

this original section may be now pertinent to your inquiry, it follows that a person who is now under twenty-one years of age and desirous of taking the standard examination at this time must have started the practice of optometry at the age of eight or younger. The possibility of such a situation is so remote that I do not deem the last sentence of Section 1295-28, pertinent to your inquiry.

In view of the foregoing and in specific answer to your question, it is my opinion that a person under the age of twenty-one years may not, under the provisions of Section 1295-28, General Code, be admitted to take the standard examination to practice optometry in this state.

Respectfully,
GILBERT BETTMAN,
Attorney General.
