

printing supplies for the use of the county superintendent and the superintendents and teachers of the county school unit, thus specifying particular items for the use of the county superintendent and the superintendents and teachers, but does not extend to the use of members of the various village and rural boards of education. The latter part of the section provides only for the payment of expenses of educational meetings of the county board of education, and as already stated, the annual meeting provided in section 4747-1, General Code, is not in any sense an educational meeting of the county board of education, and it may be questioned whether or not a meeting of seventy-five or a hundred members of the rural and village boards of education of a county school district could properly be termed an educational meeting.

Therefore, I can see no good reason for enlarging the scope of the above referred to opinion, and in answer to your inquiry, I am of the opinion that the annual meeting provided for in section 4747-1 G. C. is in no sense an educational meeting of or for the county board of education, and that the authority granted to a county board of education by section 4744-3a to pay the expenses of its educational meetings does not authorize the employment or payment of a speaker secured for the annual meeting of the members of rural and village boards of education provided for in section 4747-1 G. C.

Respectfully,
C. C. CRABBE,
