of the commission. The employment and compensation of such architect shall be subject to the approval of the governor."

The said section grants full authority to your commission to employ an architect and to do whatever may be necessary and essential to obtain the best possible plans for the new penitentiary. You are likewise given the authority to fix the compensation, which compensation is subject to the approval of the governor.

I have carefully gone over the proposition submitted by the architects, and find the same to be in every way legal, and find that your commission is fully authorized to accept the same not to be effective, however, until it likewise receives the approval of the governor, subject of course to their being a sufficient appropriation to meet the amount called for in the proposition.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1777.

COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION—WHERE PRIOR TO AUGUST 27, 1915, NUMBER OF TEACHERS EMPLOYED IN ANY SUPERVISION DISTRICT REDUCED BELOW TWENTY, SUCH SUPERVISION DISTRICT THEREBY ABOLISHED—IF BOARD ACTED PURSUANT TO SECTIONS 4692, 4736 OR 4738, G. C., 106 O. L., 396, REDUCED NUMBER OF TEACHERS BELOW THIRTY, DISTRICT ABOLISHED—WHEN POSITION OF DISTRICT SUPERINTENDENT IS ABOLISHED FOR ABOVE REASONS—QUESTION OF TERRITORY ALSO CONSIDERED.

When the county board of education, pursuant to sections 4736 or 4738, G. C., 138 and 140, prior to August 27, 1915, reduced the number of teachers employed in any supervision district below twenty, such supervision district was thereby abolished.

Where the county board of education, pursuant to sections 4692, 4736 or 4738, G. C., 106 O. L., 396, reduced the number of teachers in any supervision district below thirty, such supervision district was thereby abolished.

Where a district superintendent was employed prior to the amendment of sections 4692, 4736 and 4738, G. C., 106 O. L., 396, and the county board of education, pursuant to said sections reduce the number of teachers employed in any supervision district below twenty, such supervision district and the position of the district superintendent thereof so employed are abolished, and such district superintendent is not thereafter entitled to salary. Where the territory of a rural school district was reduced to less than fifteen square miles by action of the county board of education, pursuant to section 4736, G. C., prior to August 27, 1915, such rural school district was thereby abolished.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 13, 1916.

HON. ROBERT C. PATTERSON, Prosecuting Attorney, Dayton, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Yours under date of June 12, 1916, is as follows:

"The Montgomery county board of education have asked me for advice as to their duty in the equitable division of school funds and indebtedness in cases of transfers of territory, under General Code, sections 4692 and 4736. As the questions involved are of general interest throughout the state, I would respectfully ask for an opinion from you upon them.

"The facts are as follows: During the past year, under the authority of General Code, sections 4692 and 4736, the county board of education has at different times transferred territory from Perry township to the Brookville village district, the Pyrmont rural district, and to a newly created district known as the Johnsville-New Lebanon rural district. In creating the latter district the entire territory of the Johnsville rural district was transferred and its board of education abolished. There now remains of the Perry township district only what is included in two former subdistricts, so that the old Perry township district is practically wiped out.

"Prior to any of these transfers the Perry township and Johnsville districts had made a contract with U. E. Erbaugh as district superintendent for a period of three years, two years of which are yet to run.

"The questions asked are: Is Mr. Erbaugh entitled to his salary under the above contract for the two years; and if so is the indebtedness for said salary to be apportioned by the county board of education between the Brookville village district, the Pyrmont rural district and the Johnsville-New Lebanon rural district?"

In a subsequent communication received June 26, 1916, you state that it is your information that Mr. Erbaugh was employed as district superintendent on April 8, 1915.

As I understand your statement of facts then, at the time of the election of the district superintendent in question for a term of three years on April 8, 1915, Perry township rural school district and the Johnsville rural school district constituted the supervision district for which such district superintendent was elected. Since the election of said district superintendent the entire Johnsville rural school district has been transferred to the Johnsville-New Lebanon rural school district, and the board of education of the Johnsville rural school district was thereby abolished. All of Perry township rural school district, except that part thereof originally constituting two subdistricts, has been in like manner transferred by the county board of education to other rural school districts which were not a part of the supervision district for which Mr. Erbaugh was elected. So that since the election of Mr. Erbaugh all of the territory of the supervision district for which he was elected, except what formerly constituted two subdistricts of Perry township school district, has been transferred to village or rural school districts outside of the supervision district for which the district superintendent in question was elected, for school purposes. If such transfer for school purposes effects a transfer for supervision purposes, then there is left of the supervision district for which the district superintendent was elected only what was originally two subdistricts of Perry township school district.

Section 4738, G. C., 104 O. L., 140, provided that:

> "The county board of education shall within thirty days after organizing, divide the county school district into supervision districts, each to contain one or more village or rural school districts."

Substantially the same provision was carried into the amendment of this section in 106 O. L., 396. This provision clearly indicates a purpose of the legislature that rural and village districts should be dealt with as units in the matter of supervision, and that supervision districts should be constituted of rural or village school districts. This purpose is emphasized by the provision of section 4743,

G. C., 104 O. L., 133, in reference to the payment of the compensation of district superintendents, that:

> "The half paid by the supervision district shall be pro rated among the village and rural school districts in such district in proportion to the number of teachers employed in each district."

Here again the rural and village school districts are treated as units. From the foregoing the intent that all of a rural or village school district should be included within the same supervision district seems manifest. That being true it would follow that when territory of a rural or village district in one supervision district is transferred to a rural or village school district in another supervision district such transferred territory thereby becomes a part of the supervision district to which it is transferred. Applying this conclusion to the facts under consideration, it would result that there is now left of the supervision district for which the superintendent was elected only what was two subdistricts of Perry township.

Section 4736, G. C., 104 O. L., 138, provided in part that:

> "In no case shall any rural district be created containing fifteen square miles."

So that if, prior to August 27, 1915, by reason of transfers of territory therefrom any rural school district was reduced in area below fifteen square miles, such rural school district was thereby abolished, and it became the duty of the county board of education to transfer such remaining territory to other rural or village district or districts. If all the transfers of territory spoken of in your inquiry were effected prior to August 27, 1915, and the territory of what remained of Perry township was not fifteen square miles or more in extent, the supervision district was thereby abolished and the position of district superintendent with it, because there was not then left in such supervision district either a rural or village district.

At the time of the election of the district superintendent in question it was provided by section 4736, G. C., 104 O. L., 138, that:

> "The (county) board shall arrange the schools according to topography and population in order that they may be most accessible to pupils. To this end the county board shall have power by resolution at any regular or special meeting to change school district lines and transfer territory from one rural or village school district to another."

Section 4738, G. C., 104 O. L., 140, provided that:

> "The county board of education shall, within thirty days after organizing, divide the county school district into supervision districts, each to contain one or more village or rural school districts. * * * The territory in the different districts shall be as nearly equal as practicable, and the number of teachers employed in any one supervision district shall not be less than twenty nor more than sixty.
>
> "The county board of education shall, upon application of three-fourths of the presidents of the village and rural district boards of the county, redistrict the county into supervision districts."

Thus we find that under sections 4736 and 4738, G. C., 104 O. L., 133, at the time the district superintendent in question was elected there was not only full power in the county board of education to transfer territory from one rural or village school district to another, but under certain prescribed conditions it became the mandatory duty of the board to redistrict the county school district into supervision districts.

All contracts with district superintendents made while the above statutory provisions were operative must be deemed to have been made subject to the exercise of the power therein conferred and the obligations of such contracts are not impaired thereby. So that if the county board, in the exercise of the authority conferred by the statutory provisions, above referred to, prior to August 27, 1915, when the same were repealed, so transferred territory from one supervision district to another, or others, as to abolish the supervision district from which such territory was transferred, such action would operate to abolish the position of the district superintendent of the abolished supervision district.

It will be noted that by section 4738, G. C., 104 O. L., 140, supra, it was provided that the number of teachers employed in any one supervision district shall not be less than twenty. If during the life of this provision the number of teachers employed in any supervision district was reduced below twenty by reason of transfers of territory therefrom, as provided in sections 4736 and 4738, G. C., supra, the supervision district would thereby be abolished by operation of law and it would become mandatory upon the county board of education to transfer the remaining territory of such abolished supervision district to another supervision district.

Sections 4692, 4736 and 4738, G. C., were amended in 106 O. L., 396, to provide in part as follows:

> "Section 4692. The county board of education may transfer a part or all of a school district of the county school district to an adjoining district or districts of the county district. * * * nor shall such transfer take effect if a majority of the qualified electors residing in the territory to be transferred shall, within thirty days after the filing of such map, file with the county board of education a written remonstrance against such proposed transfer.
>
> "The county board of education is authorized to make an equitable division of the school funds of the transferred territory either in the treasury or in the course of collection. And also an equitable division of the indebtedness of the transferred territory.
>
> "Section 4738. The county board of education shall divide the county school district, any year, to take effect the first day of the following September, into supervision districts, each to contain one or more village or rural school districts. * * * The territory in the different districts shall be as nearly equal as practicable, and the number of teachers employed in any one supervision district shall not be less than thirty. The county board of education shall, upon application of three-fourths of the presidents of the village and rural district boards of the county, re-district the county into supervision districts.
>
> "Section 4736. The county board of education shall arrange the school districts according to topography and population in order that the schools may be most easily accessible to the pupils, and shall file with the board or boards of education in the territory affected, a written notice of the proposed arrangement; which said arrangement shall be carried into effect as proposed unless, within thirty days after filing, such notice with the board or boards of education, a majority of the qualified electors of the territory affected by such order of the county board, file a written remonstrance with the county board against the arrangement of the schools so proposed. The county board of education is hereby authorized to create a school district from one or more school districts or parts thereof. The county board of education is authorized to appoint a board of education for such newly created school district and direct an equitable division of funds or indebtedness belonging to the newly created district."

Prior to this amendment section 4692 applied only to the transfer of territory by mutual consent of the boards of education from and to which territory should be transferred. By the amendment thereof the county board of education is authorized to transfer territory from one school district to another, subject to a remonstrance of a majority of the electors residing in the territory to be transferred. It is further provided by said section, as amended, that:

"If an entire district be transferred the board of education of such district is thereby abolished."

While section 4692, G. C., was very materially changed by this amendment, it is very questionable if a comparison of amended section 4692, G. C., with sections 4736, G. C., prior to its amendment, will disclose any enlargement of the power of the county board of education to transfer territory from one rural or village school district to another. Indeed the authority conferred in amended section 4692, G. C., is restricted by the provision for remonstrance not found in original section 4736, G. C. The provision as to the abolishment of the board of education, where all the territory of the district is transferred, certainly adds nothing to the power to transfer.

The most important, if not the only material change made by the amendment of section 4736, G. C., in respect to the power to transfer territory, is the restriction placed thereon by the provision that the proposed arrangement may be defeated in any case by a remonstrance of a majority of the electors of the territory affected by the order. It is true that there is here found specific declaration of power to create new districts, couched in more apt terms than is shown by the original section, but it will not be overlooked that it was provided in the original section that:

"In no case shall any rural district be created containing less than fifteen square miles."

It needs no strained construction of this provision to clearly disclose therein power and authority to create rural school districts.

As to the power of the county board of education in respect to the transfer of territory, no change was effected by the amendment of section 4738, G. C., 106 O. L., 396.

So that while there is a more complete setting out of detail by the amendment of the above mentioned sections, it is not believed that the general power and authority of the county board of education to effect a transfer of territory from one rural or village school district to another, and to thereby abolish a supervision district or to redistrict the county school district into supervision districts has been thereby enlarged or so changed in any way that the exercise of any of the powers therein conferred as to such matters would result in an impairment of a contract with a district superintendent, made prior to such amendment. I therefore conclude that it was within the power of the county board of education, both before and after the amendment of sections 4692, 4736 and 4738, G. C., 106 O. L., 396, to transfer all the territory of a supervision district to rural and village school districts in another supervision district, thereby abolishing the supervision district from which such transfers were made, and the position of the district superintendent theretofore elected in such abolished supervision district.

It will be further remembered that prior to the enactment of Am. Senate Bill No. 282, 106 O. L., 396, by which section 4738, G. C., was amended, effective on August 27, 1915, the minimum number of teachers permitted in any supervision district was twenty. This minimum was increased by the amendment in 106 O. L., 396, supra, to thirty. There was then no authority for the existence of a supervision district in which there were employed less than twenty teachers before, and less than thirty teachers after August 27, 1915. So that if by the action of the county board of education, pursuant to law, in transferring territory from one supervision district to another, the number of teachers employed in any supervision district was reduced below twenty before or below thirty after August 27, 1915, the existence of the supervision district from which such territory was transferred was wholly without authority of law and therefore abolished. It then became the mandatory duty of the county board of education to transfer the remaining territory of such abolished supervision district to another district or districts for supervision purposes, and to so arrange the schools that there should not be less than the minimum number of teachers employed in any supervision district at any time. That is to say, if by reason of transfers of territory effected by the action of the county board of education prior to August 27, 1915, the number of teachers was reduced below twenty, or by reason of such action after that date the number of teachers was reduced below thirty, the supervision district having employed therein less than the minimum number of teachers, thereby became abolished, and it was the further duty of the county board to so transfer the remaining territory of such supervision district, and to arrange the schools that each supervision district should have not less than the minimum number of teachers.

It would then follow that if by reason of transfers of territory, made prior to August 27, 1915, from the supervision district in which the district superintendent in question was elected, the number of teachers employed in such supervision district was reduced below twenty, such supervision district and the position of the district superintendent were thereby abolished, and such superintendent was not thereafter entitled to any salary. If by similar action of the county board of education, after August 27, 1915, the number of teachers employed in any supervision district was reduced below twenty, a like result would follow, that being the established minimum at the time the superintendent was elected. The effect of the foregoing, stated briefly, is this: Transfers of territory could not be made by the county board of education prior to August 27, 1915, which would reduce the number of teachers employed in any supervision district below twenty nor after said date which would reduce such number of teachers below thirty without the whole of such supervision district being transferred and the schools so arranged that each supervision district employed the minimum number of teachers.

Another phase of this question demands notice. It has been observed that the increase in the minimum number of teachers took effect on August 27, 1915. So that, as was held in opinion No. 463 of this department, found at page 944 of the Opinions of the Attorney-General for the year 1915, it then became the mandatory duty of the county board of education, by force of such amendment alone, to re-district and to re-arrange the schools of the county district so that no supervision district should have less than thirty teachers. In other words, the operative effect of such increase of the minimum number of teachers in any supervision district was to abolish all those supervision districts then having employed less than thirty teachers—a result which follows not from the exercise of any authority of law in the county board of education prior thereto, but by sheer operation of law alone. The amendment of section 4738, G. C., the operation of which effects the above result, was passed on May 27, 1915. The contract of employment entered into by a district superintendent, prior thereto, could not be said to have contemplated the operation of such amendment nor could the obligation of such contract be in any way abrogated or impaired by the operation thereof. It follows from the foregoing that if there were twenty or more and less than thirty teachers employed in the supervision district in question on August 27, 1915, by reason of which such supervision district was abolished by operation of the amendment above mentioned then becoming effective, and the territory of such supervision district was thereafter transferred to another, or other, supervision districts by the board, such abolishment of the district and transfer of territory could not operate to impair the contract of the district superintendent who was employed on April 8, 1915, as stated in your latter communication, who is entitled to have his contract carried out subject only to the law as it existed when the same was entered into, as held in opinion No. 643 of this department hereinbefore referred to. Such contract, as heretofore stated, is subject only to the exercise of the authority conferred by law upon the county board of education in respect to transfers of territory, re-arrangement of schools and re-districting of the county school district at the time such contract was entered into.

If by reason of the transfer of territory of one or more rural or village school districts to another supervision district, or re-districting the county school district or districts, by the county board of education pursuant to sections 4692, 4736 and 4738, G. C., after August 27, 1915, the number of teachers in the supervision district from which such territory was transferred is reduced below thirty and not below twenty, such supervision district would be thereby abolished as before stated, but the contract of the district superintendent could not be effected thereby because his contract was subject to abrogation by the reduction of the number of teachers below the minimum as fixed by law at the time his contract was entered into, viz., twenty.

You further inquire if the salary of a district superintendent is included in the indebtedness of the transferred territory.

By section 4692, G. C., supra, it is provided that the county board is authorized to make an equitable division of funds and indebtedness of a newly created district. Indebtedness as here used is difficult of definition, but it is not believed to include certain classes of liabilities or obligations. It does not include liabilities for current expenses not yet due. It would not include teachers' salaries contracted for but not yet due. For like reason it is not deemed to include the liability of village and rural school districts for their pro rata share of the compensation of the district superintendent not yet earned. Indebtedness within the meaning of the foregoing statutes must be an accrued liability.

I am therefore of opinion that the salary of a district superintendent is not an indebtedness subject to division by the county board of education, upon the transfer of territory. The proportion in which such salary shall be paid is definitely prescribed by section 4743, G. C., 104 O. L., 133, as follows:

> "The half paid by the supervision district shall be pro rated among the village and rural school districts in such district in proportion to the number of teachers employed in each district."

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1778.

APPROVAL, RESOLUTION FOR IMPROVEMENT OF CERTAIN ROADS IN CHAMPAIGN, FRANKLIN, LAKE, LORAIN, MAHONING, MEIGS, PREBLE AND SANDUSKY COUNTIES.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 14, 1916.

HON. CLINTON COWEN, State Highway Commissioner, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of July 7, 1916, transmitting to me for examination final resolutions relating to the following road improvements:

"Champaign County—Sec. 'P,' Urbana-West Jefferson road, Pet. No. 2146, I. C. H. No. 188.

"Franklin County—Secs. 'A' and 'L,' Columbus-Marysville road, Pet. No. ----, I. C. H. No. 48. 'M and R.'

"Lake County—Sec. 'A,' Euclid-Chardon road, Pet. No. 2560, I. C. H. No. 34.

"Lorain County—Sec. 'O,' Oberlin-Norwalk road, Pet. No. 2599, I. C. H. No. 290. 'M and R.'

"Mahoning County—Sec. 'O,' Akron-Youngstown road, Pet. No. 3133, I. C. H. No. 18. (Also duplicate.)

"Mohoning County—Sec. 'A,' Youngstown-Lowellville road, Pet. No. 3132, I. C. H. No. 14.

"Meigs County—Sec. 'M,' Middleport-Bradbury road, Pet. No. 2677, I. C. H. No. 492.

"Meigs County—Sec. 'M,' Middleport-Bradbury road, Pet. No. 2677, I. C. H. No. 492.

"Meigs County—Sec. 'K,' Athens-Pomeroy road, Pet. No. 2675, I. C. H. No. 159.

"Preble County—Sec. 'F-2,' Eaton-Richmond road, Pet. No. 2836, I. C. H. No. 249.

"Preble County—Sec. 'A,' Eaton-Greenville road, Pet. No. 2838, I. C. H. No. 210.

"Preble County—Sec. 'F,' Dayton-Indianapolis road, Pet. No. 2835, I. C. H. No. 28. 'M and R.'

"Sandusky County—Sec. 'K,' Fremont-Bellevue road, Pet. No. 2886, I. C. H. No. 274, MM No. 1."

I find these resolutions to be in regular form and am, therefore, returning the same with my approval endorsed thereon.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1779.

APPROVAL, BOND OF JOSEPH R. BURKEY, BRIDGE ENGINEER OF STATE HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 14, 1916.

HON. CLINTON COWEN, State Highway Commissioner, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of July 11, 1916, transmitting to me for examination the bond of Joseph Raymond Burkey, recently appointed bridge engineer of the state highway department.

I find this bond to be properly drawn and am, therefore, returning the same with my approval as to form endorsed thereon.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1780.

CANDIDATES FOR OFFICE—FEE PRESCRIBED BY SECTION 4970-1, G. C., IS NOT REQUIRED TO BE PAID BY CANDIDATES WHO ARE NOMINATED BY HAVING THEIR NAMES WRITTEN UPON PRIMARY BALLOT.

The fee prescribed by section 4970-1, G. C., 106 O. L., 548, is not required to be paid by candidates who are nominated by having their names written upon the primary ballot.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 14, 1916.

HON. ARCHER L. PHELPS, Prosecuting Attorney, Warren, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Yours under date of July 10, 1916, is as follows:

"On May 27, 1915, the general assembly enacted section 4970-1, G. C. (105-106 O. L., 548), which provides as follows:

"'At the time of filing the declaration of candidacy for nomination for any office, each candidate shall pay a fee of one-half of one per cent., of the annual salary for such office, but in no case shall such fee be more than twenty-five dollars. All fees so paid in the case of candidates for state offices, office of United States senator and congressman-at-large, shall forthwith be paid by the officer receiving the same into the treasury of state. All other fees shall be paid by the officer receiving the same into the trasury of his county to the credit of the county fund. No fee shall be required in the case of candidates for committeeman or delegate or alternate to a convention or for president or vice-president of the United States, nor for offices for which no salary is paid.'

"On April 27, 1915, the general assembly enacted section 4984-1, G. C. (105-106 O. L., 207), which provides as follows:

"'That in the event of any office for which nominations are sought to be made at any primary election, and for which no nominating petitions or declarations of candidacy have been filed within the time prescribed by law by or in behalf of any candidate of a political party, so that in so far as such office is concerned, there is a vacancy on the primary ballot to be nominated, no valid nomination shall be made for such office unless the name of the person attempted to be nominated and receiving the highest number of votes for said office, shall have been written on at least eight per cent. of all the ballots containing such vacancy, which have been voted at such primary election.'

"I have been asked for my opinion upon the question as to whether or not a candidate who has filed no nominating petition or declarations of candidacy and whose name is not printed upon the primary ballot, but at the primary election is nominated for an office by the writing in of his name upon eight per cent. or more of the ballots voted for at such primary election, is required to pay the fee of one-half of one per cent. of the annual salary of such office, into the county treasury to the credit of the general fund, under the provisions of said section 4970-1, G. C.

"I am of the opinion that section 4970-1 does not apply in cases arising under section 4984-1, for the reason that the fee to be paid by the candidate, under section 4970-1, is the means of securing and is a condition precedent to the printing of the name of the candidate on the ballot, which of course secures to the candidate a very great advantage at the primary election. The filing of a nomination petition and the declaration of candidacy are the voluntary acts of the candidate, and makes him in every sense a candidate for office.

"The provisions of sections 4984-1 are intended to provide a means to a political party to fill in a complete ticket in cases where there are vacancies on the ticket, caused by the failure of any candidate to file the necessary nomination petition and declaration. A person so nominated for an office in many cases has no intention of being a candidate, and has no desire to be a candidate, but being so nominated by the required number of votes, is placed upon the ticket without any voluntary act whatever on his part.

"It is true that an active candidate might seek this means of getting his name on the ticket, but the disadvantages of this means of securing a nomination are so great that any active candidate, for public office, would choose to comply with the provisions of section 4970-1. I am, therefore, of the opinion that it was the intention of the legislature to limit the payment of the fees required by section 4970-1, to those candidates who filed nomination petitions and declarations of candidacy, and that a person nominated for office in the manner provided by section 4984-1 are not required to pay these fees."

While it may be argued with some force that the purpose of the legislature in assessing a fee upon candidates for nomination at primary elections was to at least partially reimburse the public funds for the expenditures made necessary in conducting primary elections, and that the provisions of section 4970-1, 106 O. L., 548, as to the time of the payment of the fee therein prescribed is directory only, and if not paid at the time of filing the declaration of candidacy it might thereafter be paid or the payment thereof enforced, I am more inclined to the view that it was contemplated that only those persons who seek to have their names printed upon the primary ballot should be required to pay the prescribed fee.

In addition to the reasons stated by you in support of this conclusion, it seems that this position is strengthened somewhat by a consideration of the provision of section 4969, G. C., 106 O. L., 544, that:

"All nominations for offices or places on the primary ballot other than those hertofore provided for shall be made by the payment of the proper fees and by the filing of declarations of candidacy and certificates, which shall be filed with the board of deputy state supervisors at least sixty days before the day for holding the primary election."

The payment of the proper fees herein required clearly has reference to the fee prescribed by section 4970-1, G. C., supra. This provision strongly tends to indicate the legislative intent that the payment of the fee is a condition precedent and that the requirement thereof is mandatory upon persons who file declarations of candidacy to entitle them to have their names placed upon the primary ballot, and that it is contemplated that such fee should be paid only upon the filing of a declaration of candidacy, whereby it is sought to have the name of the candidate printed upon the primary ballot.

I, therefore, concur in the opinion expressed by you and the reasons given therefor.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1781.

TOLEDO MUNICIPAL UNIVERSITY—BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF SAID UNIVERSITY HAVE FULL CONTROL OF FUNDS RAISED BY TAXATION FOR SAID PURPOSE—COUNCIL WITHOUT AUTHORITY TO APPROPRIATE SAID FUNDS.

It is not necessary for that portion of the funds of the municipal university of the city of Toledo, raised by taxation under provision of section 7908, G. C., to be appropriated by the council of said city under provision of section 5649-3d, G. C. The provisions of section 4601, G. C., taken in connection with the provisions of section 7902, et seq., of the General Code, and the provisions of sections 129 and 130 of the charter of said city of Toledo, applicable to the administration of said university funds, vest in the board of directors, created as provided in said section 4601, et seq., of the General Code, the administration and full control of said funds, the same to be paid out by the city treasurer upon the order of said board of directors and the warrant of the city auditor (director of finance of said city) under provision of the latter part of section 7909, G. C.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 14, 1916.

Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—In your letter of June 16th you request my opinion upon the following question:

"The city of Toledo has a municipal university organized and operating under the provisions of section 4001, G. C., et seq. At the present time about 85% of the funds required for the maintenance and operation of said institution is raised by tax levy, and is disbursed upon warrants issued by the director of finance (city auditor) made upon the city treasurer who is the custodian of the university funds.

"QUESTION: Is it necessary for the funds of the university, or at least that portion thereof raised by taxation, to be appropriated by council (section 3797, G. C.), or do the provisions of sections 4001 and 4003, G. C., obtain and remove from council any control over the disbursements of the funds raised by taxation for university purposes?"

The provisions of section 3797, G. C., referred to in your inquiry, have been modified by the enactment of section 5649-3d, G. C., which provides as follows:

> "At the beginning of each fiscal half year the various boards mentioned in section 5649-3a, of this act (one of them being the council of a municipal corporation) shall make appropriations for each of the several objects for which money has to be provided, from the moneys known to be in the treasury from the collection of taxes and all other sources of revenue, and all expenditures within the following six months shall be made from and within such appropriations and balances thereof, but no appropriation shall be made for any purpose not set forth in the annual budget nor for a greater amount for such purpose than the total amount fixed by the budget commissioners, exclusive of receipts and balances."

Section 4001, G. C., relates to the administration and management of a university supported in whole or in part by a municipal corporation, and provides as follows:

> "In any municipal corporation having a university supported in whole or in part by municipal taxation all the authority, powers and control vested in or belonging to such corporation with respect to the management of the estate, property and funds given, transferred, convenanted (covenanted) or pledged to such corporation in trust or otherwise for such university, as well as the government, conduct and control of such university shall be vested in and exercised by a board of directors consisting of nine electors of the municipal corporation."

Section 4002, G. C., provides how the directors of said municipal university, referred to in section 4001, G. C., shall be appointed, and section 4003, G. C., provides:

> "Such directors shall serve without compensation and shall have all the powers and perform all the duties conferred or required by law in the government of such university, and the execution of any trust with respect thereto imposed upon the municipal corporation."

Section 7902, G. C., as found in the chapter of the General Code, relating to colleges and universities, provides in part that:

> "As to all matters not herein or otherwise provided by law, the board of directors of a municipal university, college or institution, shall have all the authority, power and control vested in or belonging to such municipal corporation as to the sale, lease, management and control of the estate, property and funds, given, transferred, covenanted or pledged to such corporation for the trusts and purposes relating thereto and the government, conduct and control of such university, college or institution. * * *"

Section 7908, G. C., provides:

> "The council annually may assess and levy taxes on all the taxable property of such municipal corporation to the amount of five-tenths of one mill on the dollar valuation thereof, to be applied by such board to the support of such university, college or institution, and also levy and assess annually five one-hundredths of one mill on the dollar valuation thereof, for the establishment and maintenance of an astronomical observatory, or for other scientific purposes, to be determined by the board of directors and to be used in connection with such university, college or institution, the proceeds of which shall be applied by the board of directors for such purposes exclusively. But such taxes shall only be levied and assessed when the chief work of such university, college or institution is the maintenance of courses of instruction, in advance of, or supplementary to, the instruction authorized to be maintained in high schools by boards of education."

Section 7909, G. C., provides that:

"Such levies shall be made by the council at the time, and in like manner as other levies for other municipal purposes, and must be certified by it and placed upon the tax duplicate as other municipal levies. The funds of any such university, college or institution shall be paid out by the treasurer upon the order of the board of directors and the warrant of the auditor."

Sections 7910 and 7911, of the General Code, provide for the issue of bonds for the erection of additional buildings or the completion of buildings not completed for such municipal university and for the disposal of said bonds, and section 7913, G. C., provides in part that:

"In the use of such fund for such purpose, all power and control shall be vested in the board of directors of the municipal university."

In your letter you enclose a copy of an opinion rendered by the law department of the city of Toledo to the director of finance of said city concerning the necessity of appropriation by the council of said city of money to be used by the aforesaid directors in the administration of their trust in connection with said municipal university.

Certain provisions of the charter of said city, applicable to the question under consideration, are referred to in said opinion and in substance set forth therein, and for the purpose of showing these provisions as considered by the director of law of said city in connection with the foregoing provisions of statute, in determining the answer to the question submitted to him by the director of finance of said city, I quote said opinion in full as follows

"March 8, 1916.

"Mr. Peter J. Kranz, Director of Finance, Toledo, Ohio.

"Dear Sir:—I am in receipt of your favor of March 3rd, calling attention to section 128 of the city charter, which provides that no money shall be drawn from the treasury of the city, nor any obligation for the expenditure of money incurred except pursuant to appropriations made by council. No appropriation of the Toledo university funds having been made by council, the question has been raised as to whether the commissioner of accounts is authorized to draw his warrants on such funds in custody of the city treasurer, merely upon the order of the board of directors of said university.

"On January 11th, this department had occasion to pass on substantially the same question as is now submitted by you. In an opinion rendered on that date to the president of the Toledo university, this department held that the board of directors of said university was the body responsible for the appropriating of its funds, under authority of sections 4001 and 7902 of the General Code. These sections of the Code clothe the board of directors of municipal universities with full, complete and exclusive control and management of all university affairs, including its property and funds.

"An examination of sections 129 and 130 of the city charter discloses the existence of two classes of public funds, with the custody of which the city treasurer is charged: (1) The public money of the city which must be appropriated by council before being withdrawn from the treasury, and (2) other public money coming into his hands as such city treasurer, the lawful control of which is vested in authorities other than council, and which must be disbursed by him under such regulations as may be prescribed by such authorities. The funds of the Toledo university fall within the second class and, therefore, the power and authority to appropriate, control and manage the same is vested in the board of directors of the university, and not in the council.

"Without going into any citation or discussion of authorities on the subject, it clearly appears that the establishment and operation of municipal universities, as provided by the Code, is a part of the scheme adopted by the state for fostering and encouraging schools and the means of education. It is a matter of general state wide interest, and not merely of local, municipal concern. It involves the exercise of a state function, as distinguished from a municipal function.

"The classification of public funds as made in sections 129 and 130 of the charter, and the manner provided therein for their disbursement, would seem to be in recognition of the principle that as to educational and other matters in which the public at large is directly interested, the power and authority of the state is supreme and exclusive and must govern.

"You will, therefore, cause warrants to be issued from time to time in pursuance of such regulations as may be prescribed by the board of directors of the Toledo university.

"Very respectfully yours,
"Harry S. Commager, Director of Law.
"By Lewis E. Mallow, Assistant Director of Law."

It seems clear to my mind that when the tax levies for the support of said municipal university are made by the council of said city in any year, and when the same are placed upon the duplicate, collected and turned over to the city treasurer, the same become trust funds in the hands of said treasurer, to be held by him in trust for the uses and purposes of said municipal university, and to be paid out in the manner provided for in the latter part of section 7909, G. C. It seems equally clear that as soon as said funds come into the hands of the city treasurer they cease to be funds of the municipality in the ordinary sense and within the meaning of the provisions of section 5649-3d, G. C., supra, which must be appropriated by the city council before the same can be paid out by the treasurer on the order of the board of directors of said university.

In view of the provisions of the statutes above set forth taken in connection with the provisions of the charter of the city of Toledo referred to in the above opinion, and in substance set forth therein, I concur in the conclusion reached by the director of law of said city of Toledo as expressed in said opinion, and I am therefore of the opinion in answer to your question that it is not necessary for that portion of the funds of the municipal university of said city, raised by taxation under provision of section 7908, G. C., supra, to be appropriated by the council of said city under provision of section 5649-3d, G. C., and that the provisions of section 4601, G. C., taken in connection with the provisions of section 7902, et seq., of the General Code, and the provisions of the charter of said city hereinbefore referred to, and applicable to the administration of said university funds, vest in the board of directors, created as aforesaid, the administration and full control of said funds, the same to be paid out by the city treasurer upon the order of said board of directors and the warrant of the city auditor (the director of finance of said city) under provision of the latter part of section 7909, G. C.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1782.

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF RURAL DISTRICT—WITHOUT AUTHORITY TO APPROPRIATE REAL ESTATE FOR PURPOSE OF CONSTRUCTING A SEWER TO BE USED IN CONNECTION WITH SEWAGE DISPOSAL PLANT.

The board of education of a township rural school district is without authority to appropriate real estate for the purpose of constructing thereon a sewer to be used in connection with a sewage disposal plant maintained by such board of education.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 15, 1916.

HON. FRANK L. JOHNSON, Prosecuting Attorney, Xenia, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Yours under date of July 5, 1916, is as follows:

"The board of education of Ross township, this county, are erecting a new high school building, and it is outside of any incorporated village and they want to put in a sewage disposal plant, and of course will have to put in a sewer to make the proper drain. The party over whose land this sewer will pass is objecting to it, and what I want to know is, how is the board of education to proceed to get this land and put in the sewer?

"I am unable to find any section of the statute giving the board authority to condemn the land in a case of this kind.

"Section 7624 of the General Code, provides: 'When it is necessary to procure or enlarge a school site, and the board of education and the owner of the proposed site or addition are unable to agree upon the sale and purchase thereof the board shall, etc.' It seems to me that this section does not give the board any authority for a case like this, as it is not a site or addition that is desired but a drain.

"Section 6602-1 provides, 'For the establishment of a sewer by the county commissioners if it is within three miles of an incorporated village,' but in this case we are more than three miles from an incorporated village.

"Section 6596 of the General Code provides: 'When the state board of health finds that a trunk or main sewer is necessary in a county for sanitary purposes, the board of county commissioners of such county may cause surveys to be made thereof and plans and specifications prepared. Upon approval by the state board of health of such plans and specifications the commissioners may construct and maintain said trunk or main sewer or part thereof, within or without the limits of a municipal corporation, regulate the tapping thereof by lateral sewers and prescribe the conditions of such tapping.'

"Can we proceed under any of the above sections, or are there other sections which I am unable to find?

"Your early opinion on same would be greatly appreciated."

Section 6602-1, G. C., et seq., provides for the establishment of sewer districts, upon the order of the state board of health, by unanimous vote of the county commissioners or upon a petition of freeholders, by the county commissioners of any county when within three miles of an incorporated city. This chapter of the General Code is confined in its application to sewer districts so established, and could not, therefore, be available in the matter referred to in your inquiry.

Section 6596, G. C., et seq., to which you refer confers authority on the county commissioners to construct a trunk or main sewer when found necessary by the state board of health. Said sections are clearly inapplicable to the construction of a sewer by a board of education in the case stated by you.

Section 7624, G. C., 103 O. L., 466, to which you refer provides as follows:

"Section 7624.- When it is necessary to procure or enlarge a school site or to purchase real estate to be used for agricultural purposes, athletic field or play ground for children, and the board of education and the owner of the property needed for such purposes are unable to agree upon the sale and purchase thereof, the board shall make an accurate plat and description of the parcel of land which it desires for such purposes, and file them with the probate judge, or court of insolvency, of the proper county. Thereupon the same proceedings of appropriation shall be had which are provided for the appropriation of private property by municipal corporations."

It is said in Cooley's Constitutional Limitations, (7th Ed.) 759, that:

"The right to appropriate private property to public use lies dormant in the state, until legislative action is had, pointing out the occasions, the modes, conditions, and agencies for its appropriations."

That is to say, the right or power to appropriate private property to public use must rest upon statutory authority therefor. By the same authority it is said:

"The powers granted by such statutes are not to be enlarged by intendment, especially where they are being exercised by a corporation * * *. And substantially the same strict rule is applied when the state itself seeks to appropriate private property."

This rule is well established in Ohio by numerous decisions. Your question then narrows itself down to whether the purpose for which it is sought to appropriate land as stated in your inquiry comes within the terms of sections 7624, G. C., supra, "to procure or enlarge a school site."

In the case of State v. Jersey City, 36 N. J. L., 166, the statute under consideration provided that:

"The board shall have power to purchase sites for * * * school houses."

The court in the opinion of this case defines site as follows:

> "Site in the sense of this act means only so much land as is reasonably required or needed for the location and convenient use of some particular necessary building."

It would seem that there can be little, if any, difference in meaning in the phrases "sites for school houses" and "school sites." But it will not be overlooked that the power conferred by the New Jersey statute, above referred to, was to purchase only and not to appropriate property, and hence not subject to the rule of strict construction always applicable to statutes conferring authority to appropriate private property.

Site in its ordinary sense means situation or location. It would then mean in section 7624, G. C., supra, the situation or location of a school.

You state in your inquiry that the use to which the land sought by the board of education is to be applied is not the location of a school primarily but as a right of way over, or under which a sewer or drain is proposed to be located and constructed. While this is a use truly incident to the location of the school it is not believed to be a use in contemplation under the terms of section 7624, G. C., supra.

I find no other statutory provision which confers upon the board of education authority to appropriate property for any purpose.

I am, therefore, of opinion in answer to your inquiry that the board of education referred to is without authority to condemn property for the purpose of constructing a drain or sewer under the facts stated by you.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1783.

DECEASED CANDIDATE—DEPUTY STATE SUPERVISORS OF ELECTION SHOULD NOT PRINT SUCH NAME ON PRIMARY BALLOTS —HOW VOTES SHOULD BE COUNTED IF NAME DOES APPEAR— WHEN NO NAMES OF CANDIDATES FOR NOMINATION ON PRIMARY BALLOT AS WELL AS WHEN NAMES DO APPEAR—INTERPRETATION OF STATUTES FOR BLANK SPACES IN EITHER CASE ON BALLOT—WHERE NAME OF CANDIDATE IS WRITTEN IN EIGHT PER CENT. OF NUMBER OF BALLOTS CAST NECESSARY TO FILL VACANCY—WHEN NOMINATION IS MADE IF DECEASED CANDIDATE'S NAME APPEARS AND ANOTHER NAME IS WRITTEN ON BALLOT.

When it is found by the deputy state supervisors of elections, prior to printing the ballots for primary elections, that a candidate whose name has been duly presented has since deceased, the name of such candidate should not be printed upon the ballot.

Votes cast at a primary election for a candidate then deceased should be counted in the same manner as votes cast for other candidates.

When no name or names of candidates for nomination for any office for which a nomination may be made are presented there should be provided upon the primary ballot under the title of such office blank spaces equal to the number of candidates which may be nominated therefor.

Where names of candidates for nomination are duly presented and required to be printed upon the primary ballot, there should be provided below such list of candidates a blank space as required by section 5028, G. C., 103 O. L., 520.

Where no names are presented and required to be printed upon the primary ballot as candidates for any office for which a nomination may be made, a candidate for such office may not be nominated at the primary election by writing in the name of a candidate unless some candidate whose name is so written in receives at least eight per cent. of the number of ballots cast on which there is a vacancy for such office.

A person may not be nominated as a candidate for an office as to which office there appears upon the primary ballot the name of a deceased candidate unless such other person receives a number of votes in excess of the number cast for the deceased candidate. If no nomination of a candidate for any office for which a nomination may be made at the August primary is made thereat, a nomination of candidate may not thereafter be made by a controlling or central committee pursuant to section 4989, G. C., 103 O. L., 486, or 5013, G. C., 103 O. L., 845, for such office.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 15, 1916.

HON. JOHN V. CAMPBELL, Prosecuting Attorney, Cincinnati, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have a request from Hon. Smith Hickenlooper, assistant prosecuting attorney, for an opinion under date of July 3, 1916, as follows:

> "Not having had an opportunity on last Thursday of discussing with you informally the question with which the board of elections of this county are confronted by virtue of the death of Dr. Henry J. Cook, candidate for nomination upon the Republican ticket for the office of coroner, we have determined to ask your opinion in the matter.
>
> "Dr. Cook was the only candidate filing a declaration of candidacy for this office under section 4970 of the General Code (106 Ohio Laws, 546), and within the time provided by section 4946 (106 O. L., 544). Subsequently to the filing of his declaration of candidacy, and after the time had expired within which other declarations of candidacy could be filed, Dr. Cook died and the board of elections has been unofficially advised of his death through the daily papers.

"The questions we desire to submit are, first, whether Dr. Cook's name should be printed upon the primary ballots, and whether votes cast for him should be counted, notwithstanding his death; second, whether the Board of Deputy State Supervisors and Inspectors of Elections should provide a space for writing in the name of any other individual, and whether such individual could be nominated at a primary election if his name were written upon more than eight per cent. of the ballots cast, although more votes were cast for the deceased candidate whose name was printed upon the ballot; third, if Dr. Cook's name is permitted to remain upon the printed ballot and a majority of the votes at the primary are cast for him, can the vacancy be filled after the primary election by the Republican Central Committee under section 5013 (103 Ohio Laws, 845)?

"The conclusion we have reached is to the effect that under General Code, section 4970, the name of no other candidate can be substituted or printed upon the ballot notwithstanding the death of Dr. Cook. That inasmuch as General Code, section 4984-1 (106 O. L., 207), and General Code, section 5071 (which latter section is made to apply to primaries by virtue of the provisions of section 4967, 103 Ohio Laws, 481), apply only to cases where no nomination papers have been filed or nominations made, there is no provision authorizing the writing in of the name of another candidate at a primary election, where such nomination papers had been filed, as in the present instance. That the Board of Deputy State Supervisors and Inspectors of Elections have no authority to omit printing, Dr. Cook's name upon the primary ballot, notwithstanding his death. (See General Code, section 4967, and State ex rel. v. Taylor, 55 Ohio St., 385). And that if Dr. Cook's name were printed on the primary ballot more votes would necessarily be cast for him than for any other candidate whose name could be written thereon, thus necessitating the filling of the vacancy either as provided by section 4989, of the General Code (103 O. L., 486), or under the general power of filling vacancies on a party ticket as provided by section 5013 (103 O. L., 845)."

The first inquiry it will be observed, contains two separate and independent questions which may be stated in a general form thus:

> Must the name of a candidate who has died since the filing of his declaration of his candidacy be printed upon the primary ballot?
>
> Should votes cast at a primary election for a deceased candidate be counted in determining the result?

In support of the position that the board of deputy state supervisors and inspectors of elections have no authority to omit printing the name of a deceased person who has theretofore filed his declaration of candidacy for an office, candidates for which may be nominated at the primary election in question, section 4967, G. C., and the case of State ex rel. v. Taylor, 55 Ohio State, 385, are cited.

Section 4967, G. C., 103 O. L., 481, provides:

> "County boards of deputy state supervisors of elections shall have all the powers granted and perform all the duties imposed by the laws governing general elections, including furnishing materials and supplies, printing and distributing ballots, providing voting places, protecting electors, guarding the secrecy of the ballot, and making rules and regulations not inconsistent with law for the guidance of election officers. All statutory provisions relating to general elections, including the requirement that part of such election day shall be a legal holiday, shall, so far as applicable, apply to and govern primary elections."

That part of this section particularly material to the question under consideration is the provision that "all statutory provisions relating to general elections * * * shall, so far as applicable, apply to and govern primary elections." This provision effectually incorporates into the primary law of this state every statutory provision governing the conduct of general elections not inconsistent with specific provisions as to primary elections and which is applicable to the facts, conditions and purposes of such primary election. It then becomes necessary to examine not only the statutes which by their terms specifically relate to primary elections, but those relating to general elections as well.

In reference to the tickets to be voted at primary elections, section 4976, G. C., provides as follows:

"Separate tickets shall be provided for each political party entitled to participate in such primary. Such ticket shall contain the names of all persons whose names have been duly presented and not withdrawn, arranged under the designation of the office in alphabetical order, according to surnames, and bear the official signatures of the members of the board of deputy state supervisors. Such tickets shall conform, as nearly as practicable, to the form of ballot provided in this title for the use of electors in the election of public officers, except that no device or circle shall be used at the head of such tickets. On the back thereof shall be printed the words 'Official Ballot' and 'Primary Election,' and the name of the political party for which such ballot is printed."

If this section is to be given a strict literal construction without regard to the purposes of primary elections or the further statutory provisions relating thereto, the conclusion expressed in your inquiry as to the necessity of printing upon the primary ballot the name of a person duly presented, though he be since deceased, cannot be escaped unless the death of a person whose name is so presented operates as, or authorizes, or requires the withdrawal of the name of such deceased person.

The purpose of a primary election is not solely the selection of names to be placed upon the ballot at the general election. It is rather to make a choice for party purposes of candidates who seek election to public office. To this end it is required by section 4790, G. C., 106 O. L., 546, among other things, that the declaration of candidacy shall contain a statement of the residence of the candidate, that he is a member of the party the nomination of which he seeks, that he is a qualified elector of the place of his residence stated in such declaration, and that if nominated and elected such candidate will qualify for the office sought. It thus appears that the statement of the declarant that he is an elector of the precinct, township and the county or state for which nominations are to be made, is a material element of a valid declaration of candidacy. It is provided in part by section 4974, G. C., 106 O. L., 549, that:

"If it is found that such candidate is not an elector of the state, or of the district or county in which he seeks to become a candidate, or has not fully complied with the provisions of law as herein provided, his name shall be withdrawn and shall not be printed upon the ballot; but no declaration of candidacy shall be rejected for more technical defects. Certificates shall be transmitted in the manner provided in this title for the transmission of certificates of nomination."

The effect of this provision is that conclusive ineligibility arising from nonresidence and a consequent failure to be an elector operates as a withdrawal of the name of a candidate, or requires that the same shall be withdrawn and not printed upon the ballot, upon the finding of such fact by the board of deputy state supervisors of elections. Clearer language could hardly have been selected than that above quoted. There is no qualification or limitation of the provision to the time of filing of a declaration, and I am clearly of the opinion that it is continuing in its operation until the ballots are printed. That is to say, if it is found at any time before the ballots are printed that a person whose name has been presented is not an elector of the state, district or county in which he seeks nomination, his name shall be withdrawn, and it becomes the duty of the deputy state supervisors of elections not to print such name upon the ballot.

Since a person whose name is presented ceases to be an elector upon his death, that fact, when found by the deputy state supervisor of elections, imposes upon them the duty of not printing such name upon the ballot.

It is unnecessary to discuss the case of State ex rel. v. Taylor, supra, further than to say that there was no such statutory provision as that of section 4974, G. C., supra, applicable to the question then before the court, and the effect of the decision in that case cannot be to override a subsequent specific statutory provision clearly applicable to the question under consideration.

I am therefore of opinion that when it is found by the deputy state supervisor of elections, prior to the printing of the ballots for a primary election, that a person whose name has been duly presented by a declaration of candidacy has since deceased, the deputy state supervisors of elections are required not to print the name of such person upon the ballot. If, however, for any reason the name of a person who is deceased should appear upon the primary ballot, then the second branch of your first question becomes pertinent.

There is no statute in this state which declares that votes cast for an ineligible or deceased person are void for that reason. While it is said in Throop on Public Officers and Offices, section 163, that the choice of a disqualified person is ineffectual, it is also stated that the great weight of American authority is that the person receiving the next highest number of votes is not thereby elected in those cases in which such deceased person receives the highest number of votes. In accord with this statement of the rule is the case of State ex rel. v. Speidel, 62 O. S., 156, the first branch of the syllabus of which is as follows:

"When the candidate for an office for whom a majority or plurality of votes was cast at the election, dies on the election day and before the polls are closed, the candidate for the same office receiving the next highest number of votes is not thereby elected; nor has he thereby acquired any right to be inducted into the said office."

So that from the application of this rule it follows that in the event votes are cast for a candidate who is deceased, it is necessary to count such votes to determine whether or not another candidate has a higher number of votes, since such other candidate cannot be chosen except by having received a greater number of votes than that cast for the deceased candidate. This rule would have equal application to candidates whose names are printed upon the ballots and those whose names may be written thereon.

I am therefore of opinion, in answer to the second branch of your first inquiry that votes cast for a deceased candidate should be counted, and in answer to the second branch of your second question that where the name of a deceased person appears upon the primary ballot, no other person may be nominated as a candidate for the office for which such deceased person was a candidate, except such other person receives a number of votes in excess of that cast for such deceased person.

The first branch of your second inquiry is whether space should be provided on the primary ballot for writing in the names for candidates other than those whose names are required to be printed thereon. By force of the provision of section 4967, G. C., supra, which makes applicable the statutes governing general elections, this question involves a consideration of the provisions of section 5025, G. C., in those cases in which there is no name required to be printed upon the ballot, as follows:

> "If upon a ticket there is no candidate or candidates for a designated office, a blank space equal to the space that would be occupied by said name or names, if they were printed thereon with the blank spaces herein provided for shall be left."

This provision requires that in case there is no name or names required to be printed upon the ballot as candidates for a designated office, there shall be provided on the ballot under the title of that office a number of blank spaces equal to the number of candidates which may be nominated for such office.

If there are names of candidates for a designated office duly presented, which are required to be printed upon the ballot, then by force of the same provision of section 4967, G. C., consideration must be given to the provision of section 5028, G. C., 103 O. L., 520, as follows:

> "A single blank line or space shall be left at the end of the list of candidates for each different office."

From a consideration of the foregoing statutory provision I am therefore of opinion that there should be provided upon the primary ballot, in case no name is presented, as a candidate for an office for which a nomination may be made, a blank space or spaces equal to the number of candidates which may be nominated for such office, and where names are required to be printed on the ballot as candidates for an office there should be provided at the end of the list of such names a blank space as required by the provision of section 5028, G. C., supra.

By subdivision 6 of section 5070, G. C., it is provided:

> "If the elector desires to vote for a person whose name does not appear on the ticket, he can substitute the name by writing it in black lead pencil or in black ink in the proper place, and making a cross mark in the blank space at the left of the name so written."

Section 5071, G. C., to which reference is made in your inquiry, provides as follows:

> "If there was no nomination for a particular office by a political party, or if by inadvertence, or otherwise, the name of a candidate regularly nominated by such party is omitted from the ballot, and the elector desires to vote for some one to fill such office, he may do so by writing the name of a person for whom he desires to vote in the space underneath the heading or designation of such office, and make a cross mark in the circle at the head of the ticket, in which case the ballot shall be counted for the entire ticket, as though the name substituted had been originally printed thereon."

It will be observed that this latter section makes provision only for casting a vote for a person whose name does not appear upon a party ticket by placing a cross mark in the circle at the head of the ticket. Since no such circle may be placed on a primary ballot, this section cannot be applicable thereto.

From the above provisions of section 5070, G. C., however, it is clear that an elector may write in the name of an elector as a candidate for any office for which a nomination may be made, and vote for the nomination of such person by placing a cross mark in the blank space at the left thereof. Nominations of candidates made in this manner are subject to the provision of section 4984-1, G. C., 106 O. L., 207, as follows:

"That in the event of any office for which nominations are sought to be made at any primary election, and for which no nominating petitions or declarations of candidacy have been filed within the time prescribed by law by or in behalf of any candidate of a political party, so that in so far as such office is concerned, there is a vacancy on the primary ballot to be nominated, no valid nomination shall be made for such office unless the name of the person attempted to be nominated and receiving the highest number of votes for said office, shall have been written on at least eight per cent. of all the ballots, containing such vacancy, which have been voted at such primary election."

So that in case there is no name or names authorized to be printed upon the ballot as candidates for an office for which a nomination may be made, a candidate cannot be nominated for such office by writing in the name of a person or persons, as before pointed out, unless some person whose name is so written in shall receive a number of votes at least equal to eight per cent. of the number of ballots cast on which there is the name of no candidate for the office in question printed.

The provisions of section 4984-1, G. C., supra, are a palpable recognition of the authority to make nominations by writing in the names of candidates, and the application of the provisions of sections 5025 and 5028, G. C., 103 O. L., 520, relative to providing blank spaces in the primary ballot, and the method of voting for candidates whose names are not printed upon the ballot to primary elections.

Your third question refers to filling vacancies in a party ticket in the event no nomination is made at the primary election, and you direct attention to section 4989, G. C., 103 O. L., 486, and section 5013, G. C., 103 O. L., 845, which provide as follows:

"Section 4989. In case of a vacancy or vacancies in the list of nominations occurring by death or otherwise, after the result has been declared, such vacancy or vacancies shall be filled by the proper controlling committee of the party in which such vacancy, or vacancies, occur, and the names of the candidates, delegates or committeemen, as the case may be, selected by such committee shall, in the case of offices, the nomination papers for which have to be filed with the state supervisor of elections, be reported to such state supervisor and in the case of other offices, shall be reported to the proper board or boards of deputy state supervisors, and such state supervisor or board, or boards, shall cause such name or names to be placed on the official ballots, lists or rolls.

"Section 5013. The power to fill vacancies on a party ticket shall be vested in the central committee of such party or in the case of a vacancy occurring in a list of candidates nominated by petition in the committee named in such petition."

Section 4989, G. C., was passed April 17, approved May 3, and filed in the office of the secretary of state May 8, 1913. Section 5013 was passed April 10, approved May 9, and filed in the office of the secretary of state May 13, 1913.

It will be noted that section 4989, G. C., supra, is by its terms applicable only to vacancies in the lists of nominations, hence if no nominations are made it would seem quite clear that a vacancy in such list of nominations could not exist for the simple reason that there could be no such list, and if there is no nomination made for a particular office, such office could not constitute a part of such list, and a vacancy in such list of nominations would not result from the absence of the name of a candidate for an office for which no nomination has been made.

In an opinion of my predecessor, Hon. U. G. Denman, found at page 619 of the Report of the Attorney-General for the year 1909, it was held in effect that the provisions of section 34 of the act in 99 O. L., 214, which was carried into the General Code as section 4989 in the same form as found in the amendment in 103 O. L., 486, supra, were applicable only to cases in which a nomination had been made and the nominee, by reason of death, withdrawal or otherwise, ceases to be a candidate. With this opinion I fully concur.

While section 4989, G. C., supra, was amended, as above noted, the power to fill vacancies therein conferred was in no way affected thereby, and its provisions in that respect are the same now as originally enacted in 99 O. L., 222. At the time of its original enactment and until its amendment in 103 O. L., 845, section 5013 provided as follows:

"If a political party in its nominating convention fails to appoint a committee for the purpose of filling vacancies on a party ticket, the power to fill such vacancies shall be vested in the central committee of such party."

It appears there was material changes made in this section by the amendment referred to, in that prior to such amendment it had application only to cases in which political conventions failed to appoint a committee for the purpose of filling vacancies in the party ticket, while the amended form purports to confer power generally, without limitation or qualification, on the central committee of a political party to fill vacancies on the party ticket.

Section 5013, G. C., prior to its amendment, 103 O. L., 845, was rendered inoperative by the adoption of section 7 of article V of the Constitution, which abolished nominations by conventions.

It is deemed unnecessary to here undertake to determine from the order of passage, approval and filing of sections 4989 and 5013, G. C., 103 O. L., which is operative and controlling in a case to which either might be applicable or to distinguish between their application, in view of the provision of section 7 of article V of the Constitution, which makes it mandatory that all nominations for county offices shall be made at direct primary elections or by petition as provided by law.

It must be clearly borne in mind that the provisions of sections 4989 and 5013, G. C., supra, are limited in their application by express terms to the filling of vacancies in lists of nominations and party tickets, and cannot be given such interpretation or construction as to give authority thereunder to make original nominations. The authority to make original nominations of candidates for elective, state, district, county and municipal offices is limited by the terms of section 7 of article V of the Constitution to two methods, viz.: (1) At direct primary elections, or (2) by petition as provided by law. The provision of said section referred to is as follows:

> "All nominations for elective, state, district, county and municipal offices shall be made at direct primary elections or by petition as provided by law."

It is unnecessary to here call attention to the familiar rule of construction which renders the methods of making nominations thus prescribed, exclusive or to again point out that to give to sections 4989 or 5013, G. C., supra, such construction as would confer upon any committee power to make a nomination would be a palpable contravention of this plain constitutional inhibition against making nominations by such method, and would do gross violence to every purpose in the adoption of this constitutional provision.

The only theory upon which the constitutionality of sections 4989 and 5013, G. C., may be maintained since the adoption of section 7 article V, supra, is that they authorize only the selection of a substitute for a candidate who has been nominated in a constitutional manner, made necessary by death, withdrawal or otherwise. The right of parties to have candidates or party tickets rests solely upon constitutional and statutory authority therefor, and unless such authority may be pointed to, none exists. If, however, there were no such plain constitutional inhibition against nominations by committees, the provision of section 4984-1, G. C., supra, as to nominations in cases where there is a vacancy on the primary ballot that:

> "No valid nomination shall be made for such office unless the name of the person attempted to be nominated and receiving the highest number of votes for such office shall have been written on at least eight per cent. of all the ballots containing such vacancy, which have been voted at such primary election."

would fully cover this phase of your inquiry.

The language of this section clearly precludes the nomination of a candidate by any other method than that therein prescribed in case there is no name of a candidate for a given office printed upon the primary ballot.

I am therefore of opinion that if no nomination is made by the Republican party for the office of coroner at the coming primary election, the vacancy in the party ticket resulting therefrom cannot be filled under the provisions of section 5013 or section 4989, G. C., supra.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1784.

MUNICIPAL CORPORATION—SPECIAL ASSESSMENT FOR NON-RESIDENTS WHO OWN REAL ESTATE IN CITY MAY INCLUDE SEVERAL PARCELS OF LAND IN ONE NOTICE—NEWSPAPER ENTITLED TO LEGAL COMPENSATION ACCORDING TO FORM SUBMITTED BY CITY OFFICIALS.

Several lots or parcels of land owned by non-residents in a special assessment improvement may be included in one notice.

If newspaper publishes notice upon form submitted by city officials separately as to each lot or tract of land owned by non-residents, said newspaper is entitled to legal compensation for such publication.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 15, 1916.

Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—Under date of June 15, 1916, you submitted for my opinion the following questions:

> "(1) May several lots or parcels of land owned by non-residents in a special assessment improvement be included in one notice, or must each particular lot or parcel of land owned by non-residents be set up in separate notices?
>
> "(2) If a newspaper publishes such notice upon forms submitted by city officials separately as to each lot or tract of land owned by said non-residents, is said newspaper entitled to legal compensation for such publication?"

Section 3812-1, G. C., provides in part as follows:

> "The director of public service in cities and council in villages shall have authority to compel the making of sewer and water connections as hereinafter provided. Whenever said director in cities or council in villages deems it necessary in view of contemplated street paving or as a sanitary regulation that sewer or water connections or both be constructed, said director in cities or council in villages shall cause written notice thereof to be given to the owner of each lot or parcel of land to which such connections are to be made, which notice shall state the number and character of connections required. The director of public service in cities and council in villages shall appoint some competent person to serve said notice in the manner provided for the service of summons in civil actions * * *; provided that if any of said owners be non-residents of the corporation or cannot be found, such notice may be given publication twice in one or more newspapers of general circulation in the municipality. * * *"

Section 3818, G. C., which provides for the service of notice of street improvement, is as follows:

> "A notice of the passage of such resolution (resolution of necessity) shall be served by the clerk of council, or an assistant, upon the owner of each piece of property to be assessed, in the manner provided by law for the service of summons in civil actions. If any such owners or persons are not residents of the county, or if it appears by the return in any case of the notice, that such owner cannot be found, the notice shall be published at least twice in a newspaper of general circulation within the corporation."

Section 3843, G. C., referring to an ordinance for sprinkling with water, sweeping or cleaning of streets or alleys or parts thereof, provides as follows:

> "Notice of the passage of such ordinance shall be given the owners of lots and lands to be assessed for the payment of the cost and expense of the work provided for therein, by publishing the ordinance at least once in a newspaper published and of general circulation within the corporation and no other or further notice shall be required."

Section 3856, G. C., referring to the construction or repair of sidewalks, curbing or gutters, provides as follows:

> "If it appears in any such return (return of clerk of council), or that neither such owner, agent, or his place of residence could be found, publication of a copy of the resolution in a newspaper of general circulation in the corporation, in the manner provided for service by publication of resolutions for street improvements, shall be deemed sufficient notice to such owner. * * *"

The publication provided for in the foregoing sections, with the exception of section 3843, G. C., which provides that publication of the ordinance shall be all that is to be made, are in lieu of a personal notice to be served upon the property owner.

The statutes are silent as to whether or not a separate notice shall be published as to each non-resident owner, or whether or not the same may be included in the one publication. Being silent as to this matter, I am of the opinion, in answer to your first question, that several lots or parcels of land owned by non-residents in a special assessment improvement may be included in one notice. and for the sake of economy should be so included.

However, in answer to your second question, if the city officials submit forms of separate notice to each lot owner to a newspaper for publication, said newspaper would be entitled to legal compensation for each publication.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1785.

BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATIONS—MAY ENGAGE IN BUSINESS OF MAKING CHATTEL LOANS—LICENSE FROM SUPERINTENDENT OF BANKS.

A building and loan association organized under the laws of Ohio may engage in the business of making chattel loans.

Such building and loan associations may engage in the business of making chattel loans under the Lloyd act, (106 O. L., 281) upon qualifying and securing a license from the superintendent of banks, as provided in said act.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 17, 1916.

HON. HARRY T. HALL, Superintendent of Banks, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have before me your request for my opinion upon the following questions:

(a) Can the City Loan and Savings Company of Lima, Ohio, lawfully engage in the business of making chattel loans?

(b) Can said company lawfully engage in the business of making chattel loans under the Lloyd act after qualifying and securing a license from the superintendent of banks as provided in said act?

The City Loan and Savings Company of Lima, Ohio, is a building and loan association organized under the laws of Ohio and having in its articles of incorporation the following purpose clause:

> "Said corporation is formed for the purpose of raising money to be loaned to its members and others, and to do all things authorized by title IX, division IV, chapter I, of the General Code of Ohio relating to building and loan associations."

Building and loan associations organized under the provisions of title IX, division IV, chapter I, (sections 9643 to 9675 of the General Code) of the General Code, are given authority under section 9657 of the General Code, "to make loans to members and others on such terms, conditions and security as may be provided by the association."

The kind or character of the security for loans which may be accepted by such association is not further defined or limited by the General Code. It therefore follows that such associations may make loans upon chattel securities.

The Lloyd act referred to in your question, being sections 6346-1 to 6346-10, inclusive, of the General Code, is found in 106 O. L., at page 281. This act amended in supplemented sections 6346-1 to 6346-7 inclusive of the General Code as enacted May 31, 1911 (102 O. L., 469). This latter act regulating and licensing the loaning of money upon chattels or personal property, etc., specially excluded and exempted banks and building and loan associations from the exercise of any authority granted or restrictions imposed by its provisions. The first sentence of the act contained the following language:

> "No person, firm or corporation, except banks and building and loan associations, shall engage or continue in the business of making loans upon chattels or personal property of any kind whatsoever, or of purchasing or making loans on salaries or wage earnings without first having obtained a license so to do from the secretary of state."

The Lloyd act which, as above stated, amended and supplemented the act of May 31, 1911, makes no mention of building and loan associations although section 6346-5 of the General Code, which is a part of the act, contains the following language:

> "* * * Nothing in this act shall apply to pawnbrokers who obtain a municipal license as provided in sections 6337 to 6346, inclusive, of the General Code, or to national banks or to state banks or any person, partnership, association or corporation whose business now comes under the supervision of the superintendent of banks."

The omission of the term "Building and Loan Associations" from the language just quoted is significant and clearly indicates the legislative intent to extend the scope of the act so as to include building and loan associations.

Specifically answering your enquiries I am of the opinion that the City Loan and Savings Company of Lima, Ohio, may under the terms of its purpose clause and the provisions of the General Code under which it is organized, lawfully engage in the business of making chattel loans, and that such association may qualify and be licensed to make chattel loans under the provisions of the Lloyd act.

I might add that such association must qualify and be licensed under the Lloyd act before it can lawfully make chattel loans "at a charge or rate of interest in excess of eight per centum per annum, including all charges."

I am returning the certified copy of the articles of incorporation of the City Loan and Savings Company of Lima, Ohio. Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1786.

STATE BOARD OF PUBLIC BUILDINGS—AUTHORIZED TO PURCHASE BUILDING ALREADY CONSTRUCTED—SEE THE CASE OF THE COLUMBUS CHAMBER OF COMMERCE VS. A. V. DONAHEY, AUDITOR —COURT OF APPEALS FRANKLIN COUNTY, NO. 443.

The state board of public buildings is authorized to purchase a building already constructed which the board believes to be suitable for the housing of state officers, departments and commissions, which it is not possible to house in the state house and judiciary building.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 18, 1916.

HON. HERBERT M. MYERS, Secretary State Board of Public Buildings, Columbus, O.

DEAR SIR:—I acknowledge receipt of your letter of July 6th, in which you request my opinion as follows:

> "The state board of public buildings wishes an opinion from the department of the attorney-general, instructing such board whether it is empowered and authorized under the authority vested in it under amended senate bill No. 304, (106 O. L., 463) entitled 'An act to provide for the appointment of a commission to investigate the office requirements of the officers, departments and commissions of the state, and to proceed with the necessary work to adequately house such officers, departments and commissions' to purchase a building already constructed which such commission believes to be suitable for the housing of such state officers, departments and commissions."

I quote the following pertinent provisions of the act referred to by you, entitled.

> "An act to provide for the appointment of a commission to investigate the office requirements of the officers, departments and commissions of the state, and to proceed with the necessary work to adequately house such officers, departments and commissions.
>
> "Section 4. The board is authorized and empowered to proceed along the following lines and to perform the following duties:
>
> * * * * * * * * * *
>
> "4. To investigate locations contiguous to or conveniently near the state house grounds upon which to erect or to acquire by purchase a building or buildings for the housing of the state offices, departments and commissions, provided it is found upon investigation that such offices, departments and commissions cannot be housed in the state house and the judiciary building.
>
> "Section 5. Said board is authorized and empowered after it has decided upon the method and plan which will efficiently and economically house the offices, departments and commissions of the state upon and with the approval of the governor:

"1. To proceed with additions to or alterations in or repair of the state house, judiciary building, or other building or buildings which may be acquired for the use of the state.

* * * * * * * * * *

"3. To purchase a suitable building or site contiguous to or conveniently near the state house grounds at the prevailing market price or value, on which to erect such building or buildings, or

"4. In the event that there is evidence that the price asked for said site is in excess of the prevailing market price, to condemn and take, by due process of law, such site at its actual value as determined by the selling price of property in the immediate vicinity of the site."

I assume that I may eliminate from consideration the question as to the authority of the board to condemn a building to be used, as such, for the purpose of housing the departments of state instead of the condemnation of a mere site upon which to erect a new building. Some doubt might be entertained as to the authority of the board in this respect, but your letter seems to be limited to the question of purchase as distinguished from that of condemnation.

I am of the opinion that the state board of public buildings has the authority to purchase a building already constructed upon being satisfied that it is suitable for the housing of the state officers, departments and commissions which the board upon inquiry and investigation has selected for housing outside of the state house and the judiciary building.

Section 4 clearly gives authority to investigate locations contiguous to or conveniently near the state house grounds upon which to acquire by purchase such a building. Section 5, paragraph 3, gives express authority to purchase a suitable building. It is true that the last named paragraph is ambiguous, and that its phraseology is involved and complicated. It might be argued that, having regard to the technical grammatical construction of the part of a sentence which constitutes this paragraph, a building could only be purchased by the board as a part of a site "on which to erect" a new building. This interpretation, however, is to my mind negatived by the fact that the thing which may be purchased according to the language of this paragraph is "a suitable building or site." In other words, the board may purchase a building, as such, or a site. Therefore, in my opinion, the phrase "on which to erect such building or buildings" modifies the word "site," but in no way qualifies the preceding word "building." I do think that the phrase "contiguous to or conveniently near the state house grounds," must be regarded as modifying both words, despite the violence done to the rules of syntax in so interpreting this phrase and making the discrimination above made with respect to the modifying effect of the following phrase. I conclude, however, that this is the case because of the somewhat clearer provisions of paragraph 4 of section 4 above quoted. That is to say, the two paragraphs read together, as I think they must be, make it clear that whether a building or a site be purchased, it must be "conveniently near the state house grounds," or contiguous thereto; though, of course, the convenience of the location of the building is a matter for the determination of the board in the exercise of a reasonable discretion.

For the foregoing reasons, then, and with the reservations above expressed, I am of the opinion that your question must be answered in the affirmative.

Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,

Attorney-General.

1787.

CIVIL SERVICE—NO ELIGIBLE LIST EXISTS—NAMES MAY BE CERTIFIED FROM OTHER LISTS MOST APPROPRIATE.

When no eligible list exists from which an appointment may be made to a position in the classified civil service, names may be certified from other lists most appropriate for the group or class in which is classified said position to be filled. Section 486-13, G. C., 106 O. L., 408.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 18, 1916.

The Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—I have your letter of July 8, 1916, as follows:

"For the purpose of inspection in the division of workshops, factories and public buildings of this commission, the state of Ohio has been divided into twenty-two districts. On May 16, 1916, the state civil service commission certified to the industrial commission for the appointment of a district deputy in district No. 22, of said division, three names, together with the name of the former non-competitive employe in the district.

"The three names certified on this eligible list are: Samuel R. Snyder, Millersburg; Nicholas L. Wagner, Steubenville, and Alvah S. Bragg, Dayton. Only one of these eligibles, namely, Samuel R. Snyder, resides within the confines of the 22nd inspection district, which district is made up of the counties of Coshocton, Holmes, Muskingum and Tuscarawas; Messrs. Wagner and Bragg residing outside of the limits of said district.

"The industrial commission was unwilling to make an appointment in this instance from an eligible list which contained the name of but one person who resides within the 22d inspection district, and accordingly the civil service commission was requested to hold another examination for deputy in said district, in order that there might be certified a full list of three names made up of persons residing within the district.

"In reply to the request of our commission, the state civil service commission, under date of July 6, 1916, with reference to the certification herein first referred to and the duplicate certification of the same made on June 19, 1916, states:

"'The certifications to the positions of district deputy in the division of workshops and factories for district No. 22, were made in accordance with a rule adopted by the commission that in districts where an incomplete eligible list existed, the list should be completed by the addition of sufficient names from the state list. I am, therefore, directed by the commission to inform you that certifications made for this district must stand.'

"Please advise us as to whether or not in this case, where an incomplete eligible list existed in the 22nd district, this commission is compelled to make the appointment, against its will, from a certification made up by the state civil service commission containing the names of two persons who do not reside within the inspection district."

There is no provision of statutory law requiring that deputy inspectors shall be residents of the districts in which they are assigned to work, and therefore there is no legal requirement that the deputy named in your letter shall be a resident of said district No. 22.

While this is true, it might be and doubtless is desirable in many cases for the purpose of proper administration and economy in the matter of expenses that deputies should be residents of the territory in which they are required to perform their official service. The matter, therefore, of which you complain is one of administration which should be adjusted by the departments involved with a view only to the best interests of the public service, and I have no doubt that the state civil service commission will lend every reasonable assistance to your commission in an effort to adjust such matters on a basis satisfactory to all.

The certification mentioned in your letter is authorized by section 486-13, G. C., as amended 106 O. L., 408, which section provides among other things that:

> "In the event that an eligible list becomes exhausted, through inadvertence or otherwise, and until a new list can be created, or when no eligible list for such position exists, names may be certified from eligible lists most appropriate for the group or class in which the position to be filled is classified."

Under this provision of said section the state civil service commission acted within its legal rights in making said certification. As is before observed if the facts, which permit your commission to request an eligible list from the district named, are presented to the civil service commission it is very probable, if it is possible for said commission to comply with your request it will be done.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1788.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE BY LYKENS TOWNSHIP RURAL SCHOOL DISTRICT, CRAWFORD COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 18, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.
GENTLEMEN:—

> "RE:—Bonds of Lykens township rural school district, Crawford county, Ohio, in the sum of $3,500.00 for the purpose of improving school properties in said district, being seven bonds of five hundred dollars each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the board of education and other officers of Lykens township rural school district relative to the above bond issue, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the form submitted and executed by the proper officers will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of said district.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1789.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUE BY HURON COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 18, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of Huron county, Ohio, in the sum of $12,000.00 for the improvement of a section of intercounty highway No. 97, in Greenwich township, being twenty-four bonds of five hundred dollars each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the county commissioners and other officers of Huron county, and the township trustees of Greenwich township relative to the above bond issue, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the form submitted and executed by the proper officers will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of Huron county.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1790.

APPROVAL, TRANSCRIPT OF PROCEEDINGS FOR BOND ISSUED BY HURON COUNTY, OHIO.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 18, 1916.

Industrial Commission of Ohio, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—

"RE:—Bonds of Huron county, Ohio, in the sum of $11,000.00 for the improvement of a section of intercounty highway No. 289, in Ridgefield township, being twenty-two bonds of five hundred dollars each."

I have examined the transcript of the proceedings of the county commissioners and other officers of Huron county, and the township trustees of Ridgefield township relative to the above bond issue, also the bond and coupon form attached, and I find the same regular and in conformity with the provisions of the General Code.

I am of the opinion that said bonds drawn in accordance with the form submitted and executed by the proper officers will, upon delivery, constitute valid and binding obligations of Huron county.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1791.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS—MAY NOT RECEIVE MORE THAN $300.00 FOR JOINT OR SINGLE COUNTY DITCH WORK—SEE OPINION NO. 1743 UNDER DATE OF JUNE 29, 1916.

County commissioners may not receive in any one official year as compensation for ditch work, whether in joint or single county ditch work, more than three hundred dollars.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 18, 1916.

HON. J. H. MUSSER, Prosecuting Attorney, Wapakoneta, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Yours under date of May 20, 1916, is as follows:

> "Two of our county commissioners have already charged up this year 100 days on ditch work, on single county ditches, and there is a number of joint ditches pending, and one of the commissioners claims that they are entitled, in addition to the 100 days allowed on county ditch work, to another 100 days, at $3.00 per day on joint county ditch work, he saying that the commissioners in Champaign county have been so drawing money, and that the money so drawn was approved by one of the state examiners.
>
> "I wish that you would please give me your opinion as to whether or not the commissioners are entitled to more than 100 days pay on all ditch work, without taking into consideration the fact that they might be entitled to fees and expenses under sections 6563-44, of the General Code."

The question submitted by you is covered by opinion No. 1743, under date of June 29, 1916, addressed to Hon. B. A. Myers, prosecuting attorney, Celina, Ohio, a copy of which is herewith enclosed and in which it is held that the compensation which a county commissioner may receive for ditch work within any official year may not exceed three hundred dollars as prescribed by section 3001, G. C.

Answering your inquiry specifically, I am, for the reasons stated in the opinion above referred to, of opinion that county commissioners may not receive in any one official year, as compensation for ditch work, whether in joint or single county ditch work, more than three hundred dollars. The delay in answering your letter has been due to the fact that the same was misplaced.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1792.

ROADS AND HIGHWAYS—WHEN COUNTY HIGHWAY SUPERINTENDENT REPAIRS ROAD BY FORCE ACCOUNT—MAY CONTRACT FOR MATERIALS UPON BASIS OF NUMBER OF TONS HAULED.

Where the county highway superintendent is repairing a road by force account, he may employ drivers and teams and contract to pay for such services upon the basis of the number of tons of material hauled, where such method of compensation is authorized by the county commissioners.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 18, 1916.

HON. JOSEPH W. HORNNER, Prosecuting Attorney, Newark, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your communication of June 27, 1916, which communication reads as follows:

> "Mr. John Swartz, our highway superintendent, is making repairs on our county roads and he would like to know whether or not he would have authority to contract to have the material hauled by the ton or must it be done by the day.
>
> "He says that in his opinion he can save money by having it hauled by the ton, and has the approval of the county commissioners."

My understanding of the situation in reference to which you desire my opinion, as gathered from your letter and from a conversation had by Mr. Swartz with a representative of this department, is that it has been determined by the county commissioners to repair a road by force account. I am not informed as to whether the material was purchased by the commissioners or whether they have authorized the county highway superintendent to purchase the material, but in so far as the necessary labor is concerned, the county highway superintendent has been authorized to employ the same under the authority conferred by section 155 of the Cass highway law, section 7198, G. C., which section reads as follows:

> "The county highway superintendent may, with the approval of the county commissioners or township trustees, employ such laborers, teams, implements and tools, and purchase such material as may be necessary in the performance of his duties."

The question now arises as to whether in the hauling of the necessary material drivers and teams may be employed to perform this service for an agreed compensation per ton of material hauled, or whether it is necessary to employ drivers and teams upon a per diem basis. There is nothing in the statute to warrant the conclusion that drivers and teams must necessarily be employed upon a per diem or any other particular basis. It is quite probable that under some circumstances it would be to the advantage of the county that the compensation of drivers and teams should be fixed upon the basis of the amount of material hauled, and in view of this fact and the further fact that the statute does not provide any basis upon which compensation is required to be fixed, I advise you that the county highway superintendent may employ drivers and teams and contract to pay for such services upon the basis of the number of tons of material hauled where such method of compensation is authorized by the county commissioners.

Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,

Attorney-General.

1793.

ROADS AND HIGHWAYS—COLLECTION OF ASSESSMENTS MADE BY COUNTY COMMISSIONERS FOR CONSTRUCTION OF ROAD UNDER CERTAIN PROVISIONS OF CASS HIGHWAY LAW MAY NOT BE ANTICIPATED BY ISSUE OF SHORT TERM NOTES OR CERTIFICATES OF INDEBTEDNESS—BONDS REQUIRED TO BE ISSUED.

The collection of assessments made by county commissioners for the construction of a road under the provisions of chapter VI of the Cass highway law may not be anticipated by the issue of short term notes or certificates of indebtedness, or in any manner other than by an issue of bonds in the method provided by section 6929, G. C.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 18, 1916.

The Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—I have your communication of June 13, 1916, enclosing a letter from the auditor of Van Wert county, and requesting my opinion upon the question propounded therein. The letter in question reads as follows:

> "Is there any reason why (when we start improving roads to be paid for by bond issue) the county commissioners, after having passed all necessary legislation, could not provide temporary money by issuing certificate of indebtedness at a rate not to exceed six per cent. for a short period of time until we know how much actual cash the farmers will be able to pay? Immediately after the receipt of the same we would proceed to issue bonds for the difference.
>
> "During the time that I was city auditor I followed the procedure which resulted in a reduced bond issue as well as a saving to the abutting property owners."

Section 108 of the Cass highway law, section 6929, G. C., being found in the chapter of that act relating to road construction and improvement by county commissioners, provides that the county commissioners, in anticipation of the collection of special assessments upon benefited real estate, may sell the bonds of the county. I am of the opinion that this provision is exclusive and that the collection of assessments made by county commissioners for the construction of a road, under the provisions of chapter VI of the Cass highway law, may not be anticipated by the issue of short term notes or certificates of indebtedness or in any manner other than by an issue of bonds in the method provided by section 6929, G. C.

It should be noted that under the provisions of section 6922, G. C., assessments for the construction of a road by county commissioners are made as soon as the improvement is granted. The estimated assessments are made by the surveyor upon actual view and a schedule of the apportionment made by the county surveyor is to be filed in the office of the commissioners, notice given and a hearing had by the commissioners, who are authorized to confirm the assessments as reported by the surveyor or to modify the same and approve and confirm the assessments as modified.

Under the provisions of section 6924, G. C., the commissioners are required to fix a time within which assessments may be paid in cash and give notice of their action by publication. It is clear from a reading of the several related sections of the General Code that the above mentioned steps are to be taken in the order indicated and that they must all be taken and the time within which assessments may be paid in cash must have expired before the county commissioners are authorized to issue bonds in anticipation of the collection of unpaid assessments. When all of the above mentioned steps have been taken and when the time fixed by the commissioners for the payments of assessments in cash has expired, the county commissioners will be authorized to borrow money in anticipation of the collection of such assessments as are not paid in cash. The money is to be borrowed in the manner provided by section 6929, G. C., that is, by an issue of bonds, and as previously indicated I am of the opinion that this method is exclusive and that short term notes or certificates of indebtedness may not be issued.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1794.

COUNTY CHILDREN'S HOME—DESTROYED BY FLOOD OF 1913—REAL ESTATE DISPOSED OF—ABANDONMENT COMPLETE—MAY NOW PROCEED UNDER SECTION NO. 3077 G. C. TO ESTABLISH A HOME.

Through the destruction of the children's home in Morgan county by the flood of 1913, and the subsequent action of the county commissioners in disposing of the real estate as not needed for public use, the abandonment of the children's home was rendered complete.

There being no children's home located within the county, the commissioners thereof are authorized to proceed under section 3077 G. C. to establish a children's home the same as if one had never existed in the county.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 18, 1916.

Board of State Charities, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—Permit me to acknowledge the receipt of your request for an opinion which is as follows:

> "The 1913 flood destroyed the buildings of the Morgan county children's home. The local officials then decided not to rebuild the institution and abandoned the home as such. The board of trustees which had charge of the affairs of the institution ceased to assume any more responsibility; not even for the wards which had previously been placed in foster homes. The county commissioners have not in subsequent years made any further appointments to this board. From the sale of real estate connected with the home and some insurance money there is now a fund of about $8,000.
>
> "It is proposed by the county commissioners to establish a new home. We wish to enquire whether the provisions of section 3077 of the General Code, will apply in such a case. In other words, is the proposition to create a children's home through purchase of a farm and the erection of buildings to be construed as the establishment of a home without regard to the previous existence of such a home?"

Section 3077 of the General Code, as amended, 103 Ohio Laws, 889, is as follows:

> "When in their opinion the interests of the public so demand, the commissioners of a county may, or upon the written petition of two hundred or more tax payers, shall, provided the approval of the board of state charities has been first obtained, at the next regular election submit to the qualified electors of such county, or the counties forming a district, the question of establishing a children's home for such county or district, and the issue of county bonds or notes to provide funds therefor. Notice of such election shall be published for at least two weeks prior to taking such vote in two or more newspapers printed and of general circulation in such county or in the counties of the district, and shall state the maximum amount of money to be expended in establishing such home."

I am just in receipt of a letter under date of July 10, 1916, from Mr. John Whitney, auditor of Morgan county, which is as follows:

"You will find enclosed resolution taken from the Commissioners' Journal of August, 1913, relative to the sale of children's home farm.

"The trustees of the children's home continued to act after the destruction of the home until the next visit of the state examiner in April, 1914. Mr. Young, the examiner, advised that the destruction of the home terminated the office of trustees and after that time, April, 1914, the county commissioners took charge of the homeless children of the county, until May, 1916, when the new children's home was put in operation."

With his letter is enclosed a copy of the resolution for the sale of the children's home farm which was adopted by the commissioners of Morgan county on August 11, 1913, and which is as follows:

"RESOLUTION FOR SALE OF CHILDREN'S HOME FARM.

"Whereas, the building and structures situated upon the children's home farm, located in Malta township, Morgan county, Ohio, were destroyed by the flood of March and April of 1913, and by fire, and whereas said farm is now unfitted for use by the trustees of said home for maintaining a home for the dependent children of said county, and whereas the number of dependent children in said county is small and provision for their maintenance and support has been made at a less expense than would be necessary to rebuild and re-equip said farm as a suitable home and institution for said dependent children, therefore be it resolved, by the board of commissioners of Morgan county, Ohio, that it is for the best interest of said county, to sell the premises known as 'The Children's Home Farm.' That notice of the receiving of proposals for the purchase of farm will be published in two newspapers of opposite politics and of general circulation in said county as follows:

"Proposals to be submitted for the sale of said premises, structures, fixtures and equipments thereon, and also for the sale of the premises without any of said structures, etc., said sale to be for one-third cash in hand on day of sale, one-third in one year, and one-third in two years from date of sale, deferred payments being secured by first mortgage on the premises sold, and to bear interest at the rate of 6% per annum; the best bid according to the form thereof will be accepted, reserving the right to reject any and all bids.

"Bids to be opened at one o'clock p. m. on the 25th day of August, 1913."

The resolution recites that the premises were destroyed by the flood of March and April, 1913, and by fire, and that it is for the best interests of the county to sell the premises known as the "Children's Home Farm." This action was taken under the provisions of section 2447 of the General Code, which was as follows:

> "If, in their opinion, the interests of the county so require, the commissioners may sell any real estate belonging to the county, and not needed for public use."

Section 2447 of the General Code, supra, has been amended and supplemented in 106 Ohio Laws, page 399, and at present is as follows:

> "If, in their opinion, the interests of the county so require, the commissioners may sell real estate belonging to the county, and not needed for public use; and, in case of the sale of such real estate not used for county purposes, the proceeds of such sale or such parts thereof as the board of commissioners may designate may be placed by the commissioners in a separate fund to be used only for the construction, equipment, maintenance or repair of other county buildings, and the provisions of section 5638 of the General Code, shall not apply to appropriations or expenditures of said fund."

From the copy of the resolution re-establishing the children's home, which resolution was entered on the commissioners' journal under date of March 9, 1916, it is made to appear that the money obtained from the sale of the children's home farm, together with some insurance collected amounting to $8,013.18, has been kept intact on deposit in bank. The resolution, among other things, recites:

> "And, whereas, there is now urgent need that said children's home be re-established to care for the thirty children who are now actually wards of the county, and whereas that certain farm now owned by Maud Rex, consisting of seventy-five acres with suitable buildings thereon, located about a mile from McConnelsville on the Barnesville road is a suitable place for a children's home, and whereas the same is offered to this board for such purpose for the sum of $8,000.00. Now, therefore, be is resolved, by the board of county commissioners of Morgan county, Ohio, in regular session: That said farm be purchased for said sum * * * be taken possession of by the proper authorities, and that said children's home be and the same is hereby re-established thereon."

A board of trustees is also named in the resolution and constituted with full power to control and manage the same according to law.

As to the full and complete abandonment of the children's home subsequent to the flood of 1913 there can be no question, as the buildings were completely destroyed, nothing being left but the land. This condition has existed for a period of over three years, was known to your department and, as stated before, was made the subject of official action by the board of county commissioners of Morgan county. With the sale of the real estate under the provisions of section 2447 of the General Code, supra, the abandonment of the children's home was complete, and so far as section 3077 of the General Code is concerned the conditions in Morgan county were the same as if the home had never existed.

The provisions of section 3077 of the General Code, as amended, supra, are clear and precise, and from the facts stated in your letter, coupled with the action taken by the county commissioners, there can be no question but that there is not at present a children's home in Morgan county. It is now proposed to purchase a farm which is said to be suitable for the purpose of a children's home, the money necessary for payment for the farm is in hand and, subject to the approval of your board, which is required as a condition precedent to the establishment or erection of a children's home. It is my opinion that the necessary plan of procedure for the establishment of a children's home in Morgan county is provided by section 3077 of the General Code, as amended, supra, and the prior existence of a home which was abandoned under the circumstances and conditions described above does not rob the county commissioners of their authority to proceed under the section quoted. I do not know by what authority this money has been placed in bank, unless this is meant to refer to the regularly designated depository.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1795.

COMMISSION FOR THE BLIND—WHEN AN APPLICANT TO ITS INDUSTRIAL SCHOOLS RECEIVES AN AWARD FROM INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION ON ACCOUNT OF AN INJURY IN COURSE OF HIS EMPLOYMENT, SAID FACT DOES NOT OF ITSELF OPERATE TO DENY HIM BENEFITS OF SECTION 1366 G. C.—COMMISSION FOR BLIND SHOULD EXERCISE DISCRETION.

The fact that an applicant for admission to one of the industrial schools or shops operated by the Ohio Commission for the Blind for the purpose of learning broom making receives an award from the Industrial Commission of Ohio on account of the loss of his sight in the course of his employment does not of itself operate to deny him the benefits of section 1366 of the General Code, which authorizes the commission for the blind to provide board and lodging for workmen and pupils.

The question is one of administration to be determined by the commission in the exercise of sound discretion. The facts in each particular case govern.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 18, 1916.

The Ohio Commission for the Blind, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—The request for an opinion submitted by the acting executive secretary of your commission is as follows:

> "We have had application for admission to our training school from Christo Space, a young man who has recently lost his sight in an explosion at the plant where he was employed in Marion, Ohio. He is now receiving $7.26 from the Industrial Commission, and we would like to know if he is entitled to assistance for paying his board during the time he is learning the trade of broom making. Of course, we make no charge for tuition, but the question has been raised as to whether or not we are justified in paying his board as we do in cases where the men have no income while learning to make brooms."

Section 1366 of the General Code, which is a part of the act governing the Ohio Commission for the Blind, is as follows:

> "The commission for the blind may establish, equip and maintain schools for industrial training and workshops for the employment of suitable blind persons, pay the employes suitable wages and devise means for the sale and distribution of the product thereof. The commission may also provide or pay for during their training the temporary lodging and support of pupils or workmen received at any industrial schools or workshops established by it."

The object of your commission, as set forth in section 1363 of the General Code, is that it should act as a bureau of information and industrial aid, assist the blind in finding employment and teach them industries which may be followed in their homes. In other words, the work of the commission is largely of a philanthropic and benevolent character.

The precise question involved in your enquiry is whether or not your commission would be justified in paying the board of the applicant for admission to your training school in view of the fact that he is receiving $7.26 (which I assume to be weekly) as an award from the Industrial Commission of Ohio growing out of the loss of his sight.

Under the provisions of section 1366 of the General Code, supra, your commission is clothed with discretion as to matters of this kind, there being no fixed standard by which the question of payment of maintenance is to be measured. The mere fact that the applicant in the present case is a beneficiary of the workmen's compensation act to the extent of $7.26 per week would not, in my opinion, necessarily determine the question as to his ability to maintain himself during the time when he might be learning the trade of broom-making as the entire amount of $7.26 might be expended by him in connection with his necessary home expenses, such as providing for a family, parents, etc.

While the provisions of the law authorizing the payment for lodging and support of pupils during their training under your supervision are, doubtless, meant to apply to needy persons, yet it is not to be assumed that one, in order to qualify under those provisions, should necessarily be a pauper or entirely without some income.

It is my opinion that this question is one of administration which calls for the exercise of sound discretion by your commission, and if it should be found that the amount received by the applicant from the Industrial Commission is consumed in the payment of obligations resting upon him, the fact of his receiving the award referred to should not deprive him of the benefits of the section. If, on the other hand, it should be found upon investigation that from the proceeds of the award the applicant for admission to the training school is able to maintain himself during his training period there would probably not exist any necessity for the payment of his board by your commission, and therefore no justification for such action on your part.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1796.

ROADS AND HIGHWAYS—NO STATUTES MAKING IT CRIMINAL OFFENSE FOR CONTRACTOR NOT TO MARK WITH RED LIGHT OR OTHER DANGER SIGNAL, OBSTRUCTION LAWFULLY PLACED IN HIGHWAY.

There is no statute making it a criminal offense for a contractor not to mark with a red light, or other danger signal, obstructions lawfully placed in a highway. There is, however, a civil liability for any negligence.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 18, 1916.

HON. C. ELLIS MOORE, Prosecuting Attorney, Cambridge, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your inquiry of June 16, 1916, which inquiry reads as follows:

> "I have not made an exhaustive investigation concerning the statute, but with what examination I have made I have not found any statutory provision with any penalty attached thereto, requiring a contractor or any one leaving anything upon the public highway, to have the same marked with danger signals or red lights. There was some complaint about a contractor improving some of our roads, not keeping lights upon his machinery used in the improvement. However, he has since complied with this, and there is no immediate necessity for this being used. However, I am anxious to know if you knew of any statutory provision covering this matter with reference to contractors and the public highway."

By the expression "a contractor or any one" I understand you to refer to a contractor or other person lawfully engaged in the construction, improvement, maintenance or repair of a public highway. Not every class of highway work requires the closing of the section of highway being improved, and it is apparent that where a highway is being improved and the same is not closed to public travel, it will be necessary at times to place materials or other obstructions in the road. Such placing of obstructions in or upon a public highway is not to be regarded as unlawful within the meaning of section 288 of the Cass highway law, section 13421-11 G. C., which provides that whoever unlawfully places any obstruction in or upon a public highway shall be fined, etc. Your inquiry, as I understand it, is as to whether there is any statute making it a criminal offense for a contractor or other person engaged in the construction, improvement, maintenance or repair of a public highway, which highway is not closed to traffic, to fail to mark with a red light or other danger signal any material, tools, or other articles which he may lawfully place in the highway.

I have carefully examined the statutes and do not find that the act referred to by you has been made a criminal offense by the legislature of Ohio. Where, however, the highway is unlawfully obstructed, the person placing the obstruction therein may be prosecuted under section 13421-11 G. C. referred to above, or under section 13421-14 G. C., which provides that whoever digs up, removes, excavates or places any earth or mud upon any portion of any public highway, or builds a fence upon the same without legal authority or permission so to do, shall be fined, etc.

I do not mean to hold, however, that a contractor lawfully placing material, machinery or other obstructions of a similar character within a highway and failing to mark the same with red lights or other similar danger signals would not be liable civilly to a person suffering injury as a result of such conduct.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1797.

ROADS AND HIGHWAYS—CASS HIGHWAY LAW DOES NOT AUTHORIZE COUNTY COMMISSIONERS TO APPROPRIATE PROPERTY FOR SOLE PURPOSE OF WIDENING MAIN MARKET ROAD—INTERPRETATION OF STATUTES AUTHORIZING APPROPRIATION OF LAND FOR ELIMINATION OF RAILWAY GRADE CROSSINGS—EFFECT OF CASS HIGHWAY LAW UPON SUCH PROCEEDINGS—BOND PROVISION FOR COUNTY'S SHARE OF COST DISCUSSED.

1. Neither section 1 of the Cass highway law, section 6860 G. C., nor section 19 of the act, section 6878 G. C. authorizes county commissioners to appropriate property for the sole purpose of widening a main market road.

2. Where the commissioners of a county are proceeding under section 8863 G. C. et seq., and it becomes necessary to purchase or appropriate land or property, the commissioners are authorized to make such purchase or appropriation by section 8867 G. C., and should proceed under that section. In making an appropriation of land or property under section 8867 G. C. the commissioners should act in the manner provided by section 91 and 92 of the Cass highway law, sections 6912 and 6913 G. C. and the related sections.

3. The elimination of a railway grade crossing or the change of an existing railway crossing cannot be considered an "improvement" under chapter VI of the Cass highway law. The power to appropriate lands or property necessary in the alteration of a railway crossing is not conferred by any provision of chapter VI of the Cass highway law, but is conferred by section 8867 G. C.

4. The issue of bonds for the county's portion of the cost of changing a railway crossing is controlled by section 8870 G. C.

5. It is not necessary that bonds for the county's portion of the cost of changing a railway crossing be sold before the agreement between the county and the railway company is made.

6. Where the county commissioners are proceeding under section 8863 G. C. et seq., section 2444 G. C. does not apply.

7. Where the commissioners are proceeding under section 8863 G. C. et seq., advertisement and service of notice should be made as provided by sections 6912 and 6913 G. C., although the railroad company constitutes the only abutting property owner and is the only owner whose property is purchased or appropriated.

8. Under such circumstances a trustee under a mortgage is to be regarded as an "owner" and is entitled to notice, and this is true without regard to whether default has been made in the condition of the mortgage.

9. The fact that the corporation line of a city bisects an improvement projected under section 8863 G. C. et seq., does not destroy the jurisdiction of the county commissioners, and the proceedings, plans, specifications, etc., need not be approved by the city council.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 18, 1916.

HON. JOHN V. CAMPBELL, Prosecuting Attorney, Cincinnati, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have the following request for an opinion from Mr. Smith Hickenlooper of your office, under date of June 8, 1916:

"General Code, section 8864, provides for the alteration of a grade 'or other crossing' by unanimous vote of the county commissioners. General Code, section 8865, provides for the publication and service of notice. Section 8866 provides for a resolution determining to proceed with the proposed improvement that shall be passed in not less than thirty nor more than ninety days after the original resolution. General Code, section 8867, provides for the appropriation of land required to make the alteration in the highway 'in the manner provided by law for the appropriation of private property for public use.' Section 8868 provides for the apportionment of the cost of the improvement, including the cost of land purchased or appropriated, of which total cost the county shall pay not more than thirty-five per cent. and the railway company not less than sixty-five per cent.

"The C. H. & D. Railway Company crosses Springfield pike, a main market road, a short distance south of the former village of Hartwell, now a portion of the city of Cincinnati. The corporation line of the city of Cincinnati runs along the center of Springfield pike at this point, the eastern portion of the crossing being within the corporate limits, and the western half in the county. North and south of the crossing the roadway is sixty feet in width and at the point of crossing is approximately only twenty-two feet in width between the abutments of the railway supporting the overhead structure. An effort to compel the railway company to remove these abutments from between the lines of the roadway extended,, failed by reason of the decision of the supreme court holding that the statute of limitations had run in favor of the railway before the county acquired title to the Springfield pike (92 O. S., 513).

"This crossing, although an overhead one, is dangerous to travel by reason of its extreme narrowness, and the dip in the roadway at this point. The county commissioners, therefore, desire to enter into an agreement with the railway company to rebuild this crossing in such manner as to allow a roadway proper for the full width of forty feet with ten foot sidewalks on each side, the railway retaining the right to maintain supporting columns on the curb line and the railway company to perform the work of reconstruction. The commissioners also wish to issue bonds for the county's share of the cost of this improvement. It is estimated that the actual cost of construction of the new structure will be approximately $84,300.00, whereas a new twenty-two foot structure placed upon the present abutments would cost the railway only in the neighborhood of twenty-five thousand. Therefore, whether we figure the value of the property taken and the damage to the residue as the difference in the cost of the two structures, or as a capitalization of the increased depreciation charges, such value and damage to the residue would amount to more than thirty-five thousand dollars. A tentative understanding has been reached between the commissioners and the railway, that the commissioners will contribute to the cost of reconstruction a sum not to exceed thirty-five thousand dollars, and it is our desire to proceed under sections 8864 to 8868 of the General Code. In so doing we are confronted by several questions of procedure upon which we should like your opinion.

"Section I of the Cass highway law gives the commissioners power to widen all roads in the county 'except intercounty and main market roads.' Section 19 of this law apparently gives the commissioners authority to widen all roads, without exception. Chapter I of the Cass highway law, contains no provision for the issue of bonds for the payment of compensation for property taken. Section 85 gives to the county commissioners the power to widen a roadway 'in connection with the proceedings for such improvement.' Sections 89 and 94 inclusive provide the procedure for making an 'improvement.' Section 108 of the Cass highway law provides for the issue of bonds in anticipation of the collection of taxes. Sections 253, 254 and 255 provide for a change of grade at railway crossings, but apparently do not cover an alteration of such crossing as here contemplated.

"The procedure contemplated by us is to agree with the railroad that the compensation for land taken and the damage to the residue shall be fifteen thousand, seven hundred dollars. This would make the total cost of the improvement, including the value of property taken, one hundred thousand dollars, of which the county would pay thirty-five per cent., but not to exceed thirty-five thousand dollars, and the railway company sixty-five per cent. The only act performed by the county would be the acquiring of additional width of roadway. In other words the county would not make any improvement, properly so-called, under chapter 6 of the Cass highway law. And as section 8867 of the General Code, provides that property may be taken by the county 'in the manner provided by law for the appropriation of private property,' the following questions arise.

"(1) Can the county commissioners appropriate property for the sole purpose of widening a main market road under either sections 1 or 19 of the Cass highway law?

"(2) If there is a limitation upon the power of the commissioners under the Cass highway law to appropriate property for widening a main market road, can this power be inferred from the right given under section 8867 of the General Code, which apparently limits such right to existing powers? And by what plan of procedure would the commissioners be governed?

"(3) If the right to appropriate property to widen a main market road be not given by chapter I of the Cass highway law, can the alteration of a railway crossing be considered an 'improvement' under chapter 6, and the power to appropriate thus be deemed created under section 85 of that law; or, on the other hand, are the improvements in connection with which the commissioners are given the power to widen such roadway under such chapter 6, limited to improvements of a character designated in that chapter?

"(4) If the right to appropriate is derived from the Cass highway law, would the issue of bonds be controlled, in part or in whole, by the provisions of section 108 of that law, or by General Code, section 8870?

"(5) Must the bonds be sold and the money be in the treasury, prior to the making of the agreement in question, under section 5660 of the General Code?

"(6) Is any advertisement necessary, in an appropriation or purchase agreement of this sort, under section 2444 of the General Code, as amended 106 Ohio Laws 423?

"(7) Where the railroad constituted the only abutting property owner and is the only owner whose property is purchased or appropriated, is it essential that advertisement and service of notice be made as required by either sections 11 or 12, or sections 91 and 92 of the Cass highway law, or can the commissioners enter directly into such agreement with the railway?

"(8) Would a trustee under a mortgage in which default had or had not been made, be considered an 'Owner,' and as such entitled to notice under either sections 11 and 12 or section 92 of the Cass highway law?

"(9) Does the fact that the corporation line of the city of Cincinnati bisects this improvement, limit the powers of the commissioners in reference thereto, or must the proceedings, plans, specifications, etc., be approved by the city council, the city contributing nothing to the improvement, as well as by the state highway commissioner?"

Complying with my request of June 24th for a restatement of his second question, Mr. Hickenlooper, in a letter to this office under date of July 3rd, has re-phrased this question to read as follows:

"Second: If there is a limitation upon the power of the commissioners, under the Cass highway law, to appropriate property for widening a main market road, is such power conferred by section 8867, which apparently limits the power of appropriation granted by it to powers already existing or granted elsewhere? And by what plan of procedure would the commissioners be governed in making the appropriation under this section (8867)?"

Sections 1 to 19 inclusive of the Cass highway law, being sections 6860 to 6878 G. C. inclusive, provide, among other things, a scheme for the widening of roads by county commissioners. Section 6860 G. C., being the first of these sections, reads as follows:

"The county commissioners shall have power to locate, establish, alter, widen, straighten, vacate or change the direction of roads as hereinafter provided. This power extends to all roads within the county, except the intercounty and main market roads."

Section 6861 G. C. relates solely to the width of roads to be hereafter located and established. Sections 6862 to 6877 G. C. inclusive, provide, among other things, a method of widening roads upon the petition of at least twelve freeholders residing in the vicinity of the proposed improvement. Section 6878 G. C. provides, among other things, a method of widening roads upon the initiative of the commissioners of any county or any joint board of commissioners of two or more counties, in which case no petition is necessary, provided the board or joint board acts by resolution adopted by a unanimous vote. There can be no question but that the provision of section 6860 G. C., to the effect that the power of county commissioners to widen roads shall not extend to intercounty or main market roads, relates to the scheme of procedure provided for by sections 6862 to 6877, G. C. inclusive, and I am also clearly of the opinion that this limitation on the power of the county commissioners was intended by the legislature to apply where a board of commissioners or joint board of commissioners acts without a petition under authority of section 6878 G. C. I therefore advise you that sections 1 to 19 inclusive of the Cass highway law, being section 6860 to section 6878 G. C. inclusive, do not confer upon county commissioners the power and authority to appropriate property for the sole purpose of widening a main market road. This conclusion is strengthened by the fact that under section 194 of the act, being section 1201 G. C., county commissioners are authorized to appropriate property where they are co-operating with the state in the construction of an intercounty highway improvement and land or property is needed by reason of the fact that the line of the proposed improvement deviates from the existing highway or by reason of the fact that additional right-of-way is required for the improvement; and by the provisions of section 226 of the act, section 1231 G. C., the procedure where commissioners co-operate in improving a main market road is the same as in the case of co-operation in the improvement of an intercounty highway. The language of section 5860 G. C. is to my mind capable of only one interpretation, to wit: That the authority of the county commissioners under this and the eighteen ensuing sections does not extend to intercounty highways and main market roads. However, if there be any doubt as to the meaning of this language, and as to whether the limitation is effective when the commissioners, under authority of section 6878 G. C. act by unanimous vote and without a petition, then the fact that the legislature has in another part of the act conferred authority upon commissioners to appropriate land and property where they are co-operating in the improvement of an intercounty highway or main market road, supports the conclusion heretofore expressed in regard to the scope of their authority under sections 6860 to 6878 G. C. inclusive.

Coming now to consider the second question submitted by Mr. Hickenlooper, and having concluded that there is a limitation upon the power of county commissioners acting under sections 6860 to 6878 G. C. inclusive, to appropriate property for widening a main market road and that the commissioners do not have such power under the sections in question, it becomes necessary to consider the question submitted as to whether such power, is conferred by section 8867 G. C., which Mr. Hickenlooper observes apparently limits the power of appropriation granted by it to powers already existing or granted elsewhere.

Section 8867 G. C. 90 O. L. 361, reads as follows:

> "The land or property required to make the alteration in the street or highway necessitated by the proposed improvement, shall be purchased or appropriated by the municipality or county after the manner provided by law for the appropriation of private property for public use, and the land or property required to make the alteration in the railroad or railroads necessitated by the proposed improvement, shall be purchased or appropriated by the railroad company or companies, after the manner provided for the appropriation of private property by such corporation."

Mr. Hickenlooper's observation is evidently dictated by the provision of the section above quoted, to the effect that the land or property "shall be purchased or appropriated by the * * * county in the manner provided by law for the appropriation of private property for public use." I think it is clear from this section that it was the intention of the legislature to confer upon county commissioners the power to purchase or appropriate land or property where they are proceeding under section 8863 G. C. et seq., and I therefore advise you that where the commissioners of a county are proceeding under section 8863 G. C. and the succeeding sections, and it becomes necessary to purchase or appropriate land or property, the commissioners are authorized to make such purchase or appropriation by section 8867 G. C., and should proceed under this section. It is true that the power of appropriation granted by this section is limited to powers already existing or granted elsewhere, and the difficulty in determining the plan of procedure which would govern the commissioners in making the appropriation arises from the fact that they are required to proceed "in the manner provided by law for the appropriation of private property for public use," and the further fact that there is no general appropriation statute applicable to and available for use by the county commissioners. It might be thought upon a cursory examination that by the use of the language "in the manner provided by law for the appropriation of private property for public use," the legislature intended to refer to section 2446 G. C., which in its present form authorizes the appropriation of real estate, right of way or easement for a court house, jail or public offices or for a bridge and the approaches thereto or other lawful structure. However, this conclusion cannot be sustained by reason of the fact that section 2446 G. C. has been amended since the enactment of section 8867 G. C., and at the time of the enactment of section 8867 G. C., section 2446 G. C. authorized the appropriation of real estate only for the purpose of a court house or a court house and jail. I am of the opinion that the plan of procedure by which the commissioners should be governed in making an appropriation under section 8867 G. C. is to be deduced from the fact that the purpose for which such appropriation of land or property is to be made is primarily the improvement of a highway, and that therefore the appropriation should be made in the manner provided by law for the appropriation of land for road purposes where the county commissioners make the appropriation as an incident to the ordinary improvement of such highway. This method is at the present time regulated by the provisions of several of the sections of chapter VI of the Cass highway law. Upon the adoption by the county commissioners of a resolution declaring the necessity of joining with the railroad company in the alteration of the crossing and the intent of the county commissioners and stating the manner in which the alteration is to be made and giving the method of construction, and also setting forth what land or property it is necessary to appropriate, and how the cost is to be apportioned between the county and railroad company and other necessary facts, there should be published in addition to the notice required by section 8865 G. C., the notice required by section 6912 G. C., being section 91 of the Cass highway law, in so far as such notice relates to the taking of land or property, and such notice should state briefly that the land and property of the railroad company are to be appropriated and should be served on the company at least ten days before the day fixed for the hearing on claims for compensation. Subsequent proceedings should be had in compliance with the provisions of section 6914 G. C. et seq., in so far as such sections refer to the allowance of claims for land or property taken.

Section 85 of the Cass highway law, section 6906 G. C. referred to by Mr. Hickenlooper, in his third question, reads as follows:

> "The board of commissioners of any county shall have power, as hereinafter provided, to construct a public road by laying out and building a new public road, or by improving, reconstructing or repairing any existing public road or part thereof by grading, paving, draining, dragging, graveling, macadamizing, resurfacing or applying dust preventives, or by otherwise improving the same. The county commissioners shall have power to alter, vacate or widen any part of such road in connection with the proceedings for such improvement."

This section makes no reference whatever to the elimination or abolition of grade or other crossings and the provisions of the subsequent sections of chapter VI of the Cass highway law are not such as to lead to the belief that the legislature intended that these sections should apply to the elimination, abolition or change of such crossings. The only argument in favor of such construction would necessarily be based on the use of the language "or by otherwise improving the same," and under the familiar rule of statutory construction that where general terms follow specific words of a like nature, they take their meaning from the latter and are presumed to embrace only things or persons of the kind designated by them, I am of the opinion that the use of the language "or by otherwise improving the same" is not to be taken as conferring upon county commissioners the authority to alter or abolish grade or other crossings under the provisions of chapter VI of the Cass highway law. This conclusion is strengthened by the fact that full authority to deal with such crossings existed at the time of the passage of the Cass highway law under sections of the General Code which were left unrepealed. I therefore advise you that the elimination or change of a railway crossing cannot be considered as an improvement under chapter VI of the Cass highway law and the power to appropriate lands or property necessary in the alteration of a railway crossing is not conferred by any provision of said chapter of the Cass highway law, but is as has been heretofore stated, conferred by section 8867 G. C., and the provisions of chapter VI of the Cass highway law are applicable only in so far as they are referred to by section 8867 G. C. by the use in said section of the language "in the manner provided by law for the appropriation of private property for public use." In other words, the improvements in connection with which the commissioners are given the power to widen roadways under chapter VI of the Cass highway law, are only such improvements as are designated in that chapter and the power to widen a roadway in connection with the alteration of a railroad crossing and to purchase or appropriate land for such widening is to be found in said section 8867 G. C.

The answer to the fourth question submitted by Mr. Hickenlooper must be apparent from what has already been said. The right to appropriate land or property being conferred by section 8867 G. C., and not by the Cass highway law and the commissioners proceeding under section 8863 G. C. et seq., which sections provide a special method of procedure for the alteration or abolition of grade or other crossings, and this method of procedure including an authorization for the issuance of bonds, such bonds are to be issued under authority of section 8870 G. C.

The fifth question submitted by Mr. Hickenlooper was considered by the court in the case of State ex rel. v. Amlin, 1 N. P., n. s. 517, which case was affirmed by the supreme court without report in 74 O. S., 447. The sections of the General Code now under consideration, to wit: sections 8863 to 8873 G. C. inclusive, were, prior to the codification of 1910, known as sections 3337-8 to 3337-17 inclusive, of the Revised Statutes. The above cited case had to do with the proposed construction of a structure intended to carry the street traffic over a railway and the construction of which was projected under the statutes now under consideration. The fifth branch of the syllabus reads as follows:

> "Such a structure must be built under the provisions of section 3337-8 to 17, which is complete in itself, and permits county commissioners to contract with railway companies with reference to a division of the cost, and issue bonds therefor, without reference to the emergency bridge fund or the fact that there is not in the county treasury or in process of collection sufficient funds to meet the expense."

I understand that the agreement referred to in Mr. Hickenlooper's fifth question is the agreement to be effected between the county and the railroad company, and in accordance with the decision of the court in the above cited case I advise you that it is not necessary that the bonds be sold and the money be in the treasury prior to the making of the agreement between the county and the company.

Section 2444 G. C. as amended in 106 O. L. 423, reads as follows:

> "Before the county commissioners purchase lands to erect a building or bridge, the expense of which exceeds one thousand dollars, they shall publish and circulate handbills, and publish in one or more newspapers of the county notice of their intention to make such purchase, erect such building or bridge, and the location thereof, for at least four consecutive weeks prior to the time of that purchase, building or location is made; except in case the county has land or buildings on or in or under which a public comfort station can be erected or installed, in which case the publication of such handbills and in newspapers shall not be necessary. Such county commissioners shall hear all petitions for, and remonstrances against such proposed purchase, location or improvement. When a public comfort station has been erected or installed as herein provided by a board of county commissioners, such board shall have control over and maintain the same."

It is doubtful whether this section could be construed as applying to the alteration of railroad crossings in any view that might be taken of the same. In construing the scope and effect of this section, the following language was used in opinion No. 1058 of this department, rendered to Hon. Dean E. Stanley, prosecuting attorney of Warren county, on November 30, 1915, and found at page 2303 of the Opinions of the Attorney-General for that year:

"It is obvious that the purpose of this statute is to give the people of the county wherein such action is to be taken an opportunity to object to the purchase of land and the consequent location and erection of the building or bridge thereon. In other words, the facts which bring into operation the provisions of this statute are the proposed purchase of lands and the location and erection thereon of a building or bridge."

A railroad crossing certainly cannot be regarded as a building, and it has not been generally regarded by the courts as a bridge. In any event, the reason for the application of section 2444 G. C. fails by reason of the fact, that advertisement is necessary under the provisions of section 8865 G. C., and this advertisement will serve to bring to the attention of the public the intention of the county commissioners in the premises. In view of the language of section 2444 G. C., and in view of the fact that the purpose of this section will be fully accomplished by the advertisement made under section 8865 G. C. I am of the opinion, and advise you, that no advertisement is necessary under section 2444 G. C. in an appropriation or purchase agreement of the sort referred to by Mr. Hickenlooper. This is in accordance with the holding of the court in the case of State ex rel. v. Amlin, supra.

It has been sufficiently indicated, I think, in my answers to the second and sixth questions submitted, that in so far as the purchase or appropriation of land or property is concerned the advertisement and service of notice should be made as required by sections 91 and 92 of the Cass highway law, sections 6912 and 6913 G. C., and that the commissioners should not attempt to enter directly into an agreement of purchase with the railway company, but should proceed in the manner set out in the Cass highway law. In view of the provision of section 6914 G. C., that all claims for compensation for land and property to be taken shall be in writing, setting forth the amount of compensation claimed, together with a description of the property to be taken, and the further provision of section 6912 G. C., that unless such claims are filed in writing on or before the time fixed for hearing said claims, the same shall be waived except as to minors and other persons under disability, it is my view that the publication and service of notice might be regarded as jurisdictional to the power of the county commissioners to take and pay for the land. In any event there is a sufficient argument in support of the proposition that advertisement should be made and notice served in accordance with the provisions of section 6912 and 6913 G. C. to warrant the statement that the publication and service of such notice should, as a matter of precaution, be made in the manner provided by the sections in question.

Coming now to consider the eighth question submitted by Mr. Hickenlooper, it has generally been held that in condemnation or appropriation proceedings a mortgagee is entitled to notice and compensation. The following is quoted from 10 American and English Ency. of Law, 2nd Edision, 1192:

> "The courts are not agreed as to the proper disposal of compensation when mortgaged property is taken under the power of eminent domain. A large number of cases hold that it is the moregagee who should be paid.
>
> "And it is an established rule that he is an 'owner of real estate' or 'a person interested' in such a sense that he is entitled to compensation for the loss he sustains; and if in the condemnation proceedings the mortgagor alone is recognized, the title of the mortgagee is not divested. He may bring trespass or he may foreclose and sell under the mortgage, first, the land subject to the right of way. If this proves insufficient to discharge the mortgage deed, then he may sell the right of way."

The following is quoted from 15 Cyc., 845, under the title "Eminent Domain," and under the sub-head "Persons Entitled to Notice:"

> "A mortgagee is a party interested and is entitled to notice of the proceedings."

This matter was before the court in the case of Harrison v. Village of Sabina, 1 O. C. C., 49. Section 2237 R. S., then in force and relating to the appropriation of property by municipal corporations, provided that notice of the time and place of the application should be given to all the owners of the property sought to be appropriated. The court held that in proceedings under this and the related sections a mortgagee whose mortgage is duly recorded, is an owner within the meaning of the act in question and entitled to notice of the pendency of an appropriation proceeding.

In view of the foregoing I advise you that a trustee under a mortgage should in the proceeding now under consideration be considered an owner and entitled to notice under the provisions of sections 91 and 92 of the Cass highway law, sections 6912 and 6913 G. C., and this without regard to whether default has been made in the condition of the mortgage.

In considering the last question submitted by Mr. Hickenlooper, attention is directed to the fact that section 8863, G. C. was amended in 106 O. L., 206, so as to confer upon county commissioners the same powers with respect to that part of a state, county or township road which lies within the limits of a municipal corporation as are conferred upon municipal corporations to alter or require to be altered any railroad crossing, or to require any impovement in connection therewith to be made, and to apportion the cost thereof between the county and such railroad or railroads. It is true that under section 8863 G. C. this action is to be taken in the manner provided in section 8874 G. C. et seq., but it is not conceivable that the legislature intended to confer the greater power without conferring the lesser. In other words, section 8874 G. C. and succeeding sections are so framed that a railroad company may, under their provisions and subject to the approval of the proper court, be compelled to make changes in its crossings, while under section 8864 G. C. et seq., the matter is left to agreement. Since a board of county commissioners may now act under section 8874 G. C. et seq., as to state, county and township roads within municipal corporations, it seems clear that as to such roads they may also enter into an agreement with the railroad company under the provisions of section 8864 G. C. et seq.

I therefore advise you that the fact that the corporation line of the city of Cincinnati bisects this improvement does not limit the powers of the commissioners in reference thereto, and it is my opinion that the proceedings, plans, specifications, etc., do not require the approval of the city council. No objection could be made, however, to the securing of such approval.

This department has never directly considered the question of whether a road, bisected by the corporation line of a city, may properly be regarded as an intercounty highway or main market road, and it will not be necessary to determine that question in connection with the matter submitted by Mr. Hickenlooper. I suggest that as a matter of precaution, and in view of the provisions of section 169 of the Cass highway law, section 1203 G. C., to the effect that where county commissioners improve an intercounty highway, the plans and specifications for the proposed improvement shall first be submitted to the chief highway engineer and shall receive his approval, the safe course to pursue in the present instance would be to submit the plans and specifications for the improvement contemplated by the commissioners of Hamilton county to the chief highway engineer for his approval, and I understand there will be no difficulty in obtaining the same. Mr. Hickenlooper, in his letter, has referred to sections 253, 254 and 255 of the Cass highway law, being sections 6956-2, 6956-3 and 7480 G. C. As suggested by him, these sections seem to apply in terms only to the raising or lowering of the grade on any road or highway above or below railroad tracks, and there is a serious question as to whether, under these sections, it would be possible to secure an alteration of an existing under crossing. In any event, it seems to be the desire of the county officials of Hamilton county to proceed under section 8863 G. C. et seq., and these sections furnish ample machinery for the accomplishment of the desired purposes and are not in my opinion modified in any way by the passage of the sections of the Cass highway law last above referred to. It is therefore my view that proceedings should be had under said section 8863 G. C. and succeeding sections of the General Code, rather than under sections 253, 254 and 255 of the Cass highway law.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1798.

STATE HIGHWAY COMMISSIONER—AUTHORITY TO APPROPRIATE LAND OVER RAILROAD TRACKS—STATE COMMISSIONER SHOULD NOT EXERCISE AUHTORITY—NO MACHINERY FOR SUCH OFFICER TO ENFORCE CONTRIBUTION BY RAILWAY COMPANY.

The state highway commissioner should not attempt to exercise the authority conferred by section 7480, G. C., where a railway company is unwilling to enter into an agreement to assume and pay at least sixty-five per cent. of the cost of the work involved, for the reason that no machinery is provided by which the state highway commissioner may enforce contribution by a railway company.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 18, 1916.

HON. CLINTON COWEN, State Highway Commissioner, Columbus, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Your recent communication relating to the improvement of intercounty highway No. 160 in Vinton county reads as follows:

"The state highway department and Vinton county desire to improve a section of intercounty highway No. 160, in Vinton county, where said highway now passes under the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern Railway.

"It is proposed to change the location of the highway from the point where it now crosses under the railway, something as outlined in the sketch accompanying this letter.

"The department has already improved this road from McArthur to within a point of several hundred feet from the under crossing on the present highway. At this time it was deemed advisable to discontinue the improvement far enough back from the railroad to allow for a new location at this point in order to give a better and safer under crossing.

"The legislation for the under crossing as it now exists is found in Vinton County Commissioners' Journal No. 5, pages 209-225-236-239, which shows that the road and crossing were established in December, 1896. At present this crossing is nothing more than a railroad bridge over Elk Fork creek whereby the highway was located through and under this bridge with a very limited amount of right of way. At this particular point the alignment is extremely bad, as you will note from the sketch, and the road is subject to overflow a number of times each year.

"It seems impossible to build a satisfactory highway under this bridge and secure a proper and safe width to the highway without seriously interfering with the flow of the stream under the bridge.

"The department desires to be advised on the following questions:

"First. Have we the authority to locate an under crossing for this highway at some other point, such as shown for the proposed highway by the accompanying sketch?

"Second. If we have such authority by law, will you kindly outline the necessary steps to be taken by the department in order to get the railroad company to submit to such proposed under crossing?

"Third. How is the cost of the proposed under crossing, if decided upon, to be divided between state, county and railroad company?

"You will note from the sketch that the height of the railroad grade above the general level of the ground at the proposed under crossing is 18 feet, and that the estimated yardage for a crossing 36 feet in width is 1,000 cubic yards of earth to be removed. This, of course, is only approximate but will serve the purpose, I believe, for such calculations as we now desire to make for the proposed under crossing."

Replying to my request for additional information you advised me that according to a statement made by the county auditor to your division engineer, Mr. Ozias, the original grade crossing has been vacated but that there seems to be nothing on the commissioners' journal to indicate this fact. You further state that the old grade crossing, the existing under crossing and the proposed under crossing all intersect the railroad at different points. You have also transmitted to me certified copies of the proceedings as found on the commissioners' journal relative to the change made in this highway several years ago. On September 8, 1896, the auditor was instructed to notify the general superintendent of the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern Railway to meet the board of county commissioners for a conference in reference to the crossing. On December 12, 1896, the commissioners put an entry on their journal reciting an application for the alteration of this road and ordering that before further proceedings be had upon said application a bond be given. An undated resolution of the county commissioners recites the filing of a bond and petition and the giving of notice of the filing of the petition which appears to have been for an alteration of the highway, and in this resolution the bond is accepted and approved and viewers are appointed and they and the county surveyor ordered to meet on January 12, 1897, perform their duties and report their proceedings to the county commissioners. It appears that on March 1, 1897, the viewers having reported favorably on the change in the road, the report was publicly read for the first time. On March 2, 1897, the report was publicly read for the second time. On March 3, 1897, the report of the viewers was publicly read for the third time. Compensation and damages were allowed to certain land owners and it was ordered that the county auditor, after twenty days, if no appeal be taken, draw his order upon the county treasurer for the compensation and damages allowed, that the costs and expenses be paid out of the county treasury, that the several reports of the viewers, with the survey and plat of the road, be recorded, and that the road be established as a public highway. Assuming that you have been furnished with a complete transcript of the proceedings of the commissioners and have transmitted the same to me, these proceedings shed but little light upon the present status of the matter, inasmuch as no copy of petition is set forth and the report of the viewers is not entered in full on the journal of the commissioners. A transcript of the proceedings, also, fails to show what, if any, agreement was made with the railroad company relative to the location of the road under the bridge over Elk Fork creek.

Section 255 of the Cass highway law, section 7480 G. C., reads as follows:

> "The state highway commissioner, county commissioners or township trustees shall have power to appropriate a right of way or crossing over railroad tracks, and lands held by railway companies, whether operated by steam or electricity, and shall also have the right to appropriate the necessary property and right to construct said crossing above or below the grade of said railway. Such proceedings shall be had thereon as are provided for appropriation of property by municipal corporations. In case the grade of the road at such crossing shall be raised or lowered above or below the railroad tracks thereon, by agreement or order of the court, the cost of raising or lowering such grade shall be apportioned between the county commissioners or township trustees and the railroad company in the same proportion as in cases where a grade is raised or lowered on a crossing already established or existing."

This section confers in terms upon the state highway commissioner the right to appropriate the necessary property and right to construct a crossing above or below the grade of a railway. It could hardly be argued that the legislature intended to confer upon the state highway commissioner the right to appropriate property and right of way for the construction of a crossing above or below the grade of a railway, without also conferring upon that official the right to construct such crossing. In view of the provision of the last sentence of this section, to the effect that the cost shall be apportioned in the same proportion as in cases where a grade is raised or lowered on a crossing already established or existing, there might be a question as to the applicability of this section where a road is merely diverted, and it might possibly be argued that the section applied only in the case of the establishment of a new road. However, in view of the scope of certain other provisions of this section, I do not deem it necessary in connection with your inquiry to pass upon the applicability of this section where a highway is merely diverted in order to obtain a more favorable location for the construction of a crossing under or over the tracks of a railway company. You will note that the section in question provides for a division of cost between the county commissioners or township trustees and the railroad company, and there is no provision in the section in question to the effect that the provisions of law applicable to a municipality in securing changes in railway crossings shall be applicable to the state highway commissioner, or that the state highway commissioner shall have the power and authority to invoke the jurisdiction of any court. In the view that I take of this statute it would not be possible for the state highway commissioner, acting under the same, to compel a railroad company to bear a share of the cost of eliminating a grade crossing or of constructing a crossing under or over the tracks of a railway company for use in connection with a newly established road. In other words, while the state highway commissioner clearly has the power to appropriate a right of way or crossing over railroad tracks, under certain conditions, and while the legislature has in terms conferred upon him the right to appropriate the necessary property and right to construct a crossing above or below the grade of a railway, from which express grant of power may be inferred the right to construct such crossing, at least under certain conditions, yet even if it be assumed that the section now under consideration is applicable where an existing highway is diverted, as well as where a new highway is established, no authority is conferred upon the state highway commissioner, where he might undertake to construct a crossing, to institute proceedings or take steps which would result in compelling the railroad company to bear a part of the cost of a crossing. It appears from your communication that Vinton county is co-operating in the improvement of this road, and in view of the fact that your authority in the premises, conferred by section 7480 G. C. is not as clear as might be desired, and in view of the further fact that it clearly appears from the section in question that no machinery is provided by which you can compel contribution on the part of the railway company in case you should attempt to construct the crossing, and that, as I understand the situation, the railway company is in this instance unwilling to co-operate unless forced so to do, it is my view that you should not atttempt the construction of the crossing, but should refer this portion of the improvement to the county commissioners, who are given ample authority in the premises under the provisions of section 7480 G. C. and the two preceding sections of the Cass highway law. The two preceding sections, being sections 6956-2 and 6956-3 G. C., are as follows:

> "Sec. 6956-2. The county commissioners may raise or lower, or cause to be raised or lowered the grade on any road or highway above or below railroad tracks thereon, and may require a railroad company operated by steam in such county, to raise or lower the grade of its tracks, and may construct ways or crossings above the tracks of any such railroad, or require such railroad company to construct ways or crossings that are to be placed under its tracks. The county commissioners of a county may require such railroad company to erect permanent piers, abutments or other appropriate supports in the ways, crossings, streets, roads or alleys, whenever in the opinion of the county ccommissioners the raising or lowering of the grade of any such railroad tracks, or the raising or lowering of the construction of such ways, crossings, or supports may be necessary upon the terms and conditions, hereinafter set forth."
>
> "Sec. 6956-3. The provisions of law applicable to a municipality in securing the changes pointed out in the foregoing section shall be applicable to a county in securing such changes with reference to such roads when located outside of a municipality, and the proceedings authorized in the case of a municipality by its council are authorized to be had by the county commissioners in securing the changes hereinbefore mentioned, and the county surveyor shall take the place of the engineer of said municipality in all proceedings with reference to such changes, and the county commissioners are authorized to make application to the court in cases where the county and the railway company cannot agree as in the case of a municipality where there is a failure to agree and the same provisions of law as to the division of the expense of such changes shall apply to the county and railway company as are applicable in the case of a municipality and railway company, and all the provisions of law relating to such changes within a municipality shall, when applicable, apply to proceedings on behalf of the county commissioners."

The matter can be worked out by the county authorities of Vinton county under the above sections, which sections adopt the provisions of law applicable to a municipality in securing the elimination of grade crossings. These provisions are found in section 8874 G. C. et seq., and under the same the railroad company is required to pay not less than sixty-five per cent. of the cost. As previously stated herein, I understand that the railway company is unwilling to enter into any voluntary arrangement looking toward an assumption of a part of the cost and expense of constructing an under crossing on the highway referred to by you, and I therefore advise you, in answer to your first and second questions, that whatever may be your authority in the premises, in view of the fact that it is proposed to divert an existing highway rather than to establish a new highway, you should not undertake to exercise any authority that you may have for the reason that no machinery is provided by which contribution on the part of the railway company may be enforced. In any view that may be taken of section 7480 G. C., you should only attempt to exercise your authority thereunder where the railway company is willing to enter into an agreement to assume and pay at least sixty-five per cent. of the cost of the work.

Referring to your third question, if the railway company and the county are able to reach an agreement, the cost of the crossing may be divided as may be mutually agreed between them, with the qualification that the railway company shall pay not less than sixty-five per cent., and the county not more than thirty-five per cent. of such cost. Where resort is to be made to the courts and the court finds that the public security and convenience require that the changes be made and that the plans presented are reasonable and practicable, and orders the changes made, the county will be required to pay thirty-five per cent. and the railroad company sixty-five per cent. of the cost of the work.

I will not in this connection endeavor to point out the exact procedure to be followed by the county, as that is a question for the county authorities.

Respectfully,

EDWARD C. TURNER,

Attorney-General.

1799.

STATE BOARD OF PUBLIC BUILDINGS—NO AUTHORITY TO LEASE A PART OF BUILDING ACQUIRED BY PURCHASE—ADJUTANT GENERAL MAY EMPLOY NECESSARY ASSISTANTS BUT CANNOT DELEGATE HIS POWERS.

No statutory authority exists for the leasing by the state, through any officer thereof, of rooms in or portions of any building or buildings which might be acquired by the state for the primary purpose of housing state officers, departments, etc.

While the adjutant general may employ necessary assistants, he may not delegate any of his powers with respect to public buildings.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 19, 1916.

HON. HERBERT M. MYERS, Secretary State Board of Public Buildings, Columbus, O.

DEAR SIR:—I acknowledge receipt of your letter of July 17th, and hasten to give an answer thereto. You inquire as follows:

> "The state board of public buildings wishes to be advised, whether it would be possible for the state of Ohio to own and operate a building and lease portions of it to individuals or corporations engaged in private enterprises; and whether, under the law providing for the supervision of public buildings by the adjutant general, the state could employ a manager to operate the building, who would be authorized and empowered to employ janitors, engineers, etc."

That the state of Ohio, meaning thereby the government of the state as organized under the constitution, can own and operate a building, primarily (I presume) for the purpose of housing state offices and departments, and incidentally lease portions of it not needed for such primary purpose to individuals or corporations engaged in private enterprises, is a question which I think is not difficult of solution as a matter of constitutional law. The state is now leasing to private individuals and corporations, for private industrial purposes, real estate acquired by it as a part of its public works. I may dismiss this feature of your inquiry with the statement that I know of no constitutional objection to such a course; and when you inquire as to what the state may do the only question raised is a constitutional one.

The powers of the state, however, must be exercised through some appropriate agency; and where the constitution does not itself designate the agent who shall exercise a sovereign power, the legislature must make the selection and delegate the power, if it be executive, to some executive or administrative officer. Therefore, it does not follow that because the state as a government in which as a whole certain sovereign powers have been vested by the constitution may undertake a given enterprise, any particular executive officer of the state may execute this power on its behalf.

In view of these considerations I assume that your inquiry requires me to ascertain whether under existing laws authority is committed to any state officer to do the things about which you inquire; in short, whether adequate machinery exists for the accomplishment of the purpose described by you.

As the second part of your question suggests, it would be most natural to look to the statutes prescribing the powers and duties of the adjutant general for authority to do the things contemplated.

Section 146 G. C., as amended 106 O. L. 319, provides as follows:

> "By virtue of his office the adjutant general shall be superintendent of the state house. He shall have the supervision and control of the state house and heating plant therein, the fixing and placing of all offices, commissions, departments and bureaus of the state therein, and full control and supervision of fixing and placing all officers, commissions, departments and bureaus of the state in offices, buildings and rooms outside the state house when the same cannot be placed therein, materials and persons employed in and about the state house, the grounds and appurtenances thereof and all work or materials required in or about them. He shall rent all offices, buildings, and rooms for all officers, commissions, departments and bureaus of the state located outside the state house, and execute all leases in writing for the same on behalf of the state subject to the approval of the governor and deposit a copy thereof in the office of the secretary of state within ten days after the lease has been executed."

As you have been previously advised, the act providing for the appointment of a commission to investigate the office requirements of the officers, departments and commissions of the state, etc. (106 O. L. 463), authorizes the acquisition of a building other than the state house and the judiciary building for the housing of such state officers and departments as cannot be accommodated in the latter. Reading these two enactments together I am clearly satisfied that by necessary implication at least the adjutant general would have the authority to control and supervise any building other than the state house or the judiciary building which might be acquired by the state for the housing of state departments.

So far as the express provisions of section 146, supra, go it must be admitted that they do not authorize the adjutant general to exercise any supervision and control of such outside building or buildings, or rooms, other than to "fix and place" the several departments, commissions, offices and bureaus of the state therein. That is, he may determine, subject, of course, to the provisions of positive law relative to the location of particular state offices, where a given department shall be housed; and to that end he may lease from others suitable rooms outside of the state house and the judiciary building. But no express authority beyond this is conferred upon him by section 146. However, it is my opinion that the general assembly intended that should the state acquire a building outside of the state house, the management and control thereof should be vested in the adjutant general and not limited to the mere matter of the assignment of rooms. For example, his authority would go so far as to employ janitors and engineers for such building to the extent that the appropriations made for such purposes in 106 O. L. 792 might be adequate for such purpose, together with any additional funds made available by valid transfers or emergency allowances. But to hold that the adjutant general has implied power and authority to operate and conduct a building for the housing of state officers and departments, when acquired by the state, would fall short of holding that there is reposed in him the power to lease rooms in or parts of such building not immediately needed for the state's uses and purposes to private individuals and corporations for commercial and industrial purposes.

Whenever the power to lease public property has been conferred upon an agent of the state ample and adequate machinery has been created for the exercise thereof and limitations and safeguards have been thrown around the same. This is evidenced by the provisions of the law relative to the powers and duties of the superintendent of public works in the leasing of canal lands, and those of the auditor of state in the leasing of school and ministerial lands for oil and gas purposes. In other words, as a matter of legislative policy in this state the power to lease is not and cannot be an implied power; therefore, it does not spring from the mere power to control and manage. Thus, the superintendent of public works has the management and control of the public works of the state, but he would have no authority to lease any part thereof without express statutory provision granting him such authority.

I find no statute or constitutional provision committing to any other state officer than the adjutant general any powers whatsoever with respect to a building which might be acquired by the state for the housing of state officers and departments.

It therefore follows that under the statutes as they exist at present no executive officer is authorized on behalf of the state to execute a binding lease on any part of a building which might be acquired by the state for the housing of state officers and departments. To this extent then your first question must be answered in the negative.

Your second question, in so far as a delegation of powers is concerned, must likewise be answered in the negative. The adjutant general has the authority to employ such necessary assistants as the legislature has made provision for by appropriation; but nowhere in the statutes is there any authority for the adjutant general to delegate his powers to any other person.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1800.

CIVIL SERVICE—INTERPRETATION OF STATUTE PROVIDING FOR COLLECTION OF FEES FROM APPLICANTS WHO TAKE CIVIL SERVCE EXAMINATIONS.

Fees collected from applicants for civil service examinations under the provisions of section 486-11 G. C. as amended 106 O. L. 407, may be deemed to be moneys "received for the state" under section 24 G. C. as amended 104 O. L. 178, when the examination is held for which said fees are paid. After said examination is held said fees may not be returned to applicants for any reason.

If any applicant is unable to attend such examination for reasons which are satisfactory to the civil service commission it may permit him to take a subsequent examination without additional charge.

If an examination is annulled for fraud participants therein who are not personally culpable may also be permitted to take the examination held in lieu thereof without additional charge.

If an examination is cancelled by order of the civil service commission the fees collected for such examination may be returned to the applicants paying in the same as such fees have not been received for the state within the meaning of said section 24 G. C., supra, or under such circumstances applicants who have paid fees for such examination may be permitted to take a subsequent examination without additional charge if they so desire.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 19, 1916.

The State Civil Service Commission, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—I have your letter of July 8, 1916, submitting the following statement and inquiry:

"Section 486-11 of the civil service law reads in part:

"'No fee or other assessment shall be charged for examination for positions, provided for by this act or by the rules of the commission prescribed thereunder, where the annual salary does not exceed six hundred dollars; for positions where the annual salary exceeds six hundred dollars, and is less than one thousand dollars, an examination fee of fifty cents shall be charged; for positions where the annual salary is one thousand dollars or more, an examination fee of one dollar shall be charged. All fees collected under the provisions of this act shall be paid into the state treasury to the credit of the general revenue fund, or in the case of cities into the city treasury.'

"Section 6 of rule IV adopted by the commission, reads as follows:

"'Every applicant for a position in the classified service must pay at the time his application is submitted, the fee provided by section 486-11 of the General Code. No fee thus paid shall be returned under any circumstances after the application has been accepted, unless the applicant is prevented from qualifying or competing by act of the commission itself or its employes.'

"Applicants frequently fail to appear for examination and ask that their fees be returned. Examinations are sometimes annulled by the commission, and it has been our custom to return fees paid along with the applications.

"Has the civil service commission authority, under the law, to return fees paid, and under what conditions may such fees be returned?"

Section 486-11 G. C., to which you refer, requires that you shall pay into the state treasury to the credit of the general revenue fund all fees for examination collected by you. This requirement must be considered in connection with the provisions of section 24 G. C. as amended 104 O. L. 178, which section reads as follows:

"On or before Monday of each week every state officer, state institution, department, board, commission, college, normal school or university receiving state aid shall pay to the treasurer of state all moneys, checks and drafts received for the state, or for the use of any such state officer, state institution, department, board, commission, college, normal school or university receiving state aid, during the preceding week, from taxes, assessments, licenses, premiums, fees, penalties, fines, costs, sales, rentals or otherwise, and file with the auditor of state a detailed, verified statement of such receipts. * * *"

The provisions of this section apply to all fees for examination collected by you, and such fees must be paid to the treasurer of state as therein specified. The question therefore to be determined is when may such fees be deemed to have been "received" by you for the state within the meaning of that term as used in said section. Under the rule quoted in your letter an applicant is required to pay his examination fee at the time he files his application. While this requirement is proper, and you have a right to enforce the same, yet the statute which authorizes the collection of the fee specifies that it shall be for an examination. Your commission reserves the right, and properly so under section 486-11 G. C. supra, to investigate all applications and may, after such investigation, refuse to examine an applicant. In such a case the applicant does not receive as a consideration for the payment of an examination fee the thing which the statute specifies shall be given him for said fee. It therefore would be wrong to retain his examination fee under such circumstances.

I am of the opinion that fees for examination may be regarded as "received for the state," within the meaning of said section 24 G. C. supra, when the examination is held for which they are collected by you and after the date of such examination they may not be returned by you for any reason. If any applicant has failed to attend such examination for reasons which are satisfactory to you he may be permitted to take a subsequent examination without charge. If an examination is cancelled by your order then the fees collected for such examination may be returned as they have not been received for the state within the meaning of section 24 aforesaid, or applicants who have paid the fees for such examination so cancelled may be permitted to take a subsequent examination without additional charge.

You mention in your inquiry that examinations are sometimes annulled. I do not know upon what legal grounds examinations may be annulled except for fraud which makes it reasonably apparent that the whole transaction is vitiated by reason thereof. When an examination is annulled under such circumstances you may permit participants in such examination (who are not personally culpable) to take a subsequent one held in lieu of the examination annulled without additional charge.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1801.

CIVIL SERVICE—SUPERINTENDENT OF COUNTY INFIRMARY—IN CLASSIFIED CIVIL SERVCE.

The position of superintendent of a county infirmary is within the classified civil service, and a vacancy therein may only be filled as provided by the civil service law in respect to appointments to positions in the classified service.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 19, 1916.

HON. HENRY W. CHERRINGTON, Prosecuting Attorney, Gallipolis, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—I have your letter of July 12, 1916, as follows:

> "Our infirmary superintendent, who had been appointed under the civil service act, last April, was killed by a K. & M. train on July 3rd. The civil service commission has certified a list of three persons (and wives), eligible to the appointment of infirmary superintendent and matron.
>
> "The death of the superintendent was a great shock to his family and to the county commissioners, one of whom owned the automobile which was struck by the train. The superintendent has a son who has been at the infirmary, and he is considered by the commissioners perfectly capable of acting as superintendent. I advised the commissioners that they were compelled under the law to appoint from the eligible list furnished by the civil service commission, the list being obtained as a result of competitive examination held here in April, 1916.
>
> "The commissioners desire to appoint a superintendent who is not on the eligible list. At their request I respectfully ask if there is any way by which this can be accomplished."

Your advice to the county commissioners in respect to the appointment of said superintendent of the county infirmary was proper, and said commissioners may not make a legal appointment in any manner other than as advised by you. The position of superintendent of the county infirmary is within the classified civil service of the state and the vacancy therein must be filled from the competitive list certified to said commissioners by the state civil service commission. There is no provision of law which would warrant or sanction an appointment made in any other manner.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1802.

ROADS AND HIGHWAYS—COUNTY COMMISSIONERS WITHOUT AUTHORITY TO COMPEL TRACTION COMPANY TO PAY PART OF COST OF PAVING A ROAD RUNNING THROUGH A VILLAGE—PLANS ADOPTED THEN ALTERED SHOULD BE APPROVED BY VILLAGE COUNCIL AND NOTICE AGAIN GIVEN—NORTHERN OHIO TRACTION AND LIGHT COMPANY—VILLAGE OF NEW BERLIN.

1. Where after plans and specifications have been approved and notice given, in compliance with the provisions of section 6952 G. C., it is discovered that something has been omitted from the plans, specifications, profiles, cross-sections and estimates, or where it is desired to make any change in the same, a copy of the completed or altered plans, etc., should be filed with the clerk of the village, and the plans, etc., as completed or as changed, should be approved by the council of the village, and notice should be again given in the manner provided in the section in question.

2. Under the facts as submitted no authority exists to compel the Northern Ohio Traction and Light Company to pay a part of the cost of paving a road running through the village of New Berlin, and which road the commissioners of Stark county are improving under section 6949 G. C. et seq.

3. The one per cent. bond limitation provided by section 3940 G. C. applies to bonds issued under section 6953 G. C.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 19, 1916.

The Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public offices, Columbus, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN:—I have your request for an opinion under date of May 5, 1916, which request reads as follows:

> "We would respectfully request your written opinion upon the following question submitted by the solicitor of the village of New Berlin, Ohio. As the letter of Mr. C. G. Herbruck clearly sets forth the matter, we simply submit his letter and would ask an interpretation thereof for transmittal to the officials of said village.
>
> "'I am writing as solicitor of the village of New Berlin, Ohio. The commissioners of Stark county, under and by virtue of the recently enacted Cass road law, are paving a road running through said village, and the village, under provision of section 6950 of the General Code, has expressed its desire of paving said road to an increased width, and the county surveyor prepared the necessary plans, profiles, specifications and estimates for said improvement to said increased width, which were in due time received by the council of said village and were approved and confirmed, and the necessary notice was given as provided in section 5962 of the General Code, and it now develops that the estimate as made by the county surveyor did not include an 8-foot strip occupied by the N. O. T. & L. Co. for street railway purposes, and a new estimate is being prepared covering this additional expense, and we desire to know whether or not this new estimate must be approved by council, and thereafter a notice be published as provided by section 5962, G. C.

"'Also kindly advise whether or not the cost of paving the 8-feet strip of ground in said street occupied by the N. O. T. & L. Co., or the 5-foot strip between the rails, can be assessed against the N. O. T. & L. Co., and collected. I might add for your information that the N. O. T. & L. Co. secured its franchise from the county commissioners a number of years ago, at which time the village of New Berlin was not incorporated, and said original franchise does not provide that the street car company should pave its right of way.

"'Also kindly advise whether or not the one per cent. bond limitation, as provided by section 3940 of the General Code, applies to bonds issued for paying the city's portion of an improvement under the Cass road law.

"'As the village is anxious to expedite the legislation as much as possible, an early reply would be greatly appreciated.'"

I assume that the solicitor of the village of New Berlin intends to refer in his communication to section 6952 G. C., rather than section 5962 G. C.

Section 6951 G. C. contains the following provision:

"After the plans, specifications, profiles, cross-sections and estimates have been returned to the county commissioners by the county surveyor, and by them approved, the county commissioners shall cause a copy thereof to be filed with the clerk of said municipality."

Section 6952 G. C. contains the following provision:

"Upon receipt of such copy the council of such municipality may approve such plans, specifications, profiles, cross-sections and estimates * * *. After such plans and specifications have been approved * * *, council shall cause notice to be given that said plans have been approved * * *, by one publication in some newspaper in general circulation in the municipality. * * *"

While the provision of the statute relating specially to notice refers only to plans and does not refer to specifications, profiles, cross-sections and estimates, it is apparent from the context that the word "plans," as last used in the above quoted provision, is intended to include specifications, profiles, cross-sections and estimates. In other words, a copy of the completed plans, specifications, profiles, cross-sections and estimates should be on file with the clerk of the village before the notice provided by section 6952 is given. Where after the plans and specifications have been approved and the notice given, in compliance with the provisions of section 6952 G. C., it is discovered that something has been omitted from the plans, specifications, profiles, cross-sections and estimates, or where it is desired to make any change in the same, a copy of the completed or altered plans, specifications, profiles, cross-sections and estimates, as the case may be, should be filed with the clerk of the village and the plans, specifications, profiles, cross-sections and estimates, as completed or as changed, should be approved by the council of the village, and notice should be again given in the manner provided in the section in question. Irregularities in procedure, while not always fatal, are to be avoided where the validity of bonds or special assessments is involved, and the first question contained in the inquiry of the village solicitor of New Berlin is, therefore, to be answered in the affirmative.

Referring to the second inquiry submitted by the solicitor of the village of New Berlin, the statement of facts excludes the proposition that the traction company might be required to pay for or do any paving by reason of a provision in its franchise. It should also be observed that the road or street in question is being improved by the county commissioners and not by the village and any right which the statute might confer on the village to require the traction company to pave between the rails or between the ends of the ties, in case the improvement were being constructed by the village, need not be considered in connection with the present inquiry. If the traction company can be required to do or pay for any paving, in the absence of a franchise provision, authority to enforce such action on the part of the company must therefore be found in the statutes relating to road improvements by county commissioners or must be conferred upon the village by the statute now under consideration. The authority of the county commissioners in the premises is to be found in section 137 of the Cass highway law, section 6956 G. C. This section relates to two conditions, the one where railway tracks cross a street or road, and the other where a street or interurban or other railroad or railway lies within the improved portion of a roadway.

It is apparent from the statement of facts submitted that the first condition does not obtain in the case now under consideration. The tracks of the Northern Ohio Traction and Light Company do not cross the street or road being improved, but they lie within the portion of roadway which it is proposed to improve.

In so far as the power of the county commissioners in the premises is concerned, the same is therefore limited to the express authority conferred by the latter part of section 6956 G. C. The pertinent provision of the section in question reads as follows:

> "Whenever a road or street is improved where a street or interurban or other railroad or railway lies within the improved portion of the roadway, such railroad or railway grade shall in all respects be changed to meet the approval of the county surveyor unless otherwise provided for in the grant or franchise, by virtue of which such railway operates on or occupies said highway, and costs of such change of grade be paid by such company under the law or by the terms of its franchise or grant, shall be a lien upon the property of such company and the proper authorities may provide for the payment of the amount chargeable against said company under the law or by the terms of its franchise or grant, in installments as in the case of other property owners, and such installments shall bear interest as in other cases, and the board of county commissioners or other authorities may issue bonds in anticipation of the collection of said installments."

It is apparent that under the above quoted provision the county commissioners are without authority to require the Northern Ohio Traction and Light Company to pave any portion of the street or road occupied by its tracks. The authority of the county commissioners, unless restricted by the terms of the franchise heretofore granted to the company, is only sufficient to enable the commissioners to require the company to change its grade to meet the approval of the county surveyor and to collect the cost of such change of grade from the company in the manner provided in the section in question.

Coming now to consider the authority of the village in the premises, it should first be observed that the county commissioners cannot extend the improvement into or through the village without the consent of council. If the council does not desire the street improved to a greater width than that contemplated by the proceedings for said improvement by the board of county commissioners, the council may or may not assume and pay a part of the cost, but if the council desires to improve to a greater width than is contemplated by the proceedings for the improvement by the county commissioners, then it would seem from the statute that the village must assume a portion of the cost and expense, and, under these circumstances, the village must also pay all compensation and damages on account of the improvement. Where the village is a party to the improvement, to the extent of assuming any part of the cost and expense, the method of providing the funds for the village's share of the cost is expressly provided by the statute. It is apparent from a consideration of section 6952 and section 6953, G. C., that the village may raise by general taxation all of the funds necessary to meet its portion of the cost and expense, or it may assess against abutting property owners all of the cost and expense of the improvement to be paid by it, or it may raise a part of its contribution by general taxation and specially assess the remainder against abutting property owners. The traction company cannot be regarded as an abutting property owner and there is no authority in the special scheme of road improvement now under consideration for compelling the traction company to pave any portion of the roadway occupied by it, or authorizing an assessment against it on account of the construction of the improvement.

I therefore conclude, in answer to the second inquiry submitted by the solicitor of the village, that where, under the facts submitted by him, an improvement is projected under authority of section 6949 G. C. et seq., there is no authority, in the absence of a franchise provision, for compelling a street or interurban railway company, occupying with its tracks the road to be improved, to pave any portion of said roadway, and there is no authority for assessing against such company any portion of the cost of the improvement.

Replying to the third question submitted by the village solicitor, reference must first be had to section 6953 G. C., which provides that in anticipation of the collection of assessments to be made against abutting property and in anticipation of taxes levied for the purpose of providing for the payment of the village's share of the cost of the improvement, the village is authorized to sell its bonds under the same conditions and restrictions imposed by law in the sale of bonds for street improvements under the exclusive jurisdiction and control of the council. The sale of bonds for street improvements under the exclusive jurisdiction of a village council is authorized by section 3939 G. C. The one per cent. limitation provided by section 3940 G. C. expressly applies to bonds issued under authority of section 3939 G. C., and is adopted by reference as to bonds issued under authority of section 6953 G. C.

I therefore advise you that the one per cent. bond limitation provided by section 3950 G. C. applies to bonds issued for paying the village's portion of an improvement under the Cass highway law. The village solicitor, in his communication, refers in his third question to cities, but I understand his inquiry is intended to apply only to villages. As has been heretofore pointed out in the opinions of this department, county commissioners are not authorized to extend proposed road improvements into cities.

This opinion, in so far as it relates to the second question submitted, is based on the facts of the particular case, one of these facts being that the franchise of the company through what is now the incorporated village of New Berlin was granted by the county commissioners prior to the incorporation of the village. Section 1231-4 G. C., 103 O. L. 461, cannot be invoked as it is applicable only to intercounty highways and main market roads which are being improved under the direct supervision of the state highway commissioner.

Respectfully,
EDWARD C. TURNER,
Attorney-General.

1803.

OHIO AGRICULTURAL EXPERIMENT STATION—ADAM-HATCH FUND RECEIVED FROM FEDERAL GOVERNMENT FOR PURPOSE OF CONDUCTING AGRICULTURAL EXPERIMENTS—HOW SUCH FUND SHOULD BE APPROPRIATED.

Funds appropriated by the general government under the Adams-Hatch laws for the purpose of conducting agricultural experiments and accepted by the state for such purpose should be paid into the state treasury under the provisions of section 24 of the General Code. Such funds and the accretions thereto should constitute a special trust fund for the uses and purposes designated and not subject to appropriations for general purposes. The appropriation of "all moneys appropriated by the United States government which are now in the Adams-Hatch fund or which may be credited to such fund prior to July 1, 1917," is to be regarded as an appropriation of the Adams-Hatch fund and accretions thereto.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, July 19, 1916.

MR. CHARLES E. THORNE, Director of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, Wooster, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Your request for an opinion is as follows:

"Under another cover I am sending you copies of bulletin No. 1 of this station, containing a copy of the national law, providing for agricultural experiment stations in the several states, known as the Hatch act, and of the twenty-fifth annual report, containing a copy of the supplementary national act, known as the Adams act, (p V)and of instructions of the secretary of agriculture respecting work under act (p XVI). Both of these acts have been accepted by the general assembly of the state.

"Under the provisions of the Adams act this station is conducting, as one of several projects carried by this fund, a series of investigations on the nutrition of the milch cow, which requires the purchase of a herd of 6 to 12 cows, the care and feeding of these cows for 3 to 6 months, after which they must be replaced by fresh cows.

"For many years the national appropriations to this station, which are sent quarterly in advance, were deposited in bank by the treasurer of the station and drawn upon as required. Under this arrangement, in such experiments as the one above described, the money received from the sale of the cows and their milk was used to purchase the new herd and consequently a large amount of work could be accomplished with a relatively small amount of money.

"Under recent rulings the station is required to deposit these national funds in the state treasury, to be re-appropriated biennally by the state legislature. It is also required to turn into the state treasury all receipts from sales of produce of whatever kind, to be placed to the credit of the general revenues of the state.

"Under this requirement it will be impossible to conduct such an investigation as that above described, because the necessary funds would be almost immediately converted into the general revenues of the state. We therefore ask your opinion upon the following point, namely:

"Is it proper for the state to require funds appropriated by the general government for a specific purpose and accepted by the state for that purpose to be converted into the general revenues of the state, subject to reappropriation by the state legislature?"

In response to my request for additional information you advised me by subsequent letter as follows:

"In reply to yours of the 29th, I have to say that special separate accounts of the Adams and Hatch funds are kept, apart from the fund appropriated by the general assembly. Expenditures for cows, forage and all other supplies, and for all labor involved in the particular experiments referred to were made from the Adams fund exclusively. No expenditures contributing to the value of the cows or of their products were made from the state appropriation. The only expenditures from state appropriations, in the interest of this investigation, were for the major parts of the salaries of the chief of the department of the station having this experiment in charge, and of chemists, working under his direction, on the products of the experimental feeding."

Section 5 of the Hatch act, passed by congress and approved March 2, 1887, page 7 of bulletin No. 1, Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, is as follows:

"That for the purpose of paying the necessary expenses of conducting investigations and experiments and printing and distributing the results as hereinbefore prescribed, the sum of fifteen thousand dollars per annum is hereby appropriated to each state, to be specially provided for by congress in the appropriations from year to year, and to each territory entitled under the provisions of section eight of this act, out of any money in the treasury proceeding from the sales of public lands, to be paid in equal quarterly payments, on the first day of January, April, July and October in each year, to the treasurer or other officer duly appointed by the governing boards of said colleges to receive the same, the first payment to be made on the first day of October, eighteen hundred and eighty-seven; provided, however, that out of the first annual appropriation so received by any station an amount not exceeding one-fifth may be expended in the erection, enlargement, or repair of a building or buildings necessary for carrying on the work of such station; and thereafter an amount not exceeding five per centum of such annual appropriation may be so expended."

The Hatch act of 1887 was supplemented by the passage of the Adams act in 1906 the act being entitled: "An act to provide for an increased annual appropriation for agricultural experiment stations and regulating the expenditure thereof."

In section 1 of the Adams act, page 5 of bulletin 176 of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, it is provided that the amount appropriated is:

> "to be applied only to pay the necessary expenses of conducting original researches or experiments bearing directly on the agricultural industry of the United States, having due regard to the varying conditions and needs of the respective states or territories."

Section 2 of the Adams act, in part, is as follows:

> "That the sums hereby appropriated to the states and territories for the further endowment and support of agricultural experiment stations shall be annually paid in equal quarterly payments on the first day of January, April, July and October of each year by the secretary of the treasury, upon the warrant of the secretary of agriculture, out of the treasury of the United States, to the treasurer or other officer duly appointed by the governing boards of said experiment stations to receive the same, and such officers shall be required to report to the secretary of agriculture on or before the first day of September of each year, a detailed statement of the amount so received and of its disbursement, on schedules prescribed by the secretary of agriculture. * * *"

It will be noted from a reading of section 2 of the act that the money therein appropriated is made payable to the treasurer or other officer appointed by the governing board of the experiment station to receive the same.

